Plans made for interfaith open house

Lourdes Church sends invitations for program

"Why do Catholics use holy water?" "What does a confessional look like?" "What are the Stations?" Non-Catholic neighbors will have an opportunity to have these questions answered at an inter-denominational open house on Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 at Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church, Central ave., Mountainside.

Invitations have been sent to churches and synagogues attended by Mountainside residents and to the Council of Churches of the area.

Guides will be on hand to show the visitors around, answer questions, explain dogma, describe the church interior, stations and statuary. In conjunction with the displays of sacred vessels and vestments, there will be a short explanation of the Mass and the sacraments. Refreshments will be served by women members in the auditorium.

Laymen sponsoring the program stated: "In this time of ecumenism, people of many different religious beliefs are becoming more and more interested in the beliefs and practices of those of a different faith."

"As we strive toward a resolution of the basic and grave problems facing our world—war, injustice and prejudice, the churches and synagogues are playing an increasingly important role in leading the secular domain."

"The more clearly each denomination understands the other, the easier it will be for all religions to present to the world a united spirit in the service of mankind."

Work of Legawiec to be presented in Pathways concert

A composition by Walter Legawiec, a Mountainside composer, violinist and music teacher, will be performed in a concert to be held Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer path, Mountainside. The program is one of two concerts being presented this season by Pathways in Music, a new organization dedicated to the performance of chamber music.

The composition to be presented is the "Andante" (second movement) from Legawiec's "First String Quartet." The quartet was written as a study of the sonata form when Legawiec was a student at Julliard School of Music. It was performed in New York at Times Hall in 1951.

Its performance prompted a New York Times critic to write: "The writing, for the four instruments was skillful. The ideas were well worked out. The piece had enough variety to be interesting. It moved forward with a good momentum and it had an underlying emotional tension that held it together and gave it substance."

Legawiec began his studies in violin and piano at a very early age. By the time he was in high school, he was performing in several orchestras and gave a program of his own, "An Evening With a Rising Young Composer," sponsored by the Pawtucket Women's Club. For two years Legawiec studied at Tanglewood under scholarships provided by the Koussevitzky Music Fund. He also studied under the late Grigor Fitelberg, conductor of the Warsaw Philharmonic Orchestra, during the two years Fitelberg was in New York. Later he studied violin and piano at Julliard School of Music. It was from Julliard that he received his degree.

In 1957 he received the Wassili Leps Foundation Award from Brown University for his composition "Episodes for Chorus," which he based on excerpts from Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass." In 1966 his "Alleluia" for chorus was given two performances—one at Bowdoin College and the other in Plainfield by the Plainfield Choral Society.

In February of this year, Legawiec gave a program of his works at the Kosciuszko Foundation in New York City. Included was the first public performance of his "Zal," an elegy for the late President Kennedy. Last June Legawiec appeared as violinist in the inaugural concert of Pathways in Music.

Tickets for the Nov. 19 concert will be available at the door.

Serves in Vietnam with the Marines

Marine Private First Class Frank J. Filippone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Filippone of 1079 Sunny View rd., Mountainside, is now serving with the First Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment, First Marine Division in the Vietnam battle zone.

The primary mission of the battalion is to conduct large scale search and destroy operations against the enemy. When not engaged in major operations, Marines of the battalion participate in company and platoon size sweeps through the battalion's area of responsibility in search of enemy infiltrators. The Marines also conduct patrols and ambushes during the day and night to keep the enemy off balance.

A graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, Pvt. Filippone entered the service in March 1967.

Irwin easy victor like rest of ticket

By an almost three-to-one majority, Mountainside voters put the Republican councilmanic candidates in office Tuesday. The big plurality reflected a strong GOP sweep throughout most of the state.

Louis Parent, running for the first time for elective office, polled 1,868 votes with his running mate, Councilman Donald Robertson, close behind him with 1,818 votes. Their Democratic opponents, Robert Sacharow and John Medevelle, tallied 647 and 620, respectively.

GOP Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, who ran unopposed for re-election to the post he has held since the summer of 1964, was top man on the local ballot with 1,975 votes.

Borough voters gave strong support to the entire Republican ticket, giving outgoing Councilman Charles Irwin 1,971 votes, compared to the 430 cast for Everett Lattimore of Plainfield, his Democratic opponent for the Union County Assemblyman-at-large seat.

Frank X. McDermott led the GOP slate for State Senator here, collecting 2,027 votes. His senatorial running mates, Nicholas S. La-Corte and Matthew J. Rinaldo, polled 1,951 and 1,909, respectively. The GOP candidates for the 9-C District Assembly seats, Peter J. McDonough and Hugo M. Praltz, tallied 2,049 and 1,959 respectively. The plurality for the Republican state and county candidates was almost four to one.

EACH OF THE FIVE districts in the borough went to the Republicans. Even District Four, which in the last few years has gone to the Democrats, gave the GOP ticket a strong plurality. The vote for the county and state ticket was somewhat stronger in all the districts than the vote for the local candidates, in some cases almost four to one.

The GOP victory was judged by most observers to be a strong vote of confidence in his administration since 1965, when he defeated his Democratic opponent, William Seeds, by only 112 votes. Others felt the local results were mostly attributable to the strong Republican tide that engulfed most of the state.

In any event, the results of Tuesday's election guarantee continued GOP monopoly of the borough government which has been in existence well over 30 years.

Mayor Wilhelms' term will run until the end of 1969. Parent and Robertson were elected to three-year terms.

WILHELMS WAS APPOINTED to the top governing post in the summer of 1964 after former Mayor Orin Johnson resigned. He was elected to the one-year unexpired term the following November and re-elected to a full two-year term in November, 1965. A graduate of Lafayette College, he is the president of Wilhelms Construction Co. of Elizabeth. A Mountainside resident for about

Grand Old Party gathers 'gratefully' to celebrate successful sweep at polls

Jubilant and festivity reigned in the Mountainside Inn Tuesday night when more than 200 Republicans gathered to toast the reelection of Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. and Councilman Don Robertson and the victory of a newcomer to politics, Louis Parent, by a majority vote of three to one.

Mayor Wilhelms, who was unopposed, jokingly told the audience, "It was a tough fight but I won!" He added, "It just goes to prove if good candidates are put up, and the people continue to work as they have in this campaign, we can think next year, in terms of putting our candidates into office on a state and national level."

The mayor expressed "gratitude at the 'splendid vote of confidence' the community gave the candidates offered by the GOP and said that with an all-Republican mayor and council, "we can carry out our programs to a successful conclusion."

Robertson also expressed thanks at being returned to office and stated, "I respect the voters' confidence in me which now makes it possible to work in close harmony to accomplish the job we all want to see done, and to continue Mountainside policies made over the years."

Parent stated, "I am especially pleased and gratified, particularly since I am a newcomer to politics, and I hereby pledge my full efforts to the welfare of the community. There is a big job to be done yet, but I have every confidence we can bring to fruition the program initiated by the Republican form of government we have."

He also said he intended to continue the effort to keep Mountainside "the finest community in the state of New Jersey," Wilfred H. Brandt, president of the council and campaign manager for the Republican candidates, told the Echo he was very happy at the outcome of the election and strongly felt that the policies and programs of the Republican candidates and the caliber of the candidates justified the victory.

Thomas J. Ricciardi, of 356 Creek Bed rd., asked for a moment of silence to express his feelings. He said "I want to thank our mayor and council for the fantastic job they have done."

Democrats to continue fight for representation

The Mountainside Democrats, who were stumped last year when their four-man ticket went down to the Republican team, were less surprised by the trouncing the borough voters gave their two Council candidates, Robert Sacharow and John Medevelle, on Tuesday.

