MMA Conducting A Golden Contest To Publicize Film

'Grand Hotel' Slated Jan. 29 In Deerfield; Great Garbo Stars

A golden opportunity is given this week to borough residents to win a prize for being observant. Members of the Mountainside Music Association will be wearing golden keys in their lapels to advertise "Grand Hotel," the film classic which will be presented in Deerfield School on the evening of Jan. 29 under club sponsorship.

Residents who spot the keys and ask the wearers the meaning will be given a contest card. Also anyone who addresses a key-wearing member with the magic words, "Grand Hotel," will be given a card. The holder of the most cards will be awarded the prize on the night of the show.

Mrs. Don Goff, chairman of the arrangements committee, pointed out that Greta Garbo, the legendary Swedish actress, is starred in the film; the local presentation will give many of the members of the younger generation what well may be their only opportunity to see her perform. "Grand Hotel" has been recognized by foremost critics throughout the years as one of the finest examples of the art of film making, Mrs. Goff said.

"The Violinists," an animated cartoon created by Ernest Pincoff, will also be on the show bill. Tickets (one dollar each) will be available at the door for adults and high school students. Curtain time is 8:30.

Assisting Mrs. Goff in arrangements are Mr. and Mrs. Martin De Vos, Mrs. Thomas Hyde, Mrs. Robert Hose, Herbert Seidel, Mrs. Morton Reich, Mrs. Truman Toland and Mrs. Bernard Davis.

GOLDEN KEY CONTEST: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seidel of 364 Longview dr., Mountainside, pins a golden key on her husband's lapel to remind him of the contest the Mountainside Music Association is conducting. Mr. Seidel's giant key gives the date and the name of the film classic which the M.M.A. will present next week. The contest, which is open to all residents, is being conducted in conjunction with the film showing.

How Long Is A French Horn?

Youngsters Find Out At Workshop

By RITA ZEISS

"How long is a French horn when you unravel it?"

Youngsters at Deerfield School got the answer to that puzzler last Friday in a question and answer period following an assembly concert presented by the Cardinal Woodwind Quintet, a professional group affiliated with Young Audiences, Inc.

The musical group, which is composed of Dent Williamson on the flute, Doris Goltzer on the oboe, Frank Santonicola, French horn, Cyrus Segal, bassoon, and George Silfies, clarinet, came to the local school under a program jointly sponsored by the Mountainside Music Association, the P.T.A. music department and the Board of Education.

Approximately 60 youngsters gathered after the program in five separate workshops, each of which was conducted by a member of the visiting quintet. The young musicians, selected from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, received professional tips from the workshop leaders, all of whom have impressive musical backgrounds and education. They learned that Silfies prefers a reed mouthpiece to a plastic one for his clarinet, "each little fiber breathes — it isn't a solid hunk of material." The children giggled and gathered closer, at case with a man (a former faculty member of Peabody Conservatory and Michigan State University) who spoke their own language.

Deep breathing exercises and breath-holding were important parts of the workshop for the oboe players who met with Miss Goltzer.

Each of the groups received a nightly presented but intensive drilling during the 45 minutes of the workshop.

A SECOND CONCERT was presented by the Cardinal Woodwind Quintet Friday afternoon in Echobrook School for all the fourth and fifth grade students in the borough.

Seated in the audience at Echobrook was one misty-eyed matron whose emotional reaction was attributable not only to the music or to the students' attentive interest but to a wealth of nostalgic feelings.

Bea Reich, the first president of the Mountainside Music Association and one of its charter members, said after dabbling at her eyes, "You can't imagine the satisfaction — hearing this program, knowing all that was behind it — the work, the cooperation, the friendships."

The work, the cooperation, the friendships started back in the 1950's among the members of the music department of the borough P.T.A. The group became so active, its program so ambitious that it was decided to set up a separate organization.

The new organization, the Mountainside Music Association, spelled out its aims: to further interest and appreciation of all types of music within the community, to coordinate its activities with the music department of the borough school by providing the children with musical programs and instrumental equipment.

"We," Mrs. Reich stated (moaning Anna Hose, Fern Ryde, Jeanne Wilhelms, Mona Grubel, Aden Lewis and many others) "recognized that our school's music department was outstanding — we thought we could help it become perfect."

In 1950 THE M.M.A. presented "Make Mine Manhattan," the first of its justly famous revues in which talented members perform. Profits from that first production purchased 12 phonographs for borough schools, provided $75 for the school's art department and a new lamp for ceramic work. In addition, the club conducted a project to obtain instruments for use in the school and donated a used piano to the kindergarten at Deerfield. The first of its annual Harvest Moon "Dances" was held in the fall of that year.

Hearing On Municipal Budget For '65 Scheduled Feb. 10 By Mayor, Council

No Estimate Given On Outlay Needed To Run Borough

The public hearing on Mountainside's 1965 municipal budget will be held Feb. 10, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Borough Council.

The mayor said the entire Council was scheduled to meet last evening with the borough auditors at a session aimed at "injecting the revenue aspects of the budget" into the Council's deliberations.

Wilhelms gave no indication as to the possible size of the total budget. The preparation of the budget, which he described as a "rather tedious operation" has taken the greater part of the Councilmen's time for the past six weeks, he added.

The various Councilmen have been meeting privately during that time with the members of the committees which they head to determine their departments' fiscal requirements, and the Council itself has held weekly caucus sessions coordinating that information, Wilhelms stated.

The mayor also announced that "in the near future" he would call a joint meeting of all the municipal bodies, to "make sure we are all going in the same direction" and to try to ensure that the several bodies "arrive at common objectives."

The mayor's announcement of the general meeting was regarded by some observers as a preliminary to the release of the borough's master plan, a release which was tentatively set by Albert Hartung, last year's planning chairman, for late February, 1965.

The master plan was the subject of discussion between Wilhelms and Eli Hoffman, a resident who scored the Borough (Continued on Page 6)

Deerfield Forum Presents Rivals For School Seats

Incumbent Walter H. Rupp and the five other candidates for Mountainside's Board of Education will make their only scheduled joint appearance of the campaign next Monday night at the annual Candidates Night sponsored by the Parents and Teachers Association. The session is scheduled to open at 8:15 in the gymnasium of Deerfield School.

The six hopefuls, including Rupp, Mrs. Mary K. Rosenquist, Robert H. Britton, Charles Dickinson French, Sydney H. Reiter and John A. Wroblewski, will each present a five-minute speech in which he will outline his qualifications and his reasons for seeking election to the board. The program will then be opened to questions from the floor.

Mrs. Herbert Seidel, chairman of the P.T.A.-sponsored program, stressed the fact that this forum was arranged to allow all residents to meet and hear the candidates who will be competing Feb. 9 for the three open seats on the Board of Education. The chairman stated that the borough is fortunate to have "such qualified candidates."

