Library Board Gets Tentative OK For $55,476 Grant

TENTATIVE DATE

Bond Issue Vote Gets May Target

A school bond issue in the amount of $1,785,000 will go to Mountainside voters for approval in May if the Board of Education adheres to a time schedule it has set.

The estimated cost of the proposed school expansion and the May target date were announced last week at an information session for the borough's Parent-Teacher Association.

The $1,785,000 figure allows $1,425,000 for construction of additions at Deerfield and Beechwood Schools and $360,000 for the acquisition of land to allow for the additions and to provide a replacement site for Echo Brook School. (If the board's plans are carried through Echo Brook will be abandoned. The board is currently in negotiation with borough officials on the possibility of turning Echo Brook and its land over to the borough.)

The bond issue would be amortized on a 30-year basis at four percent interest. According to William Biunno, the board's finance chairman, this would mean a tax increase of about $47.70 a year for the owner of a $30,000 home. This would be offset, the board indicated, by an increase in the valuation of real estate in the borough because of the upgrading of the schools.

No Cost

The construction costs break down into $1,150,000 for the Deerfield addition and $275,000 for the Beechwood addition.

The board, on the advice of its attorney, Charles Jerome, declined to give a cost breakdown on land acquisitions. The board plans to acquire three parcels of land contiguous to Deerfield, a tract of approximately four acres in the rear of Beechwood and a five-acre tract, owned by Joseph Barnes, and located on Mountain ave. near New Providence rd. The Barnes tract would replace the Echo Brook site.

The Deerfield acquisitions would include a tract, approximately 98 by 302 feet on the southeast corner of School dr., a tract on the northeast corner of School dr. approximately 400 by 302 feet and a third piece of land that would bring the total

Zoners Suggest Variance On Part Of Wilson Tract

The Mountainside Board of Adjustment recommended to the Borough Council Monday night that a variance be granted to A. A. Wilson of East Orange which would permit him to have a new building constructed on the two acres of his property fronting the westbound lane of Rt. 22. The variance would allow the operation of a retail furniture store and insurance and real estate offices in the new building. It also would permit the destruction of the old mansion now standing on the property.

The board's action was in line with the decision handed down recently by Judge Milton Feller which upheld Wilson's right to use the front two acres for retail but denied his appeal for a reversal of the local board's denial of a variance to erect a garden apartment on the balance of his 12-acre tract.

Melvin Koestler, attorney for Wilson, was contacted Tuesday for comment on whether the board's action would be accepted as a final solution by his client. Koestler said he had no comment "at this time." Wilson and the borough have been engaged in litigation over the use of his land for about 10 years.

In other action, the board granted a variance to Howard E. Raymond to erect a residential addition to his property at 1230 Poplar ave. The variance was necessary because Raymond's property does not have the re-

Organize Society Of Health Officers

Charles F. Dotto, health officer for Mountainside, has been elected vice-president of the Professional Health Officers Society of New Jersey. The organization, a newly formed one, limits its membership to accredited health officers serving as administrative heads of health departments in communities throughout the state.

Warren E. Voorhees of Englewood is president of the group and S. Guy Stark of Dumont is secretary and treasurer.

According to Dotto, the purpose of the new group is to improve public health activities, to cooperate in preparing legislative charges as required, to inform the membership of the developments in public health and to create fellowship among the health officers of the state.

Dotto, who also serves as health officer for Hillside, is vice-president of the Union County Health Officers Association.

NOTICE IN ERROR, NO DATE SET FOR VARIANCE VOTE

A legal advertisement on a proposed zoning change which ran in the March 10 issue of The Echo was incorrect. The published legal was concerned with the removing of a piece of land on Sheraton pkwy. adjacent to the Post Office from the business parking classification. This was incorrect. No date has yet been set for a hearing on that measure.

The legal scheduled for publishing was concerned with changes in the 1955 zoning ordinance to allow a municipal pool to be constructed on a portion of the bird sanctuary that fronts on Rt. 22. The Borough Council gave final approval to that measure at a special meeting last week.

Girl Scout Troop Schedules Sale

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 424 will hold a rummage sale March 26 at Community Presbyterian Church Meeting House lane, Mountainside. Proceeds of the sale, which will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., will be used to help underwrite the cost of a three-day trip to Washington, which the troop is planning.

Sale items include clean used clothing, small and large household articles and a large assortment of white elephants.

Anyone who wishes to contribute such items may arrange for pick-up by calling AD 3-0918.

Blythe Wins Honors

George Blythe of Mountainside is on the dean's list at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison. A student in the College of Liberal Arts, he had a grade average between 82 and 85 percent.

751 Families Join Swim Pool; Budget Amendment Is Passed

The number of families who have signed up for membership in the municipal pool has reached 751, Councilman George Stillwell announced Tuesday night.

He told members of the Borough Council at its regular meeting that trees already have been cut down to make way for a 600-foot access road through Union County Park property from Mountainside ave. to the 2.7-acre site that the borough has agreed to purchase from the State Highway Department for $9,000. A check for this amount has been mailed, he said. A provision of the sale stipulated that access cannot be through State Highway Department property from Rt. 22, which borders the pool site on the other side.

The council passed a resolution requesting the County Park Commission to clear land adjacent to the pool for a picnic area and to install 12 picnic tables with benches and six fireplaces. In response to a question from the audience, Stillwell said the picnic site would remain county park property.

William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Department, said the target date for opening the pool is July 4. He said he expected to have plans and specifications from the pool architects, Eggers and Higgins of New York City this week and hoped to accept bids about April 1.

An agreement has been reached with the Board of Education to permit an easement for installation of utility pipelines through school property. The Council has also asked the school board for permission to use the athletic field adjacent to Echo-brook School for use in parking 190 cars.

The proposed pool will be 165 feet long and 50 foot wide. A separate wading pool, which will be fenced in, will also be constructed. Two dressing rooms with showers will be installed in the clubhouse.

In other business, the council passed an ordinance amending the municipal budget to raise the amount to be raised by taxation from $288,250 to $297,009—an $8,750 jump.

Four thousand dollars of that sum would be alloted to additional funds for snow removal, $2,000 to the Board of Adjustment for legal services and $2,750 to the Board of Health for additional services from the Visiting Nurses Association.

The snow removal figure was raised from $9,000 to $13,000, services to the Board of Adjustment from $500 to $2,500, and the visiting nurse service from $4,300.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms said that the amount originally budgeted for snow removal is proving insufficient this year and the Council felt it would be wise to budget more rather than

Crowds Attend Linda's Dinner

Over 350 persons jammed the Mountainside Inn Saturday to climax a fund-raising campaign to help an injured child that is expected to reach $26,000.

The Linda Clark Fund totaled $23,039 as this paper went to press—a figure that does not include proceeds from the dinner tickets, which sold for $7.50 apiece, and some other projects. Proceeds from the dinner totaled $1,000.

Union County officials and people from surrounding communities joined Mountainside residents at the affair, to aid the 10-year-old girl who was paralyzed after a swing accident at Echo Lake Park last October.

Speakers included Union County Judge Chester A. Weidenburger, the Rev. Francis F. McDermott of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, and John J. Heffernan, president of the state PBA.

James Clark, Linda's father, played a tape recording made by Linda at Overlook Hospital,

Final Plans Due In Trenton May 1 For New Building

Plan Hearing April 19 On Bonding Measure For Matching Funds

The word is all but "go" for the proposed Mountainside library building that has been in the active planning stages since May and a dream for some 15 years.

Sidney Mele, president of the Board of Trustees, announced this week that tentative approval has been given for a $55,476 federal construction grant, contingent upon submission of final plans and evidence of availability of local matching funds. Total cost of the building is $300,000.

The Borough Council last January passed a resolution of intent to provide the matching funds, a stipulation for receiving a grant under the Federal Library Construction Act. It must now pass a bonding ordinance. Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Tuesday said he hopes to have a public hearing on such an ordinance at the Council's April 19 meeting. It will be introduced at a special meeting, probably April 5, and advertised April 7, he said.

