

Bd. Of Education Adopts Pay Scale For Its Teachers

Guide Has 17 Steps; Minimum Of $5,300, $9,870 As Maximum

Mountainside's Board of Education adopted a teachers' salary guide Tuesday night which will start at a basic $5,300 for the holder of a bachelor's degree and advance with yearly raises in 17 steps to a maximum of $9,870.

Those with master's degrees begin under the new guide at a basic $5,600 and in 17 years reach a maximum of $9,560. Those with two years of graduate work or the equivalent will receive a basic $5,900, advancing in 17 years to a maximum of $9,870.

Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools, explained that the new scale was adopted to improve the borough's relative position as compared to scales of surrounding communities. He said the new guide represents a "reasonable" improvement in that area.

Teachers and other school board employees will also receive additional fringe benefits through a major medical program for themselves and their dependents which was also adopted Tuesday night.

Pays One-Half

Under the new ruling the Board will assume payment of one-half of an additional medical program, effective this July 1, at an annual total cost of $1,500. The board pays one-half of the hospitalization and medical-surgical program already included in its fringe benefit program for all employees.

Dr. Hanigan asked and received the Board's approval of his request to offer a contract to Mrs. Marilyn Siller Cole at an annual salary of $6,440. Mrs. Cole who is expected to be assigned to one of the third grades in Echobrook School, taught in the Mountainside school system a few years ago before moving to California where her husband was assigned.

The Board also approved the Superintendent's request for approval of tenure for six faculty members, Miss Myrna K. Cyre, Mrs. Ina A. Hodes, Kenneth L. Johnson, Mrs. Martha F. Podmayer, Edwin R. Sjunell and Mrs. Marilyn J. Webb.

The school calendar for the 1965-66 year, presented to the board for approval, showed that the fall semester will open for a half-day on Sept. 8 and run to June 24, 1966. It will closely parallel the current school calendar.

Summer School

Summer school will open this year on June 28 and run through July 30, Dr. Hanigan reported. The school, which will be staffed by about 12 teachers, will offer basic reading and math and enrichment courses to students living in the borough. Out of town children who attend will be required to pay a dollar a day per course for both the basic and enrichment courses.

Children living in the borough who attend either public or private schools will be able to attend the basic reading or math courses free of charge. A charge of 50 cents a day per subject will be made for the enrichment courses to students living in the borough. Out of town children who attend will be required to pay a dollar a day per course for both the basic and enrichment courses.

Classes in the summer school will run from 8:30 to 10 a.m. and from 10:30 to 12 noon.

Wilson Decision Postponed Again

Decision in the case of A. A. Wilson against the Borough of Mountainside has been postponed until March 19, it was learned this week.

Borough Attorney Nicholas St. John LaCorte and Melvin Koestler, an Elizabeth lawyer representing the plaintiff, appeared in Judge Milton Feller's chambers last Friday for a review of papers filed in the case.

The suit, in which Wilson sought reversal of the borough's refusal to grant him a variance to erect a garden apartment and furniture store on his property which fronts on the west-bound lane of Rt. 22, came before Judge Feller last fall. He reserved decision at that time.

Pots, Pans Made Ideal 'Canvas' Irving Amen Now Recognized Artist

By RITA ZEISS

Irving Amen, whose works appear in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Bibliotheque Royale in Brussels, the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris and countless other famed collections, used his mother's pots and pans as the first background for his artistic endeavors. These first attempts, his sister, Mrs. Sharon Swersky of Foothill way, Mountainside remembers were discouraged by their mother who, although proud of his talent, did not relish the smell of burning paint mingled with the cooking odors.

Younger than her noted brother, Mrs. Swersky cannot remember a time when he was not painting. By the time he was six he knew firmly and surely that he would be an artist. A mural he painted at 14 still hangs in Abraham Clark High School in New York City where the Amen children were born and raised.

Teachers in the elementary grades recognized his talent, Mrs. Swersky recalls, and allowed him complete freedom in following his own creative impulses. That, she emphasizes, does not mean that he did not submit himself to the stern discipline the true artist must accept. Through grammar school and high school days he studied endlessly; he continued at the Art League in New York, the New School, Pratt Institute — painstakingly learning the tools of his trade.

His sister, still awe-struck at the dedication which drove him on to "do what he was meant to do," recalls the perseverance he showed, how he worked and "starved for years" to establish himself in his field.

Now a recognized and worldwide respected artist, he works in a three-story studio in his house in New York City with never enough time to do all the thing he feels he must do.

His oil paintings, his etchings, his sculptures have gained him an enviable reputation. But it is principally for his wood cuts, a medium in which he became deeply interested in the late 1940's, that he has collected the highest, hosiannans in art circles.

A. Hyatt Mayor, curator of prints in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, calls him "one of the leaders of the brilliant and vigorous modern revival of the color woodcut."

Gustave Von Groschwitz, curator of prints at the Cincinnati Art Museum, says that he "bridges the gap between abstraction for its own sake and abstraction used as part of the interpretation of nature and personal experience."

Through the years art critics have acclaimed him.

Yet he has none of the posturings of many so-called geniuses. Soft-spoken, gentlemanly, he explains how he became interested in woodcuts as a means of making good art available to the average person.

"An oil painting," he said last week while presenting a demonstration in a Mountainside home, "there is only one. It is sold and it is lost to the artist. And only the wealthy can afford to buy a really good painting. But with a woodcut the artist can pull several prints, all of good quality. This way many people can afford them — many people can enjoy them."

Echo Voted Into 'Quality Weeklies'

The Quality Weeklies of New Jersey has voted the Echo into its organization of 44 affiliated newspapers. Quality Weeklies was organized in 1945 by seven publishers for the purpose of presenting "quality newspapers in quality suburbs" as a "creative advertising package."

A review of the Echo's editorial content and standards took place before the Quality Weeklies board accepted it into the group.

Pat Faiella is manager of the organization which has its headquarters in Bloomfield, Donald L. Mulford, associate publisher of the Montclair Times, is its president.