Mrs. Rosenquist, a graduate of Wellesley College, has had teaching experience in the past month. (Continued on Page 3)

YES To Determine Registration Dates

Mountainside's newly organized unit of Youth Employment Service was scheduled to hold a board meeting last night to determine the general registration dates for young people interested in securing employment.

The president, A. G. Kuriz, announced Tuesday of this week that the registration, which had previously been tentatively set for late January, will most probably be postponed until the first week of February.

The delay was necessitated, the spokesman said, to coordinate schedules with cooperating groups, particularly the administration of Governor Livingston High School, Berkeley Heights, which has agreed to distribute application blanks to Mountainside students previous to the registration day.

The volunteer chairman, Mrs. Charles Jerome, reported Tuesday that 18 volunteer workers had attended a training session held Monday in Community Presbyterian Church on Meeting House Lane. The class was conducted by Mrs. Audrey Smithers, volunteer chairman of Cranford's Y. E. S.

Three local organizations have made substantial cash donations to the local Y. E. S. group during the past month. (Continued on Page 3) was reported. The Women's Club of Mountainside and the Borough P.T.A. gave $50 each and the Newcomers Club $34.

Other donations to the new service group include card supplies from William Gutman; paper supplies from R. H. Van Buskirk and Charles Heimlich and printing service from William Heine, all borough residents.

The Y.E.S. office will be set up in Borough Hall. The use of desk space in the borough facility was granted last fall by the Borough Council. At the same time Mayor Wilhelms Jr. offered the telephone, traditionally supplied free to the mayor of each community by the telephone company, to the local Y. E. S.

The Mountainside unit was formed some months ago after effort initiated by Mrs. William Gutman of 334 Short dr., president of the Westfield Council of Jewish Women, and the Rev. Elmer Talcott, pastor of Community Presbyterian Church.

CARD PARTY SET FOR BENEFIT OF CAMPING SCOUTS

Boy Scout Troop 76, which is sponsored by the Mountainside Kiwanis Club, will hold its annual card party Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium of Deerfield School. Tickets may be purchased from the mother of any troop member. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

A Kiwanis spokesman pointed out that because the troop membership has "grown considerably" in the past year it has become necessary to secure more camping equipment. Proceeds from the party will go to the camping fund, he said. He urged residents to "support Troop 76 and help us to 'Keep Them Camping.'"

Budget Approved By School Board At Quiet Hearing

The school budget, which topped one million dollars for the first time in Mountainside's history, was unanimously approved by the Board of Education at last Thursday night's public hearing.

Only 14 residents, five of whom are running for a seat on the Board of Education in the Feb. 9 election, were in the audience at the hearing for the $1,007,179 budget. The sixth candidate, Walter Rupp, is an incumbent. Board hopefuls attending were Mrs. Mary K. Rosenquist, Robert Britton, Charles Dickinson French, Sydney H. Reiter and John A. Wroblewski.

The budget reflects an increase of $63,308 over last year's total appropriation but will require an increase of $65,932 in the amount to be raised by taxation. The difference in the overall increase and the amount needed by taxes was caused by reduced state aid and less surplus than was available last year, a board spokesman said.

Major Portion
An additional $42,000 for teachers' salaries represents the major portion of the increase of which $16,000 is needed for new positions. Board members were unable to say what the impact will be on the tax rate because rates for the coming year have not yet been set. (Continued on Page 3)

CALLED TO COURT IN WILSON CASE

Borough Attorney Nicholas St. John LaCorte will appear in Judge Milton Feller's court next month in reference to the case of Wilson versus the Borough of Mountainside.

Judge Feller reserved decision in the case when it came before him in Superior Court last fall. The suit was brought by Wilson, owner of property on Rt. 22 formerly owned by the Newark Orphan Asylum Association. In the suit, Wilson asked the court to set aside the local Board of Adjustment's refusal of his application for a variance to erect a garden apartment and furniture store on his property.

In 1950 THE M.M.A. presented "Make Mine Manhattan," the first of its justly famous revues in which talented members perform. Profits from that first production purchased 12 phonographs for borough schools, provided $75 for the school's art department and a new lamp for ceramic work. $3.25 PER POOCH

Jan. 31 Deadline For Dog Licenses

Jan. 31 is a big day in the canine world of Mountainside. All borough pooches must be wearing their brand new 1965 license tags by that day.

Since Pito may be otherwise occupied — digging up a bone or chasing the mailman — it's up to his owner to hike himself over to the Borough Hall to purchase the tag. The license fee is $3.25. Tags can be picked up any day, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

During February borough policemen will take a house-to-house census of the local dog population. Police Lt. Edward Mullin said Monday. The blue-coated census takers hope not to find any unlicensed dogs in their rounds.

Approximately 550 dog licenses were issued last year in the borough, a Borough Hall employee said Monday. She did not estimate if that figure equaled the canine population.

Sydney H. Reiter — PROFILES ON SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES — Charles D. French

The Sydney Reiter family moved recently to a new home at 3 Clearview dr., Mountainside. It was not the soft-spoken head of the clan explains, that they had outgrown their old house, a split-level on Longview dr. nor had they grown tired of it. They loved their former home in which they had lived since the fall of 1950.

"It was just too accessible." By accessible, Sydney Reiter recalls with a hint of a shudder, he means that each corner of the house was too easily reached by the Reiter offspring, who range in age from a busy seven to a boisterous three. There is no privacy; no matter in what corner of the house the harried father sought refuge the robust young Reiters converged upon him.

"The stairs in a split-level didn't deter them a bit; they ran loops up and down them."

Determined to "keep the rat race apart," Reiter engaged a contractor to build a good, solid, substantial two-story house with a long, high staircase separating the two levels and another, equally long, to the recreation room in the basement.

"It's working out fine; this way we sometimes get pockets of quiet."

THE REITERS HAD a good, solid dose of togetherness last summer when they travelled out to Boulder, Colo., to visit Mrs. Reiter's sister and family. They rented a car at Boulder, after the family visit was completed, and headed for Yellowstone Park and Grand Teton Park, stopping in motels along the way.

Saturday's blizzard was "just a little snow" for Charles Dickinson French, one of the candidates for Mountainside's Board of Education.

"Up in Buffalo," he said, his eyes gleaming behind his spectacles, "a day like this" he waved his hands to indicate the snow-covered outdoors, "is just an ordinary winter day."

The French family lived in Buffalo for approximately eight years before moving to Mountainside. To be within easy commuting distance of New York City where the head of the clan is now a marketing executive with Young and Rubicam, an advertising firm.

Although his firm is tops among the "gray flannel set," French is in no way typical of the highly publicized "Madison Avenue boys." There doesn't seem to be a cliché in his vocabulary, and in an hour's conversation he didn't tack "wise" — the suffix purported to be so popular in advertising circles — to a single word.

