Council Presents $700,000 Program Tuesday Evening

Airs Storm Drainage Plans; May Move On Rezoning, Library

Plans for a four-year program aimed at correcting storm drainage problems in Mountainside will be announced at next Tuesday night's meeting of the Borough Council.

The Council may also take action on the controversial rezoning ordinance and move to officially assign borough-owned land as a site for the new library.

Any action on the rezoning measure will depend on whether the Planning Board, which met at a special session last night to consider the ordinance, took any action. The assignment of the library site will hinge on what went on at last night's special caucus session of the Borough Council which Sidney Mele, president of the Library Trustees, was to attend.

But presentation of the storm drainage is definite, according to statements issued by Councilman George Coughlin. An ordinance authorizing the work must be introduced by the Council before work can begin. A public hearing must also be held on the proposal.

Coughlin said that he hopes work will start shortly after the first of the year in District 5, in the area of Elston dr., Charles st. and Summit Lane. The reason for starting in this section, Coughlin indicated, is that the Union County Board of Freeholders has approved the granting of $62,000 as the county's share of the storm drainage project in this area.

The total cost for District 5 work in Districts will be $192,000. An additional $8,000 has been supplied by the Springmount Developing Co. for work in that section.

All the work included in the four-year program is based on recommendations made by Elston T. Killam Associates of Millburn, an engineering and consulting firm.

The Borough Council is still investigating all possible means of obtaining aid from the federal government for the project. Interest-free loans can be obtained from the Housing and Home Finance Agency but there is a new federal program which will pay half the cost with no strings attached, according to Coughlin.

Hearing On School Budget For 1966-1967 Set; Building Plans Go To Public Soon

Mountainside's Board of Education approved a budget of $1,062,434.50 for the 1966-1967 school year Monday night. A public hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 20 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of Deerfield School on Central ave. The first of a series of public hearings on the school body's plan to close Echobrook school and relocate its student body in additions to Deerfield and Beechwood Schools may also be held in January if details of the plan are completed in time, Dr. Edward J. Nolan, public relations chairman of the board, said at the meeting.

START DRIVE FOR LINDA

Fund To Aid Clarks Meet Hospital Costs

Mountainside residents are invited this week to join in a drive to aid the family of Linda Clark, who was seriously injured in a playground accident Oct. 30, to meet the staggering costs of hospital service — and round-the-clock nursing care.

LINDA CLARK

Ten-year-old Linda, a fifth-grader in Echobrook School, has been in the intensive care unit at Overlook Hospital since that time but was scheduled to be transferred to the pediatric unit this week. However she is still paralyzed from the neck down, still unable to talk and must still have constant, individual care.

A group of residents, headed by Police Chief Christian Fritz and James Debbie, proprietor of the Mountainside Delicatessen, have banded together to try to get substantial financial help so Linda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of 154 Walnut st., can meet the hospital and nursing expenses.

A breakdown of the $1,062,434.50 figure, $55,255 more than the budget for the current year, will be supplied after the budget is approved by the Union County School Superintendent, according to John McDonough, board secretary.

The timing of the hearing on the board's construction plans will depend on whether or not costs estimates will be available in time from Elsassner and Miller, Union architects who have been working with the board since this past summer.

Appraise Land, School

Echobrook School and the land on which it stands will be appraised before the hearing by Van Horn and Dolan of Elizabeth so the board will have a "realistic" picture of the value of its holdings, Dr. Nolan said after the meeting. The board announced when it released its construction plans last week that Echobrook School, which it officially declared obsolete, and the property would be offered to the Borough of Mountainside before considering other disposition.

No-time table has been set for carrying out the full program. "We're just taking this one step at a time," Dr. Nolan said.

However, he said the board hopes to be in a position to close Echobrook within two years. This would mean, he agreed in answer to a question, that construction on the Deerfield and Beechwood additions must begin during 1966.

Another School Site

The school board's announced program includes the purchase of another school site, south of Rt. 22, to replace the Echobrook site. No plans for building on such a site are included in the program now offered by the board. The acquisition of a third site is in line with the thinking of educational experts who urge local school bodies to set aside suitable tracts now for the possible building of schools in the next 20 or 30 years.

The board also proposes to buy additional land adjacent to Deerfield and Beechwood schools to allow for the planned additions to both schools.