Representatives of the three major faiths will join Tuesday night at the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, in a panel discussion on "The Role of Religious Institutions as Standard Settlers for the Community."

The Rev. Francis X. Carden, assistant pastor at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, Louis Walker, chairman of the youth committee of Temple Emmanuel of Westfield, and the Rev. Elmer A. Talcott Jr., pastor of the host church, will serve on the panel. Discussion from the floor will be encouraged.

The meeting, which will open at 8 o'clock, will be open to the public.

A pot-luck supper, sponsored by the Women's Association of Community Presbyterian, will precede the program. Those wishing to join the supper hour, scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock, are asked to bring a covered dish. Dessert and coffee will be served by Mrs. Malcolm Graham's circle.

Library Project Gets Giant Push As Dance Is Set

All Borough Groups Invited To Support Fund Raising Event

A borough-wide dance will be held Sept. 17 in the Mountainside Inn for the benefit of the proposed new municipal library of Mountainside. According to the chairman, Mrs. Louis Pincelli of 1598 Brookside rd., the affair will tie-in all the organizations in the borough.

The idea for the dance originated with the Concord Estates Civic Association, Mrs. Pincelli said, and is receiving widespread and enthusiastic support from residents and organizations throughout the borough.

Members of the dance committee will contact all civic, fraternal and social clubs in the community, inviting them to join in the project which is aimed at securing a substantial sum for the proposed library's building fund, she added.

To Help Fund

In announcing the plans, Mrs. Pincelli stated: "It is our hope that each and every organization in the borough will not only support this dance, but will also become interested in directing their efforts this year for the benefit of the library fund."

The dance chairman made the following appointments: co-chairman, Mrs. Thomas Ricciardi; tickets, Mrs. Henry Lutz and William Bamberger; door prizes, Mrs. John P. Harrington and Mrs. Victor De Comna; printing, Herbert Ross; publicity, Mrs. Frederick Wilhelms Jr., Sidney Mele, president of the Library Board, attended a preliminary planning meeting for the fund-raising event at which time he outlined in detail the pressing need for new library facilities.

At the February meeting of the Library Board it was brought out that the facility must find new quarters since the Board of Education in June, 1964, informed the library trustees that the space in the basement of Echobrook School, now used to house the municipal library, is needed by the school system.

The library board voted at that meeting to send a delegation to the Borough Council to request (Continued on Page 4) LIBRARY PROJECT

Dems Choose Stypa, Rose To Run For Council Again

Joseph Stypa and Jules Rose, who came within 178 votes of capturing a seat on Mountainside's Borough Council in last November's elections, have been officially named as the Democratic candidates for the two Council seats which will be open this coming November. Announcement of their candidacy was made this week by a spokesman for the party.

Council To Approve Board Appointees

The names of the replacements for Albert Hartung, on Mountainside's Planning Board, and Albert Leeberg on the Board of Tax Assessors will be announced at next Tuesday night's meeting of the Borough Council, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. said this week. The mayor gave no hint of the identity of the two new appointees, saying only that several residents have been considered for the posts.

Leeberg's resignation was announced at the Jan. 2 organizational meeting of the Borough Council.

Hartung surrendered the board seat he has held continuously since 1948 on Feb. 25 at a public meeting of the Planning Board. He gave "personal" reasons as the cause for his resignation, stating that he took the action with regret since he had "enjoyed" serving on the board.

Hartung has been active politically in the borough for many years, serving on the Borough Council from 1945 to 1960 and as mayor in 1960 and 1961. His three-year appointment to the Planning Board would have expired at the end of this year.

Wilhelms said that he was not surprised at Hartung's action as they had discussed the possibility some time ago. He did state, however, that he was surprised at the "timing" since he (Wilhelms) had expected that Hartung would stay on until the borough's master plan was completed.

Hartung, who served as chairman of the board last year, last fall announced that he hoped the board would be ready to replace the master plan by late February of this year.

Robert Garrett, who is serving this year as chairman of the board, said Monday night that Hartung's resignation was a "factor" in the delay of the presentation of the plan. Other factors, Garrett stated, included the new makeup of the board and the consequent need to thoroughly familiarize the new members with all details of the plan and the board's procedures. The board's membership was shifted as the result of new appointments (Continued on Page 4) COUNCIL TO NAME

No announcement was forthcoming from Republican sources at press time as to possible candidates for the seats now held by William Ditzel and Albert Daniels, both Republicans. Last week Ditzel announced that because of the pressure of business he would not run again. Daniels stated that he is "still deciding" on that point although many politically active Republicans have stated that he will not be offered the nomination.

Rose and Stypa are expected to base their campaign, as they did last year, on the need for breaking one-party dominance in Mountainside.

Rose and Stypa, who were defeated last year by George Coughlin and William McCurley, made history of a sort in their entry into the political arena by cutting the Republican lead, which in previous years had been two to one, to 178. Coughlin, the top contender, captured 1,810 votes, McCurley 1,789, Stypa 1,611 and Rose 1,555. The Democratic team also took District 4 by a plurality of almost 100, the first time that any district in the borough deserted the Republican ranks.

Republicans attributed the good showing of the Democrats to the Johnson landslide which included Mountainside in its sweep. The Democrats attributed it to the intensive door-to-door campaign carried out by the running mates and to voters' "discontentment" with the Republican administration.

Stypa, who holds bachelor and master degrees in electrical engineering from Newark College of Engineering, is sales manager in the New York State area for International Telephone and Telegraph Co. of West Palm Beach, Fla. He lives with his wife and four children at 1088 Willow rd.

Rose, a graduate of Montclair State College, received the presidential citation, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with eight oak leaf clusters and four battle stars during his service with the Army during World War II. He is vice-president in charge of marketing for Kayser Roth Corp. of New York City, producers of soft material. Rose and his wife and two children live at 1111 Wyoming dr.

Mountainside's municipal budget for 1965 will be presented at a public hearing Tuesday night in conjunction with the monthly meeting of the Borough Council. The meeting is scheduled to open at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Echobrook School.

