Council Meeting Is Rescheduled For Next Tuesday

Space Requirement Survey Is Expected To Be Authorized

The regular Mountainside Borough Council meeting was postponed from last Tuesday to next Tuesday due to the lack of a quorum to transact business.

Present were Council President Raymond Herrgott and Councilmen Henry Weaver and George Stillwell.

Absent were Councilman Albert Daniels, who had suffered internal injuries in a father-son volleyball game at Camp Kresge, White Haven, Pa., played with son David, last weekend, Gilbert Pittenger, who was out of town on business, and William Ditzel, on vacation.

They had been expected to sign a contract with Kaufman and McMurray, Elizabeth architects, authorized by the Borough Council to conduct a survey of the space requirements for the operation of municipal government. At the last Borough Council meeting $3,000 was appropriated for the survey.

Borough Hall, which was built at the turn of the century by Christian Fritz, late father of Mountainsides police chief, has become inadequate for expanding municipal operations.

Councilmen Pittenger, Building and Grounds Committee chairman, and council members Herrgott and Ditzel have been studying the problem with the aid of a Long Range Planning Committee, headed by Walter Brumfield.

Two sites have been mentioned by borough officials as possible locations for new facilities.

One of these, the Echobrook School site, has been ruled out by the Board of Education, which said it needs the facility, as well as the space now occupied by the Public Library. The statement was made in a letter to Pittenger last month.

The other site is borough-owned land at New Providence rd. and Route 22, across from Echobrook.

Private Services For A. H. Johnson

Private services will be held tomorrow at Gray's Funeral Home, Westfield, for August H. Johnson, of 30 Evergreen, Mountainside, who died suddenly Tuesday. He was 53.

A former Mountainside Democratic Committee chairman, Mr. Johnson was born in Long Branch and lived in Highlands until 1936, when he moved to Mountainside. He attended Lehigh and La Salle Universities and was self-employed as a public accountant.

He was a former member of the Westfield Lions Club, the Mountainside Democratic Club, manager of a Babe Ruth League baseball team in 1946, and one of the original members of the Mountainside Community Chest and Rescue Squad. He taught first aid for the Civil Defense during World War II and was a member of the Community Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel, a son, Harry, stationed with the U.S. Army in Camp Gordon, Ga., and two sisters, Mrs. Doris Case, of Highlands and Mrs. Grace T. Newhard of Bethlehem, Pa.

'It's A Hospital, A School, Our Home' A Patient's Description Of Children's Specialized

By RITA ZEISS

"This is a funny place," the little girl said, waving her arms to include the Children's Specialized Hospital and the broad lawns that surround it. "Why is it a funny place?" asked Miss Martha Van Wert, associate director of the institution.

"Because the children spent at the hospital which specializes in rehabilitation, answered, "It's a hospital, it's a school — and still it's our home."

"THE ARTLESS but penetrating comment captures the atmosphere of the institution, which is too warm, too full of love, to fit into such a cold definition.

It is a hospital, a hospital designed to help injured or handicapped children after the acute stage of their affliction is passed. (Adults are cared for only in the outpatient clinic which is conducted weekly.)

It is a school for each school day during the year a teacher from the Mountainside system conducts classes for the patients able to attend them. During the summer 1954 School meets each morning under the direction of Miss Isabel Watson, divisional and recreational director.

And it is a home. It is for many of the little patients the happiest home they have ever known. For here everything is geared to their needs, paced to their incapacities, methodically and painstakingly planned and operated to help them gain the fullest measure of recovery while still giving them the warm and loving support needed to help them adjust to their limitations.

THE HOSPITAL, a rambling brick building that nestles on the peak of the property which sweeps back from New Providence rd., is an outgrowth of a project started back in 1901 by a group of SERIOUS BUSINESS — Arts and crafts are a serious business to these young patients at the Children's Specialized Hospital; they are part of the rehabilitation program designed for the handicapped youngsters. Mrs. Candy Olsen, a member of the Mountainside "Twigs," shows Naomi, on the stretcher, how to wield her carving tool to create a design on a miniature block. Elizabeth, rear, Alice and Harry, in wheel chairs, are engaged in their own projects.

