Board Approves School Budget At Public Hearing

$1,062,434.50 Budget For '66-67 Year Goes To Voters On Feb. 8

The Board of Education gave unanimous final approval to its budget of $1,062,434.50 for the 1966-67 school year at the public hearing held last week in Deerfield School. The budget, which is up 4.9% over the current year, will go to the public for approval at the annual school election on Feb. 8.

About 35 people attended the hearing during which Robert Britton, chairman of the board's finance department, presented a detailed breakdown of the budget figures. Britton used an overhead slide to enlarge and demonstrate the various items. The finance chairman pointed out that although increases totaled over $60,000, most of which represents increases in salaries, paring in other areas reduced the increase to $49,453.

$17 Increase
Jack Hildebrand, president of the board, explained that the school budget could mean a maximum increase of $17 in taxes to the owner of a home worth $30,000. This figure, Hildebrand pointed out, stands a good chance of being reduced since utilities in the borough have increased during the past year. (It was reported at last week's meeting of the Borough Council that a total of 138 building permits for construction valued at $1,567,255 were issued during 1965.)

The cost of transporting children to school was questioned by several members of the audience. A total of $26,350 is allowed for that purpose in the 1966-67 budget, an increase of $4,050. Another bus is needed (Continued on Page 6)

Daylight Break-Ins, Thefts Under Police Investigation

Mountainside police are investigating two housebreaks and thefts that occurred on the same afternoon last week. They are also investigating a third break-in in which no thefts have been reported, according to Det. Sgt. James Herrick.

PRECIOUS PRESSED GLASS: Mrs. Charles Hahn Jr. of 1541 Coles ave., Mountainside, looks over items from her collection of pressed glass now on display in the Westfield office of Barrett and Crain, realtors. Several of the items came from the Woodward Inn, near Bucknell, Pa., which Mrs. Hahn's aunt now owns. A painting of the inn, executed by Mrs. Hahn's mother, is shown in the rear.

On the afternoon of Jan. 17 the homes of Charles Hahn Jr., of 1541 Coles ave., and J. J. Lorber of 351 Racoon Hollow were forcibly entered and a variety of items stolen. The home of C. K. Coles of 1433 Coles ave. was entered one day during the previous week but nothing was reported stolen, according to police.

The value of items stolen from the Hahn residence has not yet been determined, the police said, but the theft included jewelry, silver, TV sets, radios and several smaller household appliances. The entry occurred sometime in the afternoon while Mrs. Hahn was away from the house for about two hours. Entry was made through the rear door.

Entry to the Lorber home was gained through the kitchen door that leads to the garage while Mrs. Lorber, a school guard at Our Lady of Lourdes, was out on duty. Mrs. Lorber left the house for the noon meal and did not return, except for a brief stop, before reporting for duty at school closing time.

Two portable TV sets and $500 in cash were taken from the Lorber home. The money was in coins and small denominations of bills saved by Lorber over a period of time.

Neither house was ransacked during the thefts, the intruders worked neatly and selectively. Both women were unaware of the robberies until they realized the stolen items were missing. The thieves left the houses undisturbed and as neat as they found them.

According to Sgt. Herrick, similar robberies have been plaguing neighboring communities. Sgt. Herrick was commended at the January meeting of the Borough Council for recovery of diamonds valued at $1,800 which were stolen from Col. and Mrs. Jacob Eisen of 1153 Corinne ter. on Dec. 1. Herrick recovered the jewels from a pawn shop in New York City after questioning a maid who had worked in the Eisen home for one day.

The maid, Mary Ruth Christmas of Newark, was arrested on a larceny charge. She was ordered for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Jacob Bauer at a special hearing held Dec. 3. She is out on $1,000 bail, Sgt. Herrick reported.

Other pieces in the Hahn collection have been picked up in one-of-the-way shops and Pennsylvania farm houses. Several have been given to her by friends who found the treasured old glassware in their travels. The window display includes only representative items of her acquisitions.

Mrs. Smith started collecting pressed glass in 1934. At the suggestion of Mrs. Ruth Veib Lee, (Continued on Page 3)

Regional Budget Goes To Voters
Mountainside's voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to approve a budget of $3,582,913 for School District 1 of Union County Regional High School. Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, the high school which most borough children attend, is one of three regional high schools included in the district.

Polling place for all five districts in the borough will be in Deerfield School on Central ave. Hours will be from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The regional budget represents $3,423,766 in current expenses and $160,147 in capital outlay. The current expense figure is up $383,862 over the current year. Capital outlay increase is $32,482.

Music Association Plans Try-Outs To Pick Annual Variety Show Cast
Cast rehearsal and tryouts are scheduled Feb. 4 by the Mountainside Music Association for the April production of its annual variety show. The session will open at 8 p.m. in Echobrook School. Members are asked to note the change in location for this rehearsal session from Deerfield to Echobrook School.

New residents of the community are urged to join MMA members and other residents at the general casting session. Members of the chorus and the dance line will be picked. Aden Lewis, coordinator of music in Mountainside schools, and Mrs. Frederick Wilhelms Jr. are directing the show which has been named "My Kind of Town." It will be presented April 1 and 2 in Deerfield School. Proceeds from the production, as in other years, will go toward enriching the program of the music department in the borough schools and for other cultural efforts sponsored by the MMA.

Community Fund Reaches $17,937, Well Over Goal

Mountainside's Community Fund Drive soared to $17,937, well over its goal of $15,700, according to final figures released this week by the fund committee.

John Keenan, president of the drive, attributed the success of the annual campaign to the generosity of residents and of the industrial community and to the hard work of the scores of volunteers who assisted in the drive.

Keenan commended the representatives of industry in the community and described their support as "outstanding and tremendous."

He also praised the area directors, Mrs. T. C. Ruberti, William Van Blarcom, Rollin Schiefelbusch, George Wiech, John Hechtel and Walter Degenhardt, the block captains and their assistants.

"This combined effort of everyone who participated in the drive by donating money, time, effort and even good will should make us all have a warm feeling about our town," the drive spokesman stated.

Agencies supported by the drive are the Mountainside Rescue Squad, the Watchung Area Boy Scout Council, the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, the Union County Psychiatric Clinic and the Youth and Family Counseling Service.

Harold Nelson Jr., who headed the 1964 drive, served as co-chairman in 1965. Mrs. Gloria Johnson handled publicity and Degenhardt directed collections from business and industry.

Beebe Enrolled In USAF School

The Air Force son of a Mountainside couple has entered the Air University's Squadron Officer School, Maxwell AFB, Ala.

First Lieutenant Dennis E. Beebe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Beebe of 294 Indian trail, Mountainside, will receive 14 weeks of instruction at the senior USAF professional school.

The school provides training in communicative skills, leadership, national power and international relations, duties, and responsibilities of the command-staff team, and aerospace doctrine and employment.

The lieutenant was previously assigned as a project officer at Los Angeles Air Force Station, Calif.

Lieutenant Beebe is a graduate of Selon Hall Preparatory School, South Orange. He received his B.S. degree in mechanical engineering from Newark College of Engineering, where he was commissioned upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program. He earned an M.S. degree at the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson AFB.

Hospital's Coronary Unit Saves Fire Chief's Life

Rescue in reverse—after saving the lives of many others, the fire of Mountainside's Volunteer Fire Chief, Henry E. Porter of 297 Timberline rd., was dramatically saved at Overlook Hospital last week.

Porter had been brought to Overlook at 2:30 a.m. Jan. 8, with a suspected coronary. Since Overlook's new intensive coronary care unit was fully occupied, Porter was placed in the one vacant room remaining in the hospital.

His initial electrocardiogram had read normal, according to his physician, Dr. Stuart Baron of 339 Short rd., Mountainside. But all medical precautions were taken nevertheless—oxygen, intravenous, tests and medications, rest and absolute quiet.

