3 contracts on bathhouse are okayed

Low bidders get work; figures total $90,538

Contracts totaling $90,538 have been awarded by the Borough Council for the construction of a bathhouse at the site of the municipal pool. Work on the structure will start as soon as weather permits, William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Commission said this week. Construction is expected to be completed in time for the opening of the pool on Memorial Day, Ditzel said, adding, "it will be a tight schedule, but we expect to have it finished in time."

The bathhouse will replace the temporary building used as a locker room and office last year, the first year of operation for the community pool.

The contracts, broken down into three categories, were awarded to George C. Gross Inc. of Summit, general construction, $64,979; John Schwarz Inc. of Clark, electrical work, $10,172; Cantello Plumbing Corp., plumbing, $15,387.
The three successful bidders were the lowest in their respective categories of all bids received by the Council on Jan. 26.

The building, designed by Eggers and Higgins, the New York architectural firm which last year designed the municipal pool, will be one-story high and approximately 30 by 74 feet. Showers and locker rooms will be installed in the building.

The two municipal tennis courts, to be con-structed on land adjacent to the pool site, may be ready in time for the opening of the pool, Ditzel said. Plans and specifications, now being set up by the borough engineer. Robert Koser, are almost completed, Ditzel said, and may be put out for bids by March 1.

The tennis courts will be open to all residents of the borough. No determination has yet been made, Ditzel said, on whether a token charge will be made for the use of the courts. That and other matters pertaining to the summer recreation program will be discussed at length at tonight's meeting of the Recreation Commisat tonight's meeting sion, he indicated.

BILLS FOR THE 1967 pool dues will be mailed to all registered members by March 1 or shortly after. Deadline for payment has been set for April 15. Those members who do not respond, after proper notice, will be assumed and Don White, student conductor. As previously announced, the lead roles will be played by Rick Wilhelms as Professor Higgins; Valerie Klein, Eliza; Paul Dimmick, Pickering; George Shulman, Mr. Doolittle; Tom Groceman, Freddy.

They will be supported by Laura Whitehead as Mrs. Pearce; Jim Dehls as Jamie; Steve Morse, Harry; Jane Mitchell, Mrs. Higgins; Donna Badgeley, Mrs. Hill; Harold Shepard, Karpathy; and Jane Topps, Sue Craig, Jane Rausher and Eileen Hale as maids.

Mrs. Frosman predicts that the chorus, which is broken into two groups, "the grubby chorus" and the "cleanies," will provide many of the highspots in the show.

Anthony returns to class Walk to room a triumphal march

Ten-year-old Anthony Silva plans to return to classes this week in Branch Brook School, Newark, Aided by two full length braces, Anthony will walk from the school bus to his classroom.

That walk, an accepted routine for most children, will be for Anthony a triumphal march, it is also, Dr. E. Milton Staub, ad-ministrator of the Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, said, a thrilling testi-mony to the courage and determination of the frail child who was not expected to ever walk again,

Portable rooms 'expected on site by end of week

The two relocatable classrooms which will be installed adjacent to Deerfield School may roll into town before the week is out, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, School Superintendent, revealed at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education. Workmen were expected on the site yesterday to put in the foundations on which the rooms, which measure 40 by 20 feet each, will be mounted. Delivery of the rooms is expected by Friday. However, Dr. Hanigan emphasized that since the units are delivered by truck over the highways that he "won't expect them until he sees them." Delivery from the factory, which is located in the mid-west, was delayed many times in the overland route because of recent heavy snow storms in that area, he explained.

One of the classrooms will be used as an instrumental music room, A final determination has not vet been made on whether the second room will be used for a math and reading clinic or as a fifth grade classroom,

Outgoing members Bernard Seligman was commended by board president Robert Britton for his service. Britton said Seligman, who has served four years on the school body. always based his actions on "what is best for the children," Veteran member Walter Rupp commented that "Bernie is a real crusader, very positive and very enthusiastic, We're going to miss him,"

An overwhelming vote of approval --- almost three to one---was given to Mountainside's school budget for the 1967-68 year by the 643 voters who turned out at the polls Tuesday, Incumbent Richard Krebs and Abe Suckno were winners of the two three-year seats votes and Suckno 427 as compared to the 200 cast for the loser. Anthony Genovese of Deer The $840,617 alloted in the $1,159,842.50 budget for current expenses was approved 416 to 176 by the voters; 421 ballots cast in favor of the capital outlay of $17,400

on the school board with Krebs drawing 542

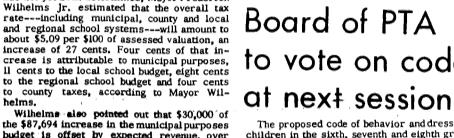

and 176 against. The passage of the budget in effect assures the adoption of a new salary guide for teachers that will give them raises that average out to about 10 percent. The school board included that proposed guide in the budget which it adopted Jan. 24 but delayed formal adoption of the new pay scale until after the budget won voter approval.

port given to the budget.

Speaking for himself and his colleagues on the Board of Education, Britton said the vote was strong evidence of the voters' in-terest in their schools and that he and his colleagues hoped they could interpret it as a vote of confidence in the school board. Obviously elated at the outcome, Petrullo described himself as "delighted, very grati-the $87,694 increase in the municipal purposes budget is offset by expected revenue, over $15,600 additional in state aid for roads and $15,000 from swimming pool revenue. As required by state law, $15,000 or five percent of the total cost of the pool, was appropriated from capital funds last year for that purpose. The Recreation Commission, which administers the business of the pool, will return that amount to municipal funds this year, that amount to municipal Wilhelms explained.