The budget, which totals $613,638.64 calls for $292,864 to be raised by taxes, $2,369.65 more than in 1964. Full figures on the budget were published on page 6 of last week's issue of the Mountainside Echo.

Officers installed include: William Seeds, president; Frank Magnolia, vice-president; Miss Barbara Westphal, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Magnolia, John Miller, R. H. Cardoni and Chester Allen, trustees.

Cardoni, chairman of the political nominating committee, placed the names of Jules Rose and Joseph Stypa, in nomination as the Democratic candidates for Borough Council. The nominations were unanimously approved.

Cardoni announced that, since the primary has been postponed until June 1, the committees will do further study before presenting a candidate for the party's nomination for mayor.

The membership voted to meet the fourth Monday of each month. The ways and means committee will meet shortly to plan a social event to be held during the spring. Mrs. Magnolia heads this committee.

ECHO PROFILE — Mrs. Donald Skoog

Mrs. Lisa Skoog of Central ave., Mountainside, is currently completing her term as president of the Mountainside Newcomers Club. In April she will turn her post over to the new president and assume an ex-officio status. Shortly after that, as required by the Newcomers' by-laws, she will give up her membership in the club since she will have completed the maximum three year affiliation with the club.

Newcomers clubs, particularly in a "transient" community such as Mountainside, are a lifeline to the average new female resident, Mrs. Skoog claims. These days more than ever in history many women, following their husbands to their company-assigned posts, find themselves pulling up stakes many times to relocate their homes in distant and unfamiliar communities. The husbands and children have automatic contacts with the new region through their work and school.

But the average mother, Mrs. Skoog points out, is often isolated from her new surroundings with no built-in lines of communication with her new neighborhood. The old custom of the old neighbors calling on the new has almost vanished, probably Mrs. Skoogs feels, because most of the residents do not themselves yet have roots in the community.

The Newcomers Club is the best way for the distaff member of the family to make contact. Mrs. Skoog (who might herself be called a coast-to-coast newcomer) feels.

Born and raised in California, she met her husband, Donald, there shortly after her graduation from the University of California, Los Angeles. A psychology and business major, she worked as a personnel director. Donald, who works in the region through their work and school.

Bell Telephone Dialing System Put Into Service

Another dimension in automatic dialing service known as "magical" is now available to customers of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., it was announced this week.
 Designed to increase speed and efficiency in making phone calls, the new "magical" set automatically changes any one of 1,000 telephone numbers, each of which can be recorded or changed easily by the caller.
 It works this way:
 A spinning index brings the desired number into position. Then the caller lifts the receiver, presses a button and the call is put through automatically.
 To record new numbers or change old ones, the caller simply plugs in a separate dial unit and uses it to make the number adjustment on the magnetic tape.
 The new automatic dialing set can be used with interchangeable tapes that have capacities of 400 or 1,000 telephone numbers.

946 Jerseyans Take Equivalency Exams

A total of 946 New Jersey adults will be taking the examinations this month to qualify for the New Jersey High School Equivalency Certificate, Commissioner of Education Frederick M. Raubinger announced this week.
 The figure brings to 3,186 the total of persons taking the test this year. The high school equivalency certificate is issued in lieu of a diploma in industrial promotion practices. It is accepted generally for college admission.
 The tests for the equivalency certificate are administered during January, March, June, and August at state colleges in Glassboro, Jersey City, Montclair, Union (Newark State College), Paterson and Trenton and at Monmouth College, West Long Branch, and the Camden-New Brunswick centers of Rutgers University.

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

The 89th Congress is displaying plenty of early speed in the parlance of the sports pages. If it stays the distance, it may set some kind of record for performance—if not for speed—in terms of major legislation enacted.

A comparison of box scores for the 88th Congress and the 89th, at the same stage, gives a fairly good idea of just how fast we are moving.

In the 88th Congress, as of March 1, 1963, no major bill had passed either house. In the 89th Congress, as of March 1, 1965, the Gold Cover Bill had passed both Houses and been sent to the President for his signature.

Four additional bills have passed the Senate. They are: Appalachia, Water Pollution Control, Coffee Agreement, Presidential Succession.

What may be an even better indicator of the performance that can be expected from this Congress is the way bills are moving through committee debate and the various other stages preliminary to final consideration on the floor.

In addition to the bills already mentioned, these major measures are fairly well advanced in one House or both: Medicare, Regional Medical Centers, Elementary - Secondary Education, Higher Education, Immigration, Foreign Aid, National Arts Foundation, Drug Controls and Manpower Amendments.

This is an extraordinary record for such a young Congress. My own legislative interests have moved along well, too.

The first bill resulting from the studies of the Subcommittee on Frauds and Misrepresentations Affecting the Elderly has just been introduced. It provides for stiffening of postal regulations aimed at those who would swindle our elderly citizens.

My bill aimed at finding a feasible federal flood insurance program has passed the Senate and, with the aid of our two new Democratic Congressmen from New Jersey's shore counties, Jim Howard and Tom McGrath, the bill has greatly improved prospects in the House.

 The Tocks Island Bill, to establish a national recreation area around the huge reservoir on the upper Delaware River which will be created by construction of the dam at Tocks Island, has moved up on the priority list to the point where chances of early passage are excellent.

A package of bills aimed at cutting down the air and water pollution which plagues our state, especially, and the nation, is moving smoothly through the legislative process.

The Higher Education Act of 1965 and the Elementary and Secondary School Act, providing renewal of old programs and new assistance to schools and students, seem reasonably well on the way toward passage, though perhaps with some changes.

The Immigration Reform Bill is presently in the hearing stage in both the House and the Senate. This bill would remove the so-called "quota system" which is so objectionable to many of our allies around the world and which precludes from entry into this country many who are deserving and who would bring valuable skills to our shores.

My bills to protect American businessmen from the Arab Boycott and from foreign pirating of patents, although not so well advanced in the legislative process as some other measures, also appear to have good prospects of passage.