The county committeeman, William Seeds, attributed the almost three-to-one pasting of the Democratic team to the Republican tide that swept the state.

Sacharow and Medevelle, in a prepared statement, expressed their regret at the defeat but pledged to continue their fight for two-party representation in local government. Their campaign manager, H. R. Cardoni, praised both men for the hard campaign they had waged "against rough odds." He stated that the borough taxpayers would shortly see the steep rise in taxes predicted by the Democratic candidates team in their campaign.

Sacharow and Medevelle, both running for the first time for elective office, were write-in candidates on the Democratic ticket in the September primary. The party had entered no ticket for the primary.

Sacharow, who lives at 1500 Force dr. with his wife and two daughters, operates an independent general insurance agency. A Mountainside resident since 1957, he is a graduate of Rutgers University and is now completing studies for his charter underwriter degree.

A graduate of Cornell University, Medevelle is director of food services in the Elizabeth school system. He lives with his wife and four children on Brookside drive. The family moved to Mountainside six years ago.

Young people learning religion for every-day life

By PAT DONALDSON
Religious training designed for practical everyday living is the new theme in the religious education course at Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church, Mountainside.

The Rev. Raymond Aumack, assistant pastor, this week discussed a change in the curriculum for pre-school and public school students through high school, as developed by the parish. Attendance is voluntary, with courses assigned for the entire year.

As opposed to last year when the course was designed around text books and based on the public school semester system, Father Aumack said, the classes will be conducted through the showing of films and discussion only.

Instruction for pre-school to 12th grade students will be based on religious instruction, morality and ethics. Sessions will be held on Sunday mornings for the pre-school and lower grade grammar school pupils. Upper grade children's classes are scheduled for after-school-hours on Mondays.

On the high school level, students will be required to take two designated courses of eight weeks each, with three elective courses. Freshmen's required courses are "Introduction to Christian Morality" and "Christian Formation." Sophomore's topics will be "Life of Christ" and "Christian Leadership." Elective courses for both classes will be "Understanding of the Mass," "Ecumenism" and "Sex Attitudes."

The subject chosen for juniors in their first course is "Sacraments," and seniors will study "Life of a Christian." The combined course for both classes will be "Course in Basic Christian Attitudes." The first half-hour each session for juniors and seniors will be the showing of a film, with the remaining half-hour devoted to discussion with a teacher moderating.

ALSO REQUIRED for juniors and seniors, Father Aumack said is an eight-week course of films with classes broken down into groups of 10 with a teacher moderating each group. The groups are:

Class One - "The Young Americans," part one; discussions of teen-age problems, dating, sex, parents, marriage, school, God;

Class Two - "The Young Americans," part two; discussion of apathy, concern and involvement in the world from a teen-age point of view;

Class Three - "The Playboy and the Christian," narrated by Harvey Cox, discusses "contrasting views of materialism in our lives" and explores the role of the church;

Class Four - "Lonely Boy - The story of Paul Anka," discusses the "futility of success and certain false values."

AIMING THE LIGHT—The Rev. Raymond Aumack operates projector for film strips used in the revised curriculum for the high school religion classes conducted in Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, Mountainside, by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Viewing the film,

Class Five - "A Time for Burning," a portrait of the American conscience struggling with tensions created by America's revolution in racial relationships;

Class Six - "A Time out of War," discusses war and peace.

Class Seven - "A Valparaiso," a study on poverty, contrasting wealth and poverty of a Chilean port town;

Class Eight - "Sixteen in Webster Groves," one of several selected for the course to help the young people relate their Christian faith to affirmative action in the modern world, are Janice Heimlich and Ed Soltysik, students, and Sister Roseanne and Mrs. Robert French, members of the church high school faculty.

discusses the attitudes of 16-year-olds growing up in an affluent suburban community.

ROBERT VENTURA of Mountainside, a high school principal, is running the program with Mrs. Ventura acting as his secretary, Father Aumack announced. The executive board is composed of Edward Reilly, president; Russell Cardoni, treasurer; Sister Roseanne, O.P., Principal, and Mrs. Paula Gotch,

Two nuns and 26 lay teachers are in charge of the program for grade school students, with Father Aumack and Sister Roseanne assisted by 20 lay teachers in directing and teaching high school pupils.

Father Aumack spoke proudly of community cooperation. He feels the success of last year can be exceeded for his more than 500 pupils under the newly instituted program.

Launch drive here for repatriation of prisoners of war

A drive to collect thousands of signatures on petitions urging the government to make a concerted effort for the repatriation of American servicemen imprisoned in Vietnam has been launched by Mr. and Mrs. James T. Egan of Fair View drive, Mountainside. Mr. and Mrs. Egan, whose son Lt. James T. Egan Jr. has been missing since January, 1966, when his Marine patrol was ambushed in Vietnam, have already put 500 petitions in circulation all over the country. Five hundred more will be sent out within a short time.

The Egan's hope to have the petitions, signed by thousands of Americans in most of the states, returned in time to deliver them to the nation's capital by Dec. 1. Operating under the title of P. O. W. Repatriation, the Egan's are underwriting the total cost of printing and mailing the petitions and all other expenses involved.

Petitions have been distributed in many churches in Mountainside and Westfield. Mrs. Egan indicated.

The sheets "urgently petition an end to apathy and a concerted effort on the part of our government and its related agencies" for the repatriation of American servicemen. Those interested in signing the petitions or in helping collect signatures are asked to write to P. O. W. Repatriation, P. O. Box 1084, Mountainside, N.J. 07092.

MRS. AND MRS. EGAN received word that their son was listed as missing on Jan. 21, 1966. They were informed that his patrol had been ambushed and that he was "presumably wounded and taken prisoner." They have not heard a word from him since.

Mrs. Egan has written to her son at least once a week since then. She writes to his service address, to countries adjacent and distant to Vietnam, any place where she hears, through various sources; that American prisoners are possibly being held. The fact that none of the letters have been mailed back to her gives her hope that some of them may be reaching him.

Lt. Egan, a graduate of Pingry School and Notre Dame University, was promoted to the rank of Marine captain in March of this year. His family has been advised. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps in June, 1964, after graduation from Notre Dame. He was sent overseas to Vietnam in May, 1965.

Contract awarded for cover to pool

A contract in the amount of $3,949 was awarded to Mac Arthur Swimming Pool Products of 112 Jacobus ave., S. Kearny, to sell and install a cover for the municipal swimming pool, at a special meeting of the Mountainside mayor and Borough Council on Monday night.

The Mac Arthur Company submitted the lowest sealed bid at the Oct. 23 meeting. The motion to accept the bid was introduced by Fred Swingle Jr. and seconded by B. Dean Spain.

In other business, a motion to accept the resignation of Patrolman Charles Kelly was introduced by Charles J. Irwin and seconded by Wilfred H. Brandt. Upon the recommendation of Chief of Police Chief Christian Fritz, the mayor and council accepted the resignation effective as of Oct. 27, 1967. No reason was given for the resignation of Kelly.

PROFILE---Mrs. Joan Montgomery

The success of the string instrumentation course which she introduced at the Beachwood and Echobrook schools last year has been a source of great pride to Mrs. Joan Montgomery, music teacher for the fourth and fifth graders at the school.

Born in Reading, Pa., she moved with her family to Lancaster, Pa., when she was a very small child. There she attended elementary schools and was graduated from Manheim Township High School, Lancaster.

While still a student, she then Joan Bally was chosen from a large group of students to represent Manheim at the Pennsylvania All State Orchestra in Sharon.