The additions would enable Beechwood and Deerfield schools to accommodate a capacity of 1,350 children, the figure the Board's projection forecasts through 1975. Deerfield School would be basically divided into an elementary school, for kindergarten through fifth grade, and a Middle School for sixth through eighth graders. Facilities for the elementary school children and the Middle School students would be segregated. Traffic problems would be eased.

No Aspirants Yet For School Race; Deadline Dec. 30

With the deadline for filing only 14 days away, no candidates had at press time declared their intention of running for the two seats on the Mountainside Board of Education which will be at stake in the election on Feb. 8, 1966.

Dr. Edward J. Nolan, one of the two outgoing candidates, announced two weeks ago that he would not seek re-election. The board president, Jack Hildebrand, the other outgoing member, has not yet decided if he will enter the race.

No other residents have as yet indicated any interest in seeking a seat on the school board. However, the board secretary, John McDonough, says he has found in his five years in his present post that Mountainside candidates rarely declare their intentions of running until a day or two before the filing deadline.

All those who wish to run for election to the Board of Education must file nominating petitions, with at least 10 signatures by 4 p.m. on Dec. 30. The petition must be presented in the Board of Education office on the east-bound lane of Rt. 22.

To be eligible for election, a candidate must be an American citizen, a resident of Mountainside for at least two years, able to read and write and 21 years of age or older. He or she must Contributions may also be sent to the Linda Clark Fund, c/o Elmer Hoffart at the Borough Hall, Rt. 22, Mountainside. Hoffart is serving as secretary-treasurer of the fund. Checks should be made payable to the Linda Clark Fund.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. has been named honorary chairman of the drive. Chief Fritz and Debbie are the co-chairmen. Patrolman Jerome Rice, president of the local Policemen's Benevolent Association, is serving as publicity chairman.

Others serving on the committee are: Fire Chief Henry Porter, First Assistant Fire Chief Ted Byk, the Rev. Francis McDonough of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, John Riley, a warden in the Union County Jail, Ray Foster of the Mountainside Union Chapel and Herbert Ross, president of the Westfield-Mountainside B'nai B'rith.

Linda was playing with friends in the Mountainside section of Echo Lake Park when the freak accident occurred. A swing hit her across the bridge of her nose causing her head to snap back, thereby fracturing a vertebra in her neck. She has been unable to move or talk since then.

Officer Rice said that within the last week or two nurses have

Holiday Schedule Set By YES; Jobs Many And Varied

The office of the Youth Employment Service of Mountainside will shorten its operating hours during the holiday week between Christmas and New Year's Day. Beginning Dec. 27 and running through Dec. 30 the office will be open from 3 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. The office will be closed all day Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

The YES Office, located on the second floor of the Borough Hall on Rt. 22, is ordinarily open each afternoon Monday through Friday from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

A wide variety of jobs has been filled by YES in recent months, including baby-sitting, leaf-raking and yard clean-up, home dinner preparation and cleanup, and one job for interior house painting.

A YES spokesman said this week that requests for party help are anticipated throughout the holiday season and calls for snow removal from walks and driveways are expected.

Residents are urged to call YES at 233-4504 for part-time help.

Boys and girls 14 years of age and older are invited to register for part-time work at the YES office during the school recess.

Holiday Deadlines

In order to have news published in time for the Christmas and New Year's holidays, particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for the next two issues, Dec. 23 and 30. All organizational and social news items should be submitted by tomorrow for the Dec. 23 issue and by Dec. 24 for the issue of Dec. 30.

Community Presents 'Amahl' In Full Costume This Sunday

Members of Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, will present "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one-act operetta by Gian-Carlo Menotti, in full costume this Sunday in the church on Meeting House lane and Deer path. Curtain time is at 4:30 p.m.

The production is directed by Paul Kueter, director of music at Community Church.

The lead role of "Amahl," a crippled shepherd boy, will be played by Katherine Kueter. Louise Armstrong will take the part of his mother while Robert LeFrank, Alan Dehls and Alfred Stiefel will play the Three Kings who came out of the east to follow the Star of Bethlehem. James Caldwell will play a page.

Members of the church's Chancel Choir and the Young People's Fellowship will make up the chorus of shepherds and villagers. They will be led by Harry Seaman. Cynthia Bilder, Nina Piazzola, Barbara Reel and Ricca Scheidecker will dance.

