Service clubs join at annual meeting; wives are guests

The Kiwanis Club of Mountainside will be host next Tuesday to the borough's other two service clubs at a dinner in the Mountainside Inn. This will be the fourth joint annual dinner meeting for the members of the Kiwanis, the Rotary and the Lions Clubs and their wives.

The presidents of the three clubs, Ronald F. Mays of the Kiwanis, George Buchan of the Rotary, and Frank Magnolia of the Lions Club, and their wives will share the head table.

Principal speaker will be Hyman S. Tobey of Plainfield. His topic will be "Understanding and Applying Principles of Sophrology (hypnosis) in Everyday Living." Unit to give advice on bond sales

Borough will issue $1½ million in bonds

A citizens committee which will advise the Borough Council on bonding and financing was appointed by Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. Tuesday night as the governing body authorized the issuance of $1,500,000 in bond anticipation notes, the first phase of approximately $1,500,000 in bonds expected to be issued by the community within the next 18 months.

The five appointees, Wilbur Groves of Creek Bed rd., Kenneth Donnelly of Darby lane, Nick Bradshaw of Partridge run, Charles Harrington of Evergreen ct., and Dick Whitcomb of Deer path, are all "knowledgeable" in finance, according to Wilhelms, and will advise the Council on the sale, distribution, amounts and timing of the bond sales.

The $190,000 bond anticipation notes authorized Tuesday night will be used to pay for the storm drainage work in the Darby lane-Summit rd. area which is now about 80 percent complete. Work contracts on the job, the first of four such projects planned for the borough, totaled about $92,000. Engineering fees will be added to that figure but will not bring the total to the $190,000.

Other projects for which bond issues have already been approved by the Borough Council are the library, $370,000 and the bathhouse for the pool $90,000. The voters last October

Board awards contracts for library furnishings

Contracts totaling $28,868 for shelving, furniture and equipment for the new library building were awarded Monday night by the trustees. The bulk of the money, $26,917, will go to the Sjoström Co. of Philadelphia for shelving, equipment and tables. Farkas Co. of Newark was awarded a contract for $1,951 for chairs, etc.

Both contracts set an Oct. 2 deadline for delivery. The trustees instructed the acting borough attorney, Norman Shulman, to draw up the contracts.

Two other companies, the Library Bureau of Remington Rand, Inc., of New York City, and Reeves Manufacturing Co., submitted bids on May 2; the first concern bid on all the equipment, Reeves bid only on the steel shelves.

The previously announced date for the opening of the new library was set for sometime in September. However, the board president, Sidney Mele, had indicated that there was a chance that delivery of the equipment might delay the opening a short while.

Construction of the new building, located near Birch Hill and New Providence rds., is going along well on schedule. If work continues at its present pace, the roof will be in place within the next few weeks.

THE LIBRARY DIRECTOR, Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, was presented with a $285 donation for the new library at yesterday's meeting approved a bond issue of $845,000 for an addition to Deerfield School. The library, the bathhouse and the tennis courts are now under construction. Work on the school addition is scheduled to begin this summer.

The Council introduced two ordinances Tuesday night, one appropriating $15,000 from the capital improvement account for tennis and volleyball courts and the other creating the office of municipal engineer. Public hearings on both measures are scheduled June 20 at 8 p.m. in Echobrook School.

The tennis and volleyball courts are now under construction near the site of the municipal pool.

The title of municipal engineer will be conferred on the borough's Superintendent of Public Works, Robert Koser, who also serves as tax assessor. Mayor Wilhelms explained that since Koser, a licensed engineer and land surveyor, does already perform engineering and related duties for the borough the Council deemed it advisable to spell out the title for him officially. He will continue to serve as Superintendent of Public Works and Tax Assessor.

A GROUP OF RESIDENTS for the Heckle dr. Ridge dr. area at the Council meeting pressed for clarification of the status of a proposed subdivision, now before the Planning Board, which if approved as presented would connect the two streets, making a through street between Central ave. and Summit rd. 25 foreign nurses are guests tonight of church women

Twenty-five young women from India, Japan, Thailand, Korea, the Netherlands, the Union of South Africa, and other countries, will be guests this evening at an informal reception in the Community Presbyterian Church. The reception is sponsored by the Women's Association of the church.

The foreign students are enrolled in a two-year training period in Overlook Hospital, Summit, under an exchange-visitor nurse program. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Gladys Kimble, director of the exchange-visitor nurse program at Overlook.

The program was designed to give visiting nurses the opportunity to receive post-graduate training and also acquire first-hand knowledge of America, culturally as well as professionally. In the process, Overlook's nurses benefit too from the visitors' nursing methods and the exposure to the rich culture of their native lands, Mrs. Kimble pointed out.

The visit to Community Presbyterian is part of the extensive extracurricular program of recreational trips planned for the group. Serving on the reception committee are Mrs. Arthur Blake, Mrs. Ray Hyers, Mrs. Charles Jerome, Mrs. Douglas King, Mrs. Robert Kubli, Mrs. Mel Lemmerhirt, Mrs. Fred Stahuber and Mrs. Donald Tambini.

Theologian speaks at special program on sex education

The Rev. Frank McNulty, S.T.D., professor of moral theology at Darlington Seminary, will be the principal speaker at a community service program on sex-education to be presented next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of Deerfield School, Central ave., Mountainside. The program, which is sponsored by the three churches of Mountainside, the public school system and the Parents-Teachers Association, will include a panel of specialists who will react to Father McNulty's talk.