At exactly 4:30 a.m., Mrs. Frances McEwan, L. P. N., was asked to check on Porter. She entered his room to find the patient turning blue—obviously going into the throes of cardiac arrest, the hospital said.

"A lucky moment," commented his doctor. "A patient in cardiac arrest has only minutes to live if he doesn't get immediate medical help. It was a good thing the intravenous had been started, as a precaution too, because one of the first dangers is collapse of the blood vessels when the heart stops pumping."

The night duty nurse, Mrs. Dora Haupt, R. N., of 216 Evergreen ct., Mountainside and, coincidentally, a neighbor of Porter's had been trained on Overlook's new Coronary Care Unit. She was well versed in its life-saving procedures. She knew that every second was vital; that she had just four minutes to save his life before his heart flickered out.

Instantly she put in the emergency code for "Dr. Pace-maker - Code Blue" and knew that life-saving equipment was on its way from the Coronary Care Unit on another floor.

Immediately she called for the Emergency Crash Cart which is always in readiness on every patient floor in the hospital, and began external cardiac massage. Next resuscitation was begun and an airway established to keep oxygen going into the patient's lungs.

Linda Clark is showing improvement.
A spokesman for Overlook Hospital, where the 10-year-old Mountainside child has been confined since last October, said this week that Linda has regained her speech and some movement in her hands and feet. Her morale has also improved, the spokesman said. And she is getting daily school lessons in her bed in the pediatric ward.

A spokesman for Overlook Hospital, where the 10-year-old Mountainside child has been confined since last October, said this week that Linda has regained her speech and some movement in her hands and feet. Her morale has also improved, the spokesman said. And she is getting daily school lessons in her bed in the pediatric ward.

Miss Marianne Beckers, a member of the faculty of Mountainside Schools, is tutoring Linda for one hour each school morning.

"The news gave added impetus also to the fund drive established last month to help Linda's parents meet hospital and medical expenses.

Boy Scout Troop 76, sponsored by the Mountainside Kiwanis Club, this week inaugurated a borough-wide drive to help boost the Linda Clark Fund.

Urging residents to "save your papers for Linda," the troop members announced they will conduct a street-by-street collection of newspapers on the afternoon of Sunday, March 6. All proceeds will be contributed to the Clark Fund.

The Scouts ask all residents to save their newspapers, magazines and cardboard for the next few weeks and to place them in separate stacks at their curbs on March 6. The collection will begin at 12:30 p.m.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the troop's Life Scouts, Michael Hart, AD 3-4036; Glen Warkala, AD 2-4054, or Jeff Williams, AD 2-0260.

All the teenagers of the town will have an opportunity to help Linda and to have fun at the same time on Feb. 11 when the Recreation Commission will sponsor a Valentine dance in the gymnasium of Deerfield School for the benefit of the fund.

Music for dancing will be supplied by "The Villagers," a quintet of Mountainside boys, all of whom attend Governor Livingston Regional High School. The musicians, Craig Marks, Dennis Ryan, Al Rodas, Mack Ramsey and Rick Hutchison, are donating their talents.

ECHO PROFILE — Grant Lennox

Grant Lennox has the ruddy, weather-beaten look of a man who spends a lot of his time outdoors. A civil engineer and land surveyor, he now heads the engineering firm, Arthur Lennox and Son, which was founded by his father in 1928. However he is a "working" president. When a job is going on he's out in the field, not exercising remote control from behind a polished desk. He has been active in the family firm since 1946 when he returned from active service with the Marine Corps.

It was principally his long professional experience which prompted him to enter the race for a seat on Mountainside's Board of Education.

"Engineering construction is my field," he says with what seems to be a characteristic directness of speech, "particularly school construction. Since plans for school expansions have been announced, I feel that I could be of particular assistance to the board at this time."

His second reason for becoming a candidate is his interest in the education of young people. He and his wife, the former Elizabeth "Betty" Foster of Plainfield, N.H., have three children, Arthur, now a freshman at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Dean C., an eighth grader in Deerfield School, and Barbara, a sixth grader in Deerfield.

A native of Linden, Lennox lived in Roselle Park for several years, moving to Springfield, where his parents still live, when he was 14 years old. A graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, he collected his engineering degree from Rensselaer in 1944. Like many college students in those war years, he enlisted in the service, the Marine Corps during his undergraduate years. Under

Judge Bauer Sends Pair To County Jail

Two Jersey City residents were sentenced to 60 days each by Mountainside Magistrate Jacob Bauer after they failed to pay fines levied against them in the municipal court last week. Their licenses were also revoked for two years each.

Oletha Oakley of Jersey City was sentenced to 60 days for allowing Marion Carter, also of Jersey City, to operate her car while under the influence of liquor and an additional ten days for allowing an unlicensed driver, Carter, to drive her car. Carter drew the same sentence, 60 days for drunken driving, and 16 days for driving without a license.

John Brown of Plainfield was fined $105 for carrying a concealed handgun on a street 520 feet from his home and $15 for failing to notify the Motor Vehicle Bureau of a change in address. Brown's car was involved in an accident and during the investigation, the police found the pistol also under the front seat.

Others fined during the same court session are: H. S. Concession Inc., Springfield, no inspection, $15; Alexander Edmonds Jr., Somerville, improper display of name and address on commercial vehicle, $15, and no inspection, $25; Morris Fisher, Maplewood, no license in possession, $15, and no inspection, $15; Steven Siper, Summit, no inspection, $15.

Also, Robert Stephenson, Montclair, no registration in possession, $15; Paul Winget, 1227 Cedar ave., Mountainside, careless driving, $18; Joseph Augustino, East Orange, no rear lights, $15; John Williams, Jersey City, speeding, $15; and $10 contempt of court; Daniel Gulach, Irvington, speeding; Frank Cummings, Edison, no inspection, $15, and $5 contempt of court.

Transistor Story Told To Students

The history and uses of the transistor were outlined recently for physics classes at Governor Livingston Regional High School by Howard Evans of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. Arrangements for the program were made by Jan Lucas, physics teacher at the Berkeley Heights school.

In a lecture-demonstration entitled, "The New Science of Semi-Conductors", Evans pointed out that the transistor was developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories technicians working in the field of solid state physics. This is part of a continuing program to help students better understand the latest scientific development and research, according to Lucas.

Today, the transistor is filling a variety of uses in the electronics business; in the telephone field, its applications are especially important, Evans said.

The modern-day transistor, heart of many radio and TV sets was developed after many years of research in the semi-conductor field, Evans explained. A Bell Labs scientist in early 1940 was experimenting with the electrical properties of semi-conductors when he came across some unusual characteristics in the flow of the current.

World War II interrupted the research but it was resumed immediately after the war was over. In June, 1948, the transistor was born. With it, a whole new industry came into being, Evans stated.

New IBM System To Admit Students

The Union County Technical Institute in Mountainside has decided to use an IBM Programmer Aptitude Test to decide upon whether to admit students, it was announced this week.

George H. Baxel, superintendent, said that a student, Robert Gerdes of Elizabeth, has worked out a program for selecting from applications for enrollment. Baxel said applications amount to three times the number the institute is capable of accommodating.

In the past, admissions have been made according to intelligence quotients and high school standing.

The trip will cost approximately $10 each for those who have their own ski equipment. Ski equipment will be provided by Big Bear to those desiring it for an additional two dollars.

The tickets will cover the bus ride to the ski resort, the use of Big Bear's facilities and a ski lesson.

Those who want to rent the ski equipment should supply their shoe size at registration time.

Registrations will be accepted on a first come-first served basis, Ditzel stated. One bus will hold 45 people; additional buses will be hired if the registration warrants it.

