PTA To Spotlight Child Study Team Next Thursday

The work of the child study team of the Mountainside School system will be spotlighted at next Thursday night's meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association. The program is scheduled to open at 8:15 in the all-purpose room of Deerfield School.

The program will open with the showing of the award-winning film, "The Angry Boy," which will be used as springboard for discussion. The local child study team will then demonstrate the methods its members would use in working with such a child. The audience will then direct questions to the panel.

Serving on the panel will be Mrs. Blane Oberlin, school psychologist, Miss Marianne Beckers, social worker, Mrs. Jeanette Turley and Mrs. Mary Jasper, remedial reading instructors, and George Pierson, speech therapist. All are members of the child study team.

All residents of the community are invited to attend the P.T.A. session in order to gain a deeper understanding of the work and philosophy of the study team which is financed through state and local funds.

Refreshments will be served after the program.

Volunteers Complete Orientation Program

Miss Sara Elwood and Miss Kathy Heimlich, both of Mountainside, have completed a six-hour orientation and indoctrination course for volunteers at John E. Rannels Hospital for Chest Diseases in Berkeley Heights.

They and the other volunteers who took the course will serve the hospital at least three hours per week. They will receive additional in-service training in the areas to which they are assigned.

Highlanders Strengthen Claim On Regional Championship

The undefeated football team of Governor Livingston Regional High School strengthened its claim on the Group III North Jersey Section 2 championship by the solid 24-0 trouncing it administered on Thanksgiving Day to Passaic Valley Regional, according to Head Coach Jack Bicknell.

The championship should be announced within the next two weeks, Bicknell said. The 12-game winning streak of the Highlanders, which gave the regional high school its first undefeated season in its six-year history, makes the regional team a strong contender for the honor, Bicknell stated.

Dicknell, who came to the Berkeley Heights school from Roselle Park in 1964, expressed the hope early this season that the team would capture the Group III regional championship this year, the last year of play before entering the Watchung Conference next year.

The football team will be honored at a dinner scheduled Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in Mt. Carmel Hall, Berkeley Heights. Two pro football stars, Don Maynard of the New York Jets and Jim Patton of the New York Giants, and Bob O'Dell, head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the guest speakers.

The dinner is sponsored by citizens interested in the sports program at the regional high school.

About 5,000 spectators, a good percentage of whom were Mountainside rooters, saw the Highlanders push to their final victory on Thanksgiving Day.

Nick Serritella and Bruce Corcoran combined for three touchdowns. Serritella dashed 53 yards around the left end to the Hornets' one-yard line and then crashed over on the next play. Late in the first half, after Ed Koszowski had intercepted a Passaic Valley pass, Corcoran sneaked over from the goal line with only a minute to play.

Corcoran and Serritella combined on a perfect 50-yard pass-run play in the third period to sew up the game. The final touchdown came on a six-yard run by Dale Kempf.

Final ratings of Dr. Roger B. Saylor of Penn State show the Highlanders the top team in Group III, North Jersey Section 2, and fourth in the top ten in Group III throughout the state.

Attends Meeting Of Accountants

John Halkowich of 264 Old Tote rd., Mountainside, attended a dinner meeting of the Newark Chapter of the National Association of Accountants held recently in the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark.

Halkowich and the other accountants heard Lewis D. Gilbert, self-appointed champion of the small stock holder, rap the knuckles of big corporations for issuing "rosy reports that cover up a multitude of sins." Gilbert also charged that many corporations try to stifle the traditional independence of their CPA firms and do not consult with them on major moves, such as mergers and acquisitions.

Council Awards Bids For 2 Pontiacs Dec. 7

Bids for two 1966 Pontiacs to be used as police cars will be received and awarded at a special meeting of Mountainside's Borough Council scheduled next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Specifications for the deal, which includes the trade-in of two cars, a 1964 and a 1965 Pontiac, may be obtained at Police Headquarters located in Borough Hall on the eastbound lane of Rt. 22.

Library Board Receives Report From Consultant

The report of Kenneth McPherson, consultant hired by the trustees of Mountainside's Free Public Library, calls for a building of between 6,000 and 9,000 sq. ft., according to the board president, Sydney Mele.

This is somewhat larger than the space size envisioned by the trustees, Mele said. However he agreed with the reasoning of McPherson who in his report said that a community such as Mountainside should "have more than the minimum space" for its library.

McPherson's report, not yet released to the press, was presented to the trustees at a special meeting held last week.

Is Confident

The space requirements recommended in the report must also include accessory facilities, such as wash rooms, if the library is a separate facility, Mele said. Mele said that the board's planning is directed toward making the library an "individual, accessible, centrally located facility." This position is backed up by all authorities on library planning, Mele pointed out.

Mele expressed himself as confident that the board will be able to meet the Jan. 15 deadline date for applying for federal funds for library construction in 1966.

The board has been assured, he said, that title on borough-owned land on New Providence rd. between Birch Hill rd. and Rt. 22 (where it has been indicated the library will be built) will be cleared in time to make the application.

Two other steps necessary to qualify for federal aid—the hiring of an architect and the assurance in writing from local government officials that matching funds will be supplied for construction,—will in all probability be completed before long, Mele indicated. The board has already held preliminary discussions with an architect and is confident that assurance of

Educators Invite Officials, Civic Leaders To Review Long Range School Plans

Mountainside's Board of Education acted this week in a move aimed at releasing its long range plans for the replacement of Echobrook School before the end of the year. Members of the Borough Council, the Planning Board and heads of civic and service groups have been invited to meet with the educational body Monday night in the Halfway House, Rt. 22, to discuss those plans.

Planners Postpone Action On Ordinance

Action on the revised ordinance, which would rezone the Wilson tract from residential to preferred restricted commercial "A-1," was postponed Monday night by Mountainside's Planning Board after a long and confusing session, punctuated by protests from the audience and somewhat ambiguous comments from the board members.

The board first moved to delay action until its Dec. 28 meeting, but agreed, on a request from Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, to hold a special meeting earlier this month. Wilhelms asked that the meeting be so scheduled so the board can send the ordinance back to the Borough Council so that body "can act one way or another" at its Dec. 21 meeting.

The mayor, who came late to the meeting, became embroiled in several clashes with members of the audience. H. R. Cardoni of Short dr. questioned him persistently on the present status of the case of Wilson vs. Mountainside, Clyde Van Allen of Pembroke rd. asked for clarification on the Wilson case and the need for rezoning. William C. Seeds, who ran against Wilhelms for the mayor's post, asked why the Corrine ter. tract was taken out of then rezoning and if that removal did not violate the master plan.

The mayor gave few direct answers to the questions but said he had not supported the Council's decision to remove the Corrine ter. tract from the rezoning. He also advised his questioners that they would "have to poll the Councilmen individually" for an answer to that question.

William McCurley, the Council's representative to the Planning Board, at one point in the proceedings moved to pass the amended ordinance with the Corrine ter. tract deleted. Robert Fuzgiero, a board member, said that he felt the Corrine ter. tract should be included in the rezoning because of the "similarities"

Nolan Won't Seek To Retain Post On School Board

Dr. Edward J. Nolan, public relations chairman for Mountainside's Board of Education, announced Monday that he will not seek re-election to the post he has held since July, 1962.