Serving on the panel will be Dr. Jane Spragg, a Westfield physician noted for her community service; DeForest Tinkler, associate youth director of the Westfield Y.M.C.A., and Dr. Alois Stadeck of Mountainside, a psychiatrist. In his talk, Father McNulty will emphasize that parents have the privilege of instructing their own children and that school or church programs should supplement not replace home instruction. He will also discuss sex education as a part of "total family living."

Education on sex is receiving wide national, state and local attention. The Mountainside schools last Friday launched a five-session course on "Growth and Development of Adolescents" for the eighth graders in the public schools.

The school superintendent, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, and the Rev. Raymond Aumack, assistant pastor at Our Lady of Lourdes School, urge parents and other members of the community to attend Tuesday night's session.

Further information on the program may be obtained from Dr. Hanigan or Father Aumack.

MISS TONI KAYSER

Two AAUW scholarships awarded to college students

Miss Toni Kayser and Miss Sandra Karwowski have been awarded 1967-68 academic scholarships by the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women. The names of the winners of the awards, which are limited to Mountainside women presently attending college, were announced this week by Mrs. Nicholas Bradshaw, AAUW scholarship and fellowship chairman.

Miss Kayser, the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Kayser of 292 Central ave., is completing her sophomore year at Keuka College, Keuka Park, N.Y. Enrolled in the nursing curriculum, Miss Kayser was named to the dean's list. She has served on a fashion selection committee, organized in cooperation with a national fashion magazine. She was the recipient last year of an AAUW scholarship.

Miss Karwowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karwowski of 328 Darby lane, is completing her freshman year at Douglass College, New Brunswick. She is enrolled in the liberal arts program and plans to major in English. A dean's list student, she has been active in dramatics and has held posts in her dormitory and campus groups.

A former AAUW scholarship winner, Miss Linda Bauer of 1256 Poplar ave., Mountainside, will be awarded a one-year honorary membership in the Mountainside AAUW upon her graduation next month from Newark College of Arts and Sciences, Rutgers University. Miss Bauer was the winner of AAUW scholarships, in 1964, 1965 and 1966.

Counsellor to talk on a 'perfect mess'

"How to Bring Up A Perfect Mess" will be the topic of a talk to be presented next Thursday night by Milton Faith, executive director of the Youth and Family Counselling Service. Faith will speak at the service's annual meeting scheduled to open at 7:30 p.m. in Hamilton Terrace School, Berkeley Heights. A question and answer period will follow.

The Rev. Elmer A. Talcott of Mountainside, a member of the executive board of the 45-year-old counselling agency, this week issued a general invitation to the residents of the borough to attend the meeting.

Youth and Family Counselling Service, which is located in Westfield, serves Mountainside, Westfield, Berkeley Heights, Clark, Rahway, Scotch Plains and Cranford.

Cancer drive over $1,800; still lags $1,400 behind goal

With over 60 percent of the returns in, Mountainside is more than $1,400 under the $3,300 goal set for the 1967 Cancer Crusade in the borough. The local chairman, Mrs. Harold Tulchin, reported Monday that a total of $1,834.40 had been turned in so far in the residential and industrial drive. Two hundred dollars of that sum was donated by industry and business, Mrs. Tulchin said.

However, the chairman still expects the borough to reach its quota. She points out that in 1965, the last year a local chairman headed the drive in the community, returns continued to dribble in until August. Final contributions that year reached $2,501.60. Contributions this year are running about $30 behind the total collected by this time in 1965. Total collections in 1966 reached slightly over $2,000.

Mrs. Tulchin urged district and block captains to collect all their envelopes. The approximately 38 percent of the envelopes still out when turned in could bring the borough drive to a successful conclusion, she said.

Anyone holding a cancer envelope in his home is asked to contact either the block or district captain, both of whose names are listed on the envelope, to arrange for pick-up. Or they may contact Mrs. Tulchin at her home, 336 Longview dr.

The chairman thanked all those residents who have contributed to the 1967 drive. Contributions, which ranged from $25 to 35 cents, will help fight cancer, the disease which claimed the lives of 1,016 Union County residents in 1965, she added.

PROFILE---Albert J. Benninger

On March 30, Albert J. Benninger, long-time GOP leader in this borough and in the county, underwent an operation in which a command pace-maker was connected to his heart. Toward the end of April he announced that he would quit his post as State Republican Committeeman before the end of the year and move from his present home at 1454 Orchard rd. to Little Silver, a shore community near Rumson.

Many people thought that this meant the veteran political virtuoso was going into semi-retirement. But those who know him best doubted that --- "Al isn't able to stay idle, not even semi-idle," one said.

The latter group was right. Benninger is bouncing around with the same old zest. And with a typical reaction, he has become interested in another cause as the result of his operation.

He's busy organizing a kind of Pace-maker Club, a group with membership to be drawn from Union County residents who have pace-makers.

The group will not spend time rehearsing the details of their operations --- there won't be time for that. They'll be busy raising money, money that will go to "help some poor guy who needs a pace-setter and can't afford it."

Benninger is convinced that his fellow pace-setter-wearers will be as eager as he to take this tangible way of saying "we're thankful we're alive."

Benninger has already marshaled his own formidable organizational abilities to get the project underway. He's contacted the director of the Union County Heart Association, sent out "feelers" to friends and associates and taken many other preliminary steps to set the wheels rolling.

