Exchange student set to arrive today at Gov. Livingston

Leopoldo Razeto, a 16-year-old boy from Santiago, Chile, will arrive today to attend Gov. Livingston Regional High School, as an exchange student sponsored by the Open Door program.

Leopoldo, who completed his junior year at St. Gabriella's English School in Santiago this month, will visit the United States for 10 weeks as the guest of Hank Gutman, president of the Gov. Livingston student council, who initiated the exchange. The Open Door exchange program is set between two schools in the different hemispheres. Although 21 other New Jersey schools participate in this exchange, it will be the first time for Gov. Livingston.

A student at Governor Livingston who has completed his junior year will have the opportunity to spend next summer at St. Gabriella's English School in Chile as the guest of Leopoldo. Leopoldo will make his own schedule here and will participate in any extra-curricular activities he desires. In Chile, his favorite subjects are biology and physical education and his favorite sport is basketball.

He is described by his friends as outgoing and cheerful, and spends much of his spare time building model railroad equipment. He is the oldest of three children, with two younger sisters. His father is an art dealer in Santiago.

Completes course in infantry tactics

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C.—Marine Private Howard G. Messner, son of Mr. Howard H. Messner of 239 Apple Tree Lane, Mountainside, N.J., has completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrol, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at this Marine Corps base. This individual combat training is given every Marine after his graduation from recruit training. Taught by combat experienced non-commissioned officers of the infantry training regiment here, it prepares the young Leatherneck to become part of the Marine air-ground combat team.

While in the field he was taught how to use hand grenades, a compass and the principles of map reading and land navigation. He learned how to detect and disarm mines and booby traps and, while being exposed to live machine gun fire, he learned to advance safely from one point to another.

Wedding bells ring rich Lottery prize during honeymoon

By PAT DONALDSON

When Hannah Milstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Milstein of 1174 Blazo ter, Mountainside, was married by Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr., on Sunday, Dec. 17, to Victor Hendry, an insurance executive in New York City, and left for a honeymoon to Puerto Rico, she was certain all her dreams had come true.

But fortune smiled again upon this young lady -- perhaps because all the world loves lovers -- and the new Mrs. Victor Hendry was named a winner of $100,000 in the New York state lottery last week.

Hannah, a former actress, when reached in her hotel suite in San Juan by her excited mother, who had heard the news from a neighbor, who had heard it on the radio, "seemed to take the news calmly, I still can't."

"She believed it, I still can't," a resident of Mountainside for 12 years, Mrs. Hendry attended Echobrook School and was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. She studied at the American Academy of Arts, the American Theatre Wing, the School of Modern Dance and the Barbizon School of Modeling.

In summer stock she played at the Gateway Playhouse, Somers Point, N.J., and in winter stock she was a member of the casts of Miracle Productions of Newark, Newark Center Players and the Evergreen Dramatic Group of Springfield. She was also a member of the Summit Children's Theatre and helped direct the production of "Damn Yankee," which was presented by the Springfield Theatre Group.

SHE HAS APPEARED with top stars of state, screen and television. A selection of roles she played in road companies included that of Gladys Kelly in "Personal Appearance," Anne Frank in "Diary of Anne Frank," Susan Carmichael in "Detective Story," Janet in "Fair Game," Mary Warren in "Crucible," Rosa Della Rose in "Rose-Tattoo."

Also, Millie Owens, in "Picnic," Heidi, in "Heldi," Princess, in "Rumpelstiltskin," Laura, in "Glass Menagerie," and Honey, in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolf."

This diminutive young lady was particularly suited to the roles portraying girls in their teens and could very well have gone far in the world of the theater, but, tiring of "life on the road," she recently accepted a position as an executive secretary in the underwriting department of the insurance company where she was to meet, fall in love with and marry the British Victor Hendry.

With another wedding gift--this time of $100,000--the couple, who plan to reside in New York City upon their return from

End basic training for Navy recruit

Seaman Recruit Michael F. Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Cunningham of 367 Old Tote rd., Mountainside, has been graduated from a nine-week course of basic training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Illinois.

Cunningham's courses included studies in military subjects, in which he lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station. Under the tutelage of veteran Navy petty officers he studied seamanship, survival techniques and military drill.

Kurz was named the team's most valuable player, and was awarded a trophy.

Board favors bid for lot sub-division

An application by Katherine L. Richter of 210 Orchard st., Westfield, for approval of a minor sub-division on Hillside Avenue, which had been held over from the Oct. 30 meeting was approved by the Mountainside Planning Board at a meeting last week in Borough Hall. The application had been held over because of the absence of the applicant's representative at the October meeting.