Mrs. Montgomery, who does not come from a musical family credits her interest in music to "my dynamic high school music teacher, who encouraged me to pursue a career in this field." Upon graduation from high school, she entered Temple University, later transferring to West Chester State College, West Chester, Pa., where she majored in strings and was graduated with a B.S. in Music Education.

SPECIALIZING in the violin and cornet, she played second violinist with the Lancaster Symphony Orchestra and the Olney Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Montgomery says her program here is geared to small groups. With the exception of the piano, all legitimate orchestral instruments which the children can rent are taught.

When the children become qualified, they are formed into orchestras which play for school assemblies and hold a recital at the end of each school year. Orchestra members are also chosen from youngsters not attending school classes provided they are qualified on strings.

Mrs. Montgomery says she is "delighted" with the response to the program and sees great potential in all of her 113 students.

Before moving to Gillette two years ago Mrs. Montgomery taught music in Phoenixville, Pa., and Jericho, L.I.N.Y. Mrs. Montgomery married her college sweetheart, Michael Montgomery, and is the mother of two boys, aged two and seven. Her husband is assistant professor of music at Newark State College, Union, and also is the organist for St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Morristown, which the family attends.

17 years, he lives with his wife and three children on Fox trail.

Appointed to the Council in September, 1966, after Councilman William McCurley resigned, Robertson was elected to the unexpired one-year term last November. A graduate of Panzer College (now merged with Montclair State), he earned his master's degree in administration and guidance at Seton Hall University. He is principal of a grammar school in Irvington. The Robertsons moved to their present home on Corinne terrace 13 years ago. They have four children.

Parent, who was named as a GOP candidate last July after Councilman Irwin withdrew from the local race to accept the nomination for the Assemblyman-at-large seat, holds a bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania State University and did advanced study at Newark College of Engineering and Rutgers University. He is purchasing agent for Johnson and Johnson, Inc. He lives on Woodacres drive with his wife and three children.

Kurz is promoted by college ROTC

Arthur A. Kurz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph G. Kurz, 10 High Point dr., Mountainside is being promoted to the rank of staff sergeant in the ROTC department of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

Kurz, a junior, studying for a degree in business administration, is presently enrolled in the advanced course of the Army Reserve Training Corps program.

The third year of this program familiarizes officer-candidates with leadership techniques, Army communications, summer camp orientation and small unit tactics. Upon graduation from college and the successful completion of the four-year military science course, cadets are eligible for commissioning as second lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve.

Brownie troop holds investiture ceremony

Twelve girls recently became Brownies at a recent special investiture meeting of Brownie Troop 750 of Mountainide. Mrs. Franklin L. Umber and Mrs. Thomas Gunn conducted the ceremony, assisted by second-year Brownies Elizabeth McPhee, Patricia Laskewski and Barbara Van Benschoten.

Those invested included Tammy Basilio, Sharon Fox, Patricia Greeley, Jennifer Gunn, Diane Heinze, Teresa MacArthur, Elizabeth Martin, Beth Masters, Theresa Pellegrini, Cindy Quinn, Robin Umber and Mary Lillian Willis. Ann Indick, who was absent, was invested this week. A cook-out and games followed.

Nature trip made by grade students

Thirty Deerfield School seventh-grade students left by bus recently for Stokes State Forest, where they spent a nature weekend. The trip included a visit to Tilman's Ravine and Beaver Dam.

The habits of beavers were observed, news collected and other living specimens were studied under the microscope. Movies were shown of the western U.S. and the summer school outdoor science program which was held at the school in 1966 and 1967.

Highlights of the trip were dancing the Virginia Reel, and rowing and canoeing on the lake. Teachers who volunteered their time and effort to make the trip possible were: Mrs. Virginia T. Foulke, Dorothy Phillips, Stephen Savel and Edwin Sjonell.

AAUW group attends 'America's Hurrah'

Several members of the Mountainide Branch of the American Association of University Women will attend a matinee performance of an off-Broadway show, "America's Hurrah," Sunday.

The group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Mako, is studying the topic, "Society's Reflection in the Arts." "America's Hurrah" was chosen because it depicts modern American society. Future plans include trips to other plays, dance presentations and other cultural events.

College honor society elects Katherine Ingate

Katherine Ingate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ingate of Wood Valley rd., Mountainide, a sophomore at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, majoring in fine arts, has been elected to Cwens, a sophomore women's honor society.

She is captain of the women's varsity tennis team and serves as a volunteer at Pressley House, Pittsburgh, a home for emotionally disturbed children. Miss Ingate is a graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

Unitarians meet Sunday

"The Freedom to Be Different" will be discussed by Ted Smith at Sunday morning's meeting of the Unitarian Fellowship of Westfield. The meeting is scheduled to open at 10:30 a.m. in the Westfield YMCA. Child care will be available during the service hour. Church School is scheduled at the same hour.

Enrolled at academy

Four Mountainide students are enrolled for the current academic term at Newark Academy, South Orange avenue, Livingston. They are Beau S. Bossert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Highlanders meet Kenilworth; salute the Armed Forces

A salute to the Armed Forces of the U.S. will be the theme of the half-time show of the Kenilworth - Governor Livingston Regional football game Saturday according to Lynn Blecker, bandmaster of David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth.

Joining with the Brearley "Bears" will be the Highlander band of Governor Livingston under the direction of Forrest A. Bartlett.

Color guards representing the Armed Forces and color guards from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars from communities whose students attend the two regional high schools will appear with the bands.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Mayors William Ahern of Kenilworth; Frederick Wilhelms, Mountainide; David Dally, Berkeley Heights, and Edward Tiller, Garwood, and county commissioners of the veterans' organizations.

Commanders from Berkeley Heights, Mountainide and Garwood and local Vietnam veterans are expected to be on hand.

Highlight of the program will be a rendition by the Highlander Girl Pipers of "Mist Covered Mountains," a favorite of the late President John F. Kennedy, which was played by the U.S. Air Force Pipe Band at the graveside ceremonies.

Game time is 2 p.m. at Kenilworth. Governor Livingston is now tied for first place in the Watching Conference.

Rabbi from Israel to speak at temple

Rabbi Melvin Zager, spiritual leader of two Reform Synagogues in Israel, will speak Nov. 10 at Temple Emanu-El of Westfield on "The Religious Crisis in Israel." His address will be part of the Sabbath service which begins at 8:15 p.m. The public is invited.

Rabbi Zager has lived in Israel since 1963 when he founded synagogues in Kfar Shmaryahu and in Tel Aviv. He has been leading the effort to establish a liberal movement of Judaism in Israel and is acquainted with the problems of interpreting Reform Judaism to the Israeli whose background is usually orthodox or secular. Chairman of the Israeli Progressive Rabbis' Association, he is listed in Who's Who in Israel.

Serves as captain of soccer team at Duke University

Dave Jubanowsky of Mountainide, who played varsity soccer at Governor Livingston Regional High School during his sophomore, junior and senior years, is co-captain of Duke University's undefeated soccer team. Jubanowsky, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jubanowsky of 310 Indian trail, tallied four goals in the first four games of the season.

Duke's booters blanked Appalachian State 2-0 at Boone in their season opener and followed with victories over Pfeiffer (4-1), Clemson at Clemson (5-2) and Virginia 2-1 on the home field on Oct. 20.

Jubanowsky, now a senior at Duke, was graduated from Governor Livingston High School in 1964. In addition to playing varsity soccer, he was on the regional high's varsity basketball and baseball teams during his junior and senior years. He was also president of the Student Council and a member of the Key Club during his senior year.