Education Problems Similar — Even In Halifax, Nova Scotia

Dr. LeVitt B. Hamigan, Mountainside superintendent of schools, returned this week after six weeks at Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, where he conducted a "practice" school for school supervisors, principals and superintendents.

He was impressed, he said, by the manner in which the problem of religion in the schools is handled in Nova Scotia. Both public and Catholic parochial schools are under public school administration and financed out of tax dollars. Religious education is limited to a half hour period before the regular school day begins in both Catholic and public schools.

 lighting

Because good homework skills are vitally important to scholastic achievement, your child deserves his own well-lighted private study area. Planned lighting lets a student relax, concentrate better. Homework is finished faster, more accurately, with less nerve and eye fatigue.

Study areas tips: Provide a flat top desk or table with a non-glossy top that is light in color. Place the desk or table against a wall (never facing a window). Eye position should be at least 14 inches above the work surface. Books and other reading matter should be propped up about 30 degrees toward the eyes. The study lamps should provide at least 150 watts of light.

Borough Teacher To Tour The World

Mrs. Ruth W. Keeler, home economics teacher at Deerfield School, arrives in London today for the first Mountainside tour to take advantage of a year of Board of Education policy to grant one-year sabbatical leaves at half pay.

Map Opposition To Multiple Units; Set New Petition

Members of the Concord Estates and Pembroke Sherwood Forest Civic Associations will meet tonight to complete plans to oppose any master plan which includes provision for erection of multiple dwellings in the Mountainside area.

The meeting will be held at the home of Harold Simon, president of the Sherwood Forest Civic Association.

A petition is now being drawn up to replace a previous petition calling for a referendum on the issue.

The combined group has also agreed to press for raising zoning requirements on one-family homes to approximately full-acre lots.

The original petition was drawn up by the Pembroke Association, which led the fight to oppose apartments.

Herbington said this week that he has still not heard from the Smith firm concerning submission of its final report.

London will be the fourth stop of a 40-stop tour that will include cities in 17 countries stretching around the world.

Mrs. Keeler contacted people living in most of these countries before her departure earlier this month.

The itinerary includes stops at major cities in Ireland, England, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Greece, India, Israel, Egypt, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Japan and the United States.

She said that by visiting homes around the world she hopes to bring back new knowledge that will extend her usefulness as a home economics teacher.

In February, when she returns to the United States, she will complete work for a master's degree at the University of Florida.

A resident of Berkeley Heights, Mrs. Keeler has taught in Mountainside for 13 years, beginning on a one-day-a-week basis.

Her enrollment increased in 1960 and she was hired full-time as a combination home economics and English teacher.

The next year she began teaching home economics exclusively.

Before coming to Mountainside Mrs. Keeler taught home economics in East Hanover Junior High School.

She has two daughters, Barbara, a senior at Douglass, and Shirley, a sophomore at Newark State College.

She is temporarily replaced next year by Mrs. Frances Hickman of Westfield, who has had experience in junior high schools in Cleveland, Ohio, and Rye, New York.

Planning Board Chairman Albert Hartung, however, has pointed out that the Planning Board, not the consultants, draw up the master plan and the gone on record as opposing apartments.

Chance For Girls To Race On Team For Summit YMCA

Captain Frank Elm of the championship Summit Y M A swim team has announced plans to conduct preliminary trials for the team on Monday at 10 a. m. at the Sundance Swim Club.

There will be no charge of admission for the events and swimmers from northern and central New Jersey are invited.

Captain Elm expects to make additions to the number of girls on the team, which will provide an opportunity for many summer swim club team members to continue their competitive swimming.

The present hospital wing built in 1940 at a total cost of $450,000, accommodates 50 bed patients, a post-rehabilitation and treatment center, school room, play room, speech and occupational therapy rooms.

It is roughly divided into two wings: the orthopedic wing and the cerebral palsy wing.

A spokesman for the highway department said that a new regulation prohibits itinerant vendors from setting up displays of merchandise and conducting sales within the right-of-way of any State highway.

It was discovered, he said, that serious traffic congestions occur when vendors park their vehicles along the highway.

The regulation was designed to cure serious situations which directly affect the general safety and welfare of the traveling public.