The terms of Dr. Nolan and the board president, Jack Hildebrand, expire next February. Hildebrand, now finishing his first term on the board, said earlier this week that he has not decided yet if he will run again. He indicated he will make his decision known shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Nolan was appointed to the board in 1962 to fill the seat left vacant by the resignation of James Noste. Elected to the school body the following February, Nolan

NOLAN

Details of the meeting were announced Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Edward J. Nolan, public relations chairman for the school body.

Dr. Levin Hanigan, school superintendent, Dr. Donald Mitchell, educational consultant, and Frederick Elsasser, senior member of Elsasser and Miller, architectural firm hired this past summer to guide the board in its long range plans, will represent the school board at the special session.

In mid-September Dr. Nolan announced that definite plans for a replacement of Echobrook School would be presented to borough residents before the end of this year. At that time, the school board was studying alternative preliminary plans presented by Elsasser and Miller.

Among those alternatives, previously reported, was the abandonment of Echobrook School for educational purposes and the construction of a new building on a portion of the school's playing field. This proposal would include the use of some portions of the 20 acres of undeveloped county park lands in the rear of the school grounds for a playing field and similar supplementary use. Representatives of the school board met at least twice with county officials to discuss this possibility.

Other plans considered by the board and previously announced are: the building of a new school on a site to be acquired in the vicinity of Deerfield School; the renovation of Echobrook School, including soundproofing and air-conditioning (an alternative judged not too desirable because of the age of the school and its location on busy Rt. 22); additions to one or the other of the two present schools, Deerfield and Beechwood.

The board has repeatedly stated that it must retain three school sites to allow for future growth of the school population. Borough school enrollment

James J. Capone

James J. Capone, supervisor of the Mountainside Branch of the Westfield Post Office, admits, rather gleefully, that he is related to the infamous Al Capone, overlord of the underworld during prohibition days.

The relationship, Capone says with his tongue in his cheek, is "on the Irish side." His wife, the former Regina O'Donnell of Westfield, has a cousin who is married to the sister of Al Capone's wife, Capone explains. His wife herself remembers riding in a pony cart owned by "Sonny" Capone, offspring of the gangster overlord, during the years when Al Capone's father lived in the borough. (The Capone residence was near what is now the center of town.)

rather self-effacing with a tendency to minimize his accomplishments, to soft-pedal his achievements.

Except where his children are concerned!

One can almost hear the buttons pop when he speaks of his only son, now a first year student in Rutgers University School of Law. James Jr. was graduated last June from Georgetown University and was commissioned in the U.S. Army shortly after. He obtained a deferment to continue his education, his proud father reports, and hopes to be assigned to the judge advocate's division when he goes on active duty. The junior Capone played inter-mural basketball at Georgetown and was manager of the varsity basketball team.

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Seventh In a Series TOURIST ENGLAND
 "The expected high for today is 62 and the expected weather conditions are rather dour."
 This was a weather report in England and "dour" is what the English call high winds, hurricane forces, violent rain and other little things like that. To be more correct sometimes they also call it "blistering."

There was no violent weather where we were however—nor even dour or blistering. Our National Newspaper Association Study Mission Group was on the English-Scottish border area at the time and it was sweetness and light where we were, and stayed that way for the five days of our visit in England. We came into England from Scotland aboard motor coaches to the celebrated Lake District in the northwest made famous by such poets as Wordsworth. The countryside is rolling and hilly and quite beautiful, but this renowned big lake area has 30 square miles and 16 lakes, the largest of which is ten miles long. Wordsworth had his word's worth.

From the Lake District we went out to Liverpool, across to Birmingham, over to Coventry, through Warwick, near Banbury Cross, into Stratford-on-Avon, up to Oxford and down to London. All the while we were advised via billboards along the way to "Take Courage." It was not to give us fortitude for the long ride, but to sell us Courage—a jolly good brand of English beer.

A JOLLY GOOD ROAD, and one of the most unusual we had ever been on, was in England in the London area. After taking a "round-about" which is a traffic circle, we went on a "fly-over" which is a raised highway, and then we were on a four-lane, electrically heated, reflector-lighted, roadway. Electric power in the surface of the road wards off ice and snow, and reflector "gadgets" in the surface cast back the glow of car lights at night which avoided the need for overhead lighting poles or wiring. Our guide said it was the most wondrously efficient road she had ever traveled on. We figured she only said it because she was British and WE couldn't tell for it was September, warm and light of day.

Then we learned she was an American. It was a jolly good road, undoubtably.

THE SEVEN FAVORITE tourist attractions in England, according to statistics available in London, are Westminster Abbey, The Tower of London, London by night by bus, Shakespeare land, Windsor Castle, the Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede and Any Stately House.

Therapy Session Will Begin For Brain Injured

The second eight-week session of the Play Therapy Program of the N. J. Association for Brain Injured Children will begin Saturday, Mrs. Beatrice Antell, chairman of the Essex-Union section said this week.

The group meets from 1:30-4:30 p.m. at St. Stephens Church, Main st., Millburn, and is open to children between the ages of five to 15, who are brain injured or have problems with learning. Mrs. Antell said.

She said the play program provides opportunities for the "creative use of leisure time and encourages self-expression as well as providing instruction in the techniques and skills necessary for learning." Parents interested in enrolling their children in the program may contact Mrs. Emily Ainsley at 762-6814 for further details. Mrs. Antell said the Saturday Play Group will be a major beneficiary of the forthcoming theatre party to be held at the Paper Mill Playhouse on Sunday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the show, "Guys & Dolls" are available from Mrs. Milton Stein, 1 Cullen dr., West Orange; 731-4749.

N. J. Chapter To Hold Sunday Night Dances

The New Jersey Chapter of the Young College Graduates' Club will hold four dances this month, from 7:30 p.m. to midnight on Sundays, starting this Sunday.

The first two dances will be held at the Coronet in Irvington and the third and fourth at the Hitchin' Post in Union.

What happened to Buckingham Palace and the changing of the guard???

Our itinerary did not include Windsor Castle or the Kennedy Memorial but did include the others, and some of the lively ones saw even more. There was much to see. There were the great docks at Liverpool with their unique system of locks to keep the docks at a constant level, and their spectacular array of Gargantuan cranes to handle the cargo, and also, their one little dock heaped high with barrels for aging Scotch whisky which were made of oak from VIRGINIA.

There was Birmingham and its outstanding urban renewal which is massive as well as practical. There is the splendid modern cathedral at Coventry which is nestled into the bombed ruins of the old Cathedral with great artistry; also the Stone of Scone once more returned to the Coronation Chair in Westminster Abbey which is not an abbey but a national church; ALL the towers of the Tower-of-London which is not one tower but 21; Piccadilly Circus which is not a circus of course, but a traffic circle of sorts; the changing of the guards which were marching to "When The Saints Go Marching In"; Anne Hathaway's cottage which is half a mile away from Shakespeare's at Shottery and not at Stratford; Worcester College which is one of the 21 colleges at Oxford; the home of the Earl of Warwick which is a castle with glorious treasures inside and glorious peacocks outside—and for those who looked fast, there was also a very fine lady upon a white horse near Banbury Cross.