Although the framework of the proposed organization has not yet been set up, Benninger projects it as a three-pronged endeavor which will supply economic assistance for a heart patient, give tangible support to the County Heart Fund and to the heart work of Overlook Hospital and the pace-maker clinic at Beth Israel Hospital, Newark.

Benninger will get monthly pace-maker check-ups at the Beth Israel Clinic, as do most wearers of the miraculous mechanical devices.

"All this wonderful work so many agencies are doing --- I want to do something practical to show my gratitude. I think this organization is at least part of the answer."

AL BENNINGER IS A GOOD ORGANIZER. According to him, it started back in boyhood days in Mountainside when he was one of six children of a "poor farmer."

"I made up my mind when I was a kid, I was going to get somewhere," he grinned widely, remembering, "I was always talking --- my parents used to tell me I had a big mouth."

That "big mouth" helped put Al Benninger on the Borough Council when he was 21, the youngest man ever to sit on that body. Now 58, Benninger has had a long, successful political career in which he tangled successfully with older rivals and during which he came in close contact with national political figures.

The big, rambling home on Orchard rd., into which he and his wife, Betty, moved about 17 years ago, has a basement room which gives a pictorial record of his political career. He is shown with former President Eisenhower, when he was making his first bid for the presidency, former vice-president Nixon, Senator Case, the late Jim Mitchell, once Secretary of Labor, former Governor Al Driscoll, the late Bernard Shanley, Chief Justice Earl Warren, then governor of California and numerous others. A framed letter, handsigned by "Mike," thanks him for his efforts in the 1952 presidential race.

IT WAS BENNINGER'S "big mouth" that brought Eisenhower to this state in his first presidential campaign. The brash young man called the presidential hopeful in California, convinced him that he should plane to New Jersey and on three hours notice, with the help of Gov. Driscoll and Shanley, had 35,000 people lined up at the Somerset Court House to give Eisenhower a rousing welcome. One picture shows vice-presidential candidate Nixon with a dog-house emblazoned with the name "Checkers," the Nixon pet which gained fame in the political campaign. The dog house was Benninger's idea. Months later Nixon's wife called from California to ask Benninger if the dog house could be sent to them in Washington.

Nixon engraved invitation to the Eisenhower-Nixon inaugural, which Benninger was unable to use, also decorates the wall of the room which over the years has often served as the smoke-filled backroom where the big GOP decisions were made.

With a nice sense of balance, Benninger has another room in the basement with walls decorated with his fishing gear.

"For political business we go in that room. We talk fishing in here," he said decisively. His wife, the former Betty Tansey whom he married almost 25 years ago, never objected to the time Benninger's political activities took.

"We all enjoyed it. The children (Mary, now 23, and Peter, 17) and I were part of it. The kids learned practical politics," she said.

A member of the Union County Board of Freeholders for 13 years (from 1947 to 1960), Benninger served as chairman of that body for six years. He has been a recognized political power in the county and the state for over 30 years.

His phone still rings often with people seeking help. He never turns a request away, he says.

"I want to do whatever I can to help. That's what life's about," he said one day last week. He plans after moving to Little Silver to work a few days in his Mountainside insurance office and to continue as secretary-treasurer of Jaldan, Inc., developers of a 520-acre industrial complex in East Brunswick. He also plans to do a lot of fishing.

Receives varsity letter at PMC's annual dinner

John G. Leisenring of 364 Dogwood way, Mountainside, a student at PMC, Chester, Pa., received a varsity football letter at the annual athletic banquet held recently.

Leisenring was one of 170 varsity athletes from both Pennsylvania Military College and Penn Morton College representing 11 sports who were honored. Athletic director George A. Hansell Jr. made the presentations. The principal speaker was Jack Ramsay, general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers.

DRIVER'S LICENSE SUSPENDED. The driver's license of Edward Minick, 44, of 1503 Woodacres dr., Mountainside, has been suspended for one month effective May 13 under the state's point system, according to a report by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles.

Zoning board sets special meeting on Mindowaskin bid

The Board of Adjustment will meet in special session Monday night to continue a hearing on the application of the Mindowaskin Holding Co. for permission to erect an office building on its property at 1020-1024 Springfield rd., Mountainside. The application, which involves six violations of the zoning code, came before the board at its regular meeting on May 8. Four other applications are scheduled for hearings at Monday's session.

The Mindowaskin pool, a private swim club, is located on the rear of the property involved in the holding company's application. George H. Birchall Jr., president and majority stockholder of the holding company, told the board that a large portion of the property in question is unproductive since the swim club is open only three months of the year. The two-story office building would make the property more productive, Birchall said. He plans to use a portion of the building for his company of manufacturer's representatives and rent out the rest, if the application for a variance is approved.

The board is also scheduled to hear applications for variances to allow residential additions from Thomas and Kathleen Phillips of 277 Old Tote rd., Marion Kutczynski of 1123 Iris dr. and John MacArthur of 1272 Poplar ave.

Also on the agenda is an application from Mrs. Laura Massa of Mountain Heights Corp. for permission to extend the parking lot for the Mountainside Inn on Rt. 22.

Soloists at concert of Highlander band

Two Mountainside seniors, Robert Osboi and Donald White, will be soloists tomorrow night at the annual spring concert of the Highlander Band of Governor Livingston Regional High School. Osborne, a clarinetist, and White, a flutist, are both members of the All-State Band. They will play selections from Weber and Bach.

The Highlander Band will play selections ranging from Tschaiikovsky's "Marche Slave" to Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." The program starts at 8 o'clock.