That year, the church women obtained some property a little further down the road from the present location and established a summer home for underprivileged children. It is roughly divided into two wings: the orthopedic wing and the cerebral palsy wing. J. Harold Johnston is director and Dr. F. Milton Stahl, medical director. The Westfield Orthopedic Group is in charge of medical care in the orthopedic wing and Dr. Charles Nadel and Dr. Catherine Spears of the pained patients.

The orders of the medical staff are carried out by 12 nurses, six physical therapists and one speech therapist. Children's specialty is affiliated with leading schools of physical therapy. Bouye, Ravel, Sage, Sargent and the University of Pennsylvania, and their students study here and assist the permanent staff.

In addition, approximately 60 volunteer workers meet at the hospital once a week. Miss Watson in charge of the occupational therapy program.

Safety Directors Expected To OK Traffic Parley

The board of directors of the Essex-Town-Somerset Traffic Safety Council was expected to draw up the agenda last night for a law enforcement convention in the area of traffic safety to be held some time next month at Elizabeth City Hall.

Mountainside police commissioner and chairman of the Safety Council.

The convention will have been proposed by Wester in response to a suggestion made by Louis Welch, assistant director of the Bureau of Traffic Safety of the State Motor Vehicle Department.

At the meeting earlier this month between representatives of the Council and the State Coordinating Council on Traffic Safety, Welch proposed that police chiefs and magistrates be called together to develop a program of continuity of law enforcement among the municipalities, particularly as it relates to Route 22.

The convention would be attended by some 80 persons to include police chiefs, magistrates and county traffic coordinators. It would discuss coordination of enforcement of existing laws on state and federal highways and the possibility of preparing for new legislation, particularly in the area of a truck-keep-right policy for Route 22.

It may also discuss the highway function of state and local police and the possibility of establishing a county police force. Wester has explained a means of diverting World's Fair traffic from Route 22 onto the Garden State Parkway and the New Jersey Turnpike would probably be on the agenda.

Wester was also expected to propose last night a resolution requesting the State Highway Department to install dividers on the Route 22 viaduct in Newark where the highway intersects Route 1.

Public opinion and individuals are urged to observe the Friday deadline of this newspaper for other than special Thursday is even better. Indicate your name, address and phone number.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

Refreshing Lemons, Limes Add To Summer's Pleasures. Lemons being especially hot summer fruits are especially plentiful and attractive in our markets.

Whether your object is a pitcher of refreshing lemonade or a tart addition to salad dressing or vegetable sauce, the favoring for a elegant and pudding-like sauce come from any one of the several.

A recent supermarket survey revealed that fresh and bottled lemon juice cost the same. Canned and frozen lemon juice were the least expensive.

When you see a recipe for a Key lime pie, the reference is to the limes from the Florida Keys. Externally plantings there in the 1920's were of the small round juicy limes of Mexican origin.

There's nothing prettier than a rosy fluffy pale green lime pie for a summer dessert. It also has a flavor quality whether you choose a lime meringue or a lime chiffon filling.

Either type of limes makes elegant pies, so don't be disturbed if a recipe calls for Key limes.

Lime Chiffon Pie: 1 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon flour, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup water, 2 tablespoons grated lime rind.

Combine 1-1/4 cups sugar, flour, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler. Gradually stir in water. Cook until mixture thickens.

Make meringue by beating egg whites until stiff and adding tablespoons sugar, gradually beating until mixture is stiff and glossy.

Bank Sets May 1 Target Date On Completion Of New Building

The Mountainside branch of the National Bank of Westfield, now operating out of a trailer at 855 Mountain ave., will open a two-story brick colonial building about May 1 just behind its present facility, according to Henry W. Gerberding, the bank's vice president and operations officer.

Ground was broken for the facility Friday in a ceremony attended by Fred Doerfer, chairman of the bank's board of directors; Elwood R. Crow, a director and building committee chairman; former Mayor Albert Hartung, chairman of the Planning Board; and Councilman Henry P. Wester, acting in the absence of Mayor Raymond Herrgott, who was on vacation.

The 10,500 square foot building will have two drive-in windows and an after-hours vestibule service window. The project will cost about $175,000. There will be 10 employees.