 This is only a sampling of the legislation still before Congress. Space, obviously, does not permit a complete rundown.
 The important thing is that never, in my recollection, has Congress moved so expeditiously and never has there been a more favorable outlook for passage of major legislation.

Wester To Meet With Newark Mayor On Rt. 78 Traffic Problems

Henry P. Wester, chairman of the Essex-Hudson-Somerset Traffic Safety Council, will meet next week with Mayor Hugh Addonizio of Newark to discuss measures needed to deal with the massive traffic problems that will arise when Rt. 78 is completed in 1970.

Wester, a former MountainSide Councilman and an unsuccessful candidate last year for the Union County Board of Freeholders, said the meeting is a step aimed at trying to avert what Council studies show could be the biggest, most hazardous traffic jam in the history of the country.

Wester emphasized that the predicted traffic jam would affect not only Newark but all communities located on or near Rts. 22, 1-9, 21, the turnpike and the new east-west highway.

An estimated half-million cars will pass daily in the giant interchange complex that will tie in Rt. 78, which is now under construction, with nearly a half dozen major highways ringing Newark Airport, according to Wester. The chairman based his figures on studies conducted by the tri-county Council on the present traffic flow and the anticipated use of the new highway.

In his meeting with Addonizio, Wester said he will ask the Newark mayor to take the lead in finding out how to avert the traffic problems, the accident hazards and all the attendant difficulties which will undoubtedly occur in the interchange area. He will ask Addonizio to initiate a move which would bring the heads of other municipalities affected into a cohesive group to study and plan for the expected problems.

The $35 million interchange complex will be three miles long from McClellan st. and Rt. 1-9 to the New Jersey Turnpike entrance north of the airport. It will connect Rt. 78 with Rt. 1-9, the turnpike, Routes 21 and 22 and Port st., Newark.

Wester pointed out that the new highway will be heavily used by inter-state trucks and cars. The accident potential will be pushed up by that fact, he said, since drivers will be unfamiliar with the area and will be confused with the "hundreds of signs and over and underpasses and merging lanes."

The Safety Council is seeking the answers, Wester said, to the following questions:

What agency or branch of government will take on the responsibility of providing for the safety and welfare of the half million or more people who will be driving in the area daily, including the protection of more than $500,000 worth of rolling stock?

Who will carry the expense of enforcement, fire, emergency and rescue action in this area?

How will emergency equipment get into an area when it gets tied up as the result of an accident, snow or other traffic interference?

Sandman's Bid For GOP Nod Boosts Stock Of Sen. Stamler

The entrance of Cape May's Sen. Charles Sandman into the Republican gubernatorial nomination chase this week has boosted the stock of Union County Sen. Nelson F. Stamler, some political watchers said this week.

With Sen. Wayne Dumont of Warren County holding the trump card of organization backing, Sandman's decision to make a primary contest could divide the GOP regulars and leave the way open for Stamler to slip in, the political observers feel. However, Essex County Sen. Robert Sarcone holds the key to any successful Stamler bid, it is said. If the Essex lawmaker enters the race, he would make it difficult for Stamler to gain substantial backing that he needs in the populous northern New Jersey counties.

Meanwhile, Stamler has taken to the hustings seeking support for his candidacy. He said his appeals for financial help had shown "fair" results, while response to requests for other support were "good." He opened his drive Sunday with a talk to 75 persons at the Park Hotel, Plainfield. The vote quest will take Stamler to Monmouth, Camden, Bergen, Essex and Passaic Counties in coming weeks.

Sunday he reiterated his opposition to a state sales tax—a stand that would make him a clear-cut alternative to Dumont, who has been pumping for adoption of the levy for seven years. And, in a statement regarded as a deep bow in the direction of the powerful Bergen County GOP organization, Stamler said he did not believe the 600,000 residents of New Jersey who already pay a New York income tax should be penalized by a new state sales tax.

Irving Amen Now Recognized Artist

are the oldest printing system known to man. They were used in ancient China, revived around 1550 in Europe when they were used to print the so-called "pauper's" Bible and then lost again until the Japanese prints, discovered lining packing cases for crockery, brought the medium back to popularity.
Although the Japanese form influenced many western painters, including Van Gogh and Gauguin, it was not until the beginning of this century, principally during the modern art revolution, that woodcuts came into use as an art medium in the western world, Amen pointed out.
Unlike the Japanese woodcuts, whose creation was divided among three men — the artist, who superimposed his painting on the wood, the woodcutter whose knife followed that precise design and the printer who reproduced the print — the western artist following the German expressionists, carried out each step by himself.

He developed the idea, the picture — Amen tapped his head to show the source — used the knife and the gouge to draw the picture from the wood and then "pulled" the prints.
The western woodcut artists worked, he says, "from the heart, from the guts," with nothing but his own creativity to guide him — unlike the Japanese who worked within a set pattern laid down by tradition.
Amen's own work reflects that positive, seeking attitude. His work, as his conversation, seems to probe through non-essentials, down to the essence of being, to a rich spiritual source of strength that while recognizing tragedies and injustices, somehow soars above them to an encompassing acceptance of all that is life.

He speaks of the wood he works with as a living thing. "We must consult with our materials," he says quietly, "learn the nature of them. We must not demand outside their nature."
Cutting the wood, his fingers caressing its surface, he said this philosophy of working with the nature of things "holds true in everything we do."
There must be, he claims, a "partnership" between the artist and the wood. "The wood," he says with almost a mystical smile, "says 'You're trying to understand me' — so we live happily."
Warm and generous, he has for the past several years, in addition to exhibiting in the Westfield Hadassah's annual art show, given a woodcut to be used as a motif for the show and on the programs.
He explained last week that he only takes a limited number of prints from each woodcut. One interested listener (dreaming perhaps of owning an original Amen) asked him what he did with his old woodcuts.
Almost visibly concealing a shudder of horror, Amen asked gently: "Madam, what do you do with your old children?"