Sandy-haired "Dick," an abbreviation of Dickinson (a family name inherited from his New England forbears), speaks quietly, exactly and unassumingly. He is currently engaged in repainting the living room and entrance hall of the family home at 1217 Wyoming dr., a project he started in the week between Christmas and New Year's. The redecorating project there can be no doubt of his courage. With three children and a huge brown poodle in the family, "Dick" has painted the walls and the high cathedral ceiling white.

Library Board Reelects Mele, Sets New Date For Meetings

The Mountainide Library Trustees reelected Sidney C. Mele as president of that group at its recent organizational meeting. Harry Devlin was named vice-president, replacing William Tetley whose term on the board expired last month.

Gene Simpson, who was appointed by the Borough Council on Jan. 2 to succeed

Tetley, took his seat among the trustees.

Richard Locke was reelected treasurer and Mrs. Emma Weber, secretary.

At the request of Mayor Frederick Wilhelm, Jr., who serves as the Borough Council's representative to the library trustees, the board moved to change its meeting night from the second Monday of the month to the third Monday. Mayor Wilhelm described himself as being "vitaly interested" in the work of the library and stated that the change in the meeting date would make it possible for him to attend the monthly sessions. Other commitments ruled out the second Monday for the mayor.

The library director, Mrs.

Emily Hoffarth, reported that a total of 52,834 books and publications had been circulated during the past year and that the addition of 1,629 volumes brought the number of books in stock to 14,140 as of Dec. 31, 1964. The 1,629 figure included 1,525 books purchased and 104 which were given as gifts. Three hundred and seventy-eight books were discarded during 1964 and 1,558 donated to the Board of Education for use in the Beechwood School collection, the director's report showed.

Mrs. Hoffarth's report also indicated that 1,117 adults and children had registered in the library during the past year, bringing the total registration to 2,304. Exactly $1,380.92 was collected in fees during the year, book replacements brought in $106.59 and telephone fees, $24.35.

The need for a full time assistant librarian "is most pressing", Mrs. Hoffarth informed the board but will most likely remain so until our housing problem is solved. The director praised the three volunteer workers, Mrs. Dorothy Minton, Mrs. Rosemary Bisio and Mrs. Ruth Greenberg, for the "time and energy" they devote to library work.

Mrs. Weber commended the director, the part-time library assistants and the volunteer workers for their "conscientious and diligent efforts" throughout the year.

Local Teachers Host To Officials At 31st Banquet

Mountainide Mayor Frederick Wilhelm, Jr., Dr. Edward Nolan, president of the Board of Education, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, Superintendent of Schools, and Mrs. Charles Brackbill, president of the PTA have been invited to attend the 31st annual legislative banquet of the Union County Conference of Teachers' Association.

The four will be the guests of the Mountainide Teachers' Association at the dinner which is scheduled next Thursday in the Elizabeth Carter Hotel, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Mabel Young, president of the local group, Mrs. Evelyn Holcomb, legislative chairman, and William Tetley will represent the Mountainide teachers.

Legislative guests will be United States Senators Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams; Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer; State Senator Nelson P. Stamler; Assemblywoman Mildred Barry Hughes and Assemblymen Nicholas St. John LaCorte, Francis X. McDermott, Peter J. McDonough and Lorea Collins.

Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger, State Commissioner of Education, Dr. Frederick, executive director of the N. J. E. A., Dr. William A. West, Union County Superintendent of Schools, and Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of Newark State College, will be among the honored guests.

School — hangs on one wall. A snow scene done in oils by Mrs. French is displayed near the entrance hall. A colorful abstract which Bruce did last year is exhibited on a third wall.

EVEN THE POODLE advances the decorating scheme. Named Cocoa to match his color, he creates a study in brown by stretching out on the brown couch that lines one wall of the living room. (Cocoa really isn't interested in color schemes — the couch is just his favorite resting place.)

Mrs. French, a former nurse, finds she hasn't much time for painting since moving to Mountainide. A former den mother for the Cub Scouts, she served as a Girl Scout leader and organizer in the borough and is currently on the N. J. Board of Republican Women. She is also a past president of the Newcomers Club and is on the executive board of the P.T.A.

"Dick" has served as a Boy Scout committeeman and as co-manager of the Little League. Active in the fund drives for the Community Presbyterian Church, he has also worked in fund drives in the borough and has appeared in the last five variety shows sponsored by the Mountainide Music Association.

He plays the piano and until last year the bass fiddle. He sold the bass fiddle last year because it was, he says, "cumbersome" to tote around. But he found he missed the strangled instrument and has signed up for guitar lessons at Chatham Adult School.

But despite the guitar, he has no plans to carry on a folksinging campaign.

BORN IN HOLYOKE, Mass., "Dick" entered the American International College, Springfield, Mass., after graduating from Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass. He enlisted in the U. S. Air Force after collecting his A.B. degree from A.I.C. After his discharge he headed for Philadelphia, Pa., to do graduate work in business administration at Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania. He met his wife, who was doing graduate work in nursing education at Pennsylvania, while studying at Wharton. They were married 17 years ago.

A purchasing executive for 10 years, French joined Young and Rubicam in 1962. Mrs. French, who formerly taught nursing arts in Philadelphia and Buffalo, has found home responsibilities and civic activities now crowd her calendar so much to allow her to continue her career.

The whole family enjoys music and the parents are pleased with the "excellent" musical and art programs offered in the schools. They think the entire curriculum offered in the borough schools is "outstanding."

"Dick" says his "main reason" for entering the Board of Education race is to help "continue that excellence." He hopes, he says quietly, that the voters will give him the opportunity to serve on the board. He feels his training and experience in business could be helpful in the administration work of the Board. But he will express no preference as to what assignment he would like to draw if he is elected.

"I'd serve happily wherever I am asked to — I'd have a great deal to learn at first," he pointed out quietly.

Scotflaw Drivers Have Their Day In Borough Court

Several drivers paid contempt of court fines in Mountainide Municipal Court last week for ignoring summonses, and one Elizabeth motorist was sent to jail for 60 days for three violations.

Sent to jail by Magistrate Jacob Bauer was John Hicks, 27, of Elizabeth, who was given 20 days on each of three charges — allowing a driver who was on a revoked list to operate his car, operation of a vehicle while its registration was revoked and falsifying information to obtain a license while he himself was on a revoked list for drunken driving. The magistrate dismissed a charge against him for obtaining a registration while he was on the revoked list, and he gave the defendant credit for time served since his arrest Dec. 22.

Clarence A. Cash, 46, of Potomac, Pa., paid a total of $126 on eight motor vehicle violations, which were using plates other than those issued, $30; unregistered vehicle, $15; no registration for a trailer, $15; no current registration for a tractor, $15; unsafe vehicle, $15; maintenance of lights violation, $13; no identification on a commercial vehicle, $13; and no protective flaps on a truck, $10. He was found not guilty of driving while on a revoked list.

Anthony F. Pisano, 35, of Glen Ridge was fined $15 for an inspection violation dating back to Jan. 3, 1964, $15 for not having the same vehicle re-inspected Feb. 12 after it had been rejected, and $30 for contempt for ignoring both summonses.