Schwartz cited by firm

Erwin Schwartz of 200 Glen rd., Mountainide, an employee in the surfactants and chemical specialties department of General Aniline & Film Corp., Linden, was cited recently for 30 years of service with the firm.

Mountainside firm helps make newspaper history

A Mountainside firm, Multhead Instruments, Inc., on Bristol road, assisted in the recent transmission of a complete page of a newspaper across the Atlantic via satellite.

The newspaper page, including pictures and words, was transmitted across the Atlantic on the morning of Oct. 17 via satellite from London to San Juan, Puerto Rico, using facsimile transmitting and receiving equipment. The transmission took less than 14 minutes. This was the first time that a newspaper page has been sent by satellite, thus opening up an important new method of speeding newspaper distribution over long distances.

The front page of London's Daily Express was transmitted from the paper's Fleet Street office by a facsimile transmitter system. The transmitter, via cable and microwave systems to the GPO's Gonhill Earth Station, then by COMSAT's Early Bird Satellite to Mill Village, Canada. From there, it was relayed to a Multhead receiver in San Juan. The page is received as a film negative from which a printing plate can be made at the El Mundo newspaper office.

The demonstration was given while hundreds of delegates were attending the Inter-American Press Association's annual conference in San Juan. Engineering support for the demonstration was provided by Multhead Instruments, Inc. of Mountainside, an associate company of the Multhead Group of Companies.

A complete page is wrapped around a drum on the transmitter and a beam of light traverses the drum, illuminating a small square of the page. The drum revolves and the whole page is scanned in the form of a spiral. Light from a minute area of this square is reflected through a precision optical system and used to control the electrical output of a photocell.

The amplitude of the output signal depends upon whether the scanning beam falls on white paper or print, including the dots in the halftones. Signals can be transmitted over telephone, microwave or satellite circuits, or a combination of these, and fed into the receiver. Here the signals excite a cathode tube which produces a beam of light whose brightness is dependent upon the amplitude of the input signal.

This "light source" is focused upon a sheet of photographic film large enough to accommodate the whole page. The film is attached to another drum on the receiver and the light beam traverses it in the form of a spiral, as in the transmitter. Exposing of the film takes place within a light-tight box and the film is developed and fixed in the usual way, ready for offset or letter-press platemaking.

Landmark in area, Geiger Cider Mill, destroyed by blaze

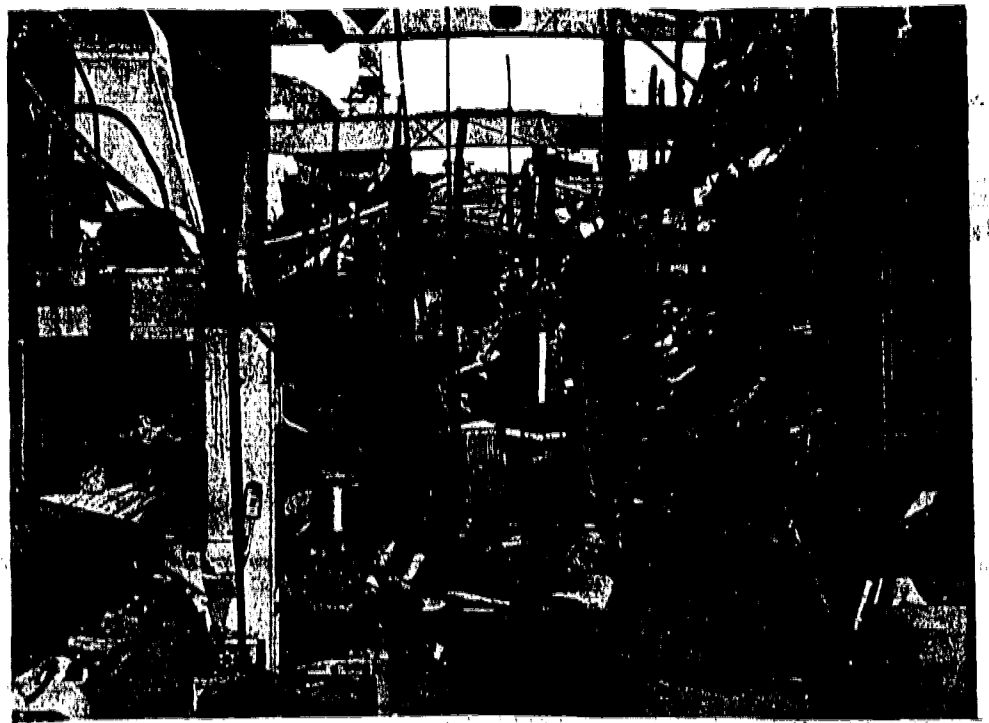

Only the shell of a famed landmark was left standing when the Geiger Cider Mill on S. Springfield avenue, Westfield, went up in flames in the early morning hours last Friday.

Spotted by Mountainside police who alerted the Westfield Fire department, the three-alarm fire was brought under control in two hours, but was not completely extinguished until five hours later.

Chief M.D. Burke of the Westfield Fire department stated Squad No. 1, truck No. 1 and Engines Nos. 3-4-5 of his department, assisted by a pump from the Springfield Fire Department, were used to put the fire out. The Mountainside Fire Department and an engine from the Plainfield Fire department stood by as an emergency precaution. The cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Mrs. Bruce A. Geiger of Saddle Brook rd., Mountainside, wife of one of the owners of the family business, commented that the mill and bakery were completely gutted, and the restaurant so damaged by smoke and water damage it was doubtful if any of the equipment could be salvaged.

Mrs. Geiger also said the loss in the approaching holiday seasonal business was incalculable, but expressed gratitude that no one had been injured. The family plans to rebuild.

Newcomers plan night to 'swing'

The Mountainside Newcomers Club will turn the hands of the clock back to the days of the "Roaring Twenties" when it presents its "Brass Hat Review," on Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at Ciro's in Springfield.

Frank Troy, who has appeared on the Merv Griffin show, will headline and preside over the hour-long show of comedy, music and dancing. Anyone interested in purchasing tickets or in taking part in the show can do so by calling Mrs. Joseph O'Donnell at 232-0157 or Mrs. John Allan, at 232-4581.

Health board holds hearing Monday on new ordinance

Mountainside's Board of Health will hold a public hearing on ordinances amending the borough's plumbing and sanitary codes Monday at 7 p.m. in Borough Hall. The hearing will be the first public discussion on any part of the codification and updating of all borough ordinances, a project started almost two years ago.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelmus Jr. has announced that the codification and updating of all ordinances should be completed by the end of this year.

Dr. Henry Langheinz, president of the Board of Health, said earlier this week that he has had no indication of residents' reaction to the proposed changes which were announced in the Oct. 26 issue of the Echo.

The proposed sanitary code would prohibit the open burning of any garbage or waste, including leaves, and bar the keeping of horses, colts or ponies on premises that do not exceed three acres. It also spells out changes in regulations on the serving of food and drink, health requirements for food handlers, deletes the section on ice delivery and raises the charges for fees and fines.

Maximum fines for violations under the proposed changes in the sanitary code would be raised from $100 to $500. Minimum fines would be increased from two to five dollars.

The proposed plumbing code would delete the section banning the installation of garbage disposal units in the borough. However, according to Dr. Langheinz, this deletion does not imply that it would become permissible to install such units in the borough. Under the borough's sewage agreement with Cranford, garbage disposal units are forbidden. Dr. Langheinz said the inclusion of the ban in the plumbing code is "redundant," he stated.