An application by Di Francesco Corp., 1230 Route 22, for a minor sub-division, which had been approved by the Board of Adjustment the previous week, was discussed, but final decision on the matter was postponed to the January agenda.

Bucknell chooses Mountainside youth as soccer captain

Art Kurz of Mountainside has been named 1968 varsity soccer captain at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. according to an announcement made by Coach Craig Reynolds at a dinner in honor of the 1967 squad, which completed the season with an 8-4 record, the most victories ever achieved by a soccer team at Bucknell.

Kurz, a junior who starred in Soccer at Pingry School, Hillside, co-captained this year's team with senior John Willett of Snyosset, N.Y. He was named to the Middle-Atlantic Conference, Northern Division, first team in both his sophomore and junior years.

Coach Reynolds said, "Art will be an outstanding captain. He showed great leadership this year." Kurz played at a center halfback position and was the key to a strong defense that allowed the opposition only 21 goals in 12 contests. "Art could have asked to play up on the line where he could score more," said Reynolds, "but he knew what was best for the team. He played unselfishly on defense and still was our second leading scorer with seven goals."

Kurz was named the team's most valuable player, and was awarded a trophy.

Youth is severely slashed in pre-holiday altercation

Spending Christmas in the hospital was perhaps the last thing Patrick Murray would have thought of as he entered Teddy's Sea Food restaurant on Route 22, Mountainside, last Friday evening.

Murray, 18, of 705 Second st., Dunellen, joined with several groups holding Christmas parties at the restaurant. He was reportedly set upon by a group of four men who had attempted to crash the parties, and in the ensuing fight the youth was severely slashed by one of the group who drew a knife, police declared.

Police described Murray's injuries as "actually a slicing," in which he sustained two eight-inch cuts in his right thigh, one of which severed an artery, two "slices" approximately 12 inches long across his back and a cut across the forehead. He was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Mountainside First Aid Squad. His condition was described as fair as this newspaper went to press.

Police described the fracas as follows:

Accidents, police take no holidays

Traffic accidents never take a holiday, and Mountainside police who were on the job last weekend can attest to that fact, particularly when two of the accidents took place virtually at their front door.

Early W. Thorne of South Plainfield suffered a fractured left arm when his car hit a pole in front of police headquarters on Route 22. According to police, the complete left side of the car was demolished, and it had to be towed away. Thorne, who was issued a summons for careless driving, was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Mountainside First Aid Squad. William C. Tice of Westfield also struck the same pole, damaging the front end of his vehicle but he suffered no injuries and no summons was issued.

In other accidents over the holiday police reported: Robert J. Malendandri of Parsippany suffered head and hand cuts and complained of pains in his legs when the liquor truck he was driving turned over. Malendandri reportedly told police that someone had cut him off. He was taken to Overlook with superficial injuries. The roof, side and windows were damaged on the truck, but no summons was issued.

Paul E. Plante of Mountainside reported he was driving in the right lane with the traffic at a halt and put on his signal lights to make a right turn. While making the turn, he was reportedly struck by a car driven by Ryzard Stankowski of 315 Seventh ave., Plainfield accompanied by Mathias W. Frederickson of 130 Cumberland st., South Plainfield, owner of the General Siding Co., Plainfield, and two of Frederickson's employees, Vito A. Lodese of 13 Chandler rd., Edison, and Andrew J. Gibson, of 351 North dr., North Plainfield, attempted to crash the parties by asking escorted girls to dance.

A fight allegedly started and Stankowski, who wears his hair long, with an earring in one ear and a full beard, reportedly pulled a knife and attacked Murray. Police Sgt. Walter Betyeman and Patrolman Stephen Semancik responded to a call from the restaurant at 6 p.m. They arrested the four men on charges of atrocious assault and battery, pending further investigation and the outcome of Murray's injuries.

Stankowski is being held in the Union County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail. Frederickson and Lodese were released in $500, and Gibson in $100, also pending further investigation.

Correction

In the Dec. 21 issue, a typographical error was made regarding the names of newly appointed Mountainside police officers and firemen. Alder, of 952 Mountain ave., Alan J. Kennedy of 270 Bridle path and Joseph Lobl, of 930 Mountain ave., permanent patrolmen. Also approved by the mayor and council, as elected members of the voluntary

GARY'S CORNER

A REGULAR WEEKLY FEATURE

by GARY LESSING, Manager SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE

Let's close-out this year's columns with a sports quiz, and let's concern our quiz with auto racing.

