Contract On Pool May Be Awarded Tuesday Evening

Swift Action Needed To Meet Target Date, Pool Chairman Says

The contract for the construction of Mountainside's $300,000 municipal pool may be awarded by the Borough Council Tuesday night if study of the bids is completed by that time, William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Committee, said this week. Bids on the pool will be accepted tomorrow evening in Borough Hall.

No assurance has yet been given that the Council can take action at that time, Ditzel pointed out; since the pool committee must first review all submitted bids with the architect, Egger, Young and Holderness of New York City, to insure that all specifications are met.

If no action is taken Tuesday night, the Borough Council will have to schedule another special meeting to move on the measure, Ditzel stated. Delaying such action until the regular meeting on April 19 would not be advisable, Ditzel said, if the July target date for completion of the pool is to be met.

More than 800 memberships have now been secured for the municipal pool, according to Ditzel. Abut 750 of that number are family memberships, the balance individual memberships.

Approval was granted this week by the Board of Education to allow use of part of the playground area at Echobrook School to provide additional parking facilities for the pool members. Since the pool will be used only during the summer vacation period, such parking will not interfere with classes in the school. A parking area with space for 165 cars will also be provided at the pool site.

The pool site, in the rear of the bird sanctuary adjacent to the playing field of Echobrook School, has been cleared of trees and underbrush. This part of the project was carried out by Larry Carew of Millburn. Next step is the construction of an access road to the pool site from Mountain ave., west of Parkway. Permission has been secured from the Union County Park Commission to build the road through county-owned lands. Construction of the road is scheduled to start this week, according to Ditzel.

The main portion of the proposed pool will be 165 feet long and 50 feet wide. A separate diving pool and wading pool will also be installed.

An ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $300,000 for the new facility was given final ap-

The session will open April 26 and run through May 26. Classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Goal Of Art Study - To Reach Many

By RITA ZEISS

The main goal of art education in the pubic school system is to reach as many children as possible, and thereby to impart to them a taste for the arts and to stimulate a feeling for color and balance that can enrich all areas of their lives.

Simply stated, that is the credo which guides the instruction given by Mrs. Dorothy Jannone, art instructor in Deerfield School, Mountainside.

It is also, Mrs. Jannone reports with obvious satisfaction, the approach taken by George Christy, art instructor in the elementary grades at Echobrook and Beechwood Schools.

"It gives us," Mrs. Jannone states simply, "a unity of philosophy so in the grades on the middle school level we can build on what has gone before. We can allow the students to operate freely in the various media without the restrictions of a rigid curriculum yet within the discipline of a firm foundation in color and balance and form."

NO MARKS are given in any of the art classes Mrs. Jannone conducts for the sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

"Art is such a personal thing, how can anyone judge someone else's work?" she asks in honest puzzlement.

Her answer to those who wonder what reward the children who excel in art receive in a non-graded situation is simple and direct.

"Their reward is knowing they can function well, knowing they can use the materials to create something that is meaningful to them, and, for the specially talented ones, knowing they can create something that communicates their feelings, their moods to others."

Art, according to Mrs. Jannone, is not just a creative experience since artistic judgments are part of the total life of the individual.

"In selecting furnishings, in decorating a home, in making or purchasing clothes, even a car — a knowledge of the use of colors, a feeling for form and line, they are necessary, absolutely necessary . . ."

ART, AS interpreted in the Deerfield classes, employs many materials — wool for weaving, linoleum blocks, for creating designs for printing reproduction, crayons for etchings, textured materials, clay and other materials for sculpture and ceramic work. Some of the more advanced students use the potter's wheel, an instrument which only talented fingers can master.

One day last week a group of eighth graders spent a portion of one class period working with sponges, using the porous material as brushes. Their teacher first gave a short lecture on the use of the sponge as an art tool.

"Use it," she said, "for anything bold and large. You can get a textured effect with it. You cannot capture deli-

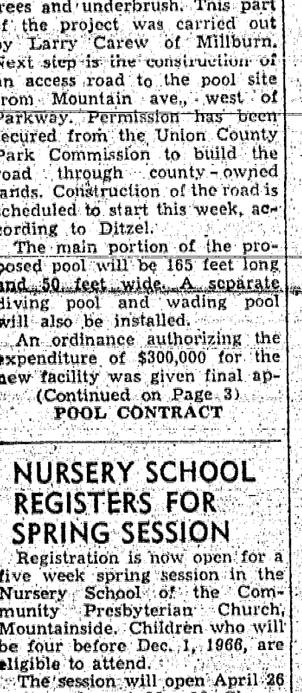
ECHO PROFILE - - - Bernard Seligman



BERNARD SELIGMAN

Bernard Seligman has been serving on Mountainside's Board of Education since 1963 when he was appointed to that body by former Mayor Albert Hartung. He was elected to a three-year term the following year.

A brisk, friendly man with a quick, disarming smile, Seligman is very serious when he discusses his reasons for serving on the school body. He believes that every citizen has an obligation to serve his community.

"We live in such a wonderful country," he says soberly, "it has given me and my family so much — we have so much to be grateful for. I firmly believe that each of us has a duty to help perpetuate the ideals on which this country was founded. This can only be done by each of us taking his responsibilities as a citizen seriously . . ." his voice has a ring of sincerity, of deep conviction.

Seligman grew up in New York City and received his bachelor's degree from Brooklyn College. His mother, who before her marriage taught in a one-room country school in Connecticut, returned to teaching after Seligman and his sister were raised. With a deep chuckle, Seligman remembers that one of her most cherished pupils in her second teaching career was a personable little fellow with one character defect — he stole things.

"Imagine, a second grade crook!" Seligman's laugh is rich and gentle as he recalls his mother's attempts to reform the elementary delinquent.

"She said he was worth all the work and worry — he had such a wonderful personality."

Seligman himself seems to have this warm, accepting attitude toward people. Recently appointed coordinator of chem-

School Bond Goes To Vote May 10; Public Hearing Set May 4 In Deerfield School

May 10 has been set by Mountainside's Board of Education as the date for the voters' referendum on the proposed $1,785,000 bond issue for school construction. A public hearing on the plan, which would involve additions to Deerfield and Beechwood Schools, the vacating of Echobrook School and acquisition of land as a replacement site, will be held May 4 in Deerfield School, Central ave.

Voters in all five districts will cast their ballots on the bond issue in Deerfield School.

The Board this week issued a statement assuring residents that the building of additional classrooms at Deerfield School will in no way curtail Little League baseball activities.

All Little League ball fields are located on school property. The board emphasized that even though its building plans will require some relocation of playground and parking facilities at Deerfield adequate provisions will be made for the Little League field. The board's architectural plans provide funds for land development to eliminate drainage problems and wooded areas. This would add more playground space at the Deerfield site. The proposed land acquisitions, approximately four acres at Beechwood and about three-and-one-half acres at Deerfield, will provide additional recreational space.

The Board stressed the need for a proper recreational program in the borough and assured Little League leaders that it will "fully cooperate" if it becomes necessary to relocate any of the Leagues facilities.

The bond issue, if approved by the voters, would be amortized on a 30-year basis at four percent interest. The board estimates that this would mean a tax increase of about $47.70 a year for the owner of a $30,000 home. This increase would be offset, the board stated, by the increase in the valuation of real estate due to the upgrading of the schools.

The $1,785,000 figure allows $1,425,000 for construction of the Deerfield addition and $275,000 for the Beechwood addition. No breakdown on the land acquisition figure has been provided yet. In addition to the acreage at the two school sites, the Board plans to purchase a five acre tract on Mountain ave. owned by Joseph Barnes, as a replacement site for Echobrook School.

FUNDS FOR LIBRARY

Council Introduces Ordinance Tuesday

An ordinance supplying public funds for the proposed new Mountainside Public Library will be introduced by the Borough Council at a special meeting scheduled Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. Public hearing on the measure is expected to be held April 19 in Echobrook School.

Although no exact figure was available at press time, the amount authorized by the proposed ordinance is expected to be about $250,000. This figure represents the $300,000 estimated construction cost less the $35,476 in federal funds tentatively promised to the borough.

