(SP-4143). A good performance...

"Anatomy of a Shoot," the story of a suc-cessful lunar shot from lift-off to landing on the moon and after, will be told on "The 21st Century" report which will be televised in color Sunday, April 14 at 6-6:30 p.m. CBS-TV. Viewers will be able to follow behind-thescenes activities of incredible complexity, as the Surveyor moon vehicle was launched from its pad at Cape Kennedy, guided across a quarter of a million miles of space by scientists at JPL in Pasadena, and softlanded on the moon a scant mile and a half from the center of the target area. There, under pre-programmed orders from Pasadena, it dug samples of the moon surface and conducted scientific experiments, relaying the results back to earth. Thousands of black and white photographs were made by camera equipment aboard the Surveyor 7 vehicle for these transmissions.

An especially interesting sequence in "Anatomy of a Shoot" shows how a failure in the operation was corrected after a meeting of JPL scientists. After touchdown, a robot chemical analysis laboratory failed to deploy to the surface. From the earth the robot arm on the moon was ordered to push the instrument down to the surface where it could work.

PAINTING PORCHES

Wooden or concrete porch floors are subject to heavy foot traffic, so be sure to paint them with an extremely durable coating. Special porch and deck paints are stocked by your reputable local paint dealer, but undercoat will vary according to the material to be covered. Wood can sometimes be primed with a thinned version of the top coat, whereas cement floors must be primed with an alkali

Regional plan group warns of crisis from non-spending

Regional Plan Association's New Jersey Committee warned the New Jersey Capital Needs Commission this week that the state has crimped itself into a crisis in transporta-tion, water supply, health facilities, and institutions and that it must boldly recommend adequate investment in all of these--plus parks, air and water pollution control and continuing college expansion.

Noting the Association's projection of a doubled population in Northern New Jersey by 2000 and more than a quadrupling of demand for college places, Albert W. Merck, chairman, urged the state government to catch up with past needs and keep up with growing needs.

One dry summer would bring back a serious drought, although full reservoirs lie little used for lack of transmission systems, the statement pointed out. Nearly all commuter railroad cars are over forty years old, and many will have to be taken out of service soon for safety reasons. Highway construction lags behind development, steadily increasing the minutes of delay for thousands of travellers each day. In addition to recognizing past miserliness and spending enough to catch up to current needs, the committee recommended that a better system of State capital budgeting be instituted, probably in the Governor's office.

State planning should be tied to capital budget consideration, the Committee added, so State investment is not wasted. For example, a decision can be made to cluster state facilities. either in older or newly-created downtowns, or it can be determined to scatter urban facilities, Now, the committee observed, state policy goes both ways, and the result is a large bill for highways to serve the scattered facilities and for urban renewal and public transportation to serve such renewed and enlarged centers as Newark, Trenton, Camden, Morristown, Freehold and Hackensack.

The State Commission on Capital Needswas set up following a recommendation by the Regional Plan New Jersey Committee. The New Jersey Committee was established in 1961 to study planning problems of the fourteen northern counties of the State as part of the work of Regional Plan Association. The 40year-old Association plans for 31 counties sur-rounding the Port of New York in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

Plants listed in new guide

A handy guide for locating the types and size of manufacturing establishments in the 21 counties of New Jersey is now available from the . New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Using the results of the latest Census of Manufacturers (1963) the Department has is-sued Research Report No. 147, entitled "Location of Manufacturing Plants By Counties.'

Each county's manufacturing plants are shown by twodigit and four-digit standard industrial classifications. At the two-digit level, information is available on total employees and value added for 1958 and 1963. A more detailed breakdown of the four-digit level, includes the employment-size of plants.

Particularly helpful to those interested in the dispersion of a given industry throughout the state, the Report provides an additional listing of four-digit industry groups with a county breakdown of the number and size of plants.

EASTER EGG ARTISTRY ---- Add special decorative touches to dyed Easter eggs with colorful flower motifs cut from cotton fabrics. Attach motifs and bits of lace and rickrack to the eggs with double-faced sticky tape or glue. Use a plastic fruit or vegetable tray from the grocer's for an unusual basket. Make it festive with pastel-colored cotton cosmetic balls woven through the sides, and a contrasting border of cotton bias tape. Design by Paas.

Easter Egg `originals'

It's time to come out of If you want to keep the eggs from year to year, use blown eggs. Otherwise, hardcooked ones are fine. Color shells with dyes from your favorite Easter egg kit. Some of the easiest to use are the new cold water 'fizz'' tablets that give bright, even colors.