For instance, how many of you can name the driver who copped all three major auto racing categories this year, and for this achievement was named "Driver of the Year, 1967?"

Runners-up to the award were Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, Richard Petty and A. J. Foyt of the United States.

Our winner started in February by winning the 500-mile late-model stock-car race at Daytona Beach, Florida, and the 12-hour endurance race for sports cars at Sebring, Fla. Later he took three consecutive major events in Indianapolis-type cars. He also set a lap record in earning the pole position at Indianapolis in May.

Do you know who he is? Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa. He's 27, and is the first to be awarded the Martini & Rossi trophy. He was named by a panel of leading sports writers from all parts of the country. The selection was made on the basis of performance in races in North America sanctioned by the three major governing bodies controlling auto racing: the Sports Car Club of America, the United States Auto Club, and the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

Naming the tire selected by more top auto racing drivers for their cars is an easy question for anyone of driving age; it's FIRESTONE, and Firestone tires are available for your car here at SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE, Rt. 22 at Springfield rd., Union, Stop in today. Open daily 9-9, Saturdays to 4, our phone number is MU 8-5620.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

LIVE TODAY

Make a resolution for the New Year. Make it simple. Resolve that you will LIVE TODAY.

How do you live today? You start each new morning with recognition of the fact that the important things are the NOW things. What happened yesterday is history. What happens tomorrow is not certain. Today is the thing that counts.

Today is the time to do something about the mistakes you made yesterday. Today is the time to set plans for the kind of tomorrow you would like to see. Now, today, is the time to do the things about you that need doing.

Live today to the fullest. Do not pass up the opportunity to help a friend, or a stranger. Do not refuse a piece of work if it is something worth doing. Life is so unpredictable that you may never have another chance. The task will pass to someone else and they will receive whatever rewards it offers.

Try to live today in a fashion that leaves nothing undone when the day is over, unless, perhaps, it is part of an unfinished task that will be the foundation on which you will begin to live today when a new day is born.

Bilingualism topic at Canada parley

More than one language is in common use in most countries of the world. Yet most of the scholarly work on bilingualism has been done by individuals working largely in isolation and has not been comparative.

With this in mind, the organizing committee of the International Seminar on Bilingualism, held last summer in Moncton, New Brunswick, under the sponsorship of the Canadian National Commission for Unesco, decided that the most rewarding approach would be interdisciplinary and international. Thus, among the 90 participants from 18 countries, were linguists, psychologists, sociologists, demographers and specialists in other related fields. (UNESCO FEATURES)

A NEW YEAR'S EVE SAFETY MESSAGE

OK PAL!
THE NEXT ONE'S ON ME

The grim spectre isn't kidding. That "one for the road" may well take you into eternity. Holidays and weekends are the times of greatest danger . . . the highest casualty lists. More drivers are on the road in more of a hurry, traffic is congested, driving strain increases. Add to this potion the drinking driver . . . and the mixture is DEADLY!

This holiday weekend will end in tragedy for far too many drivers . . . their families and victims. Don't gamble away your life, the lives of your loved ones for one more drink . . . or one careless moment. If you drink, don't drive. Always remain alert at the wheel. Be courteous to every driver and every pedestrian. Make sure your car is safe before you start, and remember to obey all traffic signals and signs. Drive with care . . . because safety is your business.

A FEMININE LOOK

At Africa 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Thirty-third in a Series
THE ANIMALS OF AMBOSELI I

One of the joys of a visit to Africa is viewing the animals. The most popular places for this are Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda, but ours was at Amboseli in Kenya, and it was beautiful.

When the warden in your car discovers an animal, he directs the car up as close as possible and then you sit and look and take pictures. It is fantastic. The feline family—the lions, cheetahs and leopards (these are no tigers in Africa) let you come so close you can count the flies on their noses and the ticks on their backs, but the gnu (also called wildebeest), zebra, the small Tommy deer, the impala and such, spring away before you can get too near.

The rhino will condescend to let you come fairly close if he is playing Ferdinand the Bull and lying down taking a sunbath. By the time he raises three and a half tons of rugged body off the ground, and shakes the tick-birds off, he'd almost rather just try to out-glares you. But most of the time you find him standing, and then he turns in the general direction of your car and snorts and threatens you. He is near-sighted and really can't see you well, but he glowers in your direction as if he does, and crankily stamps his big, stumpy feet as if to take off in a charge at you. Sometimes he does, too, so the wardens treat him warily. Besides, he can move as fast as a horse if he wants to, and has been known to overturn a car and cut it down the middle. He may not have two sharp eyes, but he has two sharp horns right in the middle of his forehead, and they comprise the closest thing to a walking can-opener that you would ever want to see.

