'Shop' misnomer, says Moebus of educational goals

By Rita Zeiss
There is perhaps no area in the school curriculum which is less understood than the field of industrial arts, according to Fred Moebus, industrial arts teacher at Deerfield School, Mountainside.

Moebus, who is scheduled to speak next Thursday night (April 21) to the Borough Parent Teachers Association, insists that industrial arts should be a part of the learning experience of all students at all levels of grade and ability.

The broad aim of industrial arts, as presented on the sixth, seventh and eighth grade levels, is to prepare young people to live in our industrial society, to give them an awareness of all the industries that help shape our economy.

Industrial arts is distinct from industrial vocational education which prepares young people for gainful employment; it is also distinct from technical education which aims at preparing people for work of a technical nature, Moebus points out. By definition, industrial arts is the broad study of the tools, materials, equipment, processes, products and occupations of industry, pursued for general educational purposes in the shops and laboratories of schools, he says. The key words in that definitive statement are "pursued for general educational purposes," for this is the element which distinguishes industrial arts from other facets of industrial education.

"INDUSTRIAL ARTS," says Moebus, a tall, bespectacled young man, "is held to be general education because it enriches the education of all the students in the total school program. Though it has certain pre-vocational values, its prime mission at present is not to provide vocational specialization for students. Instead, through industrial arts, students receive orientation to the problems and nature of the highly industrialized technical society in which we live."

"When people think of industrial arts or 'shop' in schools, they think of 'making' something as though the object of the study was simply to turn out a finished project, a lamp, a table, a bowl. This is wrong. The project itself is only a means we use to teach these young people how to use their creativity, their imaginations, and how to translate their ideas into finished products by orderly system of problem solving," Moebus emphasized.

Shop projects in Deerfield School start on the drawing board. Before he is allowed to proceed on any project each student must present satisfactory plans. He must also figure what material he will need and how much they will cost. His plans must be worked out according to

Award contract for municipal pool; see ground-breaking within 10 days

Ditzel feels July 1 target still in sight

A $120,699 contract for construction of Mountainside's municipal pool was awarded Tuesday night to E. L. Wagner Co., Inc., of Darien, Conn. The contract was awarded at a special session of the Borough Council.

The Wagner company, according to Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr., was lowest of seven bidders and had been recommended after study by the Recreation Committee and the architectural firm of Egger-Higgins which designed the new facility. "We are confident," the mayor said, "that the E. L. Wagner Co. was not only the lowest bidder, but the best qualified for the job." The names of the other bidders were not available at Tuesday's session.

William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Committee, said he had no doubt that the new pool will be completed by the July 1 target date. Ground will be broken within a week to 10 days.

THE MAIN PORTION of the new pool will be constructed of reinforced concrete and be 165 feet by 50 feet. The depths will range from 3 1/2 feet to five feet. A separate wading pool and 30-foot by 50-foot diving area are also included in the plans.

The new facility will also feature two dressing rooms and shower facilities with sun decks.

The project will be financed by a bond issue of $285,000 with $15,000 coming from capital funds. The pool will be self liquidating so the bond issue will not affect the borough's borrowing capacity.

More than 800 memberships have now been secured for the municipal pool, according to Wilhelm. About 750 of that number are family memberships; the balance, individual memberships.

The pool site, in the rear of the bird sanctuary adjacent to the playing field of Echobrook School, has been cleared of trees and underbrush. This part of the project was carried out by Larry Garew of Millburn. Construction of an access road to the pool site from Mountain ave., west of Parkway, is underway.