Also fined for contempt for ignoring summonses were N. J. M. Motors Trans. of Ridgefield, $10; Elzrod Truck Leasing Inc. of Hackensack, $5; Everett V. Robbins of Mount Holly, $10; Charles T. Ayres, 27, of Washington, $20; Eamon N. Doherty of Teaneck, $20; Irving M. Butrica of Somerville, $20; Walter Berry of Oakland, $10; Walter C. Dunsavage, 39, of Somerville, $10; and John J. Perrucci, 34, of Somerville, $20.

Their road violations and fines were as follows:

N. J. M. Motors, inspection violation, $15; Elzrod Truck Leasing, inspection violation, $10; Robbins, one license plate only, $10; and no name and address on a commercial vehicle, $13; Ayres, no registration in possession twice, $15 each; Doherty, no protective flaps on a trailer, $10 and inspection violation, $15; Butrica, inspection violation, $15; Dunsavage, traffic signal violation, $14, and Perrucci, driving on the shoulder of the road, $10. Berry was found not guilty of an inspection violation.

Governor Atkins, 23 of Plainfield was fined $25 for driving without a license and $15 for operating an unregistered vehicle.

Ed S. Gray Jr., 19, of Union, was fined $18 for pulling up to a red light on Rt. 22 at New Providence rd. on the right and speeding ahead as the light glowed.

Ernest Fuchs 3rd, 36, of New Providence was fined $25 for passing a school bus while unloading.

The court session was held Jan. 31.

mental shift was dictated (as most of the Reiter's decisions are) by what is best for the children.

"You can't practice a clarinet quietly at night while the children are sleeping," he points out. The more subdued notes of the recorder float softly through the night air, disturbing nary a sleeper.

A poor but interested glofer, a more enthusiastic tennis player, Reiter finds that swimming, which he enjoys in the winter when he and his family travel to Miami Beach to visit his mother, is becoming his favorite method of exercising. His busy schedule doesn't allow much time for recreation.

An alumnus of the University of Cincinnati, Reiter spent five years doing graduate work in engineering at Pennsylvania State and Princeton Universities. Engineering was in his blood for his late father, an officer in the army reserve, was in that field and had received an award from the Italian government for work he had carried out while serving with the armed forces there.

Reiter maintains a workshop in his basement, equipped with enough tools to enable him to do most of his own home repairs and maintenance work.

An amateur meteorologist, he gets daily weather maps from the government. Every day he carefully studies these, a very efficient looking barometer and the sky. Then he predicts the weather. He has not, he says, been right yet.

As a meteorologist, he makes a very good engineer.

Educator Leads Training Session

The Kindergarten Intercommunity In-Service for Kindergarten Teachers is scheduled to meet today in the Tamaquas School, Westfield, Mountainide, Cranford, Scotch Plains, Roselle, Clark and Westfield schools are participating in this joint endeavor.

Dr. James L. Hymes Jr., professor of Education and chairman of Childhood Education Department at the University of Maryland, will be the speaker. He has received degrees from Harvard College and Teachers College, Columbia University.

His latest publications include "The Child Under Six" and "Oodles of Noodles and other Hymes' Rhymes" (a book for children.) In addition to several pamphlets, he has also written adult books entitled "Before the Child Reads," "Understanding Your Child," "Effective Home-School Relations," and "A Child Development Point of View." "Behavior and Misbehavior: A Teacher's Guide to Action." His series, "Books to Start On" are being used in the Mountainide kindergarten.

Following the lecture there will be group discussions and a question and answer period. Refreshments will be served by the P.T.A.

Mrs. Helen Fountals of Deerfield School is the chairman for the Mountainide group.

School Budget

ing year have not been computed.

Dr. Edward J. Nolan, board president, pointed out that the tax rate for school purposes dropped from $3.31 in 1962 to $3.29 the following year and to $3.17 last year.

Other increases include $2,000 for an architect's services in planning renovation of Echobrook and Deerfield schools, $500 for a consultant to review curriculum needs and $7,000 for a bookkeeping machine in the business office.

The board also voted an increased summer school subsidy to eliminate tuition on basic courses, a fact contributing to the high budget, Dr. Nolan said.

Infant Care Class Registration Set

The Mountainide Board of Health announced this week that registrations are now being accepted for the next term of infant care classes for expectant parents, grandparents or those contemplating adoption.

The first of a series of five classes, co-sponsored by the Westfield and Mountainide Boards of Health and the District Nursing Association, will open Feb. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Board of Health office in the Westfield Municipal Building. Classes will continue on the next four consecutive Tuesday evenings.

Registration may be made or further information obtained by calling the office of the District Nursing Association, AD 2-0709.

Miss Edith M. Umbrecht, director-supervisor of the nursing association, will conduct the classes which will include the bathing, feeding and dressing of the baby. Correct methods of infant care will be demonstrated and Miss Umbrecht will attempt to answer questions worrying prospective parents.

Although the class is offered as a service to the community with most of the expense being absorbed by the Westfield and Mountainide Board of Health and the District Nursing Association, a small fee will be charged to registrants.

Kroyer's Team Adds To Its Lead

Kroyer's Krates added to their lead in the Mountainide Women's Bowling League last week and are now seven games ahead with 38 wins and 19 losses.

FRIENDSHIP GUILD TO MEET TUESDAY

The Friendship Guild of the First Baptist Church of Westfield will meet Tuesday evening at 8:15 in the Education Building. Miss Dorothy Bushby will lead devotions, Mrs. Reginald Housel will be in charge of hospitality.

Guild members and other church ladies interested in participating, are reminded to bring sewing supplies in order to work on leprosy gowns for Church World Service, as part of the Guild's White Cross quota.

Mrs. Harold Titworth will preside.

Modern Dance Classes Set; Register Jan. 25

Registration for the winter session of modern dance classes, sponsored by the Mountainide Music Association, will be held Monday in Beechwood School, Mountainide. Registration hours will be from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on that day.

Classes for beginners and intermediates will open Jan. 29 in the all-purpose room of Deerfield School. The beginners' class will run from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. and the intermediates from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Marilyn Mess will teach both groups.

Advanced classes and classes for high school girls will open Tuesday in the auditorium of Beechwood School. Mrs. Sandy Davis will teach both the advanced class, which will run from 7 to 8 p.m., and the high school group, 8 to 9 p.m.

Tone-up rhythmic exercises for women will open Feb. 1 in Beechwood School and continue on Monday nights from 8 to 9 o'clock. Mrs. Mess will conduct this class.

WHAT DO THREATS ACCOMPLISH

"You be a good boy or I'll leave you right here in the store," scolds a mother. What does this threat accomplish? If it works, it's because the child is terrified that his mother really will leave him. Resorting to fear is a treacherous method for discipline. Fear often brings, anger, hurt and resentment.