Choreography for the production is by Sally McCurley and Susan Santos.

Susan Santos Attends College Symposium

Miss Susan Santos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Santos of 934 Mountain ave., Mountainside, took part in a day-long college symposium held last Thursday in Providence, R. I. The forum on questions of current economic and civic interest was sponsored by the greater Chamber of Commerce of Providence.

Student and faculty representatives of all universities, colleges and junior colleges in Rhode Island were represented at the symposium.

Miss Santos was one of the students representing Salve Regina College which is located in Providence.

Jean Stahuber, Kenneth Stiefel and John Rupp are in charge of lighting and William Stanke is handling the settings. Helen Juvrud and Pauline Dombol are taking care of the make-up and Eleanor Hechtle and Peg Olson head the publicity committee.

Costumes were created by Alice Stiefel, assisted by Natalie Farrell, June Fulshaw, Marge Grant, Ellen Knouse and Helen Talcott. Jean Wilhelms is stage manager and Florence LeFrank served as pianist for rehearsals.

The story of "Amahl" tells of the Three Wise Men who, on their way to Bethlehem, stop for a night at the hut of the crippled boy and his mother. When the Wise Men tell of their search for the new-born babe and the star that will lead them to him, Amahl impulsively offers his crutch as a gift for the babe. In so doing, he is miraculously cured of his lameness.

LESS THAN A MONTH

Library Body Meets As Deadline Nears

Mountainside's Library Trustees will meet next Monday night in their last regularly scheduled public meeting before the deadline date for filing an application for federal funds to build a new library in 1966.

The trustees' ability to move ahead that night on the project will be decided in great part by what preliminary action has been taken by the Borough Council.

Evidence of possession of a site for the library must accompany the application for federal funds. This document must be signed and notarized. Members of the Borough Council have repeatedly voiced their support of the library project but to date no official action has been taken on assigning a site. The Borough Council must also pass a resolution of intent to bond the funds necessary for construction before the library will be eligible for federal funds. No such action has yet been taken.

Preliminary plans, including a plot plan, floor plan and elevations, and cost estimates, both prepared by an architect, must also accompany the application. Neither the Library Trustees or the Borough Council has announced the hiring of an architect.

The borough can apply for one-quarter of the construction costs, up to $50,000, for federal aid in building a library. Deadline for such application is Jan. 15.

The survey report of Kenneth F. McPherson, library consultant hired by the trustees, recommends a library with a total of about 9,000 sq. ft. This figure would include staff, custodial offices, staff and custodial rooms, storage rooms, wash rooms, stairways, etc.

McPherson also recommended that the library be air-conditioned and carpeted. The initial expense of these items would be offset by lower maintenance costs, he said.

The consultant said his survey revealed that the potential library use by the community

ECHO PROFILE — Harry Devlin

Over two years ago, before he was appointed as a trustee of Mountainside's Free Public Library, Harry Devlin was speaking to organizations on the need for a library in the borough. Members of the Newcomers Club, the Mountainside Music Association and other organizations still remember the enthusiasm his talks engendered.

The reaction of one woman — "I wanted to pick up a banner and follow him" — typifies the response and the interest his comments inspired.

For when Devlin, an artist and author, discusses libraries he speaks not in numbers of volumes, not in size of shelves but in broad concepts, in visionary terms that touch the bit of the poet that exists in even the most prosaic of souls.

A library, Devlin says, should be a focal point for the cultural needs of the town. It should be, he says, a "haven for the child who hears the different drummers." The artistic child, the creative child, the dreamer, the visionary — all the young ones who do not fit the standard patterns — these children "need" a library. All residents will use it — these children need it, he insists.

For them it is not just a place for research to supplement school work, for them it supplies the intangibles by which they live, it helps them find their own way to the knowledge, the riches which they instinctively seek.

The libraries of Elizabeth, his native city, were such a haven for Devlin himself back in his boyhood days. He is convinced that the endless hours he spent in the library, the exposure he had there to the sweep of knowledge, the artistry of

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

Ninth In A Series
HOLLAND

"Five Flies" is not an annoying thought when you are in Amsterdam, but wild as it may sound, a tempting one! That is the name of a very famous restaurant and it has been said that for a real Dutch treat you must not only go to Holland — you must go to Amsterdam and eat at the Five Flies.