The concert will mark the final appearance with the Highlander Band of 29 seniors from the band, color guard, twirling squad and the Highlander Girl Pipes.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Martin of 1265 Wood Valley rd., is a graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School. While in high school, he received the drama critics award at the annual state-wide dramatic competitions held at Rider College.

Leg's mix 'em up in today's baseball column. Let's see how well versed you are in a variety of sporting activities. For instance, what famous baseball manager was known as the "Patriarch of the Dugout"? He spent 67 years in baseball. He died at age 93. He was manager-owner of the former Philadelphia Athletics.

Who was "Little Napoleon"? He was manager of the former New York Giants. How about naming "The Flying Dutchman" who roamed the infield of the Pittsburgh Pirates for 21 years.

Can you name baseball's greatest clown. Many will name Al Schacht, but the chap we have in mind was the old-timer who used to chase fire engines, turn hand-springs for kids, disappear during ball games.

Did you name these greats: Connie Mack, John McGraw, Honus Wagner and Rube Waddell.

Many executives called immature

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) ---Many top executives are "neurotic, immature and unstable," according to one researcher.

Prof. Eugene E. Jennings of the University of Michigan said the single biggest problem facing many executives is their failure to recognize their own limitations.

"Once they stumble," he said, "they are unable to rally themselves to fight off the accumulating forces of antagonism and isolation which a corporation climate can bring to bear."

'Loving Couples' now booked on Art screen

ward Love," an Italian movie production, set in three parts; one about an aging Don Juan, a bored matron tourist in Sicily; and a soldier and a widow on a train. Nino Manfredi, Lilli Palmer and Catherine Spaak head the cast.

Ann Sothorn is versatile on Meadowbrook stage

By BEA SMITH
"Everything's Coming Up Roses" at the Meadowbrook these evenings, particularly with the versatile, refreshingly wonderful veteran star, Ann Sothorn, portraying the indomitable Rose in "Gypsy."

The Arthur Laurents-Jule Styne-Stephen Sondheim musical version of Gypsy Rose Lee's memoirs of life with mother is still as intriguing and electrifying on the stage at Cedar Grove as it was on Broadway.
Audiences feel a very special attraction to the attractive Miss Sothorn, and on opening night, she received a standing ovation from those who remember her in her films of the late 1930s and 1940s of her Matisse movies, and as the memorable Private Secretary on television.

All paid tribute to her for the many years of entertaining them and more particularly, for the evening's entertainment, as she roused her bulk of fans with her compelling performance of the much-married, "typical" stage mother who "had a dream" that her two daughters, June and Louise, would become stars. Well, her daughters became stars, but not much in the way she'd visualized.

Her Baby June (June Havoc), who ran off to get married at an early age, and get away from mother, became a fine dramatic and comic movie star, as the world knows. And Louise—well, we all know what happened to Gypsy Rose Lee.

Sell—it makes for fine entertainment Miss Sothorn's voice is extremely good, and the accompanying cast who sings along with her and on its own is exceptionally good.

And who can forget such numbers as "Let Me Entertain You," "Some People," "Small World," "If Mama Was Married," "Together, Wherever We Go," and of course, "Everything's Coming Up Roses?" Joanna Lester is lovely and has an equally lovely voice, and the others, Alan North, Avril Gantles, Connie Otto, Ernestine E. Mercer, Warren Burton, Alec Alexander Susan Towers and Tina Faye do justice to their roles.

The burlesque sequence, "You Gotta Have a Gimmick," is still a show-stopper. And however you look at it, when those people on the Meadowbrook stage sing, "Let Me Entertain You," they know what they're talking about.

'Blonde' is held for second week

Czechoslovakia is the latest country to have its entry in the cycle of New Wave films, and the latest from that country is Miles Forman's "Loves of a Blonde," which starts its second week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, Wednesday, May 17.
"Loves of a Blonde," which was shown on opening night at the fourth New York Film Festival at Lincoln Center, and which received an Oscar nomination in the recent race, stars Hana Brejchova and Vladimir Pucholt.
The picture is a bittersweet comedy concerning the first episode of romantic love in the life of a Czech teenager.

Star from Jersey leads 'Grand Prix'

Eva Marie Saint, who portrays an American magazine fashion editor in the Cinerama production, "Grand Prix," at the Clairridge Theater, Montclair, was born in East Orange.
Miss Saint won her early acting spurs in campus dramas at Bowling Green University in Ohio. After five years in television, she scored on the Broadway stage opposite Lillian Gish in the 1953 play, "The Trip to Boultiful," which led to her film career. Her screen credits include "North By Northwest," "Exodus," "All Fall Down," "36 Hours," "The Sandpiper" and prior to "Grand Prix" "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming."
"Grand Prix" also stars James Garner, Yves Montand, Brian Bedford, Jessica Walter and an international cast. An extra matinee has been scheduled on May 30, Decoration Day.

'Sand Pebbles' set for Bellevue screen

An all-star cast is featured in "The Sand Pebbles," large scale motion picture, which opens Wednesday at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.
Steve McQueen leads the host of stars opposite Richard Attenborough, Richard Crenna and Candice Bergen in a story, based on John Hershey's best-selling novel about American gunboat diplomacy in China during the 1920s. Seamen are caught in the web of a ruthless, super-patriotic reliance on U.S. force in Asia.
The picture was filmed in color and wide-screen.
"The Sound of Music" is in its last four days.