Telling a child to be a good boy is meaningless. He has to know what the term "good boy" and "bad boy" mean to mother. It's unlikely that his actions seem bad to him. The youngster is probably busy and interested in new surroundings. No doubt he is using that terrific amount of energy young boys have.

The child may not know what to do to be a good boy. Or he may just call mother's bluff. All youngsters get out their parents sometimes to see just how much they can get away with. What will mother do? Will she leave him in the store? Parents are usually not that cruel.

Often the punishment threat that mother is not going to carry out her threat, in the future he's going to learn to "evade" and take a chance. In addition he learns that mother's word is not to be depended upon. Mother loses "face" and loses the child's respect. The youngster goes his own way paying little attention to mother's words.

Often the punishment threatened is much more severe than the action calls for. Carrying out the threat is unjust. If it is carried out, there is a battle of wills. Real discipline, not threats, teaches a child what to do and how to do it.

Six Workshops Of PTA Congress Set Registration

Six special-interest workshops will be sponsored this month by the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers with the Northern Region program slated for next Thursday in Peddie Memorial Church, Newark. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and all sessions will adjourn at 1 p.m.

According to Mrs. Arthur Laird Davis of Maplewood, a former Irvington resident, the president of the state congress, workshops will be set up for mental health, publicity, room representatives, pre-school, international relations and membership and will be held in three regions of the state.

Purpose of the program is to provide source materials and the latest information for local and county officers and chairmen. The meetings are open to anyone interested in the designated areas of work.

Workshop committee chairmen are: Mrs. George W. Luke, mental health; Mrs. Benjamin K. Messersmith, membership; Mrs. Louis M. Miller, publicity; Mrs. Arthur Chandler, room representative; Mrs. Thomas Jones of Mountainside, pre-school, and Mrs. Jesse T. Glazier, international relations.

Vale School Has 'SAT' Prep Course

Carl Straus, director of the Vale School, 15 Hill St., Newark, has announced that the Vale College Entrance Examination Preparatory Course for the March 6 Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) will start on Saturday, Jan. 30.

Straus said that competition to enter college has become so keen, that colleges, in increasing numbers, require applicants to take College Board Examinations to enable college admissions officers to make a better selection.

The Vale Course, according to Straus, will provide a review in basic math and verbal skills and examine the contents of typical tests, with emphasis on the development of a time-tested technique for taking the examination in a relaxed and confident manner.

Health Board Reelects Fenton; Welcomes Becker And Stilwell

Dr. John P. Fenton was re-elected president of Mountainside's Board of Health at Monday night's organization meeting of that body. Jacob Eisen was re-elected vice-president and Harold Becker was welcomed into membership of the board. Becker replaces Robert Helm whose term expired at the end of 1964. Councilman George Stilwell is the new representative from the Borough Council to the board. He replaces Councilman Albert Daniels in the assignment.

The board members voted to change their meeting night from the third Monday of each month to the second Monday. Residents are invited to attend the sessions which open at 7:30 p.m. in the Borough Hall.

Dr. Fenton read his annual report which included data on the board's effort to control the burning of leaves and the consequent air pollution which is especially damaging to asthma sufferers.

Two Persons Hurt In Sunday Accident

Two persons were hurt early Sunday, when a Union County dump truck being used to spread sand on icy roads was struck by a tractor-trailer at Rt. 22 and New Providence rd., Mountainside police reported.

Taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, were the tractor driver, Frederick L. Hailer, 44, of Tabor, Iowa, and a passenger in the dump truck, John Demarco, 20, of Elizabeth. The Iowa man suffered cuts on the face and left hand, and Demarco complained of pain in the back.

John Hamlette, 49, of Westfield, who was driving the county vehicle, said he was stopped for a red light on New Providence rd. It changed to green, and a truck in front of him started to cross the highway. So did he, he told police. Hamlette said he saw the tractor-trailer coming along the highway, and that he thought it would stop. When he saw it wasn't going to stop, he stepped harder on the accelerator, but the tractor-trailer hit the rear of the dump truck.

Dr. Fenton reappointed Charles F. Dotto to the part-time position of health officer. He also reappointed other part-time employees including Mrs. Maxine Buck as secretary and registrar; Mrs. Doris Carson, deputy registrar, and Daniel Hartnett as plumbing inspector. He also confirmed the appointment of Charles Honecker to the newly created post of assistant plumbing inspector. Hartnett, Honecker and Edward Honecker were named to the plumbing examiners committee.

Dr. Stuart Baron, a local physician, appeared before the board informally to inquire about the feasibility of inaugurating a program for children enrolled in schools in the borough aimed at detecting latent kidney disease and early diabetes. Dr. Baron presented his opinions on the efficiency of the uristix in such a program.

The board, including Dr. Henry W. Langhein and Dr. Irwin Greenbaum in addition to the previously mentioned members, after some discussion tabled the suggestion.

World Book Lore

John Tyler established the right of a vice-president to full succession to the U.S. presidency in 1841. When William Henry Harrison died in office, the first president to do so, some political leaders thought Vice-President Tyler should be called "Acting President." They opposed his receiving the full presidential salary and even his occupying the White House. But Tyler took the oath and title of President, moved into 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, and asserted the full presidential powers.

Students Qualify For Region Band After Auditioning

Eight students from Governor Livingston Regional High School qualified for membership in the Region II High School Band at the auditions held recently in the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School.

The names of those qualifying were announced this week by Forrest Bartlett, band director at Governor Livingston, who served as general chairman of the tryouts which are sponsored annually by the Central Jersey Band and Orchestra Association.

Winston Parker playing alto saxophone and Bernard Yanotte on the bass clarinet received additional recognition as first chair players. Others who qualified were Anne Hobenstret, Betsy Bartlett, and Bob Osborn, all on clarinet; Drew Leske, bass clarinet; Alex Gaynes, trumpet, and Howard Binson, French horn. All eight are now eligible to audition for N. J. All-State Band and Orchestra; tryouts will be held Saturday in Hightstown High School.

How Long Is A French Horn? Youngsters Find Out At Workshop

(Continued from Page 1) 1960 when, in keeping with the group's secondary aim of bringing cultural events to the community, the University of Tulsa Radio Concert Chorus was presented locally under M.M.A. sponsorship. Modern dance and ball room classes were started that year, the newly formed Community Band had 25 members on its rolls and the second annual show, "Way Off Broadway," showed a $700 profit.

Those profits were poured into scholarships for students to study at summer band school, $50 was set aside to be used at the discretion of the custodian at Deerfield School to expedite the technical end of producing school and community programs. And four shining new drums were presented to the school for use in the school band and instrumental classes.

In 1961, only two years after its organization, the M.M.A. turned over $1,024 to the schools for use in its music department. Again the gift represented a goodly portion of the profits realized from the annual variety show, "Look Who's Dancing."