Final Plans May 1

Tentative approval of the plans by the State Library, Department of Education, in Trenton, held suggestions for revisions that are now in the hands of the architect, Howard L. McMurray of Elizabeth. Final plans are expected to be ready by May 1—the deadline set by Trenton.

Mele said the Board has "only begun" and will call a meeting of representatives from civic organizations soon to help get the project off the ground.

Meanwhile, he said, he wished to "express the Board's appreciation to all of the organizations who sparked, supported, prodded and inspired the project."

If all goes well, construction of the 9,984 square-foot facility is expected to be completed in about a year. Although a target date for breaking ground has not been set, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms is on record as saying he anticipates construction to start by summer.

38,000 Volumes

The self-contained one-story building is planned for a sloping site in Watchung ave. north of Rt. 22 and east of New Providence rd.

It will have a capacity for lodging approximately 38,000 volumes and seats for 60 readers. Plans call for listening equipment, record storage and microfilm reading equipment.

Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, librarian, said that service will be increased through extended library hours and improved reference materials. There will be a meeting room to accommodate about 80 people, which will adjoin a lounge with kitchen facilities, for use by organizations. The meeting room also adjoins the children's section and could be used for "story hour" sessions, Mrs. Hoffarth said.

A reading room at the front of the building will be brightened by natural light from broad front windows. A music room will be furnished by the Mountainside Music Association.

The library was started in Borough Hall in 1934 and moved four years later to Echobrook School, where it still remains.

RITA ZEISS'

ECHO PROFILE - - - Don Maxwell

Don Maxwell and his parents moved from New York City to Mountainside in 1907. His father, A. R. Maxwell, owner of a warehouse in the big city had bought the Johnson farm, a 108-acre operation at the top of New Providence rd.

The farm ran back from New Providence rd. to the lake in the present reservation, then right-angled to travel a crooked line to the spot where the traffic circle is now located in the reservation, then out again to New Providence rd. The Johnson farmhouse had burned down a few years previously so the new owners had a new home built. Maxwell's mother wanted the house built at the top of the hill and she wanted all the modern conveniences, including a telephone.

The house, now owned by the Sky Top Stable, was built as she wanted it but they ran into complications on the telephone. Telephone lines at that time did not run above Springfield rd. (now Rt. 22) and the Maxwells learned if they wanted a phone they would have to supply the poles for the lines.

Maxwell, a strapping young fellow, about 12 years old, went on the farm and cut down the poles, 67 of them. It wasn't too big a job, he says. Telephone wires then, particularly in the uninhibited area, were not placed as high as nowadays, Maxwell remembers — "not many people were walking under them."

A collector of memorabilia, Maxwell has a wealth of information in his files and in his memory about the early history of the town.

As proof that few were walking near their private telephone wire back in 1907, he produced a copy of the census figures for Mountainside in 1905. There were exactly 314 people in the borough that

This Sunday's Lesson Sermon:

Continuing a study of the spiritual versus material concepts of substance, Christian Science churches this week will present a Lesson-Sermon on "Matter."

Jesus' parable of the tares and the wheat (Matt. 13) will be used for the responsive reading. Another of the Bible references to be considered is from II Timothy: "In a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honour and some to dishonour. If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work."

A corresponding passage is from the Christian Science textbook: "The suppositional warfare between truth and error is only the mental conflict between the evidence of the spiritual senses and the testimony of the material senses, and this warfare between the Spirit and flesh will settle all questions through faith in and understanding of divine Love" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

TRAINING SESSION AT DAYTON

800 Teachers At Regional Program

More than 800 teachers from six communities attended a regional in-service educational program held last Friday at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. The all-day training session was sponsored by the Superintendents of Schools in the participating communities, Mountainside, Springfield, Kenilworth, Berkeley Heights, Clark and Garwood. Dr. Levin B. Hanigan of Mountainside was chairman of the planning committee.

Dr. Wells Fosbay of Columbia University, the keynote speaker, spoke on "The Individual Student in the Educative Process."

Dr. Louis Forsdale of Columbia University conducted a study group on the use of eight millimeter film in the classroom and Dr. Phil C. Lange, also of Columbia, led a session on programmed and auto (self) instruction.

Other educators leading the study programs were Dr. Eleanor Delaney of Rutgers University; Dr. Herman Ward of Trenton State College; Paul Hilaire, Dr. Everett Hebel and Dr. Richard Scheetz, all of the State Department of Education; William M. Devonald, director of practical arts in the Newark School system, and Dr. Jack Abromowitz of Farmingdale, Long Island, N. Y.

Three school psychiatrists, Dr. Samuel Levine, Dr. Jay Fidler and Dr. Albert Broonberg, led a session for the special services staffs.

Aden Lewis, coordinator of music in Mountainside Schools, conducted a study program on vocal music.

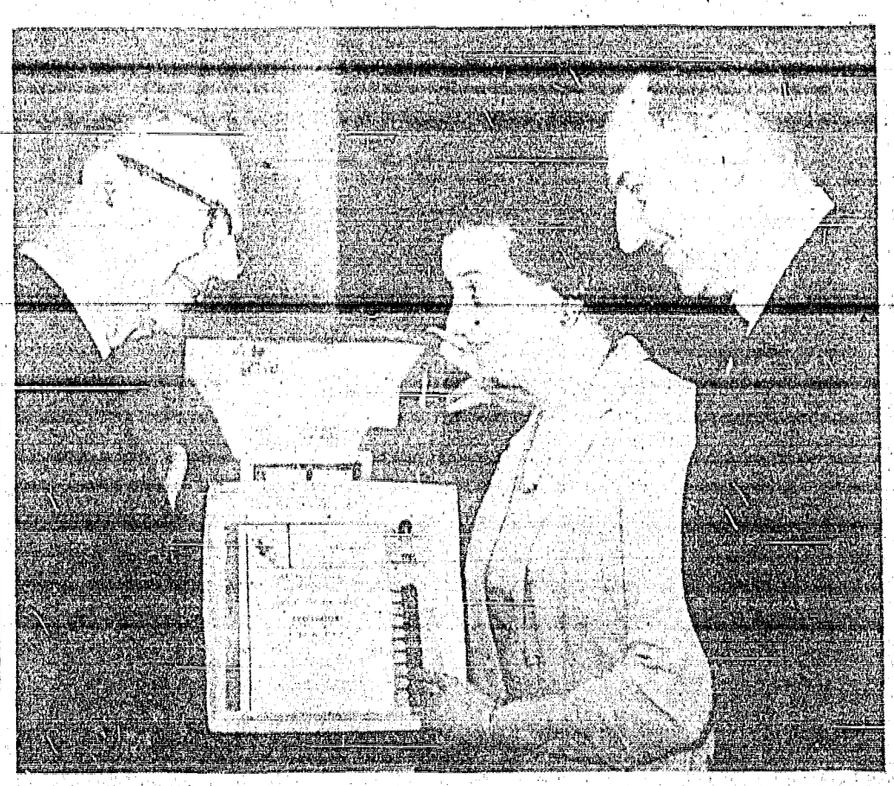
A library science session was held in the Sandmeier School, Springfield, and a program on curricular reform in math was conducted in Gaudineer School, Springfield.

According to Dr. Hanigan, the purposes of the regional program were manifold. The six participating communities all "feed" their students to the regional high school system; for that reason, he said, it is important that direct communication be established among the various faculties. Such sessions also enable the participating teachers to share ideas and methods in open discussion.

Most important, the program gave the teachers insight into methods of reaching the individual student in the classroom, Dr. Hanigan stated.

Other school superintendents participating in planning and conducting the program were John O. Berwick of Springfield, John J. Kish of Kenilworth, Dr. Warren M. Davis of the regional high school system, Kenneth H. Bothwell of Berkeley Heights, Dr. Carl H. Kumpf of Clark and Lewis F. Laird of Garwood.