The plumbing code changes would raise the examination fees for plumbers seeking licenses to work in the borough from $15 to $50. Fees for the inspection of plumbing and drainage systems, sewer lines and other plumbing work would also be raised.

It also spells out some changes in regulations for the installation, maintenance, extension and alteration of all pipings, fixtures, appliances and appurtenances for sanitary drainage, storm drainage, storm-water and sewage systems. It would also raise the working capacity of septic tanks from the present 250 gallon minimum to 700 gallons.

Wet leaves blamed in three-car pile-up

A three car pile-up occurred last Friday morning at the corners of New Providence and Wood Acres roads, Mountainside, when Nancy Shapiro, of 131 Lansdowne ave., Westfield, stopped her car to make a left turn, police said.

Herbert A. Berghof of 1357 Stony Brook rd., Mountainside, also attempting to turn left, crashed into the back of the Shapiro car, and in turn had the back of his car rammed by W. D. Hallock of Scotch Plains, the report added.

According to the Mountainside police, Berghof stated Mrs. Shapiro failed to use her signal light and in jamming on his brakes, he skidded on wet leaves. Hallock also placed the blame on wet leaf skidding. No injuries resulted, and damage to the three cars was minimal. No summonses were issued.

Pledges at Wisconsin

Krist V. Thorsen of 327 Forest Hill way, Mountainside, has pledged to Gamma Phi Beta, a social sorority at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Thorsen is one of 295 students at the university who have been invited to pledge the Wisconsin chapters of the 16 sororities on the campus.

Library donation honors Mrs. Feeley's memory

Hastings "Dictionary of the Bible" has been presented to the Mountainside Public Library in memory of Mrs. Frank Feeley Jr., a Mountainside resident who had been active in church work for many years.

Two other reference volumes, "American Junior Colleges" (seventh edition), and the 1967 supplement of Grollier's "Encyclopedia Science" were added to the library collection during the month of October. Three biographies, Martin Ebon's "Svetlana," D. C. Wilson's "Handicap Race" and Ray Stuart's compilation of "In Memorials of the Screen," were purchased for the library shelves during that same time period.

Non-fiction volumes added last month include: "The Psychology of Anxiety," Eugene E. Levitt; "The Best of Fact," published by Fact; "The Money Managers," Investment Company Institute; "Crime and Justice in America," Congressional Quarterly Service; "Inside the F.B.I.," Norman Ollestad; "Murder One," Dorothy Kilgallen; "New Light on Juvenile Delinquency," Ronald Steal; "Geometry for the Practical Man," J. GARY'S CORNER WEEKLY SPORTS FEATURE

by GARY LESSING, Manager SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE

"I have to make the decision," he said, "I must write full time or go back to weight lifting as a fulltime profession." The decision was up to Yurt Vlasov, heavyweight weightlifting champion of the world from the Soviet Union, Olympic champion and record-setter who is often claimed to be the strongest man in the world.

Vlasov quietly describes the "moment" all sportsmen await, the time when "the peak of a tremendous effort is reached and the blood pounds and suddenly everything is quiet inside you and everything seems clearer and whiter than ever before, as if great spotlights have been turned on, and it's then that you have the conviction that you contain all the power in the world and that you are capable of doing anything, and that everything you do will be right; that you have wings, given by God only to you.

"There is no more precious moment in life," he said. "This a moment not given to everyone because many don't try to touch it, and many wouldn't recognize it if they were to taste it. You and your conviction are one. And only you know it. I touched these moments often in sports. Then I started to write, and I touched them again, in a more satisfying way. I found a faith I didn't have before. A more intense emotion which in a story of mine I called the 'salty pleasure of the white moment'."

Then it was taken from Vlasov. He had abandoned weight lifting for writing, and then his faith in his writing faltered. The more he wrote, the more "artificial" his words became. Desperately he tried to recapture the white moment on paper. But he couldn't. And so, he's gone back to weight lifting in an attempt to restore his self confidence.

This is a continuing story. It was told to us this week by a visitor to our shop, and the end is in the making now. Vlasov's only fear is that the pleasure of his sport may have passed with time, and the pleasure of those white moments on paper may never return.

"Maybe," he says, "only the salt remains."

Visitors to our shop are coming in now for their snow tires, and their decisions are wise ones for when the blizzard comes, the rush will be overwhelming, and tire stocks will be zeroed out early. So stop in now while everything's going for you, including low prices.

Executive serves as fund drive aide

Bart A. Oberhauser of Mountainside is one of three executives "loaned" by industry and commerce in the area to work as unpaid aides in the current fund drive of the United Fund of Eastern Union County. Goal is $706,000.

Oberhauser and the other two aides will spend the equivalent of two weeks, full time, spread over a number of weeks, contacting firms in the industry "B" division. Both corporate gifts and payroll deduction giving among employees are being sought in the drive.

A personnel assistant at Bristol-Myers Products, Oberhauser is a graduate of Frederick College, Portsmouth, Va., and is studying this year at Rutgers University for a master's degree in industrial psychology. He was with Caryll, Inc., and Bache and Co. Inc., New York City, before joining Bristol-Myers.

Named delegate to chem caravan

Russell Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hahn, 1541 Coles ave., Mountainside, has been chosen as the 1967 delegate from Governor Livingston Regional High School to the annual "Chemical Caravan," sponsored by the Chemical Industrial Council, New Jersey, to be held at Rutgers University on Nov. 17.

High school students outstanding in scientific research will attend the caravan to examine the importance of careers in the environmental sciences, and man's relationship to his environment. The program will include talks, lectures, demonstrations and tours of chemical plants. Luncheon will be served.

Members of the selected group are all from New Jersey high schools with excellent science departments, and were chosen on the basis of ability, interest, maturity and experience. Each student has had at least one year of chemistry and is presently enrolled at his high school as a junior or a senior.

Exams scheduled for summer work

Examinations for summer jobs in the Post Office and other federal agencies have been scheduled for Dec. 9, Jan. 13, Feb. 10, and March 9, 1968, as announced by the Civil Service Commission recently.

This examination is open to any United States citizen. The minimum age is 18, but this requirement is waived for high school graduates who are at least 16. The examination will measure vocabulary, reading comprehension, abstract reasoning and table and chart interpretation.

All eligibles from the 1967 office and science assistant and seasonal assistant examinations, including all appointees to summer jobs in 1967, must recompute by taking the 1968 summer employment examination.

Applications can be secured at any Post Office in New Jersey, or from Michael Stefan, examiner-in-charge, Post Office, 310 N. Broad st., Elizabeth, N. J. 07207.

Evergreen's lead narrows to 1 game

Kroyer's Crates and Cross Country Realty, tied for second place in the Mountainside Women's Bowling League with 22 victories and 14 losses, are just one game behind the pace-setter, Evergreen Lodge. Evergreen dropped all three games while the runner-up teams both scored sweep victories last week. Standings of other teams follow: Provident Mutual 20-16; Blitwise Liquors 17-19; Betz Motors 14-22; Rau Meats 13-23; D. J. Hartnett 13-23.

Tomorrow is deadline for sending packages overseas by regular mail

Packages going overseas by surface methods should be in the mail by tomorrow. Acting Postmaster Elsie Shimonis of Westfield announced this week. Urging residents to cooperate with the Post Office's "Mail Early Campaign," Mrs. Shimonis stated that this deadline applies to packages going to personnel of the armed forces overseas, members of their families and U.S. civilian employees overseas who receive their mail through APO or FPO in New York, San Francisco or Seattle.

