Dems name screening committee

Candidates are sought for June 4 primary

A screening committee, to solicit and select candidates who will be entered in the June 4 Democratic primary, was appointed at a meeting last week at the home of Robert Sacharow, president of the Mountainside Democratic Club.

Appointed to the committee were Joseph Stypa, chairman; John Medevielle, Russell Cardoni, Karl Heinze and Sacharow.

In commenting on the aims of the committee Stypa stated, "We are looking to select as candidates those citizens of Mountainside who can articulate and bring home to this community the many and disturbing problems which are not fully and fairly discussed due to the unfortunate stranglehold one party has on our borough government." Names of the candidates selected will be made public on Tuesday, April 23.

It was also announced that the Mountainside Democratic Club has been invited to join, as a charter member, the newly-organized New Jersey Federation of Democratic Clubs. Cardoni reported that the federation will provide a forum for interchange of ideas among those persons and organizations most interested in the American political processes. A delegation from the club represented Mountainside at the first two meetings of the federation, held at the New Brunswick Inn in January and March.

In recognition of the national and local issues being raised during this year's primary campaign, the local club has scheduled a panel discussion May 28, on the candidates and issues involved in the June Democratic primary.

Commenting on the proposed panel discussion, Sacharow said: "It is our hope that the meeting planned for May 28 will attract persons of different political persuasions, independents and Republicans as well as Democrats. Many issues this election year, particularly the political philosophies of those who aspire to represent the Democratic Party on both national and local levels, touch the very direction of the future course of the lives of the citizens of Mountainside."

Volunteers sought by Rescue Squad

The Mountainside Rescue Squad this week issued the following appeal for more volunteers:

"Nothing you may do in your lifetime will ever give you more satisfaction than in the saving of a single life. The breathing of life back into a drowned child or answering the call of an expectant mother in need of transportation, a heart attack victim, or accident casualty can be one of the most important things you will ever do.

"But who will answer these calls in our town of 7,000 people, if you, the residents of Mountainside fail to answer the call for volunteers your rescue squad now needs?"

"The squad is made up of your neighbors and friends. Not much of your time would be required and much will be learned in First Aid and the life-saving know-how needed to cope with emergencies. Join now and save a life! It may someday be yours or a member of your family . . . We need your help—will you give it?"

Information may be obtained by calling Thomas Kieritny at 233-0588 or Charles Shomo, 233-0737.

THE BIG AND THE BRAVE—James Kaplan of Mountainside, national poster boy for the education and fund raising campaign of the Arthritis Foundation during National Arthritis Month, which has been designated for May, is shown visiting with President Johnson at the White House in Washington.

Mountainside poster boy greeted by the President

President Johnson extended welcome at the White House last week to James Kaplan, 10-year-old Little Leaguer and national 1968 poster boy for the education and fund-raising campaign of the Arthritis Foundation during May, national arthritis month.

James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kaplan of 1945 Orchard rd., Mountainside, was stricken with juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in 1962. Today, thanks to prompt medical care, young James leads a normal and active life. He is presently an out-patient at the New Jersey College of Medicine, Jersey City Medical Center, and a fifth grader at Beechwood School, Mountainside.

Foundation president Dr. William S. Clark accompanied the Kaplans at the White House visit. "We have chosen James to headline our efforts to reach the public with the arthritis message in 1968 because he personifies the hopeful picture which modern medical care offers today's arthritis sufferers," Dr. Clark said. "Arthritis, our nation's number one crippling disease, can strike at any age."

The Arthritis Foundation, celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, is dedicated to finding the cause and cure of crippling arthritis and to the improvement of patient care for victims of the disease which today number more than 13,000,000 in the United States.

McCarthy rally set for Tuesday

A committee of Mountainside residents has organized an open meeting in support of the presidential candidacy of Senator Eugene McCarthy. It is planned for this Tuesday evening at the Community Presbyterian Church of Mountainside.

According to publicity chairman Rita Simon, the group plans to have as speakers a representative of Volunteers for McCarthy primary delegates from the 12th Congressional District and a student volunteer who worked in the fateful New Hampshire primary campaign.

"Most important of all," said Mrs. Simon, "we hope to have a frank and open discussion from the floor. We invite Kennedy, Humphrey and Nixon adherents to challenge the qualifications of our candidate."

Coffee and doughnuts will be served. Those interested in assisting in organization were asked to call Mrs. Pat Fork, 1443 Deer path, Mountainside.

Rath outlines program before 75 at meeting

By PAT DONALDSON

More than 75 parents and other residents attended the "Echobrook School Night," which was presented Tuesday night at the Echobrook School by the Mountainside Board of Education. Color slides of the activities of kindergarten, third, fourth and fifth grade students were shown in the fields of social studies, science, reading, handwriting, spelling and literature. Donald Rath, principal of the school, presented the slides and narrated the program.

In other business, the board approved a request to pay 70 per cent of the total cost of employees and their dependents for Blue Cross, Blue Shield, Rider J and major medical benefits as of July 1, this year.

Also approved was the secretaries' calendar for 1968-69, which would permit secretaries designated days off. The 1968-69 contracts for principals and nurses and a contract with Tyrus C. Schlunsen from July 15, 1968, to June 30, 1969, as a new custodian needed for the addition to the Deerfield School, were also approved. Schlunsen will receive an annual base pay of $4,490.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, superintendent of schools, reported that the school enrollment for the past month was basically the same. He said that the Mountainside Music Association's new gift to the school system of a Fisher TX-100 Master Control Amplifier, which permits the instant play-back of a student's or a group's performance, was an important aid to teaching concepts directly related to instrumental music. Abe Suckno, board member, noted that the machine was a "wonderful gift" and thanked the MMA for its contribution. Grant Lennox, president of the board, echoed his appreciation for it.

Dr. Hanigan received approval for a neighborhood school policy for the 1968-69 school year "which would enable children to attend schools as close as possible to their homes." Approval was granted to pay a $100 fee to 24 cooperating teachers for their contribution to the student-teaching program and for contracts for two new teachers.

Dr. Hanigan said that William McLeod, who has an M.A. degree from Newark State College and four years' experience, plus service would be paid a salary of $8,200. Mrs. Jean Prohaska, who holds a B.A. in music from New York University will be paid a credit for one year of $1,980, as a class piano teacher for one and one-half days per week "when the third and fourth grade classes participate in the piano courses which will be added next year."