JUST THE OPPOSITE from this disenchanted creature is the disarmingly engaging giraffe. Everyone likes him. He is not like the elephant who can ruin the food supply of a native for a season just by walking or eating through his garden, or the lion who will kill lovely animals, or the monkey who will rob your best tree of its fruit.

The giraffe, called "twiga" in Swahili, seems to do nothing wrong. He eats the tops of trees which harms no one, he doesn't kill another and he doesn't go parading through private gardens. He simply flips his long lashes over his beautiful black eyes and gazes wonderingly at you. He's just a flirt, and he's nice.

The lion and other cats, of course, are not liked by natives or beasts—for obvious reasons. But for the tourists they are thrilling. One bevy of lions we watched consisted of one male, eight females and two little cubs. We drove practically into their midst and they never even looked in our direction or moved, which amazed me. A couple of the "girls" were flat on their backs with all four paws flapping skywards. One gal sashayed over to papa lion, and gave him a little peck on the ear and kept going. With that, however, papa got up from his fixed English-manor-house position and sashayed AFTER her. "Aha!" we all said, "It's even effective in the jungle."

After he pecked her back he began playing with the cubs and it was wonderful to see. What a family man he was! And what a plutocrat. He moved with great, regal, grace and never once gave us a tumble. We were completely smudged.

WHEN WE RODE ON, we came across a trio of cheetahs eating in the shade of a large bush. The grass was so high we barely noticed them, but the lone ranger did, and so we parked next to them. They were eating zebra or gnu, their favorite dish and again, were so engrossed, they didn't even look at us. Another time we saw one running and that was a symphony of grace—and speed. Cheetahs are the fastest of all animals and can reach 70 miles per hour.

We went viewing two times: in the evening and in the morning and, in that time, saw 13 different species and the glory of the sun and moon on Kilimanjaro. Besides the animals already mentioned there were monkeys, hyena, wart hog, and some ostrich. I thought there would be scads of insects in the camp and dutifully shook my shoes out before donning them, but there never was a one, I thought there would be snakes winding down trees and dropping on people, but I never saw one in ALL of Africa, I thought there would be jungle vines and thick, lush underbrush and swampy, soggy land but there was predominantly grassland and trees and bushes and rolling hills. I thought there would be jungle noises all through the night but it was as quiet as church on Monday. Except for one little screech of an elephant and one little series of chattering, which the cook told us in the morning was from a troop of hyenas who had come in to have a look at OUR layout for a change, there was not one peep.

NEXT: UGANDA AND THE END OF THE AFRICAN JOURNEY.

Risks are involved in exchanging gifts following holidays

"Do your Christmas exchanging early" has more meaning than just a slogan, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

It would be much simpler if right sizes, colors and choices had been selected before Christmas. But since this isn't always possible, a certain amount of exchanging must be done.

There are some risks involved in exchanging gifts. First of all, if a gift is returned to the store where it was purchased, you may be disappointed since the stock supply may be low and full range of colors, sizes and styles may not be available.

If this is a gift that you did not purchase, it may be necessary to pick out something else.

Store policies differ on giving cash refunds.

Some will credit a charge account, while others are reluctant to give cash refunds.

It may be possible in returning a gift that it is taken to the wrong store. The habit of many shoppers to remove all the tickets and tags and then wrapping the gift in any box may lead the gift receiver to returning the merchandise to the wrong store.

It is a wise practice to cut the price mark off the store tickets but leave the name and stock number on the item.

Some stores will accept nationally advertised brands whether or not they handled a particular model. It is best to check about this practice first before asking for an exchange.

In view of after Christmas sales and inventories, most stores will refund or exchange for the full pre-Christmas amount for a publicized period of time. If gifts are returned after that time, then one must expect to receive a reduced price or refund.

A certain amount of gift adjustments are necessary after Christmas. As a shopper, you can help this situation by either exchanging necessary gifts yourself or else, give the receiver the full information as to where the gift was purchased and the price.

The group is also planning an evening theatre party at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, Feb. 4 to see the "Odd Couple." For reservations or information, Mrs. Anthony Magriconi may be called at 245-7640.

Shackleton named to Boy Scout post

William E. Shackleton, president of Central Home Trust Company, has been named general chairman of the sustaining membership enrollment program for Union Boy Scout Council. It was announced by John J. Radigan, council president.