A landscaped area adjacent to the building will provide a park-like setting with walks, benches, flower beds and shrubbery.

At one time the bank operated within a short distance of the Suburban Trust Co., also using a trailer facility, until a court decision ruled in favor of the National Bank of Westfield. The Westfield branch facility had been the first to open trailer facilities in Mountainside.

Help Given To Persons Suffering Nerve Deafness

Persons suffering nerve deafness are at last receiving aid to combat this dreaded condition. A remarkable little booklet, now being made available to the public, tells what to do to end this embarrassing ordeal, nerve deafness.

The booklet explains the fact about nerve deafness—the painless, insidious condition that handicaps and isolates millions of persons of all ages.

How does nerve deafness interfere with hearing? What symptoms first warn you of this condition? Will surgery help? Will a hearing aid help? Will anything help?

The booklet offered now to the public free of charge by Bellone Hearing Service explains why persons may hear and yet not understand. Can this condition be corrected? Is there any help for this hearing disorder—nerve deafness?

"The Inside Story of Nerve Deafness," Bellone's remarkable free booklet, tells you what you can do to combat nerve deafness. "If you are in the neighborhood of 8 So. Broad St., Elizabeth, come in for your free copy. Or write to Bellone Hearing Service, Phone EL 3-7686.

Owens Grandchild, Kevin White, Dies

Kevin Owens White, 13-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. White of Maryland, N. Y., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Alden C. White of 230 Tanker's way, Mountainside, died Saturday at Bassett Memorial Hospital, Cooperstown, N. Y.

The child is also survived by a brother, David, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, Binghamton, N. Y.

Mountainside Police Enter Team In Borough Men's Bowling League

The department's bowling team was welcomed into the Mountainside Men's Bowling League last Thursday at the home of league President Ed Monroe.

Representatives of the 16 teams outlined plans for the league's 20th season, which is scheduled to begin September 14 and will continue for 35 weeks at the Echo Lanes.

Participation is limited to non-residing or employed in Mountainside. Information is available from Jim Monahan (AD) 3-3373, who will send several teams have openings for regulars and/or alternates.

Clubs To Be Held On School Time; Free Last Period

The Deerfield School school in Mountainside will be reorganized this year to free the last period, 2:15 to 3:10—free extracurricular activities that were formerly held after school according to Dr. Levin B. Harigar, superintendent of schools this week.

Each activity will be held twice a week on Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays so that youngsters can select two different areas of interest. The Friday activity period will be reserved for assemblies and other events for the entire school.

Extra-curricular activities will include beginning and advanced bands, Student Council, glee club, science, culinary, dramatics, gymnastics, library, art, debating, typing, industrial arts, personal literature and mathematics clubs.

The special girls' singing group, the Larkettes, will meet at this time, as will the Tapex group, which exchanges tape recordings with students from seven other countries.

Some of the clubs will be restricted according to grades, but others will draw from sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes. Guided study periods will be held for those who do not wish to participate in club activities.

Vets To Sponsor Race Track Day

The second annual race track day sponsored by the Union County chapter of the Cavalry War Veterans and its auxiliary will be held Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Lakewood Race Track. The group announced this week that the event will be held at the Lakewood Race Track, Newark, N. J., and that the day will be held on the first of the month.

The day will be held on the first of the month. The day will be held on the first of the month.

Mission Division Gets $5,100 In Aid

First Methodist Church of Westfield was one of 15 churches giving the most money to advance special of the Division of National Missions of The Methodist Church, according to an announcement made this week by Leonard M. Perryman, director of the news department of the church.

The Westfield church gave a total of $5,100 to the Division. The total received for the national missions was $1,961,720.

Large amounts given through the advanced special were used for ministerial salaries, scholarships, church buildings and numerous other types of home missions work.

6-Week Army Course

Private William F. Crowl, 1929, of Fort Dix, completed a six-week basic unit armor course at the Army Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky., Aug. 7.

During the course Crowl participated in section and platoon tactical problems which taught him the duties of a tank crewman.

He entered the Army in March 1964, and completed basic training at Fort Dix.

Crowl was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield in 1960 and worked for the Carbide Hoechst Corp. before entering the Army.