LUTHERANS CALL PASTOR TO SERVE AT HOLY CROSS

The Rev. Kenneth J. Stumpf has accepted a call extended to him to become pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield. This announcement was made by Henry Prodenberger, 355 Cherry Hill rd., Mountainside, president of the congregation, and John Demman, 240 Old Tote rd., Mountainside, chairman of the call committee.

Pastor Stumpf was graduated from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis in 1963 and has served as a campus pastor at Iowa State University and as an assistant pastor at Memorial Lutheran Church in Ames, Iowa. This congregation serves approximately 680 Lutheran students at the Iowa State University campus in Ames. Pastor Stumpf plans to begin his ministry in the Springfield area in February.

Firm Asks Approval Of Trailer As Office

A request from Hall and Fubs Inc. to use a trailer as temporary office quarters will be considered by Mountainside's Planning Board at next Monday night's meeting in Borough Hall.

The concern was burned out of its quarters in the same fire that destroyed the offices of the Board of Education and School Superintendent earlier this month.

Hall and Fubs are asking the board for permission to locate the trailer at 1420 Rt. 22, the site of the burned-out building, until the structure is repaired.

Other requests scheduled to be heard by the planners are one for a minor subdivision submitted by Alex. Hutchinson of 264 Creek Bed rd. and an addition to Wislender's Steak House on Rt. 22.

Bliwise Remains League Leader

Bliwise Liquors widened its lead in the Bow Women's Bowling League as it won two more games to bring its record to 41-18.

Provident Mutual took over second place with a 34-25 1/2 record as Jovitt Motors Dodge, now 34-26, dropped to third place.

Behind the three league leaders are Row Quality Meats, Cross County Realty, Kroyer's Crates, D. J. Hartnett & Co. and Union Woodworking Co. Inc.

Chapel's Committee Meets On Expansion

Ground-breaking for the addition to the sanctuary of Mountainside Union Chapel may take place about 10 months from now, the pastor, Rev. Robert B. Mignard, reported earlier this week. However, no final plans nor definite time table has been set up as yet, the pastor stated.

The building committee will meet next Tuesday night to review the needs of the congregation before expansion will be presented to the congregation for its approval before any further steps are taken, Mr. Mignard said.

The addition, according to plans announced last October, will double the seating capacity of the sanctuary of the chapel located on Rt. 22. Preliminary plans for the expansion were made some time before that but were held in abeyance because the chapel was at that time without a pastor. The Rev. Mignard assumed the pastorate early in the fall of last year.

The pastor, who has been serving as chairman pro-tem of the building committee, said he will ask Tuesday night that a lay member of the committee be named to that post. Others serving on the committee are Edward Benish, Jacob Beidler, Jules Bader, William Floster, John S. Esparza, Mrs. Gilbert Pittenger Sr. and James Rizzo.

The chapel is now in the process of redrafting its church constitution which was last revised in 1957. A committee has been meeting twice monthly since November to work on the project. According to the present schedule, the revised constitution will be presented to the church membership in April.

R. B. Foster is chairman of the constitution committee. Assisting in the revision are Mrs. Mary Jabanowsky, secretary, Harold Jensen, Reginald Ronco and the pastor.

Mountainside Brownie Troop 788 is donating $25 from its treasury to the Linda Clark Fund.

This troop devoted last month to making ornaments for a Christmas tree which they decorated and presented to the Children's Specialized Hospital.

Gets Certificate

Jacque Vincent of Mountainside has received a Senior Red Cross Lifesaving Certificate after completing 24 hours of instruction at the Summit YMCA. John Bennett of Berkeley Heights, Y. aquatic director, was instructor for the course.

The Highlander Band of Governor Livingston Regional High School will present its annual winter "pops" concert this Saturday evening at the regional school in Berkeley Heights.

Tickets for adults and students may be purchased in advance from Mrs. F. A. Missenheimer of 1366 Mohawk dr., Mountainside, or Mrs. Robert Graham, 12 Tip Top way, Berkeley Heights.

The 96 piece concert band, under the direction of Forrest Bartlett, will play selections from "Music Man," a medley of Jerome Kern melodies, an unusual arrangement for the flute section entitled "Samba for Flutes" by Eric Osterling, Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Cortage and Fanfare," Giovanni's "Chorale and Capriccio" and several lighter numbers, including "Lady of Spain" and "Nola."

ECHO PROFILE

 the Marine's wartime training program. He took part of his senior year at Cornell but his sheepskin came from the service.
 He went on active duty in 1947 and was assigned to the Pacific Theatre. He went through the long, agonizing battle that was Okinawa and was a member of the occupying force in China after V-J Day. He found that latter assignment a good one although he still talks with wonder in his voice of the "flat barren land" — "flat like a table" — that stretches back from China's coast line.

"YOU COULD LOOK in a straight line — about a hundred miles — from the ocean to the first mountain — there is nothing to break the view just that flat, bare land."

He came home in 1946 and shortly after he married his college sweetheart.

Lennox and Betty had met during his student days at Pembroke. She had switched there from Pembroke College, the women's division of Brown University, to take a junior engineering course sponsored by Curtiss-Wright Corp. to train people for work in their defense plants. A math major at Pembroke, Betty had been selected for the program because of her aptitude for figures.

In 1949 the Lennox family, which now included young Arthur, moved into their new home at 303 Garrett rd. The young couple built the house themselves.

"And I mean, we literally built it," Lennox states with a remembering sigh. "Betty and I did every bit of the carpentry and mason work. She worked right along with me — it took us about 14 months of weekends and spare time work to get it up — and, outside, plumbing and electrical work we did it all ourselves — every nail, every piece of wood, Betty and I put them in place."

HOWEVER, LENNOX IS quick to point out that such ambitious do-it-yourself projects were not unique in the borough at that time.

"Lots of people in our area built their own houses, there was nothing unusual about it. Their neighbors know-how helped Lennox out shortly after they moved in to their not-quite-finished home. Their garage was not yet up when Lennox, who had stayed in the Marine Corps Reserve after the war, learned that he was likely to be activated for the Korean Crisis. Several handy neighbors rallied round and in two weekends of work the garage was completed.

Lennox served 18 months during that period, stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif. His wife and baby accompanied him and their new house, still not completely finished inside, was left out for some months to a Marine buddy and his family who were stationed in this area for a time and again to a college chum who was transferred here by his firm from upstate New York.

STILL ACTIVE in the Reserve, Lennox now holds the rank of lieutenant colonel. He is the commanding officer of the Sixth Motor Transport Battalion, Port Newark, and spends one weekend a month in training and two weeks each summer on active duty.
 Since summer is his busiest season, Lennox finds it difficult to squeeze in any extra vacation time during the hot weather so the family usually manages to take a quick winter vacation in Florida. There they all enjoy one of their favorite sports, water skiing. The family spent the

New Year's holiday in New Hampshire, enjoying the winter sports.
 Boating is another hobby they all enjoy. They are now they plan to buy a larger one and have been discussing it for some time. And this time on its board they use for water skiing at their summer place in Lake Hopatcong.
 Lennox helped carry out a boating program for children at Lake Hopatcong and is now a fleet captain in the Yacht Club. Son Dean took first place in his class in a sailing race last summer.

ALWAYS INTERESTED in young people, Lennox served for six years as Commodore for Pack 157 of Community Presbyterian Church and worked with the Little League for three years. Last year as manager of a team.

A past president of the Rotary Club of Springfield, he has been a member of that organization for 16 years. He is active in the state and county chapters of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the Lead Surveyors Functional Section and is a member of several other professional organizations.

He worked with his father in the borough when he was serving on a part-time consultant basis, as the borough engineer. After his father retired in 1955, Lennox, acting as the family firm's representative, took over the duties in the borough which his father had handled since 1941. He held the post until a few years ago when Robert Roser was appointed full-time.