The sustaining membership enrollment program has three divisions: Major memberships of $100 or more; special memberships of $25 to $100; and general memberships of $10 to $23. These parents' and friends' memberships help in maintaining the Scout Service Center, camping facilities, field service, etc. Approximately 50 percent of the council operating budget comes from United Funds. The balance must be raised by parents' and friends' investment in youth of the 12 communities of Eastern Union County in Union Council, Radigan said.

The way to seek help in disabled car

The rising national crime rate is bad news for everybody, especially the disabled female motorist, the New Jersey Auto Club-AAA noted this week.

"PM -- preventive maintenance -- is your best defense," said AAA general manager Rene Vialle, "but if you are disabled, at least know what to do."

The AAA Club advises motorists to drive onto the shoulder of the road if possible, even with a flat tire.

The motorist should not signal for help from the road but should lock and remain in the car after doing one or all of three things: raising his hood, putting a handkerchief on the aerial, and putting an AAA or other "help" sign in the rear or driver's window.

The disabled motorist should talk to passers-by through the draft window and ask them to call the police with a description of the car's location, advises AAA. A club member should also give his membership number to the passerby and ask him to call AAA emergency road service.

White joins board of Wilshire Oil

NATHAN WHITE

Nathan White has been elected a director of Wilshire Oil Company of Texas. White, an attorney, is president of White Printing and Publishing Co. of Union.

He succeeds A. Bruce Robertson of Vancouver, B.C., Robertson, a founder of the Wilshire company and a director since 1949, resigned following his election as a justice of the Court of Appeals for British Columbia, Canada.

White is a graduate of Rutgers Law School and a World War II Army Veteran, a director of the Lions Club of Union and a committee member of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce.

Dividend declared by Breeze Corp.

Directors of Breeze Corporations, Inc., Union, this week declared a dividend of 25-cents payable Jan. 30, to holders of record of Jan. 12, it was announced today by J.J. Mascuch, President.

This will be, Mascuch said, the company's eighth payment on common stock since the declaration of dividends was resumed in November 1965. Orders booked in the last quarter have materially surpassed the prior quarter, he said. The current backlog, he added, has risen substantially during that period, despite heavy shipments.

Appointed to bank post

Raymond W. Bauer, president of Union County Trust Company, Elizabeth, announced the appointment of Peter Munzo as assistant treasurer-assistant secretary and manager of the bank's Hillside Office, 1221 Liberty ave., Hillside.

'67 UC's greatest year, says President MacKay

"1967 will go down in history as our greatest year, because it marked the culmination of so many, many projects which we had dreamed about and worked to achieve for many, many years," Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president of Union College, said in his annual New Year's message this week.

In 1967, Union College changed its name from Union Junior College, but decided to remain a "two-year college of the academic disciplines."

"We opened a $1 million Science Building and the William Miller Sperry Observatory," Dr. MacKay said. "We expanded our nursing program to two additional hospitals, attracted a record enrollment, won re-accreditation from Middle States, greatly increased faculty salaries, purchased a $100,000 computer, and honored five 20-year faculty members to mention just some of the highlights."

Dr. MacKay said he foresees further advances in 1968.

"The New Year could well be a year of decision for our college," the Union College president said. "We will be discussing with the Union County Board of Freeholders how our college will fit into the long-range higher educational system of Union County. We see great hope in making use of our college and the Union County Technical Institute to meet the county's educational responsibilities. This plan has been termed the highest quality and the least expensive by the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County, and we agree."

"ALL OF OUR FUTURE planning must be concerned with the best use of limited public monies, with providing the highest quality program, and with avoiding duplication of programs and facilities. As we have said many times in the past, our college stands ready to work with Union County officials to find the best solution to its higher educational needs."

Dr. MacKay added that Union College looks forward to working with the new Department of Higher Education to serve an even broader constituency in the future.

A major project of Union College in 1968 will be the development of plans for a new library, Dr. MacKay said. A 45,000 square feet building costing about $1.25 million has been recommended by a faculty committee, and is now being studied by the board of Trustees.

"In 1968, we must face up to increasing our tuition," Dr. MacKay said. "Costs simply are rising faster than income. I see no other way out but a tuition hike. We take this step reluctantly, because it has been our goal for three decades to keep tuition as low as possible to provide an opportunity for all qualified young people to launch a college career. This we have done for thousands of New Jersey young people and this we hope to continue to do for thousands of others in the years to come."

DR. MACKAY SAID financing higher education will be one of the critical problems facing the nation in 1968. He said all colleges--public and private--will need additional resources "if they are to meet the obligations outlined for them by the American people--a high quality educational program for all qualified students."

