FIELD DAY -- Sixth, seventh and eighth grade youngsters at Deerfield School in Mountainside compete for top spots in the various events held at the school's annual field day last Thursday. At left is Bruce Ochmanek, an eighth grader; at center, Melanie Lover, sixth grade, and right, Roy Heitman, eighth grade. Team contests were held in addition to the individual track and field events, and the day was climaxed by a faculty-student softball game. The program is held annually as culmination to the school's units on track and field and physical fitness.

to direct traffic at intersections where traffic lights had stopped working and for housewives faced with rapidly melting ice in freezers and befrigerators; a serious loss for restaurants hit with food spoilage; and some uncomfortable hours for those accustomed so air conditioning. It also meant an unexpected half-day holiday for some workers and a bonus for school children in the form of cut-rate ice cream. These are the memories Mountainside residents have of the massive power failure which struck the four-state area of New Jersey, Pennsylvannia, Delaware and Maryland on Electric power went out throughout the borough-along with the rest of the area-about 10:20 a.m. It was restored gradually in various sections of the borough from shortly after 4 p.m. until about 7 p.m.

WHEN THE POWER failed, police promptly called all available men in for duty, including three who had been attending a training school

The situation was complicated by a two-car accident which took place at 10:15 a.m., only minutes before the power failure hit, at the corner of Sylvan lane and Saddle Brook rd. Police reported that a car operated by Sibyl Rabbitt of 1104 Sylvan lane collided with one driven by Mrs. Vaughn Cushman of 1124 Summit lane, who was backing out of her driveway. Mrs. Cushman, who received a cut on her shoulder and a neck injury, and her four-yearold son, David, who received a cut under the chin, were treated at Overlook Hospital in Summit, officers said. While police were busy with the accident, the Rev. Francis McDermott of Our Lady of ourdes Church stepped in to direct traffic at the Rt. 22-New Providence rd. intersection. However, officers were on duty there and at other intersections where traffic lights had become inoperative only a few minutes later, police reported. They said no serious traffic oblems developed. Patrol cars were able to use their portable radio units throughout the blackout. At headquarters, police were flooded with calls--about 100 before noon--as borough residents tried to find out what had happened. THROUGHOUT THE LATE morning and afternoon, police warned Mountainside residents of low water pressure and advised them not to use any more water than absolutely

Wilson requesting new variance for building on Rt. 22

Arthur A. Wilson of East Orange, who early last year won a court decision granting him the right to build a retail store on a Rt, 22 site in Mountainside, is again requesting a variance for the same area -- this time for a two-story office building. The Board of Adjustment has scheduled a public hearing on his application for 8 p.m. Monday at the Mountainside Borough Hall. Wilson had at one time sought a variance for erection of a retail store and a 150unit garden apartment on the 12-acre tract fronting on the westbound lane of Rt. 22 near Chapel Island. The property is zoned residential. When this was denied by the Board of Adtustment. Wilson filed suit against the board.

In a decision handed down in February, 1966, Superior Court Judge Milton Feller granted the East Orange man the right to build a retail store on about two acres of the property adjacent to Rt. 22, noting that the plaintiff already held a variance to operate a business on the highway frontage.

However, the judge upheld the Board of Adjustment in its refusal to issue a variance for the garden apartment on the remainder of the property.

The new variance application is necessary, according to Borough Attorney Norman Schulaner, because last year's court ruling specifically mentioned a retail store and Wilson's present plans call for erection of an office building.

Seek state's OK on same busing here

Ask approval to bypass regional transport plan

Mountainside, which already provides bus transportation for parochial as well as public school students in elementary classes, has requested the state for permission to continue doing so without going through the regional

Under a new law, school districts throughout the state will have to provide free transporta-tion starting next fall for private and parochial students. Regional school boards will be responsible, under the law, for busing of students from all communities within their dis-tricts, with costs to be met by local boards of

If this system goes into effect in Mountainside, according to Dr. Levin Hanigan, Mountainside schools superintendent, the borough might end up with duplication in bus servicewith local and regional buses traveling along the same routes to pick up separate groups of students. As an alternative, the regional district might contract with Mountainside for the bus service within the borough -- and bill Mountainside for it.

To avoid either of these steps, Dr. Hanigan said, the borough is seeking state permission to continue its present system of picking up parochial as well as public school students in its buses.

Mountainside, which is using 10 rented buses this year, has provided transportation for students in Our Lady of Lourdes School since the school was opened in 1960.

DR. HANIGAN SAID that about half of the 1,350 pupils enrolled in the borough's public school system receive transportation. He estimated that about the same proportion of the 320 enrolled in Our Lady of Lourdes School are picked up on the buses.

