Republican Club Of Mountainside Formed As Two Factions Merge

Union Move Gets Unanimous Okay At Joint Meeting

Merged Club Backs Entire GOP Ticket; Victory Predicted

The Republican Club of Mountainside was formed last Thursday night after a unanimous vote of approval was given to a merger of the Regular Republican Club and the Mountainside Republican Club by the general membership of both clubs. The merger was described by many borough residents as a "guarantee" of Republican victory on the local level in November.

About 40 individuals attended the merger meeting held in the Mountainside Inn.

The attending members also voted unanimous approval to all the Republican candidates, "from Dumont (GOP gubernatorial aspirant) on down," according to Gene Simpson, president of the now defunct Mountainside Republican Club. That endorsement included the three local GOP candidates, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr., Councilman B. Dean Spain and Wilfred Brandt.

Simpson and Jack Keenan, president of the Regular Republican Club, are serving as co-chairmen of the newly formed organization until the end of the year when elections will be held. Everett Perkins, treasurer of the Regular Republican Club, will fill the same post in the merged club.

The merger has been expected in local circles for some months. This year's primary in which Wilhelms, Spain and Wilfred Brandt are candidates.

Keenan Is Named Community Fund Drive Chairman

Jack Keenan of 311 Indian trail, Mountainside, has been named chairman of Mountainside's Community Fund Drive by Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, Jr.

The drive will open in late October, Keenan said this week.

Local Candidates Invited To Forum By AAUW Branch

The two mayoralty candidates and the four aspirants for seats on Mountainside's Borough Council have been invited to participate in a Candidates Night to be held Oct. 21 under the sponsorship of the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Fred Monley of the Westfield League of Women Voters will serve as moderator at the open forum in Beechwood School.

According to the local AAUW program chairman, Mrs. Nicholas Brandshaw, invitations were sent this week to Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr., Councilman B. Dean Spain and William Brandt, Republican candidates, and William Seeds, the Democratic mayoralty candidate, and his running mates, Joseph Stypa and John Wroblewski.

In past years, the Candidates Night, which is sponsored annually by the AAUW, has been well attended.

Kiwanis To Join State Conventon

The outgoing president of the Mountainside Kiwanis Club and three of the incoming officers will represent the local organization at the 50th annual convention of the New Jersey District of Kiwanis International.

The three-day state meeting is scheduled to open tomorrow in Atlantic City.

The officials of the local club, Walter Young, outgoing president; Dominic Lamberta, president-elect; C. B. Hamilton, treasurer-elect; and Ronald F. Mays, vice-president-elect, were accompanied by their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Curtis will also represent the borough club at the convention.

NAMED TO CPA COMMITTEE
Mark E. Richardson of 1059 Sunny View rd., Mountainside, has been appointed to the legislative committee of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Ditzel, Christoffers Run GOP Campaign

Councilman William J. Ditzel and Walter A. Christoffers have been named campaign co-chairmen for the three Republican candidates seeking office in Mountainside's municipal election.

As their first official act, the co-chairmen announced a 10-point GOP platform which promises a "public library building and program to meet Mountainside's needs" and "common sense implementation of the master plan that will prevent high-rise and garden apartments" in the borough.

Ditzel, whose term on the Council expires at the end of this year, and Christoffers said they intend to wage a vigorous campaign in support of Frederick Wilhelms Jr. for mayor and B. Dean Spain and Wilfred (Bill) Brandt for councilmen. They described the three candidates as "dedicated and capable men."

The campaign chairmen promised to bring to the voters all of the issues affecting Mountainside and the position of their candidates on these issues. During political campaigns, Ditzel and Christoffers stated, "the issue and common sense solutions to municipal programs become clouded with irresponsible and sometimes hysterical claims and promises." Wilhelms, Spain and Brandt "have the integrity and ability to meet borough issues with truth and common sense," their campaign chairmen claimed.

The Republican candidates and the campaign advisory committee have set up a "platform for progress," aimed at continuing "Mountainside as the prime residential community in New Jersey."

The Republican platform also promises a sound tax rate, a storm drainage program to relieve local problems "in a manner equitable to the entire borough" and additional controls over construction of commercial and industrial zones to provide maximum protection for all homeowners.

The full text of the platform follows:

WILLIAM J. DITZEL

1. Community progress through experienced leadership.
2. A sound tax rate that will provide adequate services and continue Mountainside as the prime residential community with the fifth lowest residential tax cost of the 21 towns in Union County.
3. A public library building and program to meet Mountainside's needs.

FIRE PREVENTION NOTED IN BORO; FILM AVAILABLE

In observance of Fire Prevention Week, which opens Sunday, the Mountainside Volunteer Firemen are showing a 12-minute color film entitled "Your Clothing Can Burn."

Fraternal, social or civic organizations and neighborhood groups are invited to arrange for a viewing of the film which shows preventative measures that can be taken to avoid clothing fires.

Arrangements for the showing may be made by contacting Fire Chief Henry Porter at AD 2-5713. Afternoon or evening viewings are available, according to Chief Porter.

Democrats Laud Pittenger's Stand Against Rezoning

William C. Seeds, Democratic candidate for mayor of Mountainside, and his running mates, John A. Wroblewski and Joseph J. Stypa, this week praised Councilman Gilbert Pittenger for voting against the rezoning ordinance approved 4-1 on first reading last week by the Borough Council.

They also questioned the reasons why Councilman B. Dean Spain abstained from voting on the ordinance. Spain, who is seeking election on the Republican ticket to the Council seat to which he was appointed last spring, said at the Council meeting that he "wanted time to check things out." He promised he would be prepared to vote "for or against" the rezoning ordinance at the public hearing on Oct. 19.