The assurance of public funds is one of the steps necessary to secure firm approval of the federal grant. Such funds must be guaranteed to the project by May 1 in order to receive final approval of the grant from the State Library Board. The final approval is also contingent upon the submission of revised plans as recommended by the state board.

The final plans, revised according to the state recommendations by the architects, Howard, McMurray Associates, are scheduled to be presented tonight to representatives of civic and fraternal associations in the borough. Sidney Mele, president of the Library Trustees, has invited about 20 organizations to send representatives to a special meeting which will open at 8:15 in the present library in the basement of Echobrook School.

The schematic floor plan of the building, which is to be located on borough-owned property north of Rt. 22 and east of New Providence rd., will also be on display tonight.

Mele, Gene Simpson and Harry Devlin, co-chairmen of the Library's Redevelopment Committee, will explain in detail the plans for the library to the organization representatives.

If the bonding issue is approved and the federal grant secured, construction of the new library, a one-story, self-contained building, will begin this summer. The building, will begin this summer. The building, which will be about 9,934 square feet, is expected to be completed within the year.

An access road will be constructed from the building to Birch Hill rd. Access will also be provided for walkers and bicycle riders by a path to the overpass over Rt. 22.

The building will have accommodations for about 38,000 volumes and seats for 60 readers. It will also contain a meeting room and a lounge with kitchen facilities. The meeting room will be available to or-

Barnes Property Defended As Site By School Board

Mountainside's Board of Education this week defended its selection of the Joseph Barnes acreage on Mountain ave. as a replacement site for Echobrook School. The wisdom of buying that site was questioned by Joseph F. Barry of 1113 Mountain ave., Mountainside, in a letter to the editor published in the March 17 issue of the Mountainside Echo.

The board president, Roger Thwing, pointed out in a letter addressed to Barry and sent to the Echo for publication, that the site, a five acre tract, would not be built on for many years, if at all. Its acquisition was necessary to provide future boards with "flexibility in the event the projected 21.6 percent population increase expected in the New Jersey area by 1975 does in some unforeseen way effect Mountainside," he said.

Thwing also pointed out that the heavy traffic on Mountain ave., which Barry cited in his letter as a reason for not locating a school site there, would be relieved before any building would be erected on the tract. Thwing based this theory on the master plan submitted by Herbert Smith Associates of Trenton, consultants for the local Planning Board, which recommended

Road Repair Bids To Be Received In Borough Hall

Sealed bids for the maintenance and repair of Mountainside roads will be received April 18 at 2 p.m. in Borough Hall, Rt. 22, Mountainside. Specifications and forms of bids for the proposed work, prepared by Borough Engineer Robert Koser, may be inspected by prospective bidders during business hours (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) in Koser's office on the second floor of the Borough Hall.

Bidders will be furnished with a copy of the specifications by the engineer on proper notice and payments of cost of preparation. Bids must be made on standard proposal forms, enclosed in sealed envelopes and addressed to the Borough Clerk of Mountainside.

Each bid must be accompanied by a non-collusion affidavit and a certified check for not less than 10 percent of the amount bid, provided said check need not be more than $20,000 nor less than $500.

Elks Raise $3,007 To Help Linda Fund

About $3,007 was raised this week for the Linda Clark Fund by the Mountainside Elks. The sum, which brings the total amount of the fund over $26,000, represents the profits cleared on a special project the lodge carried out to help Linda.

Linda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of Walnut st., were guests of the Elks last Saturday night when the name of the winner in the project was announced. The first prize, a console color television set, went to E. W. Fenwick of Fairview.

Charles Carson Sr. of 1372 Mohawk dr. was chairman of the fund raising effort. The exalted ruler, Clarence Place, was among those serving on the committee.

Linda's father expressed Saturday night his family's gratitude for the support, both financial and moral, given to them by residents of the borough. He also announced that the doctor has informed him and his wife that Linda will be sent to Warm Springs, Ga., for further therapy after treatment at Overlook Hospital has been completed.

Linda, who has been in the Summit hospital since last Oct. 30 when she was seriously injured in a playground accident, was transferred last week to a special brace which hospital authorities said would enable her to sit up in graduated stages.

Mr. Clark said recently that doctors now hope for a complete recovery for the 10-year-old girl. She was not expected to live last October when two of the vertebrae in her neck were severed after she was hit in the head by a swing. At first she was completely paralyzed but over the past several weeks she has regained some movement in her arms and legs.

The Linda Clark Fund was established last December to help the Clarks meet hospital and medical costs. Police Chief Christian Fritz and James Debbie, proprietor of Mountainside Deli, were co-chairmen and Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, honorary chairman. Borough Clerk Elmer Hoffarth served as treasurer and Patrolman Jerome Rice handled publicity.

Readings from the Christian Science textbook ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy) will include these lines: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul . . . Only those who repent of sin and forsake the unreal, can fully understand the unreality of evil."

Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Unreality."

Plan Passover Meal At Baptist Church

A Passover meal will be the setting for a service in observance of Holy Thursday at the First Baptist Church of Westfield on April 7. The congregation will meet at 6:45 p.m. for preparatory worship and the reception of new members.

The meal, with menu and table setting indicating the kind of experience Christ shared with His disciples, will be hosted by members of the Board of Deacons of the church. These people will read for the group words of Jesus, during the supper hour.

The ordinance of communion will be received at the conclusion of the meal.

Palm Sunday Vespers scheduled Sunday at 5 p.m. in First Baptist Church will feature the ordinance of baptism by immersion. The Rev. William K. Cober, will conduct the service for a group of youth who have been preparing for several months for their baptism.

Included in the services will be selections from the cantata, "The Messiah" by Handel.

The last of the noon Lenten devotional services will be held next Wednesday at 12:05 in the Baptist Church. Pastor Cober's sermon topic will be "On Being Alive," based on the theme, "Our Needs — Christ's Answer."

The service, which will close at 12:30, will be followed by a light lunch in the Fellowship Hall of the church. A free-will offering will be taken for the lunch.

The public is invited to attend the service and the lunch.

Irvington Man Penalized $200 In Marathon Court Session

In one of the longest sessions on record, Mountainside's Municipal Court on last Tuesday night battled for almost three hours to dispose of a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Magistrate Jacob Bolz found the accused, Michael J. Dobrhaus of 115 Melrose ave., Irvington, guilty and fined him $200 and costs of court on the charge. Dobrhaus was issued a summons on March 11 by State Trooper Charles Day.

The Irvington man, who was represented by an attorney, brought in several character witnesses in his attempt to defeat the charge. His case, the last one on the docket, came up about 9:15 and ran until midnight.

Unreported Accident

In the same court session, Ronnie J. Stella of Middlesex was fined $50 and costs of court for not reporting an accident which occurred March 1 on Rt. 22. Stella pleaded not guilty to the charge.

A fine of $25 was levied against Arthur L. Lodge of Watchung for using carelessly and heedlessly of a charge of driving an unregistered vehicle.

Four motorists, John Maltese of Hackensack, William S. Tancock of Roselle, A. & E. Shoe of Newark and William F. Vanwert of Irvington paid municipal charges for not answering their original summonses.

Maltese also forfeited $35 in bail and was fined $10 and court costs, for backing up on Rt. 22. Tonchick was fined $10 for not displaying an inspection sticker, A. & E. paid a $10 fine for no inspection and Vanwert was fined $10 for disregarding a traffic signal.

Other Violators

Others fined were: James Dawson of Plainfield, no New Jersey driving license, $10; Jonathan L. Dietz of Murray Hill, allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle, $20; Robert J. Murphy of Watchung, no inspection, $10, and careless driving, $13; C. Goburia of Raritan, speeding, $10; Charles A. Mackay of 1136 Saddlebrook rd., Mountainside, speeding, $15; Anthony Bonanno of Scotch Plains, improper turn, $10.