The Tulsa U. Choir made the third of its annual appearances locally in the spring of 1962. Cornelia Stabler, noted monologist, appeared later that year, (courtesy of M.M.A.) and Louise Armstrong and William Pierce, nationally known artists, presented the 1962 production, "Here We Go Again," gave an oboe and bassoon to the school's music department, a gift which prompted Joseph Petruccio, instrumental instructor, to say that "seldom are such instruments found in elementary school groups because of their prohibitive initial expense and their lack of availability on a rental basis."

The 1962 profits also placed a towering aluminum scaffolding equipment in Deerfield School. The equipment, which cost almost $500, is used to help stage school and community productions.

The annual "Folk Festival," initiated in 1963 and repeated in 1964, has brought outstanding and unusual artists to the borough from all over the world, giving local children and adults a glimpse into other cultures and customs.

"ONE MORE TIME," the 1963 variety show, put a $400 tab into the school's music department and the famous Columbus Boychoir came to town under M.M.A. sponsorship. As a result of that program, two local boys were accepted into the Columbus Boychoir School and 10 others were accepted into the Boychoir's summer camp.

The 1961 show, "On Q," which included Mountainside Don Goff's award-winning film "Earth Natives in Their Habitat," added a brand new piano to school equipment in addition to a tape recorder and rhythmic instruments.

Mrs. Reich, who describes herself as not an "organization believer," says she and the other members "can't begin to describe the satisfaction" they get from seeing something "concrete and wonderful" resulting from their efforts.

She believes she is echoing the sentiments of all the members when she says the M.M.A. has enriched their lives through shared interests and close friendships. Through awakening and fostering community interest in music, it has, she believes "added dimension" to the life of the community.

"And we've all had so much fun!" Mrs. Reich's voice bubbles with sincerity.

(P. S. — In case you're interested, a French horn is just about 14 feet long — unraveled, that is.)

FOOTHILL LADIES JOIN IN BREWING GALLONS OF FUN

Gallons of coffee will be consumed next Thursday afternoon when the entire membership of the Foothill Club of Mountainside will gather at homes of various board members for a friendly three-hour "kaffeeklatsch."

Each of the 172 members in the club has been invited to attend one of the sessions which will open at 12 noon. Any Foothill member who has not yet received her invitation is urged to contact Mrs. Harold Nelson (233-0062) as soon as possible.

Board members who will open their homes for the informal gatherings are Mrs. Walter Degehhardt, Mrs. Charles Shomo, Mrs. Stephen Bumball, Mrs. Harold Bromm, Mrs. John Halkowich, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Frank Balzik.

Fanwood Woman Is Assistant Clerk

Mrs. Helen M. Dunn, a Fanwood resident, has been hired by the Mountainside Borough Council to replace Mrs. Marguerite Becker who is resigning her position as assistant borough clerk. Mrs. Dunn was scheduled to start work yesterday, Councilman George Stilwell told the Echo Tuesday night.

Mrs. Dunn, who worked for Turbine Equipment when it was located in Mountainside, studied at Pratt Institute and Long Island Business School. Her husband, Donald, is a manufacturer of children, aged 21 and 19, er's representative. They have two children.

The new assistant clerk will receive an annual salary of $5,200, Stilwell said. She was selected from among four applicants for the position, according to Stilwell.

Mrs. Becker, whose resignation becomes effective tomorrow, was reappointed to the post she has held for almost eight years at the organizational meeting of the Borough Council on Jan. 2. Her salary was $6,400. She has accepted a position with Bristol-Myers Co., Hillside.

No selection has been made of a replacement for Mrs. Jane May, who is resigning Feb. 1 from her position as secretary to the superintendent of public works. Mrs. May also was reappointed to her position at the Jan. 2 meeting.

Feb. 10 Hearing

(Continued from page 1) Council for inaction on his repeated request for the establishment of a pullover lane for a bus stop near Summit rd. on Rt. 22. Hoffman claimed that he had submitted to last year's Council a letter and blueprints he had received from the State Highway Department. He said that department informed him it would construct the lane and bus stop if the borough would acquire the necessary highway frontage—300 ft. long to 7 to 10 ft. deep.

Wilhelms' suggestion that the Council take the matter under study with a view of projecting it into the master plan drew a heated retort from Hoffman that all the Council has done is "talk for eight years" and that valuable time would be consumed while the matter was "hashed and rehashed, submitted and re-submitted."

County Chiefs To Add Riot Control To Training Programs For Police

Mob and riot control will be added to the training program of the Union County Police Chiefs Association, it was announced last week at a meeting held in the Mountainside Inn, Mountainside.

The association's training coordinator, Cranford Police Chief Lester W. Powell, announced details of the training expansion at the annual meeting at which the Chiefs Association is host to the mayors and police commissioners of county municipalities.

The rioting in various cities during the past year prompted the association to take this action, Chief Powell said. The association already sponsors a six-week basic training academy and advanced courses in specialized aspects of police work.

Mountainside's Police Chief

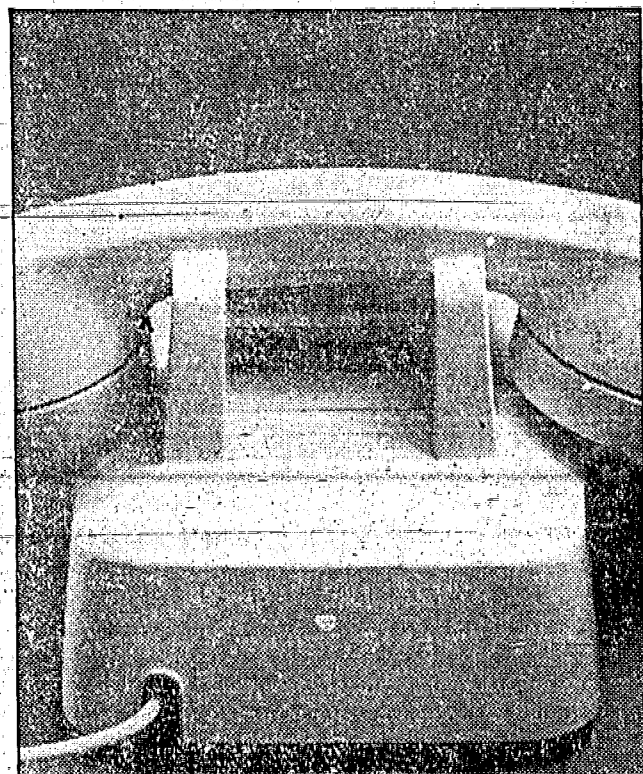

Christian Fritz and Mayor Frederick Wilhelms were among the speakers at the meeting.

TRAIL CLUB PLANS FOR ANNIVERSARY

Plans for the celebration of the group's 10th anniversary were announced at a recent meeting of the Mountain Trail Garden Club by Mrs. Joseph P. Nothum. Mrs. Nothum will serve as chairman of the anniversary meeting in April.

The bird chairman, Mrs. John J. Suski, spoke on the history of the starlings which were brought to this country from England in 1890.