"Ride a cock horse to Banbury Cross
 And see a fine lady upon a white horse
 Rings on her fingers and bells on her toes,
 She shall have music wherever she goes."
 Remember?
 Well, she is still at it. Actually, some woman was only taking some exercise but she was near Banbury Cross and on a white horse.

BANBURY CROSS itself is a town named after a marker that is a monument to a dead lady and not a cross at all. Many years ago a wealthy nobleman went to war, and his wife, with great love, went with him. Unfortunately she died, and he, with great love, bore her back to their home. At each place the entourage stopped to rest the coffin, he built a monument to her memory. Since these markers most often were at crossings in the road, they became known as crosses. Banbury was one stop and consequently became Banbury Cross.

We were told that a "cock horse" is the lead horse of a team, and that the "fine lady" of the jingle was either the fine lady of the village or a lady by the name of Fine which was an outstanding family in the area. The villagers do not know which it really is, either, but it makes for fine arguments over a Pim's Cup on our days.

Hospital School of Nursing. Their youngest child, Betty Anne, 17, is a senior in Westfield High School.

Capone himself has lived in Westfield since 1931 when his family moved here from Franklin, Mass. He transferred from Walpole High to Westfield High and found the change a pleasant one, especially so since his next door neighbor, Regina O'Donnell, was a student there too.

He studied at Coleman Business College, Newark, for two years after graduation from Westfield High. His entry into postal work was not planned.

He went to work in Garwood after finishing studies at Coleman Business, working for a subsidiary of Remington-Rand. He was there less than a year when several of his high school buddies told him of the upcoming tests for clerk-carrier slated by the Westfield Post Office.

"Everyone was taking them, so I decided to, too," Capone remembers reflectively. "I didn't have any special interest in the work, hadn't actually thought about it before."

HOWEVER WHEN he reflects on his reasons, he says he is sure he was prompted by the economic insecurities of the depression-plagued 1930's. Everyone was looking for security, a hedge against the future.

He started as a carrier, working out of the Westfield office, 28 years ago. Three years later, he and Regina were married.

They lived in Westfield ever since. Early in 1959 Capone was appointed a supervisor in the Westfield Post Office on the basis of a competitive test. Six months later he was assigned to the Mountainside Branch as supervisor, a post he has held ever since.

He and his staff of 15 men are now girding for the rush of holiday mail that soon will swamp them. Hiring of extra holiday help is done through the main office in Westfield but Capone is confident that he will get at least four extra men, the number assigned to his office last year.

In addition he and his regular staff are preparing to put in their usual pre-Christmas overtime hours.

"We only work 12 hours a day," Capone says cheerfully, "that's all we're allowed to work now."

The peak of the holiday mail will hit the Mountainside office if the patterns of former years hold, around Dec. 18. Capone and his staff do not seem unduly worried about the expected avalanche.

"WE'VE MANAGED well before, we will this year too," seems to exemplify their attitude.

HIS WORK and his family responsibilities, which he obviously takes very seriously, have allowed Capone little time for outside activities. However, he does bowl with the Merchants Handicap League of Westfield, "and with my average (145) I get quite a handicap," he confides.

He is a director of the Mountainside Rotary Club, is a member of the Union County Branch of the National Association of Postal Supervisors and a director of the Consumers Cooperative, a federal credit union in Plainfield.

A short-time ago he received his certificate of training after completing a course for postal supervisors conducted by the Philadelphia Regional Post Office. The Philadelphia Region, which includes this section of New Jersey, is only one of 15 regional offices in the country which conducts such a course, Capone reports.

He is currently serving as chairman of a Christmas program which the local Rotary is sponsoring Dec. 27 for college students home for the holidays. The program, to be held at the Chi-Am Chateau, will feature the "Burgundy Five," Beatle-type combo that has achieved quite a rating among the college-age group.

Capone himself is looking forward to the Rotary event. The Christmas rush will be over and 12-hour days will be a thing of the past. Until next year.

Blythe Marches With Protestors Of Viet Nam War

Teddy Blythe, of 1191 Rt. 22, Mountainside, participated last Saturday in the march in Washington, D.C., protesting the war in Viet Nam. He was one of a group of about 50 protestors who left from the Westfield Railroad Station at 7 a.m. to drive to the nation's capital.

Twenty-one year old Blythe, a student at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, said the march was not just a protest against the U.S. policy in Viet Nam but a positive presentation of alternatives to the war.

The "March" asked the government to initiate a cease fire; halt the bombing of North Viet Nam; halt the introduction of U.S. support for the Geneva accords; to declare U.S. support for United Nations supervision of the cease-fire and protection of the neutrality of both North and South Vietnam, according to Blythe.

New Patriotism
Blythe, who also participated in the International Day of Protest in October, said this week:

"Most of us involved in Viet Nam protests have been characterized as un-American and even charged with treason. Nothing could be further from the truth. I feel that we are part of a new patriotism, whose goal is the attainment of the American ideal, not its destruction in the flames searing the body of a Vietnamese child. The real traitors are the apathetic Americans and the mindless superpatriots who represent their country as indifferent, callous and even disdainful of the suffering of the earth's peoples. We went to Washington to urge an immediate end to this unnecessary, unjust and increasingly brutal war; to achieve peace while there is still a Vietnam to 'enjoy it.'"

Blythe said that his group estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 participated in the March; police figures put it about 25,000, he said.

He stated flatly "I am not a Communist," a label which he claimed is always attached to demonstrators.

He is and has been for a long time "opposed to the injustice of war." His stand, he feels, is supported by the facts, facts he has gleaned from reading the works of Bernard Fall, Robert S. Brown and other writers. Brown, formerly an aide on a U.S. mission to Vietnam, now teaches on the Teaneck campus of Fairleigh Dickinson.

Anticipated enrollment for the 1965-66 school year, according to forecast charts prepared by Walter H. Rupp, chairman of the board's long-range planning committee, was 1,270. Mountainside's master plan recommends the abandonment of Echobrook School but makes no suggestions for its replacement.

ruary, he has held various positions on the board, serving last year as its president. Nolan said his decision not to run again was based on his belief that other interested and qualified residents should be given a chance to serve. He himself hopes to continue to serve the community in some other capacity, he stated.

Dean Pursues Many Hobbies Chef, Geologist, Actor, Rolls His Own

Dr. William N. Gilliland, the new dean at Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences in Newark, is a geologist and an actor, an expert horseman who rolls his own cigarettes and an accomplished chef who dabbles in art history.

Dean Gilliland came to New Jersey last July from Nebraska to succeed Dr. Herbert P. Woodward, who had been dean of the State University's College of Arts and Sciences here for nearly 20 years.

Over and above his diverse hobbies and cultural pursuits, the dean brought with him some impressive academic credentials.

He taught at the University of Nebraska for 16 years, and for 15 of them served as chairman of the Geology Department. Before that he taught at Ohio State University where he had taken his bachelor's degree and Ph.D. He has been associated with the U.S. Geological Survey in Nevada and has served as consultant to the Nebraska Boundary Commission.