ECHO PROFILE

search division of Igersoll-Rand, was transferred to Illinois in 1949. They settled in Aurora, a suburban town in the Chicago area, and it was there that Mrs. Skoog had her first introduction into a Newcomers Club.
Lonesome for home and old friends, she found it provided introduction to many potential friends, activities of a varied nature and many opportunities for service. A second transfer in 1960 took the Skoogs to Hartford, Conn., where again Mrs. Skoog established contact with the community through the Newcomers Club.
THE MOVE to Mountainide was not necessitated by a transfer but the difficulties of commuting to New York. Business associates of her husband lived in Westfield and suggested this area. The Skoogs saw their present home, situated at the crest of the hill where Old Tote rd. runs into Central ave., and fell in love with it. The property, almost an acre of it, backs into the Watchung Reservation. Tall birches stand straight in close formation like silver-uniformed soldiers guarding the privacy of the cultivated part of their backyard which houses a good-sized swimming pool.
Their dog, a huge fawn-colored boxer named Captain Jinks, seems to love the home as much as his owners do. He barks politely when visitors enter, escorts them graciously to the back to glimpse the wondrous view — all with the mannerisms of a house-proud owner. Raised for his first year in a kennel, Jinks had to be taught to chew on bones. But a knowledgeable guest does not leave his keys around. Jinks does chew on them.
The Skoogs have a mutual passion for fishing. So each year the question of where they should spend their vacation is always rather easily settled. Should they go to Florida for the deep sea fishing off the Keys or to a lodge in Canada where they can catch fish for muskie? They usually alternate.
Mrs. Skoog, a trim, tailored but very feminine woman, finds that she not only enjoys the fishing on these trips but the somewhat pampered surroundings. They don't camp out — they get enough of roughing it during the day. At night she's ready for relaxation and waiting on.
And there is, she insists, no better place to get than that in a fishing lodge used to catering to men alone.
"Men expect to be waited on hand and foot and that's what the lodges do. So when I'm there I get the standard fisherman treatment: 'I love it,'" she confides, a very feminine glint lighting her eyes.
ACTIVE IN THE League of Women Voters of Westfield, which includes Mountainide, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, Mrs. Skoog finds her days more than filled. So filled that it is only when mid-western friends are in New York on business or bound for Europe that she makes time to go into the big city. She promises herself that as soon as her term as Newcomer president is over she will make it a point to go to New York at least once a month.
Since moving to Mountainide, the Skoogs found the head of the house transferred again, this time to Bedminster, a short half-hour jaunt from their hill-top home. So they're settling in, pretty confident that they will be thorough residents for some time to come.
She is grateful to the Newcomers for opening so many doors to her. She hopes all new residents of Mountainide will take advantage of the associations and activities it offers.
There are now about 145 members in the local club, which three years ago became an autonomous group, dissolving its affiliation with the Westfield YWCA on the theory that it should be strictly a community club.
And all of them, Mrs. Skoog points out, can and do find rich interests in the broad program offered by the club. Beginners, intermediate and advanced bridge lessons are offered, bridge tournaments go on continuously, Golfing lessons and dancing lessons are also included in the program. A club-sponsored group goes bowling every Tuesday morning, a "Twig" branch brings Newcomers into area hospitals on a volunteer basis, there are books clubs, antique study groups and once every six months a trip to New York City to see at matinee.
"Not only do Newcomers find an outlet for their interests but also, through pursuing those interests, they meet other new residents with similar tastes, the outgoing president comments.
"It distresses her to think that some new residents, unaware of the welcome awaiting them in the Newcomers Club, sit at home feeling lonely, homesick perhaps for their former surroundings. Despite the club members' diligent efforts to reach all those moving into the borough, many times they do not have access to all the names.
The Newcomers hope then that the new resident will contact them. Anyone who has lived in the borough less than two years is eligible to join, Mrs. Skoog says. The membership chairman, Mrs. Raymond Case of Fox trail, will be more to the club rolls.

Air-Con Leading Men's Bowling

Air-Con Inc. now holds first place in the Mountainide Men's Bowling League after sweeping Mountainide Drug, cropping that team to a tie for third place. Fugman Fuel Oil held on to second place, one-and-one-half games behind the leaders, despite the fact they lost a pair to Stewart's Root Beer.
Other three game victories were notched by Blivise Liquor and Chromes Tavern. Two game wins were registered by Satellite Diner, Bill and Mables Luncheon and Benninger-Tenney Agency. The Westfield National Bank and Owens Flying "A" Service wound up in an even split for the night when they tied the first game at 1036 each.
Standings of teams this week follow:

Library Project

quest a portion of borough-owned land on the northwest corner of New Providence rd. and Rt. 22 as a site for a new library. The delegation met in caucus session with the Council on Feb. 23, but although Mele described himself as "encouraged" by the discussions no information on the discussion has been released by the Council or the Library Board.
Mele, Harry Devlin, vice-president of the board, and Gene Simpson, who was appointed to the board Jan. 2, have been speaking to clubs in the borough on the necessity for a new library.
Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, director of the library, pointed out at the February board meeting that many times new books became warped from the dampness in the basement quarters. She also stated that if circulation of books was not so heavy there would not be room in the shelves to accommodate all the library's volumes.
Some discussion was held at that meeting on forming a borough-wide Friends of the Library Association but Mele cautioned that the board "could not start the ball rolling" without an expression from the Borough Council that it would "back up the movement."

Girl Scout Week Noted By Troops

The Girl Scout troops of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainide, are joining with their sister Scouts all over the world in celebrating Girl Scout Week. Last Sunday morning they attended the 9:15 Mass in a body. In the afternoon, they gathered with other Girl Scouts from western Union County at a holy hour held in St. Mary's Church, Plainfield. The Rev. Francis F. McDermitt, Scout moderator at Our Lady of Lourdes, was the principal speaker at that event.
Tonight the girls and their fathers will attend their annual dinner in the Mountainide Inn.
The Girl Scouts and their mothers will receive Communion in a body at the 8 a.m. Mass on Saturday. Their second annual Communion breakfast will follow the Mass.
Carrying out the theme of international friendship, each troop will present a dance or a song typical of the country of their choice. All Catholic Girl Scouts in Mountainide are invited to participate.

