Board Moving Toward Decision On Echobrook

The Mountainside Board of Education announced this week that the board and the people of Mountainside soon must make a decision on whether to modernize or replace Echobrook School. The present school board feels it would be wiser to build a new structure rather than spend a lot of money on the old building which because of its age and its location on Rt. 22 still might prove unsatisfactory.

The board's release to newspapers also suggests that the new school be located in the vicinity of Deerfield School because the center of the borough's school population is in that area.

The decision on a site must be made in the near future because of the "astonishingly rapid disappearance of vacant land in the borough," the release pointed out. It said land must be procured now or there will be no place to put a school when the need arises.

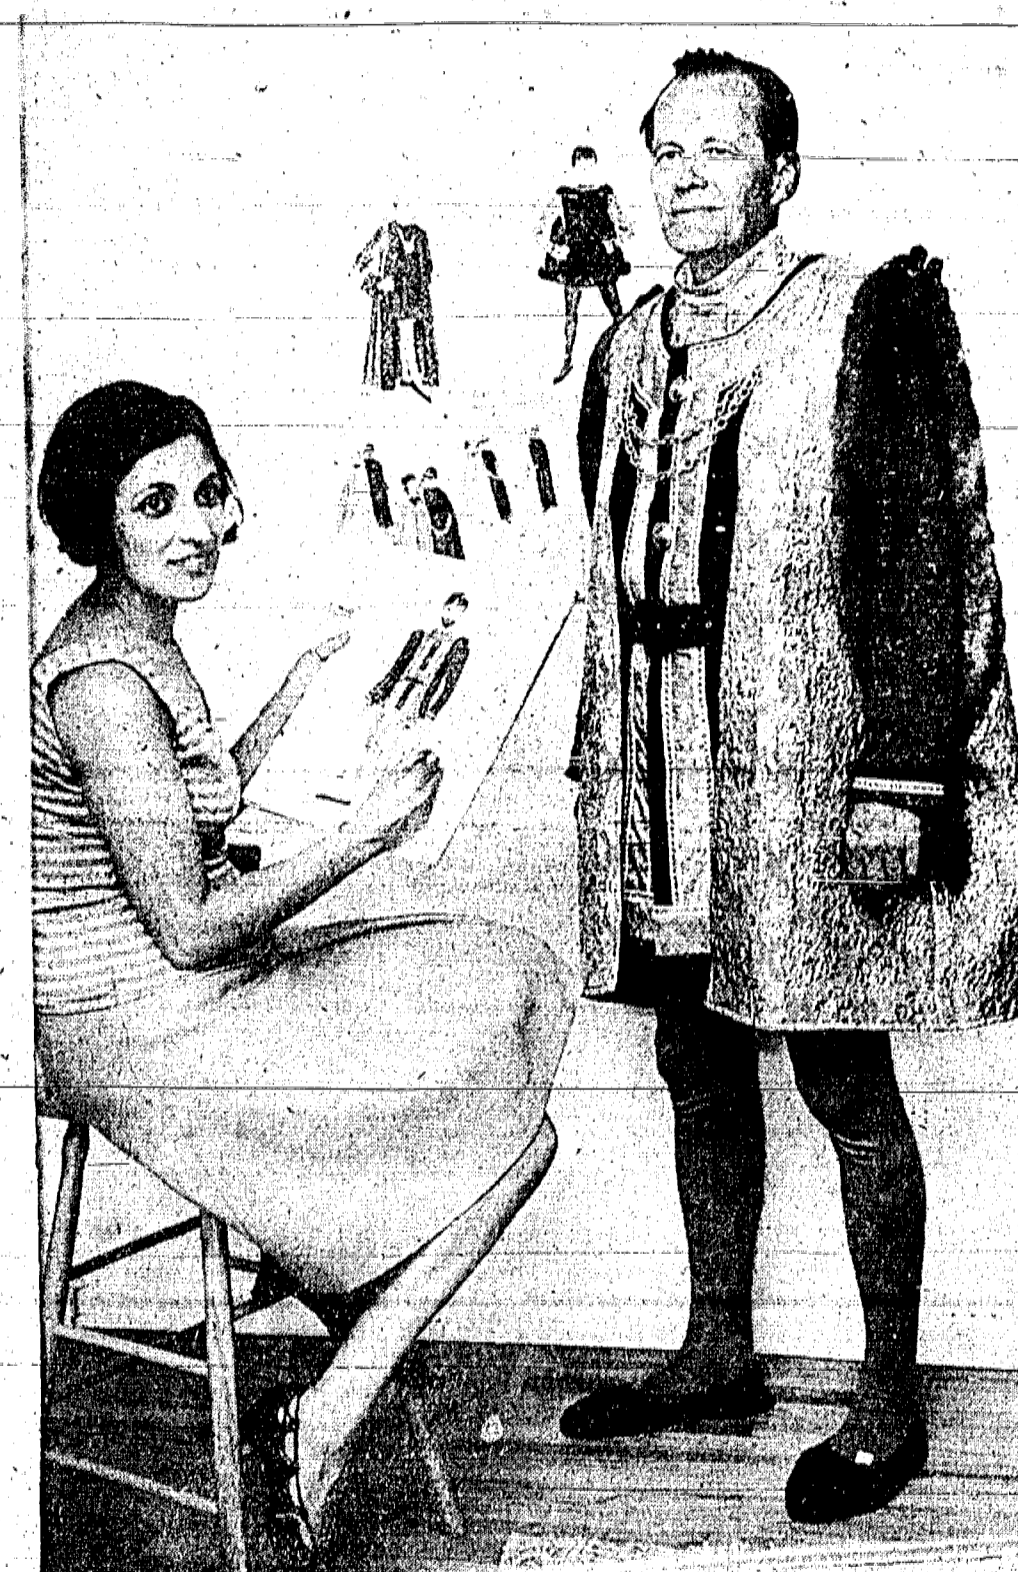

The board stated presently there is no exploding school population and that the borough is not now faced with the prospect of double sessions. A leveling off of school population is expected for the next ten or more years with a probable increase after that span.

However the disappearance of available land and the advancing age of Echobrook School is "racing the board and the people of Mountainside to some kind of decision that will have to be made in the not too distant future," the release continued.

Dr. Edward Nolan, immediate past president of the Board of Education who now is serving as publicity chairman, said Tuesday that the decision on when and what size school to build can be made in the future but the land must be secured before all suitable sites are gone.

The board warned that "there is enough vacant land in the vicinity (Deerfield) now but other interests may buy it up before the Mountainside public gets its chance."

Although neither Dr. Nolan nor any member of the board would comment on what location the board had in mind a check of the tax maps shows that only one site in the Deerfield School area has enough land to meet the recommendations of the State Board of Education. That site is a landlocked tract of about ten acres in the rear of a commercial area (which fronts on Rt. 22) between Central ave. and Summit rd.

FESTIVAL PREVIEW—Mrs. Arlene Nash of Mountainside does last minute check on the costume of James Crawford who is playing the part of Don Pedro in "As You Like It," this year's offering of the N. J. Shakespeare Festival. Mrs. Nash designed all of the costumes worn in the outdoor production which opened last night in Woodbridge and will be presented at various locations in Union County during July. Admission to all performances is free.

Patrolman's Test Slated August 8; Two Vacancies

Applications Ready At Headquarters Now; Deadline Is Aug. 1

An examination for the position of patrolman in Mountainside will be held Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Deerfield School, Central ave., Mountainside. Applications are now available at Police Headquarters, Rt. 22, Mountainside. No applications will be accepted after Aug. 1, Police Chief Christian Fritz stated.

The test will be administered by the Union County Police Chiefs Association. There are two vacancies on the police force created by the resignation last week of Patrolmen John Zamboni and John Broderius.

Men between the ages of 21 and 30 who have lived in Union County for at least two years are eligible to take the test. All applicants must be 5 feet 8 inches or more.

Starting salary for policemen in Mountainside is $5,900 annually, increasing to $7,100 annually after four years of service. Additional benefits include paid vacation, paid medical and hospitalization insurance and nine paid holidays. Borough policemen are also entitled to longevity benefits which give them an additional 2 per cent of their service, 4 per cent after 10 years of service, six per cent after 15 years of service and 8 per cent after 20 years of service.

Men appointed to the department who do not live in the borough are allowed three years to move into the community. The residency requirement can be extended for two additional years by act of the Borough Council.

Adjusters Slate 3 Cases Monday

Three applications for variances are scheduled to be considered at next Monday night's meeting of the Mountainside Board of Adjustment.

An application from Lewis Heckel of 300 Summit rd. which asks permission to divide his property to allow a lot with less than the minimum frontage required is among the matters on the agenda. Heckel's application, which was continued by the Board from its June meeting, would, if granted, create a lot with an 87-foot frontage on Charles st.

The other two applications request variances to allow additional residential properties. John Miller is seeking a variance on the front-line requirements to allow him to make an addition to his home at 287 Pembroke rd. A variance of side-line requirements is sought by Jack Kalajian of 1446 Dunn pkwy.

Pool Site Part Of Blue Star Drive, Highway Department Can't Sell

Zamboni Leaves; Requests Probe

HIS CHARGES CALLED 'WITHOUT MERIT'

Patrolman John Zamboni resigned from the Mountainside Police Department last Thursday night after charging in a letter to the Police Committee that Police Chief Christian Fritz had threatened and harassed him and calling on borough officials to investigate the police department.

Councilman Gilbert Pittenger, who serves as Police Commissioner, said Monday that Zamboni's resignation had been accepted by the Police Committee because "he (Zamboni) cited his inability to establish residence in Mountainside as a required by state statute." Pittenger also stated that the Police Committee, on which Councilmen George Coughlin and B. Dean Spain also serve, had investigated Zamboni's charges and "found them without merit."