THOSE FUNDS WILL be used to construct two tennis courts near the swimming pool, Wilhelms said. Plans for the tennis courts, which will be open to all residents of the borough, are being prepared by the borough engineer, Robert Koser.

Salaries and wages account for the major portion of the municipal budget increase, with most borough employees scheduled to receive about a five percent raise. The total appropriation for salaries and wages is $231,541, a rise of $38,741. Police salaries are increased $24,000 in the new budget.

Other increases include an additional $10,000 for road repairs and $9,000 additional for the library's operating budget.

The budget appropriates $635,936 for municipal purposes, an increase of $82,446, while the reserve for uncollected taxes will be $89,007, up $5,248 from last year.

$4,000 from trust surplus and the $15,000 from swimming pool surplus. Board of PTA to vote on code appropriate $1,600 from capital surplus funds,

The proposed code of behavior and dress for children in the sixth, seventh and eighth grade at Deerfield School will be presented to the executive board of the Parent-Teachers Association Mountainside PTA for approval at its next meeting on March 6. If the expected approval from that body is forthcoming, the tenative code, which is directed to the students and their parents, will probably go to the Board of Education for final action, Mrs. John Hechtle, PTA president, said. The code, which has been adopted by the Student Council of Deerfield School, was the topic of a panel discussion which drew well over 200 parents to the all-purpose room of Deerfield School last Thursday night.

The standing-room only audience heard Mrs. Elaine Weible, advisor to the Student Council, Edwin Sjonell, guidance counsellor, Peter Festante, assistant principal at Governor Livingston Regional High School, and Mrs. Leon Salz of the PTA discuss the various aspects of the need for such a code. The president of the Student Council, Joyce Agee, presented the students' viewpoint.

Mrs. Weible, Sionell and Festante agreed that there was a definite need for guidelines for proper dress and grooming in the classroom. Children dressed in good taste are more apt to have right attitudes in the classroom and to behave 'like ladies and gentlemen,' they explained.

Sjonell pointed to mini-skirts as a good example of the type of clothing which is 'distracting' in the classroom. (The code of dress, while it does not specifically bar mini skirts, suggests that girls wear clothing which "will enable them to sit comfortably--in a ladylike position.)

One member of the audience asked if adults today were not trying to make children form too much--in our history men did wear long hair." A panelist answered that "even farther back men didn't wear any clothes at

The three educators and the PTA member agreed that the guide is not a rigid one, that it is flexible enough to allow variations in dress and hair styles while attempting to set up lines of good taste and grooming.

WHAT ABOUT THE CHILD who "enjoys dressing in the Carnaby street style," one woman wnated to know, does such taste instantly label him as one of the troublemakers? Mrs. Weibel, Sjonell and Festante said that it has been demonstrated repeatedly that children "have the need to dress in "way out fashions" are usually the discipline problems. An example was given by Mrs. Weible of

Rescue Squad sets course on first aid

A standard first aid course, sponsored by the Mountainside Rescue Squad, will open next Thursday at 8 p.m. in the squad building on Rt. 22 and New Providence rd. The course will run for five consecutive Thursdays, Captain Charles Shomo announced, It is open at no charge to all residents of the borough.

Immediately following the completion of the 10-hour standard course, the Rescue Squad will give an advanced course for those interested.

Both courses are offered to advance knowledge of first aid in the home, to aid in the reduction of home accidents and to instruct in the immediate care of the injured, the official stated,

Lester Friedman, executive officer for the Watchung Council, told the boys and their parents that any boy who attains the Eagle Scout award has demonstrated "growth in character, leadership and citizenship in addition to acquiring proficiency in historic and basic scouting skills.

Pointing out that 46 of the 54 astronauts in this country's space program were Boy Scouts in their youth, Friedman stated that Eagle Scouts applying for admission to West Point automatically receive five extra points on their entrance examinations. . In outlining the three Scouts' achievements. the Scoutmaster said that all three are or have been senior patrol leaders, all had attended sessions at local and wilderness camps. completed both the Jockey Hollow and Valley Forge Historic Trails hikes and conducted a borough-wide paper drive for the Linda Clark Fund. Mike and Jeff both earned the Ad Altare Del, the highest religious award for Catholic Boy Scouts, and are altar boys at Our Lady of Lourdes Church. Glen, a sophomore at Gover-nor Livingston High School, is active in basket-ball and track. Jeff is a sophomore at Union Catholic High School, Scotch Plains, and is on the baseball team. Mike participates in intramural soccer and wrestling at Deerfield School where he is in the eighth grade. Jeff has been elected to the Order of the Arrow and attended the national scout ranch at Philmont, Ariz. Mike plans to attend Philmont

'Y' club schedules color film, lecture on isle of whalers

William McCrea will present "Nantucket and Isles of the Whalers" tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the Westfield High School auditorium. The program is sponsored by the Y's Men's Club of Westfield as part of its travel adventure series. He will accompany his lecture with a color film.

McCrea last visited Westfield in October, 1965, when he presented "Portugal; Land to Discover". He produced his first feature-length film in 1961 while in Moscow on special assignment for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Made in connection with a series of addresses that he was giving before the Soviet Academy of Sciences, the film drew critical aclaim for both his photographic techniques and his handling of potentially difficult subject matter.