The schools superintendent pointed out that the extensive transportation is necessary in Mountainside traffic hazards which would result if the youngsters had to walk.

"The problem is complicated by Rt. 22," he said. "Also, there are no sidewalks, and some very dangerous roads, such as Deerpath. Summit and New Providence." The only way Summit and New Providence." The only way of crossing Rt., 22 on foot is by the footbridge at Echobrook School "and many parents are nervous about letting their children do that," Dr. Hanigan added.

In the Regional High School District, the new busing program will be a major project, according to Dr. Warren Davis, regional superintendent of schools, and Lewis Fredericks, school board secretary. Busing will ericks, school board secretary. Busing will be required for all students who attend nonprofit secondary schools more than two and a half and less than 20 miles from their homes.

Dr. Davis attended a meeting of all super-intendents within the county last Friday, at which the new bus law was a major topic of discussion.

He stressed that the busing of students to private and parochial elementary schools, more than two miles from their homes, will even to Kenilworth and Garwood, unit the Regional District which do not provide bus service for their public elementary school students. The other parts of the region, Springfield, Mountainside, Berkeley Heights and Clark, do bus some public school youngsters

THE NEW BUS SERVICE will certainly require the regional board to hire a coordinator of transportation, Dr. Davis said. He added that this will probably be a full-

Fredericks disclosed that he had received 119 requests for bus service under the new law, and that he expected many more before the deadline for applications arrives on July The largest number of applications were Fredericks stressed that all the applications received to date had been unsolicited. He said that he had not solicited or publicized the receipt of applications, because he had not yet received any information from Trenton on the procedures to follow. He added that all six local school boards within the district had been forwarding to him any requests they might receive.

"We will naturally comply with the letter of the law," Fredericks commented, 'I don't know, but we will, somehow,'

He also noted that the Regional Board of Education had not appropriated any money for the new bus service. Three-quarters of the cost is to be reimbursed by the state. Fredericks said he had no idea as to how many applications will ultimately be received, or what the total cost will be,

He noted that the Regional District now spends $90 to $95 per student per year for those being transported within the district.

DR. DAVIS POINTED OUT that all transportation contracts for more than $600 per year must be let out on a hid basis, He said that private or parochial schools which now operate buses may bid for the contracts, and that even individual parents may also enter

He added that cooperation between school boards in the operation of buses "will prob-ably be the only feasible procedure." One school board would sign a bus contract, under this procedure, and then charge the other board on a pro rata basis for students using the same bus.

School boards can also meet their responsibilities, Dr. Davis disclosed, by paying for rides on commercial public transportation.
This is permitted if the total amount to be walked does not exceed two miles for high school students and one-and-one-half miles for those in elementary school.

He also noted that the new bus service would not be required to wait for students who stay beyond regular school hours. The buses must arrive no more than 45 minutes before the start of school and must leave no more than 45 minutes after school closes.

The regional chief stated that Dr. William H. West, county superintendent of schools, is scheduled to meet June 14 in Trenton with the state commissioner of education and with other county heads, to discuss additional details of the law. He will then report back to the local superintendents.

The cash award was pre ented by Richard Eberhard, poet-in-residence at Dartmouth, New Hampshire poet laureate and 1966 winner of the Pulitzer prize in poetry.
"Star Quest" is the title of the first poem in Mrs. Fountain's book as well as being the title of the volume itself. Mrs. Fountain said she picked it as the title poem because sounded best." She said that she had entitled it "Seen and Unseen" at first, but that "Star was suggested as more poetic. The poem won a second prize in a poetry contest in Maine. Mrs. Fountain said that she worked and reworked this poem over the course of a full year. It started out being blank verse, and had rhymed couplets in its final form.

MRS, FOUNTAIN'S BOOKS received critical applause from Loring Williams, editor of "American Weave"; from Dr. James L. Some 20 Mountainside youngsters will be spending a good part of their summer this year making squariums and butterfly nets, setting up fish tanks and tramping through forests and fish hatcheries to study plant and animal life,

The youngsters, fourth through sixth-graders, will be divided into two ideally small classes of 10 each for the school system's outdoor science summer program. One class will be taught by Stephen Savel, Deerfield School teacher who has already had one year's experience with the outdoor summer class. The other will be taught by Edwin Sjonell, who has had four years ex-perience teaching science but will be getting his first taste of the summer program.

Sjonell, now completing his fifth year in the Mountainside school system as a guidance counselor at Deerfield, will rely to some extent on his experience in teaching science for the previous four years in the sixth grade During those four years, he discovered how much the youngsters enjoyed field trips-not only to such places as Stokes State Park, Hackettstown Fisheries and Lost River Cavern in Pennsylvania, but also to areas in the immediate vicinity of the school.