Among those serving on the planning committee were Herbert J. Brown, principal of Deerfield School, and Mrs. Joyce McCobb of Deerfield, both of Mountainside. Mrs. Elizabeth Powers, principal of Chisholm and Caldwell Schools and Miss Joan Mayer of Chisholm, both of Springfield, Anthony V. Richel, principal of Harding School, and Miss Edna Mulligan of Harding, of Kenilworth; also Frederick Aho, principal of Governor Livingston High School.



BETTER EDUCATION for all students in the Regional High School District was the goal of a study session for teachers from all schools in the district held last Friday at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. POEM IN MEMORY OF FAMILY'S PET, 'GONE TO SLEEP'

The Theodore M. O'Connell family of 132 Pitt rd., Springfield, last month mourned the death of their pet, Misty.

Misty was a cocker spaniel. He died as a result of injuries suffered last fall, while defending a young lady, who was taking him for a walk, from attack by another dog.

Mrs. O'Connell's aunt, Mrs. Clothilde Le Roux of Newark, wrote the following poem in his memory:

Our little Misty's gone to sleep,
to wake up by and by,
To greet us in our Heavenly home, our mansion in the sky.
And what a joy, when we embark for that bright,
heavenly shore,
To think he's there to greet us
with a welcome bark once more.
For we hope our Heavenly Father, who gives us pets
to love,
Will give them back with all the things prepared for us above.

Library Board Gets Tentative OK For $55,476 Grant

TENTATIVE DATE

Bond Issue Vote Gets May Target

A school bond issue in the amount of $1,785,000 will go to Mountainside voters for approval in May if the Board of Education adheres to a time schedule it has set.

The estimated cost of the proposed school expansion and the May target date were announced last week at an information session for the borough's Parent-Teacher Association.

The $1,785,000 figure allows $1,425,000 for construction of additions to Deerfield and Beechwood Schools and $360,000 for the acquisition of land to allow for the additions and to provide a replacement site for Echo Brook School. (If the board's plans are carried through Echo Brook will be abandoned. The board is currently in negotiation with borough officials on the possibility of turning Echo Brook and its land over to the borough.)

The bond issue would be amortized on a 30-year basis at four percent interest. According to William Biunno, the board's finance chairman, this would mean a tax increase of about $47.70 a year for the owner of a $30,000 home. This would be offset, the board indicated, by an increase in the valuation of real estate in the borough because of the upgrading of the schools.

No Cost

The construction costs break down into $1,150,000 for the Deerfield addition and $275,000 for the Beechwood addition.

The board, on the advice of its attorney, Charles Jerome, declined to give a cost breakdown on land acquisitions. The board plans to acquire three parcels of land contigious to Deerfield, a tract of approximately four acres in the rear of Beechwood and a five-acre tract, owned by Joseph Barnes, and located on Mountain ave. near New Providence rd. The Barnes tract would replace the Echo Brook site.

The Deerfield acquisitions would include a tract, approximately 98 by 302 feet on the southeast corner of School dr., a tract on the northeast corner of School dr. approximately 400 by 302 feet and a third piece of land that would bring the total

The Mountainside Board of Adjustment recommended to the Borough Council Monday night that a variance be granted to A. A. Wilson of East Orange which would permit him to have a new building constructed on the two acres of his property fronting the westbound lane of Rt. 22. The variance would allow the operation of a retail furniture store and insurance and real estate offices in the new building. It also would permit the destruction of the old mansion now standing on the property.

The board's action was in line with the decision handed down recently by Judge Milton Feller which upheld Wilson's right to use the front two acres for retail but denied his appeal for a reversal of the local board's denial of a variance to erect a garden apartment on the balance of his 12-acre tract.

Melvin Koestler, attorney for Wilson, was contacted Tuesday for comment on whether the board's action would be accepted as a final solution by his client. Koestler said he had no comment "at this time." Wilson and the borough have been engaged in litigation over the use of his land for about 10 years.

In other action, the board granted a variance to Howard E. Raymond to erect a residential addition to his property at 1230 Poplar ave. The variance was necessary because Raymond's property does not have the re-

Organize Society Of Health Officers

Charles F. Dotto, health officer for Mountainside, has been elected vice-president of the Professional Health Officers Society of New Jersey. The organization, a newly formed one, limits its membership to accredited health officers serving as administrative heads of health departments in communities throughout the state.

Warren E. Voorhees of Englewood is president of the group and S. Guy Stark of Dumont is secretary and treasurer.

According to Dotto, the purpose of the new group is to improve public health activities, to cooperate in preparing legislative charges as required, to inform the membership of the developments in public health and to create fellowship among the health officers of the state.

Dotto, who also serves as health officer for Hillside, is vice-president of the Union County Health Officers Association.

NOTICE IN ERROR; NO DATE SET FOR VARIANCE VOTE

A legal advertisement on a proposed zoning change which ran in the March 10 issue of The Echo was incorrect. The published legal was concerned with the removing of a piece of land on Sheraton pkwy. adjacent to the Post Office from the business parking classification. This was incorrect. No date has yet been set for a hearing on that measure.

The legal scheduled for publishing was concerned with changes in the 1955 zoning ordinance to allow a municipal pool to be constructed on a portion of the bird sanctuary that fronts on Rt. 22. The Borough Council gave final approval to that measure at a special meeting last week.

Girl Scout Troop Schedules Sale

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 424 will hold a rummage sale March 26 at Community Presbyterian Church Meeting House lane, Mountainside. Proceeds of the sale, which will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., will be used to help underwrite the cost of a three-day trip to Washington, which the troop is planning.

Sale items include clean used clothing, small and large household articles and a large assortment of white elephants.

Anyone who wishes to contribute such items may arrange for pick-up by calling AD 3-0918.

Blythe Wins Honors

George Blythe of Mountainside is on the dean's list at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison. A student in the College of Liberal Arts, he had a grade average between 82 and 85 percent.

751 Families Join Swim Pool; Budget Amendment Is Passed

The number of families who have signed up for membership in the municipal pool has reached 751, Councilman George Stillwell announced Tuesday night.

He told members of the Borough Council at its regular meeting that trees already have been cut down to make way for a 600-foot access road through Union County Park property from Mountainside ave. to the 2.7-acre site that the borough has agreed to purchase from the State Highway Department for $9,000. A check for this amount has been mailed, he said. A provision of the sale stipulated that access cannot be through State Highway Department property from Rt. 22, which borders the pool site on the other side.

The council passed a resolution requesting the County Park Commission to clear land adjacent to the pool for a picnic area and to install 12 picnic tables with benches and six fireplaces. In response to a question from the audience, Stillwell said the picnic site would remain county park property.

William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Department, said the target date for opening the pool is July 4. He said he expected to have plans and specifications from the pool architects, Eggers and Higgins of New York City this week and hoped to accept bids about April 1.

An agreement has been reached with the Board of Education to permit an easement for installation of utility pipelines through school property. The Council has also asked the school board for permission to use the athletic field adjacent to Echobrook School for use in parking 190 cars.

The proposed pool will be 165 feet long and 50 foot wide. A separate wading pool, which will be fenced in, will also be constructed. Two dressing rooms with showers will be installed in the clubhouse.

In other business, the council passed an ordinance amending the municipal budget to raise the amount to be raised by taxation from $288,250 to $297,009—an $8,750 jump.

Four thousand dollars of that sum would be alloted to additional funds for snow removal, $2,000 to the Board of Adjustment for legal services and $2,750 to the Board of Health for additional services from the Visiting Nurses Association.

The snow removal figure was raised from $9,000 to $13,000, services to the Board of Adjustment from $500 to $2,500, and the visiting nurse service from $4,300.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms said that the amount originally budgeted for snow removal is proving insufficient this year and the Council felt it would be wise to budget more rather than

Crowds Attend Linda's Dinner

Over 350 persons jammed the Mountainside Inn Saturday to climax a fund-raising campaign to help an injured child that is expected to reach $26,000.