Deadline for air mailing packages overseas is Dec. 11; under the "space-available" program for surface mailing of packages the deadline is Dec. 11.

Newark resident sought on warrant

A warrant was issued in Mountainside's Municipal Court last week for a Newark woman who failed to appear to answer charges on a variety of motor vehicles violations. The alleged violator, Mary E. Anderson, forfeited a total of $180 in bail which she had posted on June 2 when the charges were made against her.

In the same court session, Morris Jacobs of Rockaway paid $35 for not displaying the name and address of the owner on a commercial vehicle. Richard De Stefano of Somerville was fined $15 for overdue inspection and paid $10 in contempt for not answering the original summons.

Mrs. Shimonis also issued the following instructions for packing and wrapping parcels bound overseas: All articles should be packed in boxes of wood, metal, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiberboard. All fiberboard boxes should be securely wrapped in heavy paper which materially strengthens the package. Each box should be well tied with strong cord. Sufficient cushioning material should be used to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package. Unless tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed. A slip showing list of contents, and the name and address of sender and addressee should be enclosed in the parcel. Customs declarations forms completed by senders are required on parcels to many destinations.

THE UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

Guantanamo, 1898

The United States Marines, who are adding another glorious chapter to their history, in Vietnam, are celebrating their 192nd anniversary. With the memory of Tarawa, Iwo Jima and Korea still fresh, the Marines continue their proud heritage in the jungles and rice paddies of Vietnam.

192ND BIRTHDAY MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDANT OF THE MARINE CORPS

As we near fulfillment of a second century of service to our Country and our Corps, United States Marines - past and present - can take prideful inventory of our Corps' accomplishments and its contributions to the development and welfare of the greatest Nation on earth.

The occasion of the 192nd birthday of the Marine Corps is a time for reflection on the past, to pay tribute to our predecessors "who set the watch." It is also time to view the present and look into the future to assure that the watch remains eternal.

Although fighting his Country's battles is a Marine's profession, it is not his preoccupation. It is not for him to make war, but to keep the peace. This anniversary, however, finds Marines in fierce combat, as they have been on many anniversaries past. But it is my fervent hope and desire that all of us will be able to mark future birthdays in an environment of peace - and at home.

To those Marines now serving in Vietnam, I send special greetings and personal wishes for Godspeed in the pursuit of their tasks. To all Marines and their loved ones - everywhere - I say thank you for making the past year in our Corps' history every bit as illustrious as those before.

Capt. Ebert urges probe of Goddard talk on drugs

Union Police Capt. Donald J. Ebert, president of the New Jersey Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association is supporting a call for a Congressional investigation into what he called "irresponsible statements" made by Dr. James Goddard, Food and Drug Administration commissioner, in "minimizing" the danger of marijuana.

Capt. Ebert reported that the Union County Medical Society has requested Rep. Florence Dwyer, a member of the Intergovernmental Relations Sub-Committee, to start the investigation.

"I have sent a wire to Mrs. Dwyer voicing the objections of our association concerning Dr. Goddard's statements and supporting the request for an inquiry into Dr. Goddard's irresponsibility," the Union police officer said.

He said Dr. Goddard "minimized the dangers involved in the use of marijuana" in a speech at the University of Minnesota on Oct. 17.

These statements "were not only irresponsible for a man in his position but were highly deleterious to law enforcement's efforts to reduce trafficking and use of this dangerous drug," Capt. Ebert said. He added:

"Dr. Goddard exceeded his sphere of responsibility of pharmaceutical drugs and infringed on other areas of law enforcement. He is not responsible for the control of marijuana, but his official position results in considerable import and acceptance of his comments by an innocent and uninformed public. I hesitated initially to issue a statement concerning this matter so as not to enlarge the original excessive publicity, but I feel I must do so now as a result of other groups becoming concerned about his conduct.

The state association which Capt. Ebert heads is an affiliate of the International Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association.

Practical nurses get caps, bands

Twenty-eight practical nurses, representing the junior and senior classes at Union County Technical Institute, were capped or banded at a ceremony at Elizabeth General Hospital. The students receive most of their clinical training at the hospital.

Junior students capped included Miss Mary Grace Mooney of Roselle, Miss Janet F. Sabo of Linden and Mrs. Alma Santantello of Union.

Senior students who received bands for their caps included Miss Barbara Gerhart of Kenilworth, Miss Barbara J. Reifmeyer of Springfield and Miss Eileen Traut of Union.

Urban league gets new exec director

Charles B. Redd has been named to succeed Jim Wilson as executive director of the Urban League of Union County. He began in his new position last week.

Redd, 37, was formerly executive director of the Marion, Ind., Urban League. A graduate of West Virginia State College, he took graduate training at the Detroit Institute of Technology and Wayne State University.

Prior to joining the executive ranks of the Urban League, Redd was a probation officer for the juvenile court in Marion, Ind., and a public aid worker with the Department of Public Welfare in Detroit.

Ice Skating competition at Warinanco Nov. 18

The second annual Union County ice skating talent competition will be held Saturday, Nov. 18, at 9 a.m. at the Warinanco Park ice skating center.

The competition is sponsored by the Union County Figure Skating Club and the Union County Park Commission. Entry blanks are available at the center.

School journalists to attend TB parley

High school journalists from public and parochial schools in Union County will participate in a High School Press Conference sponsored by the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey, a tri-county organization supported by the Christmas Seal Campaign serving Union, Monmouth and Hudson counties, this morning.

The conference, to be held at 10 o'clock in the Campus Center Auditorium at Union College, Cranford, is part of a nationwide program, now in its 31st year, co-sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press and the National Tuberculosis Associations, a spokesman said.

A panel composed of authorities from the fields of tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases and health careers, will discuss the various aspects of their specific professions. The discussions will provide factual background information for the student-journalists, who will be asked to write news and feature articles for their respective school publications.

Participating panelists include Dr. Donald M. Sackler, N.J. State Department of Health, Dr. Alan N. Jacobs, U.S. Public Health Service, Bertell Wright, N.J. State Department of Health Metropolitan District and William M. Weaver, a member of the Board of Directors of the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey, who will serve as moderator.

9,156 Yule club checks

A total of 9,156 Christmas Club checks representing $1,250,739 is being mailed this week by the National State Bank, Elizabeth to Christmas Club members, it is announced. The 1968 clubs are now being organized. They are for $1, $2, $3, $5 and $10 and will continue for 50 weeks, a spokesman said.

State goal $20,000 for sale of Osteopathic Yule Seals

The New Jersey campaign of the National Osteopathic Christmas Seal program is in full swing, according to Dr. Michael Sutula of Union, state chairman. Dr. Sutula, a staff member at Memorial General Hospital, Union, said that "judging by initial returns New Jersey should meet its goal of $20,000." Last year the state led the country with $15,500.

Mrs. Michael Belkoff of Elizabeth, wife of a Memorial General staff member, is state chairman of the Auxiliary phase of the drive. Mrs. Charles Bloodgood of Elizabeth is chairman of the Memorial General Hospital Volunteer Guild seal campaign.

According to Dr. Sutula, funds from the Seal Campaign provide loans to qualified junior and senior students in osteopathic colleges.

A fast enough fastback.

Put a Volkswagen fastback in a race with the rest of the fastbacks around today and it would lose hands down.

Even at top speed it wouldn't stand a chance against a 350 h.p. job. (Our fastback cruises at about 84.)

Today a lot of people spend a lot of money on a car because it's big and fast.

But the strange thing is, when they buy a car with so much speed and power, they seldom stop to think where they'll be able to use it.

Do you need a 350 h.p. engine to take you downtown?