THE LENNOX FAMILY has outgrown its Cape Cod house and pretty soon they will move — but not very far, just next door. They are having a new house, a two-story colonial, built on an adjacent lot.
 Lennox and Betty are not building this one — there is not enough time. But they are both keeping a close eye on it and it is being built according to their design and ideas.
 "We'll be living in it a long time — and we know how we want it."

This beautiful pattern originated around 1860 and was made in the factory of Bryce Brothers in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Smith collection includes wineglasses, goblets, a covered butter dish, a covered compote, decanters, celery vases and small odd pieces.

State YAF Fights Any New Taxes

The New Jersey Young Americans For Freedom this week called for an all-out campaign against a state sales or income tax. The president, Dr. Peter E. Butler of Mountainside, challenged Gov. Richard E. Hughes to "cut the fat out of the present budget without preoccupying himself with how to cram more of his political henchmen onto the public payroll."

Butler charged that "slanted statistics, upside-down logic and half-truths" are used by Gov. Hughes and "his pro-tax lobby" to bolster claims that more taxes are needed to support education, roads and institutions in the state. Monies authorized in previous bond issues have not yet been used by the highway department or for the construction of state institutions, Butler claimed.

Clark Fund (Continued from Page 1) day of this week that a total of $10,660.90 has been donated since the fund was organized in mid-December.

A benefit dance for teenagers is scheduled tomorrow evening in Deerfield School to help swell the proceeds. Robert Wychoff, 16, of Westfield, originated the idea for the dance. Music will be provided, again for free, by "The Road Runners." Tickets are $1 for stags, and $1.50 per couple.

Ten-year-old Linda, a fifth grader at Echobrook School, has been in Overlook Hospital since Oct. 38, paralyzed from the neck down. She was struck in the forehead that day by a swing in the playground section of Echo Lake Park. The force of the blow snapped her head backward, fracturing two vertebrae in the back of her neck. She was in the intensive care unit at Overlook for five weeks and was moved, still in traction, to the pediatric section in mid-December.

The fund drive was launched about that time by municipal officials and borough residents to help defray hospital and medical costs. Police Chief Christian Fritz and James Debbie, proprietor of the Mountainside Deli, are co-chairmen. Patrolman Jerome Rice is in charge of publicity.

This year, New Jersey Bell's construction bill will be over $150,000,000.

Why?

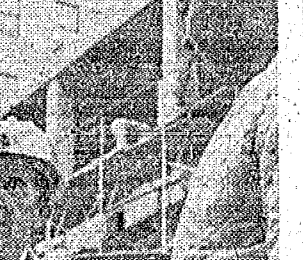

Just to keep ahead of New Jersey's amazing growth — that's the main reason. And we believe that future growth will be even more spectacular. Today's building program is to make sure that we will be ready for it.

We're pushing ahead with over 1,000 construction projects. In Landisville, for instance, we will break ground in April for a $100,000 central office. And this spring we will complete a new $2,000,000 switching center in Newark.

Our program will provide hundreds of new jobs inside and outside the company. What's more, Western Electric and Bell Laboratories as well as New Jersey Bell will be buying from over 3,300 local companies. It all adds up to a major contribution to our state's economy.

Of course, our building program depends on our earnings. A large part of each year's profits go into this building for the future. In addition, adequate earnings are essential to attract the new capital needed to do the job.

Our construction plans are big, and will probably grow bigger. But one thing becomes more apparent with every year I spend in the telephone business. The best of buildings and equipment are only tools. It's the telephone people who count. The high quality of your phone service depends on the New Jersey Bell men and women who do their job so well. After all — people serving people — that's what New Jersey Bell is all about.

Hospital's Coronary Unit Saves Fire Chief's Life

R.N. Overlook intern Dr. Joseph Domareki put electrodes on the heart, found it still beating but defibrillating (weak, quivering heartbeat) and without a second's loss applied the defibrillator. This is a relatively new instrument which shocks the heart back to its normal rhythm by means of a high voltage electrical shock applied externally to the chest. Fortunately it was in time. Porter's heart went back to normal rhythm and maintained its pace, the hospital said.

Appropriate drugs and medications were immediately given to stabilize the heart and blood pressure. As soon as possible Porter was transferred to Overlook's specialized Coronary Care Unit. Here, he was on a constant electronic monitor for the next five days, with all emergency equipment immediately "hand" and a specially trained team of nurses in constant attendance, every minute of the day and night. This electronic monitor signals a warning should the patient's heartbeat fluctuate in any way, instantly alerting the cardiac team into action.

Overlook's Coronary Care Unit will be doubled in size to a four-bed unit when the hospital's new $6,500,000 wing is completed, safeguarding more patients from the unexpected coronary attack like Porter's.

Today, looking hale and hearty, Fire Chief Porter bears little sign of the dramatic events of his first hospital night.

him, they are all a blur — he didn't even know what was happening.

Commenting on the care he received at Overlook, Porter said: "Simply wonderful. I can't say enough for the nurses and doctors — except for them and the grace of God, I wouldn't be here. In my 10 years with the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department I've jumped into action plenty of times — at a second's notice — I can really appreciate what they did."

"It takes something like this to make you realize how lucky we are to have such a fine hospital as Overlook. We ought to do all we can to help enlarge it so more patients like me can be served," the Fire Chief added.

Overlook was the first hospital in the area to pioneer with an Intensive Coronary Care Unit. As a result, the New Jersey State Department of Health selected Overlook to give coronary care courses to nurses from all over the state, so similar units could be set up in other hospitals.

In a survey made in the first six months, Overlook's unit has already shown decisive decrease in coronary mortality rates, mostly because heart irregularities like Porter's are discovered in time to use these new life-saving techniques effectively.

Everything Is Within Walking Distance
At Millington Heights Community

The "Chatham" model serves as display and sales office at Millington Heights. The Ranch-and-a-half model features three bedrooms and two full baths with expansion possible to five bedrooms and three baths.

New homes on acre-plus lots "in the country" yet within walking distance of a railroad station, a public and a parochial school, a shopping center and a lake recreation area are not too easy to find. But this fall order can be filled at Millington Heights, 54-home community in the Millington section of Passaic Township.

Situated on a hillside off Long Hill Road with a view of Morris County's Passaic River valley, Millington Heights features five different models from $26,990. The new Interstate Route 78 is now being built a few miles south of the tract which will make commuting possible by car to Newark in twenty minutes. Nearby is the Stirling station of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad. The John F. Kennedy Lake swimming and recreation area, a facility for local residents, is close to the tract. An elementary school, a parochial school, and stores of all types are within walking distance. Among other conveniences at Millington Heights are city water and city sewers. The "Summit", a 2-story colonial sells for $30,990. It features 4 bedrooms and 2 full baths on the second floor, a 23' living room, formal dining room, 17' kitchen with large breakfast area, woodpaneled recreation room, full basement and two-car garage. The "Chatham" Ranch-and-a-half model is for the family who wants the convenience of one floor living with additional "room to grow". The basic model, selling for $30,490, has 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths. Expansion is possible for two additional bedrooms and a third bath on the upper level of the house. Completed by the builder, this 5-bedroom, 3-bath home sells for $31,990. The "Springfield" ranch, a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bath home sells for $28,990. The "Jefferson" split-level at $26,990 features a ground-level recreation room and finished den, lavatory and laundry room on first level. A large living room with bay window, formal dining room, kitchen, and dinette are on the second level with 3 bedrooms and bath on the upper level. The "Stirling" which sells for $29,990 is a large split level. A unique feature of this house is its eleven closets. The upper level of the "Stirling" includes 4 bedrooms and two full baths. The master bedroom includes a dressing alcove with a built-in vanity. Optional extras in all models include fireplaces and brick fronts.