"Already our public sector is deeply involved in financing higher education, and it will have to play an even broader role in the future," Dr. MacKay predicted.

Dr. MacKay said Union College will welcome additional sources of income from all levels of government. Union College and the Union County Board of Freeholders are partners in a Tuition Aid Plan, which provides annual grants of $480 to all Union County residents who are full-time students in Union College's Day Session. Dr. MacKay said this plan is designed to keep tuition as low as possible for Union County residents.

"This program is a pioneering effort in the use of public and private resources to meet a crucial need of society. This is the kind of cooperation that will solve the great problems of higher education today."

Dr. MacKay said he sees the long-range financial problems of Union College being no different than those of other institutions of higher learning.

"The cost of attending college is simply rising beyond what we can reasonably expect a student to pay," Dr. MacKay explained.

The Union College president said he foresees an effort to establish in New Jersey a program of tuition grants to students to help them attend the New Jersey college best suited to their needs and goals. He pointed out that similar programs are already underway in New York, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Michigan.

Dr. MacKay said he believes New Jersey must make maximum use of all its institutions of higher learning--public and private--if it is to meet its obligations "to the young people of our state."

Roads #1 county problem, Cuchie tells UC students

Providing an adequate road system is the major problem facing Union County, Freeholder Director Frank Cuchie of Cranford told government students last week at Union College, Cranford.

Other problems mentioned by Freeholder Director Cuchie were what to do with the John Runnels Hospital in Berkeley Heights, a county operated and financed institution, and how to provide community college services.

Cuchie urged the 100 government students to become active politically. He told them they are "constantly surrounded by politics and constantly involved in political overtones."

He pointed out that every time they turn on a light they are involved politically because electricity is controlled by a state body, the Public Utility Commission, and when they drive they face traffic laws enacted by the state, county, and municipality.

The freeholder director told the Union College students that politics is not dirty and politicians are not dishonest.

Politics is like everything else," Cuchie said. "There's good and bad in everything."

"Politics is hard work, frustrating and heartaches, but it's all worthwhile when a tuberculosis victim is cured at Runnels Hospital, or a juvenile delinquent is rehabilitated, or educational programs are successful," the speaker said. "This makes it all worthwhile."

CUCHIE SAID UNION COUNTY was organized in 1897 with a 14-man freeholder board, a county budget of $12,000, and a population of 27,000--slightly less than the size of Cranford today. The county now has nine freeholders, an annual budget of $20 million, and a population of 560,000 that will grow to 600,000 by 1970.

The Board of Freeholders is not a legislative body, Cuchie told the students, but simply a creature of the state. He said the board cannot enact laws as municipalities can, and can only do those things permitted by the state. He said it is primarily an administrative body.

Cuchie pointed out that the term freeholder used in New Jersey is unique in the United States. The title results from a former requirement that only a citizen with free title to his land could serve on the Board of Freeholders. The only requirements today are that a freeholder be 21 years old and a citizen.

"Once policy is adopted by the Board of Freeholders it is essentially law," Cuchie explained.

What does the Board of Freeholders do? Cuchie said it provides funds for welfare ("about 40 percent of our budget"), operates a county jail, provides a judicial system of 18 judges, maintains a network of 156 miles of roads and 200 bridges, operates a 220-bed hospital and "a park system second to none."

He said the board appoints members to such bodies as the Mosquito Commission, Welfare Board, Shade Tree Commission, Board of Taxation, Planning Board, Board of Education of the Union County Vocational and Technical Schools, and the Board of Managers of the Runnels Hospital.

Cuchie was introduced by Thomas Kehoe of Plainfield, government instructor.

Ask Amy

By

Dear Amy:
Six years ago I married and my aunt had given me a platter, pitcher and sugar bowl as a start for a china set. Included with the gift was a note telling me that the rest of the service would come. Well, 6 years have gone by and the rest of the service has yet to come.

This aunt was average, like the rest of my family, but she turned career woman, is quite wealthy now and just doesn't know any more. She never sent a card to my son when he was born, never calls her sister (my mother, the only family she has). My daughter, 9 months old, got a card from her and we were shocked. We thought perhaps she had a change of heart. To top it all off, her son is getting married, and just my parents received an invitation. There are only 4 nieces (including me) and nephews that go to make up the entire family. We never received an invitation. Now, one week before the wedding, my aunt sends us an invitation. I have some pride and I replied that I, too, wouldn't go. Now everyone says that I should return the dishes and say that maybe she could use them more than I can. I am undecided. I don't want to be as ignorant as they. Please advise me.