Amsterdam is all bicycles and canals, or so it seems. Of course there are many cars 729,651 of them to be exact, but the bikes are as dense as in Copenhagen, which is dense. There are 12 million people and three to four million bicycles. When you learn, however, that the average annual income is estimated at about 7,000 guilders or about $2,000 and that the price of a Volkswagen for instance, is about $1,800, and that gas per litre comes out to about 50 cents per gallon, you begin to see why the bicycles are popular.

Besides those undeniably good reasons, there is also the nice fact that the terrain caters completely to the cyclist. There is one hill in all of Amsterdam if it can qualify as a hill. A "rise" would be more like it. As far as I could see, it was the only hill in all of the land as well. Anyway, while the cyclists may have an easy time of it, even this mound was almost too much for the motor coach which was carrying our National Newspaper Association Study Mission Group to the Rijksmuseum, an art museum in Amsterdam, and then to the Hague. It huffed and puffed over it as though it were meeting an honest-to-goodness mountain head on.

Once we made it, though, we chugged out to the country and to The Hague, about 40 miles from Amsterdam, where we attended a meeting at the United States Embassy and the Press Club. Some of our members were interviewed by Philip Wymore of Radio Nederland for broadcast in Europe, and among the subjects Mr. Wymore was eager over were the Los Angeles riots, the Indian lineage of one of our members and our opinions of the Netherlands — to which we had just arrived the night before from London.

equal to the entire state of New Jersey!

One-third of the existing land is below sea-level and when you are in Holland you look UP to the sea.

Much of the land has been reclaimed from the North Sea and the Zuider Zee which is an arm of the North Sea. So much has been reclaimed from the Zuider Zee that what water is left is now sweet water. An estimated 500,000 acres is the total amount of land expected to be gained from this body of water when it is completely drained.

There is no salt water lying around in Holland as one might suspect. The land is reclaimed, not by fill, but by draining. This is the job of the windmill — to pull out the water from the saturated land and drain it off, via canals to the sea. Once there were 20,000 windmills, but today there are only a scant 1,400. Some are still used, but most are left for the tourist's benefit or other farming power. The draining job is now done by electric pumping stations. Ah progress.

The constant nightmare of every Dutchman still, is the fear of floods. When storms pile the waves high along the coast, there is always the danger of the water backing up in the canals and spilling over the dikes, or even washing them away. As one Dutchman said, they are "stiff worried."

AN INTERESTING STORY about the windmills is that during the war when Holland was occupied by the Nazis, Dutchmen used to escape the country by signals from the arms of the windmills. If the arms were left in an "X" position, or straight up in a cross "—" position, it meant "danger" for one and "all clear" for the other. Many men escaped this way much to the puzzlement and annoyance of the Nazis.

Another war story is told and concerns the town of Scheveningen, a seaside resort near The Hague. In the English spelling, it looks easy enough to pronounce but in the Dutch pronunciation it apparently definitely is not, and no German can ever pronounce it correctly. If a man was suspected of being a Nazi spy, therefore he was asked to say "Scheveningen", and there was just no shenanigans about Scheveningen. He either said it right or he got shot.

THERE IS A SAYING in the Netherlands that "God made the world but the Dutch made Holland." And it certainly seems to be true. With great fortitude the Dutch etched a great part of their land from the sea and even the "scenery" in those areas is therefore man-made. It also seems to be a truth that they made healthy land, for out of 12 million people, two-and-a-half million are over 65 and the life expectancy in Holland is 74.

But, if the Dutch had built no dikes, half of Holland would be underwater and that would be the ages, helped him find his own path to self-expression.

 Devlin's voice quickens when he speaks of the type of library he envisions.
 "It will express us as a community," he says, "it must be a warm, receptive place, functional yet welcoming."

THE COOL, detached lines of functional, modern architecture do not fit Devlin's concept of the shape a borough library should take. He envisions a building designed with the same degree of creativity as the books which it will house, as meaningful as music, as universally communicative as the work of an artist.