The Linda Clark Fund totaled $23,039 as this paper went to press—a figure that does not include proceeds from the dinner tickets, which sold for $7.50 apiece, and some other projects. Proceeds from the dinner totaled $1,000.

Union County officials and people from surrounding communities joined Mountainside residents at the affair, to aid the 10-year-old girl who was paralyzed after a swing accident at Echo Lake Park last October.

Speakers included Union County Judge Chester A. Weidenburger, the Rev. Francis F. McDermott of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, and John J. Heffernan, president of the state PBA.

Final Plans Due In Trenton May 1 For New Building

Plan Hearing April 19 On Bonding Measure For Matching Funds

The word is all but "go" for the proposed Mountainside library building that has been in the active planning stages since May and a dream for some 15 years.

Sidney Mele, president of the Board of Trustees, announced this week that tentative approval has been given for a $55,476 federal construction grant, contingent upon submission of final plans and evidence of availability of local matching funds. Total cost of the building is $300,000.

The Borough Council last January passed a resolution of intent to provide the matching funds, a stipulation for receiving a grant under the Federal Library Construction Act. It must now pass a bonding ordinance. Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Tuesday said he hopes to have a public hearing on such an ordinance at the Council's April 19 meeting. It will be introduced at a special meeting, probably April 5, and advertised April 7, he said.

Final Plans May 1

Tentative approval of the plans by the State Library, Department of Education, in Trenton, held suggestions for revisions that are now in the hands of the architect, Howard L. McMurray of Elizabeth. Final plans are expected to be ready by May 1—the deadline set by Trenton.

Mele said the Board has "only begun" and will call a meeting of representatives from civic organizations soon to help get the project off the ground.

Meanwhile, he said, he wished to "express the Board's appreciation to all of the organizations who sparked, supported, prodded and inspired the project."

If all goes well, construction of the 9,984 square-foot facility is expected to be completed in about a year. Although a target date for breaking ground has not been set, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms is on record as saying he anticipates construction to start by summer.

38,000 Volumes

The self-contained one-story building is planned for a sloping site in Watchung ave. north of Rt. 22 and east of New Providence rd.

It will have a capacity for lodging approximately 38,000 volumes and seats for 60 readers. Plans call for listening equipment, record storage and microfilm reading equipment.

Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, librarian, said that service will be increased through extended library hours and improved reference materials. There will be a meeting room to accommodate about 80 people, which will adjoin a lounge with kitchen facilities, for use by organizations. The meeting room also adjoins the children's section and could be used for "story hour" sessions, Mrs. Hoffarth said.

A reading room at the front of the building will be brightened by natural light from broad front windows. A music room will be furnished by the Mountainside Music Association.

The library was started in Borough Hall in 1934 and moved four years later to Echobrook School, where it still remains.

ECHO PROFILE - - - Don Maxwell

Don Maxwell and his parents moved from New York City to Mountainside in 1907. His father, A. R. Maxwell, owner of a warehouse in the big city had bought the Johnson farm, a 108-acre operation at the top of New Providence rd.

The farm ran back from New Providence rd. to the lake in the present reservation, then right-angled to travel a crooked line to the spot where the traffic circle is now located in the reservation, then out again to New Providence rd. The Johnson farmhouse had burned down a few years previously so the new owners had a new home built. Maxwell's mother wanted the house built at the top of the hill and she wanted all the modern conveniences, including a telephone.

The house, now owned by the Sky Top Stable, was built as she wanted it but they ran into complications on the telephone. Telephone lines at that time did not run above Springfield rd. (now Rt. 22) and the Maxwells learned if they wanted a phone they would have to supply the poles for the lines.

Maxwell, a strapping young fellow, about 12 years old, went on the farm and cut down the poles, 67 of them. It wasn't too big a job, he says. Telephone wires then, particularly in the uninhibited area, were not placed as high as nowadays, Maxwell remembers — "not many people were walking under them."

A collector of memorabilia, Maxwell has a wealth of information in his files and in his memory about the early history of the town.

As proof that few were walking near their private telephone wire back in 1907, he produced a copy of the census figures for Mountainside in 1905. There were exactly 314 people in the borough that

Judge Kilkenny Guest At Lourdes Annual Breakfast

Presiding Judge Victor S. Kilkenny of the Appellate Division of the N. J. Superior Court will be the principal speaker at the annual "Father and Son" Communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. The event is scheduled March 27 in the church hall.

A 1926 graduate of Fordham University Law School, Judge Kilkenny was appointed a professor of law at that educational institution in 1929, a post he held until 1959. In 1959 he was appointed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner to the Superior Court. Prior to that time he had served as State Bar examiner.

A well-known speaker, noted for his Irish wit, Judge Kilkenny will be the principal speaker tonight at a banquet in Atlantic City sponsored by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

Stephen J. Wagner is chairman of the breakfast committee. Arthur P. Donnelly is president of the Society and the Rev. Francis F. McDermitt, the spiritual director.

The Rev. Gerard J. McGarry, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, will be an honored guest at the affair.

Mission Unit To Meet At Westfield Church

The Woman's Mission Society of the First Baptist Church of Westfield will meet next Thursday. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall by Circle 3 under the leadership of Mrs. Ernest Johnson boys, all but two from the previous census in 1950. They were quite evenly divided, 150 males and 156 females.

Mrs Prescott Crane will speak on "The Constant Quest." A devotional meditation will be given by Miss Ellen Doughty. Mrs. Lewis Hampton will preside.

The 1960 census also divided the inhabitants according to national origin. Two-hundred and fifty-three were American born, 2 were English, seven were born of German and one Italian. The balance of 20 was lumped into one mysterious classification—"Others."

Maxwell could shed no light on why that underwhelming classification. "They did things differently in those days," he says with just a hint of nostalgia, "they did lots of things different."

ONE OF THE other differences was the method of holding elections. They were held in the old blacksmith shop right in back of the row of stores.

Bob Laing, the former Borough Clerk would see you coming and he'd holler 'Hey, Charlie, how ya voting?' And if you didn't move fast he'd have your ballot marked before you reached the voting table," Maxwell chuckles remembering those more easy-going days.

An only child, Maxwell was graduated from Philip Exeter Academy in New Hampshire and attended the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, the predecessor of Rutgers, New Brunswick.

It was while at New Brunswick that he met Alma Leitheiser. The two celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in January of this year.

Mrs. Maxwell, used to the busy social life of a college community found Mountainside a very quiet country town—"with dirt roads and plank sidewalks," she recalls.

The young couple moved into their own home at 868 Mountain ave. There was no gas and water available in the borough. Later the Maxwells had pipes for both brought into their house from Westfield. They still live in the same house.

"People tell me," Mrs. Maxwell says a little indignantly, "that we ought to build a new house—why should we? I wouldn't want to move from this house."

THE HOUSE IS ideal for the Maxwells. It is only a few steps from the family business, a furniture refinishing and antique business, on Mountain ave. Their son, Bob, his wife (the former Gerturude Schweitzer of Mountainside) and their two children live in a house in the rear of the property, facing Sheraton parkway. (The senior Maxwells' only other child, a daughter, died some years back.)

Maxwell had inherited the warehouse business, by then located in Westfield, from his father. In 1928 he had a row of stores constructed on Mountain ave., near the intersection of New Providence rd. He moved a portion of the business to one of the stores and from that grew the present operation. Many people move so they will be within easy traveling distance of their work—Maxwell moved the business instead.

By then he had become deeply involved in community affairs. He was elected to Borough Council in 1924 for a three year term. He served on the local Board of Education from 1926 to 1928 when the total school budget, he says, was $18,000. In 1928 he was named secretary and clerk for the school board, a post he held until 1959.

IN 1922 HE joined the local Rotary and since that time has held every office in the organization. In addition he holds the signal distinction of never having missed a meeting, in all those years.

He helped organize the zoning and planning boards back in 1925. He was one of the charter members of the Rescue Squad, organized their first aid classes and served as an instructor for many years.