For decorating artistry, use cut-out flowers or animal mo-tifs from colorful cotton fabrics. Add bits of cotton lace, braid, or tiny rickrack. Attach cut-outs and trim to eggs with double-faced sticky tape or white glue.

Place your decorated eggs in a plastic vegetable or fruit tray from your grocery shopping. Fill in the sides with pastel-colored cotton cosmetic balls, and weave cotton bias tape around the top for a contrasting border.

State gets $1.6 million to `pretty up'

The Department of Transportation announced this week that it has programmed 19 additional highway beautification projects in nine counties, bringing to 37 the total planned in 12 counties since funds were first made available under the Federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

The estimated total cost of the 19 projects is $1.6 million. This is in addition to $1.5 million committed to previous projects.

Beautification is paid for entirely out of Federal funds. In fiscal 1965-66, $1,464,137 was allotted to New Jersey on the basis of 3 per cent of the Federal money apportioned to the state for federally-aided highway construction in that year. In fiscal 1966-67, New Jersey received $1,683,917 under the Highway Beautification Act.

All those funds have now been obligated, Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg said.

Because of current economies, there have been no funds allocated for fiscal 1967-68.

Of the 19 new projects to be paid for out of the 1966-67 allocation, one has been com-pleted and seven have been advanced beyond right-of-way planning and land acquisition is now under way. The remaining eleven are in final planning stages.

Among those previously finished was the center island of Morris Avenue in Union Township from Rt. 22 to Stuyvesant avenue.

Aid group for minority businessmen opens drive for funds and personnel

The Interracial Council for Business Opportunity of New Jersey, organized to provide aid to minority group businessmen and potential entrepreneurs, this week announced the start of a $50,000 fund-raising campaign to match funds provided by the Ford Foundation.

George D. Kelsey, II, executive director, said I.C.B.O. is attempting to close the gap between the white "haves" and the black "have nots" in the private business sector of New Jersey communities by providing guidance, skills and knowhow.

Kelsey said additional time, money and help will be needed in 1968 in the areas of management consultation, banking and credit, education and fund raising.

Additional staff personnel is needed to develop the education program, provide professional management assistance, and provide supportive services for the volunteers of I.C.B.O., he said, I.C.B.O., with headquarters at 24 Commerce st. in Newark, now has only two paid professional people maintaining the entire program in New Jersey.

New Jersey's I.C.B.O. was formed by the New Jersey Region of the American Jewish Congress and the Urban League of Essex fication funds are to be used by the state for landscape and roadside development within the right-of-way of Federally aided highways and for acquisition of adjacent land and the restoration, preservation and enhancement of scenic beauty. The money is not available for any other purpose and if the state's allocation is not used for beautification, the apportionment lapses. Land needed may be acquired by the state either through outright purchase or through the purchase of easements.

President Johnson said in his highway beautification message May 26, 1965, that the scenic enhancement program is designed ."to put beauty within reach of those who live in our cities, and make it part of the daily life of every American."

It also has important economic aspects, according to a 1967 Rutgers University study. These include the prevention or correction of wayside despoilation, reduce maintenance costs through such functional benefits as erosion control, and increased safety for motorists through relief of driving strain, conceded to be one of the major factors in the nation's yearly toll of accidents, injuries and deaths.

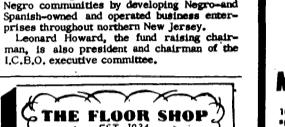

OF THE 19 NEWLY announced projects. four are in Ocean County, five in Monmouth County, three in Morris County and two in Burlington County. Others are in Essex, Cape May, Hunterdon, Warren and Gloucester Countles.

> Of course, you have to pay for electricity to keep your air conditioner humming. And hasn't that cost gone up... like everything else? Definitely not! While the cost of living has risen 120% in the last 25 years, the average unit cost of electricity has gone down 45% thanks to rate reductions and increased usage. Granted, your electric bills are probably higher. But consider the great many new appliances you now use and you'll realize that electricity is still your best bargain.

N.J. publishes list of manufacturers

A listing of 15,208 manufacturing establish-ments throughout the state's 21 counties has been published by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roe said this week the booklet, published as Research Report 147, presents a factual summary of New Jersey's diversified industrial activities since the statistics are based on the U.S. Census of Manufactures.

Manufacturing plants are listed by counties, showing the types of industries to be found in each, together with number of plants in each employment size. The latter is the annual average for 1963 as reported by the individual establishments.