Also: George E. Takitch of North Plainfield, careless driving, $13; Joseph A. Frascino of Westfield, speeding, $10; Charles Profito of Westfield, failure to keep right, $10; Samuel Freed of New Market, careless driving, $13.

ganizations in the borough, Mele said last week.

The library was started in Borough Hall in 1934 and moved four years later to its present location. It became a municipal facility in 1961. Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, the present director, has worked in the library for the past 20 years.

The library trustees, led by Mele, have been pushing for a new building for the past few years. The Redevelopment Committee was formed early in 1965.

The building of the new library was described by Mayor Frederick Wilhelms in his speech at the 1966 organizational meeting of the Borough Council as one of the prime goals of the governing body. Wilhelms at that time set July as the target date for the start of construction.

Goal Of Art

cate line, definite forms with it — use it to convey a feeling, a mood — it is good for fantasy — I see it creating something gay and joyous — maybe it gives you a different feeling — use it to interpret your own feelings . . ."

The results were as broad and as varied as her instructions. One child, using the folded sponge as a fine-pointed brush, turned out an enchanting, webb-footed bird squatted in swamp reeds from among which pale violet blossoms sprung. The lines were definite and almost delicate.

Another transformed the plain art paper into a yellow background with the texture look of burlap, on which she superimposed a brown banjo with the grained look of fine wood and gay musical notes. Another, created with soft pastels of pink and blue a misty, ethereal scene like a beach washed in the vaporous fogs of a late spring twilight. Others used the sponges as printing instruments, repeating over and over across the face of their paper exact designs.

BUT NONE were marked, all were proudly signed with the artists' names and none were judged or compared.

The seventh and eighth graders have one period of art a week, the sixth graders two.

But about 38 children come to the Art Club which meets twice a week with Mrs. Jannone. These students, all of whom elected to join the club, work in what Mrs. Jannone calls a "studio situation." By that she means that each student works independently, deciding which medium he will use and what form his creative efforts will take. Mrs. Jannone serves as a "resource" person, there when needed but only as a source of guidance when a snag is hit, never as a critic or interpreter.

A graduate of Newark State College, Mrs. Jannone did graduate work at New York University and the New School in New York City and studied privately with Professor Hale Woodruff. Although her artistic talents are obvious, and highly praised by her colleagues, she says that she considers herself first and primarily an art educator.

AS AN EDUCATOR, she finds herself stimulated by the work which her art students turn out, particularly those who work in the Art Club. She points out with long, supple artist's fingers a large abstract in blues and yellows on which one of the students is working, a small but exquisite bust sculpted by another, a delicate block print executed by another — many intriguing pieces which would do credit to talented adults.

She speaks feelingly, and with obvious gratification, of the many students who have come to her classes during the 13 years she has been working in borough schools without any previous experience in art classes. It has been heartwarming, she reports, to see them losing their hesitancy, their rigidity and, in several cases, their emotional tensions as they find release for their feelings in working in one of the many art forms offered to them.

Such students, she points out, prove her contention that art is an essential.

"It is healthy and necessary," she insists.

School Bond

Walter Rupp and Bernard Seligman, are meeting with representatives of the Borough Council to discuss the possibility of the borough taking over Echobrook School and its land after it is vacated for educational purposes. The board offered the land to the borough before considering other disposition.

Plans for the two additions were prepared by Elsasser and Miller, a Union architectural firm.

The program, if carried through, would divide Deerfield School into a Middle School for sixth, seventh and eighth graders and an elementary school for kindergarten through fifth. Beechwood would remain an elementary school. Borough children in elementary grades would be divided between the two schools on a geographical basis. All sixth, seventh and eighth graders would attend the Middle School at Deerfield.

proval by the Borough Council on March 8. The ordinance allowed $291,000 for the construction of the pool, the access road and the shower rooms and $9,000 for the purchase of the site, about 2.7 acres, from the State Highway Department.

The project will be financed by a bond issue of $285,000 with $15,000 coming from capital funds. The pool will be self-liquidating so the bond issue will not affect the borough's borrowing capacity.

Parade Through Town Streets Paves Way For Variety Show

A devil's harp, guitars, horns and other assorted musical instruments provided background Saturday for the parade which wended through Mountainside street to ballyhoo the annual variety show of the Mountain Music Association. About 50 members of the cast, riding in convertibles or prancing alongside, made numerous stops to sell tickets for Friday and Saturday's performances to the householders who came out to watch the parade.

Many of the youngsters jumped on their bicycles to join the line of march that wound up and down borough streets from Central ave. to Meeting House lane.

Andrea Hyde, a teenage folk singer who will appear in the show, played her guitar while riding a motor scooter. Another teenager, Cindy Blair, rode the back seat of the scooter, assisting in the impromptu hootenanny.

Cast members wore costumes and carried posters to advertise the show which will be presented Friday and Saturday nights in the gymnasium of Deerfield School. Curtain time both nights will be 8:30.

Tonight's final dress rehearsal, set at 7:30 in Deerfield's gym, will be open to children. Admission will be 50 cents.

Admission to the two regular shows is $1.75 a ticket. Proceeds of the production will go to help furnish and equip a music corner in the proposed new Public Library.

The show, entitled "My Kind of Town," will include scenes set in Miami Beach, New Orleans, New York City and other cities in the country.

A new movie, "Average Is A Tiger Named Clyde," written and produced by Don Goff of Mountainside, will be included in the production. Two of Goff's former movies, "Earth Natives in Their Habitat" and "The Butler Did It," have won awards and international acclaim.

Aden Lewis, coordinator of music in borough schools, and Mrs. Jeanne Wilhelms are producers and directors of "My Kind of Town."

The full text of the Board's letter to Barry follows:

"Your letter to the editor, which appeared in the March 17 issue of the Echo, points out the need for communication. You have raised two important questions — one dealing with the proposed third site, the other with total dollars.

"In answer to your first concern, the site chosen will not be built upon for many years and is justified because we (the Board of Education) believe it unwise to dispose of lands thoughtfully provided by a past Board without providing a future Board with flexibility in the event the projected 21.6 percent population increase in the New Jersey area by 1975 does in some unforeseen way effect Mountainside.

"Secondly, by the time the it is probable that the State's third site would be built upon, plans for a parallel route to Rt. 22 and the development of an overpass at New Providence rd. (as recommended by the planning consultant) will have been completed thus relieving the traffic locally. The site, which is contiguous to Union County Park lands, would have access from more than one entrance and would be a considerable improvement over present Echobrook.

"Your concern about the total cost is understandable and indeed it is a deep concern of the Board. There are two basic problems — one, that of replacing obsolete Echobrook School, the other of providing facilities for quality education for the middle school, grades six, seven, and eight. In order to meet State minimum requirements and to provide facilities to give Mountainside children an education equal to those children with whom they compete in high school, the Middle School will need expanded facilities. Very briefly, deficiencies include: shop, mechanical drawing, home economics, art, instrumental and vocal music, large group instruction, language, typing, science and special services space (speech therapy, math clinic, psychological testing, health, guidance, etc.), an adequate place for children and teachers to eat, and an administrative area to replace rented quarters.

"The proposed solution to the problems included the point efforts of some eight outside State and private consultants, an architect, your superintendent, and the Board of Education.

"Within the severe limitations of available land, existing facilities, and reasonable economics, your Board believes the plan outlined in last week's Echo is the best of the several solutions which reached the drawing board stage in the last two years of planning.

"The Board will hold a public meeting on a date to be announced to answer questions. In the meantime, it is suggested any questions be sent to the Board secretary, John McDonough, who will arrange to have the questions answered."

ical product sales for Engelhard Industries, a firm with which he has been associated for 15 years, he is well known throughout the plant. Uniformed men who guard the plant near McCarter Highway, Newark, recognize his name when it is mentioned and grin as though to say, "Oh yes, he's a friend of mine," as they hasten to direct the questioneer to his office.