At Africa 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Sixth In A Series
SENEGAL
 The little French-speaking country of Senegal is in big trouble. Nobody wants a lot of peanuts and peanuts is what Senegal is big in. Even France, the largest buyer of the peanuts, appears to be slackening its intake and the 900,000 tons of peanuts-in-shell which French oil factories reportedly export from Senegal, may dwindle. According to Foreign Minister Doudou Thiame, economic development is Senegal's main problem--and it would seem that the peanuts are not helping as much as they should. The country is in need of a second crop or a second industry, and in a land that is mostly dry with only one lush agricultural area and only one major industrial area (80 per cent of industry is around Dakar, the capital), that is a big problem.

Fisheries, with tuna the lead item, are favored as the next best possibility if the peanuts become non-sellable, and there is high hope for oil in the coastal waters north of Dakar. Corn and rice growing, and some cotton, is being attempted in the lush Casamance area in the south, but this is mainly to support the country itself so it will not need to import these products and pay the high prices and transportation costs of imports. A ship from Canton, China, for instance, was in the fine harbor at Dakar when our NNA group was there and it was loaded with rice for the Senegalese. This does not mean that Senegal is communistic. The country is pro-western but trades with various communist nations for some of its needs.

Several new industries, such as furniture making, shoe making and weaving--on imported cotton predominantly--have been started but are not important yet. Besides the ground nuts or peanuts, the raw materials of Senegal also include rubber, skin for shoes, tuna, cattle, minerals, stone and copper, but again, not in enough quantity to be of importance.

And so Senegal is worrying.

WE FLEW INTO THE CAPITAL CITY of this worrying nation one day last January on the first stop of our African journey. We came in one fell swoop so to speak, for we flew non-stop out of New York taking only six and a half hours to fly from 40-degree U.S. to 85-degree Africa. We stayed at the N'Gor Hotel which is only five minutes from the airport and directly on the ocean, with a lovely beach, balcony, beautiful view, soft breezes, good weather, good food--and the peanuts did not bother us a bit.

But in the subsequent days in looking about, they began to, Dakar seemed to have changed. Four years previous it had looked just a little crisper, a little more vital. This time there seemed to be a dejected air about the place and the people. Perhaps it was just my imagination, but it seemed too still. Nevertheless Dakar is a pleasant place to be in at the end of January and Senegal still has the same president it had four years ago and not many African states can say that.

SENEGAL IS A COUNTRY which lies on the most western tip of Africa right on the center edge of the "hump" making it, geographically, the closest African nation to the U. S. Here the Atlantic Ocean is blue and tranquil with many lagoons on the coastline. Here a January day can be 85 to 95 degrees and a June or July day can be even hotter.

It is a country where the president, Leopold Senghor, states that he hopes to fashion it, at least politically, after the U.S., and which claims to be one of the most stable of the French-African nations.

The country is about the size of South Dakota and is mainly desert type land, its population is about three million of which about 47,000 are white, and 40,000 of which white folk live in Dakar. The total population of Dakar is 525,000. Most of the Africans are of the Toucouleur, Serer or Wolof peoples. The Wolofs are the darkest, the most handsome and the most in number. The Serers are lighter and the Toucouleurs the lightest. Yet Senegal is a country where there is no racial or religious discrimination problem. The president himself is an African, a Catholic and is married to a European. Within his own family there are Catholics, Protestants and Moslems. "We really all speak to one God," he said.

In fact, the Senegalese say the only discrimination is at the economic level. A man earns what he is worth regardless of his color. Depending on how educated, how clever and how good a position he attains, will determine his house and his activities, not his color. The best street in Dakar, for instance, where the American Ambassador has his residence and which overlooks the city, has both white and black people living side by side.

SENEGAL GAINED ITS INDEPENDENCE in September of 1960 after being French-owned since 1858. Before that, European penetration dates from the mid-fifteenth century with the arrival of the Portuguese, then the Dutch, English and lastly, the French. In the city of Dakar the French influence lingers in the lovely French colonial style buildings, and there is a shop which believe it or not, is a branch of the Galleries Lafayette, a large department store in Paris! The "suburban" store? Four years ago I bought a sun dress there for 64 francs, 64 C.F.A. Francs that is, which is "Communaute Financiere Africaine" Francs, which are the francs that the French-African nations use in common, and I still have it. The dress that is.

The look of the city is nice. It is a white city. The great majority of the buildings are painted white and besides the French style buildings there are also a goodly number of modern ones and the great new University of Dakar, founded in 1957. There is also the Medina or native quarter. Our hotel, which was modern style, was not in the city proper but 10 miles outside it on the fringes of the airport. Surprisingly the airport did not disturb us even though it was a jetport.

THIS AIRPORT ALONG WITH ITS NEARBY two hills, was famous in World War II and a welcome sight to many a flyer. The hills which are rather feminine in outline were given an endearing name by the pilots, for when they saw their voluptuous outline against the sky, they not only were cheered, but knew they were safely near a friendly airport. So the two hills have a very special spot in the hearts of many men, even outside of Africa.

 Okefenokee Swamp, a huge mass of cyprus and water in southwest Georgia, is an Indian name meaning "Land of the trembling earth."

ONE OF THE WAYS to sell the prime product of Senegal and the only way to carry a baby or a bundle in Senegal. A young woman of Senegal offers bags of peanuts to our Study Mission group with Maurice Alice of Flemington, a fellow-traveler, looking on. On her head is an extra supply of the peanuts, and on her back, the baby holder.