According to the report, the total value added by manufacture at these plants was $9,957,333,000. Total payrolls amounted to $5,121,254,000, of which $3,021,004,000 were factory wages. An aggregate of 829,201 persons were employed in the various manifacturing activities.

Copies of the report are 50 cents each. They may be obtained from the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Labor and Industry Building, Box 1889, Trenton, N.J. 08625. Remittances should be made payable to Treasurer - State of New Jersey.

Guinea Hen with a misplaced yen She can't convince peacocks she's one of them

There's a little white Giunea Hen at the Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange who swears up and down that she's a peacock. But the Peacocks don't believe it a bit.

For years, the little hen has followed the nine male Peacocks, one after another, as they made their rounds of the zoo, eagerly seeking attention.

And for years, the Peacocks have regally ignored her. When the zoo opened last Tuesday things hadn't changed a bit. The Peacocks were still there, so was the Guinea Hen -- still following them around.

"She's been chasing the Peacocks around for years,"'smiles Zoo Director Richard Ryan, "and seems convinced that she's a peacock, too.'

The male Peacocks are just beginning to show their glorious Spring display of the iridescent blue and green feathers, generally thought to be a tail.

"Actually, it's not a tail at all," explains Ryan, "but, rather, the lower back feathers, The spreading feathers are all part of the

New Arts Center to mail out forms for subscriptions The Garden State Arts Center this week announced it would start mailing out subscription order forms for the premiere 1968 summer season by April 15.

The subscription brochures will go first to the priority mailing list of New Jersey residents compiled during the past three months from personal requests by the public at large. The Arts Center, located at Telegraph Hill Park on the Garden State Parkway in Holmdel, will open June 15 with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy and guest pianist Van Cliburn.

Subscription orders will be filled on a firstcome basis from the priority list mailing returns. No other reservations will be accepted before then, and individual ticket sales will not begin until May. The priority mailing list has risen above 15,000 names and addresses representing an indicated order of some 40,000 tickets. However, there will be several subscription series offered for the first season. To get on the list, write the Arts Center, Box 116, Holmdel, 07733.

Most of the more than 5,000 seats under the roof in the Arts Center's amphitheater -- the focal point of the recreational-cultural complex -- will be available for subscription, However, a portion will be reserved for individual ticket sales at each performance. In addition, some 3,500 to 5,000 lawn spaces will be sold on an unreserved basis starting 10 days prior to each performance. Ticket outlets are planned in various locations throughout the state on and off the Parkway.

Peacock courtship procedures -and, because we have only four females, that display gets pretty impressive at times.

However, the four mottled tan females don't seem to pay much attention and the males' best, and most attentive, audience would still seem to be the little Guinea Hen. The Peacocks have a free run of the zoo grounds and visitors this Spring are likely to see the dramatic fan of tail feathers on display at any time.

Set outdoor education conference

Development of a "yardstick" to measure the effectiveness of outdoor education projects will be the goal of a four-day national conference starting May 19 at Skylands Manor, Skylands Re-gional State Park, Ringwood,

Plans for the conference were jointly announced today by Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development and Commissioner Carl L. Marburger of the State Department of Edu-cation. The two departments share sponsorship of the event.

Conducted by the New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education, the conference will bring together from most of the 50 states directors of outdoor education projects funded under Title III of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Title III is designed to advance creativity. The pro-jects represented at the con-Bes Bar ference will cover a variety $\hat{\alpha}_{\hat{Q}^{2}}$ of enviromental education experiences from programs dealing with conservation, science and mathematics to those emphasizing social and democratic living. Outdoor, or environmental education covers a wide range of learning by experience be-yond the traditional four walls, using study areas on school grounds as well as over-night resident centers and other outdoor education resources. With the cooperation of seven Title III outdoor education projects in the State, a workable means of evaluating outdoor education programs is expected to be developed and tested this spring. It will be the purpose of the national conference to refine the New Jersey model and to develop an instrument which may be used nationally to evaluate projects.

The Council for Environmental Education is a Title III outdoor education project of the Newark Board of Education and also has among its responsibilities the development of a state-wide environmental education program. Dr. Edward J. Ambry is director of the State Council. The council's headquarters are in 355 Route 46, Mountain Lakes.

Smashing

"Although there are no fences, few Peacocks stray," Ryan notes." They want to stay close to their food.

"However," he pointed out, "visitors who want to see the best display of the Peacock fans should try to get to the zoo in the morning, "The birds turn shy when the zoo gets too crowded and hide in secluded spots with the little white Guinea Hen still following right along behind them.