Dean Gilliland says his most exciting geological moments have resulted from extensive consulting work on oil well drilling for several major oil companies.

"This work sent me roaming through the Rockies," Dean Gilliland said, "and so I've spent a good part of my life in jeeps and on horseback."

It also sent him roaming the coast of Venezuela, off which he was once shipwrecked, and wading in Andean streams, keeping an eye out for Piranha fish. All told, he has visited 30 foreign countries.

Dean Gilliland is not a stranger to the East; he has visited New York many times and lived there for a brief time.

"I had anticipated the same rush in Newark as I found in New York, but instead Newark reminds me of Omaha in many ways," he remarked. "In contrast with the pace of life in New York, Newarkers are relaxed and easy going."

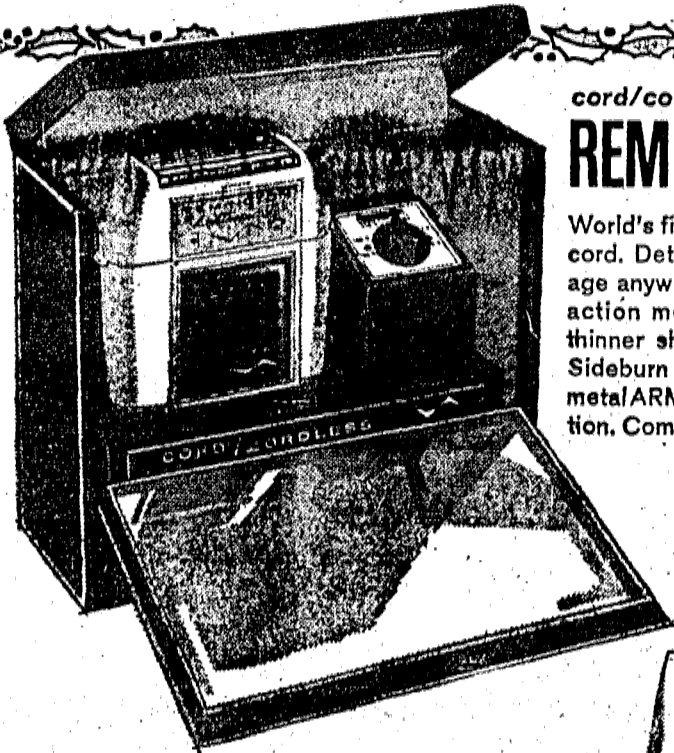

Discussing his new post, he called it "the most exciting thing I've done in years. Rutgers in Newark has infinite potential, and with the unlimited demand for education in urban areas, I would think our most pessimistic estimates of enrollment problems will be outdated in five years."

Although he is trained in science, Dean Gilliland continually stresses the importance of the arts in the university structure. In a recent statement before the New Jersey Commission to Study the Arts, he said: "No one should doubt that a thriving theater, an active art program and lively music offerings at a University are essential to a community's well being. Furthermore, no one should doubt the great need to satisfy the cultural hunger of those in the community who normally cannot afford it financially."

DO-IT-YOURSELF DEAN — Dean William N. Gilliland of the Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences in Newark demonstrates his cigarette rolling technique. A geologist by profession, he also is an expert horseman, an actor and an accomplished chef. Dr. Gilliland came to Rutgers last July from the University of Nebraska.

26,000 More College Spaces To Be Available In N.J. By '68

More than 26,000 new college spaces are expected to be ready in New Jersey by 1968, State Education Commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger announced this week.

Dr. Raubinger said the additional space represents an increase of 40.4 percent over present facilities and will bring the total number of full-time undergraduate spaces to 90,687.

State and Federal funds recently allocated are helping make the increase possible, the Commissioner explained. He noted that 22 public and private colleges and universities throughout the state, including four county colleges, have been named recipients of the funds.

Already Allocated
"These 26,086 spaces are not dependent on future appropriation of funds; the money has already been allocated," Dr. Raubinger observed.

Sixteen thousand of the opportunities for a college education will be provided by the Higher Education Facilities Act, which granted more than $12 million on a matching basis this calendar year — generating more than $67 million in college construction.

The remainder of the spaces are being financed through the $40 million bond issue passed last year by New Jersey voters.

Still to be awarded under the Higher Education Facilities Act this fiscal year is $5.6 million. This money is expected to generate additional construction totalling $17 million and create several thousand more student spaces.

With the money already appropriated, private colleges will add almost 11,000 spaces while public institutions will be able to increase their full-time undergraduate enrollments by about 15,000. This year, 64,601 places were available in New Jersey's colleges and universities, 33,576 of them in the public sector.

Construction of facilities to accommodate the 26,000 students is expected to be completed in time to begin taking freshmen by 1968.

Some of the buildings are planned for completion in time for the 1966-67 school year. Four county colleges — Atlantic, Cumberland, Middlesex and Ocean — anticipate September, 1966, openings. Funds appropriated for the four colleges will provide for 4,650 students.

For New Facilities
Money awarded to county colleges is being used toward construction of complete academic facilities including classrooms, laboratories, libraries, physical education facilities, student centers, etc.

Much of the money allocated to the other 18 schools will help construct classrooms, science and foreign language laboratories, libraries, dormitories and related buildings.

Colleges and universities awarded funds and their anticipated increased enrollment by 1968 are:

Alphonsus College, 400; Atlantic Community College, 800; Bloomfield College, 463; Cumberland County College, 1,000; Drew University, 718; Fairleigh Dickinson University, 4,261; Middlesex County College, 1,500; Monmouth College, 713, and Newark College of Engineering, 500.

Also, the State Colleges: Glassboro, 1,118; Jersey City, 883; Montclair, 1,241; Newark, 1,980, and Paterson, 1,613.

Also, Ocean County College, 1,350; Princeton University, 95; Rider College, 1,052; Rutgers University, 3,400; St. Peter's College, 1,052; Seton Hall University, 754; Union Junior College, 620, and Upsala College, 571.

We go to all the trouble of redesigning our interiors, improving our handling, and refining our Wide-Track ride, and some people buy us just for our looks.

Our new Executive Hardtop Coupe.

Just once we'd like to have people fall in love with the inside of our cars before they flip for the outside. Why, this year alone we've made available brand-new wraparound buckets. Profile bench seats. More rich, genuine walnut paneling. And nicer instrument clusters you've never seen. We even had our engineers take our test cars apart piece by piece to come up with improvements that, incredibly enough, make our Pontiac smoother, quieter, more enjoyable to drive. Really, though—we don't care which feature gets you inside a new Pontiac, as long as it gets you there. And it will. At least judging by the number of Pontiacs you see on the road.

Everything's new in tiger country. Wide-Track Pontiac '68

Family-Children's Society Unit Appeals For Christmas Funds

Some 600 Christmas Appeal letters were mailed this week to residents of Union Township and other areas by the Children's Service Committee of The Family and Children's Society of Union County. "There are children in our own communities whose Christmas may not be bright," said Mrs. E. W. Nulton of 394 Putnam rd., Union, chairman of the 1965 Christmas Appeal project. "Children who have no family and are totally dependent upon The Family and Children's Society for their care.