The first plank of the Democrats' platform, published last week, called for the retention of existing zoning ordinances and promised to take "whatever steps are necessary to undo the damage" if the Borough Council gives final approval to the rezoning ordinance before the Nov. 2 election.

The Democratic candidates also challenged Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr., who was out of town when the ordinance was introduced, and Wilfred Brandt, the other GOP candidate for Council, to state their stands on the rezoning issue.

Seeds, Stypa and Wroblewski themselves came out strongly against the rezoning ordinance which, if given final approval, would change the zoning of the A. A. Wilson tract on Rt. 22 and another tract between Central ave. and Summit rd., near CorClothing Can Burn.

MODI ESSOKA

Modi Essoka, new Christian education director at Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, and his bride of three weeks are living out of suitcases while they search for an apartment in New York City. The suitcases (and their owners) are currently staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Tuttle of Mary Allen lane.

The New York apartment is necessary so the new Mrs. Essoka, a registered nurse with a bachelor and master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be close to New York University where she is now working toward her Ph.D. in nursing. Essoka, who will be working weekends and during part of the week at the local church, will travel to work by bus.

Essoka and his wife, the former Gloria Corzen of Philadelphia, met 15 months ago at a party honoring Nigerian students who were returning to their homeland after study in this country. Essoka, who was born and raised in a small village in Nigeria, was invited. There he met Gloria who had spent some time the previous year teaching in a Nigerian College under the American Field Service program.

The couple plans to return to Nigeria as soon as Mrs. Essoka gains her doctorate. Essoka himself has completed his comprehensive examinations for his doctorate in the philosophy of religion at Princeton University. He is now working on his dissertation and hopes to have the coveted degree by next June.

IN ACQUIRING his education, Essoka has traveled many miles, met many people and adjusted to the ways of several different countries.

Fair Hostess Is Busy Chores Keep Her In Touch With World

One minute she is escorting a noted television actor, the next minute it's a little lost boy who has to be comforted. And a short time later she is talking "face-to-face" with someone a continent away. Experiences like these are a daily occurrence for Elaine Rottstock of Mountainside who is serving as a hostess at the Bell System Exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

"This has been a wonderful assignment," Elaine explained. "Our exhibit is one of the ten most popular at the Fair, so I've had a chance to speak to thousands of people from all parts of the world. We've also been visited by distinguished guests from every field you can think of, and there is always something interesting going on."

"Just recently I took John Forsythe, the 'Bachelor Father' of television, around the Bell Pavilion. Before that I helped escort all of the Miss America candidates. I've had my picture taken with all of the guests I've assisted. Of course these photographs are now packed at home in Mountainside with my other mementos."

Annual Meeting Set By Clinic Committee

The Mountainside Committee of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic will meet next Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Stahuber, 1489 Orchard rd., Mountainside.

Alfred Rubinstein, chief psychologist of the County clinic, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Rubinstein will lead a discussion period after his talk.

One of 67 exhibit hostesses at the Bell Pavilion, Miss Rottstock has a varied work day. At one time or another she is called upon to man nine different demonstration displays, handle visitors' questions at the information desk, aid children and adults at the audience participation exhibits, and greet fairgoers entering the Pavilion's Exhibit Hall.

'Highlanders' Meet Rahway Saturday

With one victory under their belt, a 19-0 defeat last Saturday of Jonathan Dayton High, Springfield, the football team of Governor Livingston is looking forward to trouncing Rahway this Saturday. The game is scheduled in the Rahway Stadium.

Coach Jack Bicknell said this week that the team stands a good chance of bettering its 500 record of last year. He attributed his confidence to the number of lettermen returning and to the spirit displayed by the 96 boys who turned out for team tryouts.

The Highlanders move into the Watchung Conference next year, replacing Roselle. "We would like to do it with a winning record," Coach Bicknell said.

see-and-try displays, demonstrations and electronic games at the Bell System Exhibit which are designed to appeal to visitors of all ages. And the millions of fairgoers who have been attracted by them cover every age bracket. Sometimes this can lead to problems.

"I was serving at the information desk one day," Elaine said, "when a young couple (Continued on Page 8)

rest of the line has one experienced man, senior John Carver, co-captain, at end. Bicknell has John Larbalastier at right guard and Stan Cross at center neither of whom were starters last year. Tom Holland plays left guard with former J.V., Russ Wood at left end. Another junior who will probably see a lot of action is Blake Johnstone, who will start as a defensive linebacker but also is a possible full-back, Bicknell said.

Because Coach Bicknell tries not to have players going both ways, others working strictly on defense are seniors, Ed Kazowski, middle line backer, Terry Conner, defensive end, and hard-hitting Bob Carruthers at guard. Todd Alexander looks good as a defensive back, with Tom Bannach at safety and Chris Murphy on the line. These three boys are all starting juniors.

laws of life

Most of us are looking for something to go by—a yardstick, a set of standards, a law—something that will give direction to life. Ultimately, we find our only sure standard in the laws of divine Love. You're invited to hear a one-hour public lecture on this subject by Martin Broones, member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Title: "The Standard of Christian Science." All are welcome.

To America with love... The 1966 Chrysler

Could be we're getting too emotional. But it isn't very often you get a chance to follow an all-time sales record year with a new Chrysler like this one.

Sure, our '65 was great. But the '66 is even better.

It looks better. Moves quicker. It's got a beautiful new front end and a very dramatic new rear.

It's got a bigger and more zesty group of V-8 engines. From a 383 cubic inch to a 440 TNT with twin exhausts and twin snorkels. (A "snorkel" is an air intake horn for the carburetor — does great things for performance.)