STILL RETAINING his former title, manager of chemical catalyst sales, Seligman has a busy schedule, one that entails a lot of traveling throughout the United States and Canada. A member of the American Chemical Society, the Catalyst Club of New York and the Saleman's Association of the American Chemical Industry, Seligman did his graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

It was while he was in Pittsburgh that he met his future wife, the former Joy Julius. The couple and their two sons, Jonny, now 14, and Leonard, 11, moved to their present home at 349 Summit rd., Mountainside, 10 years ago. Johnny is now in the eighth grade and Leonard in the sixth, both at Deerfield.

Before his appointment to the Board of Education, Seligman served as a trustee of the Mountainside Library Association before the library became a municipal facility in 1960. He remembers the study the trustees conducted on the need for a library in the borough. One of his most prized possessions is his copy of the book-sized report completed under the instructions of the trustees' advisor, a former president of the American Library Association and a Rutgers professor. The report didn't cost a cent, Seligman remembers; the consultant had one of his graduate students carry out the project as part of his work toward his doctorate.

"MOUNTAINSIDE HAS always had outstanding men, extremely well-qualified men who have donated their services to the community," he emphasizes.

A former handball and wrestling enthusiast, Seligman now limits his athletic endeavors to golf. He describes himself as "just a duffer" but he enjoys the game and hopes to get out on the links quite often this summer. He has joined a private club recently established in Warren Township.

He, Joy and the boys have signed up for membership in the municipal pool. They all expect to get a lot of fun from that.

Mrs. Seligman, who used to be very active in the National Association for Retarded Children, has signed up for a refresher course in nursing which opens in April at Overlok Hospital.

"But that doesn't mean," her proud husband says with something like alarm in his voice, "that she's going back to work."

Last summer Seligman combined business and pleasure on a trip to California. Sent there by his concern, the largest dealers in precious metals in the world, he took his wife and sons along. While he was involved in business, his family travelled around and on weekends the four toured the state. They found the California state parks unbelievably beautiful and well equipped and spent a good deal of time in them.

READING TAKES up a good part of Seligman's time. In addition to the technical journals he reads in connection with his work, he enjoys historical and scientific writings. Holder of several patents, he has had many papers published in chemical journals.

This Saturday, on the invitation of Governor Richard Hughes, he will attend the Governor's Conference on Education to be held in Rutgers, New Brunswick.

His reaction on receiving the invitation is perhaps typical of his unpretentious attitude. Because he had received one he assumed all the other members of the local school board had also.

"I don't know why I was invited—but I'm going. It's a wonderful honor and a privilege."

A firm believer in the value of education, Seligman is keenly aware of the changes and the expansion that must occur on all educational levels from the elementary schools through the universities to keep apace with the vast changes in the world.

One of the proofs he uses of those changes is the uses made of platinum in industry. "Just a few years back," he points out, "95 per cent of platinum was used for jewelry. Now less than one per cent goes to that area, the balance is used in industry and in the aero-space program."

His tone implies that broad education, even more precious than platinum, must also be refined, distilled and introduced into many new areas.

Two Silos Approved By Planning Board

Mountainside's Planning Board approved Monday night an application from Sterling Plastic Co. for permission to erect two storage silos in the rear of its present plant on Sheffield st. The silos, according to Herman Hasenzhl, who represented the firm, will be used to store styrene in pellet form. The pellets will be fed to the machines in the main plant via ducts.

Tentative approval was also given to Palnut Corp. to build an addition of approximately 21,000 square feet to its present building on Glen rd. The addition will be used for storage and office space. Approval was given subject to more definite description of the parking at the site and subject to approval of the local Fire Department and the State Labor Board.

An application from John Kovacs of 1140 Rt. 22 to build a small addition to his home was denied. Kovacs was referred to the Board of Adjustment since his lot does not have the required 100 foot frontage.

No action was taken on a subdivision application submitted by Johnbil Realty. The applicant sought to divide property at Summit rd. and Prospect ave. into four building lots. The board delayed action until the present status of the land is ascertained since the previous owner obtained conditional approval of a similar application back in February, 1962.

A son, John Edward, was born March 11 at Overlook Hospital, Summit, to Mr. and Mrs. Werner Schon of 1082 Sunny Slope dr., Mountainside. He joins Tommy, 8, Douglas, 4, Kathy, 6, and Linda, 7. Mrs. Schon is the former Carol Ann Wrtalik.

Bumball Elected Rotary President

Stephen W. Bumball of 323 Briar patch, Mountainside, has been elected president of the Rahway Rotary Club for the 1966-1967 year.

Most recently vice president of the club, Bumball has also served as a director and program chairman. Employed as sales manager of the Equipment Division of Purolator Products Inc. in Rahway, Bumball has been a Mountainside resident for 10 years.

He and his wife Verna have two children. Stephen and Laurie Jean, and are members of the Community Presbyterian Church.

'Copter Pilot Talks Shows Slides At School

Fred Feldman, pilot of Helicopter 710 and traffic announcer for Radio Station WOR, was the guest speaker at a recent assembly in Deerfield School, Mountainside.

Feldman, who is also a captain in the U.S. Air Reserve, showed three sets of slides during his hour-long talk. One set of slides presented aerial views of New York City taken from Helicopter 710. The second set showed pictures of the Air Force in action in Korea. The third set condensed into a few slides the dramatic story of the fight for freedom from poverty and illiteracy now going on in under-privileged countries throughout the world.

Feldman's message to the Deerfield students urged them to work hard in school and to remember that in the deprived nations of the world children their age are "fighting for an education and would give almost anything to trade places with you." He also urged them to be proud they are Americans.

Before coming to Deerfield School, Feldman reported on traffic on Rt. 22 over WOR, expressing the hope that it would ease up before he had to drive. The students were hoping Feldman would taxi up in his helicopter, but regulations forbade it.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Joyce McCobb, social studies teacher at Deerfield, with the cooperation of WOR.

Registration Opened For Girls' Softball

Registration was held Tuesday night in Deerfield School for girls interested in playing with the Softball League sponsored by Mountainside's Recreation Commission. All borough girls from the fifth through the eighth grades are eligible to join the league.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Nora McCaffrey of 276 Woodacres ct. Mrs. McCaffrey heads the girls division of the borough's baseball league.

Bliwise Liquors Takes Second, Only 6 Games Behind Leader

Bliwise Liquors took three games from Mountainside Luncheonette and gained second place in the Mountainside Men's Bowling League during the March 21 competition at Echo Lanes.

Bliwise Liquors also cut Villani Lift Truck's league lead to six games. Villani lost two of three games to Mountainside Plumbing and Heating. Izzie Zemla's 610 series, including games of 262 and 202, John Karmazyn's 209 and 203, and Charlie Honecker's 221 sparked the plumbers' victories over the league leaders. Leon Friedman rolled games of 221 and 212 for the losers.

The Mountainside Police swept Owens Flying "A" Service behind games of 207 and 201 by Ed Mullin, Ray Ayres had a 200 game for the losers.

John Kovacs rolled a 605 series, including games of 217 and 214, to lead Mountainside Drug to a sweep victory over the Westfield National Bank. Benninger-Tansey Agency took the measure of Air-Con Inc., 2-1, in spite of Bob Coleman's 611 and Bill Schusters' 601 series. Bob's high game was 238 while Bill had 213 and 203. Don Tambini mustered a 210 for Benninger-Tansey.

Chrone's Tavern took a pair from Satellite Diner even though Sal, Saverini rolled a 219.

Fred Schoemer's 218 led Fugmann Fuel Oil to a 2-1 victory over Drewette's Nursery as Frank Jareski shot a 201 for the losers. Mountainside Deli took a pair from Wilhelm's Construction.

FLORENCE P. DWYER (6th District N.J.)

(Editor's note: This week's column is a statement by Rep. Dwyer before the N.J. Public Utilities Commission hearing on the proposed discontinuance of Erie-Lackawanna Railroad commuter passenger service. The statement was made Monday.)

In view of the extensive record which has already been made in these hearings, I shall try to be brief and highlight what seem to me are the principal factors which weigh against approval of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad's application for discontinuance of its New Jersey commuter service.

