Deerfield construction contracts awarded

Work at site commences in ten days

Total cost of addition slightly over $798G

The Mountainside Board of Education Tuesday night awarded a $1,200,000 general construction contract for erection of an addition to the Deerfield School to the Caldwell Construction Co. of Caldwell. Other awards brought the total of construction contracts to $721,900.

Contracts for special equipment, architect's and engineering fees and the Board's share of printing plans and specifications brought the total cost for the addition to $798,049, some $29,951 less than the figure appropriated for the work.

To make the contracts total less than the appropriation for the addition, the Board had to approve four alternate provisions to the basic specifications in the general construction contract, three alternate provisions in other construction contracts, eliminate various provisions for special equipment items, and reject all bids on equipment for new kitchen facilities.

Bids on the school addition contracts were opened at a special meeting of the Board last Wednesday. Tuesday night's session was called to wind up school business before tomorrow—the end of the fiscal year. Robert C. Miller, of the architectural firm F. Basser and Miller, estimated that ground would be broken at the site within 10 days.

Contracts for the Deerfield School construction are scheduled for signing at the Board of Education office on Rt. 22 on Friday, July 7, at 4 p.m. Construction contracts, other than for general construction, were awarded to: Park Steel and Iron Co. of Bradley Beach, $25,000 for steel and iron work; Nubel Co. of Belleville, $17,715 for plumbing work; Borg Plumbing and Heating Co. of South River, $191,760 for heating and ventilating; George E. Scholes Co., Inc., of Elizabeth, $118,154 for electric work; The Herbert L. Farkas Co. of Newark was awarded a $9,847 contract for special equipment, and Royal School Laboratories of Richmond, Va., received a $10,467 contract for science equipment.

THE FOLLOWING OMISSIONS to the basic general construction contract were made by the Board: $1,400 alteration work in the school library; a $10,800 folding partition in the gymnasium; a $4,700 folding partition in the lunchroom; and $15,400 lunchroom folding tables and stage. A $2,700 item for painting exposed masonry was added. Fred Elsasner, architect, is to obtain options for the later inclusion of the gym and lunchroom folding doors and a $4,800 carpeting item in team teaching rooms.

Omitted from the base bid on steel and iron work was a $1,226 item for structural steel for the gym folding door. Omitted in the electrical contract was a $218 item for work involved in installation of the gym door, and a $264 item for work involved in installation of the lunchroom door.

Special equipment items eliminated by the Board included: a $786 sliding chalkboard and storage area in the art room; $2,272

Assigned to parish as replacement for Father McDermitt

Rev. Gerard B. Wielan, formerly an assistant pastor in St. Charles Borromeo Parish, Newark, has been appointed a curate in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. He succeeds Rev. Francis McDermitt who has served as an assistant pastor at Our Lady of Lourdes since his ordination in 1960. Father McDermitt's new assignment has not yet been announced.

Father Wielan, who served at St. Charles Borromeo for three years, was previously assigned to St. Michael's Church, Cranford, for six years and to Christ the King Parish, Hillside, for nine years.

He was moderator of the Parents Club at the Newark parish and was active in the Holy Name Society and the Catholic Youth Organization in the other parishes.

Born and raised in Elizabeth, Father Wielan attended St. Patrick's Grammar and High School there. He is a graduate of Seton Hall University and completed his theological studies at Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington.

The new assistant pastor moved into the rectory on Central ave. on Monday of this week. He will be serving under the pastor, Rev. Gerard J. McGarry. The Rev. Raymond Aamack is also an assistant pastor at the local church.

Display of fireworks set for stay-at-homes

The annual fireworks display will be presented July 4 by Mountainside's Volunteer Fire Department. The display will begin shortly after dark Tuesday on the grounds of Our Lady of Lourdes School.

The volunteers urged everyone to watch the fireworks from their own homes or lawns. The aerial display will light up the sky and will be visible throughout the borough, a spokesman promised.

"Stay home and enjoy them," he suggested.

Planners approve 2 plans; continue Mindowaskin bid

Two of three applications on the agenda were approved by Mountainside's Planning Board Monday night. Two others were denied and referred to the Board of Adjustment, another got conditional approval which is expected to be finalized at a special hearing next Wednesday.

One of the most controversial of the applications, a request from the Mindowaskin Holding Co. for permission to construct an office building on the front portion of land on which the Mindowaskin pool is located, was approved. The remaining three did not come up for a hearing.

The Mindowaskin application, which was approved by the Board of Adjustment on June 17, calls for a building of modern design to be constructed at 1020-1024 Springfield ave. The structure will be mounted underneath for 26 cars, according to submitted plans. The board questioned the plans which suggested entrance and exit from the parking space at the front of the building which would mean that the land in front of the building would contain mainly a driveway. This would violate a borough ordinance which calls for lawn and landscape in front of office buildings.

Jeremiah O'Dwyer, attorney for the applicant, agreed that his client would look for another access to the parking area.

Another application from the Mindowaskin Holding Co. for permission for the George H. Birchall, Associate, Inc. to commence business at the Springfield ave. address was not heard.

Approval was given to a land swap involving lots 12 and 23, Block 6-A, between G. David Chaddon of 1043 Sylvan lane and Adolph Conrad. Another application from Chaddon, which asked for approval of a minor subdivision of Block 2, lot 1, on Sylvan lane, was denied and referred to the Planning Board.

Saul Brazier of 200 Highwood rd., Mountainside, received preliminary approval of a major subdivision at 1000 Rt. 22 subject to the inclusion of a continuation of Cemetery rd. on his plans. Brazier's application for final approval of the plans for that property and another application which sought approval of a minor subdivision were not heard.

William and Margaret Vetter of 339 Central ave. were denied approval of a minor subdivision of their property which would create a lot in the rear portion with no frontage. They were referred to the Board of Adjustment.