The interiors, all up and down the line, are more luxurious and comforting. Take our new "shell" bucket seats, for example. It's almost as if they had been custom-fitted for you.

One thing we didn't even think about changing. It has to do with money. Five of our Newport models (real Chryslers — not junior editions) are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars with the same equipment. This includes features like power steering, power brakes, a 383 cubic inch V-8, automatic transmission, radio and many standard items like safety door handles and seat belts.

Move up to Chrysler . . . it's getting easier by the minute.

Board Approves Insurance Firm, Household Outfit

Two companies were authorized to begin business in Mountainside at Monday night's meeting of the Planning Board.

One approval, granted to Universal Underwriters of Kansas City, was contingent upon completion of work in the proposed quarters at 855 Mountain ave.

The company will occupy the second floor of the Mountainside branch of the Westfield National Bank. Renovation work is expected to be completed by Oct. 15, according to the company representative, John Brown.

Brown said a maximum of 15 employees will occupy the new quarters during the term of the three-year lease. The office is relocating from Westfield.

Approval was also given to Albert Novak of Bloomfield, a distributor for Tupperware, to maintain a sales training class at 1082 Rt. 22. The Planning Board reminded Novak that the sign on the building must meet borough specifications.

NELSON F. STAMLER

Stamler Speaks To Baptist Men Sunday Evening

State Senator Nelson Stamler will be the featured speaker at Sunday's meeting of the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church, Westfield. Stamler, a Republican candidate for State Senator from Union County, was first elected to the State Senate in 1962, filling an unexpired term, and was re-elected in 1963. He had previously served in the State Assembly.

Stamler, an attorney, is vice-president of the Union County Bar Association and a member of the General Council, State Bar Association. Some of his civic interests include the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

The meeting will begin with a fellowship period at 6:30 p.m., followed by supper. The speaker will be presented at 8 o'clock.

All men of the church and their friends are invited to attend. Reservations are necessary for the supper and may be made by calling the church office.

Fred Banes will preside.

4. A storm drainage program to relieve local problems in a manner equitable to the entire borough.
5. Common sense implementation of the master plan that will prevent high rise and garden apartments anywhere in Mountainside.
6. Complete the study of borough facilities to determine how the growing needs of the community should be met.
7. Additional controls over construction of commercial and industrial zones to provide maximum protection for all homeowners.
8. A continuing effort with the N. J. State Highway Department for additional improvements on Rt. 22.
9. A recreation program to meet the needs and desires of the community.
10. Application of sound and ethical principles to all borough business matters.

Appoint Mrs. Knopf As A School Guard

The appointment of Mrs. Anne H. Knopf of 235 Juniper way, Mountainside, to a school guard's post was approved Tuesday night by the Borough Council. The appointment becomes effective Oct. 1.

Mrs. Knopf will replace Mrs. D. L. Marshall Jr. of 316 New Providence rd. who is resigning. Mrs. Marshall has served as a school guard for the past year, police said.

James Mullin's Services Held

James Mullin, 65, of 315 New Providence rd., Mountainside, died Sunday at home. Born in Newark, Mr. Mullin lived in Mountainside for 30 years. He was a retired clerk. He worked at the Mountainside Drug Store before retiring five years ago.

Mr. Mullin is survived by his wife, Joseph (Kreamer), two sons, Police Lieutenant Edward J. Mullin of Mountainside and Robert Mullin, also of Mountainside; a daughter, Mrs. Shirley Ann Rutherford of Ft. Worth, Tex.; a brother, Frank, of Englishtown; a sister, Mrs. Anna Wood-children. Rev. Elmer A. Talcott officiated at services which were held yesterday morning at 11 at Gray's Funeral Home, 315 E. Broad st., Westfield. Interment was in Hollywood Memorial Park, Union.

Fish Story Ends Prize Comes Year Later

David M. Hart of 1251 Poplar ave., Mountainside, received a medal last week for a fish he caught last September. Hart, a member of the adult committee for Boy Scout Troop 76, caught a 9 lb. 12 oz. Northern Pike last year in Schroon Lake where he was on a New York State camping trip with the troop.

Freeholder Aspirant Outlines County Work

Seven miles of county roads in Mountainside were maintained last year under the direction of the Board of Freeholders, Republican Freeholder candidate, Matthew Rinaldo, declared today. Twenty-two bridges in the borough were also maintained by the county board, Rinaldo stated.

Rinaldo, who is seeking to be returned to the Board of Freeholders in November, said that maintenance and improvements in Mountainside are "a tangible example of how the Board of Freeholders which has a Republican majority is seeking to meet the human needs of the county's residents."

Democrats Challenge Rivals To Take Stand On Rezoning

rine ter, from residential A to a newly created classification, preferred restricted commercial "A."

"We have stated before, and we state again, that this action (the rezoning) is not in the best interest of our community. The apparent urgency of the present governing body attaches to passing this ordinance is in itself questionable," Seeds stated.

"The courts may agree with us that land now zoned residential should remain zoned residential. Mayor and Council do not appear to give this possibility any consideration. Nor do they appear to give any consideration to the feelings of the people which are to maintain the nature of our borough as residential."

Seeds also applauded Pittenger, a Republican, for opposing the zoning change.

"His vote alone was a recognition of the true needs of our borough. At least one of our Councilmen is able to recognize the harm that can be done to our community and has the courage to act accordingly," Seeds stated.

Seeds he made at the Council meeting for postponement of final action on the rezoning ordinance until after the November elections. The postponement would allow "the people to have their say," he pointed out.

The voters, the Democratic trio said, know their stand on this issue.

"We stand against the adoption of this portion (the rezoning) of the master plan. The present Mayor and Council have supported it. The choice is clear, let the people decide in November."