Zamboni, who led the local unit of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association in an unsuccessful attempt to invalidate the promotion of Walter Betyeman to a sergeant's post, said in the letter that Chief Fritz had subjected him to "threats and harassment" since last December when the P.B.A. instituted legal action against borough officials for procedures used in promoting Betyeman.

He also charged that there is a lack of leadership and direction from the top in the Police Department and called on borough officials "to throw off their cloak of apathy and investigate (the department)."

Zamboni also charged that Chief Fritz has kept a constant check on him since he established local residence by moving into a room in the borough on June 15. Zamboni, a former Elizabeth resident who completed five years on the police force that day, had been informed by borough officials May 13 that he must move into the borough on or before June 15 or face dismissal from the department.

Zamboni rented a room in the borough on the deadline date. He was re-elected president of the local P.B.A. in mid-June, which indicated further, he said this week, his plans to stay on his post. However, Zamboni said that he moved from the room he had rented because "the Chief has kept such a check on me (Continued on Page 3). ZAMBONI RESIGNS

Minor Accidents Mar Record For Fourth Holiday

No accidents occurred in Mountainside on the Fourth of July or the Saturday preceding it, according to Det. Sergeant James Herrick. Two collisions, in both of which no one was reported injured, occurred Monday afternoon near the end of the three-day holiday.

Police reported that a car driven by Mavis V. Ebanks of Newark was hit by a taxi owned by the Westfield Taxi Co. and driven by Daniel Byrd of Westfield. According to the police report, Mrs. Ebanks was in the eastbound lane of Rt. 22 near Chi-Am Chateau waiting for the light to change when she was hit in the rear by the taxi. Byrd was charged with careless driving by Officer Joseph A. Mazur.

In the other accident on Monday, Robert J. Engle of 315 Indian trail, Mountainside, told police he was going south on Summit rd. when his car went into a spin and slid into a car driven by George Richardson of Whippany. Richardson was going north on Summit rd.

Sale Legislation Must Go Through State Legislature

Councilman Ditzel: Community Pool Plan Now At Standstill

The tract of land adjacent to the playing field of Echobrook School on which the Borough of Mountainside had hoped to build a municipal pool is part of the Blue Star Drive program of the State Highway department and not available for sale.

Councilman William Ditzel, who as the Council's representative to the Recreation Committee headed the pool committee, said this week that he has been informed that no portion of State-owned land dedicated to the Blue Star Drive program can be sold without enabling legislation by the State Legislature.

A representative of the State Highway Department said last Thursday that he "understood" that such legislation has been introduced into the Legislature but that information on the status of the bill was not available at this time.

According to Ditzel, this leaves the whole pool project at a standstill.

Belonged To State
Early in June Ditzel had stated that he expected the Borough Council to act at the June meeting to authorize the hiring of an architect for the pool thereby setting in motion a plan which he hoped would result in the completion of the pool in time for the summer of 1966. Instead he announced at the June meeting that a routine search of the property which the borough was attempting to purchase from the Child Service Association of Newark had revealed that the tract was the property of the State Highway Department. Inquiries had already been directed to that body on the possibility of purchasing the tract. Ditzel stated at the June meeting:

This latest wrench thrown in the pool plans is just one more of many difficulties encountered in negotiations aimed at purchasing the pool site. When the borough first initiated the purchase proceedings they were informed by the State Highway Department, which was listed on the borough and county tax maps as the owner, that body was not the owner but had a re-

Bard's Festival Outside

Designer Nash Inside Opening Night

By RITA ZEISS
The annual New Jersey Shakespeare Festival opened last night in Woodbridge. The performance, like all of the Festival's, was outdoors but the costume designer, Mrs. Arlene Nash of Saddle Brook rd., Mountainside, spent most of the show time inside the van which houses the theatrical group's props, lighting and amplifying equipment.

"Opening night's the time you find out if things really work — if the snaps hold, if the seams give or if the costume 'works' as it should in the production," Mrs. Nash explains, spreading and wriggling her expressive fingers to demonstrate what she means by the term 'work.'

THE COSTUMES for this year's show, "As You Like It," were more "fun" to do than the Elizabethan designs needed for last year's "Twelfth Night," she found.

"As You Like It" is set in the 15th century when waists were set high in the empire-style and skirts flowed gracefully from that point; such styles are similar to today's high fashion, Mrs. Nash feels, and "so very much more graceful" than the Elizabethan styles and, consequently, much more satisfying to create.

ECHO PROFILE — Susan Matko

Susan Matko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. George Matko of Saw Mill rd., will board the train in Summit this Sunday evening bound for the Girl Scout Senior Round-up in Farragut, Ida. In a very real sense, she will be taking a part of her community with her for many local Girl Scouts and several borough adults have actively participated in Susan's preparations for the exciting trip.

The local Kiwanis Club had her as a speaker at one of its meetings — the fee they paid her went into the "kitty" — a healthy fund in which the eight Idaho-bound Girl Scouts from the Westfield area pooled the monies collected from their speaking dates, sales of Christmas wreaths, cakes, geraniums for Mothers' Days and other group projects. Susan and the other girls collected a minimum of $150 each from the kitty to help cover the costs of their westward trip.

The balance of their money was raised by the girls individually. Susan says she made most of her balance by "baby-sitting, baby sitting and baby-sitting," and two clean-up jobs after dinner parties, well-paying tasks which she secured through the local Y.E.S. office.

Girl Scouts from Mountainside troops led by Mrs. William Shallcross, Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Charles Bowby have been busily making gifts for her to bring to the "potlatch" ceremony at the Round-up. Mrs. Shallcross' troop made little felt gold finches mounted on pins. Mrs. Miller's troop tomato-shaped pin cushions and Mrs. Bowby's green felt maps of New Jersey.

High School Names Assistant Principal

Frank Kaplan, a Berkeley Heights resident, has been named assistant principal of the Governor-Livingston Regional High School Berkeley Heights. He was appointed to the post at last week's meeting of the Union County Regional Board of Education and will assume his new duties next Tuesday.

Prior to his experience in Chatham, Kaplan was a teacher and principal of the summer school in Fallsburgh High School, Fallsburgh, N.Y. He is a native of Boston, a graduate of Northeastern University in that city, and holds a master's degree from Boston University. He has completed a portion of his doctoral work at New York University and has also attended Columbia University and various other schools.

Experienced in curricular planning, Kaplan helped institute a cooperative work-study plan in the Fallsburgh schools and was on the planning committee for the proposed Verrillano College in New York. He has three years of Army service. In addition he has had some newspaper experience with the Boston Globe. Kaplan is married and has three children.

View From The State House

By GOV. RICHARD J. HUGHES

I was happy to report a short time ago that New Jersey, during 1964, maintained its position as the most economically operated state in the nation. This report was based on the latest Compendium of State Government Finances issued by the United States Bureau of Census and on the Census Bureau's State Distribution of Public Employees. These publications cover state spending and employment statistics for the year 1964.

New Jersey, according to the Compendium, ranks 50th among the states in total expenditures. According to the employment publications, it also ranks lowest in the number of state employees per capita.

In regard to total general expenditures per capita, New Jersey was again the lowest among all the states with a figure of $116.78. (The national median was $197.50.) In 1963 the comparable figures were $112.03 for New Jersey, and the national median was $183.58. The per capita calculations were made on estimated population of the individual states. The Census Bureau, as of July 1, 1964, estimated New Jersey's population to be 6,682,000.

Last year there were 36.6 state government employees per 10,000 population, compared with the national median of 85.7. In 1963, the New Jersey figure was 56, and the national median was 96. It should be noted, however, that the favorable spending figure for 1964 includes statistics placed by New Jersey State government 49th among the states in total educational expenditures, 48th in provision for higher education, 48th for public welfare, and 49th for highways. The Compendium also points out that in 1963 (the latest figures available for per capita income) New Jersey ranked 6th among the states in per capita personal income with $2,915 compared with a national average of $2,445.

Other figures show that the state government portion of total state local tax revenue in New Jersey for fiscal 1963 was 29.5 per cent (lowest in the nation); also, as of October, 1964, the state government portion of total state and local payrolls was 17.3 percent in New Jersey, again the lowest in the nation. These figures would serve to emphasize the burden on local government in New Jersey.

As I have already mentioned, the statistics have, for the most part, given me a great deal of

Named Supervisor Of Bell Co. Division

Ronald M. Heymann of Mountainside has been appointed division commercial supervisor of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's Central Area. He was formerly a commercial results supervisor at the telephone company headquarters in Newark.

The announcement was made this week by J. Kenneth Loozon, general manager of the Central Area, which covers Mercer and Monmouth Counties and parts of Burlington, Ocean, Hunterdon, Somerset and Middlesex Counties.

Heymann succeeds William E. Henn of Ewing Township who was previously appointed division commercial manager of the area. In his new position, Heymann will supervise the operation of New Jersey Bell business offices which serve more than 300,000 customers.

Heymann joined New Jersey Bell as a sales representative in Camden. He later served as a division staff supervisor for the company's Southern Area and as manager of the company's business office in Toms River. He was appointed district manager in the Public Telephone Department in 1963.

He was graduated from Rutgers University and received a master's degree in industrial management from Temple University. Active in community affairs, Heymann is a past president of Toms River Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is married and lives at 33 Whip-poorwill way.

School Board

problems. More information on the problems will be presented in the near future, the board indicated.

The full text of the Board's release follows:

The Mountainside Board of Education announced that it has long range planning problems and that soon it will have to inform Mountainside taxpayers of possible solutions. This time, as in the past, it is not an exploding school population nor is Mountainside faced with double sessions. As a matter of fact, it now appears that the school population will level off for the next ten or more years. After that, however, it probably will start to increase again.