An application from the Mountainside Inn to use premises at 1248 Rt. 22 for an extension of its parking lot was conditionally approved pending the submission by the architect of specific plans for sidewalks, shade trees, curbs, buffers between the parking lots and a fence. Final action is scheduled next Wednesday.

operation, has been improved this year to include badminton, tennis courts, volleyball courts, shuffleboard and expanded picnic facilities.

The new facilities will be dedicated at the ceremony, which will be led by Mayor Frederick Wilhelm.

The ceremony will include a diving exhibit, a tennis match (played by experts) and other events, according to Ditzel. The flag raising ceremony will be conducted by one of the borough's Boy Scout Troops. The invocation will be given by a clergyman, as yet undesignated, from one of the three churches in the borough.

About 4,000 people used the pool facilities last Saturday, according to Robert Anderson, pool manager. Although the pool was open Memorial Day and each weekend during June, last Saturday marked the opening of the facility on a full-time basis.

The 4,000 on hand represented the 825 family membership and numerous single membership, both individual and senior citizens.

The pool is open daily Monday through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Sunday from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

Swim teams for children and teenagers are being formed this week in the morning hours, Ditzel said Tuesday that Anderson had arranged to enter the teams in league competition.

Police requested to increase patrols at community pool

Robert Anderson, director of the Mountainside Pool, said this week that borough police have been requested to increase the number of nighttime checks at the pool to keep youths away from the vicinity when the pool is closed. Anderson said that there has been a rash of minor vandalism at the pool site, and that he is afraid of someone's being injured by using the pool when it is not guarded. Besides requesting an increase of police surveillance of the area, he said, he has also arranged for a neighbor to notify police whenever he notices anyone at the pool site at nighttime.

According to the pool director, the vandalism has amounted to a number of incidents of trash cans being thrown over the fence around the pool. The vandals have not thrown trash into the pool itself, Anderson said. He said that they probably entered the pool area by climbing over a six-foot fence surrounding the site.

Summit rd. walkers cause 2 accidents

Young people walking in the road caused two accidents within the last week on Summit rd., Mountainside.

Regina A. Harned of Westfield told police that she hit a car driven by Ronald J. Marhs, 17, of Berkeley Heights last Thursday night when she was forced to swerve her car to avoid hitting four girls who were walking up the hill. Marhs confirmed the Westfield woman's story, saying the four girls were walking abreast out in the road.

The accident occurred at 11:20 p.m., the police report showed.

Marhs told police he had stopped to make the turn into Wyoming dr. when he was hit broadside by the Harned car. According to police, Marhs said he saw the Harned car go into

Special committee meets tonight on Heckel, Ridge plan

A special committee, appointed to study a proposed housing development which would open Heckel and Ridge drive to Central ave., will meet tonight in a closed session to consider alternate proposals suggested by objecting residents of the two streets.

The nine-member body, appointed by Mayor Frederick Wilhelm, Jr., includes three members of the Borough Council, Councilmen B. Dean Spain, Fred Swingle, Robert Ruggiero; three members of the Planning Board, Chairman John Iyer, Robert Garrett and Clarence Winans; three of the residents, David Dilley, Herbert Paikow and John Howe, and the developer, Saul Brazier of Samuel Enterprise.

The Borough Council held action on the controversial proposal at last week's meeting after the objecting residents, with Dilley as their chief spokesman, called for further study of the "complex problems" involved before final action is taken. The Planning Board approved the plans as presented by the builder on May 29.

Alternates suggested by Dilley and other objecting residents included the construction of cul de sacs. Dilley told the Council at last week's meeting that there are 19 ways of creating cul de sacs on the property which would be in accordance with borough ordinance.

Mayor Wilhelm said Monday night that one of the purposes of tonight's meeting is to give the representatives of the Heckel and Ridge dr. residents an opportunity to acquaint the Planning Board representatives with details of such alternates.

Mayor Wilhelm said he felt that many of the alternates suggested at the Council meeting had not been previously presented to the Planning Board. Tonight's meeting will provide an opportunity for direct and free

School board appoints two at special session

Two Mountainside residents who have children enrolled in borough schools were appointed to the Borough's Board of Education in a special meeting at the Board offices on Rt. 22 Tuesday night. The appointees are Mrs. Gloria Johnson of 1358 Birch Hill rd. and Donald Jeka of 298 Bridle Path.

The two appointees will serve until next February when the next Board of Education election will be held. They replace Richard Krebs and Mrs. Mary Rosenquest who both resigned recently because they will be moving away from the borough. The new Board members will be sworn in at the regular Board meeting on July 11, according to Robert Britton, president of the Board of Education.

Mrs. Johnson has lived in Mountainside for 15 years. She is the widow of Robert Johnson, a director of the Hexacon Electric Company in Roselle Park, who died in 1956. Since that time, Mrs. Johnson has served as a director of the electric firm. She is also a free-lance designer and artist.

Mrs. Johnson holds the degree of bachelor of fine arts in industrial design summa cum laude from the University of Illinois. She is a native of Wilmette, Ill., where she lived before coming to Mountainside 15 years ago.

Mrs. Johnson is the mother of three sons: Douglas, 17, who will be entering the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., in September; David, 14, who will be entering St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Newark, in September; and Ronald, 12, who will be entering the eighth grade at Mountainside's Deerfield School in September.

MRS. JOHNSON, who will be the only woman on the school board, has been assistant manager and a vice-president of the Mountainside Little League, a member of the building committee at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, adult advisor to the Mountainside CYO, a member of the borough's recreation committee, the Mountainside Inter-Faith Dialogues, the Westfield College Club, the Westfield Community Players and the board of directors of the Mindowaskin Swim Club. She was named "Mrs. New Jersey" in 1962, is listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and has exhibited works in state and national art displays as a representative of the Westfield Art Association.