The resignation of Mrs. Evelyn Bleeke, music teacher, "because of pressures at home and professional work taking more and more of her time" was approved. Other resignation approved were those of George Pierson, speech therapist, to accept a position with the special services team in Hunterdon County; Stephen

PTA prepares for fair

Articles, manpower needed

The following article which describes the preparations going on and the need for saleable booth articles and help for the annual Mountainside PTA fair, which will be held on May 11, and whose theme this year will be "Circus," was released this week:

Anyone have any white elephants around the house or in the attic you would like to get rid of? Or how about some used costume jewelry or a new piece of jewelry you received on Christmas, your birthday or for some other event that you wouldn't be caught wearing, but don't know the store where it was purchased - so you can't get a cash refund, or dear old Aunt Tillie sent it to you - or books and records in fairly good condition that are cluttering up the house?

Or, how about you sewers and string savers - got any lace and trim rick-rack, old felt, leftover yarn, coffee cans, plastic bottles pine cones, foam rubber, cardboard, old broom handles you forgot to throw out, or some extra ribbon, artificial flowers or odds and ends of paints?

Or how about running up some aprons or

Handsome brood gets 9th member

In a world where large families are no longer fashionable, Sally and John King of 857 Hillside ave., Mountainside, would be the first to proudly state, "There is just nothing like having a bunch of kids."

Looking at the handsome, healthy brood, with their well-scrubbed smiling faces and with the impishness of their Irish background shining through, it would be an impossible task to refute that statement.

With the arrival of girl number five—four-year-old Carol Jeanne—the girls are one-up on the boys, but, according to their parents, each is very precious, "not because she is a girl and he is a boy but because they are all great kids."

Michael, 13, Kathy, 12, are students at the Deerfield School, Tom, 10; Mary, 7, and Elizabeth, 5, attend Echobrook School, and John, 8, sets off every morning for the Beechwood School. Kevin, 4, Kate, 21 months, and baby Carol are home all day with their mother.

The former Sally Ironfield, mother of the children, is a native of Lowell, Mass., where she attended schools and worked, before her marriage, as a laboratory technician. She and Jack King, a native of Concord, Mass., were married in Lowell and moved to Mountainside in 1962.

Jack, a graduate of Harvard is district manager of the IBM Corp., Data Processing Division, in New York City.

The comfortable happy home is filled with laughter and fun ("only an occasional fight goes on") and each of the children helps the chores and their parents, according to their sizes and ages. A devout as well as a devoted family, they are members of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

Mrs. King, who looks like a kid, herself, says that "a large family does get pretty noisy and demanding at times, but there is also great satisfaction and joy. The children become very responsible and care for one another. Our goal as parents is to help each of the children to grow up, aware of the need for love, patience and kindness to one another and to their parents; and to carry that concern out to everyone they meet in their lives. With God's help, we hope we will be successful."

months; on lap of Michael, 13; mother Sally, holding Carol; daddy Jack, and Kathy, 12. Seated in front are Mary, 7; John, 8; Elizabeth, 5, and Kevin, 4.

Baby-sitting course planned for Mountainside students

The National Council of Jewish Women, Greater Westfield Section, will present a two-day training course in baby sitting in the all-purpose room at Deerfield School, Mountainside next Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon, it was announced this week.

The purpose of this course is to train future babysitters, and boys and girls aged 12 and over were invited to attend. In order to obtain a "Qualified Baby-Sitter's Certificate," students must attend both sessions and pass an examination. Flyers have been distributed in the schools, and parental permission is required. A small registration fee is also required.

The program will consist of a variety of professional speakers who will cover, through films, workshops and discussions, the important aspects of baby-sitting. Participating speakers and their topics will be: Mrs. Sydney Reiter, "Baby-Sitting—A Responsible Job"; a representative from the Westfield Visiting Nurses' Association, "The Care of Small Children"; Dr. Arlene Sherer, "How to Handle Emergencies"; Police Chief Christian Fritz and Fire Captain Henry Porter, "Safety in the Home"; a librarian, "Choosing and Reading a Story"; Mrs. William Gutman, "Youth Employment Service," and Mrs. David Radding, "Arts and Crafts Workshop."

The course was recently given in Westfield, and plans have been made to present it in Springfield during the Easter vacation. Mrs. Joseph Lidick and Mrs. Leon Salz are in charge of the program, aided by Mrs. Louis Parent and Girl Scout Troup 424.

PROFILE--John E. Hechtle

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. and the Mountainside Borough Council knew what they were doing when they recently appointed John Hechtle to the council seat left vacant by B. Dean Spain. He is a young man who is possessed of a maturity beyond his age who stresses that he never does anything until he has "given it much thought from every angle."

Perhaps it is his Teutonic heritage, for he was born of German immigrant parents who fled Germany to escape involvement in the Hitler era and came to America, prepared to work hard and raise a family in a land where there was freedom for all men.

John was born in New York City, one of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hechtle, and until the time he entered kindergarten spoke only German. When he was seven, the family moved to Elmhurst, L.I., where he entered the public schools. His father was a tool designer who held many patents, and the boy, who says, "I loved to work with my hands," wanted nothing more than to follow in his father's footsteps.

"I was taught early," he says, "that if I was going to realize anything in life, the only way I would get it would be to apply myself, be patient and work hard. So I looked around for a school which I felt would prepare me best for my life's work and chose Brooklyn Technical High School, where I studied mechanical engineering."

He will give a slide lecture on the skills and techniques used in the restoration and conservation of great works of art.

Among the important works Rabin has restored are four large paintings by Claude Monet, entitled "Water Lilies," for the Museum of Modern Art; Francisco De Goya's masterpiece, "The Miracle of St. Anthony," for the Carnegie Institute, and the portrait of Andrew Jackson, which now hangs in the Lincoln Room of the White House. The latter was done for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy when she refurbished the presidential mansion.

Presbyterians eat Passover seder

The Community Presbyterian Church served a seder Tuesday as a preparation for today's Maundy Thursday communion service. It was felt that most Christians have never experienced the actual Passover meal which Jesus celebrated and transformed into the symbolic meal of the Lord's Supper, which was celebrated for the first time on what is now known as Maundy or Holy Thursday.

The chairman of the committee for arranging the Passover seder were Mrs. Edward Harvey and Mrs. Walter Degenhardt. The dinner was catered by the Cranford Catering Service and included the traditional food of the Passover meal: Lamb, parsley and bitter herbs, dried fruit, matzos and hard boiled eggs and black olives were served.

Savel, a Deerfield School 1) mathematics teacher, for a position in California, and Marjorie Van Haren, a teacher at Beechwood School, whose husband had been transferred.