The children were on their best behavior for those field trips, he said, "especially that weekend at Stokes with the sixth and seventh-graders--it was tremendous." He also recalled with pleasure a recent field trip by sixth graders to the Deserted Village.

For the summer program, tentative plans have been made for trips to Sandy Hook State Forest, Lost River, the fish hatcheries and Franklin Mine.

Some of the program will be determined then "we see that the children get enthused over," he added.

In general, the aim of the course will be to develop in the youngsters a better enjoyment of and appreciation for the outdoors, with emphasis on the importance of conser-

There will be one field trip per week for each of the five weeks, starting June 26, that the outdoor science class is in operation. During the other four days, the youngsters will be exploring the area outside their own school, setting up fish tanks, and making terrariums, aquariums and nets for collecting butterfield The program "will be a new experience" for a lot of the children, Sjonell noted, SJONELL HIMSELF has traveled much more extensively than just to state parks and forests. A native of Roselle Park, he was in the Navy for four years, from 1954 to 1958, seeing service in the Western Pacific, Japan, Hong Kong and Korea.

On his discharge he enrolled at Newark State College in Union, where he received his bachelor's degree. He is now working for his master's in counseling at NSC.

Sjonell and his wife have three children, Carolyn, Two, and three-year-old twins, Peter and Craig. They reside in Scotch Plains.

At Deerfield, school authorities decided to cut the price of ice cream sold during the lunch hour in half, to five cents. Students greeted the amouncement with cheers.

At Our Lady of Lourdes School, where milk is served to the children, school officials served to the children, school officials managed to prevent spoilage by not opening the refrigerator until it was time to serve the milk. Among the hardest hit places in the borough was the Mountainside Inn, which is closed on Mondays, Mrs. Laura Massa, owner, estimated food losses -- pies, milk, fish, butter and fruit-- at about $600. Other restaurants which are open on Mondays managed to provide service for their customers. At the Tower Steak House, candles were placed on tables and at the Chi-Am Chateau, diners were seated at tables near windows.

MOTORISTS LOW ON gas found problems in getting their tanks filled as pumps stopped

One Mountainside couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKellin, came close to being stranded in Collegeville, Pa., where they were attending the graduation of their daughter, Marilyn, from Ursinus College, The Pennsylvania community was among those left without power and the McKellins, with only a quarter tank full of gas in their car, were worried about getting home. They finally located a gas station where the owner had found a way to operate the pumps with power from a lawn mower.

At Echo Lanes, a few hopeful bowlers waited for about a half hour after the power failed in hopes of being able to get back to their game. Then they gave up and went home.

Mountainside Public Library remained open.

Staff members had to go back to using an old hand stamp for books being checked out but found enough light coming in through the win-dows to continue work as usual.

Some business places which remained open went through the day in eerie silence as switchboards failed to work, "It was such a nice, peaceful day," one office worker sighed.

Let's switch from land to water sports in this week's column, and see how many of you fans can name the gent who was the top man in the history of motorboat

The man we're talking about made his mark in the twenties and thirties, and during his racing days was unbeatable. As driver of the world famous "Miss America X" he crossed waters at what was then incredible speeds. (In 1932, for instance, he won the Harnsworth Trophy traveling at a land-speed of 124.86 MPH in his speedboat!)

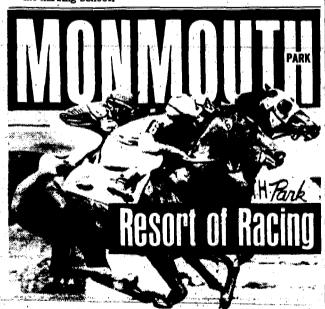

Speed was his passion from boyhood when, the son of a steamboat captain, he helped his father settle a feud by manning the furnace on the family's old tub and by feeding the boat's furniture into a dying fire, literally blazed the vessel across the finish line, the win-

He went on to build and race many boats. The money he made, he put back into building better and faster boats. As an inventor --- the hydraulic hoist was one of his inventions --- he amassed a fortune. But his fame came from racing boats and when asked to name the person who dominates top spot in this sporting event, experts will all name Gar Wood.

Experts also will name FIRESTONE as the number one tire on the market today.

trailer goal: 'Expo 67'

More than 250 area families will drive to Canada's Expo 67 this summer pulling Serro Scotty Trailers behind their automobiles. This is the estimate of Robert Leisch, owner-manager of Eveready Trailer Co. of 2015 Route 22, Scotch Plains, a sales and rental agency for the Serro Trailer Čo

About 100 of the families will join the Serro company's 1967 caravan which has as its destination, the world fair at Montreal.