Stypa also reiterated a point he made at last week's Council meeting when he questioned Councilman Spain's reasons for abstaining from voting on the ordinance.

"Why did Spain feel he was not adequately informed to cast a vote on this occasion when he voted for it previously?"

Spain voted affirmatively on the bill when it was first introduced last July. The bill was re-introduced after it was reviewed by the Planning Board and a professional consultant as directed at the July meeting.

"It appears to me," Stypa continued, "some members of the Council are having second thoughts about the merits of a proposal they themselves introduced. Perhaps they are learning something from our arguments against their proposal."

Course On Boating Is Offered To Public

A 12-week course in piloting, seamanship and small boat handling will open next Wednesday evening at Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. The course, which is offered free to the public, is conducted by the Watchung Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadron. Robert B. Simpson of 1320 Stonybrook lane, Mountainside, will supervise the sessions on piloting.

Final enrollment is scheduled Wednesday evening before the first session. Classes will run from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

All persons owning boats or contemplating boat ownership are urged to take this opportunity to learn the fundamentals of small boat handling. The course will include such subjects as the mariner's compass, aids to navigation, nautical charts, rules of the road and safety at sea.

According to Robert H. Connelly, public relations officer of the squadron, 66 people passed the piloting test given last year at the completion of the boating courses offered in the two semesters of the Adult School at the regional high. This figure represented only a portion of those attending the courses. Connelly said, since many enrollees did not take the test for various reasons.

Musemeci Sole Bidder For Snow Removal

Only one firm, John Musemeci, Inc. of Long Valley, submitted a bid for snow removal at last week's meeting of Mountainside Borough Engineer Robert Koser has recommended to the Council that the bid be accepted.

Musemeci, who was the successful bidder last year for the borough's snow removal job, offered in his bid to supply snow plows and dump trucks at prices ranging from $18 to $9 an hour for each piece of equipment.

$1,000 Realized From Fund Event

A net profit of $1,000 was realized from the Fun-D Dance held Sept. 17 for the benefit of the Mountainside Public Library, the chairman, Mrs. Louis Pincelli, reported this week.

This figure is not a final one, Mrs. Pincelli said, since contributions are still coming in. Anyone wishing to make a donation is invited to contact Mrs. Pincelli, AD 3-6712.

Mrs. Pincelli stressed the fact that the dance was not only a financial success but a social one — "everyone had a wonderful time."

A mink collar, one of several prizes awarded during the evening, was won by Mrs. Audrey Bamberger.

Plans for the benefit dance originated early this year with the Concord Civic Association. Funds were originally intended to provide supplementary supplies or services for the present borough library.

However when the Library Redevelopment Committee announced plans to secure a new building for the facility the civic group invited all interested residents and community clubs to assist in the project.

Proceeds of the dance will be set aside intact until the new library is built, according to Mrs. Pincelli.

Aim Of New Youth Group-- To Promote Human Rights

Young people who want to assist and promote civil and human rights within their own communities will have an opportunity to do so by joining the Urban League Youth Community of Union County, according to James S. Wilson Jr., of Roselle, executive director of the Urban League of Eastern Union County.

The new local organization was formed recently when a group of young people representing Roselle, Kenilworth, Cranford and Elizabeth met at the Bayway Community Center.

The meeting was opened by Wilson, and Miss Toy Brown and Miss Sandra Stevenson, staff members of the National Urban League, outlined the National Youth Community program.

The organization will function as part of the Urban League of Eastern Union County's Educational and Youth Incentive Program. According to Wilson, local action groups will be formed in each community "to provide the means whereby young people can volunteer to add their voices to the goal of bettering civil and human rights within their own communities."

"As members of local Youth Community groups, young people will be given an opportunity to participate in conferences, educational drives and other active programs designed to promote better understanding and ease community tensions," Wilson continued.

Those present at the initial meeting included Ellen Hakovitch, Miss Robin Levine, Howard Hudson, James Adkinson and Miss Mary Pierce, all of Roselle and Miss Carol Hottapp and Paul Ten Eyck of Kenilworth.

Besides Wilson, other members of the advisory committee include Mrs. Alice White, Edward Scott, and Hubert Barbour of Elizabeth; Frederick Jackson of Roselle and Dr. Emanuel Leeper of Summit.

Union Gal Rolls On To Victory

Mrs. Thomas Wiczal of 1584 Gregory ave., Union, proved to be the gal with the "most push" when she beat a flock of other ladies to become the local winner of the Great Hotpoint Roll-It Derby. The race against time was held in the parking lot of the Grand Union on Chestnut st., Union. The Roll-It Derby is based on the Hotpoint-on-wheels easy-rolling feature. The contestants — ladies from 18 to 60 years of age — pushed a Hotpoint refrigerator 12 feet, loaded the freezer compartment with Red L frozen food and then pushed an additional 12 feet to the finish line. The gal with the fastest push won a $25 frozen food certificate and a chance to compete in the Grand Finals to be held in Shea Stadium during halftime of the Oct. 16 Jets-Coyland game. At stake, $5,000 in prizes, with 12 local area finalists competing.

Remaining trials will be held every Tuesday and Thursday morning, at various Grand Union and Hoback supermarkets throughout the Metropolitan area.

Honorary Post Given Senator From Union

Union County will be among State Sen. Nelson F. Stamler's 100 honorary chairmen of the 1965 Americanism Award dinner at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, Oct. 19.

The dinner is sponsored by the New Jersey Regional Advisory Board of the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith, and will honor Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

GOP Club Picks Aide At College

At a recent executive board meeting of the Newark State College Republican Club, James J. Fulcomer, chairman, appointed William Schuster of Roselle as corresponding secretary.