First, the carrier's strikingly improved financial position in 1965 as compared with 1964, and its increased passenger revenues on certain of its branches including the Gladstone branch which serves part of Union County, suggest that there is no immediate or urgent need to discontinue the railroad's entire commuter service. To do so would be analogous to throwing out the baby with the bath water.

Second, if service should be abandoned, the impact of up to 37,000 new commuters on the highways of New Jersey, the trans-Hudson approaches to New York, and the streets of the City itself would be catastrophic. The relatively small amount the Erie-Lackawanna would have would be compounded many times over in added costs to commuters and the general public.

Drastic Step

Third, such a drastic step as the discontinuance of service for approximately one-half of all the State's commuters by railroad seems highly premature in the light of genuinely hopeful developments leading toward a sounder financial basis for commuter railroads. These include: the increasing commitment of the State of New Jersey to the support of rail commuter service; growing concern in Congress and the Executive Branch about the consequences of deteriorating commuter service; the added knowledge obtained through demonstration projects under the Mass Transportation Act; recent technological improvements in rail equipment and the related stimulus given to research in this field by approval of a high-speed ground transportation program by Congress late last year; and, of more immediate significance, the application of the State Highway Department for a federal mass transportation demonstration grant for the Erie-Lackawanna and the comprehensive service and equipment improvements such a grant would finance.

These factors, it seems to me, summarize the compelling case against approving the railroad's application to discontinue commuter service. Despite its negative, do-nothing and essentially irresponsible attitude, the railroad's management should be compelled—as a public utility—to accept its obligation to provide essential passenger service and to cooperate in an honest effort to make such service more self-sufficient by means of improved schedules, equipment and maintenance.

If the Erie-Lackawanna ran its freight operations the way it runs its passenger service, the system would long since have gone into bankruptcy. It should be emphasized that the railroad operates both services under basically the same kind of public grant of authority. It has an equal responsibility to manage both in the public interest. Yet, in contrast to the tens of millions of dollars it has spent to modernize freight service, it has done nothing to improve passenger service. The railroad has not, as it claims, "lost" passengers and passenger revenues; it has deliberately thrown them away.

Since New York City is the destination of a substantial percentage of Erie-Lackawanna commuters, it is necessary to consider the effect of the proposed discontinuance on the users of existing traffic transportation services. Here are some statistics, for example, which were developed by the Regional Plan Association and which demonstrate conclusively that only at exhorbitant expense in money and in destruction of built-up areas and badly needed parks could additional highway capacity be provided to take care of abandoned commuters.

Tiny Area

The Central Business District of Manhattan comprises only 3.6 square miles out of a total of 7,000 square miles in the New York Metropolitan Region, which includes Union County, New Jersey. However, no less than 28 percent of the Region's entire labor force works in and commutes to this tiny area of concentrated economic activity.

Although only 9 percent of these 3½ million commuters enter by cab or private automobile, there is no more room for cars since all approach roads are filled to capacity during rush periods.

Even if all the highways to Manhattan, all the bridges and tunnels, all the entry streets, the East River and West Side Drives and the downtown avenues were doubled in capacity or duplicated, there would only be room for 22 percent of commuters to travel by car.

Even the relatively modest proposal of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority to widen the Henry Hudson Parkway, build a third tube to the Queens-Midtown Tunnel and link it with two expressway approaches would cost $350 million and allow only 8,000 additional peak-hour commuters by car—an average cost of about $22,000 per person.

The pattern of concentrated business activity in Manhattan and spreading residential suburbs in New Jersey and elsewhere—which accounts for the commuter problem—continues to increase. In the past 25 years, the Central Business District, which is one-four hundred thousandth of the country, has had about the same amount of office space built and occupied as the rest of the country combined.

With substantially less than two passengers utilizing each automobile commuting to New York, several thousand additional vehicles could be expected to compete for unavailable space if the Erie-Lackawanna's application were approved. This could, of course, be the breaking point.

Factors

On the other hand, in determining the validity of the carrier's application to discontinue its commuter service, I would urge you to consider these additional relevant factors bearing upon the company's ability to continue service:

(1) For the 12 months ending December 31, 1965, the Erie-Lackawanna increased total operating revenues $17.5 million above those for the preceding year. In the same period, net railway operating income rose from a minus $500,000 in 1964 to above $12.2 million. The railroad's current position in terms of assets and liabilities has likewise greatly improved. Source for these figures is Standard and Poor's Corporation Records.

(2) The railroad's financial position has improved steadily since 1961, the first year of its merger, when it suffered its largest deficit.

(3) Assuming a successful conclusion to the carrier's present attempt to join a merger with the Norfolk & Western Railroad, it should be in a far stronger financial position which should permit more aggressive efforts to strengthen its commuter passenger operations in New Jersey.

(4) The disparity between the railroad's own estimate of its passenger losses and the much lower estimate of the State Division of Railroad Transportation, coupled with the apparent inability of the railroad to produce accurate details of its New Jersey commuter revenues and expenses, suggests that there is considerable merit to the proposal of Professor Danielson, the Governor's consultant on commuter transportation, that passenger losses be computed on the basis of costs which would not be incurred without commuter service.

(5) In addition to the approximately $12 million the railroad has received in commuter subsidies from New Jersey since 1960, it has also been the beneficiary of substantial indirect subsidies resulting from the arbitrarily low rate at which much of its real estate is taxed.

(6) Between 1956 and 1964, according to the railroad itself, freight and passenger revenues both declined approximately 20 percent, despite the sizable investment in freight cars and diesel engines which, in 1964 alone, totalled about $20 million. Little, if any, money was invested in its commuter service during this period.

(7) The railroad's contention that passenger revenue declines force it to discontinue commuter service should be viewed in the context of a series of steps in recent years involving discontinuance of individual commuter trains, increasing fares, and reduced spending for maintenance and service, combined with a complete failure to institute improvements designed to attract new patronage.

It is obvious, I think, that the Erie-Lackawanna has not made a good-faith effort to fulfill its responsibility to the public for provision of adequate commuter service, and until it makes such an effort it has no moral basis for discontinuing this service.

While the railroad's application to discontinue commuter service is the sole issue before the Public Utilities Commission, it is not enough, in the perspective of the public interest, to deny the application. Positive steps must be taken by the railroad, by the State and by the Federal Government to encourage a resurgence in commuter railroad service sufficient to place such service on a financially stable long-range basis.

A vicious cycle is presently working against the public interest. Declining service, discontinuance of trains, increasing fares, and inadequate schedules are forcing more and more commuters on to the highways, thereby increasing pressures to build new roads, bridges, tunnels and parking spaces which, in turn, lead to even greater railroad passenger losses and more severe traffic jams.

We need to reverse this trend and begin a new cycle in which improved service will attract more passengers, assure financial stability for carriers, and ease the pressure on highway users. Several things can and are being done.

She is state chairman of housing and household equipment for the American Home Economics Association and has taught at Rutgers University and Montclair State College.

Youthful Musicians May Now Join Newark Drum And Bugle Group

Members are being sought for the Weequahic Drum and Bugle Corps of Newark, according to Mrs. John Campbell of 329 Jonet st., Roselle, who is in charge of publicity for the youth organization.

Mrs. Campbell, a music enthusiast and a Roselle resident for 18 years, said the corps' goal is to fight juvenile delinquency, instill a love of music in youth, and give the members opportunities for travel and entertainment.

The group is supervised by adults during all activities. Uniforms and instruments are furnished and no fees are charged.

Mrs. Campbell pointed out that many members of the organization are serving their country in Viet Nam. She said the corps has openings for baglers, drummers, cymbalists and color guard marchers. Mrs. Campbell emphasized that no boy will be refused membership even if he doe not play a musical instrument.

The drum and bugle corps, affiliated with Immaculate Conception Church, Newark, meets on Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m. in the church hall. The corps has won prizes at contests and parades in New Jersey.

The present goal is to make a trip in August to Miami, Fla. This will be possible if the corps makes a good showing in the finals for the national championship and in all contests in which it participates this year.