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Fourteenth in a Series
STOCKHOLM

Of all the countries the National Newspaper Association Study Mission visited in Europe, only Sweden, Great Britain and Ireland drove us "away." That is, we drove down, or is it up the street in just the opposite way than we do here.

Stockholm at least has only one car to each seven persons. 55,000 small boats in the waters around the city — for the city is built on 14 islands and a group of 14 islands and a group of islands. But most of all, it is going to change to the "right" side on Dec. 3, 1967 — all in one day.

"Why in the world?" I asked one official, "wouldn't the lack of ice and snow and the summer light be more help?" (Stockholm has very little daylight hours and little sunshine in the winter.)

"Surely," said he, "but only one-half the cars are on the road in winter." Which is a good reason.

But if the winter weather and the driving are left-handed so to speak, the courtesy, friendliness and hospitality in Sweden certainly are not, and the driving system didn't stop one man in our party, Jackson Baly of Oaage, Iowa, from taking his courage in both his hands and renting a car. A Hertz rental no less. Then he and his equally courageous and beautiful wife, Jeannette, and a few more brave souls, drove to Uppsala.

UPPSALA IN SWEDEN not only is a city of 24,000 people but it is the home of Uppsala University, the "mother" school to Uppsala College in East Orange, and the home city of Dag Hammarskjöld.

It lies about 40 miles from Stockholm and we took the long way around to see the countryside too. We were in a Volvo car which cost $32 for 24 hours on the basis of $5 a day plus seven cents a mile plus the expensive gasoline. Prices are generally high in Stockholm and good housing very short. One bunch of celery, for instance, was one dollar.

When we reached Uppsala we found a grove of trees on the outskirts of town and had a picnic. The hotel in Stockholm had packed a sandwich lunch for us and those sandwiches were the largest I had ever seen. Since Uppsala is a dry town because of the University, we had soda — not beer — and then in town bought ice-cream cones which also were immense.

We were the only tourists in the entire city, I am sure. We went through a splendid Lutheran cathedral and visited Dag Hammarskjöld's grave and we were completely alone.

Mr. Hammarskjöld's grave is in a large family plot in a cemetery in the middle of town.

I took some downy, but for the one under English, but everyone understood "Hammarskjöld."

The plot is located by a bridge, an industrial street with Hammarskjöld's name on it. The individual family members' names are in stone blocks in the ground and "Dag Hammarskjöld" is one. On the grave the day we were there, was a letter enclosed in plastic, and a round bowl of water which some Californians had placed there during the summer. The letter said that a group of Californians had dedicated a road to Mr. Hammarskjöld and brought one piece of a tree, a hunk, to Sweden and placed it on the grave.

And there, appearing out from that piece of wood was a tender aged young redwood shoot.

ON MY FIRST VISIT to Stockholm in 1960 we had two guides who were memorable, and one, Janie, was tender, young and lovely too. She sang folk songs for us and cried when we left and quoted, "To say goodbye is to die a little."

But the other one, Ingrid, was a dynamo and fully packed. It was Ingrid who told us with great gusto and great gestures — and in a tight low cut dress — all the little interesting things. How, for instance, the Swedes love to say "I came into town once a year (late summer) and how lucky we were to be there when the season was on." Twenty crayfish to a good man, she said, "with a sip of schnapps at each bite, preferably taken under moonlight by the waterside on a late picnic."

Needless to say, most of us had crayfish that night.

On this trip most of us went to an elegant restaurant one night that was an ex-wine cellar in the "old city," and didn't get crayfish. It was called "Fratis" and had Swedish-Latin American Italian cuisine. It also had, according to some members in our group, exceptional prices. But then they did cut the peaches like roses and the oranges in fancy twists and peel the grapes, even if they didn't acknowledge crayfish and schnapps.

ONE OF THE FIRST things tourists are shown in Stockholm is the Klara. This is an underground garage or sometimes a museum or a shopping center, but in reality it is a bomb shelter. The Klara was saw can hold 15,000 people and its lowest level is 98 feet below sea level.

It is blasted out of rock with reinforced concrete; water wells under the Klara provide water, independently generated systems supply electricity and waste pumps provide sanitary facilities. There are four of these shelters and they can take 50,000 people. The one we saw was holding 300 cars instead of the day we were there and they were mostly small cars such as Volvos, Ford Corvairs, little Ford station wagons, Karmann-Ghia's, Beetles, VWs and Mercedes. It seems all things but cars come big in Sweden — live cream cones, sandwiches, pies, Klara, girls — even the King's Palace has 600 rooms.

And the Town Hall, Town Hall, in Europe are generally large and handsome, but the one in Stockholm is even more so. Healthily Ingrid had hiked us through an afternoon when we were all grandly and tired of walking through rooms, and toward rather, have faced a cheering salute than the huge town hall — and it was the same time. But wait! I panted, "It is worth it. Wait until you see the last room."

And all at once our guide stood before two immense carved wood doors about two stories high and simply said, "This is the last thing I have to show you, and will one of you gentlemen please help me slide the doors open, because EACH ONE WEIGHS ONE TON!"

While everyone was still catching their breaths on this statement, the doors did open easily (she really didn't need help for the engineering made the opening easy), and there before us was a solid gold banquet room!

This woke everyone up. Twenty-five million pieces of gold mosaic line the walls and a picture history of the East and West are in color mosaic at one end of the room. It is magnificent. The room is approximately 150x30 feet and about three stories in height.

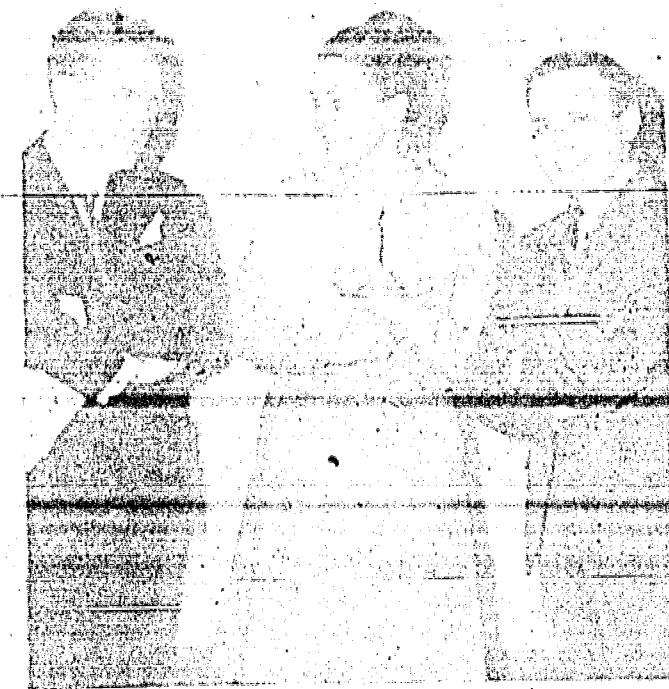

Goldfinger where are you? But as one of the officials at a briefing at the Foreign Ministry said, "We now must cut it short and go to the next room to meet some more guests and we can continue in a more civilized manner perhaps with a glass in our hands." So I too must now cut it short.

Ballet School Classes
To Reopen Monday

Classes reopen Monday for the spring semester at the New Jersey School of Ballet, official school of the New Jersey Ballet Co. at 327 Main street, Orange. Instruction is offered in ballet, point, modern jazz and variation.

The faculty is headed by Miss Carolyn Clark, former Metropolitan Opera Ballet and American Ballet Theater dancer, now assisting choreographer, Matt Mattox on TV's Bell Telephone Hour and for the upcoming Broadway musical, "Little World, Hello." Mattox also will be teaching at the school.