He helped establish the Trailside Museum after the county acquired the family farm as part of the present reservation. He helped organize the Bird Club of Westfield and the Antique Club.

He served as president of the Bird Club, with only a two year lapse, from 1933 to 1952. He still makes trips about twice annually to Canada where he meets other devotees of bird lore for treks into the woods.

Now semi-retired, he turned the business on Mountain ave. over to his son a few years ago. But he still pops in daily to help out when things get rushed or to keep an eye on the store when Bob is busy in the shop or elsewhere. And he is still called in when expert advice is needed for appraisals.

Retirement, Maxwell style, is a busy way of life.

Eisen Calls Again For Aspirin Limit

Jacob Eisen, chairman of the therapeutics committee of the N.J. Pharmaceutical Association, this week urged manufacturers to bottle aspirin in amounts not to exceed 25. He also recommended that each tablet be sealed in an aluminum disc.

Citing recently released Poison Prevention Week statistics, Eisen, who is vice-president of the Mountainside Board of Health, pointed out that hundreds of children die each year from aspirin overdosage. The introduction of flavored aspirin has increased the danger of accidental poisoning for children, he said.

Eisen stated the state Pharmaceutical Association adopted a resolution favoring this change at its 1965 convention. A bill to this effect has been introduced in the U.S. Senate.

Borough Artists Are Represented In Annual Show

Joseph Domareki and Mrs. Bert Souder, both of Mountainside, will be among the artists represented in the eighth annual art show and sale sponsored by the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah. The show will open Sunday in the Carriage Room of the Springfield House, Springfield, and continue through Tuesday.

Both Domareki and Mrs. Souder will have several paintings in the exhibition. Four of Domareki's pieces of sculpture will also be included.

Mrs. Herbert Seidel of Mountainside, chairman of the show, said this week that the selections committee has made a special effort to "provide a wide selection of art to meet the needs of all."

Included in the show will be low cost graphics, abstract, traditional, impressionist and modern works, collages, woodcuts, lithographs, seriographs, etchings, original drawings, sculpture and framed oil paintings by internationally known artists.

A preview champagne reception will be held Saturday from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Salisbury Takes New Look At Reds

Harrison Salisbury, national affairs editor for the New York Times, will speak March 31 in the auditorium of Westfield High School. The program is sponsored by the Westfield League of Women Voters as part of its public education program.

Salisbury, author of five books and a Pulitzer Prize winner in 1955, will speak on "A New Look At The Communist Challenge." Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Westfield League, which includes many Mountainside residents on its rolls.

The league president, Mrs. Harold Claussen, in announcing Salisbury's appearance locally, stated that, "because of great public concern about the foreign policy of the United States, it was the feeling of the League that the opinion of an expert would be welcome."

additional acreage to three-and-one-half.

The construction program would add seven new classrooms and a large group instruction room to Beechwood School. The Deerfield expansion would include nine new classrooms, a cafeteria, a large group instruction room, expanded facilities for shop, home economics, vocal and instrumental music, classrooms for typing and foreign languages, teachers' lunch room and administration offices.

Deerfield would then be divided into an elementary school, kindergarten through fifth, and a middle school, which would house all the sixth through eighth graders in the borough. Children in the elementary grades would be divided between Deerfield and Beechwood on a "geographical" basis.

Plans for the two additions were drawn by Elsasser and Miller, a Union architectural firm.

The presented plan is the result of over two [illegible] by the board, a study in which they were assisted and advised by members of the State Board of Education and an educational expert from Washington, D. C.

The meeting with the PTA is the first of several such sessions the board plans to hold with organizations in the borough to acquaint voters with its plans.

About 150 people attended the PTA meeting.

quired frontage or the proper front setback.

Angelo Appezato of Scotch Plains gained approval of his request to build a one-family house at 348 Darby lane, a lot without the required frontage. Appezato's variance was subject to his granting an easement to the borough for storm sewer work.

Decision was reserved on the application of Simon Helewa of Newark for permission to build a one-family house at 214 Central ave., a lot that lacks the required frontage.

Action was deferred until next week on the request of Mill Lane Corp. to build an addition to its industrial building at 191 Mill lane. The lot is under the required size.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (Not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. Names will be withheld upon request from non-political letters.

ON SCHOOL EXPANSION

I read, with great interest, your story on the school expansion program planned by the Mountainside Board of Education. I am for giving the best possible education to our children. I think it is being given now and has been given in the past.

However, I have two points to make since this issue may go to referendum. As I interpret the facts, the Board of Education predicts an increase of 85 students in the next seven years (an increase of approximately 12 per year) and an increased expenditure of $1,785,000.

No one has mentioned that after 1973 the school enrollment should start to drop. By that year, the greater percentage of Mountainside residents will be in their 40s or over, heir children will either be in the Mountainside system or will have entered a regional high school.

There is, to my knowledge, very little available property left for the development of new homes which would bring in young married couples. And, unless we scare them out with high taxes, most of the present residents will stay until their retirement.

Based on these facts, I feel there must be some solution other than this enormous outlay.

My second point concerns the proposed site of expansion, the Barnes tract on Mountain ave.

I have lived on this street for 19 years and feel that its selection as a school site was done without deep investigation. At the height of school traffic hours in the morning, 8 a.m. to 8:45 a.m., traffic is backed to and, at times, past the Barnes property. Add school traffic to the existing situation and children walking where there are no sidewalks and we will have created utter chaos.

I implore the devoted members of the Board of Education to move with extreme caution in this very important decision which affects every Mountainside resident.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. served as master of ceremonies and honorary chairman for the dinner. Police Chief Christian Fritz and James Debbie, co-chairmen of the fund; Elmer Hoffarth, treasurer, and Patrolman Jerome Rice, publicity chairman, were awarded "good neighbor" plaques from the Mountainside Republican Club for their efforts in the drive.

Meanwhile the Pioneer Girls of Mountainside Union Chapel have donated $3.50 to the fund. Linda was a member of the group for three years. Her mother worked as an advisor with the group before Linda's accident.

Truckers Increase Bowling Lead To 7

Villani Lift Truck, led by Alex Krupinski's 217 and Bill Bori's 203, increased their lead to seven games in the Mountainside Men's Bowling League last week by sweeping Chrones Tavern. Bliwise Liquors took three games from second place Drewettes Nursery, thereby moving into a three-way tie for second place with Drewettes and Owens Flying "A".

Flying "A", sparked by games of 225 from Ray Ayres and 201 from Ronnie Karg, took a pair from Air Con, Inc.

Other sweep victories were posted by Wilhelms Construction and Mountainside Drug while two game victories were notched by Benninger Tansey and Fugmann Fuel Oil. The match between Satellite Diner and Mountainside Plumbing and Heating ended in an even split as they tied the last game at 965.

High individual games were rolled by Ed Mullin, 221; Fred Schoemer, 213; Bob Coleman, 211; Vic Deconna, 210; Charlie Honecker Jr., 206; Bob Mullin, 204; Fred Yunker, 203; Frank Stonka and John Karmazyn, 200 each.

Up, up, up . . . have gone the costs of just about everything since 1916. But over the years the cost of calling long distance has gone way down. Today, a three-minute night station call to Los Angeles costs only $1.00 plus tax. Continuing research at Bell Laboratories, advanced manufacturing techniques at Western Electric, and the skill of the people at New Jersey Bell all helped make the change. It's a record we're proud of — and still trying to improve.

DRIVING HAZARDS INCREASED

3 Out Of 4 Cars Mechanically Deficient

DETROIT — Three out of four cars on the road have at least one mechanical deficiency that warrants driving hazard. The condition was disclosed by a statistical analysis of more than a thousand cars that have passed through one of the nation's new automobile diagnostic centers.

Especially timely because of the interest that Congress and State Legislatures are taking in the safety of automobiles, the report shows that hazards arising from mechanical deficiencies could be reduced sharply if motorists kept cars in better condition.