SWITCH TO 6-COLUMN OFFSET FORMAT

By Rick Friedman

March, 1967, marks a full year of the Big Change for a group of suburban Newark, N. J., weekly newspapers. A year ago they set out to completely redesign their production operation and format.

The papers, all under the parent Suburban Publishing Corporation, Union, N. J., were the Irvington Herald Leader, Vailsburg Mountain Leader, Springfield Leader, the Echo, Suburban Leader, the Spectator and the Linden Leader.

In March, 1966, they began the switch from a standard eight-column, letterpress format with what their publisher, Sam Howard calls "painful production problems," to a six-on-nine-column offset format.

According to Howard, it wasn't a painless birth but the product was spanking new and problems are easing each week.

The change was made by an organization that never had owned any printing equipment. Its newspaper composition and printing had been contracted since 1939 with Moreau Publications in Orange, N. J.

"It was only a couple of communities away from our base in Union," Howard points out, "but more than miles apart in convenience for news and advertising production."

Studied Possibility

In 1965, Howard and Milton Mintz, the group's business manager, began to explore the possibility of going to offset production. They kept Moreau Publications informed of their study and consulted with Victor Leiker, head of Tabloid Lithographers, Garwood, N. J. Tabloid, a large offset operation which jobprints a number of weeklies.

Leiker and his staff went into detailed exploration of the production of as many as 100 standard pages in a week, all printed during prime time on Wednesday, into combinations that could give the eight newspapers a composite page total of about 300.

Tabloid had the press facilities. But to make the changes the newspapers had to obtain the composition equipment and manpower. In late 1965, they decided to make the Big Change.

Les Malamut, editorial department chief of six of the eight papers (the ones which circulated in Union County), was given the assignment of editorial format and type selection within the limits of typeface availability and compatibility between headline-producing machines. Sacrifices were made in the name of production, Howard says. "But," he adds, "as production pains ease, greater use will be made of offset's advantages over less flexible letterpress."

Robert H. Brumell, advertising director, had the job of reorienting advertising layout and format to comply with a nine-advertising column, six-editorial column operation.

The six-on-nine format, it was learned, could be handled attractively for news presentation and the problems of mixing 15 1/2 pica and 10 1/2 pica widths in the news columns could be overcome. "Obviously," Howard points out, "use of wide-set news columns saves paste-up time."

Howard and Mintz visited equipment shows and neighboring offset plants regularly. Consultation with Leiker and his crew resulted in layout of the "everything-but-the-press" operation in 1,700 square feet of working space. "Production estimates for editorial matter alone ran to 4,000 column inches of type and the setting of about 900 heads each week," Howard recalls.

Production

Meanwhile, a production crew was assembled. Earl C. Henwood was brought in from Philadelphia and made superintendent of the composing room. He arrived at the start of 1966 and went to work on personnel, equipment and material procurement. When that was done, he began training the crew.

When the first paper in the conversion came off the press in March, 1966, only two people out of a present force of 25 full-time and part-time employees, had any experience in newspaper composition. By the time the last of the eight papers was converted in July, they had all gained experience by the experience itself.

Howard claims that the biggest "plus" item in equipment purchased was the American Type Founders' KD 84 T, which has been producing some 900 heads each week in under 20 hours. Nearly all of these heads are punched on Friden Justo-writers.

Howard points out that space limitations prevented use of a horizontal camera. "The newest vertical camera was obtained," he explains, "but has provided sporadic difficulty since the beginning of operations."

The last big production goal, only partially achieved at present, according to Howard, is making of full-page negatives to transport to the printer.

Why the change? Howard put it this way: "The municipalities served by our six newspapers in Union County and our other two in Essex County have among the greatest density of population in the metropolitan New York City area. Because of the format and production changes, we are now able to give these communities local papers without the me too look of the New Jersey and New York dailies. And it's resulted in a steady increase of circulation for us."

Marketing of cars being reorganized

Richard V. Crosta, president of Richards Rambler, 595 Chestnut st., Union, this week announced a new approach for American Motors in the marketing of its cars.

According to Crosta, who represents 92 Rambler dealers in the New Jersey, New York and Connecticut area on the American Motors Dealer Advisory Board the restructuring of the American Motors automotive distribution organization will now function as separate sales and marketing services.

Under the leadership of William V. Lunsburg, president of American Motors, the new organizational charting will read as follows: William S. Pickett, vice president - automotive international, has been named vice president - automotive sales.

R. W. McNesly, vice president - automotive purchasing, will head the newly-created office of vice president - marketing services.

Both will report to the president. Thomas A. Coupe, who has been in charge of domestic sales, will become automotive marketing consultant to the company.

Charles A. Watson, automotive export sales director, will become director of automotive international, also reporting to the president.

"Beginning with the highly successful American Rambler sales drive we have undertaken a new approach to automobile marketing," Crosta said. "This realignment of major responsibilities in the distribution field will increase the effectiveness with which we identify and pursue market areas of particular opportunity for us."

Why are 52,000 gas heat users warmly enthusiastic?

The number of gas heat users is increasing so fast it's hard to keep figures up to date. There were 7,000 new users in our service area just last year. All warmly enthusiastic about the dependability, the cleanliness, the economy of gas heat. Comfort loves company.

The reason? Gas comes to you in underground pipes: never a delivery problem. The burner is simplicity itself, so breakdowns are rare. There's no fuel tank to take up valuable basement space. And you pay for gas easily, in monthly installments... after you use it!