The present difficulty is that time is again catching up with the school facilities. Two major influences are racing the School Board and the people of Mountainside to some kind of decision that will have to be made in the not too distant future. One is the advancing age of Echobrook School, and the other is the astonishingly rapid disappearance of vacant land in the borough.

In terms of modern educational standards, Echobrook is inadequate. In a sense, its obsolescence is discriminatory to those who must use it in contrast to the more fortunate who can go to such schools as Deerfield, Beechwood and Our Lady of Lourdes. The worsening obsolescence of a school like Echobrook will ultimately detract from the desirability of Mountainside as a good place to live and real estate values will be hurt. The bright new schools springing up in towns all around Mountainside are a competitive challenge to the qualities and character of its school system.

What should Mountainside do?

There are two possible alternatives. One is to modernize and the other is to replace. If Echobrook is modernized, the Borough will spend a lot of money and possibly come out with an unsatisfactory result because of the inherent limitations of the existing two buildings. In the long run, this could be a serious mistake and in the judgement of the present school board, it would be wiser to start fresh and build a structure that will be effective, enduring and attractive.

This then raises a second question. Where would a replacement school be put?

The present Echobrook location has two serious drawbacks. One is the close proximity of the buildings to Highway 22, and the other is the small size of the present site. To meet today's standards, the site should be almost double its present size. The center of the school population for Mountainside is in the vicinity of the Deerfield School, and this would be a desirable area for a new school site. There is enough vacant land in the vicinity at the present time, but other interests may buy it up before the Mountainside public gets its chance.

This is only part of the School Board's and Mountainside's long range school planning problems. More to come . . .

and Scouting skills. "I'm really not as good as many of the girls," she says quietly. Susan says that she and the other seven were picked more on their personality traits and "especially their ability to get along with people."

"After all we'll be living in pretty close quarters and if we can't adapt to others we'd really be in trouble."

Susan's group will pitch their tent on the camp grounds to form a rectangle with tents pitched by delegates from Florida, Minnesota and Illinois. The four groups will live and work in close proximity, many times sharing meals and special activities.

SUSAN'S GROUP will, like all the other participating girls, take part in the Round-up demos. Again in an attempt to interpret something of importance about their home state, they will present a parody of "The Great Train Robbery," the first "story" movie which was produced in the Edison laboratories in West Orange. The girls wrote the skit themselves, rehearsed under Susan's direction and were assisted by the mother of one of the other girls, who recorded background music (nickelodeon style) on the piano. The cardboard train, the sound and all the trappings for the demo will be hauled westward too — after it is squeezed into the gear space allowed the group.

Traveling as a Girl Scout representative is not new to Susan. Last year she served as representative of the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council at a Senior Girl Scout Campus Conference held in Cazenovia College in upstate New York. The theme of the conference was "Quest for Quality," drawn from the President's conference on Women in Today's World.

AN EXPERIENCED and accomplished cook, Susan hopes to become a home economist. Her interest in cooking was awakened by her grandmother, a native of Czechoslovakia, who's "just a wonderful cook and baker." Susan used to help her grandmother when she was little and cooking has fascinated her ever since.

She likes to sew too but can't find much time for it. Cooking is so much simpler than sewing, she thinks.

"If it's a flop, it's a flop — you can't do anything about it. But with sewing — if it's a flop, you rip it out and start over."

THIS WON'T be the first trip west for Susan. Five years ago her father was transferred to Texas and, after selling their Mountainside home in which they had lived since before Susan entered first grade, the whole family moved to the Lone Star state. Two years ago they came back to New Jersey and brought their present home.

Susan has one sister, Betty, 13, and a brother, George, 14.

The Girl Scouts will visit in Chicago next Monday and tour Yellowstone National Park next Wednesday. They are scheduled to arrive at the Round-up site next Thursday. They will camp out until July 28 and are scheduled to arrive back home on July 30.

Susan expects to have lots of souvenirs of her camping experience but most of all she expects to have warm memories of many new friendships made around the campfires.

"To me," she says thoughtfully, "that's the most important thing about Scouting — the opportunity to meet people, girls from all over the country, all over the world. It's exciting and wonderful to meet so many people to get to know them — to live with them and learn to understand them."

LETTERS to EDITOR

FOR POSITIVE THINKING

The Mountainside Planning Board at its regular June meeting again met the public in open discussion of another phase of the master plan. The prime topic was the proposal to open another road into the Sheffield st. industrial area. The plan proposes an extension of Bristol rd. westward to Summit rd. in conjunction with a future interchange with Route 22 to be located between Summit rd. and Central ave. However, several of the industrial tenants are seeking immediate traffic relief for their area by the extension of Willow ave. to Sheffield st. The Borough's fire, police and rescue squads have urged some additional access be provided to promptly handle emergency calls received during the peak morning and evening traffic loads.

Willow ave. residents were well represented at the meeting and were vehemently opposed to any such extension. The fears that were voiced, whether real or imagined, are on record, as are the threats of "wholesale selling out" if the existing pathway is opened to the industrial area.

Indignation is naturally strongest among those citizens in the proximity of any area subject to change; however, some sound arguments against the Willow ave. extension were offered for the board's consideration. The board chairman faces a formidable task in trying to keep the public discussions of various proposed plans within reasonable and objective limits. The task is usually burdened by the negative outpourings of the Don Quixotes, the "anti-any change" exponents, and the Rip Van Winkles. The board members were also pictured as the disinterested residents "on the hill," who are unconcerned with the problems of the homeowners living on the fringe of the industrial areas. It would be unfortunate if apologies for the location of your living quarters were made a qualification to serve your community.

Progress at any cost is not what is being sought, but rather the most equitable and least expensive solutions to our many community problems. It should be the bounden duty of all the Borough residents to indicate their interest NOW in all future planning and growth. The need for powerful positive thinking is urgent.

2 Borough Girls Take Prizes For Creative Settings

Two Mountainside girls, Patricia Latella of 235 Summit Rd. and Patricia Diacovo of 290 Ravenswood, were among the fifth place winners in a creative table setting contest sponsored by Lenox, the official White House china since 1917.

Both girls received a tea cup and saucer of Lenox china as a prize.

Over 370,000 high school and college home economics students from more than 11,000 schools across the country competed in creating original table settings. Each girl selected a theme, chose the occasion for which to create her setting, decided on a color scheme, selected materials for table cover and napkins and then illustrated the table setting on contest forms supplied by the sponsor.

Judges in the contest were Jens Risom, furniture designer; Eugenia Shepherd, women's feature editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and Robert Houseman, editor-in-chief of Modern Bridge magazine.

Reckless Riders In Reservation Penalized $190

Three Union Township youths paid a total of $190 last week in Mountainside Municipal Court for riding horses recklessly through the Watchung Reservation.

Two of the men, Charles L. Capers of 289 Indiana st. and William Bouliware of 2346 Springfield ave., Vauxhall, were also charged with failing to heed a notice officers instructions.

The third man, Charles Brooks of 35 Millon ave., was fined $50 and $5 costs on the reckless riding charge. Capers paid $75 and costs and Bouliware $50 and costs.

The three were spotted on the afternoon of June 26 by Union County Police Chief Everett Dobson riding the horses in a restricted area; the reservation "loop" near the picnic area. Chief Dobson said the men were galloping through a group of about 150 small children in the picnic area. They failed to stop on his order and he chased them in a police car, apprehending one on the near side of the lake. Another was caught on the far side of the lake by another county officer and the third was picked up when he returned his mount to the Ballusrol Stables, Springfield.

According to Chief Dobson, damages amounting to about $180 were caused in the chase to the police car, a new vehicle with only 100 miles on it. Dobson said the three riders have caused trouble before on the bridge trail. About two weeks ago a rider reported they had given him a "bad time" on the trail but failed to make any charges, Dobson stated.

It was later determined that the Child Service Association, the successor of the Newark Orphan Asylum Association after a series of mergers among charitable organizations, was the owner of the tract.

Late last year the borough obtained a six month option to purchase the four-and-a-half acre tract for $8,500. In April borough officials moved to exercise that option.

That led to the latest snafu.

Bard's Festival Outside Designer Nash Inside Opening Night

Eleven of the main characters in "As You Like It" are wearing totally new costumes, conceived on the drawing board by Mrs. Nash, translated into fabric and accoutrements which she acquired in diligent searches through theatrical and fabric shops. In the interest of economy, an ever-present concern of the low-budget festival, she adopted six other costumes from those she designed from last year's show. A little over a week before opening night, the director decided another bridal gown was needed. Out came one used in "Twelfth Night."

Mrs. Nash used her designing eye and fingers on it and "quick in a hurry" an Empire-style gown emerged from the billowing Elizabethan model.

"It's really not so hard — you take out tucks — you drop the underskirts — you make the material flow instead of billow — oh, you know —" again the expressive hands move as she attempts to convey a picture that is obviously very clear in her own mind.

Her work started months ago in the theatrical designer's storehouse — the library. For last year's show, Mrs. Nash, who worked before her marriage as a fashion designer in New York City and California, used the New York library. This year that institution's theatrical research volumes were in the process of being transferred to the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts so she went to the Newark library.

"I WAS absolutely astounded at the wealth of material there. And I was allowed to borrow — to take home and study. — 200 pic-

Zamboni Resigns

(Continued from Page 1) that it has not been fair to the person from whom I rented the room and I have moved out."

Broderius Resigns
Zamboni was the second policeman to resign from the borough police department last week. A few days earlier, John Broderius who has been on the department for nine years, submitted his resignation to Chief Fritz. His resignation became effective June 30.

Broderius, holder of a master baker's license, has purchased the Cake Cottage, a bakery located in the General Green Shopping Plaza, Springfield.