PENSIVE — Natalie Wood has title role in "Inside Daisy Clover," Technicolor picture about the discovery, development and eclipse of a teen-age singing sensation in Hollywood in the 1930's, currently at the Regent Theater, Elizabeth. Connie Stevens stars in second feature, "Palm Springs Weekend."

All-German Show Today At Union

The Union Theater in Union Center is featuring a special all-German show, with Freddy Quinn and "Heimweh Nach St. Pauli" as its outstanding attraction.

Released through 20th-Century-Fox, the picture is in Technicolor. Its original soundtrack is on 20th Century Records.

'CHASE' REMAINS IN SECOND WEEK ON RITZ' SCREEN

"The Chase," starring Marlon Brando, Jane Fonda, Robert Redford, E. G. Marshall, Angie Dickinson, Janice Rule, Miriam Hopkins, Martha Hyer and James Fox, is in its second week at the Ritz Theater in Elizabeth. The picture, which was produced by Sam Spiegel and directed by Arthur Penn in color, concerns a Texas sheriff who protects an escaped prisoner from a degenerate community.

Also held over at the Ritz is "Agent for H.A.R.M."

Robards Drama Billed At Stanley

"A Thousand Clowns," film adaptation of Herb Gardner's Broadway play (Gardner also wrote the screenplay), starring Jason Robards, Barbara Harris, Barry Gordon, Gene Saks, William Daniels and Martin Balsam, and directed by Fred Coe, opened yesterday at the Stanley Theater, Newark. The film depicts the story of a man who cares for an abandoned nephew and who fights to keep from becoming one of the mob sacrificing individuality to make a living.

"Moment to Moment," film drama in color, with Jean Seberg and Honor Blackman in leading roles, is the second half of the Stanley's double bill.

IN TITLE ROLE — Giulietta Masina, actress-wife of Federico Fellini, returns to the screen after eight years to star in her husband's award-winning first full-length color film, "Juliet of the Spirits," now at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

SCREEN COMEDY DURING TWENTIES TO BE PRESENTED

A cavalcade of screen humor from the middle and late 20's will be presented at the New Jersey State Museum Auditorium in Trenton on Saturday.

Compiled from more than 2,000 reels of inspired madness created by Mack Sennett and Hal Roach, "The Golden Age of Comedy" shows in lengthy, detailed sequences why most critics and historians agree that the period marked the high point of film comedy. An original musical score and sound track have been added.

Performances begin at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Admission is free and tickets are available at the Museum Auditorium one-half hour before each program is scheduled to begin. The auditorium seats 416 people, on a first-come, first-served basis.

N.J. Clubwomen Celebrate 32nd Annual Club Woman At Hahne

Hundreds of New Jersey clubwomen celebrated their 32nd annual Club Woman Day at Hahne and Co., Newark on March 17. The day-long event, which is one of the clubwomen's highlights of the year, was inaugurated in 1934 by J. C. Buck, president of Hahne and Co. in cooperation with the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs for the benefit of the Federation's magazine, the New Jersey Club Woman.

Easter baskets of yellow daffodils forsythais and daisies decorated the entrance to departments. Registration was held on the third floor, and the store's personnely greeted the ladies with a "special guest" daffodil boutonnaire and a souvenir program.

Gifts were presented to clubs with the highest registration in four categories.

Greeting the clubwomen and their guests at the two special programs were Mrs. S. Herbert Taylor, president of the New Jersey State Federation; Mrs. John H. Kinney, editor of the New Jersey Club Woman and chairman of Club Woman Day; and David J. Scheele, vice-president of Hahne.

The store presented its traditional fashion show featuring a collection of spring and summer fashions. The program concluded with gifts for the ladies in the audience.

ELECTRIC WIRING OFTEN OBSOLETE IN OLDER HOMES

Increased use of electricity is making the wiring system in many older homes obsolete. And even some new homes have been built with wiring that just can't take care of electrical living.

Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrell, extension home management-family economics specialist at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, says your home doesn't run smoothly and efficiently if you have to crawl under furniture to plug in lamps or move heavy pieces to connect an appliance.

Unsafe and ugly octopus tangles of four or five extension cords plugged into a single outlet are just a small part of the annoyances of old-fashioned wiring.

In some homes, appliances take forever to heat and still worse, never do get hot enough to properly bake a waffle, the New Jersey State University specialist points out. The equipment is not at fault, but the wiring is.

If any of these electrical troubles occur in your home, have the wiring checked and learn what you need to bring it up-to-date, Mrs. Cottrell said.

"You may need a larger entrance service to take care of the new appliances," she added. "Don't ignore such advice even though it is a comparatively expensive installation job."

Temple Announces Passover Schedule

Several observances at Temple Beth Ahm will mark the celebration of Passover which begins on Monday night.

Rabbi Reuben R. Levine stated, "Known as the 'Festival of Freedom,' the holiday not only commemorates the liberation of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage in Biblical times, but reiterates the need for assuring human liberty in every generation."

According to Rabbi Levine, there have been model seders for the children in the Religious School, and a special evening of adult instruction was held Tuesday to convey the meaning and procedure of the Passover ritual meal.

In addition to the regular holiday worship, a public seder will be held on Tuesday night, at which the rabbi and Cantor Israel Weisman will conduct the ceremonials and explain the rituals.

On the Sabbath during the festival, tomorrow's Friday night service will feature Joseph Gordesky, regional program chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, who will speak on "Danger to Liberty on the Right and on the Left."

The religious affairs committee of the temple will also honor the men who regularly attend the daily worship services.

Rabbi Levine expressed the hope that meaningful observance of Passover, both at home and in the synagogue, "will motivate people to strengthen their efforts for broadening freedom in our day and help make 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' accessible to all men everywhere."

It was on the advice of the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations that Caldwell PTA incorporated to protect the executive board and its membership from legal suits that could possibly ensue, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Harry Astley, procedure and by-law chairman, handled the incorporation, with the legal assistance of Seymour Margulies.

A slate of officers for the coming year was presented by Mrs. John Keefe, nominating chairman. They are: John O. Berwick, honorary president; Mrs. Stanley M. Kroeger, president; Mrs. Robert Powers and Mrs. Joseph R. Knowles, vice-presidents; Mrs. Edward Snider, secretary, and Fred Naftali, treasurer.

EASTER CUSTOMS VARY

Eggs Symbolize A New Life

When your children search for colored eggs this Easter, they'll be renewing a custom far older than Christianity.

Eggs represent the new life that returns to earth every spring — around the time of Easter. The custom of exchanging eggs as part of the celebration began in ancient times. The ancient Persians often dyed eggs in the colors of spring and gave them to their friends as gifts. Some early peoples believed that the earth had hatched from a giant egg.

World Book Encyclopedia says the early Christians of Asia and other eastern lands exchanged eggs at Easter. They colored the eggs red.

Elaborate decoration became the rule in some eastern European lands. The Ukranians are famous for their beautifully decorated Easter eggs. Each village makes it own design — fir trees, horses, priests' robes, flowers, bell towers, crosses, chapels, etc. Residents of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Lithuania and other lands also are known for their highly decorated Easter eggs.

In England, friends often exchanged eggs at Easter, although nowadays these usually are chocolate eggs. The Irish break the long Lenten fast by eating eggs at dawn on Easter.

Germans color eggs green on "Green Thursday" — the Thursday before Easter — and carry the eggs all day for good luck. On Easter Monday the young people have an egg-rolling contest.

In Italy, a priest blesses the eggs on Easter. The eggs occupy the center of the breakfast table, with other dishes arranged around them.

In The Netherlands, children go from door to door during Holy Week, collecting Easter eggs. Young and old alike play games involving eggs on Easter Monday.

In Greece, World Book notes people tap red eggs together as a greeting when they meet on Easter. The first person says, "Christ is risen," and the second replies, "He is truly risen."

In Bulgaria, on Easter Saturday, people exchange eggs and baked almond cakes. In Hungary, boys sprinkle girls with water on Easter Monday and receive Easter eggs in reward.