Jeka is an account supervisor for the Burson Marsteller Associates public relations firm in New York City. A native of Newark, he lived in Clifton before moving to Mountainside

Mountainside will host diving meet

Canada, N.J. youths to compete here Aug. 27

Mountainside will be the scene of the third annual Canada-New Jersey Diving Exchange, it was revealed last week in a meeting of Borough Council.

The annual exchange is sponsored by the New Jersey unit of the American Athletic Union, and is held at New Jersey and Canadian pool sites in alternate years. The competition in Mountainside is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 27.

Richard Collins of Bayberry lane, Mountainside, a member and former chairman of the borough's Recreation Committee, and a member of the New Jersey AAU diving committee, said the borough's new pool was selected for the 1967 diving competition because of the special facilities for diving that it provides. There is a separate diving tank at the pool site, separate from the 50-meter (Olympic-sized) swimming pool.

Richard Steadman of Deal, chairman of the New Jersey AAU diving committee, has cited the Mountainside pool as being the best type for both fun and competition. The AAU unit advised the borough Recreation Committee when it was selecting the type of pool to be built.

The international diving exchange was started by the state AAU three years ago. It is intended to serve both as a diving competition and a cultural exchange. Competitors from Canada will stay in the homes of New Jersey competitors.

New Jersey competitors in the meet will be selected in late July or early August in the New Jersey Junior Olympics diving competition. There will be two competitors in each age group for boys and girls.

Some 16 to 20 Canadian divers and four to six adults will be arriving for the Mountainside meet on the evening of Friday, Aug. 25. There will be a practice diving session on Saturday, Aug. 26, and the actual meet on Sunday, Aug. 27. On Monday, Aug. 28, the Canadians will go sightseeing the area, and they will return home on Tuesday, Aug. 29.

While the competitors will be staying in the homes of their New Jersey opponents, their coaches will be staying at the homes of Mountainside residents interested in the exchange program. Judges for the diving competition will be selected and supplied by the New Jersey AAU.

Necessary arrangements by Mountainside for the exchange will be handled by Mrs. Polly Foster, chairman of the special programs committee of the borough's Recreation Committee. State AAU diving committee chairman Richard Steadman, coach of the Monmouth College diving team, and William Cant, coach of the Westfield YMCA and Westfield High School diving teams, will be co-directors of the meet. The Mountainside Recreation Committee applied for nomination as host for the 1967 exchange last summer, and was approved by the state AAU diving committee in March.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Independence Day, '67

On Independence Day, 1967, it might be well for us to remind ourselves that the freedom, which we commemorate is not self-perpetuating. It is something we must work for, conscientiously and continuously, even as did our forefathers.

Of the 56 who signed the Declaration of Independence, five were captured by the British and executed as traitors; nine others died from wounds or the hardships of the Revolutionary War.

These were the men who gave us an independent America one hundred and ninety-one years ago. They are the men who pledged: "For the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

Through their sacrifice we do have freedom. We do have our unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Let us not take these sacred rights and our Godgiven freedom for granted. There are those who would chip away, little by little, these things we cherish most. It's up to us to prove that we will not be deprived of our heritage.

PROFILE---Dr. Harold N. Moldenke

"Natural history is out of style nowadays. We tend to forget about it. But it's what we need. It's what we need."

The words tumble out when Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside, talks about the subject which is both his profession and his hobby.

For nearly 15 years, he has been doing his best to fulfill that need by writing, lecturing, showing exhibits and conducting tours at Trailside.

Tomorrow he will leave that post, but not the field. He has resigned from Trailside to become associate professor of natural history at Paterson State College, the first college in the state to establish a master's course in natural history.

He was on the scientific staff of the New York Botanical Garden for 23 years rising from assistant to curator, but gave up that job to come to Trailside because he wanted to work more directly with children.

He is firmly convinced that Trailside and places like it are "doing a great job in fighting delinquency" by giving youngsters "something worthwhile to fill their spare time."

With increasing urbanization, fewer and fewer children know much about plants and animals.

"They think watermelons hang from trees," he said. And in addition, they are afraid of nature. When classes from Newark and Elizabeth come to Trailside, frightened youngsters occasionally hang onto his trouser legs, crying out in fear of the snakes and other animals.

Dr. Moldenke has been trying to reassure them for more than 14 years.

WHEN HE CAME to Trailside in 1952, the job of teaching and reassuring the children was made more complicated by lack of staff and facilities.

There were no guides, so he had to conduct the tours himself; now volunteers, most of them retired people serve as guides.

He gave all the lectures himself, and still does so with the exception of times when there are guest lecturers.

He also had to do the vaccinating, because there was no one else to do it. Trailside now has a custodian, but his first duty--on orders from Dr. Moldenke--is to keep the animal cages clean, so the vaccinating is still a problem.

Additional equipment acquired since he took over as director of Trailside has solved some of the problems.

When he came, there was no heat, so the animals had to be boarded out for the winter. Area residents opened their homes to such guests as foxes, vultures and skunks during the winter months.

Dr. Moldenke also recalled other help Trailside received from neighbors. When he came, there was no deep freeze unit to preserve dead animals for the taxidermist, so "housewives in the neighborhood let us use their freezers."

The public has also helped by furnishing exhibits. Donations have come from garden clubs, Audubon Societies and individual families who find that Easter bunnies or other pets have become too much of a problem to be cared for at home.

Because of the large number of visitors--attendance has grown from 50,000 in 1952, when Dr. Moldenke joined Trailside, to a peak of 404,000 in 1965--he cannot permit youngsters to handle the exhibits.

But he makes an exception for the classes of blind children who come to the Nature and Science Center, recalling fondly one blind youngster who held a snake and said with wonder, "It feels like a walking stick that moves."

He makes another exception when he goes to hospitals, homes for the aged and other institutions to speak. Then, if the weather is not too cold, he takes some animals with him.

"Visiting the polo patients is one of the most rewarding things about this job," he said. "You ought to see the children's eyes light up when they see a salamander or a baby rabbit." His own eyes light up as he speaks about it.