Or for a ride in the country?

Or for that once-a-year vacation trip? (Even on the highway you can't use a hundred-mile-an-hour car. Remember, the fastest you can go on most highways is only 70.)

This is exactly why we made the VW fastback the way we did. Its 65-horsepower engine gets you out on the thrway quickly. And with that many horses in the back, there's plenty of power for highway passing.

Our fastback has its engine in the rear and it's air-cooled. (That means no water or anti-freeze.) And since it doesn't have a lot of idle horses to feed, you'll still be able to get up to 27 miles on a gallon of gas.

You can buy a sensible fastback like this for the sensible price of $4,999.

And never miss the power you didn't pay for.

Hikers set 3 events

The program committee of the Union County Hiking Club has scheduled two hikes and a trail clearing expedition for its members and guests for this weekend.

On Saturday, Robert Deming of Elizabeth, will lead a six-mile afternoon ramble in the Watchung Reservation. The group will meet at the administration building of the Seely's Pond parking area at 1:30 p.m.

Also on Saturday, Robert Gasser of Annandale, will lead a 12-mile hike in the area of Sugar Loaf Mountain near Florida, New York. The group will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8:30 a.m.

Nathan Levin of Rahway, will lead a trail clearing expedition on Sunday. Each hiking club affiliated with the New York - New Jersey Trail Conference in responsible for maintaining a section of the Appalachian Trail. The area assigned to the Union County Hiking Club is a 12-mile stretch of the trail in the area of Greenwood Lake at the New York - New Jersey State line. This group will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8:30 a.m.

For further information concerning the above hikes, contact the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission.

Child study lecture to be conducted by Extension Service

"Should We Pay Our Children For Being A Member Of The Family?" will be one of the questions discussed at a meeting on "Allowances - Teaching Tool or Bribe," Wednesday, 9:30-11:30 a.m., at the Home Economics auditorium, 7 Bridge st., Elizabeth, Mrs. Carolyn F. Yuknus, program leader-County Home economist, has announced.

Featured speaker for the meeting will be Miss Celia Mantia, psychiatric social worker and member of the Child Study Team of the Elizabeth Board of Education. She will discuss money management as it relates to teaching children the value of money.

The joint meeting has been cooperatively planned by Mrs. Leonard Tandul, County Parent and Family Life chairman, and Miss Mabel G. Stolte, County Home economist.

Mrs. Tandul and Miss Stolte invite interested parents to discuss such questions as, "Do you pay your child for good marks - for everything they do?" "Should your child be taught when and how to spend money?" "How much money is enough for your teenager?" "Why teach a child to save for the future?" "When do you start giving an allowance?"

These and many other questions will be included in the discussion. A skit and buzz session also will be held.

'A boy! At last!' Union parents of four daughters are 'thrilled'

"A boy! At last!" exclaimed Mrs. Charles A. Loeffler of 1169 Gruber ave., Union, when her eighth son, Charles Nicholas Loeffler was born on Oct. 27 in Overlook Hospital, Summit.

The Loefflers have four daughters, Margaret, 8, Barbara, 6, Ann Marie, 4, and Mary Jane, 18 months old. And the parents have been praying for a boy.

"I'm really quite thrilled about it!" Mrs. Loeffler says. "My first reaction was disbelief. I just couldn't believe it. And my husband is overjoyed. He's really on cloud nine."

"The children are crazy about the little fellow. They think he's a toy and they're very happy about it all."

Mrs. Loeffler, who has lived in Union for the past six years, is the daughter of Mrs. Nicholas Spino of Union, and the granddaughter of Nicholas De Luca of East Orange and Union.

Her husband, who has a gas station called the Friendly Service in Vailsburg, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Loeffler of Eastern pkwy., Newark. His maternal grandmother is Mrs. Victoria Matonickon of Eastern pkwy., Newark, and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James V. Aldi of Newark.

Mrs. Loeffler says that she's finally adjusted herself to taking care of a boy baby. "When I came home from the hospital with our son, my first reaction when I changed his diaper was: 'Oh, what do I do now?'"

Girl to Schoenwalders

A five-pound, 12-ounce daughter, Susan Ann Schoenwalder Jr., was born Oct. 29, 1967, in Overlook Hospital, Summit, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Schoenwalder Jr. of 948 Townley ave., Union. She joins a sister, Gayle Lynn, Mrs. Schoenwalder Jr. is the former Irene Stole.

Twenty-fifth in A Series TOURIST IN SALISBURY

When we were in Rhodesia we stayed in an integrated hotel.

Yes, in Rhodesia--an integrated hotel. It is true. There is an elegant Meikles Hotel which has an elegant manager with an elegant beard with the elegant name of Charles Purgold--but we were at the sophisticated, integrated Jameson Hotel.

It was so sophisticated, it even had a pet cat which looked worldly, and which high-handedly ran the hotel personnel. Which reminds me of a story:

There was a big brave man named Freddy and his best friend Philly on this study mission,

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

and one night at the Jameson Hotel they became roommates--which they ordinarily were not.

According to the hilarious story told by Fred one morning at breakfast, he (Fred) came up to his room one night very late, and there, hiding in a corner, was an insect. Now, African cities are remarkably free of insects, AND screens, as I keep pointing out with considerable surprise, and Salisbury is no exception. So, since the weather was just about perfect when we were there, we all had our windows wide open to catch the refreshing breezes, and apparently, so did Fred.

But into Freddy's sixth floor window flew the exception: an insect.

That might have been all right too, for a little insect here or there is to be expected in hot weather, but according to Fred it was an insect to end all insects. It was huge. At first he saw it about two feet away from him. Then it was a foot wide. Then two feet. By 10 a.m. after many tellings it was at least four feet wide and braying like a bull.

Anyway, our Fred says he did not see the monster until he put his trousers down across the chair. Then when he saw it, in sheer alarm he flew to the phone to call the desk for help, but they were busy calling the pet cat.

Hysterically he grabbed for his rain coat (he claims he couldn't get to his trousers for THAT was where the monster was) and in a state of shock scurried down to the desk.

"Oh," said the two men on duty, "as soon as we get our cat back in we'll be right with you."

Fred waited ten minutes; fifteen...shaking in the lobby in his bare legs.

Finally the cat sashayed in. When the two men were assured that the cat was all right, they turned to Fred's problem.

Up in Fred's room they hit at the bug with shoes. They hit at it with hangers. They threw things.

It evaded them all.

"We don't know what to do!" they moaned. "All right!" roared our big brave Fred, "pick up my bed and carry it down to my friend's room." So with Fred in his rain coat and bare legs, and the two men, carrying the bed, the unlikely trio wound down two flights to the fourth floor to Phil's room--and knocked.

Phil, bleary-eyed with sleep, opened the door and saw the wild tangle. "Oh my God!" he said, and slammed the door.

But Fred persisted, and somewhat later he was well encoined in Phil's room. "That wasn't the end of it, either," Phil incredulously added after Fred finished his story. "When I was finally asleep again, what do you suppose happened? Fred poked me awake again to say: 'Philly--I haven't got a pillow!'"

SOMEONE TOLD US that what Fred must have seen was a rhinoceros bug--or was it

THE MYSTERY NEAR SALISBURY -- Some 30 miles out of the city is an area strewn with large rocks balanced one upon the other, but no one knows why or how the phenomenon occurred. Today, farmers of Africans poke among them, or they stand in wild grassland.

a hippopotamus bug. Anyway, either name indicates how large the insect must have been. "It does come about six inches broad," someone else said. So Fred was very right. IT WAS a monster. But it is harmless--we were all glad to hear.