Customs vary from land to land, but colored eggs have been associated with springtime since the dawn of history.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER

Specialist in Human Relations at Rutgers

RESPECT

Many people today are concerned about the apparent lack of respect and general rudeness of young people.

Youngsters barge ahead through doors and bump into people without even a glance of apology. They not only don't take time to help older people, they push them aside.

They drive cars without consideration for other people, speeding through mud puddles and splashing pedestrians and disregarding traffic regulations.

These statements do not apply to all boys and girls, although unfortunately they do apply to many.

Before we look further, let's see what home is like for these youngsters.

Do they receive respect from their parents? Is respect for others ever a topic of conversation? Do the parents respect each other?

Respect for the dignity and worth of each individual is the foundation of our democracy. A child can learn to respect others only when he himself is respected by other people. His opinions should be listened to; his wishes should be considered.

This does not mean that the youngster should dominate his elders. And it is just as important that elders do not dominate the youngster.

Give and take is an important part of democratic living. This applies even to young children with some parental guidance mixed in too.

Respect for elders, respect for the law, any kind of respect is grounded on self-respect. The child who grows up without self-respect will not have respect for others.

The child whose parents are polite and considerate - in other words, respect him as a person - will grow up to be polite and considerate of others. It grows to be a part of him and is a part of his sense of values and philosophy of life.

Answers On Cancer

This is the third in a series of questions and answers concerning cancer presented under the auspices of the Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Readers of this column are invited to submit questions, in writing, to "Answers on Cancer," c/o American Cancer Society, 512 Westminster avenue, Elizabeth, New Jersey. All questions should be of a general nature since specific personal questions require knowledge of an individual's medical history. The name of the individual submitting the question will be omitted upon request.

1. What Are The Seven Danger Signs of Cancer?

The seven danger signs of cancer are:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

2. Where Does Cancer Stand Compared With Other Diseases As A Cause Of Death?

Cancer is second only to heart disease as a cause of death. One of every six deaths in the United States is caused by cancer.

3. How Is The American Cancer Society Combatting This Disease?

Through balanced programs of research, education and service. Research — to find the causes and cures of cancer; Education — to alert the public to danger signals of cancer to insure early detection and prompt treatment; Service — to the cancer patients to ease the pain and financial burden.

4. Is Cancer Curable Only In The Early Stages?

No, but the chances of cure are best by far in the early stages. Some cures have been effected in cancer of long duration and advanced stage. The chances of a cure depend on the kind of treatment, and the type and duration of the cancer.

5. How Long Will An Untreated Cancer Patient Live?

This will differ with each individual and with the location and type of cancer. Some persons die of untreated cancer after only a few months, others have been known to live for years.

6. Is There Hope Of Finding Cures For All Cancers?

Yes. This and prevention are the big goals of cancer research. Scientists are more hopeful now than ever before that they will eventually reach their goal.

7. Are Many Cancers Being Cured?

Cancer can be cured and is being cured every day by surgery and/or radiation. Hundreds of thousands of Americans are alive today who once had cancer and are cured, providing living proof of the effectiveness of early detection and proper medical treatment.

8. How Fast Does Cancer Grow?

There is no set rate of growth. Some types grow more in a few weeks than others do in several years.

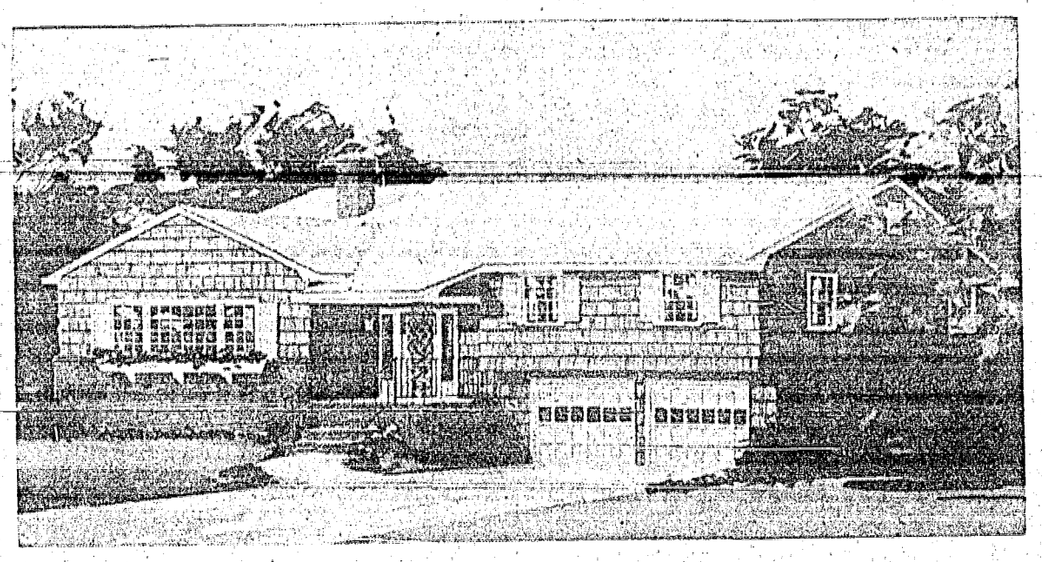
Homes At Woodland Ridge Estates Set Among Wooded Morris Hills



Rendering of "Matador" High Ranch at Woodland Ridge Estates, Randolph Township, in Morris County. Home sells for $28,390.

Situated high atop a wooded ridge in Morris County, 1000 feet above sea level, a new 204 - home community is forming, appropriately named "Woodland Ridge Estates."

Philip Kampelman and John Tilson the builders are currently showing 6 models priced from $25,990 in the first section consisting of 56 homes set on large heavily-wooded tracts. Woodland Ridge Estates is located off Hanover Avenue, Randolph Township, just 3½ miles from Morristown. Routes 10, 46, 202, 287 and 80 are within a few minutes drive. New York is an hour away via express bus or commuter train, both just 5 minutes from the community. Schools, houses of worship, parks, country clubs, swim clubs and shopping centers are also close by.

Each home at Woodland Ridge carries an exclusive builder's warranty. Roofs are warranted against leaks, heating systems against breakdown and basements against water seepage for one full year. The builders brochure carries a warranty certificate to this effect.

The homes at Woodland Ridge Estates are being built to fit the natural contours of the heavily-wooded lots. According to the builder, hills will not be leveled nor will trees be up-rooted unnecessarily. The front entranceway to the property has been adorned with a landscaped center mall and authentic old gas streetlights.

City water, sewers, curbs, paved driveways and natural gas are all provided.

Included in the 6 models at the community are 3 distinctive ranches. The "Ponderosa" is an L-Shaped Ranch with a large front entrance porch and sells for $26,590. The "Matador" High Ranch features a lower level with giant 25' x 21' rec-room, 2-car garage, lavatory and cellar area. It sells for $28,390. The "Laurel" Cape Ranch has 5 bedrooms and 3 full baths and sells for $28,890, with a 2-car garage.

The Colonial model at Woodland Ridge is called The "Sycamore" and sells for $27,990.

There are also 2 split-levels. "The Maple" at $27,990 contains 4 large bedrooms with plentiful closet space and 2 full baths. The "Chestnut" a 3 bedroom split level sells for $26,590.

Sales agents for Woodland Ridge Estates are Brounell and Kramer of Union.

BUILDER OF THE WEEK

A New Cycle Of Growth Requires Careful Planning, Says Jersey Builder

A new cycle of growth in the apartment field, far greater than that immediately following World War II, is not catching suburban communities or building organizations unprepared as before, says Gerald Baroff, who along with Charles Elin is spearheading the New Jersey apartment building boom, with a 7000-unit building program in various stages of completion throughout New Jersey.

"When the initial boom came," says Baroff, "very few suburban towns and villages were equipped to handle the sudden, huge influx of families. The building organizations, too, were not prepared. As a result, the dwelling units were built with speed and expedience as the major goals. Little of the planning covered the vital convenience area."

Three noticeable population trends were studied carefully by Baroff and Elin prior to their understanding of one of the most ambitious apartment building programs ever undertaken.