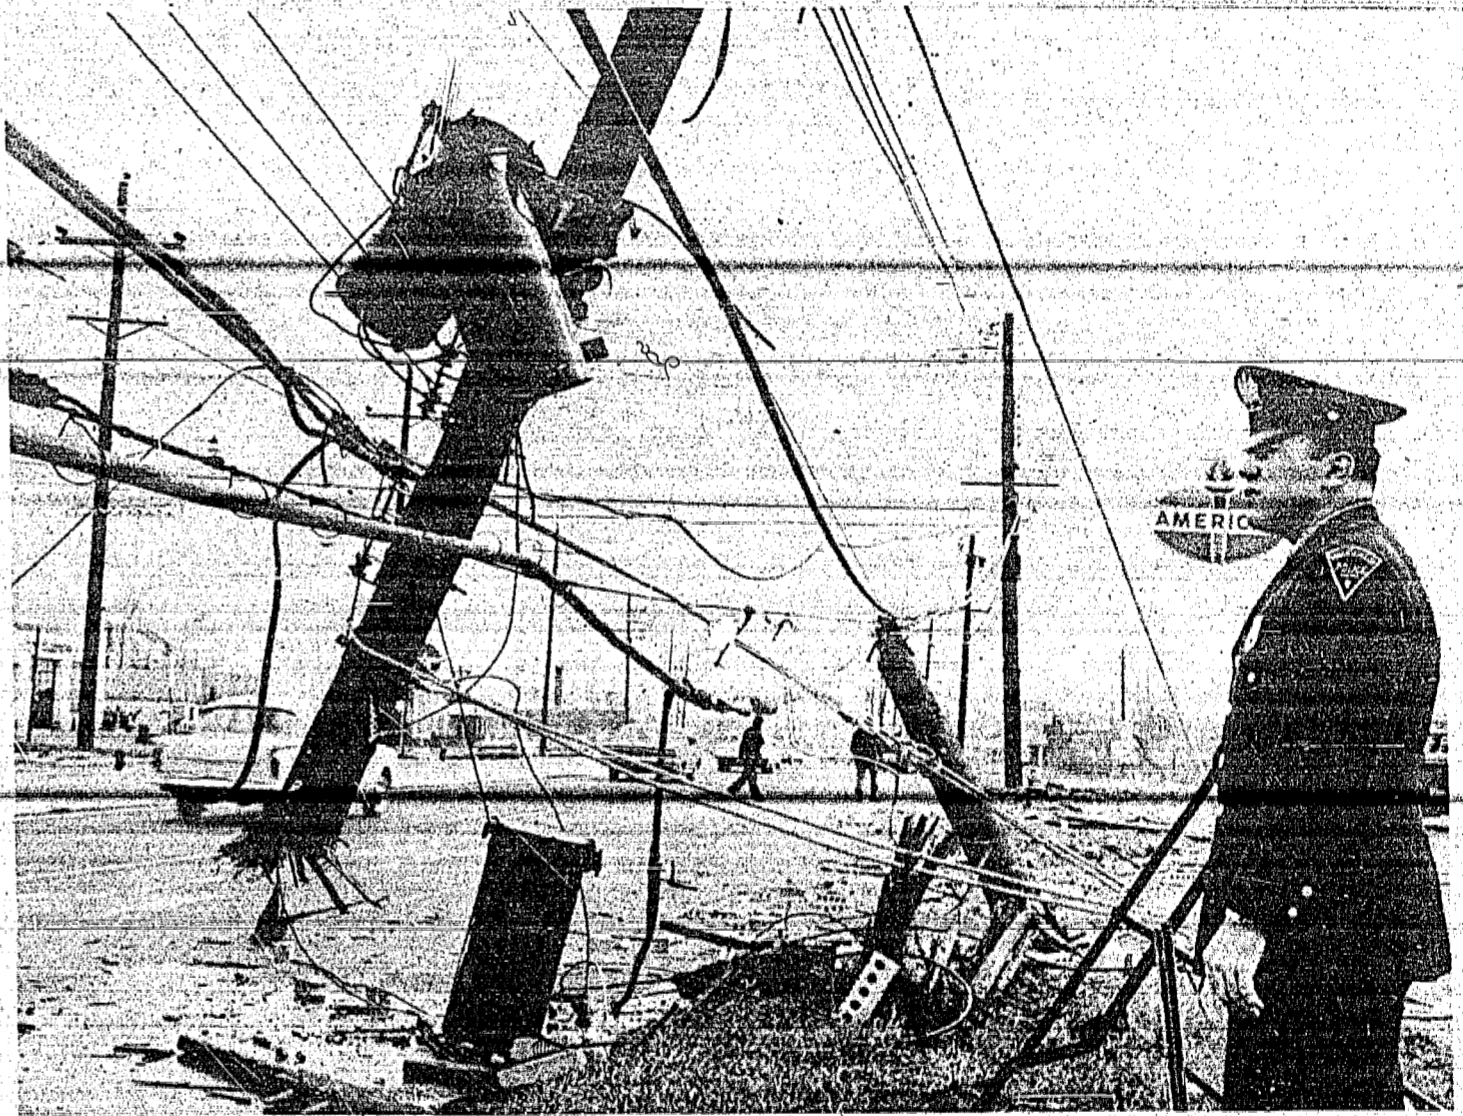

Approval has been granted by the Board of Education to allow use of part of the playground area at Echobrook School to provide additional parking facilities for the pool members. Since the pool will be used only during the summer vacation period, such parking will not interfere with classes in the school. A parking area with space for 165 cars will be provided at the site.

Our 'new look': 6-column page

The new — and most modern — look in newspaper printing, typography and make-up appears with the current issue of this newspaper.

We also are now printing by the offset method, as differentiated from letter press. Readers will notice that photo reproduction is immeasurably better than in the letterpress method.

We are using six columns of reading matter on a nine-column page, which, combined with use of white space, results in the most advanced method of making your newspaper easier to read.

Library project hearing set for Tuesday evening

Mountainside Library Director Mrs. Emily Hoffman this week confirmed plans for a public hearing and final passage Tuesday night of an ordinance providing $300,000 for construction of a new borough library.