Mrs. Mark Fine of Rolling Rock road, in the open discussion period which followed, commented on the advisability of teaching Negro history to children in the MountainSide schools. She expressed the hope that the board would recruit Negro teachers. She also cited the possibility of the board's serious perusal of changing the present report card marking system.

Dr. Hanigan replied that plans were being discussed about teaching Negro history. He stated "This board is not interested in the color of its teachers, only in the qualification of teachers. Teachers are hired on the basis of merit." He also said that he and the Board of Education were responsible to all the members of the community and while discussions had been made with reports and parents on the changing of the report card system of marking, the majority consulted were "unalterably opposed to it and preferred to keep the present system."

The May meeting of the board will be held at its regular meeting place at the Beechwood School.

Bowling Highlights

MountainSide Plumbing and Heating scored its third consecutive sweep victory, this time at the expense of Drewettes Nursery, thereby picking up another point over second-place Satellite Diner, which took a pair from Chrones Tavern in the MountainSide Men's Bowling league last week at Echo Lane.

The victory enabled the plumbers to move six points out in front with 15 games left to play. Sponsor Charlie Honecker's 203 led the plumbers, while Sal Severini's 233 and Vito Marinaro's 206 were high at Satellite Diner. The only other three-ply victory of the night was registered by MountainSide Luncheonette over Wilhelm's construction, with a 202 by Ernie Giannakis showing the way.

A 245 by Joe Halbgeut and a 211 by Don Halbgeut were not enough as Villani Lift Truck Service lost a pair to Fugmann Fuel Oil, with Werner Schoen rolling a 209 for the oilers. Howie Gillespie shot a 214 and his son, Mike, a 211, to lead Westfield National Bank to a two-ply triumph over MountainSide Drug. Other two-game winners were Air Con Inc. over MountainSide Deli, Owens Flying A Service over Blivise Liquors, Quens and Benninger Tansey Agency over PBA, Bud Clevenger's 203 was high for Owens, and Tony Ventimiglia shot a 225 to avert the shut-out for Blivise. Joe Mazur's 207 paced the police.

Drive falls short of community goal

The Westfield-MountainSide Chapter of the American Red Cross announced this week that $2,800 is still needed to reach the goal of $4,976 set for MountainSide.

As the Red Cross month drew to a close, the chapter urged that all residents remind themselves of the services to the armed forces and the civilian population, as "the Red Cross is one of the most effective means for community service, and the Red Cross is our way of showing compassion for an unfortunate neighbor."

The chapter also urged residents who have not yet contributed to send their donation to the local chapter "because in reality, every day is Red Cross Day."

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER SEEKS PROTECTION FOR NEW CAMERA

"I just treated myself to a brand new and expensive camera," an amateur photographer informs us. "How can I best protect myself against its loss or theft?"

If you have any of the homeowner's package policies, you undoubtedly have coverage against damage caused by fire, windstorm, hail, smoke, explosion and other perils. One of these perils is theft, which is the third highest cause of loss reported to insurance companies.

Before you can collect on a theft claim, there must be clear evidence that you were robbed. There must be clear signs that your home was broken into, such as a forced lock or the contents of bureau or desks strewn about the premises. Theft from your parked car is covered only if the car was locked and if there are signs of "forcible entry."

Many policyholders can obtain somewhat broader coverage against theft by purchasing what insurance men refer to as "extended theft" coverage. This protection, which does not require a much evidence to substantiate robbery or burglary, can be added to most homeowner's policies in most states.

You will note that we have not yet mentioned accidental loss of your new camera. The best way to adequately insure your most valuable possessions against accidental loss is with a Personal Articles floater.

This policy, whether purchased separately or as a rider to your homeowner's policy, is the kind of protection that an art collector would use to insure his Picassos. It is used to insure specific items of jewelry, furs, silverware, fine arts, sporting equipment, musical instruments and stamp and coin collections on a scheduled basis. It's called a "floater" policy because it is not limited to coverage at any particular location, but follows you wherever you go.

Call us for additional details.

'ALL BROTHERS'
Thursday, April 4, 1968, our brother was murdered! He was black, we are white, both of us have an adopted child who is half yellow by common definition, and yet we are all members of the one true race, the human race—and so we are indeed, all brothers and sisters in the eyes of God.

Sunday afternoon a memorial march was held in Westfield. About 600 persons walked from Bethel Baptist Church to Mindowaskin Park, where a brief tribute was held for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

We are crying out to you—the good people of our towns—who decided that it was too pleasant a day to leave the gardening, to show your brothers that you cared and deplored the tragedy that had occurred. We are crying out because it is the good people who stood on the curbs and watched us walk, and did not join us. Because it was the good people who sat on the park benches and did not rise, to walk over to us.

Not too many years ago, when we were little girls growing up in an equally troubled world, more than six million of our brothers and sisters were murdered in a country across the ocean, while the "good people" of that country either feigned ignorance, or sat in their lawn chairs or on park benches—or the equivalent thereof.

There are many ways of killing people. A gas chamber or napalm is one method. In difference and complacency are equally deadly.

Some 600 people walking yesterday were not enough, nor were the more than 1500 persons at the inter-faith memorial service held in the evening. Good people, our brothers and sisters, this is urgent. You must no longer sit on your porches and watch people march by. The lawn can wait, the Little League can wait, the golf game can wait—so long as there is a human being who needs our help.

What can we do to help? For one thing, you can ask your brothers who need your help,

In what way you can help them, if we think of ourselves as brothers and sisters, perhaps this might help.

To leave one more thought with you: This has been a national period of mourning, requiring a flying of the American flag at half-mast. On Memorial Day, July 4, and almost all other days of national consequence, flags are flying from the vast majority of homes in Colonial Westfield and Mountainside. Where have all the flags been these past few days? Good people, please come forth. You are needed now.

MEMORIAL MARCH

I would appreciate your publishing an account of our journey to Newark last Sunday to join the march which was held in tribute to the memory of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Following is an account of the trip and our feelings:

We left Mountainside by bus at 1:30 p.m. from Our Lady of Lourdes Church. We arrived in Newark about 2 p.m. in front of the Essex County Court House on High Street where the march began. The weather was lovely and there was a sparkle in the air.

All we could see was a sea of people. Thousands of them. There must have been at least 20 to 30 thousand marchers. We walked together through the dismal streets of Newark, white and black people. One people, with one sorrow in our hearts. The onlookers and apartment dwellers first just looked at us, and then began to wave and smile. Many of the children waved, and reached out their hands to greet us. We were all together, and the city people reached out to us outsiders. But we were really not outsiders; we were one in our sorrow and concern. Searching for an answer, not on a temporary basis but for a long time range.