Broderius, one of the seven eligible patrolmen who took the sergeant's test last December, was last month re-elected state delegate of the local P. B. A., a post he held when the local unit initiated its fight against the promotion. R resident of Mountainside since he came to this country from Germany in 1953, Broderius lives at 201 Evergreen ct.

In a statement to the press, Zamboni reminded borough residents that the two top officers of the local P.B.A. had resigned and emphasized that a total of 14 years' police experience was thereby lost to the borough.

In his resignation letter, Zamboni stated that the borough has "what could be a fine Police Department" but that there is a lack of "leadership and direction from the top." He pointed to the "large number of resignations of... experience officers" during the past several years, a condition, he stated, which should merit looking into.

Six experienced police officers, in addition to himself and Broderius, have resigned since Chief Fritz was appointed head of the department, Zamboni claimed. Chief Fritz could not be reached for any comment on this claim and the officers on duty said they had no information available on the matter.

In his letter of resignation Zamboni reiterated a statement he had made prior to taking a room in the borough — the difficulty of finding suitable quarters. Zamboni, who is unmarried, said "even if he could afford it" it would not be advisable to buy a house. There are, he said, no apartments and few rooms available in town.

Zamboni said earlier this week that people had told him "you can't fight City Hall." He insisted he was not "fighting City Hall" but, as spokesman for the P.B.A., I led the fight for a principle. I believe in integrity and I will not compromise mine."

Betyeman's promotion was upheld in Superior Court last April by Judge Ervin S. Fulop who ruled that it was valid because the local police department is not under Civil Service and so is not controlled by that department's regulations. The police suit had charged that the promotional procedures employed violated borough ordinance and state law.

Zamboni said before and after the court decision was given that the P.B.A. might go on referendum in November seeking Civil Service status.

tures of costumes used in previous productions of "As You Like It" — imagine that 200 pictures available to lend out to one person beside all the books — her voice reflects her amazement that such source material could be available so close to her suburban home.

The next step, after close and searching study of her research material, was sketching of her own designs, the re-interpretation into fabric and ornamentation, and then the sewing. Although she has some assistance in this last phase, a great portion of the sewing of the costume is done by the local designer.

"Low budget, you know," she laughs.

Last week her house was "a real mess — costumes everywhere, threads and pins and snips of material all over — I'd even forgotten about getting dinner."

Her engineer husband, Harry, is "very understanding," she says and has uncompromisingly eaten "some pretty awful meals" after which he cheerfully "baby-sat" with their three sons, aged 4, 6 and 7.

"As You Like It" will run through Saturday evening in Woodbridge, open for a two-night run July 16 in the Shakespeare Gardens in Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield, do a one night stand July 21 on the grounds of Governor Livingston Regional High School,

Berkeley Heights, and open again in Westfield on July 24.

MRS. NASH hopes to get to each of the opening nights but, rather wistfully, she says she does not expect to make each one of the performances.

"After all," she asks "how understanding can you expect a husband to be?"

A graduate of the University of California in Los Angeles, Mrs. Nash also studied design in Los Angeles. Trade Technical College, where she won two awards, one for sports-wear and one for evening wear.

She became affiliated with the Shakespeare Festival through the Community Players of Westfield, a group which draws many of its members from Mountainside and for which she previously did some designing.

Wanda Crawford, who directed the Community Players' production of "Once Upon A Mattress," is directing "As You Like It." She previously served as assistant director to Henry Glass of Westfield, a former professional actor, who has directed the Shakespeare Festival since 1961 when it was first launched under the sponsorship of the town of Woodbridge.

The festival is now co-sponsored by Woodbridge and the Union County Park Commission. Rose Belafsky of Woodbridge has served as executive director from the first production.

Take UJC Course As College Prep

George E. Groskinsky of 268 Birch Lane and Bruce W. Tutnall of 11 Tanglewood Lane, both of Mountainside, are among 104 college-bound high school graduates enrolled in the College Readiness Program at Union Junior College, Cranford.

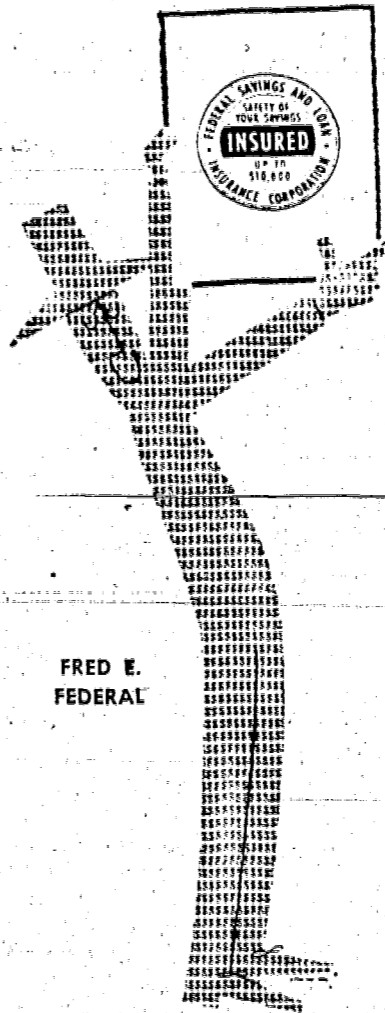

The program opened last Thursday and will meet daily, Monday through Friday, through July 28. It is designed to help recent high school graduates adjust to "the new world of college," according to Prof. Gunars Salins, director.

The college readiness program features an orientation to college life, including tips on how to study, how to take examinations, how to use the college library, how to take notes, and how to budget time. The program also provides a quick review of the basic skills — reading, English composition, and problem solving — to supplement what the high schools have done in those areas.

Groskinsky, a graduate of Holy Trinity High School, Westfield, plans to attend Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa. Tutnall was graduated from Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. He has been accepted at Union Junior College.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

By TRUDINA HOWARD

17th of a Series
THE END OF IT ALL—FIRST "CURTAIN CALL."
 As noted last year: there are some people in Los Angeles who do not know where Kuala Lumpur is — just as there are some people in Kuala Lumpur who do not know where Los Angeles is. And it is almost as true of Asuncion.

There are some people who do not know where Asuncion is. But there are some people in Asuncion who do not know where Miami, for instance, is either.

"Oh well," the Miamians say, "who ever heard of Asuncion?" And the people in Asuncion say, "Oh well, who ever heard of Miami?"

All of which seems to indicate that where you are is what you know; your own little place is the important place; and that perhaps the world is larger than we think — despite the jets.

Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile, Peru, Colombia and Miami again, fills me with pleasure. South America was a wonderful place to go, and Asuncion, the capital city of Paraguay, was a midsummer's delight.

Many people and many places are very much like parts of the U. S., particularly the east coast of the U. S., but there is nothing, absolutely nothing, like the Andes. The Rockies can claim much, but the Andes can claim more.

People always ask, "Which did you like best? Of course that is hard to answer. It is difficult enough to choose from our own country with all its diversifications, but how can one choose from a territory that extends further than the farthest points of the U. S., and contains a country (Brazil) whose land mass is larger than that of the U. S.?" There is too much to choose from.

There is dense jungle and bland desert, there is towering mountain and crouching lowland. There is bleak land and fertile land, rolling hills and stretching plains, emerald forests and amber grasslands,

HOTEL TEQUENDAMA

TYPICAL OF HOTELS awaiting tourists who travel through the big cities of South America is the Tequendama Hotel, pictured above, located in Bogota, Colombia. Food, service, shops and furnishings are, in essence, the same as in the same quality hotels in the United States . . . even to one-day laundry service.

splendid lakes and mysterious rivers, graceful waterfalls and awkward marshes. There is the hot of the Equatorial jungle and the cold of the Antarctic ice crags, there is the heat and humidity of the low coastal areas and the cold and the dryness of the high Andes. There is the wildness of the Jivaro head hunters and the suaveness of the big city dwellers. It is too much. I could only answer if I had to, or be head-hunted, and then I would probably say Peru, No, Colombia, No, Brazil. But Paraguay is so interesting!

See? How can one choose? I thoroughly enjoyed them all.

ECONOMICALLY South America is almost as varied. There are countries—within the continent which, reportedly, are growing economically faster than the U. S., Peru for one; and there are those which are still struggling for modern methods, money and trained people, such as Colombia.

There are nations whose currency is stable such as Paraguay; and there are nations, and it seems to be most of them, whose currency is reduced by inflation to the point where each day the value is changed, such as Brazil; or where new currency has been issued to accommodate the new values such as Chile.

South America receives a good deal of U. S. dollars in foreign aid almost as though Washington lived by the slogan "Keep South America Green." Some of it is worthwhile some of it is not, but more is put to good use here, it seems, than in similar sized areas elsewhere. Most of South America has a mild climate and an interested, awakening citizenship, all of which is conducive to productivity. It also has, however, the handicap of the "mana" syndrome, the rash of militarism in recent years and some ineffectual or unscrupulous leaders, and the basic lack of know-how to put money and assistance to work with profit.

Yet it is important to develop and maintain democracy in South America but for the peace and welfare of North America as well. The Alliance for Progress, the Organization of American States, U. S. Aid (Agency for International Development), the blessed Peace Corps, the United Nations and many others all are working at it in the hopes that "at some not-toodistant date North and South America will resemble each other even closer than they do today." Co-traveler Frank Pfeiffer of New Mexico said that in one of his stories, and he said it well.

I WOULD NOT remember South America as a hot bed for communism. It seems to me that the people of South America are too busy conquering South America to listen to foreign voices. There are, of course, some communists and where there are communists there is a threat of communist agitation and influence. But South America is not eager to "go" communist, as so many people seem to believe, for communism's sake alone, and outbreaks of one sort or another in one place or another, do not mean that the country is capitulating to communism. Growing pains have a way of showing too.