TRUDINA HOWARD, writer of the "A Feminine Look" column for this newspaper is flanked by theatrical producers Gerald Kean, left, and Bruce Graham of The Acting Company. The trio are recently named trustees of the Clinton Theatre Festival, Inc., newly-formed non-profit organization in Hunterdon County. The Festival will sponsor a year-round program of professional theatre events with related community activities. Last summer The Acting Company put in its first season at the Clinton Music Hall with Philip Burton resident director. Burton will be artistic director for the Festival.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Carolyn Yuknus, County Home Economist

Busy women find that a regular schedule of grooming clothes care keeps them looking their best. But busy women also find that a regular schedule cannot always be followed. Therefore, some quick tricks can tide one over for the moment, as long as such tricks do not become a habit.

For example, a long hard day and a late night is going to make anyone look haggard the next morning. A handy cosmetic for hiding dark circles will do wonders for that lack-of-sleep look.

When you haven't had time to set your hair or for a trip to the beauty parlor and your hairdo isn't up to par, wear your prettiest hat. Whether it is a simple, a defined, or a completing a costume, a hat is always a quick-trick that does wonders for your appearance.

If there is going to be a mad rush between activities and you are dead tired, try to manage enough time in between to wash your face and apply fresh makeup.

Five or ten minutes on a couch or bed with your feet elevated will help you relax and really feel refreshed. When possible a change of shoes and stockings will make your feet feel more comfortable.

When your colored nail polish has chipped badly, the shortest way to a new manicured look is to whisk off the old color, and it makes no difference if some of the rosy glow remains. Add a coat of quick drying clear polish and the result will be a new light shade.

The old trick of keeping an extra pair of stockings in a desk drawer, purse or glove compartment of the car will pay off in the long run.

Scam tips are most exasperating and damaging to a good appearance. A handy traveling sewing kit will be well worth the space it takes for such emergencies.

Nothing makes a person look more bedraggled than a loose hem that is hanging down. Sticky tape will remedy this situation in a hurry but remember to repair the hem correctly before sending the garment to the dry cleaners.

Keep a couple of small safety pins, straight pins, hair pins and dimes and nickles in a small change purse for emergency clothing repair, telephone calls and parking.

LEARNING WITH MONEY

"C'mon to the movies, Bud. It's a good show," called Harry.

"Not tonight — I'm too broke."

"Ah," sneers Harry, "you can't be broke with all that money you get. You're just crazy!"

Bud considers changing his mind: it is a good show. But then he remembers the plaid jacket in the store downtown. If he doesn't go to the movies and saves for another week, he'll have that jacket. He really wants it for next week too, there's the football game with Sally and the dance afterward.

Bud's parents overhear this conversation and have an idea why Bud refused to go to the movies.

Their eyes meet proudly. They are pleased with their son and with each other. They laugh as they remember his anguish when he realized he had spent his whole week's money on a broken jacket. That was a real lesson — and he learned the hard way.

But the experience left an impression for the future. He's always been able to get a good value for his money from then on. Frequently his purchases haven't seemed necessary to his parents, but they were things Bud wanted and used.

His parents increased his allowance to include buying some clothes. Father and mother thought they had made a mistake the day Bud came home with a new sport shirt instead of the socks he really needed.

But he learned from that too. He bought his socks the next week.

He must have realized the shirt was an extravagance, because he certainly took good care of it. That was a big surprise after the way he had thrown his clothes around before.

When he was managing pretty well, his allowance was increased to include all his clothes. His parents figured out how much they spent on his clothing for the whole year, then gave him that same amount on a weekly basis.

It seemed like a lot of money for a high school boy, and they worried about it. At the end of the first year, they were both proud and surprised to realize that Bud had bought the clothes he wanted and needed and that he took much better care of them.

2 Newark Rutgers Scientists Working On NASA Space Lab

Two scientists at the Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences in Newark are working on a two-year contract to study a million-dollar instrument for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Auguste Rouy, research professor at the State University of New Jersey, Newark, and Dr. Benjamin Carroll, professor of chemistry, are looking ahead to 1968 when a NASA rocket is scheduled to put in space one of the most intricate "laboratories" ever devised.

Beginning two years ago, they have been fitting out ways to squeeze a roomful of equipment into a 20-pound, one cubic foot package, which will share the satellite space with several other astronomical experiments.

Aided by Dr. Lawrence H. Aller, chairman of astronomy at UCLA and president of the Committee for Stellar Spectroscopy of the International Astronomical Union, they hope to learn more about the nature of the tiny particles of matter in space which causes the scattering of the sun's rays as observed at sunrise and sunset, a phenomenon known as the zodiacal light.

Dr. Carroll said that as a result of the experiment, "we hope to enhance our general knowledge of radiation in the solar system."

He said a greater knowledge of the mechanics of the earth's atmosphere also will be gained by correlating the Rutgers experiments with previous ground-based experiments.

As Drs. Rouy and Carroll have developed the instruments, they have become increasingly aware of its widening significance.

"We expect our work to lead to publications in areas not directly related to the experiment," Dr. Carroll said. "For example, new uses will be found for the various components of the instrument, leading to further research on the components themselves."

The gathering and interpreting of data that will be sent back to earth by the instrument is a story in itself, Dr. Rouy said. The satellite was expected to send back information for six months to a year after launching.

"We hope to get our first glance within 10 hours after launching," he said. As soon as the first data is received, the scientists can modify the functioning of their equipment if necessary. The flow of information from the satellite will be picked up by tracking stations in South America and will be made available immediately on teletype.

Approximately 80 pages of information will be sent back to earth by the instrument is a story in itself, Dr. Rouy said. The satellite was expected to send back information for six months to a year after launching.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: As a newlywed, I have what I feel is a real problem. My husband, who is a mechanic, comes home from work every night quite greasy and dirty. He insists on climbing into bed like that. How can I get him to take a shower or at least wash up without hurting his feelings too much? I have tried hinting, but it didn't work.

Grey Sheets Dear Amy: It will take more than a gentle hint to get him into a shower. Put on the heat! If he gives you a dirty look, then try soft-soaping him.

Dear Grey Sheets: I'm a 16-year-old high school boy. I have been going steady with A.C. for about six months and I can't do anything without her knowing about it. I asked her if she would stop having people watch me and report to her, but she won't stop. What should I do about her?

Stephen Dear Stephen: The last thing a 16-year-old boy needs is a girl who operates like a detective agency. Give her the gate and fly the coop!

Dear Amy: My wife and I recently bought a new dining room set. It took her weeks to choose the right fabric and color for the chairs. After the set arrived, we used it for two short weeks, when she decided the fabric was getting dusty and should be covered. I told her not to worry about the dust, when the fabric got soiled, we would replace it. But no, she insisted on having wipe-off cushions made to put on top of the fabric seats. So we had cushions made. Now to keep the cushions clean she has a piece of plastic on top of each cushion. If she isn't nutty, I don't know who is. It's got to be the point where I don't eat in the dining room. The dam plastic sticks to me. You're a woman, maybe you can tell me what comes after the plastic? A. R. William

Dear A. R.: A straight jacket!

Dear Amy: Last Wednesday my husband left for a union meeting and shortly after he left, some friends came to see him. They wanted me to call and ask him to come home early. I called and was informed that he wasn't there and that the meeting had been the night before. When he came home, I asked him how the meeting was and he said fine. Well, I told him how I found out he lied. He swore to God he wasn't out with any woman. He also said he was sorry and he only did it to get away from his problems. But that's an excuse because we don't have that many problems. When I asked him where he went he named two bars. I searched the car that night and found a clean T-shirt, his wedding ring and school ring in the glove compartment. He said he took off the rings when he was repairing the car, and when I questioned him about the T-shirt, he said he had two T-shirts because he was sweating so much.

I tried to believe him but I can't because now that I think back, he has been acting queer for some time. Three months ago he came home three or four times with lipstick on his shirts. I knew that a couple of times it could have been mine but I know for sure one of them was not.