Rhodesia offered many interesting things besides unusual insects. There were beautiful people and beautiful experiences in Rhodesia and I hope to see it again one day soon. Even two of the most outstanding events for me on this second African trip, occurred in Rhodesia. One was an unforgettable walk in the rain forest at Victoria Falls and the other was the previously reported visit with prime Minister Ian Smith.

The walk, taken into a section of the wild forest at the brink of the waterfall where there is continuous rain because of the spray from the falls, was sheer magic. I chose to go in without an umbrella or raincoat (as most tourists do) for the temperature was about 95, the humidity was about equal, and the sky was pure gold. To walk there, practically alone, under the wildness of those green-green trees with gusts of warm rain falling unhampered upon you in the glory of the day, is pure exhilaration. I could have swum upstream.

IN SALISBURY THE SIGHTSEEING things were more controlled. The balanced giant rocks just outside the city are wildly improbable but they are scattered in easy-going corn fields and grasslands. The city parks are flamboyantly beautiful with flowers, trees and shrubs, but they are carefully manicured and tended. Livingstone House, the tallest building in Salisbury, is 20 stories of civilized steel and glass, and was designed by a Swiss woman engineer.

Also, on one of the days in Salisbury we met with dapper mayor Frank Gordon-Harper at the very handsome city hall to have tea; and sat in Parliament during a rather biting discussion between some black Rhodesian members and some white.

One of the evenings we attended a posh cocktail party given by the Ministry of Information at the elegant--ish Meikles Hotel, and on some of the other evenings we wandered into the cozy cocktail lounge of the Jameson Hotel on our own; and met some Rhodesians, both black and white. It was here that we heard the dissatisfaction with the Unilateral Declaration of Independence. One couple, formerly of Scotland, owned a neon light sign company and they were particularly disenchanted with Ian Smith. "Business was going so well before he declared UDI," they said, "and now it's way off."

On the other hand, several black African men who were with white men at one of the tables, who all were associated with a mining company, seemed satisfied with everything. But perhaps they had good reason.

Despite the friction between Zambia and Rhodesia and all that is said about them, the two countries apparently still consider doing business together, particularly in mining. When we were at Victoria Falls, a train that seemed to be a mile long, crossed over the high Zambezi River bridge at the Zambia-Rhodesia border loaded with material. "Oh," said our guide, "that's copper from Zambia which is probably the world's largest producer of that metal. It's going to the coast, and then it will bring back coal from Rhodesia."

But, besides THAT train, we heard many more go by in the night, and since people no longer go back and forth (Rhodesians are restricted from entering Zambia) we had to assume it was products going back and forth.

So it would seem that Zambia and Rhodesia are not as "mad" at each other as is reported. Or else, as one Rhodesian business-man said, "There's no problem anywhere in the world if you have the money to pay for it."

Coin show on Sunday

The Morris & Essex Coin Club will hold its fifth annual coin show Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the VFW post hall, 95 Mt. Pleasant ave. (Rt. 10), Livingston. Admission is free, a spokesman said.

IN TITLE ROLE—Sidney Poitier stars in "To Sir, With Love," on two screens this week—at the Union Theater, Union Center, and the new Plaza Theater in Linden.

'War Game' opens at Art

The Academy-award winning film, "The War Game," which engendered much controversy last year in England, and which deals with the effects of nuclear war in England, opened yesterday at the Art Theater, Irvington Center. The picture, which was written and directed by Peter Watkins, caters to young audiences, and highlights realistic photography and a cast of non professional actors. The associate feature is "Loves of a Blonde," a comedy concerning a romantic young girl and her fanciful attitude toward an incident with a jazz musician. Milos Forman directed "Loves of a Blonde."

SUNDAY'S SERMON

YOUNG PEOPLE
There are 135 million responsible young people in this country. They are good citizens. They contribute something to the community in which they live. From their ranks, for the most part, will come business and political leaders of the next few decades.

There are, roughly, five million troublesome young people in this country. They are in two principal categories, those who have withdrawn from society and those who challenge the society in which they live, who have no respect for the laws and regulations which have been established.

We do not hear too much about the majority of these young people who are busy preparing themselves for tomorrow. We hear, perhaps, too much about those who isolate themselves from the rest of our society or who dash headlong from one illegal escapade to another.

If you know a troublesome young individual, is there anything you can do to help that individual toward the pathway to a better, more useful life? If you know a young, responsible individual whose role in life, while not spectacular, is certainly worthy of recognition? If so, isn't there some way you can let him or her know they are appreciated?

ICY ISLAND
Except for a thin strip around the shoreline, almost all of the island of Greenland is covered by a sheet of ice. At its highest point, this sheet is more than a mile thick.

'Ulysses' to end; 'Becket' to begin on Ormont screen

"Ulysses," the filmization of James Joyce's controversial novel, continues for its final week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange. The management has announced that there will be no matinee showing of "Ulysses" today due to the first in a series of film study seminars at 1 p.m., which will be conducted by the East Orange Catholic High School. "Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner" will be screened instead. The public may also attend this screening.

On Wednesday, Nov. 15, the Ormont will open with "Becket," starring Richard Burton in the title role, and Peter O'Toole as his king. The Hal Wallis production, based on Jean Anouilh's internationally-acclaimed play, features John Gielgud, Donald Wolf, Marita Hunt and Pamela Brown, and will be shown on a road show basis, with two shows daily at 2 and 8:30 p.m., and continuous performances on Saturday and Sunday.

CAROL CHANNING CUTS QUITE A FIGURE November seems to be the month for Carol Channing.

On Thursday, November 16 (9:00-10:00 p.m.), "Carol Channing and 101 Men," the first of her ABC-TV Specials in color. Guests on the Special are Walter Matthau, Eddy Arnold, The Association and the U.S. Air Force Academy Cadet Chorale.

On Nov. 18, 1963, Carol stepped on the stage of the Fisher Theatre in Detroit to play the role of Dolly Gallagher Levi for the very first time in "Hello, Dolly!" the musical version of Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker."

Three years and seven months later, on June 11, 1967, on the stage of the Jesse Jones Auditorium in Houston, Texas, Carol Channing played Dolly quite possibly for the last time, thereby culminating a saga unprecedented in the history of the legitimate theatre anywhere on this planet.

Miss Channing portrayed Dolly 1,272 times without ever having missed a performance and without ever having played to an empty seat. What is more, those 1,272 performances grossed an all-time record of $17,053,000.

About half, 640 to be exact, of Miss Channing's performances were given at the St. James Theatre in New York, where a production continued to run. Carol, however, insisted that producer David Merrick arrange a national tour for her. Nothing has come near the reception accorded the star all over the country.

In between, Miss Channing has played a command performance of "Hello, Dolly!" at the White House.

Since she closed, Carol's "vacation" has been spent filming the current Universal movie, "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and preparing her TV Special.

Nature screened in Biblical movie

In the Dino De Laurentis' epic film, "The Bible," which continues on screen at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, photographer Ernst Haas tried to capture some of the primordial power and beauty in translating the highly poetic passages of Genesis into a visual medium. He and his 10-man crew spent more than 18 months roaming the world, filming natural phenomena, any of which had never before been seen by the eye of man.

Off the coast of Iceland, Haas shot a newly-born volcanic island aglow with hot lava spilling into the sea and forming clouds of steam. From Iceland he traveled to Ecuador and the nearby Galapagos Islands to catch the snow landscapes and the lush foliage of the rain forest. His pictures are accompanied in the film by the narrative of Creation as read by director John Huston.