It seems to be a truth that all countries have their quota of "angry young men," and many U. S. newspapers have their share of eager editors, who seem to feel that the exploits and ideas of these angry ones should have front page coverage. But nowhere did the communists seem politically important or even predominant. At most they are a minority group and as yet unimportant to the picture as a whole.

ONE OF THE SURPRISES of the trip was the relative lack of Indian or colored people to be seen. Outside of Peru—the majority of the people are white European stock. Or, course, we were in the large cities almost entirely. But generally speaking outside of Brazil which is Portuguese, all of South America is basically Spanish in background. Besides this Spanish overlay, Argentina generally is considered Italian, Uruguay all-white European stock with no natives at all, Paraguay largely German, Chile English and German, Peru Indian Inca and Colombia the Spainist Spanish. But Spanish or "Spanish" is all the people considered themselves "American."

No matter what the country

Convention Hall Hosts 'Surfin' Beach Boys

The Wilson brothers — Dennis and Brian — and their cousin Mike Love, known as the Beach Boys, will be appearing this Saturday evening for swinging sessions at 7:30 and 9:30 in Asbury Park's Convention Hall. Dennis sings and plays drums, while Mike sings and plays sax. Brian is oldest of the brothers and has written most of their hit tunes.

Other vocal and instrumental attractions will join in both shows. Tickets are selling at Convention Hall and statewide at various sites, including all Bamberger's stores and Harmony House in Springfield.

Auto Racing Purses Reach Record-Mark

FLEMINGTON — New Jersey now leads the United States in cash purses paid for weekly presented stock car races, following the announcement made this week by Bill Kinnaman, racing director at the Flemington Fairgrounds here.

Effective this Saturday and every Saturday night thereafter, the NASCAR-sanctioned speed-fests featuring the finest clay-track specialists on the four-cornered, country-style raceway will post a $3,372 guarantee for the eight-event, double-feature programs.

This announcement, starting in itself, is all the more noteworthy in view of the fact that in 1955, when the sport was first introduced here, the purse was a meager $800.

Hosts Handicapped

Morris County Fair, to be held on the Fairgrounds in Parsippany, Friday, Aug. 20 thru Saturday, Aug. 28 will continue its usual policy of being closed to the general public on Sunday, which this year falls on the 22nd of August. During this day, they will again play host to crippled and handicapped children and teenagers of New Jersey.

though, we almost always received the help of the U. S. Ambassador or Consul and his staff, and our representatives abroad, both men and women, both officials and wives, were something to be proud of. We also met presidents, cabinet ministers, mayors, business men, Peace Corps members and the citizen in the street. There were official briefings, meetings and receptions where we could receive information and ask questions; there were social dinners, buffet parties, garden parties and cocktail parties where we could meet people and ask more questions. There was hardly a day when we were not guests at a breakfast, a luncheon, a dinner or a reception.

As for the food itself, that is a story unto itself in the final "curtain call" next, and the end of it all.

Next: Final Curtain Call and Fini

30 JUNIOR LADIES ATTEND PICNIC IN PARK; TAKE TOUR

A contingent of 30 members of the Junior Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, attended a picnic last week at Allaire State Park.

The group, under the auspices of the American Home and Garden department, toured the deserted village. The State Federation of Women's Clubs has sponsored the restoration of the bakery and other buildings at Allaire.

Mrs. Charles Kleissler, chairman, has announced the formation of a flower exchange by the American Home and Garden Department. A number of club members will take part in the project.

The Connecticut Farm Juniors rounded out the month's activities by putting up jars of cherry jam to be sold at the annual Dessert with Santa to be held in December.

Union Exchange Club Sees Masters Film

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

It was with a great deal of interest that I read the letter from "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle" requesting information about "war brides". That term was used during the late 40's at the close of the war to describe the women marrying American servicemen and coming to the states to live.

That was 20 years ago. Am I to understand that these women who, today are in the 40 to 45 age bracket still consider themselves BRIDES?

Dear Amazed:
Yes! And it's not so unusual. So long as a husband treats his wife as a bride, she always is one.

The following letters arrived (with my sincerest thanks) for "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle".

Dear Amy:
Referring to the letter published in a recent issue of your column.

There is a club which will afford great pleasure and good company for "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle". If she will contact me either in person or in writing, I shall be happy to give her this information.

Faithfully,
The Rev. Charles L. Wood, Ed.D.
c/o The Rectory
435 Washington Ave.
Linden, N. J. 07036

Dear Amy:
I noted in your column a letter from "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle" inquiring about "War Bride" clubs.

I am the past Exalted Ruler of Union Lodge of Elks, Union, New Jersey, and as recently as Saturday, May 3th, a group of war brides called the Cosmopolitans held a dance at our club.

For further information, "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle", call or get in touch with Mrs. Arthur Kay Langbein, 1072 Dawes Avenue, Union, New Jersey.
Chester E. Youngman
(Roselle, N. J.)

Dear Amy:
If "Mrs. D. S. of Roselle" will write to the Transatlantic Brides and Parents Association, 59 Upper Kent Street, Leicester, England, they will tell her where the nearest branch is in New Jersey.

Membership fee is nominal, and a monthly magazine is issued. Parents in England may NEIGHBORS WANT your used items. Tell them what you have by phoning a low-cost Classified Ad to this newspaper before noon Wednesday.

also join the association. There are branches on both sides of the Atlantic and some, I believe, in Canada.

Yours Sincerely,
Patricia Ware
(Sacramento, California)
TBPA Member

Dear Amy:

I will be 17 very shortly and I would like to ask your advice on something I feel is very important. This past October I started running around with a man much older than I. In January I found that I was in a "Family Way." The man was willing to marry me.

Well, just about a week before we were to be wed, I realized that it would be hard for us to get along if we were married. I told him of my thoughts and I have only seen him twice since.

My friends all know my situation, and they say it doesn't make any difference. Anyone can make a mistake.

Do you think I did right by not getting married when I knew it wouldn't last?

Wondering

Dear Wondering:

I don't think any girl should marry a man she does not love. However, you have another obligation: to see that a good home with loving parents is found for your unborn child. Discuss this with your doctor.

I hope you have learned a lesson that will last a lifetime.

Dear Amy:

I have a neighbor who constantly invites herself along when I go to the laundromat. She knows that I go on a certain day of the week at invariably the same time and she'll call up and tell me not to leave without her. So what can I do? I take her. This I don't mind.

The last time we went together, she found that she had just a little too much clothes for her, two washers, so as quick as a wink, opened the door to one of my washers and, without asking, threw her extra pieces into my wash saying that she knew that I wouldn't mind. But I do mind! I don't like the idea of mixing our clothes together.

If I were her, I would be too embarrassed to do what she did, but I'm not her. So what do I do?

In A Lather

Dear In A Lather:

Cheer up! Don't get agitated. Speak your piece . . . and if your feelings rub her the wrong way, just wash that gal right out of your hair.

Dear Amy:

You printed a letter in your column about a woman who owned a store in a small community and who was invited to every party the townspeople gave. She had to bring gifts to all these affairs. Finally she had the chance to recoup all the money she laid out for their gifts when her daughter was married by inviting them.

You said she was wrong. I don't see why she was. Isn't she entitled to get back gifts from them when she gave all this time?

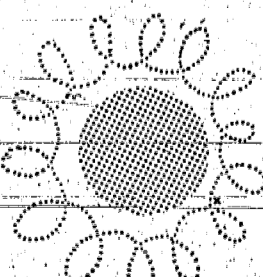

Mrs. A. Hudson

Dear Mrs. Hudson:

It is in poor taste to invite acquaintances or a whole town to a personal function. Nor should one make a mockery of a wedding by inviting people for 'gifts.' It is an honorable and sacred occasion that should be treated as such by inviting only personal close friends and family.

-DRIVE CAREFULLY!

You literally "bet your life" every time you drive too fast, try to beat a light, cut in and out of traffic, pass another car on a hill or curve! With the stakes so high and the odds so steep, does this kind of gamble make sense to you? Isn't it a lot better to drive with care . . . take a little longer to get where you're going . . . and ARRIVE ALIVE?