The board launched its campus-wide voter registration drive and adopted a resolution urging all New Jerseyans over 21 years of age to register for the general elections by Sept. 23, the registration deadline.

William Weaver of Rahway, Republican candidate for the State Assembly, will speak on "Why Vote Republican in 1965?" at the next meeting, Monday, in the East Room of the College Center.

Woerner Elected To Teacher Post

C. Norman Woerner, distributive education teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, was elected recently as president of the Central New Jersey Area of the state distributive education teachers association.

Included are 20 high schools with distributive education programs. He will also serve on the state association executive board.

Some 20 students from the Kenilworth and Springfield areas are in the program at Dayton.

BIG PUSH — Mrs. Thomas Wiczal of 1584 Gregory ave., Union, second from right, proved to be the gal with the most "push" in town when she beat out 34 other entrées to become the winner of the local trial of the Great Hotpoint Roll-It Derby last week at the Grand Union store, Chestnut st., Union. She pushed a refrigerator-on-wheels 24 feet in 41 seconds. Left to right are: Bill Speckin, store manager Al Goglia and Carolyn McDonald of Summit, all Derby officials.

County Scouts Join Program

The Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced this week that its 7,700 members will join the nationwide program of furthering natural beauty and conservation instituted by President Johnson.

Teh President has pointed out, a spokesman said, that the success of this program hinges not only on what the Government and industry can do, but on what each citizen does in his own front yard, on the street where he lives, in his local community, and on the highway approaches to town or city where he lives.

William Caddle Jr., chairman of the Council Camping Committee, said there are many elements of a program of natural beauty and conservation in its ongoing program.

Caddle said the council has suggested to its members a series of individual Good Turns as well as unit service projects.

Cub Scouts are encouraged to plant window boxes with flowers or shrubs; front yard flower gardens; making litter bags for family or neighbor's cars and displaying posters on Outdoor Code.

Boy Scouts are being urged to landscape their own yards with ornamental and wild-life food trees or shrubs, make front-yard flower gardens and display posters on the Outdoor Code for school or store windows.

Explorers activities may include planting flowers, ornamental trees, or shrubs in their own front yards, growing tree or shrub seedlings in backyard seedbeds, later transplanting the seedlings in public places. Individual Explorers may help Cub Scouts build and maintain window boxes and help neighbors clean up yards and keep them attractive.

3 Office Seekers See No Evidence For Rt. 278 Spur

Union County Democrat freeholder candidates, Mayor William J. Ahern, Jr. of Kenilworth, incumbent Hugh Caldwell and Arthur Fried, declared this week that "no need has been shown to extend the proposed Interstate Rt. 278 west of Rt. 1."

If the need is ever demonstrated to extend the Interstate highway west of Rt. 1, they said "state highway engineers should investigate the possibility of continuing the controversial highway in a southerly direction parallel to, or as part of, Rt. 1, to link with Interstate Rt. 287 in Edison Township."

"What purpose will extension of the highway to link with Interstate 78 at Springfield serve? Besides leading motorists to a point 'with nowhere to go,' it would deprive countless numbers of residents in Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth, Union and Springfield of their homes," they said.

By extending the highway parallel to Rt. 1, "or even making it an integral part of that highway, fewer homes would be lost and motorists would have someplace to go."

By utilizing that route drivers on Interstate 278 would be able to pick up the Garden State Parkway and other shore routes or continue in Interstate 287 towards Rt. 22, Rt. 78 and points in Pennsylvania, the candidates said.

Ahern said that he, as Mayor of Kenilworth, and officials of other municipalities have been assured by Governor Hughes that there are no definite plans for extending Rt. 278 west of Rt. 1.

Appoint Ehrhart Campaign Chief For Mrs. Hughes

Thomas J. Ehrhart of 746 Midland Blvd., Union, was named this week by Assemblywoman Mildred Barry Hughes' Democrat, to the post of general campaign manager in her bid for a State Senate seat.

Ehrhart is president of Ehrhart-Babic Association Inc. of New York, a market research firm. He is also on the board of directors of Four-Star Productions Tool and Dye Co., Union.

Ehrhart is a native of Union County. He was graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, and Pace College, New York. He is president of the Holy Name Society of Holy Spirit Church, Union, and is a director of the Pop Warner Football League in Union.

"I am delighted to work for a woman whose every word and action in Trenton is motivated by her desire to do what is best for the people of Union County," Ehrhart said.

Trailside Slates Film About Fire

"Smokey the Bear; Forest Fire Prevention Program," a color, sound movie, will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, Mountainside, on Sunday at 3 p.m., by Miss Irma Heyer, educational assistant at Trailside.

The film, in recognition of Forest Fire Prevention Week, is especially appropriate at this time of year when forest fires are a threat to our vast woodlands. The film is designed not only to educate but to entertain both adults and children," Miss Heyer said.

One-half hour nature talks for children will be conducted at 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of Trailside. The topic selected for the four days is "Microscopic Wildlife." The lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

Candidate Cites Savings On Cars

Freeholder Director Raymond A. Moore of Scotch Plains speaking at a meeting of the Westfield Area Young Republicans, pointed last week to a $17,000 savings on maintenance of county cars as an example of the "responsible fiscal program that has made Union County great."

Moore said the savings had been effected by establishing a county car repair staff.

"The savings we have realized," said Moore, "has more than paid for the cost of the program, and it has cut an additional $17,000 from the amount spent during the last year when work was being done by outside suppliers."

There are 87 county cars, Moore said, "and it stands to reason that one or more of them is in need of repair or maintenance at any given time. Rather than send the cars out to private garages for repairs, we are doing the work in our own garage that the progressive Republican administration has provided."