Opera Theatre Slates Auditions

Auditions for the May production of Verdi's "La Traviata" will be held this week by the Opera Theatre of Westfield. The group, which has formerly presented an evening of operatic scenes and full productions of "Die Fledermaus" and "The Marriage of Figaro," invites all qualified persons to try out in the auditions.
Auditions for the principal parts will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Auditions for the chorus are scheduled Monday at 8 p.m. Both try-outs will be held at the Beverly Grues Studio, 233 North ave., Westfield.
"La Traviata" will be presented May 28 and 29 in Scotch Plains High School.

Council To Name

pointments and Council assignments announced at the Jan. 2 organizational meeting of the Borough Council. Thomas Hyde, who had served on the board for appointed. Walter Rice was named as his successor. Everett Perkins, who had served on the Board of Adjustments for many years and who was that body's representative to the Planning Board, was succeeded by Thomas Ricciardi. Wilfred Weppler now represents the Adjustment Board on the planning board. Newly elected Councilman William McCurley replaced Councilman Gilbert Pittenger as Council representative.
This left only Garrett, John Dyer, Mayor Wilhelms and Borough Engineer Robert Koser, as the only experienced men on the nine-member board.
Garrett said the board is now aiming at a late March or April date for the public hearing on the plan.

1959 Summons Answered In '65

Fines were meted out in Mountainide Municipal Court last week on a variety of traffic violations, one of which dated as far back as 1959.
Willie Duncan of Newark was fined $10 and costs on a charge dating back to Oct. 29, 1959, when he was stopped on Rt. 22 for passing on the right. He was also fined $35 in contempt of court for not answering the original summons.
Frank Foglia Jr. was found guilty of two charges made against him on Sept. 24, 1964, one for not having his vehicle inspected and the other for driving with an expired license. He drew a total of $20 in fines and $20 on contempt charges.
William H. Mengert of 1075 Sunnyview rd., Mountainide, was found guilty on four charges made during the first half of 1964, of parking unlawfully on Sunnyview rd. The charges, all of which were based on the borough ordinance prohibiting continuous parking on the street after 2:30 a.m., caused him to pay $20 in fines and $20 on contempt charges.
A fine of $5 was levied against William Harris of Denville for parking unlawfully on Sunnyview rd. on July 25, 1964.

COMING SOON:

a new Plainfield telephone directory with larger, easier-to-read printing and all-number listings for all customers

When your new telephone directory is delivered soon, you'll notice that the listings are printed in type that's much easier to read because it's about 20% larger.

You'll also notice that everyone in this area will have all-number telephone numbers like 754-9970 (in place of PL 4-9970). But you'll continue dialing exactly as before. A glance at your phone dial will show that, whether you dial PL 4 or 754, you use exactly the same holes in the dial to do the job.

All-number calling is part of our long-range program to increase the supply of telephone numbers. We're rapidly running out of usable letter combinations to identify all the new telephones of the many new homes and businesses needing telephone service. The new numbering system greatly increases the supply of usable telephone numbers.

If you have any questions about your new directory, just call the Telephone Business Office.

Dangers Of Poisoning Noted

Lucius A. Bowser, chairman of the poison control committee of the Union County Pharmaceutical Society, revealed this week that between 10,000 and 14,000 accidental poisonings occur in New Jersey annually because of consumption of things not meant to be swallowed. Bowser's report was made in conjunction with the county's third annual National Poison Prevention Week program beginning Monday. He said the danger lies in improper use of thousands of new household items. According to the report, most of the cases involve children under five years of age. Primary cause of poisoning is improper use of aspirin tablets. Bowser said more children under five die from accidental poisoning than any other disease. To help reduce the problem, the pharmacists have set up three poison control and information centers in the county, one each at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth; Memorial General Hospital, Union, and Overlook Hospital, Summit. Cases range from intake of aspirin to cleansers, insecticides, polishes and chemicals. Bowser advised five steps be taken to prevent such poisoning: "never take medicines in the dark; always separate internal and external medicines; always separate edible and inedible substances; keep medicines and household products in original containers; keep medicines and household items away from children."

NEW VOCATIONAL SCHOOL Board Will Consult Expert On Building

The Union County Vocational Board of Education will utilize the services of an educational building to be constructed for its vocational facilities. Leonard W. Simmons of Roselle, board president, said this week.

The board president said George H. Baxel, institute director, has recommended a "shared type" of educational program in which students will spend a half day at the institute and the remainder at the high school which they also attend. Members of the board, several high school principals and school superintendents and industrial arts supervisors together with Baxel and the county superintendent have visited the facilities of the Sussex County Vocational Institute in Sussex County, Del., it was reported.

Political Theorist Slated To Speak At Newark State

Dr. Russell Kirk, chief philosopher of the new American conservatism, speaks at Newark State College, Union, next Wednesday on "The Future of American Conservatism". He will speak at 2 p.m. in D'Angola Gymnasium.

Simmons said the layout there is similar to that which will be constructed by the Vocational Board of Education at its 42-acre site in Raritan rd., Scotch Plains. He said the problems which will be encountered by the board are similar to those which have been solved at the Delaware institution, including scheduling, transportation and calendar conflicts with sending schools.

Although Dr. Kirk's lecture is intended primarily for students and faculty of the college, interested members of the public are invited to attend and admission is free, a college spokesman said. Dr. Kirk, writer, lecturer, editor, and professor, is the author of many books, including "The Conservative Mind" published in 1953. The book is considered by many to be the most widely read and reviewed work of political theory to be published in this century," the college said. "He is said by the Archduke Otto von Habsberg to have probably the best mind in America; and by the late Hugh Gaitskill, leader of the British Labor Party, to have set back socialism a generation," the announcement said.