And at the end of our tribute we were asked by a most eloquent group of civic leaders and clergymen to please come and help. They need our help, and without an active support, from us suburbanites, there will be no change.

The city of Newark on this Sunday was calm and dignified and honored the memory of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in the very spirit he carried. It was a privilege to be able to participate in this march, but let it not be just a march, a one-shot deal, but a long term contract.

I include the quotation of a flyer distributed to us by the organizers of the march:

"Let us work together to make Dr. Martin Luther King's dream come true. You showed your care by walking today. Will you show your care tomorrow by working to improve conditions? Much needs to be done in legislation, housing, education, employment, recreation, and other fields. Your support is necessary in all of these endeavors. Anyone interested, please contact us at Operation Understanding, 44 Belmont Ave., Newark, or call 842-3110, from 10 to 4 p.m."

GLENN B. KLINEFELTER

Klinefelter served two-and-a-half years of active duty in the European theater during World War II. Upon discharge he entered the University of Maryland where he was awarded a B.S. degree in electrical engineering. Before joining the Gorton Heating Corp. of Cranford, 13 years ago, in which he has served as vice-president for 11 years, he worked in industrial fire protection engineering for four years. He holds several U.S. patents on products marketed by his company in this country and in Europe.

He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, and is active in the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Westfield, where he served on the board of deacons for 10 years. He is presently serving as chairman of the Board of Trustees and has a seat on the church council. He is also a member of the Echo Lake Country Club.

He has also served as industrial chairman of the Cranford United Fund. He has been active in the Cub Scouts and has been manager of the Little League, both of Mountainside, for several years.

While at high school, he found time to continue with his piano lessons. "I took those for nine years," he says, attended Manhattan School of Music and joined the American Youth Hostels. This was an organization he explains, "where members were invited to farms for the summer. We worked for nothing, milking cows, cleaning pigs and their pens and collecting eggs. For two years, I went to these places on a bike or on skis. We kids paid 25 cents a night and for that we got a place to sleep in barns, hay lofts or bunk rooms. It was a lot of fun especially for us city kids."

WHEN JOHN WAS 14 years old, he contracted polio "but I can thank my mother for my complete recovery. She treated me with the Sister Kenny treatments, and although I was left with a heart murmur which prevented my taking part in high school sports, by the time I entered the Army, there wasn't even a trace of that."

That same year, accompanied by three other boys and one boy's mother, he went on a 1,200-mile bicycle trip which the boys accomplished in five weeks.

"Gee," he recalls wistfully, "was that ever fun. We started in Hudson, N.Y., and went on up to Lake Champlain, then to Montreal. We came back through the New England states, stopped off at the White Mountains and hiked there for four days, before coming back home."

Apparently young Hechtle learned early in life what endurance meant. "For during the Depression days, although I was very young, I saw my father, when he couldn't get enough work in his trade, waiting for snow storms so he could run to the city, grab a shovel and work all day, shovelling snow."

Upon graduation from high school, believing it was wise to join a small company and grow with it, he found the Radiant Pen Corp., which was then located in downtown New York. He was hired as a tool maker for the company, which manufactured pen points and component parts for the trade.

He recalls, "In the meantime, I again met Eleanor Albrecht, whose father had been a friend of my father when they were bachelors in Germany. I had not seen her since she was five years old, but when I met her again, I knew she was the girl I was going to marry. We became engaged, but I had to go in the Army, so we decided to wait until I had been discharged from service to marry."

IN THE ARMY, he was trained in the use of heavy weapons and served 18 months in Alaska in a heavy weapons company. When the snow got heavy, he volunteered as a skiing instructor, a job in which he also repaired skis and corrected them to fit the men in his outfit. He was discharged with the rank of corporal and hurried back to rejoin the Radiant Pen Corp., and marry Eleanor.

The couple bought a small Cape Code house in Dumont, from which he commuted every day to downtown New York.

His company continued to grow and when it moved to Kentworth 10 years ago, Hechtle moved with it, settling in Mountainside. When the company went into the plastic injection molding field, to become the largest plastic pen point supplier in the world, John learned that field and now holds the position of tool designer and production supervisor.

Stevenson, now 9, and a fourth grade student at Beechwood School, came to join sister Debbie, now 12, and a seventh grade student at Deerfield School, soon after the family moved to Mountainside.

Debbie is a member of the Larkettes, a singing group at the school, and plays clarinet in the school band. Steven, who his father says is "amazing, in that he never has to be told to practice. Like me, he loves music," plays the guitar and is a cub scout.

Mrs. Hechtle who is active in the Mountainside PTA and is the president of its steering committee, formerly sang in the Community Presbyterian Church choir and is a member of the Mountainside Women's Bowling League.

ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY affairs, Hechtle has served in various capacities on the Community Fund Appeal and has been the Republican committeeman of the Fifth District for the past three years. He recently volunteered to serve as a Wablos Scout leader next year.

They are a closely knit family, and vacations are spent together in Bermuda, the New England states, where they once hiked up Mt. Washington, the Jersey shore and a trip to Niagara Falls. Mother and dad love tennis and never miss an opportunity to play.

The family resides at 346 Old Grove rd. They also count as members: Duke, a boxer; two rabbits, a turtle, which Debbie caught last year in Barnegat Bay and two gerbils, mouse-type animals "who present us with a little one every six weeks, which Debbie sells to a pet shop for one dollar apiece," the father says proudly.

When asked his reasons for accepting the appointment to the Borough Council, Hechtle

GARY'S CORNER

A REGULAR WEEKLY FEATURE

by GARY LESING, Manager of SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE

Last week we were taken to task by my brother-in-law Tom who countered our claim that the best team in the National League this coming season will be the Cards. He named the Mets, and we cited his reasons.

More than that, we watched a game between the Mets and the Braves, and we arrived at the conclusion that Tom is right, the Mets are great! So, we change our opinion and name them '68 World Champs.

It seems, though, that we barely let the ink dry on that selection when my brother Ken stopped in our shop to pick me apart for naming the Red Sox the best team in the Junior League in '68. He then proceeded to give his most valued reasons why it won't be the Sox in a repeat performance, but rather the Tigers out of Detroit. Here's his side of the argument!

It wasn't until the final games last year that the Tigers were eliminated from the race and Manager Mayo Smith is the only big league manager this season to have such top flight starts as Mickey Lolich, Denny McLain, Earl Wilson and Joe Sparrma. He has a solid infield in Norm Cash, Dick McAuliffe, Don Wert and shortstop Ray Oyler or Tom Matchik. Eddie Mathews is still a big threat at the bat, and catcher Bill Freehan is the best in the league.