 Art and writings are more than an avocation for Devlin and his wife, Wende. They are a way of life. Both of them are portrait painters of note. Their work in other areas has gained wide recognition. They have combined as artists and writers in creating children's books, books they first test on their own children. Famous Organist To Give Concert At Regional High Eddie Layton, world-famous organist, will present a concert next Monday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. Layton, who can be heard on Columbia records and seen coast-to-coast on NBC-TV, will perform on the new organ recently installed in the regional school. He has just completed a widely acclaimed European tour.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the high school office in advance. They will also be sold at the door Monday night. Students will be admitted at half-rate.

The new organ is one of three recently purchased by the Union County Regional High School District. No. 1 for use in the three regional high schools. The new instrument will be used for assembly music, to accompany concerts by students and for local groups using the school auditorium.

District officials hope in the near future to make organ lessons available to interested students. The organ will then be used for their practice sessions. Money for the organs was raised by student concerts, contributions from community organizations and by funds supplied by the Board of Education.

 would be well above average. He based this conclusion in part on the fact that 90 percent of graduates of Governor Livingston High School who go on to college in comparison to the state average of 36.5 percent. Mountainside residents also have a higher median family income and have completed more years of schooling, 12.5 years, than the 10.6 completed by the average resident of the state. Median income in the community, according to 1960 figures, is $11,270 against a $6,786 average for the state, the report reveals.
 All these factors tend to increase use of a library, he indicated.

 This is not the first time that tragedy has struck the Clark home. About a year ago Linda's father underwent severe and critical surgery, Rice reports.
 "They (Mr. and Mrs. Clark) have an awful burden to bear," Rice said. "That's why we're asking now for help. We can't make Linda well but we can, by collecting funds, help supply the care that may help her recover and ease the financial burden for her parents."

The Deerfield expansion would also allow the board to expand its offerings to the Middle School students through the addition of a foreign language program and other enriching courses offered in other communities at those grade levels.

The physical expansion here would include ten classrooms, a shop, a home economics room and a cafeteria.
 The expansion at Beechwood would include a kindergarten, six classrooms and a large group instruction room. The library would be enlarged to accommodate storage and work space.

In other action, the Board granted a request from the Borough Council for permission to build a shelter at the bus stop in front of Echobrook School.

It also approved a request submitted by Bernard Seligman, a board member, to support officially the enactments of laws setting penalties for dispensing unsigned material in connection with any Board of Education election. The board president, Jack Hildebrand, explained that there is presently a law on the books prohibiting the distribution of any such unsigned material but it does not set any penalty.

New Survey Planned By AAA On Sales Tax Vs. Income Tax

A state sales tax rather than an income tax was overwhelmingly favored last year by motorists of the New Jersey Auto Club (AAA), "but we're taking another poll this month in view of renewed interest in the tax question," F. Kenneth Schultze, general manager of the Auto Club, reported this week.

The previous poll was not published because the Club wanted it for its own edification in the event a new tax on the motorist was proposed, said Schultze. Of 648 AAA members who participated in the poll, which asked what tax would be preferred "if one were necessary," 563 voted for a sales tax, and 46 for an income tax. There were 31 votes for neither tax—despite the phrasing of the question—and eight for a combination tax. Schultze said that the recent gubernatorial campaign and the governor's renewed drive for a broad-based tax prompted the new poll. It is being conducted through the AAA Club's monthly magazine, "The Autoist," which reaches members in Essex, Union, and Morris Counties. "We will make results of the new poll public in the interest of showing which tax motorists prefer," Schultze declared. Schultze said that comments written on the replies to last year's poll cited these reasons for preferring a sales tax:

1. Out-of-staters enjoy the use of our highways and recreational facilities but do not share the state burden. Yet nearly every state New Jerseyans visit has a sales tax. (An average of 796,000 vehicles cross in and out of New Jersey daily according to the State Highway Department. The Auto Club estimates that 300,000 to 400,000 are out-of-state.)
2. An income tax has too many loopholes through which some individuals might escape.
3. A "pay-as-you-go" sales tax in pennies is not felt as much as a larger bite out of one's salary.
4. A sales tax would eliminate basic necessities of life from taxation such as food, medicine and clothing.
5. Administrative costs of an income tax would siphon off monies that could be spent for roads and bridges, local school aid and other items.

New Jersey Auto Club, 1 Hanover rd., Florham Park. He stated that information from the new poll would be brought to the attention of the AAA Club's board of trustees "if and when we decide to go on record favoring one or the other tax, providing additional taxes are necessary."