The final in a four-session series on flower arrangements was conducted by Mrs. Arnold Treptow of Fanwood at the meeting held in the home of Mrs. Frank R. Tranchard, 1066 Sunny View rd., Mountainside.

'Beau And Belle' Dance Set Saturday At Mountainside Inn For Newcomers

The Mountainside Newcomers Club will hold an informal "Beau and Belle" dance Saturday evening at the Mountainside Inn. Tickets for the affair, which will open at 8:30 and run to 1 a.m., are available to members and prospective members and their husbands.

The club will open evening duplicate bridge sessions for couples on Feb. 6. Those interested in joining may contact Mrs. Lafayette Fisher.

There are still some vacancies in the ballroom dancing classes which started recently. Couples may still enroll by contacting Mrs. Edward Ryder.

The club will sponsor a family swim party Feb. 28 in the Conroe Recreation Center in Berkeley Heights. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Lombard.

The antique study group will visit Don Maxwell's Antique Shop next Wednesday. The group will meet for coffee at 4:30 p.m. at Mrs. Richard Lake's home before going to the antique show.

A satire, "That Was the Ad That Wasn't," will be presented at the Feb. 10 meeting.

Mrs. Charlotte Montgomery, a resident of Westfield, was the guest speaker at the January meeting. Mrs. Montgomery, a contributing editor for Good Housekeeping Magazine for the last 15 years, has a column, "Speaker for the House," published monthly in that magazine.

Three new members, Mrs. Walter Clark on Jr., Mrs. Neil

SPRING FASHIONS TO BE FEATURED AT PTA MEETING

A Valentine-desert fashion show featuring the latest spring attire, will be presented Monday, Feb. 8, at 8:15 at the Thelma I. Sandmeier School in Springfield. The fashion show, sponsored by the school PTA, will follow a short business meeting. Mrs. Marvin Fish will preside.

Among the models in the show will be Mrs. David Sabo, Mrs. Edward Segall, Mrs. D. Mald Rotwein, Mrs. Edward Otto, Mrs. Ronald Citron and Mrs. Seymour Fish.

The chairman, Mrs. Sanford Rosnick, announced that an exhibit by Mrs. Seymour Frank of Springfield, a professional artist, will show 18 water color depictions of the Navy Hymn theme which won an award in fine arts at the Columbus Film Festival. Mrs. Frank's exhibit was also shown at the Highgate Gallery in Montclair in November.

Members of the committee who are assisting Mrs. Rosnick are Mrs. Irwin Kosnett, Mrs. Milton Meyerson and Harold Liebeskind. Ticket information may be secured from Mrs. Alvin Schneider at MU 2-9094 or Mrs. Robert Feld, 379-9519.

Women Voters To Meet, Discuss State Problems

The Springfield League of Women Voters will meet at 8:15 in the home of Mrs. Harry Einstein, 25 Midvale ave. Statewide issues which have been under study for the past year will be evaluated.

Among the speakers for the evening will be Mrs. Charles Danziger, whose subject is county government in relation to the existing law (Title 40-40A), and Mrs. Einstein, who will outline the issues involved in legislative reapportionment. Water resources and education for the State of New Jersey will also be reviewed.

Mrs. Stephen Beno, League president, urged all members to attend this important meeting.

Mrs. Alice Holland, head of the music and education department of the Elizabeth Public Library, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Church and Cannon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. F. Donnelly of Northview ter, Springfield.

 The way in which the immortality of life becomes a reality for every individual will be explored in the lessons. Sermon at all Christian Science services this Sunday. The subject is "Life," and it is key-noted by the Golden Text from Galatians 6:8: "He that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."
 The theme is amplified by this passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Being holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 492).

Ceylonese Teacher Visits Schools Here
 The Union County Regional High School District is now the host to Herman Perera of Kurunegala, Ceylon. Perera is a guest in this country as part of the international teacher development program sponsored by the State Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
 Perera is a science teacher in his native Ceylon and is one of three teachers from there now in this country. They are part of a group of 700 teachers from 70 different lands. Twenty-three are science teachers and nine are science teachers and new Jersey is being visited by 11.
 The group arrived in Washington, D. C. last September and after orientation they were sent to different universities throughout the country according to their respective fields of interest.
 Perera attended Oregon State University in Corvallis. After three months there the group was given a tour of the Southwest via San Francisco, Los Angeles (including Disneyland and Hollywood), then east to New Mexico, Arizona (where they visited the Grand Canyon) and later to Wyoming and Yellowstone National Park.
 Early this month the group arrived in Trenton where they received an introduction to the Garden State and then were sent to the schools throughout the state where they will spend some five weeks observing American secondary schools in action.
 Perera is the guest of Mr. George Barclay, science coordinator in the Regional District, and is observing classes at Arthur L. Johnson, Jonathan Dayton and Governor Livingston Regional High Schools.
 After his stay here, Perera will return to Washington, D. C. for an evaluation and review of the program.

Lutheran Church Sets Observance

Hahne Head Lauded For 32-Year Leadership

"Fashion, good taste and friendliness" are the key words that stress the merchandise and service at Hahne & Company stores, Jack Millar, advertising manager of the company told a group of Union County residents recently.

Speaking specifically about the company's Westfield store, Millar gave major credit for its policies to Junior C. Buck, president of Hahne & Co., who had in 1933 brought the Newark store to a standard of excellence and carried and rebuilt it to "its former place of leadership in New Jersey."

Noting that Buck assumed leadership of the company during the days of the depression, Millar said: "He set up certain standards to be achieved as soon as possible. One was a return to, and enlargement of, fine fashions, both in women's, men's and children's wearing apparel — and in furniture and furnishings for the home.

"New markets were invaded, scrupulous attention was devoted to searching out those designers whose forte was the creation of wearing apparel and accessories of good, tasteful design — the kind of fashions that men and women of New Jersey like. The kind of fashions that are simple in design, rich in appearance and always in the best of taste."

"The second standard was quality — the finest quality available at the price, whatever the price. And Mr. Buck made it clear that although the price range of merchandise to be carried by the store was from the middle to the higher price brackets, yet in those ranges Hahne & Company's prices on identical merchandise would be the same or lower than other stores. This standard of being competitive on prices for identical merchandise is one that is just as diligently adhered to today as in 1933.

"The third standard was friendliness — he wanted his store to be a pleasant place to stop — a pleasant place to work. I believe," he said, "that probably the best test of whether or not his emphasis on friendliness has borne fruit is answered by the fact that so many of our customers today refer to Hahne & Company as 'the store with the friendly spirit.'"

Millar said he believed that the true test of the philosophy of the company could be judged "by the fact that Hahne & Company has been so well supported by . . . customers over recent years — and here in Westfield the last year and a half."

Alluding to the people of the area, Millar said: "They've turned out to be the friendliest folks we've met anywhere. We've

He said that the majority of the employees of the Westfield store live in the town or in the adjacent communities.