We have two small children and have been married three years. Do you believe from what I told you that he is cheating?

Mrs. Must Know Dear Mrs. Must: I doubt it. He's most likely a victim of circumstances. A man doesn't need many problems to want to get away. Just one — and it could be you. Get off the "cheating" kick. You may give him ideas he never had before.

Keep the cushions clean she has a piece of plastic on top of each cushion. If she isn't nutty, I don't know who is. It's got to be the point where I don't eat in the dining room. The

Ormont Shocker, 'Repulsion,' Held

Roman Olanski's international award-winning psychological film drama, "Repulsion," acclaimed for its shock effects in its study of the progressive madness of a girl is held over for a second week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange. Starring Catherine Deneuve, the award-winning lead in "Umbrellas of Cherbourg," "Repulsion" also has John Fraser, Patrick Wymark, Yvonne Furneaux and Ian Hendry in stellar roles. Polanski, earlier, acclaimed for his award-winning "Knife in the Water," directed "Repulsion" from a screenplay he had written with Gerard Brach, a former publicist.

VERSATILE QUINN REMAINS AT ART FOR THIRD WEEK

Anthony Quinn, two-time Academy-award winner ("Viva Zapata" and "Just For Life"), has the title role in "Zorba the Greek," film drama which starts its third week at the Art Theater, Irvington Center on Wednesday. In his acceptance speech for his 1956 Oscar for "Viva Zapata," Quinn summed up his philosophy of work: "Acting has never been a matter of competition to me. I am only competing with myself." The versatile actor, in his current movie, plays Alexis Zorba, a 65-year-old giant with the zestful appetites of a 20-year-old and the wisdom of a man whose eyes have witnessed a world of pain and suffering. The film is being shown Wednesday through Friday, Monday and Tuesday at 7 and 9:30 p.m.; Saturday at 7:05 and 9:35 p.m. and Sunday at 1:50, 4:20, 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Merged Singing Group Chooses Julius Mengert First President

Julius Mengert of Union has been chosen first president of the newly-formed Volkschor-Harmonie, a predominantly German-American folk choral group affiliated with Newark Singers, Inc. The group represents a merger between the Volkschor of Union, a 40-member mixed chorus, and Harmonie of Irvington, a 30-member all-male chorus. It will be incorporated as a non-profit association. The combined group of singers meets for rehearsals at 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the Union Elks Hall. Prospective members are invited to attend. Planned future events include a masquerade ball at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Montgomery Hall, Irvington, and the group's annual fall concert Oct. 22 in the new singing shell at Evergreen Lodge, Springfield. Stock Jersey Lakes With Largemouths

Over 7,000 largemouth bass were stocked in New Jersey lakes this winter by the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. This includes Seelye's Pond in Union County. Nearly half these fish were adults, approaching or exceeding the nine-inch size which anglers may legally catch. The remainder were fingerlings, released in new or reclaimed waters where there is good potential for their growth. Additional adult largemouths will be stocked this spring. The aim of these stockings is to improve warmwater fishing opportunities for licensed anglers. A stepped-up management program for bass, pickerel and other popular species is being developed by the Bureau of Fisheries Management. The largest consignment of adult largemouths, 1,700, went into Spruce Run Reservoir. These bass, which range from six to 10 inches, were acquired from Massachusetts in exchange for alewife herring which Bay State fisheries managers will use as forage fish. The largemouths originally stocked in Spruce Run now average close to 14 inches and are described by Fisheries Biologist Robert Stewart as "nice, heavy-bodied fish." They have spawned, and their offspring measure two to six inches. The Massachusetts bass will fill the size range between. Other adult bass were raised at the Charles O. Hayford State Fish Hatchery and average over seven inches in length. They were planted as follows: Strawberry Lake, Burlington County, 225; Sylvan Lake, Burlington, 200; Iona Lake, Gloucester, 400; Mullica Hill Pond, Gloucester, 200; Englishtown Mill Pond, Monmouth, 50; Imlaystown Lake, Monmouth, 325; Bonnie Brae Farm Pond, Morris, 20; Seelye's Pond, Union, 50. An additional 50 large bass, obtained from salvage work were released in Seelye's Pond. Over 2,500 largemouth fingerlings were put in two new ponds at the Winslow Public Shooting

THIS NEW ATTEMPT to solve the nursing shortage is working well, according to Mrs. Grace Phelan, in-service education supervisor at Overlook Hospital...

Overlook was recently chosen as the scene for a series of color slides to be used in recruitment presentations by the New Jersey Hospital Association...

"My four children are grown now," explained Mrs. Murphy. "It's a great comfort to know that I'm trained to do something useful to others. It makes me feel needed and helpful - that's important when you grow a little older."

"ONCE A NURSE, always a nurse," seemed to be the phrase that came most spontaneously to most of the refresher RNs...

"IN MY DAY, the RN did all these things. Each nurse was responsible for practically all the care of her own patients. Now there are special nurses for medications, for intravenous injections...

Doctors who are specialists in many areas lecture to the nurses during their 10-week course, which is given three days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. In addition, they are rotated through the medical-surgical departments of the hospital...

The intensive care unit, the coronary care unit, the psychiatric unit - all these are entirely new concepts to simulate. The advances in radiation therapy, a myriad of new laboratory tests, new techniques with stroke patients, external cardiac massage, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation - these are just a few of the medical advances that nurses today must know about...

"My whole family is excited about my returning to nursing," commented Mrs. Thelma Crafton of Westfield. "They are so cooperative! One of my sons wants to be a doctor, and he has already asked me if I'd be his office nurse - I said 'Yes, if I can still creep around by then.'"

Mrs. Jeannette Morley, also of Westfield, stated that she felt "far more stimulated in the hospital" - where she thoroughly enjoyed her refresher course after 22 years away from nursing.

"You feel like an individual when you're practicing your nursing profession - not like a 'mother' or a 'wife,'" remarked Mrs. Alice Peterson of Madison. "I've done my share in PTA and civic groups when my children were small. Now it's time for younger wives and mothers to do these jobs while I put my nursing skills to work where they are needed. It's nice to be paid, too," she added, noting college ahead for her family, like many of the others.

This was a frequent observation by the refresher nurses - their desire to return to nursing to help in these times of serious nursing shortage. Many of them felt a real obligation to use their highly specialized training as their avenue of service to their neighbors and their communities. And they felt a unanimous pride of accomplishment in being "back on the job."

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS

Star-Spangled Security

FOR AMERICANS

★ Twenty-five years ago on May 1, 1941, the U. S. Treasury issued the first Series E Savings Bond to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

★ That purchase, in the words of Lyndon B. Johnson, "set into motion the greatest thrift program the world has ever known."

★ Since that day in 1941, Americans have bought more than $150,000,000,000 worth of Series E and H Savings Bonds.

★ From these savings have come new homes, college educations, dream vacations, paid-up hospital bills, more satisfying retirements.

★ Americans still own almost $50 billion in Savings Bonds... $50 billion worth of personal security... security from want... from fear... from loss of independence.

★ $50 billion worth of security from loss of freedom in today's troubled world.

★ Join the greatest thrift program in the world. For your future and your family's future. And your country's future.

LOOKING FOR JOB? WIVES ARE URGED TO THINK AHEAD

Working home-makers are making an important contribution to the increase in family incomes. The working wife is the rule rather than the exception today, and her primary motive for working is to improve her family's standard of living.

If you are considering joining the full or part-time workers, there are several factors you and your family will want to consider before you seek that job. Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrell, extension specialist in home management-family economics at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, suggests you answer the following questions:

Will your family be financially ahead if you work?
It costs money to make money. From your expected income deduct necessary work expenses and other expenditures that will increase due to your employment. These may be income taxes, social security, transportation, lunches, extra clothing and personal care, household help and child care.