A graduate of M.I.T., McCrea has authored technical papers in addition to contributing regular columns to newspapers throughout the country. His articles have with his visits to Europe, Asia, Africa, the Caribbean and Mexico.

"Nantucket and Isles of the Whalers" is a living record of a fascinating era in this nation's past and captures the mood of a de-lightful vacationland, a "Y" club spokesman

Preaches sermon at Day of Prayer

The Rev. C. Shelby Rooks, a member of the executive board of the National Council of Churches, gave the sermon at the annual World Day of Prayer held last Friday in the Presbyterian Church of Westfield, His sermentopic, based on the seventh chapter of Matthew, was "Ask, Seek and Knock."

The Council president, Mrs. William Cober, greeted the members of the local Council of United Church Women which draws its membership from Westfield, Mountainside, Scotch Plains and other nearby communities.

Mrs. Stanton Harris and Mrs. Frederick E. Christian led the litany. The Rev. Richard L. Smith gave the benediction.

Dr. Neiman talks tonight at temple

Dr. David Neiman, associate professor of Biblical studies at Brandeis University, will speak tonight at Temple Emanu-El, Westfield. His talk, on the confrontation of the prophets with the kings and people of Judea, will be the third in a four-part lecture series on middle Biblical history. The course is sponsored by the temple's adult education committee.

Dr. Neiman is widely known as a Biblical research scholar and historian of religion. He was active in the formation of the Academy for Liberal Judaism and was the founder of the Academy for Higher Jewish Learning. He is also the author of several articles and books, some of which are studies in Bibli-

Anthony Triano, a well known New Jersey artist who will hang the art works in the show, described the temple's new auditorium 'ideally suited for an art exhibition." This is the first time that the show, held for the past few years in the Springfield

House, Springfield, will be professionally hung. According to Mrs. Seidel, many interesting features will be included in the show this year; details will be announced as soon as plans are finalized. Hadassah's previous shows have gained considerable acclaim both for the quality of the exhibited works and the prominence of the exhibiting artists.

Mountainside residents serving on the show committee are: Mrs. Wasch, patrons and sponsors; Mrs. Mitchell Bradie, sales; Mrs. Walter Averick, publicity; Mrs. Ernest Keller, Mrs. Morton Segal and Mrs. Harvey Siegel both of Scotch Plains, are in charge of art selections.

A beautiful day to own a Volkswagen Station Wagon.

On Monday, January 24, 1966, an estimated 262,825,033.74 tons of snow fell upon the United States of America.

In Fraser, Colorado, a VW Station Wagon that stood for days out in temperatures of 25 below, started up without a tremble.

In Scarsdale, a lonely VW was blazing a trail to the commuter station. in Albany, a VW took 8 angry neighbors down to the local service station for one boy who refused to tuck his shirt tail in she asked him to. His answer was 'make me, she said.

Questioning from the floor brought out details of a "brawl" which seventh grade boys engaged in recently in the lunch room. There been previous indications at Board of Education meetings of discipline problems during the lunch hour period which resulted recentin male teachers being assigned to duty during lunch periods.

A plan to use mothers as lunch room monito relieve teachers, was abandoned at Deerfield because, according to statements made by the school superintendent, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, "these kids don't pay attention to someone they don't know."

Mothers are serving successfully paid lunch room monitors in the other two schools, Echobrook and Beechwood.

Festante urged the acceptance of the code, saying that it would be a preparition for a simi-lar code now in effect in the regional high

The great majority of the parents attending seemed to be in support of the code; many even advocated a stronger one. If children are to learn to respect authority,

Mrs. Weibel pointed out, the teachers must have the cooperation of the parents. Children who hear their teachers being criticized by their parents at home are not apt to have the proper attitudes in school, she said.

MRS, JOHN MILLER served as moderator of the meeting, one of the best attended in recent PTA history. Speaking after the meeting, Mrs. Hechtle expressed satisfaction both at the large at-tendance and with the cooperation offered by the great majority of the attending parents,

"Unfortunately," she added, "the parents
we most want to reach---the ones whose children create the discipline problems---rarely show up for meetings like this.'' THE CODE SPELLS out guide lines for dress, grooming, deportment, behavior in class (including impertinence and cheating), conduct in hallways, lunchrooms and on school buses, it also outlaws smoking for the sixth through eight graders or fighting on any part of school property.

It also reaffirms the school's policy of discipline which sets an oral warning to students for the first minor infraction; an oral warning and possible detention for the second infraction; detention and the summoning of parents to school for a conference after the third infraction. Serious infractions can lead to suspension. Expulsion of students will be used "only as a last resort."

around the hospital room and spent a good portion of each day on his feet. His therapy sessions continued daily until his discharge

According to his therapist, Miss Susan Gil-patrick, a graduate of Russell Sage College and Albany Medical College, Anthony can do without the therapy now "as long as he keeps walking and exercising." The only thing he cannot attempt, as yet, is walking up or down stairs.

Anthony's father counts on lots of help from his eight-year-old daughter, Rose Maria, in making sure that the boy keeps exercising. "She likes to play and fool all the time. She'll keep him busy," he says.

ANTHONY HAD BEEN apparently normally healthy until about four years ago when he had what seemed to be a routine case of chicken pox, his father said. Some months later, the teachers in his school noti ed that he could not keep up with the other children, that he was tiring too quickly and seemed to have difficulty walking. The illness, diagnosed as a possible muscular dystrophy, progressed gradually and by April of last year Anthony was unable to walk.