The report comes from Shell Oil Company's Motorlab in a suburb of Detroit. In this facility, opened in June, 1965, automobiles undergo 130 tests and checks by trained diagnosticians using electronic instruments. The tests include dynamic simulation of actual road conditions, such as turning, accelerating, climbing hills and braking, at speeds up to 70 miles per hour.

The number one deficiency spotted in the tests was improper headlight aim, which occurred in 76 per cent of the cars. Traffic safety experts consider this important because it causes two serious hazards: inadequate illumination of the road for the driver and blinding of oncoming drivers.

The 130 tests conducted by the Motorlab are grouped in 14 categories. Seven of the categories include 42 items which Shell classified as safety items. That is, they are directly related to the safe handling and operation of the vehicles or the safety of the driver. Those items are windshield wipers, lights, brake system, wheel alignment, tires and wheels suspension and steering, and exhaust system.

Safety categories aside from lights and the percentage of c deficient were as follows: wh alignment, 53 per cent; wh vibration, 46 per cent; sho absorbers, 41 per cent; licen plate lights, 26 per cent; win shield wipers, 25 per cent; bra lining 17 per cent and parkin brake, 17 per cent.

The statistical report cover 1110 vehicles. They were fou to be deficient in a total 19,205 items. Of this total, t 42 safety items accounted f 8,319 deficiencies, or 43 per ce of the total number of deficie cies.

The report said it appears th drivers are quite careful abo good maintenance of item which are easily seen and fe such as windshield wipers an brakes, but are unaware of t deficiencies they do not readil see or feel. It recommended re ular, thorough examinations cars as a means of significant reducing driving hazards.

Bulletin Issued By Civil Service

Mrs. Thelma Parkinson Sharp, president of the New Jersey Department of Civil Service, announced the issuance of the March Open Competitive Examination Bulletin.

The bulletin contains over 475 job titles and is divided into four booklets: State, Northern, Central and Southern. The State booklet contains all the current job openings in state government; and the Northern, Central, and Southern booklets include the job openings in county and municipal government in their respective sections of the state.

Contrary to popular opinion, only 12,000 of the state's 34,000 employees are located in the Trenton area. Except for smaller but significant clusters of state employees in the Newark Metropolitan area, the remaining state employees are spread throughout New Jersey.

Those interested in receiving the March Examination Bulletin and Applications should write or visit the main office, Department of Civil Service, State House, Trenton, or any of the three branch offices located at 80 Mulberry st., Newark; 316 E. State st., Trenton, and City Hall, Camden.

Local New Jersey State Employment Offices post the Examination Bulletins and have applications available. Closing date for receipt of applications is March 31, 1966. It is important to file early because in the event of a tie the earliest applicant goes ahead of the later ones.

What is your idea of a top young singing idol? Long hair, dirty, disheveld, ill-mannered? Wrong!

Bobby Vinton, who guested on the recent Danny Thomas Special, is a handsome, well-dressed, well-groomed six-footer and a college graduate to boot!

Despite the fact that he does not sing rock 'n roll, his recordings reach the phenomenal total sale of five million copies annually and last year he was named "the nation's No. 1 male vocal," by Cash Box.

Just returned from representing the United States at the San Remo International Song Festival, Bobby is glad that his singing has appeal for all ages. "My albums are doing pretty well," he grins, "and that shows that adults are learning my style too."

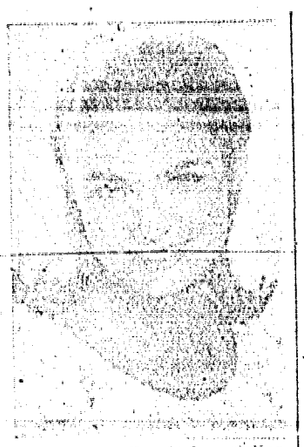
Despite the fact that he has yet to make a recording that fails to hit the charts, Vinton realizes that true success is a struggle.

"I'm not kidding myself by thinking I'm a success," he admits. "Just because I've made some hit records and a movie, that doesn't entitle me to say that I've arrived.

"New York and Hollywood are rough towns, darn rough, and I haven't even started to break through.

"Some people think that I'm one of those 'here today, gone tomorrow' singers who struck it rich with nothing but luck. They're wrong and I think I can show them that Bobby Vinton isn't just another teenage fad."

With a schedule that has him booked through next year and a new film contract in the works, Bobby Vinton's [illegible]



CHARMIAN CARR has stellar role as oldest von Trapp offspring in "The Sound of Music," nominated for 10 Academy Awards, which is currently breaking house records at Bellevue, Upper Montclair.

IN STAGE MUSICAL — James Hurst is shown with Betty Jane Watson in "Oklahoma!" which continues through Sunday at Meadowbrook Dinner Theater-in-the-Round in Cedar Grove.

IN POIGNANT DRAMA — Elizabeth Hartmann and Sidney Poitier co-star in "A Patch of Blue," about a man who befriends a blind girl, helping her to see the world through his eyes in film which opened yesterday at Palace Cinema in Orange for an exclusive engagement.

Pianist To Perform At Rutgers Concert

Bernard Ringeissen, the young French pianist who received rave reviews at his American debut last month in Carnegie Hall, will perform Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Newark Museum, 43 Washington st., at a concert sponsored by the Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences in Newark. The concert is part of the observance of the State University Bicentennial and the 300th Anniversary of Newark.

Ringeissen will perform J. S. Bach's "Partita in C Minor," "Gaspard de la Nuit," by Maurice Ravel and "Pictures at an Exhibition," by Modest Mussorgsky.

'HILL' BEGINS RUN TOMORROW WITH MYSTERY AT ART

"The Hill," which won a recent film festival award, opens tomorrow at the Art Theater, Irvington. The picture, starring Sean Connery, was photographed in the wastelands of Gabo de Gata in Spain and concerns five prisoners in a British stockade in North Africa during World War II.

On the same bill will be "Murder Most Foul," an Agatha Christie mystery, starring Margaret Rutherford.

Clinton Theatre Offers Students Special Prices

The Clinton Theatre Festival, Inc. of Clinton, announced this week it is offering special reductions for students who wish to attend performances by The Acting Company at the Music Hall in Clinton. In addition, students who attend in groups of 40 or more will be given an afternoon of lectures, discussions and workshops with members of the professional company's staff and casts. Tours of Clinton's nearby historical museum and the Hunterdon Art Center will round out an interesting and educational field trip climaxed by a performance at the theater.

The first four plays, each running two weeks Tuesday through Sunday at 8:30 p.m. and matinees Saturday and Sunday at 4 p.m., were chosen as stimulating fare for both adult and student audiences. Students may purchase subscriptions to all four plays for $5 and in turn be eligible to attend four Saturday afternoon workshops (every other week) at the theater.

Each session will open with a discussion on the current play by its director or a principal member of the cast; then there will be a seminar on one phase of a theater craft led by a different staff member each Saturday. The third portion of each workshop will be given to interest groups elected by each student according to his special interest.

These groups will be formed according to the demand from categories of acting, dance and movement, [illegible] design and construction, press relations and promotion, playwriting and directing. This work will continue from session to session and is designed to complete projects during the eight week period.

"You Can't Take It With You" opens April 12, followed by "You Never Can Tell" (with Anna Russell), "The Fantasticks" and "The Glass Menagerie" (with Dorothy Stickney, Howard Lindsay directing) Write Thom Portelli, Box 5241, Clinton, for more information.

Spring Festival Opens Tuesday In New College Theater

The first week of a "Spring Festival" in the new Newark State Theatre for the Performing Arts will offer area residents a selection of programs ranging from ballet to Count Basie to Shakespeare.

The festival, open to the general public, will get under way next Tuesday following the black tie, invitation-only dedication and champagne reception to be held in the million-dollar theatre on Monday night.

Actor Arnold Moss will open the festival with two programs, a matinee at 2 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:30 on Tuesday.

He will present his dramatic monologue, "The Seven Ages of Man," featuring readings from Shakespeare, Walt Whitman, Lewis Carroll, Charles Dickens, Ring Lardner and others.