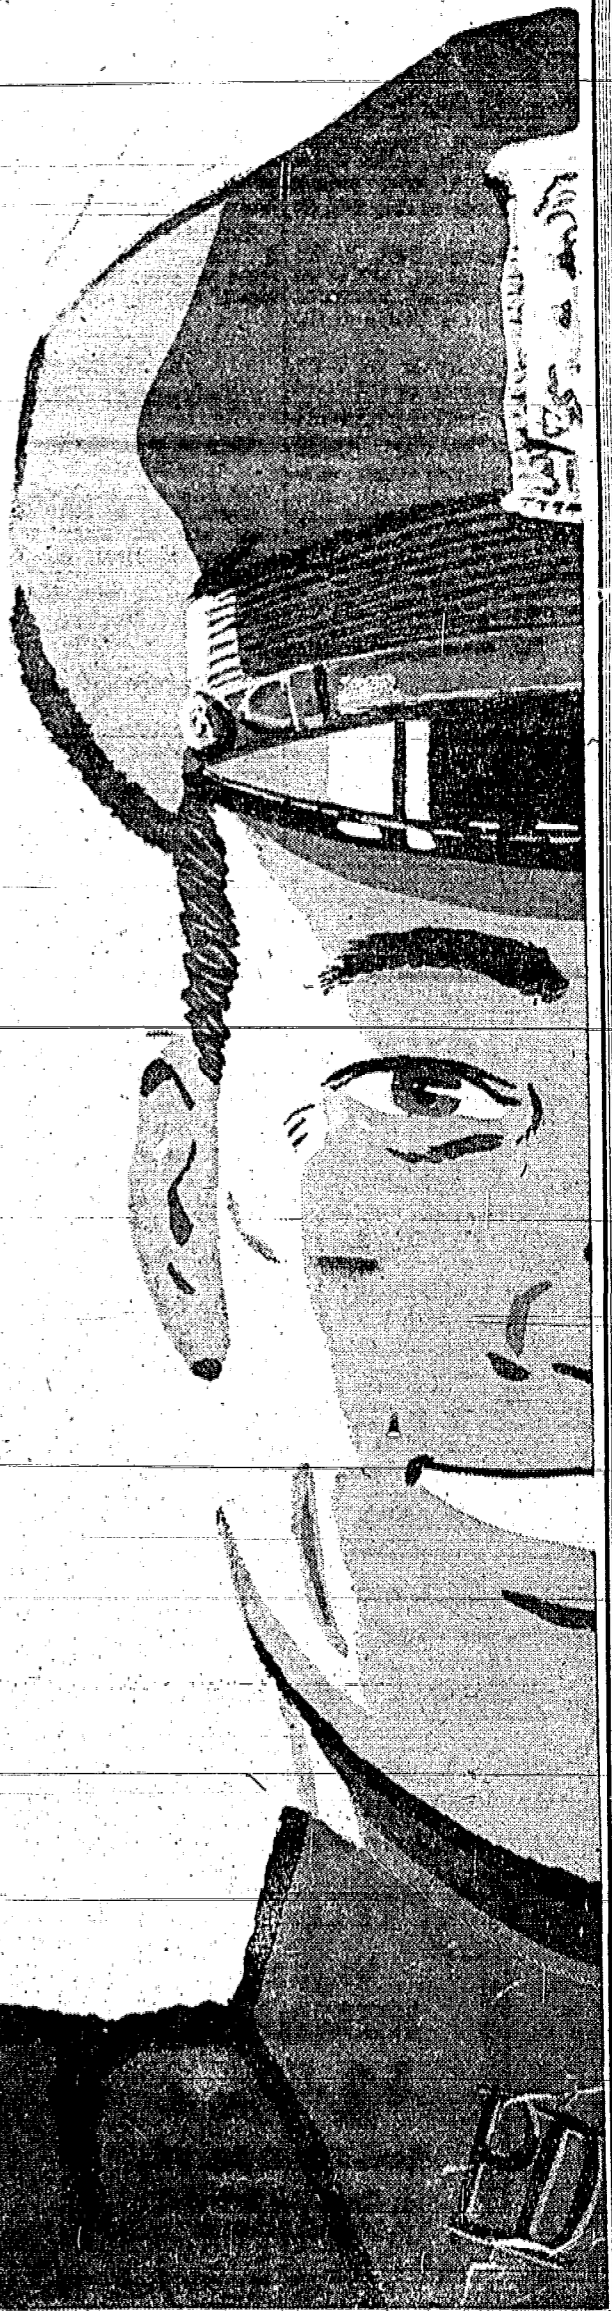

Ironically, on summer's happiest occasions (week-ends and holidays), the tragic toll of highway accidents zooms to the highest totals! Traffic is congested. Driving strain increases. Millions of good, bad and indifferent drivers are on the road, speeding, cutting in, weaving, challenging traffic controls. These are the times, above all to drive with EXTRA care . . . keep your temper . . . watch the other driver and bring your family home ALIVE!

"Better make your next Sunday School lesson stress the danger of worshipping graven images - and old jalopies."

Lutheran Church Announces Dates For Bible School

Final plans have been completed at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, for its eighth annual Vacation Bible School. The school, which is open to all children in the community from the age of three through the sixth grade, will be conducted for a two-week period Aug. 9-20. Daily sessions will begin at 9:15 a.m. and close at 11:45 a.m. The theme of the school this year will be "I Believe in God." The purpose of the Vacation Bible School is to provide the children with "rich learning experiences designed to broaden and deepen their understanding of the nature of God." Daily activities will include Bible stories, games, songs, recreation activities, art projects and handicraft correlated with lesson workbooks. An open house and closing program will be held on Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Those desiring more information or wishing to register their children in advance are asked to call DR 6-4572. Registration will also be taken on Aug. 9, the first day of the session.

PASSING THE GAVEL — Mrs. Azeglio Pancani Jr., left, who stepped down this week after two years as president of the Ladies of Unico of Springfield, passes the organization's gavel to Mrs. Dominick La Morgese, incoming president.

2 Vehicles Damaged In Weekend Accident

An auto accident Saturday on Mountain ave., in front of the Springfield Post Office involved cars driven by Harry S. Anzls, 42, of 37 Janet lane, and Dorothy A. Maudsley, 21, of Rt. 22, both of Springfield. The police report stated that Miss Audsley, going north on Mountain ave., had started to turn left into the Post Office parking lot. Anzls was heading south on Mountain ave., according to police. Both vehicles were damaged.

Edmonds Speaks At Sales Session

Richard P. Edmonds of 14 Cypress ter., Springfield, market manager for the Magnus Chemical Division Economics Laboratory of Garwood, addressed a company conference on new products and marketing plans recently. The firm set as its twin goals for the next five years a doubling of volume and the continued addition of new products to their line. The conference was attended by salesmen representing the firm in its nation-wide operations of making and delivering cleaning chemicals, lubricants, finishes and coating and cleaning equipment.

First Church Of Christ Scientist 292 Springfield ave. Summit

First Church Of Christ Scientist 422 E. Broad St., Westfield

Sunday — 11 a.m. Service, Sunday School and nursery. Wednesday — 8:15 p.m. Testimony. The record of Jesus' last supper and his meetings with the disciples after her resurrection will be reviewed in the Bible Lesson-Sermon to be heard in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, July 11.

The subject is "Sacrament" and the Golden Text is from I Corinthians: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." One of the related passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "In the quiet sanctuary of earnest longings, we must deny sin and plead God's allness. We must resolve to take up the cross, and go forth with honest hearts to work and watch for wisdom, Truth and Love" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 15).

Dumont Leader Picked In County

Republican County Committee Chairman Jay A. Stemmer announced this week that Freeholder Harry V. Osborne of Cranford will be the Union County coordinator for Wayne Dumont for Governor.

County coordinator for Wayne Dumont in the primary campaign, said he would have working with him again as coordinators Arthur H. Lapp of Hillside and Miss Carmel Jorde of Union.

Stemmer said the Dumont for Governor committee has formulated plans to bring Dumont to many county functions.

BIDS ON PLANTING SET FOR JULY 22 BY HIGHWAY BODY

The New Jersey State Highway Department this week announced bids will be received on July 22 on a landscape screen planting project in four central New Jersey counties, including Union County.

The project will include planting 1,148 trees and 260 shrubs at 15 locations along state-highways in Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth and Union Counties. The trees and shrubs will be of various types and sizes, mostly evergreen.

This is the first of three projects to conceal unsightly areas along the highways in conjunction with the President's beautification program. Two other contracts will be advertised at later dates for similar work in North and South Jersey.

Costs of the project, which is expected to take 40 working days, to complete, will be shared by the federal government and State Highway Department. All bids will be reviewed before a contract is awarded.

Senator Williams Reports

THE CHOICE IS OURS

We have a choice in New Jersey and in the nation. It is a choice between living in surroundings which give beauty and dignity to our daily lives or living in ugly squalor. It is a choice which we can allow to go by default. In this case, the lack of a conscious choice will be a choice in itself. And the choice will be to degrade our lives by permitting our environment — our cities and suburbs, our countryside, our lakes and rivers, the very air we breathe — to be increasingly fouled by all the products and byproducts of modern civilization and a rapidly growing population. The other choice must be a conscious one and it will commit us to a long and sometimes painful effort. That choice is to restore, as much as we can, the purity of our waters and air, to make our cities and suburbs places of grace and beauty and to conserve some of the original beauty of our countryside. Robert Frost said it this way: "This land was ours, before we were the land's." My choice is made. I am confident it is the choice of the vast majority. And as a representative of our state in the Congress, I, along with our President and many other members of Congress, have been attempting to translate that choice into national policy.

Open Spaces

I have had some successes and some failures. One of the successes has been the Federal Open Space program, which was enacted in 1961. It provides for federal grants for acquisition of park and recreation land adjacent to our cities, New Jersey, which was able to dovetail the federal program with the state Green-Acres program, has been allocated $3.5 million toward the purchase of more than 22,000 acres of land. However, the present program limits the federal contribution to 30 percent of the cost of acquiring the land and this has been a major stumbling block in some areas where no state funds are available. I am presently striving to have the federal contribution raised to a maximum of 50 percent — and to permit the money to be used toward the purchase of city park land.

Tocks Island

Because we in the crowded East so badly need forests and waters which are open to all, I am pressing hard for creation of a 72-thousand acre national recreation area surrounding the proposed Tocks Island Reservoir on the Upper Delaware River, in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Ellis Island

Vast areas for fishing and boating are not our only need, however. There are many others, including small city parks and historic sites. Congressman Cornelius Gallagher, of Jersey City, and I have introduced a joint resolution seeking funds to develop Ellis Island as part of the Statue of Liberty National Monument. A small park and an historic museum are planned.

Clear Air And Water

Without clean air and water, our cities and urban areas will strangle and die. I am cosponsoring bills to clean up our polluted waterways and to take the smoke and smog out of the sky. The Water Pollution Control Act of 1965 has passed both Houses, but because of differences in the two versions must go to conference. The bill provides increased federal aid for construction of sewerage facilities and certain federal powers for pollution abatement. Because of the failure to require adherence to federal standards of water purity, the bill is not as strong as I would like to see it. Neither is the Clean Air Act, of which I also am a cosponsor and which is having difficulty in committee.

Where There Is A Will ...

The road to restoring some of the beauty God bequeathed our nation is a difficult one. And, in the final analysis, we will reach our goal only if the American people are convinced it is one worth sacrificing for. That is one of the reasons President Johnson recently convened a White House Conference on Natural Beauty. I was happy to take part in that conference. And I closed my brief statement by saying: "Our country is a gift that has been put temporarily into our safekeeping. We do not have the right to spoil that which future generations must one day inherit."