Despite treatment in various hospital clinics, the illness was not arrested until Anthony's stay at Children's Specialized. Then the dramatic reversal occurred.

With the usual caution of the medical profession, Dr. Staub declines to predict whether Anthony will hold the gains he has made and whether further recovery can be expected, However, his attitude is optimistic. He echoed Miss Gilpatrick's opinion, that, at this point, no further therapy is indicated. And he has a lot of faith in Anthony's courageous spirit, "We're very proud of Anthony, We've discharged him and we hope he never has to come here again except to drop in to say hello,

Dr. Staub said.

Reminds residents to clear snow for delivery of mail

Mountainside residents were reminded this week by Mrs, Elsie Shimonis, Acting Postmaster of Westfield, that the approach to mail receptacles must be kept clear of snow to allow the carrier to deliver the mail more expeditiously, Failure to provide such clearance is one of several irregularities that may necessitate the withdrawal of delivery service until the matter is corrected, Mrs. Shimonis warned.

Carriers are not required to deliver mail to houses where dogs or other animals interfere with such delivery, she pointed out. Houses without a receptacle for mail or a mail slot in the door, or without a name on the mail-box or a number on the house could lose mail delivery until such conditions are corrected, the postmaster cautioned. Mail boxes should be kept in good condition, too.

Mrs. Shimonis urged residents to cooperate by checking these items and making any necessary corrections so that delivery service will not have to be withdrawn. The Post Office has no desire to act arbitrarily in this matter,

Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer's column this week is the text of her regular bi-weekly "Radio Report" which was scheduled to be broadcast Friday,

This is Flo Dwyer, reporting to you from Washington.

Since this is my first broadcast of the new 90th Congress, and since we are still in the organizational stages of the new session, I was inclined to devote these remarks to a review of some of the major issues we will be facing here. There are plenty-- taxes, government reorganization, air and water pollution are obvious examples. And always at issue will be the amount of money we can afford to spend for the multitude of objectives -- some essential, some questionable -- which earlier Congresses have authorized. But on reflection, as a believer in pri-orities, I've decided that the first things really should come first.

First among the first, in my judgment, is the matter of integrity, Congressional integrity, it is the foundation of representative government. It colors everything Congress does. It determines the confidence which people may have in their Government, the respect they may hold for the laws, the effectiveness with which Government can function,

NO ONE CAN disagree with the principle that all public officials must act with unwavering integrity, absolute impartiality, and complete devotion to the public interest, Moreover, this principle must be followed not only in reality but also in appearance. For Congress, this principle is especially important. Congressmen are the direct representatives of the people. And Congress is the source of the money and the authority on which the National Government depends.

Yet, there is an uncomfortable gap between principle and practice. Congress does not possess the unquestioned confidence or the high reputation for integrity it needs to have. People do have doubts and suspicions. And much of the fault lies with Congress itself. For Congress has failed to police itself effectively. It has failed to establish clear-cut standards of conduct and to enforce

Two examples are very much in the news and they illustrate very well the problem we face. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell was denied his seat in the House on the first day of the new session, and the charges against him are now being investigated. I sup-port this move, but I ask now, in common with many people, whether Congress will be content simply to dispose of the Powell case whether it will establish the standards and machinery to assure that all its members are above reproach.

The other example is the Bobby Baker case. Mr. Baker has just been convicted on charges amounting to violation of his trust as a former top employee of the Senate. The very evidence, however, which convicted Baker also implicated at least one former Senator in a situation involving the payment of nearly 100,000 dollars for the purpose of influencing legislation. Nothing, apparently, is being done about this.

People have a right to be bothered by unanswered questions like these, it's their government. And Congress has an obligation to the people, and to itself, to restore the people's confidence in this the highest institution of self government in our land, THROUGHOUT MY YEARS in the House, I have repeatedly urged Congress to take the necessary action. Together with many of my colleagues. I have voted, introduced legislation, made speeches and testified before com mittees in efforts to bring about reform. The results, to date, have been meager, indeed. It's not because Congress doesn't know what it ought to do; rather, it has lacked the will to do it. Now, however, in the face of renewed scandal, we have the best opportunity so far to remedy the situation.

For the past several weeks, I have been researching this matter carefully -- reviewing what has been proposed, studying the conflict-of-interest regulations of the Executive Branch, and preparing legislation which will meet the problem squarely.

I believe we need to do the following things: require the disclosure of all assets and liabil-ities, gifts, and business interests of Members of Congress and their top staff assistants; place on the public record all communication between Congressmen and government agencies on behalf of private interests; write a Code of Ethics which will provide specific and meaningful standards of conduct; and establish a permanent committee in the House with the power to investigate allegations of improper conduct and the power to punish

This is what my legislation will provide. If Congress enacts these laws, most of our battle will be won. And for those who persist in violating ethical standards, we will have the same means of dealing with them

This is Flo Dwyer, thanking you for listening to me.

Among the more than 1,000 legislative bills printed each year for consideration at annual sessions of the New Jersey Legislature less than one-quarter have become law in recent

While this ratio is not unusual, comments the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, the annual disposition of discarded bills represents a considerable cost upon the State Treasury. Many are reprinted for another try the following year.