He pointed out that the Sussex County facility has approximately 600 students. There are 14 sending districts involved which is approximately the number that would participate in Union County. Students there divide the day between the vocational center and their home high schools.

Simmons said school board members as well as representatives of the potential sending districts believe the Delaware institution will be an excellent pattern to follow. A decision on the program type is expected at the board meeting Monday night.

Dr. Kirk's daily column, "To The Point," appears in more than 100 newspapers throughout the United States. He has spoken on nearly 150 American college campuses and to many other audiences.

Prospective members may obtain additional information about the association from Mrs. Casserino, 2365 Seneca rd., Westfield, AD 2-3562.

Among his other books are "A Program for Conservatives" in 1954, "Academic Freedom" in 1955, "Beyond the Dreams of Avarice" in 1956, "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Conservatism" in 1957, and "The American Cause" in 1957. Dr. Kirk has written critical introductions for a number of standard scholarly reprints. Some 400 of his essays and short stories have appeared in the leading periodicals of this country. Great Britain, Canada, Australia, Norway and Austria. He was the founder of the quarterly journal "Modern Age" and now is the editor of the quarterly "University Bookman." He is research professor of politics at C. W. Post College.

Mrs. John Casserino of Westfield will head the March "Membership Month" drive of the Union County Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children. "Membership in the association is open to anyone interested in helping the mentally retarded of all ages in Union County," said Mrs. Casserino. "We would like to enlist professional workers, such as teachers, doctors and the clergy, as well as friends, relatives and, above all, parents of retarded children."

The parable of the prodigal son featured in this week's Bible read in Christian Science churches Sunday. Rejoicing to see his son's return, the father said, "For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found." (Luke 15).
How everyone must eventually find the "substance" of his own life is brought out in the Christian Science textbook: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 491).

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

VARIED SAUCES ENHANCE POPULAR FISH FILLETS
 Since earliest times fish has provided a "gold mine" of food for man. All kinds grow naturally and some can live in regions too cold for agriculture. Fish can be caught with a minimum of equipment, and through the ages, has generally been an inexpensive source of food.

The fisheries of New England were the first commercial enterprise in this country. And many are still employed in the fishery trade although a much larger percentage than formerly are involved in canning and freezing fish. As a result, more varieties of fish are available at all seasons. And more easy to prepare fish items are offered the housewife.

A simple guide to follow in buying fish for your family is given: When buying steaks or fillets, allow at least 1/3 to 1/2 pound per person. Allow at least 1/2 pound per person when purchasing dressed fish.

When buying whole fish allow 1 pound per adult and a little less for children.

Fish fillets can be prepared in a variety of ways. The simplest is to roll in crumbs and fry or saute. They also may be baked in a very hot oven (500 degrees F. or more) for about eight minutes. If more time is available, in just an hour you can prepare and serve rolled stuffed haddock fillets. The filling may be herbs and crackers, cheese and bread crumbs, or mushroom stuffing.

With a variety of fish sauce recipes at hand, you are prepared to serve fish fillet in a dozen or more different ways during the weeks before Easter. Tomato Curry Sauce is a tasty simple one. An elegant Baked Fish Fillet Dish is also suggested.

Tomato Curry Sauce
 3 tablespoons butter
 3 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon curry powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 cups tomato juice
 Melt butter and stir in seasonings. Add tomato juice. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Serve immediately over Fish and Rice. Make 1 1/2 cups.

Baked Sole in Casserole
 2 pounds sole or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
 3 cups thinly sliced cooked potatoes
 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
 1 teaspoon paprika
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 cup sour cream
 1/2 cup dry white wine or 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 tablespoon grated onion
 Chopped parsley

Thaw frozen fillets. Skin fillets and cut into serving-size portions. Arrange potatoes in a well greased baking dish, 12 x 8 x 2 inches. Top with mushrooms. Combine paprika, salt, and pepper. Sprinkle half of seasoning over potatoes and mushrooms. Combine sour cream, wine or lemon juice, flour, and onion. Spread half of cream mixture over mushrooms. Top with fish. Sprinkle fish with remaining seasoning and spread with remaining cream mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 35 to 45 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes for easier serving. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves six.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

By TRUDINA HOWARD

WITH THE PRESIDENT OF PANAMA, His Excellency Marco A. Robles, taken at the Presidential Palace in Panama City in January. Now, a firmer hand . . .

(Second in a Series)
PANAMA
 No one we met in Panama seemed to hate us. "Aha!" you will say, "that is wishful thinking."

But it was true. The people were friendly. The average Panamanian — the shop-keeper, the maid, the taxi-driver, the man in the street, the entertainers, the waiters, the children — all were friendly. It is the extremists and the university students who seem to hate us, but we did not meet any of them. They are few by comparison, though, or at the rebellious age, and they are stimulated by a crop of dissatisfied communists.

They are, however, the angry young men of Latin America, and they are a new factor in the political scene, but at a briefing in Miami before leaving for Panama, we were cautioned to remember to keep them in proper perspective. These people are just a small group led and influenced by communists trying to make a big noise, and they are "against" everything and "for" nothing, we were told.

At the briefing in Miami three men presented the Latin American picture to us. There was Dr. Ernest Halperin of MIT and a consultant at the University of Miami who is considered an expert on Communism in Latin America; Dr. Raoul Shelton of the University of Miami staff who gave a Cuban resume; and Dr. Manolo Reyes, a Latin American news editor for a television station in Miami who gave political comments.

IN A WORD, our greatest problem in Latin America is the hatred held for us by extreme nationalists who would rouse the few "angry young men" and their own few members to dissatisfaction, and use communism to attain their own ends. (And, the over-all problem of incomplete information in the news of all that is happening.)

"You must bear in mind," Dr. Reyes said, "that the vast majority of people in Latin America want peaceful evolution rather than violent revolution. They want an opportunity to live quietly without anything happening to their sons, and a chance to advance their position to some extent." And I would add that it seems that the countries too want to solve their many individual problems with the least amount of trouble and advance their position. It is true that they want to do things in their own way, but isn't it always so? Also, what is right for one isn't necessarily right for the other: A problem in Uruguay may have to be handled differently than a problem in the United States.