The ordinance was introduced April 5 at a special meeting of Borough Council. The public hearing will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Echobrook School. The proposed sum would cover the cost of construction and furnishing of the new library.

The ordinance provides for appropriation of $15,000 from municipal funds. The remaining $285,000 would be financed through an expected $55,476 federal grant and issuance of 30-year municipal bonds.

Bond anticipation notes on the $285,000 are to be issued if the ordinance is passed Tuesday. Interest is not to exceed six percent, but Borough Attorney Nicholas St. John LaCorte said it is likely a rate as low as three percent can be provided for.

The proposed library will be a one-story structure situated on borough-owned land at the northeast corner of Rt. 22 and New Providence rd. An access road would lead to Birch Hill rd., and a bicycle and pedestrian path will lead to the Rt. 22 overpass.

With passage of the ordinance on Tuesday construction on the library could begin in the summer. Robert Groves, a member of Howard McMurray Associates, architects for the library, said the building could be completed within eight months.

The facility would house 38,000 volumes, and provide seats for 60 readers. It would include a meeting room and lounge with kitchen facilities. The present borough library is in the basement of the Echobrook School, and houses 14,000 volumes.

Truck rams pole; traffic endangered by electrical wires

Morning rush hour traffic on the eastbound lane of Rt. 22, Mountainside, was tied up for about six hours last Thursday after a tractor trailer hit a utility pole, snapping it in half and leaving the top half suspended from live electrical wires.

The vehicle, operated by Charles Conklin of Wallacetown, Pa., was still operable and was driven to a nearby parking lot shortly after the accident, which occurred at 4:30 a.m. However, the highway was covered with bricks from the truck load and other debris. All eastbound traffic was steered into the fast lane of the highway by the police until the clean-up operation was completed. The resultant traffic snarl was not completely unraveled until about 11:30 a.m., when the other lane was re-opened.

Public Service cut the power on the line. Two houses in the area were without electricity and service to 50 telephones was cut.

Police said Conklin, who was driving a truck for Williams Grove Clay Products of Bigler, Pa., told them he was driving in the slow lane, turned left slightly to avoid a truck in the other lane and crashed into the pole.

Conklin was charged with careless driving and posted bail of $50. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court on April 20.

TYPICAL of some of the performing groups around the pool at Marrakech--a close-up view of Moroccan dancers--or, as they say in Morocco, "Femmes Zaïen chantant l'hairdous."

A FEMININE LOOK

At the Mediterranean Basin
(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission)
By TRUDINA HOWARD

THE ROAD TO MOROCCO

Marrakech has a population of 270,000 as against Los Angeles's 4-million-ish and while most of its people are Moslem and there are many fine mosques, the most famous of which is the Koutoubia, there are also Protestant, Catholic and Jewish places of worship.
But it is at night that Marrakech really is spectacular. Particularly when there is a quarter moon hovering in the afterglow of sunset and you walk through the souk. The minarets of the Koutoubia silhouette themselves against the sunset glow, the Marrakech moon hangs half-high nearby, the sounds of the souk wail and murmur all around you, exotic-looking people mill close about you, laughing-eyed youngsters try to guide you through the souk, and life certainly doesn't seem to go on as it does in L.A.
Despite the Marrakech moon, however, our biggest adventure lay ahead in Rabat where we met King Hassan II and had lunch with his ministers. And that came the next day.

Know Your COUNTY GOVERNMENT

By Arthur C. Fried, Freeholder
Realizing that an informed public is essential to good government, I believe the following information and that to be provided in subsequent articles, concerning the various departments of the Union County Board of Freeholders, will be of interest to every taxpayer and student of government in Union County.
I hope this series of articles will offer a bridge to better understanding of your county government.

THE BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS
New Jersey is the only state that has retained the title of Freeholders to designate the members of the county governing body.
Throughout the United States there are approximately 25 different titles used to designate county governing bodies. The most commonly known and used title is that of Board of Commissioners, or Board of Supervisors.
The term "Freeholder" originated in medieval England. A freeholder was a man who held certain rights to real property. Only a freeholder was eligible to hold office on the county governing body during the American Colonial period. The name has been continued through the years, although today a freeholder no longer has to own property to qualify for public office.
The basic law establishing Board of Freeholders in New Jersey was enacted in 1798 and provided that each municipality be represented on the Board.
However, as the municipalities increased in number, the Boards of Freeholders grew to the extent where they became unwieldy. This led in 1912 to the passage of a law allowing counties to elect members to the Board from the County at large. The number of members was dependent upon the population of each county.
This 1912 law was permissive and subject to the approval of the voters at a referendum. Of the 21 counties in New Jersey, 17 are now governed by Boards ranging from three to nine Freeholders. Atlantic County, with 34 members, has the largest Board in the State.
Our county, Union, is governed by a nine-member Board, three of whom are elected from the county at large each year, for a term of three years.
The Board organizes on the first day of January each year, at which time the newly elected members take their oath of office and begin their terms. The Board elects one of its members to serve as Director of the Board. In addition to being a regular voting member of the Board, he also presides at all meetings.
Regular meetings of the Union County Board during 1966 will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 8 p.m. in the Freeholder rooms in the Union County Courthouse, Broad st., Elizabethtown.