ALTHOUGH HE IS LEAVING Trailside, he has definite ideas about what he would like to see there in the future.

"Now, if a teacher wants to get her children interested in nature, she has to take three bus trips--to a museum, a zoo and a farm," he said.

"We already have a museum and a zoo. We have 2,000 acres here, and I would like to see a small farm established."

He also suggested the possibility of assigning plots of land to area youngsters where they can till the ground, plant seeds and raise their own gardens.

Another of his hopes for the future is a small animal hospital. "People bring us injured birds and other wounded animals, and there's nothing we can do about it," he said.

To achieve these aims, Dr. Moldenke would like to see Trailside receive endowments. A problem, however, arises because Trailside is operated under the Department of Recreation instead of the Department of Education and as a result, industries and other prospective donor cannot receive tax deduction benefits from gifts they might make.

Even with the facilities now available, Dr. Moldenke has reached large numbers of people.

He himself has put on 5,793 programs at Trailside which have had a total attendance of 549,932.

He has written more than 1,500 pamphlets, books and papers, including three books for the Audubon Society, "Camouflage in Nature," "Inventions in Nature" and "Great Forces in Nature," and his own two favorite volumes, "American Wildflowers" and "Plants of the Bible."

He has appeared on countless radio and television programs and traveled extensively to study and as a delegate to scientific congresses. As a matter of fact, there are only two states in the United States--Nevada and Alaska--and two countries in South America--Bolivia and Paraguay--which he has missed.

The interest in natural history is a family affair for the Moldenkes, who live in Plainfield. Mrs. Moldenke is a former biology teacher and their son, Andrew, is working for his doctorate in entomology at Stanford University.

Dr. Moldenke would like to see everyone share that interest--and particularly children. "It gives them something to do with their spare time," he said. "Kids like nature--if you don't squelch them."

Special committee

exchange of opinions which will, hopefully, lead to a meeting of minds, the mayor indicated.

In any event, the Council will take final action on the matter at its next meeting on July 18, Wilhelms said.

PEITONS OPPOSING AND supporting the present plans of Samuel Enterprises were presented at last week's meeting. Dilley presented a petition with 287 signatures which he described as a "preliminary document," asking that Ridge and Heckel drives be preserved as "non-connecting streets."

A petition, signed by over 70 people, calling for approval of the development and construction of the through street, was also presented to the Council.

A Rescue Squad official, one of those who spoke briefly in support of the plan, told the Council of two incidents in which ambulances had to be re-routed because of the present dead-ends on Heckel and Ridge drives. Both incidents involved patients who were "critically" ill, he said.

The objecting residents pointed out potential traffic hazards which would be made worse by what they described as the "roller coaster" topography which creates blind spots on the two roads.

Councilman Charles J. Irwin made the motion for the tabling of the measure and the appointment of the special committee after lengthy discussion by those attending the hearing.

The proposal to table was opposed by David Moecker, attorney for Samuel Enterprises, who claimed no new evidence had been presented and by Frazer, who told the Council that "time is essential" to him as a business man.

a skid on the wet pavement when the driver swerved to avoid striking the pedestrians. Vincent Mangin, 17, of Berkeley Heights, a passenger in Marks' car, refused medical aid, saying he would see his own doctor.

Two children walking on the side of Summit rd. reportedly distracted the attention of Ferdinand J. Hahn, 24, of Madison last Friday afternoon, causing him to hit a car driven by Robert I. Zaharowitz, 17, of Miami Beach, Fla. According to the police report, Hahn said he saw the children walking, and wanting to make sure they would not dash out further in the road, took his eyes off the road to watch them. He swerved to avoid the Zaharowitz car, which was stopped with signal light on to make the turn into Wyoming dr. He was unable to swerve sufficiently, Hahn said, and hit the other vehicle in the rear.

be continued under the new state legislation, Dr. Hanjan said.

STUDENTS AT THE ENDING TRAVEL of parochial grammar schools or high schools outside the borough must make individual application for bus transportation. About four or five applications from such grammar school students have been forwarded by the local office to the Union County Regional Board, which, in accordance with the new state law, will provide such transportation and bill the ending communities.

No count will yet available on the number of Mountainside students who have requested the regional board for transportation to private or parochial secondary schools outside the borough. At present, the week a total of 400 secondary students from the six communities in the regional district had submitted applications to the regional board but no breakdown as to communities had been made.

The present bus policy for Mountainside's grammar school children, both public and local parochial, sets a one-half mile limit for kindergarten pupils; a three-quarter mile limit for student in grades one and two; one mile limit for third, fourth and fifth grade students; one-and-one-quarter mile for sixth, seventh and eighth grader.

Transportation is provided for disabled pupils upon certification of need by a qualified physician. Distance is defined as being along accessible roads or walkways from the home to the assigned school.

Bus schedules will be published during the month of August in the Mountainside Echo. Transportation cards will be given to pupils who are entitled to ride a bus.

Parents of children registered for kindergarten in the fall will receive information on assignment to morning or afternoon classes, bus schedules and other information in the mail during August.

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

The Senate has acted to censure Senator Dodd. Much of the discussion on his defense concerned the notice of censure for acts which are not specifically prohibited by a Senate rule or a Federal statute.

This argument, I believe, begged the question before the Senate. Public office is a public trust, just as much as a private trustee, the public officeholder has an affirmative obligation to observe a high standard of conduct, over and beyond what may be specifically enjoined by law.

The American people clearly hold to this view. A recent poll reported that, by more than 4 to 1, Americans favor requiring members of Congress to disclose their personal income and its sources and all their financial interests.

The public is right in considering this the best approach to a chronic problem that Congress has repeatedly shown itself unable to deal with effectively.

There are a variety of reasons for this. Congress is one of three coordinate branches of government. At the Supreme Court recently held, the constitutional provisions designed to protect the independence of Congress from an unfriendly President or hostile judiciary generally rule out outside inquiry into the motives of a member of Congress.