Firms Awarded Prime Contracts

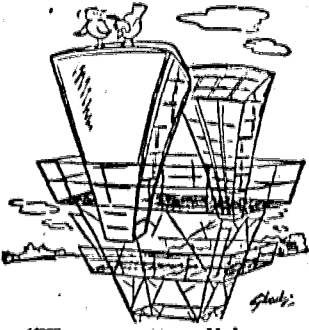

Union and Essex County firms were among 53 small businesses in northern New Jersey which were awarded prime government contracts in October, according to an announcement made this week.

Andrew P. Lynch, Newark Regional director for the Small Business Administration, said these firms include: American Abrasive Metals Co., 460 Coit st., Irvington; Atlas Paint & Varnish Co., 32-50 Buffington ave., Irvington; A.K. Stamping Co., Inc., 1159 Rt. 22, Mountainside; and Lehigh Precision Manufacturing Co., Inc., 725 Lehigh ave., Union.

He urged small firms to take advantage of the government contracts being awarded daily

Kings Ridge-at-Mendham Homes

Product Of Family Building Team

The Long Meadow ranch-an-a-half at Kings Ridge on Country Lane off Route 24, Mendham borough. Model sells for $32,500. Other homes from $28,000.

The rolling countryside off Route 24 in Morris County, within walking distance of quaint Mendham Borough, is the site of Kings Ridge-at-Mendham. The tract which will ultimately have 181 homes, is the creation of the Spagna brothers — Al, Bob and Lou, and is the fruition of two generations of building experience.

"From the selection of the land to the decorating of the models, everything has been personally supervised", says Al Spagna. "The homes at Kings Ridge reflect the quality image that comes from a family building organization."

The brothers function as a team. Al is in charge of land acquisition and working with the municipality. Bob Spagna is in charge of construction and Lou Spagna is responsible for sales. "We feel the public likes to deal directly with the builder, if possible", he says. "The sale of each individual home is a matter of personal concern for all of us".

Mendham is a town steeped in colonial tradition. The surrounding country still maintains much of the natural beauty that prevailed in pre-revolutionary days when Route 24 was more picturesquely called "King Highway". The flavor of this bygone era still predominates in Mendham Borough and is recaptured in the styling at Kings Ridge. The homes are as authentically colonial as the land on which they are set.

Four models of different design concepts are offered by the Spagna brothers. The Tamworth, a split-entry colonial design; the Windham, a three-level colonial; the Long Meadow, a ranch-and-a-half; and the Wedgewood, traditional two story model. Fireplaces are included in the latter three models. The homes are priced from $28,000 and are built on one-half to full acre sites.

Kings Ridge enjoys city water and city sewers. The tract is six miles from Morristown and quick transportation to Newark and New York via rail, bus and highway. Near the community are schools, houses of worship, the Mendham Village shopping center and a 22-acre heavily wooded park.

ORMONT THEATER HOLDS 'IPRESS' FOR SIXTH WEEK

Len Deighton, author of "The Ipress File," which was adapted to the screen and is currently in its sixth week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, also wrote the current best-seller, "Funeral in Berlin." Deighton insists that he has no ambition to write "serious" novels. "Writing thrillers," he says, "is quite difficult enough." Each book, he indicates, takes six or eight drafts and a year of continuous work.

He founded Folklore Research Films, organized the Weavers to the tune of "Goodnight, Irene," and has by

This Sunday's Lesson Sermon: "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be presented in Christian Science churches this Sunday.
A major theme will be, the ultimate supremacy of the spiritual laws through which God's will and government of the universe is expressed. The Golden Text is from I Chronicles (16: 31): "Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; and let men say among the nations, The Lord reigneth."
In addition to selected passages from the Bible on this topic, there will be readings from the Christian Science textbook. Among them will be these lines: "Suns and planets, teach grand lessons. The stars make night beautiful, and the leaflet turns naturally towards the light. In the order of Science, in which the Principle is above what it reflects, all is one grand concord" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 240).

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

What you keep on your pantry shelves will help determine what is a quick and easy dessert for you.