"These are the children for whom the Children's Service Committee works, and for whom we ask help. In an area where the population is steadily increasing and human problems multiplying, we, the Children's Service Committee, must help the Society continue this service.

"We are sending this letter to friends of the Committee with the hope that they will make it possible for The Family and Children's Society to provide children with temporary care in foster homes, until permanent plans can be made.

"This Christmas we ask that you put a child on your list whom you do not know. This is the time of the year when every child should be able to dream of wonderful things to come — not only on Christmas Day but throughout the year." The Children's Service Committee supports the services given by the Society to unmarried parents, to couples interested in adoption and to children in need of a permanent home-through-adoption. These services are available to residents of Union County and Colonia.

The Committee has 80 active members and 65 sustaining members from towns throughout Union County and from Colonia. Money raised through the appeal and other activities goes directly to The Family and Children's Society.

The Committee has been sending out its Christmas Appeal letters since 1942. During these years 1,910 children have been cared for and 275 babies have been placed in adoptive homes. Members of the Committee who reside in Union Township are:

- Mrs. Howard Collins, Mrs. Daniel G. Covine, Mrs. Edward W. Hague, Mrs. Peter L. Hughes Jr., Mrs. Arthur E. Jorgensen, Mrs. Joseph W. Kasperen, Mrs. William McCracken, Mrs. Henry G. McGrath, Mrs. John McKenna, Mrs. John A. Norton, Mrs. E. W. Nulton, Mrs. Rudolph J. Ozol, Mrs. Frank M. Pitt, Mrs. Ronald H. Post, Mrs. D. M. Procopio, Mrs. John F. Riessen, Mrs. Gordon Roberts, Mrs. Sewall C. Sawyer and Mrs. Richard Thiele.

Boright Plans To Go Caroling

Coroner-Crooner Offers Encores

Walter E. Boright Jr. of 47 Arbor st., Kenilworth, who sang his way to election as a Union County coroner this fall, is offering repeat performances—for the Christmas season.

He and his campaign manager, Miss Pamela E. Zardecki of 323 Miner terrace, Linden, have offered to sing carols and other songs at meetings of political and civic groups. Announcements have been sent to the 21 Democratic Municipal chairmen, they reported.

Boright, one of three coroners elected recently, waged a unique campaign in which he "crooned" on the campaign trail instead of making speeches. He and Miss Zardecki sang approximately 500 solos and duets enroute to his victory. They are now trying to retrace their campaign footsteps to thank those who voted for Boright and the rest of the Democratic ticket, they said.

The method of campaigning included pre-recorded piano accompaniment on a tape re-order which included numerous operatic arias, Broadway hit tunes and popular selections. Instead of making a speech, Boright would turn on the tape-recorder and sing along with the accompaniment, explaining his campaign gimmick to his audiences before launching into song.

"This method was very successful but it did have its handicaps," he said. "One was that we had to be careful not to sing the same songs again before an organization when we revisited them and the other was, since our technique went over so very well, frequently the crowds would insist on more songs and we couldn't leave until they were satisfied. This very often caused us to be late for other political meetings that were on our schedule for the evening."

Boright and his two runningmates for coroner were elected in a last minute written campaign formulated over the weekend preceding the June primary election.

They garnered approximately 100 votes each out of 20,000 cast. When their names appeared on the November election ballot, they received nearly 90,000 votes each.

Miss Zardecki is a 19 year old sophomore at Newark State College in Union, where she is majoring in general elementary education. She is active in music organizations at the campus, including the opera guild and Hi-Low chorus. She is probably the youngest campaign manager in the county.

Boright is the son of former Mayor and Mrs. Walter E. Boright of Kenilworth. He is a social studies major at Newark State College. His 21st birthday came just two days before the filing deadline for candidates in the June primary when he was elected as a Democratic County Committeeman from his borough.

A senior, he will be graduated this June. He is active in music groups and student government at the college. He is probably the youngest Union County official. Both students are minoring in music.

Overlook Blood Bank Receives National Unit's Accreditation

Accreditation of the Overlook Hospital Blood Bank by the American Association of Blood Banks for another three-year period was announced this week by the Association and the Blood Bank's medical director, George L. Erdman, M.D., of Millburn, chief pathologist at Overlook.

"Overlook is hereby recognized as maintaining or exceeding the standards of blood bank performance as established by the American Association of Blood Banks," stated Dr. E. Arthur Dreskin, president of the blood banks association, in making the presentation. "The enclosed certificate is formal official record of this action. We hope the hospital will display this award in a prominent place because of its significance," he continued.

Congratulating Overlook's governing board and staff, Dr. Dreskin pointed out that "this recognition by the American Association of Blood Banks is assurance of your continued interest in establishing the highest quality medical care to the patients you serve."

Dr. Dreskin emphasized that "the patient who receives a transfusion of blood provided by a blood bank accredited by the American Association of Blood Banks can have full confidence that the bank has voluntarily met high standards of procedures and is continually striving to offer the best service possible."

Accreditation was preceded with a comprehensive questionnaire and physical inspection of the blood bank by one of the Association's volunteer specialists.

The purpose of the voluntary inspection and accreditation program, sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks, is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service; to assist the blood bank director in determining whether procedures being employed in his institution meet the established standards; and to provide consultation service, thus assuring patients of increased safety of human blood transfusions. Continuing voluntary participation in the program is outstanding evidence of the blood bank's effort to provide a superlative service to the community.

Costume jewelry of every description will be on sale. Many pieces of silver hollow ware and flatware will also be offered.

New Eyes for the Needy is in its 33rd year as a volunteer, non-profit charity. Started in 1932 by Mrs. Arthur Terry of Short Hills, this charity has never asked for money. All it wants are the things often overlooked in every home and considered worthless: discarded eyeglasses, antique and costume jewelry and scraps of precious metal.

New Eyes solicits these items through nation-wide publicity and keeps 250 volunteers busy five days a week processing the mail arriving every day at New Eyes headquarters.

Most of the precious metal sent to New Eyes is melted down at a New Jersey refinery. With the money thus realized, New Eyes buys new prescription glasses for needy people in the United States.

The good, reusable plastic framed glasses are sent overseas to medical missionaries who regularly request them. Much of the jewelry and silver is felt to be too valuable to melt. This is polished, appraised and priced throughout the year by the jewelry committee and will be sold this Friday and Saturday.

If anyone has any old eyeglasses with gold and silver rims, good but discarded plastic rimmed glasses, antique and costume jewelry, the donor may send or bring it to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., Short Hills.

Bestowers' Annual Party For Needy Children Slated

Councilman George Coughlin of Mountainside has been named chairman of the fifth annual Christmas party for needy children sponsored by "The Bestowers." The party will be held Dec. 12 in the Springfield Steak House with patients in the children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside and the 208 children at St. Joseph's Villa, Rockleigh, sharing gifts brought by the guests and enjoying the Yuletide program.

The Bestowers, who describe themselves as "civic-minded and self-appointed Santa Clauses," are extending invitations to residents of the Mountainside-Springfield area to attend the Christmas party. The buffet supper, other refreshments and entertainment will be supplied free to all attending. Invited guests are asked to bring Christmas gifts, wrapped in holiday style, to the party. The packages will be distributed to the children.