Very important, gas heat is "white glove" clean. Cleaner clothes, cleaner homes, cleaner air. In fact, gas burns so completely, so cleanly, it's being hailed by government officials as the optimum fuel in the fight against air pollution. Call Elizabethtown Gas, or your local plumbing or heating contractor, now for a FREE HOME HEAT SURVEY. You'll get a written estimate of annual gas cost, and learn how reasonable it is to install a gas-fired conversion burner or a gas heating unit. Do it now!

GAS HEAT MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE... SWITCH NOW!

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
 The "flying things" people have been seeing are fascinating to me. I read where the sightings have been seen in red, orange and white. But I would like to know what other colors these flying things have been seen in and I would appreciate an answer, please.

Dear Sherry:
 I assume the "flying things" you refer to are unidentified flying objects. UFO's have been observed in every color of the spectrum. I have also learned that there have been "contactees" who claim that UFO's have landed close enough to enable them to converse verbally through mental telepathy with the occupants.

All those interested in UFO's should contact Mr. Michael Campione, an authority on the subject, at 2202 New Albany rd., Cinnaminson, N.J., 08077. He has agreed to send my readers information on the greatest mystery of the 20th century and will include a post card in color of a UFO in flight.

Dear Amy:
 I am involved in a very delicate situation and maybe you can help me. I am engaged to a sweet fellow and we have set the "date." I thought I loved him until I started dating his best friend. Now I don't know. How can I be sure before I take the big step?

Dear In Love:
 Your code of conduct leaves much to be desired. If you find pleasure in the company of a man other than your "sweet fellow," you're not ready for the "big step"...at least not with him.

Dear Amy:
 I have been married for nine years. It is the second marriage for both of us. Two years after we were married, my husband became seriously ill. I went to work as a waitress to help with the finances and have been working ever since. My husband recovered enough to go back to work but never did. His doctor says he should get a job to give him something to do or else he will die (from boredom). He is so used to me working that he has become very lazy and every time I suggest that he get something to do, he puts on a real act about how sick he is.

I'm so tired of working, all hours of the day and night, I don't know what it is to sit down and relax any more.

Is there any way you know of to get him off his "you know what" because I can't take it much longer.

P.S. He smokes a box of cigars and drinks a fifth of liquor a week.

Professor of Asian subjects to be Women Voters speaker

The Springfield League of Women Voters will hold its annual spring luncheon next Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in Ciro's Restaurant, Echo Plaza, Springfield, for members and friends.

The Rev. William Scott Morton, associate professor in the departments of Asian studies and history at Seton Hall University, will be the speaker. He will speak about Red China, which is being studied by the LWV. The Rev. Mr. Morton is a graduate of Cambridge and Edinburgh universities. He was ordained as a ministerial missionary of the Church of Scotland and sent to Manchuria. He studied in the College of Chinese Studies, Peking, and was in Manchuria from 1933 to 1938 and in Japan from 1940 to 1941. During World War II, he was a Royal Air Force chaplain in Canada. He has lectured at Edinburgh and Glasgow universities, has taught at the University of Pittsburgh, Chatham College and New York University, and was assistant director of the National Defense Education Act Institute in Asian History for secondary school teachers at Seton Hall University last year.

Members of the Springfield League, together with the other 145,543 League members in the country, have undertaken a two-year evaluation of United States relations with the Peoples' Republic of China. The first year of the study focused on Chinese historical and cultural factors which have had significant importance in shaping contemporary China. During the second year, the league will study the problems and major issues that divide the United States and mainland China.

Reservations for the luncheon for members and the general public can be made by calling Mrs. Leonard Kriegman at 379-4893 or Mrs. Howard Ross at 376-1193.

At the league's annual meeting last week the nominating committee proposed a new slate, which was elected. The new members of the executive board are Mrs. Harry Einstein, president; Mrs. Herbert Meisel, first vice-president; Mrs. Nelson Lewis, second vice-president; Mrs. John Saenger, third vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Learner, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Duca, recording secretary.

5th graders travel to Museum Village on annual field trip

(The following article was written by Carol Braender, Phyllis Buzin, Stephen Cohen, Susan Hager, Janice Mikulicz, Randi Rowden, Bruce Schaefer, Jeffrey Schneider and Brian Spector, whose function was to record highlights of their class field trip.)

On May 9, the fifth graders from Thelma Sandmeier School went on a field trip to Old Museum Village at Smith's Cove in Monroe, N.Y. Their purpose was to study three ages of American history: The Age of Homespun, The Age of the Craft Shops and the Age of Industry.

Small groups were formed which were allowed to visit any of the 35 buildings they desired. Some of the favorite spots included the real log cabin built in 1775, the general store with its unusual post office and the apothecary with its many remedies for illnesses.

At the village, the children saw demonstrations of the various crafts. In the weaving shop they saw a woman spinning the flax into thread and weaving cloth. Steven Brumer, Steven Cohen, Alan Lipton, Madeline Montezano and Ina Schechter had an opportunity to weave on a large loom.

Each group was amazed to see the changes in methods of doing things that have made life easier today. They broadened their knowledge by actually seeing the different stages of progress, rather than just reading about them from a book.

COURAGEOUS MOM — Mrs. Walter Robinson of Union, named "Mother of the Year" by the Upper New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, poses with sons, Walter Jr. and Ricky. Mrs. Robinson has had two crippling attacks of multiple sclerosis in the past four years.