Leisch pointed out that it will rally at Scottyland, Pa. on Sunday, July 16 and leave the next day. Scottyland is lo-cated a few miles from the Somerset interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Leisch noted that the caravan will not travel as one drawn-out parade. It will be broken up into small units and will rally at pre-arranged destinations. En route other Scotty trailers, who have made reservations, will join the convoy.

The other 150 families will be making individual trips to Montreal. Leisch will offer travel hints to persons who plan to make the trip either by caravan or on their own.

Appeal of camping: a low-cost vacation and change of pace

There is no disputing the fact that camping is the nation's fastest growing vacation idea and offers the best possible fun for the entire family at the lowest cost. Outdoor living is here to stay.

"Shorter work weeks, longer vacations and an increasing proportion of disposable income give people more time for leisure and money to enjoy it," says Jack Hamilton, camping export at the Thermos Division of King-Seeley Thermos Co., Norwich, Conn. His company, which equips campers with everything from vacuum bottles to tents, has contributed much to making camping less a matter of roughing

Hamilton also attributes part of camping's skyrocketing appeal to state and federal programs of highway construction and to the development of new recreation areas.

Camping is a welcome change of pace for every member of the family and provides opportunity to escape from the stresses and strains of day-to-day life at home.

For a fraction of the cost of a stay at a resort, a family can have a memorable va-cation when and where they choose, They can be gypsies sightseeing as they go or they can stay put in one spot. Not only can they select their locale—forest, seashore, desert, lakeshore or meadow-but they can pick the sort of campsite and facilities they wish.

It could be a national, state or county park, a privately owned campground or perhaps one under the jurisdiction of the United States Forest Service. Another possibility is one of the fine public campgrounds maintained by lumber companies.

Along with this wonderful freedom of choice, camping has the enviable advantage of complete mobility. Once they've made the initial outlay for camping equipment which, incidentally, will last for years, camping families are able to travel and enjoy the scenic wonders of our land for just the cost of their car's expenses. Other expenses will be the same as they would be at home.

Although a car is the most popular means of conveyance, some campers have discovered joys of boat camping, still others the thrill of plane camping.

No matter what the means of transportation, camping can be one of the most enjoyable and satisfying diversions. There's usually a wealth of recreation at hand - swimming, boating, water-skiing, hiking, fishing, nature study or sightseeing.

Although reservations are seldom needed for campsites, some of the more popular locations fill up early in the day. Your stay at these prime spots might be limited to two weeks.

The women in the family will be happy to hear that camping has lost its rough and ready quality. Today's camping equipment has been designed with convenience in mind, Camping costs less than most vacation activities and requires only the basic equipment needed for shelter, light, refrigeration and cooking.

Summer vacation runs more smoothly after advance planning for motor trips

Latest odds are 50-50 that you will hap-pily slip behind the wheel of your automobile this year and indulge in that most popular of Great Outdoors activities in America: touring by car.

About 100 million Americans, approximately half the population of the country, are expected to do so. They will break all previous records of driving for recreation, pleasure and vacations by covering more than 160 billion miles and spending more than 25 billion dollars,

How much fun they have, and how smoothly their trips go, depends in large measure on the extent to which they employ the up-todate facilities, services and information now available to the motoring public.

'If you know where you want to go and how to get there, have paved your way with reservations and readied your car for the journey, you will have a joyful, rewarding experience," says one authority. "Neglect experience," says one authority. "Neglect these points and you stand a good chance of ruining your trip."
Helping motorists to plan that outing on wheels, guiding them and making them welcome and comfortable is, of course, big business, as witness that $25 billion figure. For example, efforts put forth to that end by one company -- Mobil Oil Corporation -- are impressive.

It is not only because of the 25,000 Mobil service stations throughout the country that provide the vacationist with the gasoline, oil and technical assistance necessary to keep his car rolling and ready for the journey but beyond that, because of a further move of the company in the area of car dependability, actual trip planning and touring information.

Planning the trip requires up-to-date maps and travel information. More than 12,000,000 maps are distributed annually by the Mobil Travel Services that replies to more than 100,000 requests from motorists sallying forth into the Great Outdoors with the plotting of their

Experts say that you should be certain your map is up-to-date because some 10,000 changes are made annually,

If you want to make real good touring and enjoy it, an advance study of the trip should be made to prepare an itinerary, compute the mileage between the points where you want to go and determine where to stop for the night. The travel service will help you in this planning and even advise on the shortest, or fastest, or more scenic road.

Even those who prefer to follow their fantasy and travel leisurely with no rigid itinerary planned in advance must follow maps for the area they want to visit.

Nobody, of course, wants to spend his vacation entirely on the road. Questions that become common to all tourists and vacationists are what to see, where to eat, and where to

Here, a comprehensive publication like the Mobil Travel Guide becomes essential, much us the celebrated Guide Michelin of France has become indispensable to vacationers in France. The Mobil Guide is the only American guide book series that rates more than 20,000 accommodations and retaurants on the basis

Federal law requires that you be at least 16 before soloing and at least 17 before obtaining a private pilot's license, but there is no upper age limit.