THIS WAS JUST ONE adventure in Morocco. We arrived first of all in Casablanca from Lisbon via a short jet flight. Our hotel was called the "Marhaba" which means "welcome" in Arabic and it felt just like that. It also was new and modern which was nice too.
But before we could get used to Casablanca we were taken to the airport where we boarded planes supplied by the Moroccan government to transport us to Marrakech. Since there were 34 in our party and the planes held only 25 each, four of us had to fly in a smaller plane, and that turned out to be a parasitrooper plane!
Well, no matter how you arrive in Marrakech, it is exciting. The city is situated in a broad valley at the foothills of the snow-capped Atlas Mountains. It comes out much like the Los Angeles area against the Sierra Madre Range except for the man-made structures, and that is totally different.
Marrakech is quaint and picturesque and almost has an "India" flavor. It has a big Medina (native quarter) and a large open market square. An ancient wall that used to encompass the city still stands and archways barely allow for a motor coach to pass through. Sitting within a bus and approaching one of the arches is very much like going through the eye of a needle. We all held our breaths and I think that's why we made it.
BUT THE HOTEL here too, was modern and comfortable. We had a delicious fish lunch on the terrace under joyful orange umbrellas and lush foliage, yet it was not too warm. The swimming pool was full of water but empty of people.
Near the center of town there is the huge open space known as the Place Djemaa El Fna. It is first of all a souk, or market, where merchants display fruit, vegetables, couscous, basket work and other wares every morning. Later in the day, it is taken over by acrobats, story-tellers, fortune-tellers, dancers, snake-charmers and other "popular amusements." To the north of it, souks of a smaller nature and in a covered section, form a veritable maze of shops in booth-like quarters with a roof over the narrow, ever-winding streets. Here are native handicrafts and Moroccan apparel.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Often in sports, the star player, the man who gets the headlines and the attention of the writers and fans, will never pass up the opportunity to give credit for his success to his fellow athletes. In any team contest, it's working together, it's cooperation that makes success.
Some of us, who criticize sports and the emphasis on "winning", often forget about cooperation and the spirit of fair play as we pursue the more serious game of life.
How many of us, whether the call for help, are we content with the role of a "helper"? Will we lend our efforts for no greater reward than the satisfaction of knowing that we helped to do something that needed doing?
Whatever the game, whether you win or lose, your star shines brightest if you helped others in your efforts to help yourself.

Seven win places in regional band; all from Deerfield

Seven students from Deerfield School, MountainSide, have won seats with the Central Jersey Intermediate Symphonic Band. Three sisters, Robbi, Sandi and Terri Ruberti, and Susan Beam will be members of the flute section. Paul Haase, Susan Goff and Kirk Gulden will play clarinets.

The names of the successful candidates for the regional band were announced by Joseph M. Petrullo, band director and instrumental music instructor at Deerfield School.

The seven borough children will play with the regional intermediate band in a concert scheduled May 22 at 3 p.m. in Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark. The concert, which will be open to the public, will also present the Central Jersey Intermediate String Orchestra. Tickets will be available from band members.

The successful candidates were chosen from among over 400 applicants from sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the counties of Central New Jersey. Auditions were held April 2 in Abraham Clark High School, Roselle.

The Central Jersey Symphonic Band is sponsored by the Central Jersey Band and Orchestra Association, an affiliate of the N.J. Music Education Association.

'Shop' misnomer, says Moebus of educational goals

Moebus' students also learn the strict discipline of a shop. Sixth graders have one class a week. Seventh and eighth graders have two classes a week. Each class runs for two consecutive periods, a one-and-a-half hour total. Each class has a shop foreman, an assignment that is rotated among the children. It is the shop foreman's duty to see that each "man" does his job, to maintain order and safety and to supervise the clean-up chores at the end of the period, a necessary part of the "good housekeeping" in any well-maintained shop.

THE SCHOOL principal, Herbert J. Brown, points out that the wisdom of these methods is underlined by the fact that there has not been a single accident in the shop since Moebus took over the reins.

Support of Moebus' theory that children of middle school level need to want and enjoy shop is given in just a quick visit to the room. Working intently, each "man" is earnestly involved in the current phase of his project. It is like walking into a well-organized, well-disciplined shop where each employee is doing a job for which he is well trained and one he enjoys.