But again, it is the actions of the extremists and the students that have been written about in the news. The quiet, undisturbed, friendly Latin Americans, like so many other people in so many other countries and ours, have not made the headlines.

BUT THERE IS something in Panama that makes for action. Panamanians love an anniversary. They will celebrate the anniversary of anything at the drop of a hat — or a flag — and that can be wild. This year, in mid-January, at the "anniversary" of the students' flag burning of last year, the American Embassy staff sat in bated breath as the day approached and wondered if there would be a celebration demonstration.

But Panama has a new president this year and the new president has a stronger and firmer hand. When a handful of students began a march toward the Embassy, National Guards were promptly told to quiet them, and in no uncertain terms, they did. The demonstration was dispersed before any damage could be done, and ended a few hours before our jet plane landed at Panama.

So we saw no demonstration and heard no insults. It is true we were there only two days and we did not go into the University, but we went everywhere else and wandered at will in the city, sometimes alone, sometimes not. We went from coast to coast and walked through both Panama City and Colon, on the beaches, in the shops, in the churches and had no problems.

As a matter of fact, Panama was quite a pleasure. The canal itself was special to see; the weather, at about 85 degrees, was ideal; the scenery was beautiful; the invitations glamorous; and best of all, the people were encouraging.

WE WERE INVITED to a reception at the home of the American Ambassador, Jack Hood Vaughn, who has since been assigned to Washington as Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs, and it was a garden party in full Panama moon glory. Government officials and local newsmen and foreign correspondents were there to meet and talk to. Another night a large hotel gave us a party to which a bevy of young Panamanian men and women came to do native dances for us and they were as glorious as the moon.

After dancing, the young ladies came over to show us their costumes which were particularly beautiful. They wore layers and layers of petticoats with embroidery the likes of which a New York fabric designer would give his eye teeth, and their head-dresses were fantastic. They also wore layers and layers of gold jewelry around their necks, some of which were crosses. Everything had a meaning or a story, and the nice thing about it was, that they came over and explained it all to us after finishing their dance, and we talked.

On another day we were invited to the presidential palace to meet the president of the Republic of Panama, His Excellency, Marco A. Robles. Despite the fact that Mr. Robles inherited an "almost bankrupt" government, he is considered to be a strong and able leader-type who offers real hope for Panama particularly in the fact that he is willing to make decisions and follow through on necessary reforms. He is from the middle class and was Secretary of the Interior and held other political positions before his election in Oct. 1964.

One American official said, "You can ask Mr. Robles any question and get a straight answer — which is more than you'll get from me." And we did. The president spoke quite freely on the student riots and subject to holding demonstrations because this normal condition was being "exploited" by outsiders and extremists and causing a problem. But he added, things were being done to control the situation because of the adverse publicity which was all out of proportion to its importance.

Dear Amy:

It is a shame that "Almost Pinched" was subjected to those indignities, but, because of a few dishonest people, many suffer. People from ages nine to 70 attempt to pilfer, shoplift, defraud (call it what you like) stores of merchandise or money. I have been a security officer for 30 years and I realize more and more each day that this dishonest minority is constantly cooking up new schemes which cost the stores three to five percent of their business.

Some shoplift for profit, some for kicks, and others out of desperation. But whatever the reason (and there is no real reason), the law views this act with more and more severity.

My job exists because of this type of person, but I would gladly turn in my badge if people would pay for what they take!

Dear Amy:

In reference to your letter from "Almost Pinched" may I state some of the reasons for scrutinizing our customers' purchases and packages very closely. A discount store operates on a very low profit percentage, so that there is little money to hire adequate floor personnel. Some people take advantage of this fact to line their purses and pockets with unpaid merchandise. Consequently, the suspicious-looking person, honest though he or she may be, is suspect. This is unfortunate but true.

A Discount Manager

Dear Amy:

I have a problem about kissing on first dates. There is a real cute boy who wants to date me, but before I accept, I want your advice about kissing on first dates.

My older sister tells me not to kiss, and my cousin tells me to kiss. My cousin says if I don't kiss them, they will never be back, because if you don't kiss some boys, they will get mad. I want to continue dating this boy. What should I do?

Mixed Up

Dear Amy:

Take the advice of your sister.

Dear Amy:

A new tenant (a single male) row? or "I ran out of stamps; to mine. He knocks on my door all the time, with the silliest excuses for doing so. Such as: "Is my hi-fi bothering you?" or "Do you have a book I can borrow?" or "I ran out of stamps; can you sell me two?" I judge him to be about 33 or so. I am a married woman of 37. Do you think he knows this and doesn't care or is he trying to make time with me because he doesn't know I'm married? Gladys

Dear Gladys:

His reasons for bothering you don't sound like he's trying to "make time" with you. But if you want to make sure he knows you're married, tell him your husband has what-ever he wants to borrow. If he had any questions in his mind, this approach will squelch them.

Academic Group Hails Milestone

New Jersey's school superintendents will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the American Association of School Administrators Tuesday, March 30, with a banquet in New Brunswick.

Dr. Warren G. Hill, president of Trenton State College, will give the keynote address at the centennial celebration to begin at 7 p.m. in the Commons at Rutgers University. Superintendents are emphasizing the traditional cooperation between administrators and school boards by inviting their board presidents to take part.

The job of school superintendent wasn't without problems when it took shape a century ago, but it has evolved into "perhaps the most difficult public position in American life today," says the Educational Policies Commission's new report, "The Unique Role of the Superintendent of Schools."

Author Will Discuss Radical Right Groups

Irwin Sual, who recently published "The American Ultras," a study of the radical right movement, will address the Workers' Circle Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the circle educational center, 269 Shephard ave. Newark.

The circle is sponsoring forums on local and national topics. The public is invited and questions from the audience are sought.