About half of all pilots are under age 35, and the remainder range on up into their 70's. The under-25 group is the

Lure of fishing attracting mother, dad

More than 40 million people went fishing in North America last year and there were few-if any -disappointed anglers in that body of people who now take part in America's fastest-growing outdoor sport.

Fishing has become one of the most enjoyable family activities, involving mon, pop and the kids and it provides both relaxation and thrills whether it takes place in the old mill

Lawn furnishings may need paint job

Before you know it, the outdoor fun season will be in full swing all over America. Don't be caught unprepared. Check to make sure that your lawn furniture is ready for this summer's

When you find your lawn furniture (whereever you've hidden it), give it a careful once-over. If it's beautiful, you're in businessjust dust, and move it outside! But if it's faded or rusted -- alas -- you'll want to do a paint

A lawn chair or table's life is a rugged one-exposed to rain, sunshine, moonshine, and even weather -- but you can make a protective shield for your furniture with paint! You'll want a durable finish--one that will take to soap and water clean-ups with a smile.

Is your lawn furniture metal? Keep a sharp eye open for cracks in the old finish where moisture is apt to sneak in and promote rust and corrosion. Remove cracked paint with a wire brush, and sand away all traces of rust or corrosion with steel wool. After spot coating these problem areas with a protective antirrosive primer (such as zinc chromate), the entire surface can be painted with colorful exterior enamel. Unpainted iron or steel furniture must be painted for protection! Galvanized steel will give best performance when a primer such as a zinc dust-zinc oxide type is used. Other special primers specifically developed for coating galvanized steel will also give satisfactory protection. Apply the primer, dry overnight, and then apply one or two coats of a good exterior metal enamel for best results.

increasing leisure time to attract growing numbers of Americans to the wholesome and exciting fun of fishing.

MOST FISHING locations offer so much in the way of scenery and fresh air that actually catching fish is only part of the happy experience. Still, nothing beats the thrill that a youngster gets when he lands his first fish even if it's a tiny sunfish. And dad often gets glassy-eyed when he retells for the ump-teenth time about the big trout that got away despite his superior fishing skills.

Fishing need not be expensive, Most Americans are within an hour's drive of a lake, stream, river or pond that can provide angling enjoyment and fish for the frying pan.

First rate American-made rod-and-reel outfits can be bought for less than ten dollars. Another few dollars will provide the novice or the expert with enough lures, weights, line, hooks, sinkers, bobbers and other essentials to make any fishing venture productive and Family camping trips are often planned to include plenty of fishing for everyone, and excellent accommodations are available just about everywhere that people go to fish, Major resorts usually offer boat rentals and live bait for sale if the family is on a long trip and prefers not to transport its own boat.

FISH HAVE a way of smiling on experts and novices alike. Sometimes people with the least experience and simplest fishing tackle catch the most and biggest fish,

Good fishing tackle, however, and some understanding of fishing techniques are bound to increase angling pleasure, Most fishermen find that selecting the right tackle and planning the trip is part of the fun of fishing. Experimentation with various types of tackle is the best guide to what is right for any individual. For most beginners, a good glass casting rod and a closed-face spin-casting reel are excellent learning tools. These can be used for spin-casting, spinning, trolling and still fishing. Even youngsters become proficient in a short while because most spin cast reels are backlash-proof.

BACK TO NATURE in a modern way for many of today's campers with the new, easily portable 'pop' tents; lightweight, rain de-fying portable stoves; and ice chests for keeping their fish fresh, all brought to the scene in their personally piloted Cesna.

New country club, 9-hole golf course opened this spring

A nine-hole regulation par 36 golf course designed and built by Anthony J. (Tony) Piccola has recently been opened at the new Tomahaw Country Club on the Middletown-Lincroft rd, in Middletown Township.

Piccola credits his 87-year-old father, Louis, with being instrumental in helping him create the new golf course.

The elder Piccola, who was born in Italy and came to America in 1902, was a care-taker at the old William T. Harkness Estate in Madison for 12 years.

Although not a golfer, he visits Tomahawk frequently to inspect the grounds and advise his son on maintenance. A widower, he lives with a daughter, Mrs. Anne Wiltsie, in Eaton-

Three generations of the Piccola family are connected with the new country club. Anthony Jr. is a greenskeeper and Mrs. Virginia Piccola works in the clubhouse, assisted by her daughters, Ginny, Eleanor and Carol Ann. A cousin, Carol Bruno, and her mother, Mrs. Helen Hoelfer, operate the snack bar.