Deadline Is Fixed By Night College

August 13 is the deadline for students to file applications for Union Junior College's Evening Session which opens in September. It was announced this week by Prof. Bruce P. Watson of Stanton, acting director of admissions.

"In order to process all applications in time for the start of classes in September, we must set a deadline. No applications will be accepted after the deadline date, so students who want to begin their college careers in September in our Evening Session are urged to file their applications as early as possible," Watson said.

All applicants must be high school graduates or hold equivalency certificates.

Both matriculated and non-matriculated students must submit applications before the August 13 deadline, Prof. Watson said.

Watson said more than 40 freshman and sophomore courses in liberal arts, engineering, science, and business administration will be offered in the Evening Session in the fall.

Delegate Attends Institute Session From Springfield

Nancy Lee Mumford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leray J. Mumford of 954 South Springfield ave., Springfield, served as the delegate of the Woman's Club of Springfield at the 1965 Citizenship Institute held recently at Douglass College, New Brunswick.

Delegates to the conference, which is sponsored annually by the State Federation of Women's Clubs, are selected on the basis of character, leadership, scholastic achievement and community service.

Miss Mumford, who will enter her senior year at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in September, has been elected president of the Girls Athletic Association for the coming school year and will serve on the executive committee of the senior class.

During the coming year she will also serve as president of the Sub-Junior Women's Club of Springfield and of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church. Last week she attended the Methodist Youth Conference held at Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa.

Enrolled in the college preparatory course, she plans to become a physical education teacher.

Hardgrove Aids Tri-County Body On Traffic Safety

Robert D. Hardgrove, former mayor and former chairman of the police committee in Springfield, has been named to membership on the engineering task force of the Essex-Union-Somerset Traffic Safety Council.

The announcement was made by Henry P. Wester of Mountainside, council president. Wester pointed out that Hardgrove helped organize the council while serving as mayor and was a member of the first board of directors. "He was a great help to us at that time because of his interest in public safety," Wester said. "We are pleased that he has consented to serve on our engineering task force."

This division of the Safety Council, of which Public Safety Commissioner Henry J. of North Plainfield is the chairman, is concerned with the engineering aspects of Routes 1 and 9, 21 and 22. This involves highway design, the need for and location of overpasses and jughandle turns, elimination of unnecessary traffic lights and similar matters.

In accepting the appointment, Hardgrove said he is greatly interested in the engineering improvements on the highways and associated roads. "Everyone should be interested in these matters and do what he can to deal with them," Hardgrove said.

Hardgrove, who resides at 125 Salter st. with his wife and children, is employed as an engineer with the Public Service Electric and Gas Co. in Elizabeth. He has been with the company for 22 years. He holds electrical engineering, bachelor's and master's degrees from Newark College of Engineering. He is a member of the board of directors of the Tuberculosis and Health League and chairman of the Board of Health in Springfield. He is also trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield.

Miss Kappstatter Wed To Stephen L. Goldman

Roberta S. Kappstatter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Kappstatter of 39 Glenview dr., Springfield, became the bride Sunday of Stephen L. Goldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Goldman of Boston. Rabbi Reuben R. Levine officiated at Temple Beth Ahm, and a reception followed at the temple.

Maxine Levy was maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Linda Greenwald and Rena Burstein. Edward Bloom was best man. Ushers were Douglas Kappstatter, brother of the bride, Douglas Perham and F. Douglas Forbes.

Mrs. Goldman was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and Emerson College and has continued her studies at Columbia University. She is a teacher in Newark.

Her husband is an alumnus of Boston Latin School and Tufts College and has also studied at the University of Pennsylvania. He is an electrical engineer with RCA Astro in Hightstown. Following a trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in Highland Park.

Barbara A. Feller Wed To Bruce Riegel Saturday

Barbara Ann Feller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Feller, of Cedar Lake, Denville, formerly of Springfield, became the bride last Saturday of Bruce A. Riegel, son of Mrs. Arthur Riegel and the late Mr. Riegel, of Allentown, Pa. The ceremony was performed in the Old Moravian Chapel, Bethlehem, Pa. The Rev. Carl O. Trexler and the Rev. George C. Westphal officiated. A reception followed at the Hotel Bethlehem.

Patricia Ingerto, of Hagerstown, Md., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Patricia Feller, sister of the bride; Gail Skeen, of Aldenville, Pa., and Lea Sutura, of Rainbow Lakes. Thomas Romig, of Allentown, served as best man. Ushering were Frank Miller, Eugene Batori and Kendall Hubbard.

The bride, a graduate of Moravian College, is a junior pharmacist with Sandoz Pharmaceuticals, Hanover.

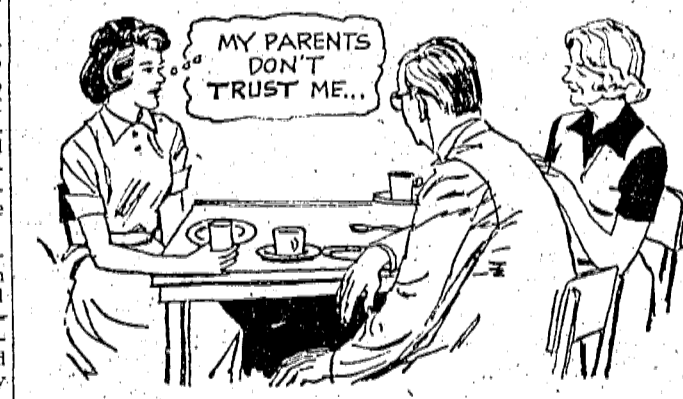

Mr. Riegel, also a graduate of Moravian College, is attending Moravian Theological Seminary. He and his bride will be taking a year's leave of absence to serve the Moravian Church in Antigua, British West Indies.

Academy Cadet To Air Force Unit

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. — Cadet William T. Geoghegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Geoghegan of 26 Edgewood ave., Springfield, N. J., has been assigned to an Air Force unit at Westover AFB, Mass., for junior officer training.

Cadet Geoghegan, who completed his second year at the academy in June, will undergo three weeks training as part of Operation Third Lieutenant. "Third Lieutenant" is designed to give cadets first-hand knowledge of applied military operations used in defense of the free world.

The cadet, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, will be commissioned upon graduation from the academy in June 1967. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and attended Rutgers University prior to his academy appointment.

For And About Teenagers: Parents Show No Evidence Of Trust

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a serious problem. I am sure other girls have this problem, too. My mother does not trust me, neither does my father. You probably think they have a reason. They do. Some of my girlfriends have boyfriends and they meet them up town on Saturdays—not all of the time, but sometimes. So, my parents think I do everything, and I mean everything. But, I don't. I have never done anything that I am ashamed of. But if they don't stop accusing me, they may drive me to do something that is not very nice. Don't you think I am old enough to be trusted?"

OUR REPLY: You failed to say how old you are. But, no matter. Whether you are thirteen or seventeen, you are confused. You want to do some of the things your friends do; your parents do not want you to do some of the things some of your friends do. It is obvious that we are talking about doing some things that are "wrong" things. Your parents have an obligation to you. It may sound corny, but your parents sometimes have to "protect" you from your friends and from your own immaturity.

If your parents make accusations, these accusations are made in ignorance of the true facts. Think about it for a moment—and you will probably realize you have given them reason to be suspicious. Correct this mistake by telling them the truth—all of it—all of the time about everything. Establish better communication with your parents. Don't ruin your life, and theirs too, most likely, by using their exercise of parental supervision as an excuse to do things you know, and they know, you should not do.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

2 Students Attend UJC Prep Class

Miss Ann Louise Janjikian of 44 Fernhill rd. and Goodwin M. Mollen of 28 South Derby rd., Springfield are among 104 college-bound high school graduates enrolled in the College Readiness Program at Union Junior College, Cranford.

The program opened Thursday and meets daily Monday through Friday, through July 28. It is designed to help recent high school graduates adjust to "the new world of college" according to Prof. Gunars Salins, director.

The College Readiness Program features an orientation to college life, including tips on how to study, how to take examinations, how to use the college library, how to take notes, and how to budget time. The program also provides a quick review of the basic skills—reading, English composition, and problem solving—to supplement what the high schools have done in those areas.

Miss Janjikian was graduated from Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, and plans to attend the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.

NAMED OFFICER OF SHAROFF UNIT

Mrs. Sam Schwartzman of Springfield was installed last week as first vice-president of the Sharoff Auxiliary of the American Medical Center at Denver. Mrs. S. Steven Brodie, eastern regional director, conducted the installation at the home of the new chapter president, Mrs. Charles Rubin.

The American Medical Center is a free non-sectarian institution which specializes in treatment of patients with cancer and chronic respiratory diseases, and also in the field of cancer research.

Couple United Saturday At Pittsburgh Ceremony

Judith Ann Cormack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cormack of Pittsburgh, was married Saturday evening to James Victor Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen, of Springfield. The ceremony was held in the Woodland Avenue Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. William H. Neube and the Rev. Charles Brown officiated.

Mrs. Charles H. Mose Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The other attendants for the bride were Melissa Cormack, sister of the bride, Alice Moyer and Mrs. David Zoellner. Amy Mose was flower girl.

John Frederick Allen was best man for his brother. Ushers were Richard M. Foster, Charles H. Mose Jr. and Leo L. Winarski.

A reception was held at the Shannopin Country Club after the ceremony. The newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Bermuda. They will reside in New York City on their return.