Several proposals have been advanced to extend the life of bills through two legislative sessions, running concurrently with the twoyear terms to which members of the House of Assembly are now elected. Potential savings are seen in such a plan. This is among several advantages cited for a ducted early in the present session by the House of Assembly's Committee on Judiciary, advocates of the change outlined benefits which could be expected in a two-year Legislature. They reasoned that longer terms for officers, legislative leaders and committee chairmen would help develop more expertise in leadership and in legislative committee functional areas, such as taxation, welfare and finance. They also cited the possibilities of more even scheduling of legislative work-loads with reduction of end-of-session legislative log jams.

Clarence J. Ziegler, executive director of the laxpayers Association, pointed out at the hearing that the proposal for extension of legislative sessions is not new. Variations of it have the endorsement of the National Legislative Conference and were advocated in the report of New Jersey's Eagleton Institute of Politics of Rutgers, the State University, following an extended study of legislative procedure in this State. It was also among proposals for legislative improvement discussed by a panel of legislators at the Taxpayers Association's 36th Annual Meeting last Novem-

PROFILE---Mrs. Peg Olson

It was as natural as breathing for Mrs. Peg Olson of Blazo ter, to join the Mountainside Music Association for music is almost as necessary to her as air --- she teels stifled without it, she confesses.

Now president of the MMA, which has a long and distinguished history in the borough, Mrs. Olson announced recently that a theatre party will be held this year instead of the annual variety show in which MMA members display their varied talents. The executive members have decided to hold the show on alternate years, for two reasons, Mrs. Olson explained. The annual shows demand great time and effort from the directors, Mrs. Jeanne Wilhelms and Aden Lewis, and it was felt that the switch to an alternate year schedule would give them some respite. In addition, the lapse of time between shows will keep the performers and the show from "getting stale," she said.

Mother of four sons, ranging in age from Il to six, Mrs. Olson shows no signs of 'getting stale" her self. She doesn't sit still long enough. Part of that activity is due to her own natural energy, an effervescence which bubbles often into snatches of singing, playing the prano or just "fooling around with music," Much of it is also due to her household schedule which could send a short-order cook reeling.

SHE GETS THE four boys out to school around 8:30. Her husband, Arthur, who is associated with a family firm, Hults Softwater Co. of Mountainside, usually leaves shortly after. She then has just a little over two hours to straighten up their comfortable, four bedroom home, walk the family dog, (an over-friendly labrador retriever who thinks he's a lap dog), and do all the other myrtad tasks of a housewife before the youngest, six-year-old Stephen, a kindergarmer in Deerfield School, comes home for lunch, Eightyear-old Matthew, in the second grade at Deerfield, comes waltzing in about 15 minutes later. Alan, II, and Stuart, 9 1/2, both attend Echobrook School; both ride their bicycles home for lunch and, naturally, they're on different lunch hours. The head of the house often drops in for lunch whenever his schedule permits and it rarely permits a time that coincides with the kids' various lunch periods.

"So lunch starts around II and ends about time for me to start cooking dinner," she says with a rueful laugh.

But it would take much more than stretched-out lunch hours to get "Peg" Olson down, She has a kind of inner sparkle, a delightful "bouncy" quality that enables her to bring an amused sense of balance to any situation. She confesses, with a ripple of laughter, that music helps her maintain that sustaining equilibrium. "I can't go a day without music," she admits. "I tell myself I'll just sneak 10 minutes from the dusting to play the plano and sing a little. Then before I know it, an hour's gone."

A GRADUATE OF the Music Conservatory of Susquehanna College, Mrs. Olson taught music for one year in Basking Ridge. She and her husband, Arthur, whom she met while both were studying at Susquehanna, were married the summer after her graduation. A Navy veteran, (he enlisted directly after high school at the end of World War II), he had completed his college work in three years and graduated the year before.

They lived in an apartment in East Orange for one year and moved to Mountainside II years ago, "just about 10 days before Alan was born."

She was active in the Newcomers Club and the Mountainside Woman's Club during her first years in the borough but, since her growing family required so much of her time, she resigned from the latter some years ago. A well-known folk singer (she entertains when time permits at religious folk concerts, club programs, etc.) she has been a shining hit in her many appearances in the MMA shows. She writes many of her own lyrics, setting them to old folk tunes. She accompanies herself on an auto-harp, an instrument which resembles a zither.

SHE AND HER husband both play recorders, ''just for our own amuseme also proficient on the guitar.

She is amused, but also amazed, that their sons do not, as yet, share their parents love of music, but are often "horrified" (the word is hers) at her singing. They often cover their ears up to cover the sound. She does see a ray of hope, though. Last year she gave a folk music program at Alan's school. Out of the corner of her eye, she saw him scrunched down in his seat, obviously excruciatingly embarassed. However, he came home the next day to eport in astonishment, "mom, some of the kids in my class think you sing pretty good." The praise was much too faint, she sings

PORK NOW A WISE CONSUMER CHOICE Pork should receive special attention in your meal plans during the months ahead.

The United States Department of Agriculture Marketing Lists report an expected 8 to 10 percent increase in the supply of pork during the first half of the year.

Pork and pork products have been enjoyed by man for centuries. Farly cave drawings in stone depict the wild boar, which gives an indication that hops were used even in these ancient times.

The pork that is eaten today, however, has gone through many changes in its quality and appearance. During the last half century the animals have been bred for less fat and more lean meat. Today, an average serving of lean pork provides only 250 calories, and is 90 to 98 percent divestible.