Tomahawk features a nine-hold pitch and putt course and a driving range in addition to the playing area. There is also a golf shop as well

Do-it-yourselfers: fabrics may cover a person or a wall

were property that they were

Two projects suggested by Terminal Mill End owners offer a contrast in activity tastes for people who like to do things with fabrics. Daniel Levenson and L. Alex Alexander owners of the fabric store located at 962 Stuyvesant ave., Union Center, divided the Levenson suggested a "do-it-yourself" dress-making campaign to provide cool garments for summer living, Light-weight prints, the patterns and helpful hints from the staff members are available at Terminal.

A more ambitious program is outlined by Alexander, He points to an interior decorating project for this summer. It is the use of fabric for a wall covering. Alexander is quick to note that the most important first step is in selecting the proper fabric, Certain fabrics require an expert to install but certain others -- such as a chintz or glosheen -may be tackled by a do-it-yourselfer, according to Alexander.

He points to five major factors in putting fabric on a wall: selection and consistency of glue, starting fabric around a corner, removal of selvages, method of trimming tops and bottoms and use of gimp or braid to conceal raw edges.

Step-by-step details for this home decorating idea are contained in literature available at Terminal. Staff members will offer assistance in selecting fabrics. Texture and weight are to be considered as well as the prospect of coordinating designs with fabrics used else-where as draperies or slipcovers.

In his final remarks, Alexander pointed out that the possibilities of effect and coordination make installation of fabric by experts feasible. He noted that experimentation could be carried out by stapling or gluing lengths of fabric to walls.

Should fabric be used as a wall covering, there are special plastic sprays which may be applied to protect it from soiling.

Water pollution

Water is one of our most vital natural re-sources. We can drink it, cruise on it, fish in it, swim in it--and we use vast quantities for industry-to say nothing of commercial navigation. But we can also pollute it so that none of the above may be possible. Let the boatmen of America join the crusade to prevent pollution. Better still, lead it.

Boating has the answer for those who dream of owning an island for get-away-from-it all vacations, Meet the modern houseboat, the portable island with all the conveniences of home and all the potential to lull passengers into the mood of the South Seas.

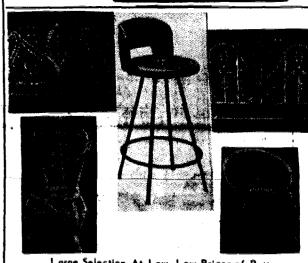

Room, not speed, is the essence of houseboating, ac-cording to the Johnson Motors News Bureau. Houseboats run from 18 to more than 50 feet, and selecting the best model for a particular family is similar to choosing a summer home.

The houseboat-island is particularly suited for fishing and swimming. Large lakes and rivers offer the best water for houseboating. The quiet coves of TVA lakes, for example, are ideal parking places, as are the sandbars his latest, "Persona," which is the current attraction on screen at the Ormont.

"Persona," the Swedish film with English subtitles as shown at the Ormont, brings into focus an unusual relationship between two women: An actress (played by Liv Ullmann) who has an emotional breakdown, and a nurse (Bibi Andersson), who is assigned to the care of the actress. As far as a viewer can surmise (after much pondering over the plot of "Persona"), the two women are drawn together by their strange interests in their respective personalities.

Miss Andersson, who has been told by her friends that she resembles the actress, is a bit awestruck by the idea that she is in charge of the health and being of her idol. Hidden away in a solitary countryside, the two seem to become so intimate that the nurse begins to identify herself as the actress to a point where she herself has a near nervous

And the strange actress, who utters no sounds throughout the film (except at the end when she says: "Nothing"), uses the innocent nurse as a puppet with which to play until she becomes bored. #### FOR THE BIRDS morial Day was the occasion for the first neighborhood picnic in our backyard, Grandparents, parents, children and grandchildren from our house and the next two, as you go towards town, gather and enjoy a cooperative supper. My wife, librarian at a nearby private school didn't have the day off so my chores included setting the scene for the event.

This year as I was moving the back lawn, cleaning off the yard furniture and bringing chairs out of the garage where they had hung, unused, since last fall, I took time off to watch two male scarlet tanagers climb around the oaks picking off inchworms. On every hand, in our orchards, among the high branches of our roadside elms, the little trumpeter is heard blowing his tiny bugle; all out-of-doors is animated by his buoyant personality."

IT WAS THE American colonists in the 17th century who noted the brilliant orange and black colors were those of the Lords Baltimore, colonizers of Maryland, They named him "Baltimore-bird" and today he's the state bird of that my step-mother had saved for her, but all to no avail. I even gave my mom my bible and asked her to read it in hopes it would help her to straighten herself out.