Mrs. D.

Dwyer to pass up GOP convention

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th District) announced this week she will not be a candidate for delegate to the 1968 Republican National Convention in Miami.

Though her decision has been made for some time and communicated to state-wide party leaders, Mrs. Dwyer explained, she decided to make it public "simply to quiet speculation." She said that "continued silence on my part would only create unnecessary confusion and delay in the choice of capable leaders to represent our party in the selection of its Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates next summer."

Congresswoman Dwyer said her decision not to seek a delegate spot included both the state-wide at-large and the Congressional district delegate positions.

The six-term Congresswoman cited "time" and "the press of Congressional business" as reasons for turning down suggestions that she run for either a state or district delegate seat. "It's obvious from the session we've just concluded," she said, "that 1968 will be an extraordinarily demanding year in terms of legislation before Congress. This fact plus the responsibilities of seniority on House committees make it prudent for me to concentrate my attention and energies on Congressional business and the representation of my constituents rather than take on anything new."

Mrs. Dwyer, indicated, however, that she hoped delegates chosen from New Jersey "will reflect the positive and progressive character of New Jersey Republicanism and will join actively in the search for a Presidential nominee who has the capacity, determination and skill to rally the country to meet the great challenges we face today."

Dear Mrs. D.:
There are few families who do not squabble at one time or another. However, do not return the pieces of china your aunt gave you even though she did not complete the set as she said she would.

You accepted them graciously and it would be very ungracious to return them. Just forget it!

Dear Amy:

I sure hope you can help me. I am a 14 year old girl and I go to my boyfriend's house at times. We walk together, hold hands, sit together and things like that.

Last night he wanted to kiss me. (He doesn't like to kiss with other people around). The thing is that he has 4 younger cousins who watch the two of us like we were babies. We're telling them to get lost, but it didn't work. . . and we can't run off and leave them.

What can I do?

Melissa

Dear Melissa:

It is not necessary for two 14-year-olds to look for privacy for the purpose of kissing each other. If you are ashamed to display your feelings in public, you should not do so in private. Lastly, I don't think that kissing other than a goodnight kiss is a healthy beginning for a friendship. Behave yourselves!

Dear Amy:

My father passed away recently. Prior to this, my husband and I received a wedding invitation which we accepted. The invitation is for 3 weeks after my father's passing and my husband feels obliged to attend.

Would it be proper for me to accompany him, should he go alone, or should we both decline? My mother and mother-in-law both agree that if I go, I shouldn't dance.

Also, would it be inappropriate to wear anything other than black? How long should I wear black in public (I don't around the house) and should I refuse all social invitations or would it be all right to attend, say, a niece's birthday party with our 4 children, or a dinner invitation to a friend's house?

I would appreciate your prompt reply as I am still in somewhat of a trance and cannot think clearly, probably because this is my first experience along this line.

Mrs. R. N.

Dear Mrs. R. N.:

If the couple who are being married are closely related to you or your husband or if they are one of your closest friends, I would say attend. If, however, they are not closely related, decline with a note of explanation and regret. As far as dancing is concerned, I agree with your mother and mother-in-law.

Your religious and ethnic group of which you are a member dictates through heritage and custom the time period that black should be worn. Be guided by that.

I see no reason after about a month for you to refuse any social invitations whatever they may be.

Banner '68 seen for N.J. economy

The New Jersey economy would appear to be in for an upward surge during 1968, according to a year-end forecast based on a statewide survey of business leaders conducted by the New Jersey Manufacturers Association. Representative samplings taken from 336 Union County business concerns indicate this area will reap a full share of the general economic advances.

The results of the ninth annual association survey were made public this week by Leonard C. Johnson, president of the association. They were based on responses submitted by the top executives of 2,536 business concerns throughout the state, and specially tabulated by computer at the association's headquarters in Trenton. The study is the most extensive of its kind in New Jersey, according to Johnson. Generally, the survey outlook is for increases in all categories of business activity. More workers, particularly in the skilled categories, will be needed by New Jersey manufacturers, and will be paid higher wages for their labor. In addition to increased labor costs, New Jersey industry also expects to pay more for the materials to manufacture its products.

they expect to hire additional personnel, and 95 percent anticipate paying higher wages. The costs of production materials are expected to rise, according to almost 90 percent of the firms represented in the survey. Some 60 percent expect sales—and the prices of their products—to increase.

In Union County, opinions on the questions, in nearly every case, mirrored the attitudes held statewide, deviating from the latter in most instances by only a percentage point or two.