Keeping a cake mix, some prepared biscuit mix, rice, tapioca, maybe graham crackers, and some canned fruit, as well as marshmallows, dates, raisins and apples, will make possible a wide variety of desserts without a special trip to the store. Don't overlook dessert pancakes. If some of these supplies are bought when specials are offered, money as well as time can be saved.

Mandarin orange slices and coconut, both in cans, keep for months if unopened. Buy them when you see them and be ready to serve orange coconut ambrosia at the drop of a hat.

In the frozen food department, most families like to include ice cream. With plain vanilla on hand, some cookies or cake and a few sauces, you have the makings of an unlimited number of interesting desserts. When you are baking, it's smart to put away a plain loaf cake in the freezer as the basis for an elegant ice cream sandwich dessert made in the twinkling of an eye.

Elegant Puddings
With apples, bread crumbs and raisins, a Brown Betty can be prepared in five minutes and popped into the oven with whatever is cooking with no more attention before serving. An apple crisp takes no more time; it uses flour or oatmeal instead of bread.

Old-fashioned bread pudding takes a bit longer, or because the egg has to be beaten and the oven must be kept low so the cooking time is 10 minutes longer. A marshmallow topping adds appeal. But boiling water, brown sugar, flour and butter makes a scrumptious sauce to lift bread pudding out of the ordinary.

Canned pineapple or apples, blueberries, loganberries or apricots suggest wonderful top stove fruit pot pie—with prepared biscuit mix, sweetened slightly, stir up a quick batter and drop small dumplings into the hot fruit in a pan you can cover tightly. Set your timer for 12 minutes or so according to size of dumplings. Serve warm surrounded in the slightly thickened fruit sauce.

Corn starch may also be used to make quick pudding with a number of different canned fruits. This is known as Fruit Plummary. But tapioca is even quicker. Apples, dates, apricots or frozen juice make the best quick and easy fruit flavored tapiocas.

Ice Cream Always Popular
You can make ice cream sandwiches with brownie squares, large sugar or oatmeal cookies, waffles or toasted poundcake slices.

Europeans serve whipped cream with canned fruit. Americans are more likely to serve ice cream with a fruit sauce.

Cranberry relish topping turns ice cream into a regal dish. The flavor combination is festive, too.

Tutti Frutti Dessert
Have you ever served mincemeal and ice cream together? A tasty combination is to mix them with a little grated orange peel and use as a filling for a loaf cake that has been sliced lengthwise. Wrap the cake well and freeze for a special holiday dessert. To serve, frost cake with whipped cream and decorate with candied fruits and peels.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

Why do men and women sometimes marry a mate many, many years their senior? For instance, why does a girl like Patty Duke, 18, marry a man 36 . . . a man who is a few years short of being the age of a father to her? Is it the poor excuse that he has money? I have seen right here in Sacramento a man, 45 to 50 years old, with a wife who appears to be no more than 25—and she is the mother of his one year old child. Where is the excess money here for they live in a home that they can barely hold on to. The psychologist would say here that love knows no age. Impossible! How could a girl or guy love anything so old (older than themselves, I mean). I would be repulsed at making love to a woman 45 to 50 and so would other guys I have asked. Girls my age and older also claim that they would be repulsed by a man that age as a husband.

Could you answer this question for me, satisfactorily, believably and without resorting to the excuse that love is blind and stupid.

I wish to thank you very sincerely for your time and effort.
Mr. C. C. K.

Dear Mr. C. C. K.
You have failed to see beneath the surface of one's physical appearance. You have failed to see the inner man! There is a personality . . . and character within each person capable of breaking down the "age" barrier which you seem to find repulsive.

I disagree with you. If this love brings happiness, I'm for it . . . Irrespective of age or money. So what would repulse you may not repulse others. It's like a painting. Some see depth, quality and beauty; while others see only paint.

Love IS in the eyes of the beholder!

Dear Amy:
I am twenty-two years old and have been legally separated from my husband for one year. We had been married three years when he picked up and left me and his two infant sons. It wasn't the first time this had happened as there were fights where I ended up with black eyes, bloody nose and chipped teeth.

One night while I was visiting relatives, he even had a girl in our house. He took money from his pay for his good times while I and the children went hungry and the bills piled up.

Now he refuses to support the children and I am on relief. He doesn't even want visiting rights. My problem is I want a divorce and being on relief I cannot afford a lawyer. I went to the Legal Aid Society but they told me that they don't deal with that sort of problem. My husband won't contest a divorce and he has no grounds to file himself.