Pork products available in the market offer a wide range of consumer choices, it is sold fresh, cured, smoked, pickled, canned, as sausage and in ready-to-serve meats. Pork tenderloin, roasts, chops, spareribs, ham steaks, and Canadian style bacon are just a few of the popular family favorites available. Economy cuts that are popular include blade, shoulder, and the butt and shank of the ham.

Nutritionally, pork is an important source of high quality protein. It also provides a considerable amount of iron and miacin. When shopping for pork, look for firm, fine-textured lean, that is grayish pink in

The round, purple inspection stamp gives ar indication that the meat has passed United States Government inspection as a wholesome food. All meat that is sold in interstate and foreign commerce must be so inspected. It is your assurance that the animals were healthy and the meat was prepared under sanitary conditions.

Unlike beef, pork is not graded for quality. The reason for this is that the age the animals are slaughtered and the modern methods of production have resulted in pork that is fairly consistent and uniform in quality, If properly handled, all pork you buy should be of

By Dr. Burton Wasserman, professor of art, and Don Bagin, coordinator of college relations, Glassboro State College

What good is modern art? No good at all -- from a utilitarian point of view. Modern art doesn't bake bread. It doesn't make wheels go around. It doesn't inspire con-

Abstraction, whatever that is, appears to be king. What is it all about? Who needs it?

Modern artists operate in a little world all their own when they make their art. They are completely out of touch with the world of reality around them. They function in isolation because making art must inevitably be a very lonely preoccupation while it is going on.

That artists, by and large, are an impractical lot is pretty common knowledge. What is worse, they don't even seem to care. It's not surprising then that sensible people generally pray that their children will not pursue careers in the fine arts.

Why, "parents argue, should their children add to the already overloaded population of use-less citizens incapable of looking after themselves properly?"

Quite clearly, this modern art is not for everybody. Looking at it intelligently requires special preparation before the work can have any meaning to potential viewers. Today's age is considered suitable. Sociologists suggest

Electronics, in my opinion, represent one of the outstanding growth industries of the space age. In this industry especially, technological obsolescence is a major factor and one which must be considered in attempting to select specific securities for investment.

Because of the broad scope encompassed by the traditional definition of "electronic companies", comments are broken down according to major marketing areas.

Semi-conductors: Here a chief concern is recent price cuts. However, it should be remembered that the major companies producing semi-conductors today are the ones which survived the chaotic price cutting era

I continue to view the long-term outlook for semi-conductors optimistically. Especially integrated circuits (ICs). Last year, IC sales more than doubled -- to about $155 million This year, volume should approximate $250

Coventional Components: Here, demand is booming. But longer-term prospects are not so clearly defined. Integrated circuits, eventually, will capture some of the conventional component markets.

Process Control: During the past five years the percentage of total capital expenditures represented by process controls has doubled.

And this trend is continuing.

Moreover, the anticipated increase in wage rates will provide incentive for industry to offset higher production costs by means of labor-saving equipment...i.e., automatic process controls. Longer-term, I expect this business to grow at an annual rate of about 12 percent worldwide. Color Television: Investors have become dubious about the color television boom. A year ago the stocks of industry leaders were selling at close to 30 times earnings. Today they are closer to 20 times.

Unit -sales should increase about 50 percent from 4.7 million to over seven million. In addition, price cuts should tend to broaden Instrumentation: Electronic instruments are being used by an increasing number of in-dustries - and at practically all laboratories. The market has been growing rapidly - about 15 percent per year.

Miscellaneous: Some electronic companies are so diversified - or specialized - that definitive classification is difficult. There are companies in this group that appear to have good growth prospects.

According to Dr. Benjamin Spock, M.D., your son and the property of t daughter can and usually does profit from having their father play with them, providing he is

University holds exhibit

An exhibit of Phoenican artifacts from the Leeds-London-Fairleigh Dickinson University Expedition to Motya, a Phoenician city near Marsala, Sicily, is currently on display at the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

The exhibit of artifacts includes a portion of a terracotta head; a terracotta antefix of a building; a segment of a domestic altar; and a cast of a rim of a pottery vessel all dating from the 6th century B.C. Arrowheads from 347 B.C. are also on display. Photographs, maps and brochures supplement the exhibit being held in the main lobby of Friendship Library.

Two can often pay taxes more cheaply than one

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Married couples can usually save money by filing a joint income tax return instead of separate returns for husband and wife.

The reason is simple. Tax rates graduate upwards from 14 to 70 per cent, depending on your income bracket. The more money you make, the higher your rate of taxation.

A couple that files a joint return in effect splits their total income 50-50 between them. So each of them gets taxed on a smaller amount of income and at a lower rate than if one of them had to pay taxes on the total amount.

A married man who carned $7,500 last year can reduce his tax bill by $171.50, if he files jointly with his wife. If he files jointly with his wife. If he files with his wife, and she had no income of her own last year, his tax is $914.50. On a separate return, his tax is $1,086.

But it doesn't always pay to file a joint return. A husband who earned $2,349 last year and who files a separate return pays a tax of $226. If his wife earned $2,124 and files separately, her tax is $193. So they owe the government a total of $419.