Further, since each member of Congress is primarily accountable to his constituency, collective action is reluctant to sit in judgment on him.

Nonetheless, recognition is growing of the need for a right action to assure the integrity of the Congress.

In 1957 I first introduced a bill to require members of Congress and candidates for Congress, top legislative staff and top officials in the Executive Branch, to make annual reports covering all income and its sources, gifts of more than nominal value, liabilities and assets, and all transactions in commodities, real and personal property. Slowly but steadily support for it has grown. This year when I reintroduced the bill for the sixth time three other Republicans and four Democrats joined as co-sponsors. Too, several senators who previously opposed disclosure have now endorsed it.

Disclosure has several advantages. First, it is preventive. The knowledge that one's financial activities and interests will become known as the best possible "stop and think" signal—the surest way to sharpen awareness of any possible conflict of public and private interests.

Second, it is automatic in operation. When the facts are on the table, the press and the public can make their own judgment.

Third, disclosure will strengthen the people's right to elect whom they wish by giving them full knowledge of the personal financial interests of those who present themselves as candidates for election or reelection.

I have nothing against codes of ethics. Indeed, we already have one, adopted in 1958. Unfortunately it carries with it no means of enforcement.

For years Congress has required top executive officials to disclose specific financial interests. It is high time that Congress applies the same principle to itself and does away with the double standard so long followed.

Disclosure does involve intrusion into privacy but, as one who has done it regularly, I believe it is a small price to pay for the privilege of public service. And the cost becomes insignificant, compared to the great public good which would be served.

I am confident that institution of a disclosure requirement would bring reassuring evidence that most members of Congress are honest men who regard public service as a public trust.

A-MUSING from the desk

Last week's suddenly-announced summit meeting of the American and Russian leaders placed the world spotlight briefly on the quiet little town of Glassboro in South Jersey. The moral of all this is not what the meeting meant in terms of global diplomacy; let us all reflect for a moment that it could happen here.

If it did, what would it all mean to our own quiet little community. First to benefit would be our barber shops. All elected officials would rush out to get new haircuts suitable for appearances on national television.

Second, all local motels, restaurants, gas stations and (why not?) ladies' lingerie shops would hasten to raise their prices to a level befitting international recognition. We have a free enterprise system, of course, but nothing else in town would be free.

Third, at least one local personage would organize a protest demonstration against the appearance here of so many Communists. He would undoubtedly be joined by the local resident agent of the Viet Cong, who would not be opposed to any Communists, just to some.

The local protestor would drop his plans abruptly after a visit from a well-dressed gentleman with a soft voice and a large badge. With luck, the local personage would even lose his powers of speech for several months.

Great numbers of small children would hastily prepare spontaneous demonstrations of welcome and mass prayers for world peace, under the tutelage of small numbers of large ladies. The little girl chosen to present a bouquet to the honored dignitaries would turn out to suffer acutely from rose fever.

ALL POLICE VACATIONS and days off would immediately be cancelled, so that local officers, familiar with local problems, could help supervise the traffic jams. All local police officers would show strong support for international brotherhood, but not here in town.

In addition to all sorts of governmental officials and subordinate staff members, the town would overflow with private citizens from all over, coming here to press their claims for an infinite variety of proposals to improve world welfare.

There would be at least one engagement at fistcuffs between the adherents and the opponents of world-wide daylight saving time.

The local newspaper would rush into print with an extra welcoming the world's great political leaders and their supporting cast from the world of press and television and expressing the modest hope that all visitors take advantage of the bargains in our local stores.

The special edition would prominently display a picture of assorted great personages, with the local mayor and the Russian premier incorrectly identified as each other in the caption underneath the picture.

This legislation has had exhaustive study by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and by other agencies of the Administration.

The insurance industry has been consulted at length in drafting the bill. I believe that the record of the hearings will reflect agreement among the administration, the insurance industry, and those who will benefit from the program.

I look forward to an early and favorable report from the Securities Sub-committee and the Banking and Currency Committee and passage by the Senate.

This insurance program will protect the homes and savings of home owners who, heretofore, have been unable to obtain such protection.

Devlin talk closes adult art program

Harry Devlin, Mountainside artist, was speaker at the final session of the 10 week adult art class course held by the Mountainside Music Association.

Introduced by George Christy, instructor of the class, he discussed style and content of a work of art. He told the students that "a picture should change constantly as it progresses, and not be what the painter pictured in his mind's eye before he started."

Devlin is lecturer in fine arts and art appreciation at Montclair Junior College, Cranford. He has illustrated numerous children's books and written three, with his wife, Wendy. Another book on American architecture for children, "To Grandfather's House We Go," is scheduled for publication in October.

For the past couple of weeks we've been talking about racing — car racing, boat racing, horse racing — so today let's talk about foot racing. Our quiz will concern the greatest of them all.

He went to Ohio State University, and it was there in May, 1935 that he shot like a rocket into sports history. And 20, the son of an Alabama cotton-planter who was forced to work the fields at age six, he ran and jumped to victory in four events — one afternoon — and broke three world's records, and tied a fourth!

You've probably already named Jesse Owens, who went on to the Olympics in Germany in 1936 and gave a performance never before seen in track and field.

In 1936, Jesse Owens was the outstanding athlete in the Olympic Games in Berlin. Hitler refused to receive him, to shake his hand.

Fifteen years later, Owens returned to Germany for a visit and in the Olympic Stadium was cheered by 75,000 persons, was greeted at the box of the Mayor of Berlin who said, "Hitler would not shake your hand 15 years ago. Today I give you both my hands," and he threw his arms around Jesse Owens.

Recognition for what he'd done in the Olympics was a long time in coming, but it did come and for Owens it closed the saga of glory to an all-time great track record.