Cost of refreshments, entertainment and other incidental expenses is absorbed by voluntary contributions of charitable residents and merchants, Coughlin stated.

Robert Youngmans and James Menk of Mountainside are serving as assistant chairmen. Mrs. Menk is heading the hostesses committee.

Albert J. Benninger, also of Mountainside, will serve as master of ceremonies at the affair which will open at 4 p.m. and run until 8.

Clubwomen Aid Patients, Send Books To Viet Nam

Candy favors with a Thanksgiving theme were delivered to the John Runnells Hospital recently by the welfare department of the Springfield Woman's Club, together with some jigsaw puzzles. This group will construct writing kits for the patients at Greystone at its next meeting.

To date, 600 paper-back books have been collected and shipped to Viet Nam by the welfare department. Mrs. John Rackowski announced that she will accept books until Jan. 15, instead of the deadline previously announced of Dec. 1. Contributions to defray the expense of sending these books will be "gratefully received," she added.

An "international dinner" was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Hannan last week. Each member present brought a prepared dish. The recipes were from the following countries: Japan, Italy, South America, Ireland and Greece. Requests for recipes were exchanged.

SORORITY LADIES PLAN YULE LUNCH

The Northern New Jersey Alumni of Chi Omega will hold their annual Christmas luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. L.D. Barney, 14 Heller dr., Upper Montclair. Co-hostesses include Mrs. Oliver O. Deane Jr. of Springfield.

Members were reminded to bring their Christmas gifts for the patients at Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation. Gifts are to be unwrapped but accompanied by appropriate wrappings. These gifts along with cookies prepared by the Night Owls, evening group of Chi Omega, will be taken to Kessler Institute on the Friday, Dec. 17th coffee hour and tour of the Institute.

Swimming Program Scheduled At Summit

The Summit YWCA International Club will meet at the YWCA today at 9:30 a.m. for a morning of swimming at the YMCA pool. After lunch at the YWCA, the group will rehearse Christmas carols of all nations for a performance at the YWCA's Christmas program on Dec. 5.

Composed of girls from countries around the world, the club has grown from an initial membership of 10 to some 50 young women, many of whom are in domestic service. They meet on the first and third Thursdays of the month. The club is open to all young women new to the area or new to the country.

Christian Youth Join In Vespers

The Senior High Fellowship of the First Baptist Church of Westfield has invited young people of the Bethel Baptist Church and the Congregational Church of Westfield to share in a Fellowship Vesper Day Service this Sunday at 5 p.m.

The theme for the program, "Mission, the Christian's Calling," will deal with life in modern times. The program, set in a courtroom scene, will attempt to determine who is responsible for the lack of concern, compassion and mission in the world today.

The theme was chosen in a serious attempt to find out how today's Christian youth, forced into a prolonged adolescence because of ever-increasing educational demands, can carry out their mission in the world.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

VARIED DECEMBER PLENTIFULS
Seven of the foods on the December Plentiful list of the U.S. Department of Agriculture are in record supply. These are apples, onions, navel oranges, cabbage, peanuts, boiler-fryers and turkeys. All are popular items in demand by most housewives. Tailor-made for the holidays, the Plentifuls List provides all of the makings for a Christmas dinner. Pecans top the December

Food Plentifuls list. The pecan crop is expected to be whopping big for lots of good eating. Peanut oil for cooking and baking is also included among the plentiful foods, and so are peanut butter and peanut candies. For institutional buyers—canned red pitted cherries are in good supply.

Plentiful supply is often reflected in lower price tags. Therefore, December food shoppers are fortunate since most of the foods listed have many and varied uses. Make An Apple Santa Claus. Use apples not only in pies and desserts but as colorful decorations. They make up into wonderful roly-poly Santas. Add a construction paper cap and a cotton beard to a face either cut out or stuck on (raisins for eyes and mouth and a cherry for Santa's nose). If you cut out the features, be sure you paint the cut areas with orange or lemon juice. This will keep them from turning brown.

Orange Bavarian

Yield: 6 servings

- 1/2 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup instant non-fat dry milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 can (8 ounce) fresh-frozen orange-juice, undiluted
- 1 egg white, beaten

Soften gelatin in half of cold water. Place remaining water, lemon juice and vanilla in mixing bowl. Sprinkle dry milk over surface and beat with rotary beater about 10 minutes—or until mixture is thick. If electric mixer is used, beat 10 minutes at low to moderate speed. When mixture is thick, add sugar gradually, beating constantly. In the meantime, stir softened gelatin over low heat until just dissolved. Beat in frozen orange juice. Beat egg white until stiff, not dry, then fold carefully into mixture. Pour into serving dish and chill in refrigerator three-four hours.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER
of Rutgers . . . the State University

Specialist in Human Relations

"Johnny is such an unpleasant child," says a neighbor. "No one can carry on a conversation when he is around. He interrupts and shows off all the time!" Johnny is 10 now. But when he was three, his parents and their friends encouraged him; his acts seemed cunning, pleasing. He was always the center of the stage, the star of the show!

But now he is called a show-off. He honestly can't understand why he is punished now when he was praised before.

His family and also their friends taught him that when he did certain things he was rewarded with special attention. Now that he is older, he still wants special attention. When he doesn't get it, he hopefully tries new actions in the effort to gain applause. But to adults, these new tricks are even more annoying.

What can parents do? The easiest thing is to treat the baby as a person; not a toy to entertain his elders. Make a real place for him in the family, encourage and praise him for the things he does well, but don't praise him for everything he does and don't make him the star of the show.

It is much easier to start a youngster off right than to try to correct the show-off habit. For such an attempt, patience, firmness and affection are needed in very large doses, not just the tactful course we love you kind, but affection demonstrated by embraces, attention, companionship, and understanding.

NOTICE OF HEARING

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN UNION COUNTY

Christmas Seals should have reached all residents of Union County by now, it was announced this week by George Schott, president of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League. Anyone who has not received Christmas Seals or who wants more should notify the Tuberculosis League, 7 Bridge St., Elizabeth, N.J.

Volunteers this week helped complete the mailing of the many Christmas Seal envelopes returned by the Post Office to the Tuberculosis League with a new address for families who have recently moved.

For people who wish to use Christmas Seals in their holiday decorations, the Tuberculosis League has instructions for making table decorations, boutonnières, and tree ornaments. Copies of the instructions will be sent on request, Schott said.

The Christmas Seal Campaign is being conducted now through December to raise funds for the tuberculosis league's work in the coming year to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

60 Area Children To Receive Help At Reading Clinic

The Reading Clinic of Newark State College, Union, will provide help for about 60 area children with reading problems during the winter and spring of 1966, Professor Samuel Lourie, clinic director, announced this week.

Screening sessions to select the children will be conducted on Mondays and Wednesdays, Dec. 13 and 15 and Jan. 4 and 6 from 4-6 p.m., at the Child Study Center on campus. Parents accompanying children must bring with the note from a teacher, principal, or guidance officer recommending that the child receive help at the clinic. No appointment is necessary, Lourie said.

The selected children, eight to 15 years old, would attend clinical sessions at the college for at least an hour once a week. Graduate students supervised by faculty would provide individual attention.