We haven't heard a word at all from her! Do you have any suggestions as to what we can do to get her to write or visit us? I' certainly would appreciate an answer.

Don't Understand Dear Don't:

Don't stop writing or sending pictures ... and get your brothers to do likewise. If your mother has a problem, hearing from you boys will help her to overcome it sooner. She will communicate with you, I know, as soon as she

Be kind, tolerant and have patience.

Dear Amy:

Shortly I am to be married. My question may seem unusual to you but I don't know how to treat my future in-laws. They are young modern and very nice. I admit I feel strange with them at times, but it's not their fault. I know the are fond of me and they do everything to make me feel at home when I visit them. They're really very nice.

I asked a friend and she said that I should act toward them as I would toward my own parents. But I can't do that because I honestly don't always talk to my parents very nicely. (You know how it is with your own parents not always seeing eye-to-eye.)

Dear Debbie:

Your suggestions would be appreciated.

Start out by talking to your own parents nicer. But no matter how kind you are to YOUR mother and father, be kinder to your in-laws. No matter what you say to your folks, they will forgive you because they love you. Your in-laws must learn to love you by your words and actions. Dear Amy:

Is it proper for a bride and groom to give gifts to their bridesmaids, ushers, maid of nor and best man, or is this only done if the bride and groom can afford it or come from wealthy parents? Dear A.J.: It is proper and expected that the bride and groom give their bridesmaids, maid of honor, best man and ushers gifts as a memento of the occasion, and for their time, effort and personal expense. The gifts, however, should

Milk prices increase

The minimum milk prices for North Jersey has in-creased one-half cent per quart as the result of amendment to the New York-New Jersey Federal milk marketing order, the Office of Milk Industry announced. A delay in producer approval of the amendment prevented the increase from taking effect on May 1. The minimum milk prices will be uniform throughout the State during June: For milk sold out of stores, 26.5 cents per quart, 48 cents per halfgallon and 90 centsper gallon. Minimum prices for home-delivered milk are three cents per quart higher.

When we talk about transportation, it helps put New Jersey "on the road" to new prosperity

Competition between states for attracting new industry is intense. Public Service is right in the thick of the battle, telling America's industrial community why business succeeds in New Jersey For example, we offer full details about New Jersey's excellent land-sea-air transportation system which gets products to market faster and more economically.

Why do we advertise nationally to attract new business and industry to New Jersey? Because when a firm moves into our state, more jobs immediately become available . . "new" money circulates . . . New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated We feel there is no better way to contribute to the continuing growth, strength and prosperity of the Garden State.

YOUNG MAN, NO EXPERIENCE:

Chem. Operator Trainee

"The man I want knows he's unskilled. And hates it.'

Pharm. Mfg. Manager.

"The young man we seek has learned the cost of being unskilled. The hard way. He's got to be a high school graduate--reliable, responsible, and something more: he wants to learn; more than anything else in life, he now wants the pride that comes with developing a skill. He'll work rotating shifts, learning how to handle pharmaceutical production equipment...learning how to work in a close tolerance and high quality area. When he does learn, it's just the beginning-he'll then qualify for advanced training in more highly skilled operations. In the meantime he'll be enjoying modern, pleasant working conditions and making a good starting salary plus shift differential. He'll get good benefits, too; Comprehensive Group Insurance, profit sharing (up to 15% of salary) and regular performance and salary reviews. If you have the ambition that this job requires, please call me for an appointment.

A FEMININE LOOK

Ninth In A Series AN IDOL FALLS

(Editor's note: Because of the current crisis in Nigeria this article appears today in place of the announced story on Ivory Coast and Ghana.)

NIGERIAN CRISIS

Nigeria this February seemed a far cry from the Nigeria of February 1963, Four years ago when I first visited the country, it was looked upon as the "prestige country of Africa," and all the Africans looked to it as a model. In fact, its police force alone was a model, and was highly regarded for its service in the Congo with the United Nations Peace Keeping Forces, Its members were noted for never carrying a gun--even in the

But this February Nigeria was in the midst of internal struggles and with last week's announcement of the seccession of the country's Eastern Region, comes the split-up of what once was considered Africa's most stable nation.

TENSIONS SEEMED HIGH in the capital city of Lagos even in February when we last were there. Everyone, Americans, Nigerians, businessmen, hosts, diplomats talked a great deal about how "all right everything "--a little too much--and while Lt. Col. Yal-ubu Gowon, 29, the new president-designate was presiding in Lagos, Col. Chukwuemka Odumegiu-Ojukwu, 32, the military governor of the Eastern Region was blithely presiding in the East and preportedly paying no attention to Col. Gowon.