Mrs. Allen was graduated from Cornell University New York Hospital School of Nursing and New York University. Her husband was graduated from the

HERE'S A TIP FOR A HAPPIER HOME

Is your husband grouchy when bills are mentioned? Does he criticize your drawer-full of odd receipts, stubs and the notes you write to yourself about the budget? Show him what a bright gal you are by opening an economical checking account at The First State Bank of Union. It's the first step toward a happy budget. At FSB you pay no service charges with a minimum balance of $400 in your personal Checking Account. Stop by soon.

A Call To Help Out For The 'Duration' Led To Mrs. Deacon's Realty Career

MRS. MARIE DEACON

In the closing days of World War II, Marie Deacon, a Cranford housewife and mother, answered a call to help in a friends office. She said that she would help "till the war is over"...

It was during this time that she met her future husband, Frederick T. Deacon, who also worked in the bank, although strangely enough their meeting was outside banking circles...

The Deacons moved to Cranford in 1942 when Mrs. Deacon was soon caught up in "war work", serving on the Selective Service and rationing boards...

She started her own business, The Deacon Agency, shortly afterward. The Deacon Agency specializes in residential sales and employs four salespeople. Mrs. Deacon is also an insurance broker.

A member of the Cranford Board of Realtors, she is current program chairman and a member of the membership committee. Mrs. Deacon was the chief organizer and first president of the Woman's Association of the Cranford Board, the only group of its type in Union County.

The goal of the Woman's Association is to make residents of Cranford aware of its active Board of Realtors and to promote unity and sociability among the women members of the board. It has sponsored many local projects and proven a worthy asset to the board.

The realtor also is past president and a charter member of the Business and Professional Women's Organization in Cranford.

The Deacons still reside in Cranford. Mr. Deacon is also in the real estate field with Crunk & Co. in New York City. They have a son, who is an account executive with a St. Louis advertising agency, and two grandchildren.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

SEASIDE TOMATO PROBLEMS

You'd think that anyone living in a place called Ship Bottom would be free of garden worries. (Nothing to do but scrape off the barnacles and mow the seaweed.)

But, J. C. B., a gardener in that community, is all of 800 feet inland where he tries to grow tomatoes, and under a severe handicap.

The trouble is that the leaves and blossoms of his plants turn black after a fog. From the salt borne by the fog, of course.

He keeps hosing off his plants to get rid of the salt and wrote that he's been trying without success to buy a chemical called maneb that he's heard would help keep his plants disease-free.

EARLY SHOWER Dr. Spencer H. Davis, Rutgers plant disease specialist, approved the washing-down idea, and early in the morning especially, before the salt has a chance to harden.

The disease-preventing chemical is maneb, put up in packages under the names of Manzate and Dithane M-22. You'll find the common name of the stuff in the fine print on the label.

As you can see, growing tomatoes by the sea takes a bit of perseverance.

Many other plants thrive on salt air and sunshine, and you can get a list of these by writing to Garden Reporter, College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

The list, prepared by Don Lacey, home horticulture specialist, includes trees, shrubs, annual and perennial flowers.

Research Group To Eye Finances Of N. J. Election

The Citizens' Research Foundation of Princeton has begun a study of the financing of the current New Jersey gubernatorial election. The project, which will cover the entire general election period from June 2 through Nov. 3, is supported by grants from the Stern Family Fund and from C. Douglas Dillon and Archibald S. Alexander.

The study differs from a normal study of election financing. In a normal study information is gathered mainly from official campaign fund reports made by candidates and their campaign managers, and is supplemented by interviews with candidates and those who raise and handle the funds, the Foundation has pointed out.

However, with the abundance of citizen-volunteer groups which now engage in political campaigns, it has become necessary to use additional techniques of observing and classifying campaign costs, a spokesman said. The Citizens' Research Foundation project is designed to calculate receipts and disbursements committee by committee, county by county, with special emphasis on surveys of broadcast stations, newspapers, outdoor advertising companies, and printers to determine visible costs and to trace the flow of funds, it was reported.

The New Jersey gubernatorial campaign has been chosen for analysis, the Foundation reported, because it is conducted in an off year in an important two-party state and affords researchers an opportunity to isolate, as much as possible in the American political system, a single statewide campaign in which party and non-party spending is directed almost exclusively to that campaign.

Bathing Beauties Vie At Olympic

Olympic Park's annual bathing beauty competition for girls 2 to 20 will start next Thursday afternoon at the Irvington-Millwood amusement park's pool. Weekly winners vie in late August for the season's title.

The Thursday contests will involve three age groups — girls 2 through 8, those 9 through 13 and the older ones, over 13. The judging is expected again to be the weekly high spot of Olympic's teen-club program which this summer will be directed by Mrs. Jane Farshay of Irvington. Meanwhile, registration is continuing for children anxious to enroll in the Red Cross swimming classes. Irvington children are signing up today; those from other communities may register tomorrow.

Olympic will change its free show Monday. The featured act will be the Montons, a trapeze couple who live in New Month.

'Never Too Late' Stars Lahr, Carroll

Nancy Carroll will play opposite Bert Lahr in the forthcoming Paper Mill Playhouse production of the Broadway comedy "Never Too Late." The play will move to its bow at the Millburn theatre for two weeks, beginning July 20.

Miss Carroll, who has played opposite such Hollywood greats as Cary Grant, Clark Gable, Douglas Fairbanks and Gary Cooper, is held in awe for her performances in "The Little Shop Around the Corner," "Honey," "Sweetie" and "Saturday's Child."

Bert Lahr, who can be seen in television commercials, received national acclaim as the 'cowardly lion' in the motion picture, "The Wizard of Oz" and has recently starred in the television of "The Fantasticks."

Prof Who Was There Keeps Eye On Try To Unseat 5 Mississippi Congressmen

Professor Oscar Fishtein, who teaches English and modern languages at Union Junior College, Cranford, is watching the action of the Congress these days with enthusiasm and interest. His special focus is the effort of the Freedom Democratic Party of Mississippi to unseat five representatives from that state.

This interest developed from a four-day visit he made to Mississippi in February. He went to Mississippi to see for himself and returned convinced of the justice of the Freedom Democratic Party's campaign.

While in Mississippi, Profesor Fishtein lived with the attorneys who uncovered evidence and took depositions to support the Freedom Democratic Party's legal case against the five representatives — four Democrats and a Republican.

He also spent considerable time with the Negro and white civil rights workers of Mississippi who are attempting to break the stranglehold of segregation in that state.

The attempt to unseat the five congressmen began on Jan. 4 when Congressman John F. Ryan of New York City challenged their seating on the grounds that many Negroes were denied the opportunity to vote. The current effort to extract the case from a House committee so far has been unsuccessful. In fact, the committee has rejected the party's official report to the House.

But Professor Fishtein's experience in Mississippi convinced him that no legislative roadblocks will weaken the determination of the civil rights workers there.

"I was greatly impressed with Aaron Henry, chairman of the state's NAACP and a Freedom Party leader, whose courage is typical. I sat in his drug store under the repaired ceiling which had been bombed," Professor Fishtein said.

He also recalled his drive from Jackson to Hattiesburg. "Nothing really happened, but the state police picked up our car and trailed us for 50 miles — probably because we had with us two COFO workers, one of whom was a Negro. It was an uneasy feeling and we drove meticulously so as not to violate even the most insignificant traffic law, he said.

The headquarters for the drive by the more than 100 attorneys from throughout the nation to gather depositions and other evidence was an old Negro VFW Building in Jackson.

"While I was there, a threatening phone call was received, but no one paid much attention. They were used to such things, though I must admit I was somewhat unnerved, Professor Fishtein said.

The headquarters operated much like a political campaign, the UJC professor said. Teams were assigned to each county so that no one went anywhere alone.

"It was a huge organizational job and the deposition phase had to be completed in a two-week period. All of the attorneys came to Mississippi at their own expense. Many of them are among the most respected and highly paid lawyers in the nation," Professor Fishtein pointed out.

The major effort of the campaign was to find actual cases in which there was discrimination in attempts of Negroes to register to vote.

"Because of violence, harassment, the jailings, it was often difficult to get Negroes to testify. I heard one Negro explain his refusal to testify, and he had previously been a real hero. He had picked up a bomb in a Negro church and thrown it outside, saving many lives. But when his boss threatened to fire him, he was

'The Bard's Best To Be Presented In County Parks

"Much Ado About Nothing", one of William Shakespeare's best-known works, will be presented in Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield, on Friday, July 16 and on Saturday, July 17, at 8:15 p.m., according to the Union County Park Commission.

The New Jersey Shakespeare Festival of Woodbridge will present the comedy on a lawn area in front of the Shakespeare Garden in the Park and on Friday, July 30, and Saturday, July 31, will play in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, on a lawn area adjacent to the Administration Building. Each performance will begin at 8:15 p.m.

The productions in Union County will be sponsored by the R. J. Goerke Company of Elizabeth and Plainfield, with the cooperation of the Park Commission. Bleachers will be set up and admission is free.

The dramas, first presented in 1961, have proved to be a popular attraction in the County Parks.

This Is Healthy Living

And healthy living means having the chlorine residual you need in your pool to keep your family safe from bacteria, algae and germs. SYLVAN POOL TREAT is a granular that dissolves instantly, making your pool swim-ready as soon as you chlorinate. POOL TREAT never leaves a color or odor, doesn't irritate eyes or skin.

And because POOL TREAT is a lithium base chlorine, it doesn't leave a chalky residue that other calcium base chlorines leave. That's what makes it the most important thing you put into your pool. Besides yourself.

- ADVANTAGES OF SYLVAN POOL TREAT:
- Completely soluble. Leaves no cloudiness or sludge
  - Doesn't clog filter. Harmless to pool equipment
  - Convenient. Nothing to mix, just pour
  - Economical. Retains full strength over long storage periods. Available in 1 lb., 4 lbs., 25 and 50 lb. breakproof containers