Fun Is Fun, Games Really 'Lessons' At Camp Star For Retarded Children

Camp Star, a special camp for retarded children, is held at the University of Maryland. The camp is designed to provide a fun and educational environment for these children. Through various games and activities, the children learn important life skills and social interactions. The camp is run by dedicated staff members who are trained to provide individualized attention to each child. The children's progress is closely monitored, and they are encouraged to participate in all activities. The camp is a wonderful opportunity for these children to have a summer of fun and learning.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Round the World Newspaper Study Mission

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Number 20
All About Malaysia

It's so new that big magazines—even some leading international ones—do not always have the correct facts about it.

It's so new that encyclopedias do not contain the pertinent facts on it.

It's so new that it is not yet a year old.

It's the new country of "Malaysia."

"The Federation of Malaysia" was a pleasure for our National Editorial Association Study Mission group to visit, not only for sight-seeing but for learning.

IT WAS FORMED last September out of the Federation of Malaya and the State of Sarawak which had achieved full independence within the British Commonwealth in Aug. 1957, and two British territories on Borneo.

Newly called the Federation of Malaysia (not Malaya), the valiant young country now consists of 14 states. The most famous of them all is the city-island-state of Singapore, and the others are the 11 states on the southern tip of the Malay Peninsula formerly called The Federation of Malaya, and Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo) on the north coast of Borneo. The city of Kuala Lumpur, 100 miles north of Singapore, is the capital.

The total area of Malaysia is slightly larger than the state of New Mexico and it has nearly 10 million people. The Chinese and the Malays are the largest ethnic groups accounting for 80% of the population, with East Indians, tribes of the Hills Territories and Europeans representing the remainder.

The State of Singapore and the 11 Malay Peninsula states combined (without the states of Sarawak and Sabah) are a little smaller than the state of Florida, with 80% of the terrain in dense, uncut jungle, mountains or swamps. Yet the remaining 20% of land, which is mostly on the west coast, produces one-third of the world's supply of natural rubber and tin. As a result, the people enjoy one of the highest standards of living in Asia.

Oil, rubber, tin and diamonds in Sarawak and Sabah combined are a little larger than the state of Florida, and although high in those natural resources, have not as high a living standard and education standard as Malaya and Singapore. The territory is so dense with jungle and deep valleys, and too populated with many varied indigenous tribes, it support easy communication and organization.

Sarawak and Sabah, although on the island of Borneo which have British and ex-Netherlands territories that have joined the Republic of Indonesia, elected to join Malaya and the State of Singapore in forming Malaysia. A United Nations investigation team went into the territory and determined that this was the wish of the people. Brunei, a small British Protectorate which is headed by a Sultan, and has been almost self-governed since 1959, may decide to do the same some time in the future, but has not done so as yet.

The UN survey was called for by the agreement signed in Manila by Indonesia, the Philippines and Malaya in Aug. 1963, but the Philippines, and particularly Indonesia, were wary of the forming of the new country and of Sarawak and Sabah joining it, possibly for future selfish aims, and became uncooperative. Even the date of the formation of the new country was delayed by objections of theirs, but Malaya claimed that the investigation showed the wishes of the people, and pushed the formations of Malaysia until it was finally created Sept. 16, 1963.

BUT THE TROUBLE with Malaysia ever since — has been Indonesia. It has been a constant thorn in the side.

Some Malaysians say that the slogan of Indonesia undoubtedly is: "We must crush Malaysia." They feel that the 100 million people of Indonesia who live less well and in more crowded conditions than the people of Malaysia, eye the lands, natural resources and higher standards of living of Malaysia, and want what Malaysia's got. They only hope that what Indonesia wants—Indonesia won't get.

Yet still others say that it is only the government that is against Malaysia. At a recent luncheon in New York when the prime minister of Malaya, Tunku Abdul Rahman, was visiting the city he stated that he did not think the people of Indonesia were with their President in opposition against Malaysia. He said he felt the people were of the same stock as Malaysians and should live in peace together.

In the case of actual hostilities he said "All we can do is try to hold back Indonesian forces." If Malaysia became chopped off or round up to Indonesia back, United Nations intervention might become a necessity, he added (Malaysia is a member of the UN having transferred over the Federation of Malaya membership).