TEACH YOUR PARENTS for those blank spots in your ability to learn. A Northwestern University pilot study concludes that genetics sometimes plays a role in the occurrences of learning disabilities. The conclusion was based on a study of families in which a child was doing poorly in school because of "perceptual disorders" not related to mental retardation, emotional disturbance or brain damage. All of the parents were found to have various types of perceptual or memory defects.

A MEASLES EPIDEMIC among children in Mason county, Kentucky was quickly controlled last year even though many preschool children were not given measles vaccine. Those vaccinated were in the first two primary grades—the age group most likely to get measles and to spread it. The results gave evidence for the first time that epidemic spread of the disease can be halted by vaccination of only this group of children, reports the American Medical Association.

TEMPERATURE-SENSITIVE materials moving through "Turbo-Film" evaporators are processed by distributing them as a thin uniform film on a thermal wall, reports Vastar, Louisville. Rotor blades in the processor impart turbulence to the film, inducing a high rate of heat transfer and preventing localized overheating. The units are used to process organic and inorganic chemicals, pharmaceuticals and food products.

A HIGHLY CONTAGIOUS and debilitating disease among dogs commonly called "kennel cough" may soon yield to vaccine, say researchers at Harvard Medical School's Animal Research Center. They have discovered a virus capable of producing the disease and are now trying to produce a vaccine.

HUMAN CELLS may possess a mechanism to resist change in their structure and function, says a University of Michigan microbiologist. This mechanism, he reports, may prevent tumors from developing in the body.

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

FLOOD INSURANCE BILL GETS HEARINGS
I take a great deal of satisfaction, this week, in chairing three days of hearings on legislation to establish a national flood insurance program.

The history of the legislation dates back to March, 1962, when a spring storm ravaged the New Jersey Coast, destroying homes, businesses and other properties valued at many millions of dollars.

The portion of the loss which was attributed to wind damage was, in most cases, covered by insurance and the owners were able to rebuild.

But the portion of the loss attributed to flooding—and it was substantial—was not covered by insurance for the very good reason that it is impossible to obtain such insurance.

We toured the shore area, talking with the storm-stricken residents, shortly after the disaster. And it was impressed upon me that many people had not only lost their homes or their businesses but were burdened with mortgages or other obligations on these properties which they were legally bound to pay off.

To many people it meant ruin; the loss of their life savings.

IN 1963, I introduced a resolution calling for a federal study aimed at devising a workable flood insurance program.

The resolution was incorporated into the Southeast Hurricane Disaster Relief Act of 1965. The Department of Housing and Urban Development was authorized to conduct the study. It did so and submitted its report last August.

The report stated that a flood insurance program is feasible and could and should be established. It recommended a joint federal-private program, in co-operation with the insurance industry.

And the Department of Housing and Urban Development promised to consult with the inurance industry and develop legislation to put its recommendation into effect.

Unfortunately, the bureaucratic mills ground exceedingly slow. And when March of this year rolled around and we still didn't have a bill, we put together our own legislation.

There were two tactical reasons for this. Most important, we wanted to schedule hearings on this program and in order to do so, we had to have a bill before the committee. Also, we felt that introduction of a bill, even though it was admittedly something less than completely satisfactory, would put pressure on HUD and the administration.

Our tactics worked. HUD drafted the legislation and got it approved by the Administration and we received it last Thursday, only four days before the hearings began.

The legislation provides, initially, for coverage of one to four family dwellings only. If experience with the program indicates it is practical, the Secretary of HUD would be authorized to extend the insurance program to other risks, including businesses and farms.

The bill provides that the federal government would supply a portion of the risk capital and would subsidize insurance premiums in high-risk areas. The insurance industry would sell and service the policies and provide a portion of the risk capital.

THERE ARE SEVERAL provisions in the legislation to end future construction in high risk flood areas and to, eventually, eliminate existing development in those areas.

Ultimately, it is anticipated, this will place the flood insurance program on a self-sustaining basis and end the need for federal financial participation.

In the event that agreement cannot be reached with the insurance industry on a cooperative arrangement, the legislation provides for establishment of what would be, essentially, a federally financed and operated flood insurance program, with insurance companies, agents

Union County third on contract list of U.S. government

Prime government contracts totaling $74,298,669 went to 171 firms throughout the State during May, Robert A. Roe, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development announced this week. Commissioner Roe said an additional 17 contracts with the dollar amounts "indefinite" were awarded to 14 New Jersey firms.

Mercer led the 19 counties represented on the awards list with contracts aggregating $40,276,682. These included seven contracts ($33,000,175) to RCA's Divisions of Princeton for specialized research services; six contracts ($5,170,636) to Trenton Textile Engineering and Mfg. Inc., of Trenton for wet weather parkas; two contracts ($703,058) to Switich Parachute Inc., of Trenton for men's coveralls; and a $26,000 contract to Educational Testing Service of Princeton for studies on development of mental test theory and methods.

Bergen was next on the awards list with contracts amounting to $8,213,072 followed by Essex County, $7,023,914; Union County, $3,463,221; Hudson County, $1,141,386; Camden County, $2,564,699; Passaic County, $1,965,628; Burlington County, $1,536,851; Morris County, $1,449,093; and Monmouth County, $1,341,744.

Sen. Hughes set to push new cemetery measure

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes (D-Union), said this week she is already looking ahead to the Senate's return in the Fall to push the completion of some unfinished business. High on the list is her bill on cemetery regulation, she said.

She introduced the measure near the close of the last session. It was "just about buried" under the heavy volume of work and the haste to adjourn, Senator Hughes said, but she does not intend to let it die over the summer. "This is too important a bill to let it wither and fade away," Senator Hughes said. "It is designed to protect the public, which for years has been seeking some sort of cemetery regulation. There has not been an amendment to cemetery legislation in this century."

Gets study center post

Dr. Irwin A. Hyman, chief of clinical services of the Training School Unit of the American Institute for Mental Studies, Vinland, has been appointed chief psychologist for the Evaluation and Consultation Clinic for Mental Retardation at the Child Study Center, Newark State College, Union. Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, announced this week.