In his attempts to encourage his students to explore many fields of industry, Moebus uses woods, metals, plastics, electricity and other materials and elements. Those who desire to do so are encouraged to make their own designs, a process that takes them from the drawing board, to calculations, to expense sheets, to the actual job of painstakingly making the finished product.

The eighth graders are now working with laminating wood. This is a meticulous process during which they make their own "jigs," the molds by which they form strips of very thin wood to the shapes they want. Laminating involves gluing together numerous layers of this thin wood until the desired thickness is reached. The looped side of a two-tiered desk basket, a strip less than a quarter inch thick, which some students made, required 28 layers of the paper thin wood--and layers and layers of patience and "stick-to-it-ness."

The Deerfield shop now covers 1100 square feet. In this space, Moebus must store all the equipment--lathes, work tables, tools, etc.--for the 285 boys he teaches each week. The new industrial arts room planned for the addition to Deerfield school would give them 3,078 square feet, enough room for all the future engineers, lawyers, doctors and dentists to work, to acquire manual dexterity needed in every profession.

Room enough too for all the future carpenters, tradesmen, artisans and industrial workers to find a place where they can compete and often excel.

Sociology classes from area school take tour of NYC

Students from the sociology classes at Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, travelled to New York City recently to get a close-up view of living conditions in the metropolis.

The faculty advisors, John Stein and Mrs. Susan Lincoln, made no attempt to influence reactions or to indoctrinate the students. The students found that it is possible to hear just about every language in the world, and partake of food specialties of almost every nation without leaving New York City.

The morning tour included a bus ride up Fifth ave., a stop at the Frick Mansion and a visit with the manager of the Americana Hotel. During the afternoon the students visited the Baruch Community House, a settlement house on Delaney st., Wald House, a city, state and federal financed low-income housing project, and a condemned tenement building.

The class also visited the Memorial Home for Men, a Salvation Army shelter, and had an interview with Charley Schaefer, a professional hobo. After supper the group attended the religious service at the Bowery Mission.

16 juniors, seniors join writing society

Sixteen students of Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, were inducted as charter members into the newly organized Quill and Scroll at a recent assembly.

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society to encourage and reward individual achievement in journalism and school publications. The charter members are all from the upper third of the junior and senior classes and have done superior work in some phase of journalism. They represent the literary and business staffs of the "Highland," the school paper; the "Claymore," the yearbook, and "Ablins," the newly established literary magazine which will come out next month.

Even though your electric bills may be higher, ELECTRICITY COSTS LESS TODAY THAN IN 1940!

Think of all the appliances you've added since 1940 — appliances that save you countless hours of work and bring a whole world of entertainment and comfort into your home. Our point is, the average home uses more than four times the amount of electricity today than it did then. But the combination of rate reductions and increased use of electricity has resulted in a 44% decrease in the average unit cost of electricity since 1940! Yes, when it comes to electricity, the "good old days" have progressed to "better new ones!"

Cars block squad exits
Traffic tie-ups caused by cars parked near the entrance and exit to the Mountainside Rescue Squad are becoming worse, according to John Roll, president of the organization. He made the report at a recent meeting of the Squad, when he pointed out that it is important, to respond as quickly as possible in emergencies.

"We have had difficulty at this point for some time and it is getting worse," he said. He urged everyone "to observe the no parking sign until we can get further warning."

During the meeting Capt. Joe Farley reported 20 calls received during March, with 12 of them emergencies and eight transportations. The total number of miles traveled was 194 and man hours totaled 55, he reported. He added that 75 per cent of the calls were made during the daytime.

Farley also reported on second-hand filing cabinets donated by the Police Department.

He announced that plans were being made for transporting Linda Clark to Newark Airport, where she will board a plane for Warm Springs, Ga. The youngster, injured last October, will receive further therapy there, he said.

Fourteen persons were added to the Squad roster after completing first aid courses and probationary periods.

and get more Hot Water!

Why run your entire heating system all summer just to heat water? It heats water best only in winter when it's running full blast. That's why in the summer you sometimes get chilly showers and lukewarm dishwasher. You're also wearing out your heating system faster by running it all summer. Why put up with all this? An automatic gas water heater gives you oceans of hot water all year long. And it does it quietly and economically... doesn't heat up the house in summer, either. So start giving your heating system a summer vacation. It deserves it. And you deserve all the hot water you need! The annual fund-raising event will have some new attractions this year in keeping with the fair's theme. Among them will be "Penny Candy Counter" and a "Guessing Contest."

Mrs. Walter Degenhardt, general chairman, announced that volunteers are needed to root philodendron, coleus, begonias and other plants and also to help make artificial arrangements. Those interested may call Mrs. C.H. Bowlby, 232-8536, or Mrs. E.W. Gooding, 232-0987.

White elephants are requested and will be picked up by Mrs. Paul Smith, 232-0786 or Mrs. Robert Oshahr, 233-5737, it was reported. Mrs. Stephen Bumball, 232-4590, will fix and polish any old jewelry to be sold, and Mrs. M. Luttons, 232-9037, is in charge of books, including paperbacks.