If they file jointly on a combined income of $4,473, their tax bill would come to $422. Either Form you were divorced or legally separated at the end of 1966. You may not file jointly if your wife was an alien and lived abroad for any part of 1966. But if you fall into any of those categories --

Like everyone else, joint filers may use either the short form 1040A or the long form 1040. That's unless they're required for another reason to use the long form. Both husband and wife must sign a joint return, And If you file separate returns, both of you must take the same kind of deductions. If

Trips discussed, scheduled, by unit of local Auxiliary

The American War Dads Auxiliary of Union Chapter No. 1, held its regular monthly meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Stanley Cichowski, 317 Roseland pl., Union, with president, Mrs. Alfred Stein, presiding.

Mrs. Lawrence was appointed sunshine chairman for the balance of the fiscal year, due to an emergency vacancy.

Plans were made for the auxiliary to sponsor a trip to the 50th international flower show to be held at the New York Coliseum, New York City, March 6. Plans will include transportation by charter bus, ticket to the flower show and dinner. The public is invited to join the members, it was announced, Mrs. Stein may be contacted for reservations at MU=6-0340.

Because the trip falls on the first Monday of the month, the auxiliary's regular meeting date, the monthly meeting has been postponed to the second Monday, March 13 at the home of Mrs. Frank Daniel, 1046 Cregar ave., Union. The auxiliary members had been invited to attend the annual St. Valentine's party, sponsored by the American War Dads, Chapter No. l, but weather conditions forced the organization to cancel the party.

Following the conclusion of the business meeting, a social hour was held, Mrs. Ci-chowski prepared a St. Valentine party, and there was a musical doll that emitted "Happy Birthday" in honor of Mrs. Stein's birthday A surprise package was awarded to Mrs. Michael Canonico.

Nursing schools to join UJC program

The Schools of Nursing of Newark Beth Israel Hospital and Somerset Hospital, Somerville, will join Union Junior College's nursing program in September, 1967, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. Mac-

Kay, UJC president. Up to 50 first-year student nurses each from Newark Beth Israel and Somerset Hospitals are expected to enroll in the program in September. The Schools of Nursing of Elizabeth and Perth Amboy General Hospitals now participate in Union Junior College's nursing program.

Under the program, the student nurses attend classes at Union Junior College four days a week and earn 22 college credits. They are encouraged to participate in all college activities, and have representation on the Day Session Student Council, The student nurses take course in anatomy and physiology, general chemistry, microbiology, general psychology and sociology.

All four hospitals participating in Union Junior College's nursing program are three-year, diploma-granting nursing schools. The college credits earned at Union Junior College are transferrable to other institutions of higher learning by student nurses desiring to earn a baccalaureate degree,

Dr. MacKay pointed out that the four nursing schools are located in the four counties comprising UJC's constituency: ElizabethGeneral Hospital in Union County, Perth Amboy General Hospital in Middlesex County, Newark Beth Israel Hospital in Essex County, and Somerset Hospital in Somerset County.

"It is a great pleasure for us to welcome Newark Beth Israel and Somerset Hospitals into our nursing program," Dr. Mac-Kay said. "We believe our program plays a significant role in helping to solve the drastic shortage of trained nurses in New Jersey, helps to up-grade and strengthen the nursing programs in these hospitals, and assists in recruiting young men and women to the nursing profession.

Dr. MacKay said Union Junior is able to expand its nursing program as the result of opening its new $1 million Science Building. The electrically-heated, air conditioned building will contain five science laboratories. six classrooms, two large lecture halls, science resource center, student research center, computer center, 14 faculty offices and other facilities.

Prof. Marion H. Leary, nursing coordinator, pointed out that Union Junior College's nursing program provides both an academic backund for the student nurses as well as training and courses at the hospital.

Prof. Leary pointed out that the number of nursing schools in New Jersey is declining while the need for nurses is increasing rapidly. She pointed out that a college affiliation is helpful to a hospital nursing school in attracting high school students to a nursing

Newark Beth Israel Hospital expects to have about 40 first-year nursing students in September, and about 100 student nurses overall. The school's three-year diploma program be shortened beginning in September from 36 months to 30 months. The Somerset Hospital School of Nursing was established in 1911 and graduated its first class in 1914. The school opened an addition to the School of Nursing two years ago to from the Helene Fuld Foundation of Trenton. Over the years, the Fuld Foundation has contributed $431,488 in capital funds to expand the School of Nursing.

Mrs. Barnett said she anticipates an enrollment of 25 first-year student nurses in September and about 75 student nurses in ne School of Nursing. Mrs. Barnett said Miss Elizabeth Liu, associate director of nursing education, worked with Mrs. Leary and other Union Junior College officials in working out the details for Home economist. Since permanent press is highly resistant to additional creasing, it must be understood by the homesewer that hems, seams and other deatils will not have the sharp edges or creases that can be achieved with other fabrics.

Therefore, in using permanent press fabrics by the yard, certain limitations must be weighed in relation to the noiron properties of permanent

First consideration is the type of garment to be made and activity for which it will be used.

The selection of the pattern is all important in that the pattern line and design has a minimum number of seams areas where sharp creases are necessary.

If a pattern is selected with pleat design, be prepared to reset the pleats after each washing.

Puckering of stitching is one of the biggest problems to overcome in making permanent press garments. To minimize this puckering, a large machine stitch, approximately 10 stitches per inch, is sug-

Machine tensions should be set for a relaxed tension that will still produce an acceptable locked and smooth stitch. Normal machine stitching and tension may look fine until after the garment is laundered and tumbled dry, then excessive puckering becomes a problem.