Admission charge for this program will be $1, college officials said.

The second program in the festival series will star Virgil Fox, world-famous organist, who will give a recital on the theater's Hammond 160 organ at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

There will be no admission charge, it was reported.

Dancers Edward Villella and Patricia McBride will present a ballet concert at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday. They also will lead a symposium on their art.

Tickets for this program are priced at $2 each.

A folk-jazz-pop concert will open the first weekend of the festival at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, March 25, when the admission charge will be $1.50.

The program entitled "New Faces of 1966," will feature Bob Carey and other young artists.

Count Basie and his orchestra will present a jazz concert in the new auditorium at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 26.

Admission charge for this program, which is expected to draw a capacity audience, will be $2.50.

The first week of the festival will come to a close at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 27, when Lawrence Davidson, Metropolitan Opera bass-baritone, will present a vocal recital.

A $2 admission will be charged, it was reported.

Tickets for all programs are available by mail order from the Information and Services Desk, Newark State College, Union. They also can be ordered by telephone by calling 289-4300, extension 284, or 354-4109.

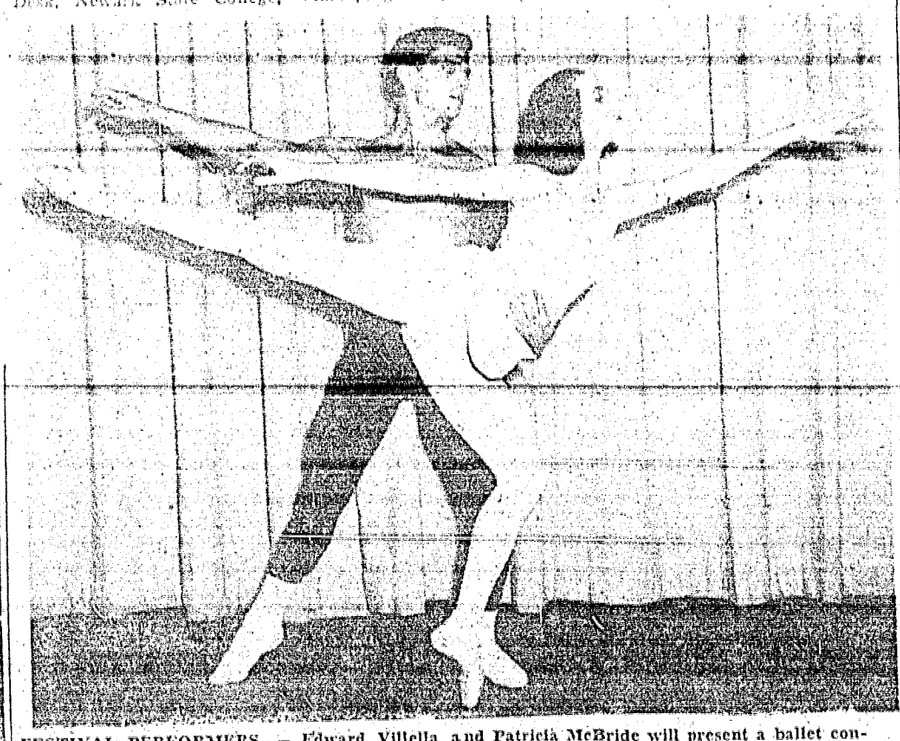
Remaining tickets will be sold at the box office at each performance. Area residents attending any of the programs also will be able to purchase tickets at the box office for future program.

Throughout the festival, an exhibit of work by alumni of the fine arts department will be on display in the lobby of the theater.

The theater, which seats 975, has a 52 by 40-foot semi-circular stage with a circular curtain similar to one designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Planned as a cultural center for the entire community, it will offer varied events open to the general public.

Only the dedication ceremonies Monday night will be limited to invited guests. At that time, actress Helen Hayes and Mrs. August Belmont, founder of the Metropolitan Opera Guild, will receive honorary doctor of letters degrees. Miss Hayes also will present a reading.



FESTIVAL PERFORMERS — Edward Villella and Patricia McBride will present a ballet concert symposium in the new Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday. Their program will be part of the first week of a "Spring Festival" which will open the million-dollar theater.

Derby Director Gives Hints To Local Entrants

In Soap Box Derby racing, an early start is a good start towards the championship. Experience of the 252 local champions who took part in the 1965 All-American proves it. "Each boy spent an average of four and a half months planning and building his racer," Ross Todaro, director of the Union County Soap Box Derby said, reporting from a survey conducted by All-American headquarters.

"The Union County Derby is scheduled for June 5 in Union, and I urge boys who are planning to enter to take a tip from the champs and register early," Todaro added.

The Champions point out in the survey that an early start allowed them time to:

Study design and construction rules carefully.

Assemble all the necessary building materials.

Build at a careful pace to avoid errors.

Thoroughly test their cars and make adjustments.

"Boys 11 through 15 years of age are eligible to enter the coasting competition, which has attracted more than a million participants since the first Derby in 1934," Todaro said.

He said that the local Derby committee anticipates a record field for this year's event.

"Each year brings greater stature for the Soap Box Derby," Todaro said. "More boys become aware of the fun and satisfaction that can come from building a car and racing against the best in the community."

First place winner in the Union County race receives a $500 savings bond, handsome trophy and an expense-paid trip to Akron for a shot at the 1966 All-American championship.

The first nine place winners at Akron will share $30,000 in college scholarships, posted by Chevrolet, national Derby sponsor.

'Time Running Out' For July Coverage

Almost all persons 65 and older who receive social security or railroad retirement benefits will automatically qualify for the hospital insurance part of Health Insurance, commonly known as Medicare, Ralph W. Jones, social security district manager in Elizabeth, said this week.

But, a person can obtain voluntary medical insurance, which pays for doctor bills and other medical services, only if he enrolls. Anyone 65 before 1966 will have medical insurance in July only if he signs up by March 31, 1966, Jones said.

"If you are in one of the following groups, time is running out. Inquire now so that you can avoid that last minute rush," he said.

1. Those of you 65 and older and still working, need to apply if you want both hospital and medical insurance. It is not necessary for you to retire to get benefits under the health insurance program.

2. Those of you 65 and older who have never worked under social security, can have hospital insurance and medical insurance but you will have this protection only if you apply. You or some member of your family can obtain more information from the Elizabeth Social Security District Office.

3. Those 65 and older, who receive social security monthly benefits, are automatically eligible for hospital insurance, and an application card for voluntary medical insurance was mailed to you. Be sure to fill it out and return it before the March 31 deadline if you want medical insurance.

"For more information about Medicare visit the Elizabeth office, 268 N. Broad st. Ask for the free booklet number two which gives a brief explanation of Medicare. The telephone number is 351-3200," Jones added.

Sponsor of the annual event is the Ladies Benevolent Association of the church, with Mrs. Emil Meyer as chairman and Mrs. Robert Potter as co-chairman.

A spokesman for the group declared:

"As in the past, a visit here will be both rewarding and relaxing. This is one of the shows that has about everything that is dear to the lovers of Americana. Beautiful old glass, rare silver, fascinating aged clocks and many traditional pieces, as well as collectors' items, will be shown.

"This will be and always has been a display of all that which is deeply steeped in our country's heritage. It is a show that has grown over the past quarter of a century minus one year to the extent that it requires two complete floors to accommodate the displays which will be brought to Springfield by the outstanding antique dealers of the East.

"There will also be an exhibition of old and recent American coins, which will be of interest to the established collector as well as the beginner. The country store which has attracted so much attention in the past with its spappy cheeses, old fashioned candies and general historical wares will be back, by popular demand.

"As is traditional with this show, there will be the customary Colonial tea room, where gracious ladies costumed in the colorful dresses of that period will be hostesses to those who choose to relax and partake of home-made delicacies.

"Since this is a "homey affair," there will be baked goods from the home kitchens offered for sale, as well as custom-made aprons made by the old fashioned hand method. Real home-cooked lunches will be featured daily."