Emphasizing that the company likes suggestions from its customers, Millar said that the company has listened to and profited by listening to the ideas provided to them by area residents.

Noting that Hahne & Company is a division of Associated Dry Goods Corp., of which Lord & Taylor is also a division, Millar emphasized that each division is completely autonomous.

"Each store makes its own policies which are adapted to the areas where they are and the people they serve. We get no ironclad policies from the home office that have to be followed to the letter — we're not a chain that does exactly what New York or Chicago tells it to. 'We're all people who live in New Jersey and will stay in New Jersey' — we're part . . . and we are proud and very happy about it." The Westfield store at 609 North ave. draws customers from the communities in and beyond Union county.

Hahne & Company, Millar stressed, "has one of the finest reputations among the finest department stores in the country." Noting that six years ago Hahne & Company celebrated its 100th anniversary, Millar said: "We used as our slogan, 'Beginning our second 100 years of quality and good taste.'"

Authorities 'Pleased' With 'Alien Response'

Dominick F. Rinaldi, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service is "well pleased" with the response of aliens in this state to address report requirements. The program has been underway for 30 days and the number reporting thus far is well ahead of the number reporting for the same period last year he said.

Rinaldi reminded non-citizens who have not reported their address this year, to do so within the next week. Alien address report forms are available at all post offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, he said.

POCKET OF ILLITERACY

Children of migratory farm workers constitute the largest single reservoir of illiterates in the country today according to a Rutgers research report. State University social scientists offered a 44-point program for improving the education of these children.

"Prosperity is something you feel, fold and mail to Washington."

UNIONITES MARK GOLDEN WEDDING AT FAMILY FETE

A 50th anniversary party was held Saturday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wagner of 177 Elmwood ave., Union. Family and friends helped the Wagners celebrate at 177 Elmwood ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner have been residents of Union for the past 45 years. They resided at 1319 Maple ave. for 35 years, and at their present address for 10 years.

Mr. Wagner was employed by the Singer Manufacturing Co. of Elizabeth for many years until his retirement.

The celebrated pair have seven children; two sons Matthew Wagner of New Providence and John Wagner of Union; and five daughters, Mrs. Helen Watts and Mrs. Katherine Plungis, both of Clark, Mrs. Susan Simon of Union, Mrs. Madeline Moke of Summit and Mrs. Ann Mulken of Tampa, Fla.

They also have 12 grandchildren.

'Riding Hood' In Union

"Little Red Riding Hood and Her Friends" will be the featured attraction on the screen at the Union Theater Saturday. There will be three screenings. That matinee show has been approved by the Movie Council which is sponsored by the Suburban Women's Club. Hostesses for the show will be the Suburban Women's Club.

Lectures, Demonstrations Held By Suburban Ladies

At a regular meeting of the Suburban Woman's Club of Union, last Friday evening at the Phoenix Lodge Hall, Miss Linda Gellerman, club representative to the Citizenship Institute, reported her experiences at Douglass College. One of the members, Mrs. John Yuknus, a Union County Home economist, gave a demonstration and talk on Furniture Cosmetics. She discussed the cleaning and restoring of furniture with natural wood finishes, with a furniture cleaner-conditioner that can be mixed at home.

The literature department took a bus trip to Lincoln Center Saturday. They toured the building, had lunch and were part of the New York State Ballet audience. The program featured Con Amore, Swan Lake, Firebird and Afternoon of a Faun.

The department will meet at the home of Elsie Gould to prepare medical dressings. A new project will be started, called Collecting for the New Eyes for the Needy in Short Hills.

Mrs. Carl Herold is in charge of the annual supper dance which will be held Feb. 6, at the Holiday Inn in Kenilworth.

Charity Council Plans Meeting On Monday

The Charity Council for Rehabilitation of Cerebral Palsied Children, Newark, will hold a board meeting Monday at Her Yelod Center, Newark. Mrs. Herbert Goldsmith of Maplewood will preside.

A report will be given by Mrs. Samuel Bailen on the dinner to be held May 17 at the Patrician Caterers, Livingston.

New fund raising ideas also will be discussed.

TRAVELER

Dr. John H. Morrow, chairman of the Foreign Language Department of Rutgers University College, was once U.S. Ambassador to Guinea, one of the newly-independent African nations. He is a Rutgers graduate.

Child Care Guild To Hold Meeting

The Guild for Child Care will meet Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Esta Kilburg, 374 Willow dr., Union.

Plans for the Feb. 15 fundraising bingo night to be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Building in Elizabeth, will be discussed at the meeting.

Open Monday through Saturday 9:45 to 5:30-Wednesday nights 'til 9 P.M. at Hahne & Company in Westfield and Newark.

UNUSUAL TAILOR
Joseph P. Brake, of Dubuque, Iowa, has been a custom tailor all his life. Measuring men for suits and coats, altering, sewing and cutting material is a daily chore, and a happy one. Joe Brake is also totally blind; and is one of many thousands of sightless persons engaged in profitable enterprise, according to the American Foundation for the Blind.

Kiley Again At Reins Of Kiwanis Division

Joseph F. Kiley Sr. was installed for his second term as lieutenant governor for the 10th Division-New Jersey District of Kiwanis International in ceremonies which took place yesterday at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark.

Kiley, who two weeks ago had the honor of installing his son, Robert, as the 20th president of the Union Kiwanis Club, will serve in his present capacity during the 50th anniversary year of the founding of Kiwanis International.

Kiley is a charter member of the Union Kiwanis Club and served as its third president in 1948, the year the township group earned an achievement award. The Key Club for high school students was also begun during Kiley's presidency.

As Kiwanis lieutenant governor, he has jurisdiction over nine clubs in the area and also will serve as a member of the Kiwanis state board. Among his duties during the 50th year of the international organization will be his attendance at the International Convention to be held in New York in July. Those clubs under Kiley's supervision are the organizations of Summit, Millburn-Springfield, Hillside, Union, Elizabeth, Elmora, Cranford, Mountainside and Roselle-Roselle Park.

A veteran of 42 years with the Prudential Insurance Co., Newark, Kiley serves as the firm's director of district agencies in the northern New Jersey region. He has charge of 14 district offices which employ 600 men.

Kiley and his wife are the parents of four. The younger Kileys are Joseph Jr., Robert, Richard and Mrs. Dale Strand of New York. There are also 10 grandchildren. Kiley lives at 1818 Berkshire dr., Union.

To Star Satellite Museum Movie

"Telstar," a color, sound movie will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside-Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, Mountainside, on Sunday, at 3 p. m.

The film is a dramatic on-the-scene story of the development and launching of telstar and the successful transmission of signals by this experimental satellite. One-half hour nature talks for children will be conducted by Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of Trailside, at 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The topic selected for the four days is "Freshwater and Saltwater Life." Dr. Moldenke's talks will be illustrated with color slides and admission is free.