When you start talking about the outfield and start off naming Al Kaline, you can almost stop there because this chap is the greatest. He's been playing all-star ball for 15 years and there isn't anyone better (they might have better press agents, that's all). With Willie Horton in left and Jim Northrup in center, you've got the best outfield in baseball today.

Switching from baseball to automobile products, you'll find the best this and every season with FIRESTONE at SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE, Rt. 22 at Springfield rd., Union, Open daily 9-9, Saturdays to 4, we've got a trained staff ready to service your car needs. Stop in today, or call us at MU 8-5620.

Dear Neighbors:

Just like in the years past, we again are ready to take care of your shade and ornamental trees. Because this year the destructive scale insects appear to be more plentiful than in the past we urge you to let us spray your oak trees well in advance of first spring leaves. For an early spray during this month, we can use high viscosity spray oil which is most effective and yet absolutely harmless to humans as well as our birds. The scale insects infect trees which will decay beyond any means of help later on. Don't let this happen to your trees that are the source of enjoyment year after year. They provide you with cooling shade in the summer time, they beautify your home and, yes, then enhance the value of your very home as if they would want to thank you for taking care of them.

We have the most modern equipment, our men are highly trained and skilled for such jobs. Don't delay, call us up and be informed more fully. There is no obligation, of course.

School bell rings here for technical students

Mountainside has a new school this week. Some 125 students from northern and central New Jersey began attending classes Monday in Union Technical Institute's new quarters at 1011 Route 22, near Echo Lanes.

The institute, which celebrated its 20th anniversary last September, relocated from its facilities in Union to a modern structure with parking space for 150 cars in less than 14 days.

"The transition was as smooth as possible," says Paul Barotta, the institute's president and director. "The amazing part was that the students lost little actual instruction time. For one or two days we held classroom sessions at the old building and then had them come out here for laboratory instruction. And it worked."

For Barotta, the move to Mountainside represents more than just a shift to larger quarters. It means a vindication of his belief in the growing importance of technical education, especially in a state like New Jersey.

"Take the transistor industry—an industry that's only 15 years old," Barotta explains. "The companies involved in transistors spend a half-a-million dollars a year for recruitment alone. They need 200,000 new technicians annually. Yet we are producing only 15,000. This is only one technically-oriented industry. The others are experiencing the same acute personnel gap."

BAROTTA HAS LONG been an advocate of technical education for non-college bound teens who want to qualify for well-paying jobs. He approaches the subject with an almost fanatic fervor, and has taken his message to hundreds of audiences throughout the country.

Union Tech's director gravitated to the technical education field after serving as chief engineer with several leading industrial firms. A graduate of Newark College of Engineering, Barotta looks back on his years in industry "as a sort of preparation for the much larger task of running a school such as Union Tech."

"I remember the post-war years as years of tremendous discovery in electronics," Barotta says. "We were on the threshold of the technical revolution. I wanted to participate in it as directly as I could and I could think of no more satisfying way than helping young people get into the field."

The school was founded in Union City in 1947 as Hudson Technical Institute. Seven years later the non-profit school moved to Elizabeth and was renamed Union Technical Institute. In 1962, Union Tech found larger quarters in Union. During the years, Barotta estimates that more than

N.J. women asked to join state-wide traffic program

New Jersey women are being invited to take part in a state-wide traffic problem. Director of Motor Vehicles June Strelceki announced, at the New Jersey Extension Homemakers Council regional safety meeting this week, the formation of a Women's Traffic Safety Forum to bring traffic safety consciousness and consciousness to the community and to the home.

The Director urges the presidents of women's organizations to follow the example of the Extension Homemakers Council by conducting safety conferences in their communities. Safety representatives, appointed from each organization, will then be asked to serve as delegates to an annual state-wide safety conference arranged by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Miss Strelceki appointed Miss Olivia DePastina, Motor Vehicles Public Information Officer, to head the Motor Vehicles Women's Forum. Miss DePastina will advise and cooperate with safety program planning, coordinate ideas and schedules, and will make available pertinent traffic safety materials and visual aids.

Organization representatives may contact Miss DePastina at the Division of Motor Vehicles office in Trenton, (609) 292-4049.

HALF-PAST TEEN

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a teenager—18 years old—and I have a problem. I am in love with a boy who is 3 years and 2 months younger than me. I'm in love with him but he doesn't know it; in fact, nobody does, I never admit anything to him, I keep everything to myself. I'm afraid to let him know that I love him as much as he loves me because I think I'll be wasting his time. I also think he's too young and that he can find another girl younger than me, one about his own age. I'm in love with him and I don't know what to do. Please give me some advice."

OUR REPLY: He is too young for you. He can probably get another girl -- one nearer his own age. You can also get another boy -- one nearer your own age. You will be better off and, in a very short time, you will both come to the conclusion that you were not so much in love as you thought you were. If it should happen that you are really in love, your love would stand the test of a period of separation. Give it a try. And, this time, each of you choose someone nearer your own age.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Dinner scheduled to honor Y leader

A committee has been formed to plan a testimonial dinner for George H. Kahn, who will retire this year after 44 years as Social Director of the YM-YWHA of Essex County in Newark. The function will take place on Tuesday evening, May 21, at The Goldman in West Orange. Reservations may be made by writing to Y, 255 Chancellor ave., Newark, 07112. Kahn will also be celebrating his birthday on May 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Teicher of Union and Sam Seidler of Newark are co-chairmen of the committee. Assisting them are: Dr. Harry Lantz and Sam Bloom of Union; Mr. and Mrs. Hershey Snyder and Mrs. Manfred Orbach of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Levin and Mrs. Gerald E. Schwartz of Hillside; Mrs. Ben Scheffer and Mrs. Sandra Rosenbloom of Bloomfield; Dr. Allan Brotman and Joel Schwartz of Maplewood; Harold Stenberg of South Orange; Carl Hantz of Irvington; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Silverman of Millburn; Marvin Mayer of Elizabeth; Mrs. Lita Mand and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mageziz of West Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sacharow of Mountainside; Mrs. Lona Alpert of Cranford; and Mrs. Herbert Hodes and Ray Harris of Newark.

College placement talk scheduled at academy

Parents of Newark Academy juniors will meet for an open forum on college admissions at the school, South Orange ave., Livingston, next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

James F. Manning, Director of College Placement, and E. Standish Bradford, headmaster, will explain in detail the college placement program followed at Newark Academy. They will discuss with the parents the significance of College Board scores, class rank, extra curricular participation, and the personal interview on campus. Nearly 100 parents are expected to attend.