The measure, which was drawn after public hearings were held on the two proposals submitted to the Legislature last year, would create a New Jersey Cemetery Board within the Department of Law and Public Safety. The board would be composed of the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, the Commissioner of Health and two citizens of the State, at least one of whom has had five years of experience in the cemetery business.

The board would have supervision over all cemeteries in New Jersey and would have the power to review their rules and regulations, their trust funds and charges other than the sales prices of graves. It would be the arbiter of disputes between cemeteries and the public or vendors. Appropriate hearing procedures are spelled out in the bill.

Under the measure, cemeteries would be prohibited from selling or manufacturing allied items such as monuments, markers, bronze urns or vaults.

Salesmen would be permitted to represent cemeteries. There would be provisions for their examination and licensing. There also would be license fees for salesmen and clerks for cemeteries.

Business Patterns data made public

About 194,890 workers in Union County's nonfarming businesses earned taxable wages under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program, according to the latest edition of County Business Patterns, Ralph W. Jones, Social Security District Manager in Elizabeth said this week.

The 1972 reporting units of employers of nonfarm employees covered under the program paid out some $283,039,000 in taxable wages in the county during the first quarter of 1965. The report shows 300 of the employing units reported 100 or more workers each at this time. The largest proportion of employment, 97,948 workers, was in manufacturing, with 12,122 employed in electrical machinery firms.

The current edition of County Business Patterns is the 12th in a series showing county and industry statistics based on wage reports filed under the Federal social security program. This edition is divided into 53 parts contained in 53 separate books, one for each of the 50 States, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico, (which includes statistics for the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Guam).

The data are uniform and comparable from State to State and county to county and are shown for many kinds of business under the following broad industry groups: agricultural services, forestry, and fisheries; mining; contract construction; manufacturing; transportation and other public utilities; wholesale trade; retail trade; finance, insurance and real estate; and services. The publication shows the number and location of workers, the industries in which they are employed, and how much they are paid in taxable earnings. In addition to its use in administering the social security program, the publication furnished businessmen with data to evaluate private demand for both industrial and consumer products, is valuable in analyzing market potentials and establishing advertising and sales programs, in analyzing the industrial structure of regional areas, and in making base economic studies of small areas.

Reference copies of "County Business Patterns" may be examined at field offices of the U.S. Department of Commerce, at district and branch offices of the Social Security Administration, and at many public libraries. The complete set of 53 books of County Business Patterns, 1965, may be purchased at a cost of $36.30. Individual books can be obtained at a price ranging from $4.40 to $1.75 each. Orders may be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., or to any U.S. Department of Commerce field office.

Astronomers plan viewing for public

Amateur Astronomers, Inc., will conduct public viewing sessions every Friday evening at dusk throughout the summer at the William Miller Sperry Observatory on the Union Junior College campus in Cranford and at the Surprise Lake circle in the Watching Reservation. It was announced this week by Anthony Paone of Westfield, president.

Public viewing sessions will be conducted every Friday evening through Oct. 27, except on July 21.

Nestler said members of the group will decide the topics to be discussed in the coming school year. He said possible topics would be the role of the guidance counselor in curriculum development, audio-visual aids, the financing of post-high school education, and state legislation affecting counseling and counselors.

Nestler reported that county community colleges, salary differentials, and federal aid programs will be studied and acted upon by the association.

SMOOTH SURFACE

Smooth surface floor coverings are easy to care for and need only one of two basic kinds of floor waxes. Polishing wax, that must be buffed to a shine, or self-polishing wax, that dries shiny, can help with your floor care job. Buy the wax recommended for the type floor covering you have.

Members of Guild cited for service by state auxiliary

Two members of the Memorial General Hospital Volunteer Guild, Union, have been cited by the New Jersey Osteopathic Society Auxiliary Guild for "meritorious service and outstanding achievement" to the public, non-profit Union hospital.

Take time in selecting shoe-types

Shoes of some type are worn two-thirds of every day. Activities of walking, sitting or standing require comfortable shoes that fit correctly, says Car-Lyn L. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

When your feet hurt, your whole attitude can be one that is not indicative of yourself.

For all-day foot comfort, shoes must be carefully fitted. The first step toward good fit in shoes is to have your feet measured each time you buy a pair of shoes.

Stand up while the measurement is taken because your feet are naturally longer and wider while standing. Have each foot measured. Usually, both feet are not the same size, so it becomes necessary to fit the largest foot.

Always try on both shoes and walk around the area to check the fit. Correctly fitted shoes are comfortable from the beginning and do not have to be broken in.

Allow plenty of time to shop for shoes. If possible, select shoes in the afternoon, since feet tend to swell slightly after you have been on them awhile.

Different brands of shoes will fit your feet differently because all manufacturers do not use the same shaped last for any given size.

It may be possible that you would wear one size shoe in one brand and require another size for a different brand.

Shoe styles may influence the fit and comfort, too. Certain designs will fit better than others.

Shoes should fit snugly at the heel to hold the foot firmly in place. In a properly fitted shoe, the arch of the foot rests comfortably on the full length of the shoe shank.

When you stand, the shoe should extend one-half to three-fourths inch longer than the big toe. Remember that more length is needed for the current rounded toe version.

Inspect both shoes carefully for good workmanship. Make certain there are no wrinkles or rough spots inside the shoe to rub or irritate the foot or wear out hose.

If one shoe is too tight at any spot, it may be wiser to get another size or different brand. It is easier to fit a loose shoe than expand a tight one.

Think small.

Our little car isn't so much of a novelty any more. A couple of dozen college kids don't try to squeeze inside it.

The guy at the gas station doesn't ask where the gas goes.

Nobody even stares at our shape.

In fact, some people who drive our little flivver don't even think that about 27 miles to the gallon is going any great guns.