Zipper tapes also shrink during the laundering and tumble drying directions that go with permanent press. A homesewer can minimize this shrinkage by pre-shrinking the zipper. Soak the zipper in hot water for ten minutes at least two times. Easing the Zipper into the placket area will also help to eliminate puckering.

To press seams or darts during the construction of a permanent press garment, use hot or cotton setting. Pressing should be done on the right side of the garment.

In purchasing permanent press by the yard, look for printed sewing directions supplied by the manufacturer. If the material is folded on the bolt, avoid using the crease line in cutting out the pattern. Such a line will be impossible

Deposit for trip to moon

a story about a Brooklyn travel agency accepting $10 deposits for trips to the moon, the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York asked the agency, what was happening to the money being collected. The newspaper also quoted an official NASA (the National Aeronautics and Space Administration) as saying that no commercial travel to the moon could be possible before the year 2,000. An inquiry to the president of the agency brought an interesting reply. He claimed that the money collected was being de-posited into 'an escrow account.' And he wrote: 'The purpose of this campaign is not for commercial travel in space in the year 2,000, but to get one of my group on the moon within the next two or three years alongside the astro-

THE BETTER BUSINESS Bureau then sent a representative to the agency. An agency spokesman claimed that he had written to NASA and had a reply from them. He also said that some 60 applicants had left $10 deposits, but he clined to reveal the name of the bank in which the money is being kept in es-

called pie-in-sky scheme While the Better Business Bureau realizes that many companies conduct campaigns for publicity purposes, it feels that this one is deceptive and seriously questions its validity. A sign in the window of the agency says: "Reservations to the Moon Being Accepted Her NOWI Subject to C.A.B. Approval." Emmett Dean, manager of the Better Business Bureau's Financial and Commerical Division, promptly called the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C. and was given the following information: The C.A.B. has not disclaimed authority over civilian flights to the moon.

Variety Travel Agency, Inc., has not. to the best of their knowledge, filed an application with the C.A.B. for permission for the moon flights. The C.A.B. would never grant such approval to an application of this kind from a travel agency.

The Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York advises would-be travelers to the moon to hold on to their $10 deposits and preferably to keep the money in their own bank account, where it will collect interest. "Wait until the C.A.B. or some other responsible government agency announces plans for civilian travel to the moon,'

Peace Corps tests scheduled in area

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world have been invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday at Main post offices in Montclair, Morristown,

Newark, and Plainfield. The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can be set be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. If test scores indicate a limited language - learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English - speaking country. The placement test requires no preparation and is non - competitive; an applicant can niether nass nor fail,

The application form, not the placement test. is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington,

The Placement Test takes about an hour and a half.

Guest speakers will be Harry Torczyner, Dr. Hillel Seidman and Dr. Niels Hansen, Mrs. Marcus Nusbaum will serve as moderator. A question and answer period will be held. Refreshments' will be served. Admission for adults is 50¢; students, 25¢.

Church-building slump expected to continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) --- New church building, which dropped sharply in 1966, is expected to slump further in 1967 because of higher construction costs and "tight money," according to Christianity Today, a conservative Pro-congregations as high as seven percent and a rise in projected building costs of from 20 to 50 percent over a year ago in some cases.

Dartmouth head to visit John Sloane Dickey, president of the Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H., will be guest at the dinner to be given by the Dartmouth

Go to the Welfare Board and get the truth If you find that your husband has committed bigamy, get yourself a lawyer. You wouldn't want to live with a man who already has a wife, would you?

Dear Amy:

I have a lovely wife and four wonderful children whom I adore, I have a good job and have been working on the night shift for a couple of years now. To get to the point, my wife seems to get bored and impatient with me because I don't make as much money as some members of her family do, It's true that I haven't been able to work real steady all the time due to lay-offs -- and sometimes faults of my own. But, I try my best to keep working

Miniature UJC no tiny task Dean completes scale model

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean of Union Junior College, Cranford, has an eye for models, which some colleagues claim coincides with his profession. with his profession as a professor of psychology.

The model he has been eyeing for the past several months has a stunning shape of irregular proportions, which he has handled with loving care and affection.

Dr. Iversen's model is a replica of the Union Junior College campus done to a scale of 25 feet equal one inch. A model like this is often done by architectural or planning firms. and usually cost $1,000 or more to produce So far, Dr. Iversen's model has cost about $25 for materials and hundreds of hours on his

A great deal of ingenuity went into the project. For example, the domes on the William Miller Sperry Observatory are made of two halves of a miniature ball, and the blacktop parking lots and roads are of black construc-wide. It contains the five buildings on Union Junior College's 30-acre campus -- all done to exact scale -- as well as all parking lots, roads, and two brooks which run through the center of the site. The exact topography of the site is reproduced to scale.

The sidewalks are of sandpaper, the roof ventilators are aluminum rivets, the water is blue gift-wrapping paper, and the roofs are of white sand paint on black paper to simulate stones. The buildings are made of poster board and balsa wood, and the contours of the site were made from special cardboard.

The new Science Building posed a special problem, but Dr. Iversen's ingenuity came through. He used covering from alint remover to simulate the sunscreens on the east side, and used clear acetate film used for overhead projects for the greenhouse. The flagpole is an aluminum nail -- and it has an American tion paper.

The model will be on display on the campus
The model is 84 inches long and 48 inches for several weeks, and then will go on tour.