In addition to these features there will be a cake sale, handicrafts, grab bag, novelties, make-up, stamp and coin silhouettes, a show rides and games. Refreshments will be available.

Passing out new W-4's

By Helen Hale
Salads for Spring

Green beans combined with kidney beans (both can come from a can; simply drain them) make an interesting color and flavor combo especially with sliced water chestnuts, green pepper circles and a light French dressing.

Melon balls combine with all kinds of berries. How about a big bowl for them with strawberries and pineapple slices (fresh). Pass a whipped cream dressing garnished with mint. Pretty!

Tomato slices, onion rings and artichoke hearts are delightful with Italian-style dressing. Use a different green this time, like tender spinach leaves.

Small pickled beets with pearl onions and cooked carrot slices make into a colorful salad. It's excellent with fish dinners.

- Helen's Favorite:
- Tuna Cutlets, Creole (6 servings)
  - 3 tablespoons butter
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - 1 cup top milk
  - 1-1/2 cups flaked tuna
  - 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
  - 1/2 teaspoon onion juice
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon paprika
  - 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

Make a sauce of butter, flour and milk. Add remaining ingredients. Cook 5 minutes. Cool and shape in cutlets. Roll in fine cracker crumbs then slightly beaten egg, then again in crumbs. Brown in hot fat on both sides. Serve with canned tomato-green pepper sauce, seasoned with sugar, salt and pepper.

New Jersey employers are now distributing copies of IRS Document 5642 to their employees. This special one-page fact sheet explains why a new Form W-4, Withholding Exemption Certificate, should be filed.

The reason for filing a new W-4, according to Joseph M. Shotz, IRS district director for New Jersey, is "to enable employers to withhold the correct amount of income tax under the new withholding system that will go into effect May 1."

Under the system established by the recently enacted Tax Adjustment Act of 1966, the withholding tax on wages will be more exact than in the past. Withholding will be based on six graduated rates instead of the present flat rate of 14 percent.

Beginning May 1, the amount of tax withheld will depend on (1) marital status, (2) the number of exemptions claimed on Form W-4 filed with an employer and (3) the amount earned.

"After May 1," Shotz explained, "an employee will be treated as a single person--and thus have more tax withheld--unless he files a new Form W-4 indicating he is married. Widows and widowers, too, will be concerned with filing a new Form W-4." Shotz continued.

"For withholding purposes they are considered married for two tax years following the death of a husband or wife, but will be treated as single if they do not designate 'married' on their Form W-4."

Sales tax backed to finance needs, equalize burdens

Support for a state sales tax to finance New Jersey's growing needs in transportation, education and institutions and agencies has been announced by the Employers' Legislative Committee of Union County.

In a letter to the county's two legislators and five assemblymen, Donald P. Taylor, R.L.C., county chairman, said:

"The Employers' Legislative Committee of Union County recognizes and acknowledges the need for additional revenues to provide adequate support for transportation, education and institutions and agencies in New Jersey. In view of the already heavy tax burden carried by private citizens and business firms, the only solution seems to be a broad-based tax.

"We wrote to you previously in opposition to a state income tax, which we felt would hinder the economic growth of New Jersey by discouraging the recruitment of high caliber personnel by business and industry. We feel this is a particularly significant factor in view of the great concentration of research and development here.

"However, we are mindful of our responsibility to help maintain necessary state services and therefore respectfully urge your support for a restricted sales tax to provide the additional revenues needed by the state. We further urge that any sales tax legislation contain provisions which detail and limit the purposes for which such revenues may be spent.

U.S. Army seeks qualified musicians for band vacancies

An Army spokesman this week reported that there are openings in Army bands for qualified musicians.

Chief Warrant Officer Samuel Brown, Army bandmaster at Fort Dix, said vacancies exist at Fort Dix for trumpet, French horn, trombone, flute, clarinet, tuba and piano players. Professional musicians or apprentices with high school experience may apply, he said. Except for advanced musicians, new bandmen are given 20 weeks of training at a music school in Little Creek, Va., where they receive lessons in fundamentals of music, theory, harmony, sight singing, concert and dance band courses.

SFC Ismael Rodriguez will be at the Army Recruiting Station at 9 Cladwell pl., Elizabeth, tomorrow to discuss the band program with interested persons.

Those who qualify can request a guaranteed enlistment for the Fort Dix Army Band, another specified band, an overseas band or for unassigned bands.

Chemical Society meeting Tuesday

Members of the Central Subsection of the North Jersey American Chemical Society will hear a talk on computers at Tuesday's meeting at the Elizabeth Carteret Hotel in Elizabeth.

UJC slates ceremony

Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held today at 1 p.m. for Union Junior College's $1 million Science Building, Cranford. Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president, said the public is cordially invited to attend.