Minister Accepts Chapel's Call; To Preach Sunday

The Rev. Robert B. Mignard, former pastor of the New Brunswick Bible Church, Somerset, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Mountainside Union Chapel, Rt. 22, Mountainside. He succeeds the Rev. Baden Brown who left the local pulpit last January to assume pastoral duties in a Detroit (Mich.) church.

Mr. Mignard will begin his ministry at the 11 a.m. services this Sunday. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock he will be the featured speaker on "Metropolitan Pulpit" over Radio Station WFME (94.7 on the FM dial).

Born in Ridgewood in 1927, Mr. Mignard was graduated from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill., and has studied at Rutgers University. He has travelled with the Pocket Testament League and taken two missionary-Bible teaching tours of the West Indies.

He served as pastor of the Beverly Bible Church, Michigan City, Ind., for over three years prior to going to the New Brunswick church 13 years ago. During his pastorate in New Brunswick, Mr. Mignard conducted a weekly Bible study for students from Rutgers University and Douglass College.

He is currently serving as president of the Evangelical Ministers Fellowship and dean of Shelton College Evening Bible School in New York City. He formerly taught at the Newark Evening Bible School.

Republican Club

The Mountainside Republican Club was formed from one of the many insurgent groups that sprung up in borough Republicanism in recent years. It supported Councilmen William McCurley and George Coughlin in 1964 in their successful bid to wrest the Republican councilmanic nominations from former Councilman Raymond Herrgott and Harold Nelson Jr., who were backed by the Regular Republican Club.

The bitterness of that primary was judged by many to be the chief cause of the close November election in which the Democratic candidates, Joseph Stypa and Jules Rose, came within 178 votes of winning a seat on the Borough Council.

The merger was hailed by Simpson and Keenan and several other prominent Republicans as marking the end of strife in the party. Simpson also stated prior to the merger meeting that the united front will undoubtedly become borough Republicans to be more effective in state and county politics.

Week at Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y. Miss Greenbaum, as a member of the junior class at Elmira, served as a "big sister" in charge of welcoming assigned freshmen and their parents to the campus. Classes opened last Friday.

Fair Hostess

(Continued from Page 1) brought me a two-year old boy whom they found wandering around. He didn't say a word so I fed him lollypops and held him on my lap while we called for his parents on the public address system. There was no response.

"Finally we notified the World's Fair police, who were trying to calm the boy's mother at that very moment. She was frantic while the boy was sucking lollypops and enjoying himself. The mother rushed back to the Pavilion and bawled him out for wandering off on his own."

As an exhibit hostess, Elaine has an opportunity to show visitors many forms of advanced communications services. These include business data transmission; see-as-you-talk Picturephone, and shopping by Touch-Tone telephone—where the housewife orders merchandise directly from the retailer's stock. At the picturephone exhibit, she participates regularly in "face-to-face" conversations with visitors to the Bell System Exhibit in Disneyland, California, over a coast-to-coast circuit.

MISS ROTTSTOCK came to the World's Fair this season from Bell Laboratories, which she joined in 1959 upon her graduation from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. Her father, Paul T. Rottstock, has been with Bell Laboratories for 38 years and is now a supervisor in its electronic device tube assembly department.

"Because of my work at Murray Hill," Elaine said, "I know more about some of the displays than the other hostesses. For example, I was a clerk in the time assignment speech interpolation (TASI) department that worked on the technique for increasing the capacity of undersea telephone cables. I could see the TASI units being test-operated while they were being built by Bell Laboratories. Now they are on display at the Bell Systems Exhibit."

"On another assignment, I worked in a group connected with the development of Teletar. Now the Bell Pavilion features an actual Teletar communications satellite."

With the World's Fair drawing to a close, Elaine is looking ahead to the day she will return to Bell Laboratories and Murray Hill. But she will always remember her experiences at the Bell System Exhibit.

ECHO PROFILE

One of nine children of a Methodist lay preacher, he attended a government school, as all the village children did, until he was about 13. At that time under the educational program set up by the British government in their African colony, he "sat" for a qualifying examination which would determine if he could go on to a secondary school which was also government operated.

Essoka qualified for entrance to a school in Umuahia, one of several secondary boarding schools in the country. He was the only child in his village to go that year to Umuahia, which was about 200 miles away.

He was lonesome, he remembers. He missed the quiet days in the village, the games played by the young people and the adults in the moonlit nights when the coolness had descended on the tropical jungles that surrounded the village clearing. He missed his home—the mud-walled, thatched-roof building that sheltered his parents, himself and his eight brothers and sisters.

"But then everybody was lonesome," he recalls in a soft, bemused voice, "all the boys had left their homes and friends so everyone was lonely and we quickly made friends. We needed each other."

Four-and-a-half busy years were spent at Umuahia; summers he and his classmates piled into a truck that delivered them one by one to their scattered homes. At the end of his schooling at Umuahia, he qualified for a scholarship at Cambridge University in England. There he majored in mathematical philosophy and received his bachelor's degree in the late 1950's.

His philosophical studies and the Christian background in which he was raised combined to change his career goals some time before graduation from college.

He enrolled in New College, a division of the University of Edinburgh, to work toward his bachelor of divinity degree. He taught part time during the academic year and worked at any job—usually it was factory work—he could find during summer vacation to finance his studies.

It was easy to study in Scotland during the winter, Essoka says with a wide grin. The air was so cold, the rocky hills so bare and forbidding a student was not enticed away from his books.

However the brisk spring days, the soft autumn nights were different—then you couldn't stay inside.

Many nights, sometimes for as long as a week at a time, if his schedule permitted, Essoka pitched his tent on the barren hills. He found the very barrenness beautiful—"nature, like the Scottish people, never intrudes on you in Scotland—you can stand apart and look at it—it does not invade you," he explains.