Or using 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

Or never needing anti-freeze.

Or racking up about 40,000 miles on a set of tires.

That's because once you get used to some of our economies, you don't even think about them any more.

Except when you squeeze into a small parking spot.

Or renew your small insurance. Or pay a small repair bill. Or trade in your old VW for a new one.

Think it over.

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

This message presented in the public interest by the following civic-minded firms:

You literally "bet your life" every time you drive too fast, try to beat a light, cut in and out of traffic, pass another car on a hill or curve! With the stakes so high and the odds so steep, does this kind of gamble make sense to you? Isn't it a lot better to drive with care... take a little longer to get where you're going... and ARRIVE ALIVE?

Ironically, on summer's happiest occasions (week-ends and holidays), the tragic toll of highway accidents zooms to the highest totals! Traffic is congested. Driving strain increases. Millions of good, bad and indifferent drivers are on the road, speeding, cutting in, weaving, challenging traffic controls. These are the times, above all to drive with EXTRA care... keep your temper... watch the other driver and bring your family home ALIVE!

A LOOK AT THE UN with Trudina Howard Sharing the limelight

In the five languages of the United Nation the big word this week was drossadiva - a revolt - so long - adios and whatever a farewell will be in Chinese. Premier Alexei Kosygin's departure on Monday left New York, New Jersey and the UN in a state of after-the-party blues...

THE YEARS PASS BY... AND RESPONSIBILITIES SHOW - Pictured on the left is Secretary-General of the United Nations U Thant as he sat on the floor of a crowded podium in 1962. On the right, U Thant is pictured at the UN four years later - a few months ago. Trudina Howard is standing nearby.

The funeral was on Monday, June 26, from the Wozniak Memorial Home, 120 Myrtle Ave., Irvington, N.J., where High Mass of Requiem was offered for the repose of her soul, Interment Holy Name Cemetery, Jersey City.

When we talk about transportation, it helps put New Jersey "on the road" to new prosperity. Competition between states for attracting new industry is intense. Public Service is right in the thick of the battle, telling America's industrial community why business succeeds in New Jersey. For example, we offer full details about New Jersey's excellent land-sea-air transportation system which gets products to market faster and more economically. Why do we advertise nationally to attract new business and industry to New Jersey? Because when a firm moves into our state, more jobs immediately become available. "New" money circulates... New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated. We feel there is no better way to contribute to the continuing growth, strength and prosperity of the Garden State. PUBLIC SERVICE ELECTRIC AND GAS COMPANY. # Asks accounting of sales tax 'excess'

Matthew J. Rinaldo, Republican candidate for Union County state senator, this week called on Governor Hughes to "account for the discrepancy between the sales tax collections and the amounts promised in the form of state aid."

"Several weeks ago I wrote Gov. Hughes asking for an accounting of sales tax revenues," Rinaldo explained. "Although I was not surprised at his failure to answer my letter personally, I was rather dismayed by the replies I did receive."

Rinaldo said he received a booklet stating that $128,497,160 would be spent from sales tax revenue this fiscal year for local education and roads. "However, another letter from Trenton informed me that $153,701,311 was realized in sales tax revenue during the first nine months of its imposition. At this rate, New Jersey tax collectors will extract more than $200 million in the first year of the sales tax operation. Where will the excess of approximately $75 million go?"

The Union County candidate maintained that Gov. Hughes has "still failed to give me the courtesy of an adequate accounting for this tremendous amount of money. How many unnecessary jobs will be created to fuel this political machine the Democrats are constructing in Trenton? How many unnecessary projects will be instituted with this money? I feel I deserve an answer to this question, and so do the people of New Jersey, who are footing the bill."

Union Junior College gets grant of $5,000

Union Junior College, Cranford, has been awarded a federal grant of $5,000 for the purchase of library materials. It was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president. The grant was made under Title II-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Prof. George P. Marks, III, of Roselle Park, college librarian, said the grant will be used to purchase about 800 additional books for the Dr. Arthur L. Johnson Memorial Library. A similar grant last year added about 900 books to the UJC library, Prof. Marks said.

Kaplowitz to speak at police program

Union County Prosecutor Leo Kaplowitz of Linden will be the guest speaker at graduation exercises next Wednesday, for the 1st annual session of the Union County Police Training Academy at the Cranford, Garwood, Kaplowitz will speak on "The Future of Law Enforcement as a Profession."

Fifty patrolmen from 16 police departments in Union, Morris, Middlesex, and Hudson counties are enrolled in the seven-week program, which opened May 22 at Union Junior College, Cranford.

Certificates for completing the basic training program will be presented to the graduates by Police Chief Michael Roy of the Elizabeth Police Department, educational coordinator for Union County, and William Cusack of the New Jersey Police Training Commission.

Police Chief Carl E. Harris of the New Providence Police Department, academy dean, announced that Patrolman William A. O'Leary of the Rahway Police Department is class president.

Police Chief John Savare of the Summit Police Department, president of the Union County Police Chiefs' Association, which sponsors the Police Training Academy, will preside at the graduation exercises.

2 units to sponsor meeting July 12

Tran Van Dinh, former acting ambassador from Vietnam to the United States, will speak on "The Third Choice in Vietnam" at a public meeting to be held July 12 at 8:30 p.m. in the Park Hotel Annex, Plainfield. In his talk, which is sponsored by the Westfield Area FACE and Plainfield SANE, Van Dinh will attempt to analyze the possibilities of democratic political opposition in the coming elections in South Vietnam.

Currently the representative of the Vietnamese Overseas Buddhist Association in the United States and Canada, Van Dinh represents those Vietnamese who reject both Marxism and the Vietnam and who support Buddhist values and political goals, a SANE spokesman said.

On July 11 Van Dinh will be interviewed at 10 p.m. on channel 13's "Newsfront Program." He will also make a tape-recorded interview for Radio Station WERA of Plainfield.