Construction of the two-story, contemporary-style building is already underway. It will contain five science laboratories, six classrooms, two large lecture halls, a science resource center, a student research center, and other facilities.

Dr. Henry J. Mineur of Cranford, UJC trustee, will preside at the ground breaking ceremonies. Dr. Mineur also presided at UJC's three previous ground breaking programs for the Nomahegan Building, Campus Center, and the William Miller Sperry Observatory.

Dr. MacKay, and Edward Aborn of Rumson, formerly of Cranford, will speak briefly. Greetings will be extended by Mayor Wesley Philo of Cranford and Freeholder Director Frank Cuchie of Cranford, a UJC alumnus.

Among those who will participate in the ground breaking are Frederick Elsasser of Union, architect, and N. Michael Lindenman of Cranford, President of the Student Council.

GLASSES, 20/20 VISION

There are many cases of 20/20 eyesight in which the vision is neither comfortable nor effective, says the New Jersey Optometric Association. Many people who wear glasses have 20/20 vision without them. Headaches and eye fatigue may occur from the use of the eyes, even when they see clearly.

Romantic old west -- Jersey style Rutgers archives tell of vigilante societies

Oh, those good old Wild West days in New Jersey. New Jersey? Impossible.

The Romantic Old West may seem a million miles away in both time and distance from urban, sophisticated and workaday New Jersey. And yet, something like the very essence of the pulse-pounding excitement of the frontier West -- the peace and the vigilante society in action -- was a fairly familiar sight in the Garden State, as late as the turn of the century.

These were the "vigilante societies" that lent so much excitement and color to life in nineteenth century New Jersey, particularly in the earlier part of the century. True, they were not exactly like the vigilante societies of the robust Old West, the very name is slightly different. But old records and quaint posters in the special collections at the Rutgers Library in New Brunswick show that these Rutgers' associations were running down law-breakers and making arrests in New Jersey, right up into this century.

the vigilante societies were distinctly more formal than the extremely casual law enforcement associations on the frontier.

THEY WERE organized as early as the late 1780's and '90's but flourished chiefly from the early nineteenth century until the latter part of that century and operated on a strictly legal basis.

And flourish they did. In Mercer County there was the Ewing and Hopewell Vigilante Society; in Middlesex County, the Cranbury Vigilante Society and the Aid and Detective Society of Franklin Park; in Warren County, the Mansfield Vigilante Society; in Somerset County, the Bound Brook Vigilante Company, the Hartlingen Vigilante Society; and the Union Vigilante Society in Franklin Township for Detecting Thieves and Robbers, to name a few.

Their identity as contrasted to the West's vigilante societies is attested by the West's articles of association of the Aid and Detective Society of Franklin Park, now in the possession of the Rutgers Library.

"Be it known," the document begins, "that on this Thirtieth day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand and eight hundred and seventy-eight that we the undersigned and others, our successors, associates and assigns have this day formed an association under and in accordance with an Act to authorize the formation of Pursuing and Detective Companies," passed March 29, 1878.

The corporation was to continue for 99 years (but was actually disbanded in 1941) and was certified in the office of Henry C. Kelsey, then Secretary of State of New Jersey.

The last known vigilante society formed in New Jersey was organized in Metuchen in 1902.

Unlike the original organizations, which were composed almost entirely of farmers, the Metuchen Vigilance Society was made up of townspeople and its members banded together for the sole and specific purpose of catching a specific thief. They caught him and thereupon disbanded.

Spectacular Fire Razes Kenilworth Warehouse

By JAMES McCOMBE, Journal Staff Writer

KENILWORTH — A metal-framed warehouse stocked with chemicals and home appliances was destroyed by flames that leaped 200 feet into a snow-filled sky during a fire that started shortly after 7 o'clock last night.

Firemen were unable to determine the cause of the fierce blaze which left the 100x100-foot structure at 718 Jefferson Ave. a tangle of charred ruins and caused thousands of dollars in damage.

The premises were used jointly as a storage building for the Bell Appliance and Home Furnishing Center, Route 22, Union, and the Trident Products Corp., manufacturer of textile chemicals.

Puddingstone Heights Homes Custom Built Atop A Mountain

Example of one-of-a-kind homes at Puddingstone Heights is the Dartmouth "B", designed by Walter C. Pfeiffer and built by Ron Knollhuff, one of three architect-builder teams which custom-build every home at the club-plan community for 150 families situated near West Hanover Avenue, atop the Watnong Mountain, in Parsippany. The four-level split shows more than 3,000 square feet of actual living space and is priced at $37,900.

Puddingstone Heights is situated at the top of Watnong Mountain, more than 1000 feet above sea level, in what is literally virgin woodland. Many lots which have 200 feet minimum frontage have a commanding view of the New York skyline more than 25 miles away.