HOWEVER, WITH ALL the external worry over Indonesia internally the new country seems most admirable. It enjoys considerable political stability and has a high degree of independence and honest government services. Transition from British to Malayan administration was smoothly made and the government runs efficiently.

It has been consistently pro-Western, making it both receptive and attractive to free world sources of economic and technical assistance. Prime minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, who is head of the Alliance, a coalition of three parties representing the three principal races—communists, Malays, Chinese and Indians—is strongly opposed to communism and has generally followed conservative and moderate policies. Before the new country was formed, the Tunku stated that the Federation of Malaysia would stand firm with the West. "We are not going to be one of the countries that call themselves neutral if it means making friends and allies with the communists," he said. "We believe that we cannot co-exist with the communists. We are non-communist and will remain so."

Indonesia is predominately pro-communist and reportedly has been receiving arms from the Communist terrorists since they came through Malaya and so the people know what it can mean. The situation was known as "The Emergency" and was a time from mid-1948 to July 1960 when armed communist terrorists clashed with forces of law and order in Malaya in open warfare. The guerrillas were mainly Chinese with a China-born hard core. The country is almost entirely rid of this problem now with only a few terrorists in the north of the Malay Peninsula and this week reports of landings in the south.

THE EXPECTED AND THE UNEXPECTED for visitors to Malaysia. The Malay girl is wearing a sarong-kabaya costume, which a tourist may expect. Fastened by brooches, this is the ordinary daily attire. The building is one of many modern architectural structures one may not expect in Kuala Lumpur, federal capital of Malaysia. It is the Lee Yan Lian building. One of the tallest in the capital, it was built in 1959 to house commercial offices. Many other modern buildings, especially in the university area, as well as a new viaduct surprised visitors on the National Editorial Study Mission.

THE MOST SERIOUS problem internally is the communal division of the country's people — differences in race, religion, language, customs, occupations and economic and political advancement, and the divided loyalties of the non-Malay such as Chinese or Indian. The Malays are aware of the wealth and commercial energy of the Chinese and dubious of their basic loyalty to the new country of Malaysia, and strive to maintain their privileged political position to which they feel they are entitled to as indigenous people of the land. The Chinese, for their part, seek civic and political equality but tend to cling to their cultural identity. As for the Indians, they seem to take the middle position between the two. The government has been largely successful, as a result of its moderate policies, in keeping racial and communal tensions within bounds, but occasional flare-ups do occur. A great part of the government's effort is devoted to the task of building up a unified nation and fostering the concept of a Malaysian nationality.

At any rate, outside of these

EUROPEAN BISON

At the time of Julius Caesar, bison were common in the Black Forest of Germany, but after the Middle Ages they were gradually exterminated except in eastern Europe. According to the Book of Knowledge, there may be a few in the Caucasus region today, but the last of the Lithuanian bison were killed before 1918.

HE WORRIES ABOUT COUNTY'S 31,000 SHADE TREES

Campaigns Against Fungus, Mites, Bagworms . . . And Motorists

By BARBARA GIBBONS

"A car got wrapped around a tree on Chestnut at a neighbor told Carl Mellquist 'Any injuries?' Mellquist inquired anxiously. 'Just a sprained wrist'.

"I meant the tree, it was the tree hurt."

Worrying about trees is instinctive with Mellquist who, for the last 13 years, has been superintendent of the Union County Shade Tree Commission.

THERE ARE 31,000 shade trees bordering our highways, 35 species and Mellquist knows them all personally.

"Insurance people can put a value on an individual tree — depending on its age and uniqueness — but no amount of dollars can replace it."

This being the case, Mellquist and his co-workers have over their leafy charges with the solicitude of a mother hen.

The shade tree has a long list of enemies: fungus spots, beetles, cancer worms, spider mites, bagworms, leaf hoppers, as well as various insects, short-sighted birds, cats, dogs and vandals.

The greatest danger to the shade tree is the automobile. It is attacked on the trunk, branches and leaves by the Shade Tree Commission's 1,000 trees to be protected.

Spread of insects and diseases is a serious problem. The Commission has a staff of 10 people to inspect and treat the trees.