I don't date because I feel I have no right. And I was told that if I do, his parents will try and prove me an unfit mother and take my children from me.

Can you advise me what to do? Troubled

Dear Troubled:
Your husband cannot refuse to support you and his children. Take legal measures!

When your sons are old enough to be left with competent help, secure a job and save for your divorce. And don't worry about your husband's parents taking the children from you. From what you have told me, they don't have a legal leg to stand on.

STURDY TOYS
When a small child throws a toy on the floor and tramples it, adults may say he's bad. But often, the child believes that way because his toy won't work, or it falls apart.

A child's feelings are intense and toys that don't work disappoint him greatly.

A child can't be expected to be philosophical about toys that fall apart. His playthings need to be durable because he gives toys hard use. Also, sturdy toys are safer.

When the wheels fall off the auto, a youngster may put them in his mouth.

If the wheels are small, the child may swallow them. Even when the wheels are too large to swallow, they may be sharp and cut his mouth.

If not that, the finish on the wheels may be poisonous.

When buying toys for children, select a sturdy toy and be sure it does what it's supposed to do. Guard against removable parts small enough to swallow and sharp edges.

For And About Teenagers

THE ONLY WAY I CAN TALK TO HER IS BY WRITING NOTES.

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am sixteen and am very bashful. What can I do about it? I like a girl who is about my age. But when I see her in school, I freeze up and can't talk. One day we were walking down the hall at the same time. I said 'hi' to her, but was unable to say anything else all the way down the hall. The only way I can 'talk' to her is by writing notes. We did this all last year. How can I learn to talk to her and not be so self-conscious? Please help me."

OUR REPLY: The only way you can learn to "talk" to a girl is by talking. Relax. She isn't going to do anything except talk back to you — unless she, too, is bashful. And, this may well be the case.

Certainly you can find a subject to talk about — how the school is faring in sports, whatever may be making news locally or on the national scene, even the weather. If you know of some common interest you both have, a hobby or some school activity, you have a natural topic for conversation. Don't worry about what you are going to say. Relax, be yourself, and you'll have no problem.

WARNING

Christmas Crepe Paper and New Year's Confetti Can Permanently Stain Rugs and Carpets!

Every year after the holidays we and other professional rug cleaners receive calls to remove dye stains caused by wet Christmas paper. Unfortunately these stains are almost always indelible.

Party papers are colored with a wide range of cheap dyes. When the paper becomes wet, the dyes run badly. The dyes will transform permanently to textiles. If crepe paper and confetti get wet accidentally, keep them off rugs and carpets. First-aid action is necessary. Mix a teaspoonful of neutral soapless detergent (such as those widely advertised for safe washing of fine fabrics) in one-half pint of lukewarm water.

Apply the detergent solution directly to the stain a few drops at a time. Use an eye dropper. Blot the stain area with a clean, white, unstarched cloth or cleansing tissue. Do not rub vigorously — blot. Begin at outer edge of stain and work in. Repeat if necessary.

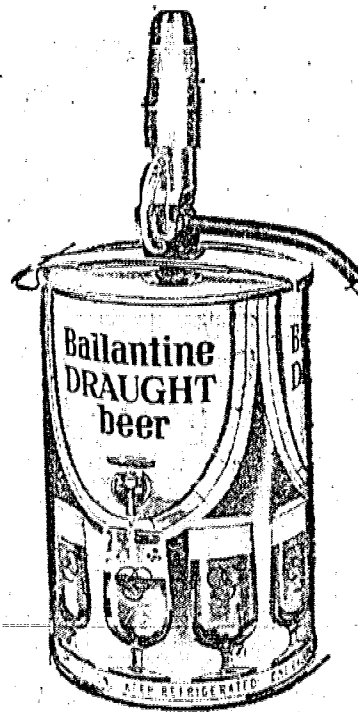

Finish by absorbing any remaining moisture with a clean, damp cloth. Complete absorption is important. Poor drying may cause a water stain. Place fresh unstarched towels or cleansing tissue on the slightly damp area. Weight this blotter down and leave in place till the spot is thoroughly dry. Drying may be helped too, by blowing air over the damp area with a fan, vacuum or hair dryer.