To conserve time and energy, you may purchase more partially or fully prepared foods for the family, resulting in larger expenditures for food. Will the balance of your income be financially worthwhile? Is your family prepared to assume responsibility for sharing household tasks?

Management of time will be important to you and your family. You will need to question the necessity of every task, work out new shortcuts and share the housekeeping with other members of the family. By answering these questions, states the New Jersey State University specialist, you and the family can decide whether the monetary gains outweigh the disadvantages.

PREMIUM TAXES. Insurance companies of all types paid nearly $708 million premium taxes to 50 states during 1964, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

EXPRESS YOUR IDEAS

Television Star To Attend AAUW Annual Luncheon

Mrs. Harold M. Tutchin, president of the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women, has announced that Barbara Britton, television and motion picture star, will be the guest of honor at the sixth annual luncheon-fashion show sponsored by AAUW on Feb. 17 at the Chanticleer Restaurant in Millburn.

Mrs. Tutchin said proceeds of the fashion show will be used to provide college scholarships for Mountainside girls and to assist in the fellowship program of the Association.

Miss Britton, who is among the nation's most elegantly dressed women, has starred in several Hollywood films including "The Story of Dr. Wassell" with Gary Cooper; "The Virginian" with Joel McCrea; "The West Side Story" with Ray Milland; "Captain Kidd" with Charles with William Holden; "The Great John L." with Linda Darnell, and "Champsagne For Caesar" with Ronald Coleman.

More recently she has starred on Broadway and in summer stock. However, Mrs. Tutchin said, most people will probably remember Miss Britton best for her television role as the wife in "Mr. and Mrs. North" series, and as the beautiful first lady of Revere commercials.

Tickets for the luncheon-fashion show can be obtained from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Richard Freeman and Mrs. Hodley Weeks, or any member of the local AAUW.

A project aimed at sending paperback books, playing cards and writing paper to all the young men of Mountainside now serving with the armed forces in southeast Asia has been launched by the club. The chairman, Mrs. Fred Young of Forest Hill way, requested that the names of such servicemen be supplied to her.

Anyone interested in taking part in the project is invited to call Mrs. Young, AD 2-8784.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Harry V. Knauf Jr., introduced two new members, Mrs. Frank Creter, 1315 Outlook dr., and Mrs. Leonard Marx, 318 Rolling Rock rd. The new members were presented with corsages and welcomed into the club by the president.

The Garden Department met Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Harry Brannin, Stony Brook lane. Mrs. Clarence Hall, chairman, introduced a representative of a garden supply company who spoke on foundation planting and showed slides of paper landscaping.

This department will meet in February at the home of Mrs. Richard Kapke to make Florentine flower arrangements.

Legion Members, Ladies Visit Patients At Lyons VA Hospital

Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, and its Ladies Auxiliary made another of their visits to the Lyons Veterans Hospital last Tuesday. They entertained approximately 90 disabled veterans at a bingo session, a favorite entertainment of the patients.

The winners at bingo were given about 30 jigsaw puzzles and other games and $40 worth of coupon-books, which can be exchanged for their needs at their own post exchange in the hospital.

When the bingo session was over the hospitalized veterans were served sandwiches, ice cream, cake, soda and candy bars. The committee members who work and attended this visitation were: Commander Ray Daudelin and his service officer, Allen Best, county vice-commander; Alfred Hutz, Harold Jones, Oliver Owens and Harold Liebkind for the post; the president, Mrs. Alfred Rutz; rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Eugene Wuerz; Mrs. Ray Daudelin, Mrs. Sigard Holmes and Carol Rutz for the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Nicholas Voskian and Mrs. Allen Best prepared the 140 sandwiches for the evening. Ten boxes of hard-covered books and five boxes of paperback novels were left for the patients. Commander Daudelin has expressed his thanks "to the citizens of Springfield for their generous contribution of the books which the post collects on paper drives the first Sunday of each month."

He added, "These books are gratefully appreciated and wanted by the patients and give them countless hours of pleasure. The post accumulates these books and brings them at intervals, or at a hospital visitation. We encourage the citizens to keep donating books they have finished so that we can give them to these unfortunate veterans."

At the previous meeting, chairman Robert Bennett of the child welfare committee advised the membership that the post has received a letter of thanks for the donation of a slide and album to the State Hospital for Retarded Children, Woodbridge.

Medical School Names Overlook As Local Affiliate

Overlook Hospital in Summit has been selected as one of the hospitals to be affiliated with the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, which announced last week that it is relocating its clinical facilities from Jersey City Medical Center to other hospitals in the area.

Overlook's participation in the training of medical students has not been explicitly defined as yet, according to Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook's director, but the students will be rotated through the hospital as part of their training to "expose students to medical practice in the New Jersey community."

Dr. Arthur J. Lewis of South Orange, newly appointed acting dean of medicine of the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, commented on the affiliation with Overlook and other community hospitals as follows:

"We hope to show students how good physicians practice medicine in community hospitals where most of them will work some day. Overlook and Morristown Memorial were chosen because they are typical and progressive community hospitals with superlative staffs and facilities."

Heinlein commented that Overlook was "honored to be included in the college's relocation plans."

The college's major moves included transfer of the department of pediatrics to Newark City Hospital and the department of medicine to two other Essex County facilities—the East Orange Hospital and St. Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, where the school is also seeking to lease space as an interim arrangement until the college makes permanent plans which would include its own building and an adjacent university hospital of 300 to 400 beds.

The students will compare school systems and show slides of their home countries. Des Noyers and Hoby are seniors in Pinkry School, Hillside, and Carraro is a senior in Westfield High School.

A member of the Mountainside Rescue Squad will also speak at the luncheon meeting scheduled Feb. 9 in the Mountainside Inn.

The club's spring dance will be held March 19 in the Suburban Hotel, Summit, the chairman, Mrs. William Chinnitt of 1296 Poplar ave., announced this week. A cocktail party will precede the dance at the hotel. Entertainment will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Clover of Mountainside, a well-known ballroom dance team.

Reminder Letters Mailed Out On Medicare Insurance Plan

The Social Security Administration mailed out over a million reminder letters last week to social security beneficiaries who have not signed up for the supplementary medical insurance part of Medicare.

Medicare kits, including an enrollment card for the medical insurance plan, were sent during the fall to the 15 1/2 million social security and railroad retirement beneficiaries 65 or over. About two-thirds of these people have sent back their cards, and 90 percent have checked "Yes" for medical inurance under Medicare. "In New Jersey," Ralph W. Jones, social security district manager in Elizabeth, said today, "312,692 people received Medicare kits and enrollment cards last fall. As to the first week in January, 367,261 had signed up for the supplementary medical insurance plan."

"Many of the people who have not signed up may not understand how the plan will work and what it offers," he added. The letter going out from social security headquarters in Baltimore, Md., this week should answer some of their questions.

Enclosed with this second letter is another enrollment card in case they lost the first one or sent it in marked "No" and have since changed their minds.

"For people now 65 or over," Jones emphasized, "there is a deadline for signing up for the supplementary medical insurance plan. If your coverage is to begin as soon as the Medicare program goes into effect, you have to be enrolled by March 31, 1966."

"The medical insurance program, like the basic hospital inurance plan, will go into effect beginning July 1. People now over 65 who do not sign up by March 31 may have to wait two years before their coverage will be effective."

The primary medical insurance plan, Jones continued, primarily covers doctor and surgeon bills but also includes a variety of other medical services not covered by the basic hospital insurance plan.

"Just about everyone 65 or over is eligible for both hospital insurance and the medical insurance part of the program, even though they are not eligible for regular social security benefits - even if they have never worked under social security," Jones said.

For the majority of the people who sign up for the supplementary medical insurance, Jones pointed out, there will be