Writers-teachers program to be held at NCE campus

Newark College of Engineering will host to the first annual New Jersey's Writers-Teachers Conference, an all-day program to be held on the NCE campus Saturday, April 27. Highlight of the conference will be a series of workshops at which local authors will discuss their writing methods with the several hundred New Jersey teachers expected to attend. Sponsoring the conference is the New Jersey Association of Teachers of English. Dr. Herman A. Estrin, professor of English at Newark College of Engineering and program chairman for the conference, noted however that the writers conference on April 27 is open to others who are interested in improving their writing abilities. Registration and luncheon is available to all at $5 per person. Registrations should be forwarded to Dr. Estrin at NCE, 323 High st., Newark, before April 20.

The day-long program will be held in NCE's Alumni Center for Continuing Education, beginning with registration at 9:30 a.m. Four specialized workshops dealing with fiction, non-fiction, children's books and science literature will be held in the morning. After lunch at the college, four other workshops will be held on the topics of poetry, writing for professional magazines, writing for technical magazines and writing for news media. Hosts and hostesses for the course of the conference will be eight teachers from the New Jersey Association of Teachers of English. They are Ruby Bishar of Paramus High School; Mrs. Francis Ryan of New Providence High School; Mrs. Catherine Rowland of New Brunswick High School; Mrs. Anne B. Shepherd, Princeton Day School; Mrs. Betty Stambolian, Summit High School; Fred Davis, Thomas Jefferson High School; Donald Cross, Upsala College, and Frank Ramsey, South Plainfield High School.

SELECTIVE SERVICE questions and answers

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, state director of Selective Service, has issued the following series of questions frequently asked of the Selective Service System, along with appropriate answers.

My neighbor's son has stated he will not comply with his Order to Report for Induction. If he is convicted for such offense and serves a prison term, will he then be free of his obligation to serve in the Armed Forces?

No. The Military Selective Service Act of 1967 provides that "any registrant who has failed or refused to report for induction shall continue to remain liable for induction and when available shall be immediately inducted."

Do I understand correctly that an alien can avoid military service in the United States if he makes a request to that effect?

An alien who has not been admitted to the United States for permanent residence but who has remained in the United States for a period exceeding one year may, prior to his induction, file with his local board an Application for Alien for Relief from Training and Service in the Armed Forces. Any alien who makes such application shall thereafter be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States.

To whom is a I-W classification given?

In Class I-W are those registrants who, as conscientious objectors, are performing civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest, in accordance with the order of the local board.

Now that the National Security Council has recommended that the lists of essential activities and critical occupations issued by the Departments of Commerce and Labor be suspended, is there a change in the authority for granting occupational deferments?

No. Local draft boards have the continuing responsibility under law to use their discretion to grant occupational deferments. The decision, as always, must be based on all the facts of the individual case under consideration.

I understand that a registrant who lives with his child is classified in Class III-A. How does Selective Service define the word, "child" in this regard?

Selective Service regulations define the word, "child", as including a legitimate or an illegitimate child from the date of its conception, a child legally adopted, a stepchild, a foster child, and a person who is supported in good faith by the registrant but does not include any person 18 years of age or over unless he is physically or mentally handicapped.

Must I have completed a certain number of hours before being considered for deferment in an approved apprenticeship training program?

No. The requirement that a specific number of hours be completed for this purpose was eliminated by the Director of Selective Service.

What is the classification given to those registrants who are attending one of the service academies?

Every registrant who is a cadet at the U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Air Force Academy, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, or a midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy shall be classified in Class I-C.

At the present time I am in my third year of graduate work for a doctoral degree. It will be necessary for me to transfer to another university for the last two years because of the curriculum offered. If I do transfer, may I retain my II-S student deferment?

Yes, providing there is not any interruption in your study program and your new school certifies that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction leading to the degree. The II-S deferment may be granted, in your case, for only two more years as there is a five year limitation for graduate school, inclusive of the years already used in such course of study. Be sure to inform your local board of your plans.

My local board told me I might qualify for a II-C agricultural deferment if I was employed in the production for market of a substantial quantity of agricultural commodities. How is this "quantity" determined?

Dwyer: Continue Dr. King's work

"The murder of Dr. King deprived our people of a man who made his commitment to justice an integral part of his faith that men can live as brothers. He refused to surrender—either to indifference or hatred." Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th), said in response to Dr. Martin Luther King's murder.

"If this untimely tragedy triggers the conscience of America and helps to unite our people in a new crusade for justice and freedom and mutual respect, then Martin Luther King will not have died in vain. As the human symbol of non-violence and brotherhood, of black and white working together in a common cause, he deserves to be honored, in death, in the very way he lived his life -- that is, with compassion and understanding and firm determination to pursue the work of justice.

"We must all commit ourselves to this cause. It is no longer enough simply to shun ill will, if we would do God's work (which was also Dr. King's), nothing will suffice but positive and active good will.

"Beginning Wednesday, when the Civil Rights Bill has already been scheduled for consideration, Congress will have another chance to show how truly we believe in justice, how responsibly we can act," Mrs. Dwyer said.

'Crime in Streets' panelists are listed

The New Jersey Senate majority leader, Francis X. McDermott, will be among five panelists who will discuss "Crime in the Streets," a public service program to be presented by Union County Open Forum, Inc., on Friday, May 3, in the auditorium of Connecticut Farms School in Union.

Other panelists on the program, which will be moderated by former Governor Robert B. Meyner, include Vincent Broderick, former New York City police commissioner; Marshall Brown Sr., educator and president of the Plainfield area NAACP; Herbert Romerstein, investigator for the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities, and Dominick Spina, director of the Newark police department.

Panelists on the "Crime in the Streets" program will explore some of the causes of increased violence in America, and discuss ways in which citizens can help reduce what has been called the nation's No. 1 domestic problem, according to Forum spokesmen. The public is urged to attend this timely public service program. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students, and tickets may be ordered by mail from Union County Open Forum, Inc., 600 Leigh dr., Westfield.

The program will start at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of Connecticut Farms School on Suyvesant avenue in Union.

Litter at streams costs state, anglers

"Litter is a costly desecration of New Jersey's natural beauty," Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development said this week in a plea for the practice of good outdoor manners.

The arrival of spring brings many Garden State citizens to the out-of-doors, especially fishermen. While most anglers are among the most considerate of outdoor recreationists, holding a deep appreciation of natural beauty, attention focuses on the careless minority of anglers, because fishing is the dominant sport at this time, and because they often cross private land to reach a favorite stream, Roe said.