Upon our arrival at the Lagos airport we were told we would be meeting with Col. Gowon the following day and we were all eagerly looking forward to it. But even the president was nervous and by the time of our appointment with him, the meeting had been curtailed to only five of our group "for security reasons." Even at that, the meeting was held in the president's barbed-wire fencedin, barracks home, surrounded by guards and elaborate security measures. (It is a sad fact that no one in Lagos really expects Col. Gowon to live to a ripe old age. So the Colonel understandably, takes all precautions.)

Nevertheless, those who did not get to the meeting were keenly disappointed. But a government official even then offered another invitation. 'Come to the Eastern Region and meet Col. Odumegwu-Ojukwu," he said, "he is the boss of the east and Gowon has no control over him, and he would very much like to meet you."

Well, we should have gone to hear what he had to say, for now, the Oxford-trained Col. Odumegiu-Ojukwu has taken his Eastern Region and claimed it a new nation.

THERE ARE SOME WHO BELIEVE it will never really happen and things will be adjusted and Nigeria will be whole again, but there is a deep underlying problem behind it all that will be hard to erase no matter what. The feuding and the fighting and the troubles stem from the four regions of Nigeria and their divergent peoples and cultures. There is the Northern Region, the Eastern, the Western and the Mid-Western and each has its own particular breed.

The North consists mainly of the Ilausa tribe, then Fulani, Tiv and Kanuri; the East has Ibo, Efik and Ijaw; the West has the Yorkuba, and the Mid-West has the Ebo, Urhobo, Itsekiri and Ijaw.

Would you believe English? Each of these tribes has its own language and literature. English is the official language but Hausa is used in the North in addition

On a tour of the radio station in Lagos, our guide said that news programs are given in 12 languages. "All you need is one of two ears to hear the news," he wryly stated. Actually there are four MAIN languages in the country, four distinct cultural areas, three main unequal geographical sectors and two major religions. The northern part of Nigeria is Moslem and the southern part is Christian, Would you believe any more?

Nigeria is the largest country, population wise, in all Africa so that makes for a goodly sum of problems, Some 55 million, according to a 1963 count. Only Egypt comes close with 23 million people.

Nevertheless Nigeria was the first country under European control to gain independence and that was in 1960 when it became an independent State within the British Commonwealth. But now it also seems to be among the first to fall apart,

THERE ARE SOME OFFICIALS who blame the trouble on other things, it is difficult. they say, to put together a nation that was only a colonial convenience. Also, they add, the Moslem north and the Christian south not the real problem. There are cultural differences within the country and it takes a long time to combine them. These cultural differences are intensified by political differences between political parties and leaders they claim.

must be added, however, that Nigeria also has a lot in its favor. It is blessed with a wide variety of resources and has good coastal area, savannah and some desert. Its rubber crop is the largest in Africa but it also has cocoa, palm oil, tin and some oil. It has a based economy and has inherited a good infra-structure of railways, roads, electricity, etc., from the colonial era, Its people are dynamic and energetic and there are a large number of trained people and professionals. Many people have been trained in the United Kingdom and are third generation trained. Leaders even before independence had a good reputation and the country had a prestige in Africa.

Yet Nigeria has troubles.

THE FIRST REPUBLIC of Nigeria (not State) which began in 1963 (within the British Commonwealth still) named the four regions as provinces together with the centrally administered territory of Lagos. Lagos is a separate territory such as Washington, D.C. Executive power then was vested in the Prime Northerners seized power in Lagos, slaving Minister and his cabinet all of whom were many Eastern officials and men and the Supreme Commander. This was followed by the killing of scores of Easterners living in the Northern Region. In the aftermath of this turthrough the country to bring the violence to an end and clean up the election. Against this background, a group reacted in com-before the First Republic came to an end on Jan. 15, 1966. The Second Republic began the next day when, according to literature received in Lagos, "the Nigerian Armed Forces formally accepted an invitation from the civilian government to take over the administration of the government." The adminorgans: the National Military Council and the moil, Col. Gowon, a Northerner, was designated president. Embittered by the Northern killings and with more than a million refugees on his hands, Col. Odumegiu-Ojukwu of the East demanded a loose association of Nigeria's four provinces, bound together only by a common currency and common services such as railways, but each to be self-governing.

Col. Gowon, however, vowed to maintain the federation and said he would fight if necessary to preserve it.

Several attempts at conciliation were made. one in particular in January in Aburi, Ghana, with Nigeria's military leaders, but Col. Odumegiu-Ojukwu has since accused Col. Gowon of backing down on the Aburi agreements and declared that if they were not implemented by March 31 he would take unilateral action.

And that is just what he has done. By April the Eastern Region claimed no satisfaction and reported that among its mounting complaints, the Lagos government had taken steps to blockade the East, And, so, last week the Eastern Colonel declared his withdrawal from Nigeria, and Nigeria now has