Union woman selected MS 'mother of year'

Joseph F. Hobbins, chairman of the Upper New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society this week announced the selection of Mrs. Walter Robinson of Union as Union County MS Mother of the Year. Mrs. Robinson was selected because she "exemplifies the courageous handicapped individual who continues to function as mother and homemaker despite a severe handicap." Mrs. Robinson is the 27-year-old mother of two sons, Walter Jr., 7, and Ricky S. Her husband, a member of the Union police force, has just completed a six-week training course at the New Jersey Police Academy.

Mrs. Robinson has had multiple sclerosis for four years. Her first attack came shortly after the birth of her second child and confined her to a wheel chair. She has had three other severe and similar bouts with the chronically crippling disease since then. Each time she has been unable to walk and forced to use a wheel chair.

Despite the severity of these attacks, Hobbins pointed out, Mrs. Robinson "has never lost her courage or her desire to fight and to continue to perform her role as mother and homemaker. Even when confined to her wheel chair, she managed to care for her small family. Today she says that she is doing very well, and with the aid of a walker, she does all of her own housework. She does admit, however, that keeping track of two very active little boys does take all of her energy."

Hobbins said Mrs. Robinson hopes she will not suffer another attack. "Her prayer, like most all patients," he said, "is that through the research efforts of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society an answer will be found to this mysterious disease which cripples so many young people, parents of small children like herself, who may not be quite as fortunate and must spend the rest of their lives in wheel chairs."

Tulip time at Warinanco

The Holland-grown tulips in the Henry S. Chatfield Memorial Garden in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, are now in bloom, it was reported by Robert A. Koller, chief horticulturist for The Union County Park Commission.

The garden contains nearly 14,000 tulip plants ranging in color from dark purple to white. The focal point of the formal display is the center bed with 600 "Dreaming Maid," cottage-type tulips with lilac-mauve petals merging to a silvery-white color. The beds in the inner perimeter of the garden feature "Helen Keller" a cottage-type, clear canary yellow petal with yellow stamens, and "Southern Cross," a lemon-yellow breeder type.

The center perimeter beds feature "G. W. Leak," a geranium scarlet cottage-type and "Pink Supreme" a bright pink Darwin-type, "Glacier" and "Magier," both of the Darwin type featuring a white color are in the beds in the outer perimeter of the garden with a rich green taxus hedge background.

The tulip garden was first planted in 1936 to honor one of the original park commissioners and commission president for the first six years of its existence, 1921-1927. A stone bench nearly 20 feet long supporting a bronze tablet rests at one end of the garden as a permanent memorial to Mr. Chatfield.

PLEASE DRIVE SAFELY

The sunroof works even when there isn't any sun.

When you slide back the sunroof on a Volkswagen Station Wagon, the sky's the limit. That's because odd-shaped loads you'd have trouble fitting into an ordinary station wagon can stick up out of a VW. Like a tree. Or a refrigerator. (In fact, you never know what might pop up.)

And even when the sunroof's closed, the Volkswagen still gives you almost twice as much space as other wagons.

And a 4' by 4' door that lets you get right at all the room inside. (You don't have to be an engineer to move big, bulky loads in and out.)

And whenever you don't want to put big things inside your VW, you can use it for big people instead. It seats 9 of them and holds 13 pieces of luggage. All at once.

Other wagons only hold about half as much as a VW. Even if you hit the calling.

But after the VW's all filled up, you can still go through the roof.

Teacher's hobby down to earth one

John Colagrande, a science teacher at Union High School, is a man whose hobby is down to earth. He collects fossils.

At the present time his collection includes clams, snails and ammonites (related to squid) from Canada and New York State; fossil ferns and club mosses from the coal mining area of Pennsylvania; scallops, sharks' teeth and whale bones from Maryland, and oyster, reptile bones and dinosaur footprints from New Jersey. "Some of the fossils date back as far as three-quarter billion years," Colagrande said. Colagrande said he has been collecting his

Union High graduates on Berkeley dean's list

Three graduates of Union High School have been named to the spring dean's list of the Berkeley School, East Orange.

Named were the Misses Nancy Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Coates of 968 Townley ave.; Elaine Lewinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewinski of 891 Dona rd., and Barbara Ann Matysek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Matysek of 1072 Sterling rd., all of Union.

fossils from about five years and its strictly a hobby.

"I GET LEADS on where to find the fossils from museums and newspaper articles. It's difficult to place a monetary value on my collection. I wouldn't even try."

He found his dinosaur footprints in Lincoln Park and figures they are 180 million years old. Holmdel has turned up reptile bones and fish vertebrae in rock structure estimated to be 100 million years old.

Parts of his collection have been on display at Union High School, Montclair State College and the Orange Public Library. Colagrande lives in Orange.

What is he doing this summer. "Looking for fossils," he said.

Former candidate supports opponent

Dr. Robert Allen, who was defeated last year in his bid for the 12th District Congressional seat which he sought as a Democrat opposing veteran Republican Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, this week praised Mrs. Dwyer's stand on the war in Vietnam.

Dr. Allen said, "I am pleased to see that Mrs. Dwyer has responded to the unprecedented outpouring of peace sentiment by clergymen, laymen, students and others by exposing the hypocrisy of the administration on Vietnam. Dr. Allen cited a speech by Mrs. Dwyer recently wherein she asserted that the Johnson Administration "is perpetuating the war in Vietnam by making it impossible for North Vietnam to negotiate peace."