ONE OF HIS BEST friends at Edinburgh was an American from Louisiana. The two had long, heated bull sessions on philosophy, politics, world affairs, and all the wide areas of thought which are obviously "meat and drink" to scholarly Essoka.

The talks stirred his interest in America, he wanted to "come and see for himself what it was like."

So come he did in 1961 on a Fulbright fellowship for a six months study of the educational system of the United States. A Princeton professor, who had studied under one of Essoka's professors at Cambridge, urged him at that time to begin work toward his doctorate.

Since his visa allowed him only a limited stay in this country, he returned for a while to Nigeria, to the jungle village of Kumba, to his family, to his own people, the Ibo-Tribe. Much had changed, he says, a hint of wistfulness in his voice and his soft, gentle eyes. The mud-walled houses were mostly gone. In their place stood homes of wood and brick and stone. The men and boys don't gather as often to play games in the moonlight. "They are busy—like all places nowadays—there is so much to do."

Essoka has kept in close touch with his family over the years. During Cambridge days he traveled back to Africa in alternate summers and he had spent some time at home between his days at Edinburgh and before coming to this country.

He still has a sure command of his native tongue although no hint of it accents his pure and precise English. He and his wife hope to teach on the college level in Nigeria.

"SO MANY AMERICAN people," Essoka says "are wonderful—warm and kind and anxious to do what is right—they are so good."

But like many of his race he has had unfortunate experiences with the fanatical few who have soiled the name of their country before all men.

Two years ago he attempted to attend a movie in Wilmington, Del., with a friend, a white man. They were thrown out by the theatre manager. Essoka remembered he was hurt but he remembers even more sharply the hurt and the bewilderment of his friend, the shame he felt for his countryman.

"He honestly hadn't known such a thing could happen in his city—he was shocked." Then about 18 months ago he was visiting a minister friend who lives in a suburban town in Morris County. He needed a hair cut and his friend, again a white man, assured him that he would be welcome at any one of the barber shops in town. His friend was wrong—he was refused at each one.

Essoka's goals at Community Presbyterian will be precisely those set by his predecessor, Mrs. Dolores Moros, —to teach and to live by Christian principles.

The curriculum will remain essentially the same, embodying the study of the person in Jesus Christ, the Bible and church history. The director plans to explore, as Mrs. Moros did, areas of cooperation with other churches, particularly in the youth department.

But right now he finds, he has plenty to do getting acquainted with his new duties.

"I don't even have the full list of the teachers yet," he points out in his soft, musical voice.

AAUW Members Hear Talk On Higher Education Crisis

The president, Mrs. Harold Tulchin, and a delegation from the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women heard Mrs. Esther Brockelman, director of Women's Affairs of the Citizens Committee on Higher Education in New Jersey, describe the crisis in higher education within the state last Saturday.

Mrs. Brockelman was the chief speaker at the board meeting of the State AAUW held at New Brunswick. Her talk outlined the problems New Jersey faces in higher education and gave a preview of the problems the Citizens Committee, headed by Dr. Robert F. Geheen, president of Princeton University, will tackle after the gubernatorial election.

Mrs. Brockelman stated that a fact book, which will be available in November, will disclose the current over-all financial and educational picture and review the status of potential needs of New Jersey industry for college and university trained people.

She stressed the fact that in 1960 New Jersey was the seventh in income per capita in the United States yet there was room for less than 50 per cent of eligible high school graduates in colleges within the state.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Mary Armstrong, County Home Agent

SHOP THE CABBAGE CLAN FOR NUTRITION, VARIETY, ECONOMY

By Mary W. Armstrong, Ed. D. Senior County Home Economist

Mrs. Wiggs and her family enjoyed their cabbage patch with good reason. There they found food economy as well as good eating. Today we know that excellent nutritive value was also provided. Many other members of the cabbage clan are available to us today offering variety with good nutrition, although often at slightly higher cost. These cabbage relatives include broccoli, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, collards, kale, kohlrabi, and of course, red cabbage.

One of the most economical ways to supplement the diet with vitamin C (ascorbic acid) is to serve cabbage. A half-cup serving raw, as in cole slaw, costs less than a penny at current prices and provides around a fourth of the vitamin C recommended for the daily diet of an adult man.

Next in rank of this vegetable family as a vitamin C source come Brussels sprouts and broccoli; a half-cup serving of either cooked vegetable provides over three-fourths of the recommended daily allowance of vitamin-C. A half-cup serving of cooked cauliflower or kale provides around half of the recommended allowance of cauliflower, fresh and frozen combined, in a year, but far less of Brussels sprouts and kale. Use of these vegetables fresh has been declining over the years with the use of the convenient frozen form increasing.

Shopping Pointers To Consider

At current prices in one metropolitan market, red cabbage costs about 2 1/2 times the green. A pound of cabbage yields about eight half-cup servings raw and four half-cup servings cooked.

Fresh broccoli is frequently sold by the bunch. Bunches generally weigh 1 1/2 to two pounds and provide five to six servings each.

Fresh cauliflower is usually sold by the head; trimmed heads often weigh about two pounds. Count on 2 1/2 servings to a pound or five servings to a head. At current prices in the market surveyed, a serving costs about seven cents.

A 10-ounce package of frozen broccoli, cauliflower, or Brussels sprouts makes about three servings. This week, in some stores, frozen chopped broccoli is the economical broccoli choice at five cents a serving, compared with seven cents for a serving of the frozen, whole, and eight cents for a serving of the fresh will decline in price as supplies increase seasonally.