Fishermen pay an especially high price for the boorish behavior of a few. Each year additional miles of stream are closed by disgusted landowners, and each litter bit in a stream is detrimental to fish habitat, the commissioner added.

Besides avoiding littering, anglers should be careful not to dig worms where it would damage an attractive area or trample shrubbery. Parking should be done so as not to block travel or leave ugly tire marks, and gates should be left closed.

Littering is very easy for any outdoor user to avoid. An empty bag or beverage can is a lighter burden to carry to a receptacle or back home than the full one was to bring out. It is simple common sense for an angler or picnicker to treat an area as he would expect a visitor to treat his own home, and he will find the area more enjoyable on his next visit.

The same principle applies to public lands, which are truly the citizen's own, having been bought with either tax or license funds. The cost of keeping these areas clean falls on either the taxpayer or the fishing or hunting license buyer.

The Bureau of Wildlife Management estimates that as much as a third of the time spent by personnel is devoted to cleaning up and maintaining Fish and Wildlife Management Areas. Much of this time could be devoted to beneficial projects such as habitat improvement. Employees of the Bureau of Parks and of County and Local Park Commissions also spend much time that could be used to improve facilities, Roe said.

Despite this costly cleanup effort, some litter remains to continue as a blot on the landscape. Trampling of shrubbery wastes the hours that were spent in planting it to improve the attractiveness or wildlife habitat on an area, he added.

Carelessness with fire is especially costly. An unattended or improperly quenched campfire or even a dropped match or cigarette can lead to the loss of many acres of woodland,

Commissioner Roe concluded, "By simply practicing safe and courteous habits, New Jersey citizens can protect valuable outdoor resources offering untold beauty and recreational opportunity."

School transportation topic at annual meeting

The State Department of Education will hold its fourth annual conference for New Jersey pupil transportation supervisors April 23 and 24 at Cherry Hill Inn, Cherry Hill.

More than 150 transportation supervisors, school administrators, school board secretaries and school bus owners will participate in the conference.

Discussion topics will include school bus routing, transporting the handicapped child, techniques of driver training, prevention of accidents, school bus insurance, electronic control of vandalism and the role of the State Police in pupil transportation.

Ask Amy

By

Dear Amy:
I have been going with a 56 year old man for 16 years. He says that he loves me. When I ask if he will ever marry me, he says he is "thinking" about it.
I love him and want to get married, I would like to know if he will ever marry me at all?
Ruth would like to have their addresses.

Believe me, I'd appreciate your helpfulness because I also am forced to sit at home.
Sincerely yours,
John S.

Dear Ruth:
No. Why should he?
The following letters reiterate my advice to the two girls who wrote me and signed themselves "Social Rejects." Well, "Social Rejects," the line is forming on the right. Send me your names and addresses and I'll put you in touch with these boys you didn't believe existed.

Dear Amy:
Last week I read a letter sent to you about "Social Rejects." I am 18 years old and would really like to know where to find these "Social Rejects." If their's is the case, I guess I'm one, too, because I don't smoke, drink or take drugs. It pleases me to know there are some decent girls still left in this world. But my problem lies in finding them. While I'm sitting at home reading DEAR AMY and they are sitting at home knitting, how can a meeting result?
... In The Minority?

Dear Amy:
Under normal conditions I wouldn't have written you, but I can't stand to see "nice" girls to "sour."
Perhaps I am still in time to save the "Social Rejects" from going bad. I am a boy, 18 years old, and would consider it a privilege to meet those two girls who call themselves "Social Rejects."
At statistics, I'm no expert, but I am sure that there are many boys who go through the week searching through all the trash to find a girl with the qualifications of these two.
Admirer

Dear Amy:
We are two young teenage boys; one 13 and the other 15. We are also very good friends. We have a big problem that we would like you to solve. We both love the same girl. Please tell us what to do so as not to break our friendship.
Puzzled Teenagers

Dear Amy:
I read your column this week about the 18 year old girls who don't drink, smoke, take drugs, or believe in premarital sex. Well, I agree with these girls and if at all possible

Dear Teenagers:
It's easier to get over the girl than to break up a friendship. Find two girls you can like separately and stick together.

Rutgers schedules classes to prepare for licensing exam

Rutgers University has announced plans for offering two courses for persons interested in becoming sanitary inspectors.
A basic environmental sanitation course, designed for those who have completed two years of college, will be held at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science in New Brunswick during the eight-week summer session, from mid-June to mid-August. Classes will be held six hours a day, five days a week.
The university also will offer a field training course for six weeks from early September to mid-October. This will be a program of supervised work experience in an assigned local health department located within commuting distance of the student's home.
The courses are being offered to prepare students for the state licensing examination to be given in the fall. These courses or equivalent training or experience, plus two years of college, are required for admission to the licensing exam.
State Health Department officials said that there is a shortage of qualified sanitary inspectors. They reported that starting salaries for licensed sanitary inspectors range from about $5,500 to $7,000.

Unit urges general hospitals to treat tuberculosis patients

Copies of a national report which calls for the treatment of tuberculosis patients in general hospitals are being mailed this week by the New Jersey Tuberculosis and Health Association to the administrators of every hospital in the state. Copies of the report, accompanied by a letter from Dr. Joseph A. Smith of New Brunswick, chairman of NJTBA's Medical Affairs and Research Committee, are also going to physicians and directors of nursing throughout the state.
In the covering letter, Dr. Smith points out that modern procedures have made it possible to prevent transmission of the disease so isolation, once the only effective means of preventing contagion, is no longer necessary. The new control methods include prolonged use of new drugs effective against TB, and new methods of preventing transmission of germs through the air.
Also included in the mailing are revised editions (January, 1968) of a guide for physicians in the use of the new drugs for TB, prepared according to standards recommended in 1960 at a conference held in Princeton under the co-sponsorship of the N. J. Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Medical Society of New Jersey and the State Department of Health.
The national report was prepared by an Ad Hoc Committee of the National Tuberculosis-Respiratory Disease Association, the parent organization of NJTBA.
Also serving on NJTBA's Medical Affairs Committee are Dr. Stephen M. Ayres, Director of Cardiopulmonary Laboratory at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City; Dr. J. Purnam Brodsky of Rumson; Dr. Albert D.