A child would come for the clinical sessions on either Monday or Wednesday. Children enrolled in diagnostic sessions would come at 4:30 p.m., while those enrolled in corrective courses would begin at 5:30 p.m., Lourie said.

A $5 fee per child is charged each semester for materials and a $5 deposit is required of all selected children, he said.

Area Girl Scouts Have Conference

Senior Girl Scouts and adults from Washington Rock Scout Council held a conference recently entitled "Apathy or Action." The meeting, also attended by Senior Scouts from Rolling Hills, Morris Area, Crossroads and Bergen County councils, was at Newark State College, Union.

Susan Matko of Mountainside served as the conference chairman. Joann Kakstys of Linden was the conference secretary.

Dr. James Eagan, national vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews was the keynote speaker. Dr. Eagan urged the girls to give service to help clear the rural and urban slums and to teach the people in the inner cities basic skills of homemaking. A panel discussion followed.

The panel included Howard Devaney, executive director of the New Jersey region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; Ralph Zinn, executive director of the Newark Human Rights Commission and Mrs. Bertram Cohen, council volunteer.

A banquet lunch followed by career workshops closed the conference.

Cellist And Wife Will Be Soloists

As a Russian example of the power of a woman, the renowned cellist Mstislav Rostropovich willingly sets aside his instrument when his wife decides to sing.

She is Galina Vishnevskaya, Bolshoi Opera star, and Rostropovich often accompanies her recitals from the keyboard.

However, both will be soloists tonight at Symphony Hall, Newark, with the world-acclaimed Moscow Philharmonic as accompaniment, under Kiril Kondrashin's direction.

HOME OF THE WEEK:

Chatham Heights Aptly Named Tract With Unmatched View Of River Valley

This L-shaped, 2-story model at Chatham Heights incorporates the best in Dutch Colonial design. The "Amsterdam" model will sell for $45,500 in the upper section of the Morris County community.

Agos ago the area of Chatham Township was on the southerly edge of a great glacial field. The glacier left the township many of its distinguishing natural characteristics, among them a wooded ridge rising from the banks of the Passaic River on which today is situated Chatham Heights. Fine homes on a hillside with a breathtaking view of the Passaic Valley, this new home community is out-of-the-ordinary in many ways.

Care has been taken by the builders so that each home takes full advantage of the terrain on which it rests. Seven models, in both Colonial and Contemporary architecture, are currently being offered. According to the builders, Planners & Developers Corp. of Berkeley Heights, each home can be designed to individual family needs. Interiors can be planned around the family "traffic pattern" which depend on age of children, family interests, work habits, etc.

Seventy homes will ultimately be built at Chatham Heights. Ten are currently occupied with many others under construction. Though some homes are available for almost immediate occupancy, orders are now being taken for delivery next fall in the upper level section of the tract, according to the sales agents, Brounell & Kramer of Union. All homes are being built on hillside lots of one-half acre or more. Improvements including sewers have been installed and paid for by the builders. Prices at Chatham Heights range from $36,700 to $49,500. The current models contain four bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, and 2-car garages. Floor plans make possible as many as six bedrooms and three baths.

Incorporated in 1806, Chatham Township is old in years but young in spirit — being noted for its predominance of young families. Its rural-suburban atmosphere combines the elements of country life with the conveniences of suburban living. The township is served by three fine schools including a new high school. Commuting to all areas of Union County is particularly good.

Among the models featured at Chatham Heights are: The Surrey, a traditional 2-Story Colonial; The Phoenix, a luxurious Contemporary Ranch; The Oxford, a gambrel roofed 2-Story combining Dutch influence with British Colonial design; The Chelsea, a classic 2-Story Colonial with a dramatic entrance gallery foyer; and The Amsterdam L-Shaped 2-Story Dutch Colonial.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I am a teenage boy with a problem. I hope you can set me straight but I think I probably need psychiatric counselling.

I am considerably overweight and have tried diets and the whole bit but I still remain the same. I have finally realized why I stay so heavy. I feel that remaining a 'freak,' I will not be drafted by the Army. Right or wrong, this is the best analysis I can give for my problem.

I can't talk to my parents because they would be ashamed. My attitude needs some working on, but I'm not sure how to go about it. I can't afford a Psychiatrist's fee... and patriotic or un-patriotic, I can see that there is a fear which lies behind all this which I don't know how to erase.

Dear Freddy: Your attitude does need working on. I urge you to talk to your parents. They won't be ashamed, so don't you be. And if you need help, physical or mental, they will see that you get it.

Few young men who face the draft are heroes, but one must come to the realization that a job must be done and be man enough if called upon to do it.

Dear Amy: I'm 24 and my husband is 26. We have been married 15 months now, but although we want children very badly, we've had none yet.

Right after we were married, I quit my job and did what I had always thought most good wives should do: stay home, took care of the house, made it a real home and gave all my attention and love to my husband so that I would never have to be afraid that he would look for it somewhere else... like some other men.

However, all my married girlfriends and my mother-in-law kept asking me why I don't go back to work. I've had the remark dropped once or twice by my friends, that since they work and bring in an income and help relieve some of the burden of their husbands, they are being appreciated more by their husbands and being better wives.

My husband says he loves me and wants me to do whatever I think is best and whatever I want to do. He works nights but refuses to allow me to work nights and to come home at late hours while he's not home.

Since we are only renting an apartment, I realize by working I could help save for a home some day. My husband brings home a good check each week to pay our bills and live on, but it only leaves a small portion to put away in the bank each week. But by my working, it would leave much less time for us to be together and perhaps make it considerably longer before we have children.

I want to be a good wife very much and have our marriage last for a lifetime, but I'm not sure if my old-fashioned way or thinking is really best. Is it?

Mrs. W. J. D.

Dear Mrs. W. J. D.: "Though there are pros and cons on the subject of 'working wives,'" your thoughts are not old-fashioned; if they are practical. While it is true that you could amass more money if you took a position until your first child came along, if it would be detrimental to the good and welfare of your marriage, I wouldn't advise it.

The only opinion on this matter that is important is your's and your husband's. Come to a conclusion and be happy with it!

Dear Amy: About three years ago, I met a boy in a city not far from where I live. Since then, I had not seen him until this summer when we met again and got to know each other in the short two weeks he was here. Reliable sources told me that he likes me, but I don't know for sure.

Now his birthday is coming up in a couple of weeks and I'd like to know if it's proper for me to send him a birthday card? If this is not proper, please tell me what to do so he will know that I like him.

Dear P. M.: Send him a birthday card. He'll get the message!

Dear Amy: I just read your column in our local paper and the answers you gave were so sensible that I thought maybe you could help me.

I'm the mother of four boys, ages 18, 16, 14, and 6 months. Every time one of them is unhappy, I can't stand it and get severe headaches.

The oldest wanted to join the navy; we signed for him. He's now 'unhappy' in the service. He wanted to marry a Wave at 18; we signed for him. I now worry if he is happily married. He always wanted things he was too young for — for instance he got his first car at 12. I just haven't learned to say 'NO' to anything any of my boys wanted.