In two areas, however, Union County business executives displayed slightly more optimistic attitudes than their colleagues around the state, Johnson said.

Thirty-seven percent of the country respondents revealed plant expansion plans, as compared to only 34 percent on the state level.

And, while the majority of Union businessmen anticipated increases in the cost of production materials, the survey figures were three percent less than the statewide estimates.

The course will acquaint the student with the fundamental requirements of the well-groomed individual and help her develop the good habits and practices which contribute to personal charm, a spokesman said.

Class will be in session each Monday evening, starting Jan. 18, at 7 and lasting three hours. The course will be 15 weeks long and will cost $45.

Those interested in enrolling in the course can do so by applying at the center weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Unesco paperback discusses effects of apartheid policies in South Africa

A report just published as a paperback by Unesco on the effect of apartheid on education, science, culture and information in South Africa concludes that the policy of apartheid is not only an inadmissible answer to racial and group conflict but is itself the major source of racial and group conflict there.

The report, prepared with the help of consultants, is based essentially on official government publications and on reports from scientific and research institutions within and outside South Africa.

Discriminatory practices at all levels of education, which keep Africans at the most menial level of society, are described in the report. While there has been an increase in the number of Africans going to school, this has been achieved without a corresponding rise in expenditure. In fact, the percentage of net national income spent on African schools is decreasing. Moreover, the effects of apartheid on education go far beyond the racial discrimination that the facts and figures demonstrate. The most deplorable effect is on the South African child whatever his color who in all cases is educated within the restrictions of an ideology unacceptable to the world of today, the report says.

The report also investigates the effects of apartheid on the employment of "non-white" scientific and technical personnel; on scientific organizations; and on international scientific and technical cooperation. South Africa faces a chronic shortage of top-level manpower in science and technology which cannot be remedied by relying on the "white" population alone. Moreover, the restrictive atmosphere has led to the emigration of a number of scientists, while other potential recruits refuse to come to the country, according to the report.

THE NEW ROYAL ULTRONIC $179.50

is the world's first fully electric typewriter at a half-way reasonable price.

ROYAL TYPEWRITER COMPANY, INC. A DIVISION OF LITTON INDUSTRIES

ROYAL

The new Ultronic by Royal has an electric carriage return never before available at a price this low. It also has an electric tabulator, electric backspace, a reset space bar and a motor as powerful as any comparable electric. It has few electric repair characters: underscore, hyphen, period, and exclamation point. It's a fully electric typewriter in every way. Exceptional price. In the past, the lowest priced fully electric typewriter cost $250. And even then, it didn't have such ultronic features as Marginal Margin, Magic Meter scale, electric ribbon feed, vertical hole spacing, and a detachable cord. The Ultronic is a great typewriter at any price. At $179.50 it's in a class by itself.

Holiday roundup of movie openings fills local screens with excellent fare

BY BEA SMITH

A holiday roundup of film openings this past week is decorating the movie houses in our area.

"Gone With The Wind," current offering at the Clairidge Theater, Upper Montclair, has a new attractive face for movie-goers. The 1939 film classic, embellished in 70 mm. film (from its original 35 mm.) with stereophonic sound, has a new dimension on the curved Cinerama screen.

For the younger generation, who will be seeing "Gone With The Wind" for the first time, it should be a memorable experience. Except for some shorter-than-we remember scenes (particularly the famous burning of Atlanta and the one where hundreds of soldiers are strewn along the ground, dead and dying), the picture proves to be a wonderful experience for all.

ON THE ORMONT THEATER screen in East Orange there is lighter fare -- an excellent Italian comedy called "The Birds, The Bees and The Italians." Award-winning director Pietro Germi has a real winner with this romantic romp and marital misadventures.

"ANOTHER CANNES... FILM FESTIVAL award-winning film, "The Tiger Makes Out," is the present film fare at the ART Theater, Irvington Center.

Jackson, is a movie adaptation of Murray Schisgal's off-Broadway play, "The Tiger." It was filmed in Greenwich Village, and in addition to its adult-entertainment value, it offers a rather subtle message.

"The Tiger Makes Out" is one of the funniest films in town and truly well-worth seeing. The Art also offers as an excellent second feature, "The Accident," starring Dirk Bogarde.

"WAIT UNTIL DARK" at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, rounds out the holiday movie fare. The suspense-filled drama, also set in Greenwich Village, will keep a movie goer on the edge of his seat throughout the entire film, as Audrey Hepburn, who plays a blind housewife, is chased about in the