Negro working woman subject of labor report

More than seven out of 10 Negro families are husband-wife families, and in nearly half of these families the wife works, a study released by the U.S. Department of Labor's Women's Bureau has revealed.
The study, "Negro Women in the Population and in the Labor Force," states that the contribution made by Negro working wives to family income is substantial. The distribution of these families by family income shows that if the wife worked, the family was half as likely to have an income below poverty levels ($3,000 per year).
Moreover, the wife's earnings in many instances brought the family income above the level of modest adequacy (estimated at an annual income of $7,000 or more). Among nonwhite mothers of children under 18 years, almost half are workers, and two-fifths of those with children under 6 are workers.

Summer session dates listed at UC

Union College's summer session will open June 24 and continue for six weeks through Aug. 2, it was announced this week by Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer, director.

Prof. Swackhamer said classes in the day session will be held from 8:30 to 11:00 a.m., while evening sessions will be offered from 6:30 to 9:10 p.m. All courses will be available five days a week, Monday through Friday.

Registration for the summer session will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on June 19 and 20.

Prof. Swackhamer said an enrollment of more than 500 is anticipated with about half the students regularly enrolled at Union College, and the others from colleges and universities throughout the United States. Students from more than 100 colleges and universities from more than 100 colleges and universities were enrolled last summer, Prof. Swackhamer reported.

"Students who are currently attending other colleges must submit a statement of approval from their own institutions," Prof. Swackhamer said.

More than 30 freshman and sophomore courses in the areas of liberal arts, engineering, physical and life sciences, and business administration will be available at the summer session.

A brochure listing all courses and an application form can be obtained by writing to: Director, Summer Session, Union College, Cranford.

APRIL SHOWERS—Little Linda Koby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Koby of Union, models what the well-dressed pre-teen wears to ward off spring rains. She was one of models at Union County Heart Association's fashion show Saturday in Elizabeth. The show, a salute to Union, was sponsored by Stan Sommer and Lloyd Travel Exchange, both of Union.

Astronomy club to hear Hesser

Dr. James E. Hesser, Princeton University astronomer, will speak at a meeting of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., on Friday, April 19, at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Theater at Union College, Cranford. Dr. Hesser will describe his work in "Observation of Rapidly Varying Stars."

"Changes in the relative light intensity of certain stars was noticed by astronomers as early as the 15th century, but the periodic nature of such changes was not recognized until the mid-1800's," Anthony Paone of Westfield, AAI president and director of the Sperry Observatory at Union College, said. "Today more than 20,000 variable stars are known and observed regularly. This has made it possible to classify them into several distinct types according to the mechanism that causes their variation."

Fund dinner held by county chapter of Cancer Society

Nearly 200 American Cancer Society volunteers and guests attended the Union County Chapter's Sixth Annual Special Gifts Dinner Friday night at the Hotel Winfield Scott, Elizabeth, in memory of the late Albert W. Stender, Sr., former president of the hotel and a long-time volunteer in the fight against cancer.

Stender, who was also president of the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark and owner of the Park Hotel in Plainfield, initiated the annual dinner in 1963 to help support the research, service and education programs of the Society's Union County Chapter. He served as co-chairman in 1964, 1965 and 1966. Chairman and toastmaster was Carlton S. Stallard, president of Jersey Mortgage Co., Elizabeth.

Stallard presented an American Cancer Society award to Mrs. Albert W. Stender, honoring her late husband. He also accepted on behalf of the Society a check for $1,000 from Paul I. Langdon, treasurer of the Harold G. Hoffman Tent of Circus Saints and Sinners, one of Stender's former organizations which has contributed regularly to the work of the Society.

William Gargan, actor, was guest speaker. A leading figure in the American theatre for more than 35 years, Gargan was a victim of cancer of the larynx in 1960.

Phil Brito, singer and accordionist who has appeared on numerous TV shows, was the featured entertainer for the evening.

Among Union County Chapter officers present at the dinner were Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the Union County Chapter and president of Newark State College; Chapter Vice Presidents Raymond J. Buesing, Lincroft, national board member and chairman of the national finance committee; Mrs. Winfield Bonyne, Whippany, vice president and area chairman, and Thomas F. RECREATION—Members of the Teen-age Club of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Union County, playing ping pong at table with nets fastened to sides plus back drops. Seated at table facing camera is Harold McGriff of Union. Watching is Patrick Beattie and Barbara Haystrom, a volunteer worker, is Harold's opponent. Club meets every Tuesday in Plainfield.

Programs prove no real handicap

Every Tuesday, approximately 30-35 handicapped teen-agers enjoy many of the activities their more fortunate counterparts participate in, at the Plainfield headquarters of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Union County.

"Though the programs are held in Plainfield the members come from all parts of the county," according to Mrs. George Raymond, executive director.

Teeners bring their own suppers. Activities are of their own choosing, including pool, ping pong, shuffleboard, table games, crafts, singing and rock 'n roll.

Also, there are weekly club programs for adults on Monday evenings and the Society is co-sponsoring Cub Scout and Junior Girl Scout programs for physically handicapped children, Mrs. Raymond said.

Handball comes to Five Points 'Y'

The Five Points YMCA, Union, announced a new opportunity for adults in physical fitness. The YMCA has just completed construction of a handball court through the efforts of Marco DiGiovanni who was responsible for the major part of construction and a gift of lumber from a local supplier, according to Howard Merrick, Branch executive.

"This will provide adults an active and regular activity to maintain their physical fitness on Tuesday and Friday noon hours and Tuesday and Thursday evenings," he said.

This activity will now become a regular offering for adult members of the Five Points YMCA. For further information call 687-5570.

UC will unveil portrait

A portrait of Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president of Union College, Cranford, will be unveiled Sunday, April 28, following a piano recital by Dr. Thomas Richner sponsored by the Friends of the College of Union College.

The concert is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the theatre of the Campus Center, while the unveiling will be held at about 4:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. Following the unveiling, Dr. Mackay, who is on a year's sabbatical leave, will be guest of honor at a reception in the Student Lounge.

MRS. RAYMOND NOTED that this is Easter Seal Monday, "the one time of the year when letters are sent to residents of the county asking for support."

"Your donation dollars not only help toward research and treatment but are used in operating expenses for the programs described here and give the handicapped people of the area some fun out of life. In fact, for many of them, these are the only events of a social nature to which they can look forward from week to week and month to month."

She said additional information may be obtained by calling her at 756-6659.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

EASTER
 The message of Easter is a message of hope. We cannot think of any other day in the world's history that can so thrill the heart as the day we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus from the dead, unless it be the day we celebrate the coming of Jesus into the world. Someone has said that realization of death can bring new meaning into the life of men. It is the message of Easter that death is not the final