My two middle boys are very sweet and reasonable, but the baby is sure spoiled. It's getting me down—all of it! Can you please tell me if all mothers go through the same thing or is it just me?

Mrs. Miserable

Dear Mrs. Miserable: I certainly hope all mothers don't go through what you describe. The happiness you want to enjoy from your children can only be achieved by doing for them what is necessary for their physical, mental and moral well being. Overdoing and not being able to say 'NO' results in their inability to grow up and become responsible adults. Raising four boys isn't easy, but if you raise them right they will be happy and so will you.

Tell Teens Of Dope? Law Officers Say No

Should policemen give lectures to students about the details of narcotics addiction—how dope is procured, how it is used and what kind of effects it has?

No, says the New Jersey Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association, reiterating a position it has long held. The Association held its monthly meeting last week in Union at the Knights of Columbus Hall, with Union Police Capt. Donald Ebert, vice-president of the Association, as host for the evening.

The Association fears that telling young people about the uses of narcotics may stimulate a desire on the part of some teenagers to take up dope addiction. The Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association is in favor of lectures to adult groups by detectives and other officers conversant with the problem who "are capable of making a proper presentation." Many such lectures are already being given around the state.

The Association voted to investigate the possibility of producing a film on narcotics to be used by police officers in conjunction with the lectures. Newark Police Director Dominick Spina, president of the Association, officiated at the meeting, which featured a discussion of narcotics enforcement problems common to police agencies around the state.

A conference between a committee of the Association and the State Board of Education is expected to be held in the near future to determine a possible sound, approach to narcotics education.

The next meeting of the Association will be held later this month in New Brunswick.

Christmas Worldwide Theme Of Foothill's Annual Luncheon

"Christmas Worldwide" will be the theme of the program at the annual Christmas luncheon of the Foothill Club of Mountainside. Mrs. Marie Shepherd, lyric soprano and concert comedienne, will head the entertainment at the holiday party to be held in the Mountainside Inn today at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Shepherd will sing

Christmas carols and depict in song and dramatic interpretations the holiday celebrations as carried on throughout the Christian world. Lutherans Observe Opening Of Advent

The annual Advent musical service will be held this Sunday at 4 p.m. in Redeemer Lutheran Church, Westfield. The special service marks the opening of Advent which Lutherans observe during the four Sundays preceding Christmas. Traditional ceremonies include the lighting of the Advent wreath, one additional candle each Sunday, the change in color of the altar paraments to violet and the special music service.

The three church choirs, directed by William P. Drews, David A. Janisko and Miss Darlene Krug, will participate in the program. Alan GaNun will be the organist. The pastor, Rev. Walter A. Reuning, will give the meditation, "He Comes. He Comes, in Word and Sacrament." The Advent cantata, "Lauda Sion Salvatorem," will be among the selections offered. String accompaniment will be provided by Walter Both and Kathv Zetto. A 33-page booklet of Advent devotions for the family altar will be distributed through the courtesy of the Men's Club. A light supper will be served in the Parish Hall after the service for members of the congregation. The supper is sponsored by the Walther League Youth Organization with its president, Jim Orling, serving as chairman. A Thanksgiving-Day Service was held last Thursday morning in Redeemer Church. Vicar Richard C. Markworth Jr. spoke on "Thank You Lord For All Things."

Careless Driving Charged Against Middlesex Man

Irving Twist of Middlesex was charged with careless driving last Saturday evening after his car collided with one driven by David Bernholdt of Richmond Hill, N.Y. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court on Dec. 22. Twist and Bernholdt were driving in the westbound lane of Rt. 22. Bernholdt told Patrolman Charles Kelly that he was driving in the right hand lane when Twist's car swerved and hit him. Twist said he had cut from the slow lane to the fast lane when Bernholdt's car swerved and hit his vehicle. Raymond Wygorsky and his wife, Mary, both of 1558 Rt. 22, Mountainside, were involved in a three-car accident on Thanksgiving Day in the eastbound lane of Rt. 22. Wygorsky, driving a vehicle owned by Essex Machine Repairing Co., Newark, told police he had stopped for the light when he was hit by his own car, driven by his wife. The Wygorsky car was hit in the rear by a car driven by Leslie Stevens of Plainfield and driven into the first vehicle. Stevens told police he had stopped for the light, leaned over to pick up his niece who was in the front seat with him and ran into the car ahead of him. George S. Anthony of Westfield and Robert W. Ventura of 127 New Providence rd., Mountainside, were involved in an accident last Sunday on Birch Hill rd. Anthony told police he stopped to allow the car in front of him to make a left turn from Birch Hill rd. to Bridge path and was hit in the rear by Ventura's car. Ventura claimed that he was going to make a turn to Birch Hill rd. from New Providence rd. when the gas pedal came off his car. He looked down and hit Anthony's car.

Trailside Skiers Schedule Dry Run

Jay Snyder, president of the Trailside Ski Club, invites all local ski enthusiasts to participate in its Dry Ski Run to be conducted at Echo Lake Park on Sunday at 2 o'clock. At this event, both new as well as accomplished skiers are given a chance to limber-up their skis and get the feel of boots, poles and skis. Ron Finne, a certified Canadian ski instructor, will be in charge of the afternoon's activities. Trailside, a member of the New Jersey Ski Council, extends an invitation to all would-be and interested skiers to attend a meeting of this very active club. A very full program is planned for each Tuesday night meeting. The membership drive is still open and all interested skiers (beginners and experts) are cordially invited to attend our meetings held at the Westwood Lounge, 438 North Ave., Garwood at 8:45.

Child Care Needs Now Under Study

The need for an all-day child care center was discussed Monday morning at a public meeting held in the First Methodist Church of Westfield. The meeting was sponsored by the United Church Women of Westfield who are currently conducting a study to determine if such a facility is needed.

100,000 Hunters Out Monday For Opening Of Deer Season

More than 100,000 New Jersey hunters will be out to bag a big buck next week. The firearm deer season will open at 7 a. m. on Monday and close at 5 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 11, according to the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Each hunter is allowed to shoot one buck with antlers at least three inches long during the six day season. Black bear are also fair game, with a bag limit of one. Hunting hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. The sole exception to the "bucks only" rule is the "hunters' choice" areas in the northeastern corner of the State, where a hunter is allowed one deer of either sex. This area, where deer habitat is severely restricted by dense human population, is delineated in the 1965 Compendium of New Jersey Game laws, a department spokesman said.

All deer shot must be tagged immediately and reported to the Division of Fish and Game within 24 hours. Each license includes a deer tag and a postage-paid reporting card. Successful hunters must make their own tag and report card, using the deer tag as a model. Accurate answers to the questions on the card provide a valuable aid to sound deer management, Wildlife Management Chief George N. Alrough says. During the deer season it is illegal to use a rifle or any firearm of a smaller caliber than 12 gauge. It is also illegal to have in possession any missile except buckshot, which may not be strung, cut, waxed or joined in any way. Use of a dog to track deer is forbidden. A licensed bow and arrow hunter who did not bag a deer during the archery season may shoot a buck with this weapon during the firearm season. A successful bowhunter who holds a firearm license may hunt with a shotgun, but no hunter may take more than one deer during the six days.