Situated near West Hanover Avenue three miles west of Morris Plains, Puddingstone Heights is in a truly rustic setting, yet within easy commuting distance of Newark and New York and only a few minutes drive from the shopping, theatres, schools and restaurants of Morristown. The community will ultimately contain 150 families. Homes are built on lots of from 1 to 3 acres.

The homes range in price from the mid-thirties and include many different architectural styles, although the emphasis is on Colonial design.

All homes in the community are designed and built by three teams of architects and builders: Walter C. Pfeiffer and Ron Knollhuff; William G. Chirgottis and Bill Reinhardt; Steven J. Potter and Bart McDermott. One of these teams works with families who have the time to custom-build on an individual basis.

Puddingstone Heights is a prime example of the building industry's welding of the most modern technological advances in building mechanization and age-old handicraftsmanship. According to Puddingstone's community developer, Robert C. Litchfield, on one hand the community-developing team of builder, land engineer and architect utilizes techniques as new and fresh as tomorrow-aerial land surveying, scientific soil analysis and computer-fed data processing—and a few yards away masonry craftsmen are laying one brick on top of another by hand, in much the same fashion as their predecessors did centuries ago in ancient Egypt.

Each home owner is a member of the Puddingstone Community Club entitling him to participate in the common ownership of central community property and a voice in the possible use of this land for a swimming pool, tennis courts, riding stables and other facilities which are under consideration.

The club also approves plans for new homes, guaranteeing that no two homes will ever be exactly alike. Property values are protected because only single-family dwellings are permitted, houses are set back at least 60 feet from the road on minimum acre lots, and no structure is permitted within 20 feet of the property line.

Ask Amy

Dear Amy: When I read the letter from Mrs. R. C. D. in which she said in order for a girl to get a husband she must back and neck and sometimes even go further, I was shocked. If she thinks she is going to lose a guy because she won't park, then she isn't worth it. By parking, it means a girl, even if she's fat, goes, and more the guy loses respect for her. I am 16 and I don't believe in necking and going further. I am certainly NOT worried about finding a husband just because I won't park. I am sure I will find a husband. I hope she has more sense than her mother.

Dear Amy: I want to thank you for your answer to Mrs. R. C. D. She may not be a girl on her hands but she may wind up with worse than an old maid. It is bad enough that our young people have gone necking-crazy and sex-crazy. But when a mother encourages it in her daughter, civilization is regressing, and I fear for it. I don't have a daughter but I have four grand-daughters and pray to God that they will know how to conduct themselves in true Christian morality.

Dear Amy: I like so much in the local paper is the "ASK AMY" column and your straight forward advice to young people is wonderful. I thought your answer to the one on necking was great, and I am sure it was read by many young people. I believe that drinking and necking are the cause of so many girls getting into trouble and having to get married.

As the woman in your column said: "It's sometimes necessary for girls to go further in order to understand the facilities these welfare agencies are just taxed to the limit by unwed mothers and their children. I think this is tragic, and consequently, I must disagree with the statement made by that woman."

Dear Amy: I hope you print the following letter in answer to "Mrs. R.C.D." so that she may know how many of us teens feel about her thoughts. "Dear Mrs. R.C.D.: "It's not like you who won't park, then she isn't worth it. By parking, it means a girl, even if she's fat, goes, and more the guy loses respect for her. I am 16 and I don't believe in necking and going further. I am certainly NOT worried about finding a husband just because I won't park. I am sure I will find a husband. I hope she has more sense than her mother."

"So competition is tough. What about it? Rome wasn't built in a day. To 'beat competition' is no excuse to encourage sin. Even you can't deny that. "If you were your daughter to date your boy, I pity her. She has as much chance of being an old maid as she would have had if she dated as other good girls did. Prudence and Chastity are two virtues I suggest you do some research on. "I think through the years, you have lost contact. We have existed for 1966 years, and the women of yesterday didn't have to endanger their virginity to get their husbands nor did their children and the children after them."

Dear Amy: This isn't meant to sound snobby, but at a dance if you don't want to stay with a boy all night after he asks you to dance, what can you say to him so his feelings won't be hurt? This isn't on a date. You both came stag!

Dear Amy: I'm puzzled: Who says you have to stay with him? He probably would like to dance with you. I'm sure you would, so murmur that you enjoyed the dance... and each go your own way.

Deadline Tomorrow For UJC Applicants

High school seniors were reminded this week by George P. Lyles, admissions officer, that tomorrow is the deadline to submit applications for admissions to Union Junior College's Day Session in September.

Lyles said the deadline is earlier than a year ago, because of the increased volume of applications. A freshman class of 450 students in the Day Session for the fall of 1966 is anticipated.

NOT CRICKET As played in American Samoa the English game of cricket gains something in translation from 20 to 100 players take to the field at once, charged on by a singing and dancing rooting section who often leave the sidelines to join the action in their lava-lava skirts.