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

Why is it that some people think that they are better than others?

In the school that I go to, there is a problem of a "clique." This is a group of students in the school that think they are the best of the bunch. Whenever some type of extra-curricular activities comes up, they don't do very much of the work but they sure take ALL of the credit for it.

One of the reasons for this is because the "clique" is on the staff of the school newspaper I and a lot of my friends think they will take over the school this year. So, now that classes are just beginning for the new term, Amy, please write an answer in your column telling these "cliques" that they are making it hard for us "non-cliques" to get a good start in our senior year.

J. A. M.

Dear J. A. M.

In every school there are the "doers" and the "nondoers" The "doers" are the leaders because they put their knowledge to good use to improve themselves and their school by taking part in extra-curricular activities. They do not think they are better . . . they merely try harder.

The "non-doers" are usually jealous. They have the same opportunities as the "doers" but do not extend themselves.

Stop complaining, "non-cliquees," and get into the swing of things. Opportunity for recognition and leadership is open to all!

ENCHANTED ISLAND

Walking through the Casbah in Algiers is a tingling adventure. It is thick with atmosphere, children, smells and mystery. At such a time it is difficult to remember Scotland and Ireland and Iceland and Scandinavia. Yet only five months previous I had been walking through the moors of Scotland thinking how difficult it was to picture the Casbah.

But in reviewing the summer Study Mission of the National Newspaper Association which had included Ireland, Scotland, England, a touch of Holland and Germany and then Scandinavia, there is not too much difference after all. Here I was on the winter Study Mission around the Mediterranean and I thought of Iceland. Iceland is thick with atmosphere, children, smells and mystery too, and so is Ireland and Hamburg and Copenhagen . . .

But of all the places, it is Iceland that has the biggest mystery.

The most astonishing single thing of both study missions was Surtsey.

So, before venturing into the story of the winter Study Mission which visited the fabulous Mediterranean area one month ago, something must be said about the fabulous Surtsey which we came close to five months ago.

Mystery In The Sea

At 6:30 a.m. on Nov. 14, 1963 an Icelandic fishing vessel was off the southernmost islands of the Iceland coast, at The Vestmann Islands in the North Atlantic Ocean, when the engineer noticed a strange smell. Thinking it came from waste water in the wake of the vessel he checked, but finding nothing unusual, he went, according to the report, "to have a lie down."

Just then the skipper came on deck and also noticed some "offensive smell" but judging it to be only a sulphur smell he too retired.

At 7:30 however, the cook who had been on watch noticed an irregular movement of the ship as if it were caught in a whirlpool and called the skipper. They then both noticed indistinctly in the half-light, something rising out of the sea which looked like a rock. Looking closer they soon realized it was smoke, and thinking a ship was on fire they called The Vestmann Islands to see if an SOS had been received.

None had. So what were they seeing? What was causing the commotion? The captain reached for his binoculars to have a closer look and what he saw, gave him a start. Black columns were rising above the surface of the sea — but why? What? How? He only knew he was seeing some phenomenon. And he was right.

A submarine eruption had begun off The Vestmann Islands and by 11 a.m. the columns had reached a height of four kilometers*. At 3 p.m. the eruption came through an unbroken fissure with a smoke column six kilometers high which could be seen from Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, about 40 miles away and the following night — an island was born.

That was the beginning of Surtsey.

On the morning of the second day of the eruption the new island had reached a height of ten meters and by Nov. 19 it was 60 meters high and 600 meters long.

It could be seen quite clearly from Reykjavik towering high above the mountains of Iceland in the southeast, and was white in the daytime and glowing pink at night. Flights by geologists and photographers kept watch on the newcomer and recorded every action.

For the first time man watched, and marveled and studied and learned.

But no one knew the explanation for it. The eruption took every one by surprise. It was believed at that time that all sources of volcanic fires were extinct in that area and there had been very few prior signs of such a development. The Reykjavik seismographs did not register tremors which with any certainty could be associated with the eruption, and on the day of the big eruption, it showed no tremors at all. It seems probable that the eruption had a slow start somewhat like the Paricutin volcano in the Mexican cornfields, and as the depth of the sea before Surtsey was 130 meters, it is probable that it took some days for a ridge to be piled up high enough to reach the surface.

BUT PILE UP IT DID, and on Dec. 6 the first landing on the island took place. Three French dare-devils, sponsored by the magazine Paris Match, went by speed boat when there was a lull in the eruptions and managed to stay about 15 minutes. Renewed eruptions forced them to leave but it probably speeded up the process of giving the island an official name. The Place Name Committee of the Iceland Government, together with the author of a book on Surtsey from which most of this information is derived, decided on "Surtsey" after the giant Surtur, who in Norse mythology came from the south with fire and fought with the god Fryr at the battle preceding the end of the world.

Since Surtsey is a volcanic island by definition and was thought most likely to disappear again (several islands which had formed many hundreds of years ago all disappeared) the vent of the volcano was to be called "Surtur" and if Surtsey disappeared into the sea also, the name Surtur could be used to refer to the submarine volcano.

Many people of The Vestmann Islands were displeased with the mainlanders giving the new island a name, thinking it was a private matter for them to select one, and on Dec. 13 some hardy Vestmann Islanders landed on Surtsey and planted a sign reading "Vesturey" which means West Island. But Surtur from precipitation but it is believed it will soon be replaced by vegetation.

Seals, the inquisitive ones, watched Surtsey from afar for a long time and on June 7 finally went ashore to take a closer look.

Surtsey, in addition to being instructive, has been beautiful to watch. "It has been a magnificent spectacle in all its variety, now delightful to watch in its sheer beauty, now awe-inspiring in its elemental fury. And this new island which has emerged from the Atlantic and is here to stay, also has a flavour of romance and adventure. It is just as if one of the blissful islands which the cartographers of the Middle Ages placed in the sea to the south of Iceland, but which no one ever had an opportunity to see, had become a reality."

Yet it is not the end of the mystery. Surtsey's fires may have ceased, but now another island has risen out of the sea close to Surtsey, and still another astonishing show is on. The islanders call the new island "The Baby of Surtsey" — and wonder if there are to be more.

Next: The Winter Study Mission

IT IS NOT KNOWN when life first began on Surtsey, but an Icelandic biologist was the first to start a systematic study of the presence of life there, and on May 14, 1964 he found considerable numbers of microbes of various kinds hovering over the island.

But it only took two weeks for the sea gulls to land there between eruptions. By April 16 there were a number of redwings and subsequently there were also dunlins, oystercatchers, kittiwakes, meadow pipits and snow buntings. Flies and butterflies have been caught there. Seeds of various coastal plants have drifted ashore but none have been known to take root as of late 1964. The green color which has a great prominence on the island results

Legion Celebrating Birthday

TRENTON — Highlighting the observance of the 47th birthday of the American Legion this week by its more than 16,000 posts throughout the country and abroad, the New Jersey American Legion and its Auxiliary will conduct special birthday parties during the month for sick and disabled veterans. These parties will be for veterans now patients at federal and state hospitals and members of state homes.

Sponsored under the direction of the Rehabilitation-Hospital committees of the two organizations, ward parties with food, entertainment and gifts, will be held at Veterans Administration Hospitals at Lyons and East Orange, State Hospitals at Trenton, Ancora, Marlboro and Greystone Park, and New Jersey Soldiers' Homes at Menlo Park and Vineland.

The Legion's 421 Posts in the state will observe the birthday with dinners, dances and various types of anniversary celebrations, all themed to the special occasion, according to William R. Huggard of Park Ridge, State Legion commander.

Commenting on the birthday anniversary, Commander Huggard said: "Founded in 1919, by veterans of the A.E.F. at a meeting in Paris, France, the American Legion today is composed of 2½ million veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean War. In addition, the Legion is giving serious study to a proposal to extend its membership eligibility to include a new generation of war veterans now being defined by the period of hostilities in Viet Nam and elsewhere in the world.