Cabbage Popular Vegetable

We eat a lot of cabbage. On an average, Americans eat about nine pounds of cabbage per person per year, more than of other vegetables, except for potatoes, onions, lettuce, tomatoes, and possibly corn.

We eat on the average about a pound each of broccoli

Cabbage Wedges with Cheese Sauce

1 medium head cabbage
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 cup grated cheese
Dash paprika

Cut one medium head cabbage into wedges and add them to boiling water. Cook rapidly until tender eight to 10 minutes. Melt butter in a saucepan or the upper part of a double boiler. Stir in flour and then add milk. Cook the mixture until it thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from flame and stir in grated cheese, blending well. Pour the cheese sauce over the cabbage wedges and garnish it with a dash of paprika. Makes six servings.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER

Specialist in Human Relations at Rutgers

HUMOR AND FUN

Seeing the funny side of a difficult situation and taking it in good humor helps enormously in maintaining pleasant family relationships. Humor is an asset in any home and is essential in developing a wholesome outlook on life. No one is likely to become tense and anxious and irritable when the humor of the situation can be appreciated.

Having fun at the expense of others is distorted humor. Practical jokes that hurt feelings or possessions aren't really funny. Making fun of someone, teasing, and ridicule can be left out of any discussion of real humor.

Fun at the expense of the children should be distinguished from real humor. Do you know parents who laugh at children's confidences, read their letters and joke about them or make fun of their "puppy loves"? Or do you know parents who embarrass their children by repeating amusing mistakes. Some people radiate good humor, and it gives others close to them a sense of relief and freedom from strain. Begin early to develop this attitude in your children. Help them take bumps with a laugh instead of a tear. Later they will learn to take disappointments as well as jokes on themselves. They will acquire an important asset in the development of a healthy personality.

Let your family learn to laugh with each other. Family jokes are important here. But do not make one person the object of a family joke. Laughing with someone is very different than laughing at him.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: The only way I can find help is through your column. This is my problem: I have a mother and father who could be the best in the world but ever since my younger sister was born, it's been nothing but Karen this and Karen that. They are always telling me that she will be better looking, smarter and more advanced than I will ever be. When Karen does do something wrong, it's my fault because she is too small to understand (she's eight). I always try to avoid it but it gets worse and worse each day. I tried talking with my parents, but they always say I'm acting like an infant. Plus all this, I'm treated like a baby. I have to go to bed at 9 p.m. while my sister stays up. I can't go swimming with my friends because I can't be trusted, plus the fact that everything I do is wrong. I was 15 in August.

Karen's Sister
Dear Sister: Don't blame Karen for what is obviously not her fault. Your parents are wrong of course if appealing to their sense of equality has failed, enlist the aid of a close member of your family or an understanding teacher. Advice which comes from others off times hits home.

Dear Amy: I'm 22 and I'm in the service. When I left home a year and a half ago, I was going with a girl whom I loved very much and I'm pretty sure that she felt the same way about me. But about four months ago, she stopped writing altogether. I have written to her many times asking her why it has to end between us after all the plans we have made? When I left home, I knew that she wasn't going to stay home all the time and I told her not to feel guilty if she ever went out with other boys. But

So it is that the man is getting along very well today and is really enjoying life now more than he ever had though he and his wife were married more than 35 years. This letter is a serious warning to those housewives who have lived with their husbands only because these men were their slaves and provided them with homes. But now upon early re-

Dear Amy: I'm writing this letter from my room in the hospital while I'm recovering from God knows what as I'm under observation for 34 and have been married for 14 years. We have no children not because I didn't

Dear Mr. Bill: Enjoy yourself! It's when memories are revived by those who survived.

Dear Mr. Bill: Have you thought of getting in touch with your local adoption agency? It could work miracles!

For And About Teens: She's 'Out Of Place' At Home

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a sister and a brother who live elsewhere. I stay with my parents, which I enjoy. I have a roof over my head, a fine nephew and fine parents. But, somehow I feel 'out of place' at home. But, I don't have anywhere to go. I know I am not old enough to go out on my own because I am still in junior high school. I enjoy living at home, but most of the time my parents make me feel awful. They don't know they hurt me and I don't want to tell them. But I do suffer. I laugh on the outside, cry on the inside, more than ever. Is there anything I can do?"

OUR REPLY: If you enjoy living at home, then do some serious thinking about the situation or circumstances which make you unhappy otherwise. If your parents make you feel "awful" they are probably unaware of this situation. Perhaps whatever it is that displeases you is not as it really seems to be. You may be reading something into their words or their actions that is not really there.

The problem may be a lack of communication between you and your parents. You can do something about this. If something

The program, sponsored by Court Immaculate Heart of Mary, C. D. A., was held in the auditorium of St. Michael's School, Union.

A question and answer period, conducted by George Emery of the Knights of Columbus, followed the program.

The grand regent, Mrs. Thaddeus Kocal, stated that "the 300 members of our court are behind the efforts of all those who are working to drive out the flood of obscene literature which is flooding our country."

Mrs. Kocal appealed to the guests in the audience to join in the attempts to control the type of literature which she described as "cancerous decay" and which she stated is "leading to a moral breakdown in our country."

She urged responsible citizens, particularly parents, to "search their conscience and come up with an answer to this problem."

Organizations invited to attend the program were: the Junior and Senior Woman's Clubs of Connecticut Farms; Woman's Club of Townley; the Suburban Woman's Club; Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Opti-Mrs. Club; Little League's Mothers Auxiliary; Rosary Confraternities of St. Michael's and Holy Spirit Church; P'nan-B'rith Women; Sisterhood of Congregation Beth Shalom; League of Women Voters; Mothers Auxiliary Cub Pack 169.