"The record numbers of children born after World War II are now approaching marriage age," says the builder. "Thousands of them will settle down in their present suburban communities, if housing is available."

Young families typically look for an apartment as their first home. Because of the upsurging standard of living, they are used to convenience, recreation and excitement as part of a place to live. If apartments are made available with these things built in, they'll rent them virtually on sight.

A second group to be considered by apartment planners and builders in suburban areas is made up of couples whose children are "grown and flown," in Baroff's words. Many of them are tired of keeping up a large house, mowing lawns and clipping hedges and would welcome the chance to move into an apartment in their home community.

A third factor promising a further population boom in the suburbs is middle income families.

Often overlooked is the fact that a few garden apartment leads in a community can do much to ease the tax burden on home owners. The apartment owners with a comparatively small piece of land, make as large a contribution to the local treasury as do scores of other property owners together, and thus pay a substantial portion of the cost of municipal services.

"No suburban area wants to be made up entirely of apartments," says Baroff, "but it can benefit itself and its local business people by striking a healthy balance between one-family and multi-family dwellings. In that way the population surge due very shortly can be turned to community advantage and orderly growth can be promoted."

Real Estate Newsbriefs

Jacobson, Goldfarb and Tanzman of Perth Amboy has been appointed exclusive rental agent for three new garden apartment communities being built by Baroff-Elin Associates of East Orange, it was announced this week by the building firm.

The apartment complexes will be Hamiltonian-at-Roselle Park, Hamiltonian-at-Elizabeth and Hamiltonian-at-Randolph. The three communities will be unveiled during the next two months, according to a spokesman for the firm.

"The Roselle Park and Elizabeth sites will feature efficiencies, one-and two-bedroom apartments from $99 per month," he said.

Mortgage arrangements for two 2-story office buildings in the heart of the Union Township business district have been completed through Franklin Capital Corporation of Newark. The buildings are located at 930-934 Stuyvesant ave., just one and one-half blocks from Union Center. They are owned by Better Homes Realty Company of Union. The builder of the project was Jay Bernstock. Franklin Capital arranged the $220,000 loan through John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

A FEMININE LOOK

At the Mediterranean Basin
Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission.

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Second in a Series
NORTH AFRICA
THE SERIOUS SIDE

There be: Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia; but the greatest of these is Bourguiba.

Habib Bourguiba, the president of Tunisia, is a 64-year old, with vision, wit and wisdom. His theme for Tunisia and perhaps for living, is: do not take one giant step and break your neck. Take a thousand small steps and get there.

And it seems to be working.

Tiny Tunisia, one of the four countries of northwest Africa which together are called the "Maghreb", is one of the most stable, most flourishing of the four. (The others are Morocco, Algeria and Libya.) Libya, along with Tunisia, is reportedly also experiencing a new wealth and improvement with its reform-minded King Idris, 76, but our National Newspaper Association Study Mission Group did not visit Libya, so I cannot really say.

We did not go to Libya perhaps, because all its hotels—and it reputedly has super good ones—are crowded to bulging and could not accomodate 54 more people. Cruise ships in the harbor have even been recruited as hotels, it was said.

At any rate, we did visit three, Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia, and they are among the world's newly independent countries. They claim to be non-aligned although some have sympathies with the east and some with the west, but their primary concern is the consolidation of their national independence, Furthering their national consciousness, developing institutions compatible with their needs and traditions, spurring their economic growth and establishing relationships with nations of their area and the world.

Not too long ago, these countries were under French rule with a small bit of Morocco under Spanish influence, and arrangements from this colonial period still remain pertinent issues today. They are particularly uneasy over French settled lands and holdings. Morocco negotiated for part of the lands and has set a three-year limit for the remainder and Tunisia nationalized all foreign-held lands in 1964. Both countries, consequently, still have strained French relations. In Algeria, the main problem is to continue Franco-Algerian cooperation, but full settlement of oil fields, lands and properties still remains to be done. French aid to Algeria ran as high as $130 million a year and Algerians still go to Paris for work, so cooperation is a bright necessity.

Libya, also in this "new nation" category, was colonized by Italy and was a United Nations Trusteeship until its independence in 1951 as a federal constitutional monarchy, but it has had fewer transitional problems. Today, the discovery of oil, has eliminated a good many economic problems also.

IN THE THREE countries we visited, different forms of government emerged after independence. Morocco at independence retained a monarchy but soon after, the king endeavored to establish democratic institutions with a constitutional monarchy. Algeria had a provisional government-in-exile move in to rule the country after the French "left" but a contest for power within that government changed the leadership. Tunisia replaced the traditional rule of the Bey with a republic.

In each of the countries the political parties which were leaders for independence still are major factors. In Morocco the independence struggle was never under one party although the Istiqlal Party played the major part. Divisions within the party and the development of other political parties have given Morocco the only multi-party system in the Maghreb, but the head of the country is King Hassan II with a constitutional monarchy. In Algeria the FLN or National Liberation Front is the only authorized political party in the country and the president today is Col. Houari Boumediene. In Tunisia, the Destourian Socialist Party remains the effective and democratic base for the rule of Bourguiba.

BESIDES CONSOLIDATING their independence, another problem for these countries is developing "national consciousness." So much of the Maghreb has inter-nationalistic influences plus inter-domestic differences, that national unity is difficult to achieve.

The first influence is Arab which overwhelmed the indigenous Berbers. There are strong Berber influences however, even though most inhabitants consider themselves part of the Arab world. Still a Berber will not consider himself an Arab and an Arab will not consider himself a Berber. The Arab culture and Islam, the Arab religion, are strong forces also, particularly in the rural areas, and this effects all.

The second major external influence is African. Even though the Sahara separates the north of Africa from the rest of Africa like a sand storm curtain, there are strong ties to the south and a feeling of importance is attached by the northern countries to their role on the African scene.

The third influence is European, primarily French, then British, then Spanish, German, Italian and recently the Common Market, for Europe is the traditional market for the Maghreb countries. The Soviet Union has displayed interest in North Africa and has diplomatic relations and has given substantial military and economic aid, particularly to Algeria, but the communist party is illegal most places, and surprisingly even in Algeria, Communist China also has demonstrated interest and while, it too, has established diplomatic relations in the area, it too is not finding things easy. Cuba sells sugar to Morocco but not much else. (Although somewhere there was a Havana cigar.)

Possibly the fourth influence is the United States. Apart from the presence of many U.S. citizens and facilities and interests, North Africa is the hub of the Afro-European world and is important because of location, resources and influence of its new leaders to the area and the world. While the main U.S. objective is to maintain a free and friendly and understanding relationship and to prevent the growth of other influences in the area, these countries all receive U.S. aid and therefore some U.S. influence.

But on the whole, the Arabs themselves have such a variety, such a complexity of tribes in such remote areas, that this remains one of their biggest problems for togetherness.

AS FOR ECONOMICS, the countries are lucky. They have inherited an excellent infrastructure of roads, harbors, communications and public services, and despite the Sahara, they have in general, been lavishly endowed by nature. Besides the grapes (Algerian grapes make a great portion of the French wine better because more sun gives more alcoholic content . . . things one learns! . . .) but there are other eagerly sought agricultural products, oranges for one. But there is also phosphates in Morocco, oil and gas in substantial quantities in Algeria and newly discovered oil plus good technical and administrative competence in Tunisia.

Currently, and generally speaking, the situations in these countries seems to be good. Morocco seems to be coming along very well under King Hassan II, even though the Ben Barka case has recently put tension between Morocco and France as well as in the domestic scene.

Algeria seems to be disenchanted with revolution and is finding that running a government not only includes power and status, but work and responsibility. It has, however, many serious striving, intelligent men seemingly willing to do it. There is only one problem: they are so young. At least 50% of all the people in Algeria are under 20! In the government alone, none appear to be over 30. The foreign minister is 33, and the president himself is 38-ish. There just are no elders to give advice, even on protocol, or to make the going smoother.

But it is Tunisia that seems to be progressing the steadiest, and it is Tunisia that has spoken up
