7 1-family building permits issued during 1st 5 months

Construction activity dips in borough

No footage remaining for industry--mayor

The number of building permits issued for one-family dwellings in the borough of Mountainside for the first five months of 1968 came to seven, which was the same figure as that for the comparable period in 1967, according to statistics released this week by Chester A. Johnson, building inspector. However, the estimated valuations were down $23,500 with this year's valuation figure at $179,500, as opposed to last year's $203,000.

Permits for residential additions were also down this year from the 15 of the part of 1967 with valuation amounting to $28,525, as opposed to seven for this year, with $15,280, estimated valuation.

The report by the mayor and council at the last meeting, that there was no footage left in Mountainside for industrial building seemed to be borne out by the fact that in the first five months of 1967 there were four industrial addition permits issued, with valuations of $195,000, while this year only one permit had been issued in that category for an estimated valuation of $29,000.

No commercial building permits have been issued this year, against the one issued in 1967 for a valuation of $80,000. One permit for an addition to a commercial building was listed in 1967, with a valuation of $10,000, and there were none this year.

LYNN S. HAY

Wins scholarship of teachers' group for Mountainside

Lynn S. Hay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Hay of 1049 Sunny Slope Dr., Mountainside, was awarded the John A. Lindemann Memorial Scholarship at the annual awards assembly held recently at Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

The scholarship, which is offered each year by the Mountainside Teachers' Association to a resident of Mountainside who is planning to make teaching a career, was established in memory of John A. Lindemann, a teacher who died in 1964.

Miss Hay, an honor roll student and assistant to the attendance officer, has been a member of the Future Teachers' Association for four years and served as vice-president of the association this year. She was one of the three delegates to attend a three-day New Jersey Education Association's Convention at Blairstown in April.

She worked on the school newspaper "Highlander," during her sophomore year, was active in the Girls Athletic Association for four years, for which she received school and state awards, and is a member of the Gov. Livingston Golf team and the Mindowaskin Swim Club. She also participated in the school play, "West Side Story," this year and was an active member of the senior and junior class "Pep Club."

Her hobbies are sewing (she makes most of her clothes) and swimming and she enjoys playing the piano. She has worked as a typist and file clerk for the past two summers, and part of her senior year, at the Elkey Products Co., in Springfield.

Miss Hay was accepted under early decision at Glassboro State College in October, and plans to major in kindergarten-primary courses.

Borough responds to pool's appeal for volunteer workers

Bob Anderson, manager of the local pool, expressed pleasure this week at the response to the recent appeal in the Echo for adult volunteers. He also said that 189 youths have registered to date for the swim team.

Tom Phillips, Swim Meet Director, assigned jobs to the following: Pat Windell, stroke and turn judge; Ed Giabado, head timer; Bob Anderson, starter referee; George Coe, first place judge; Mat Bistie, third place judge; Betty Irwin, secretary; Regina Picut, clerk of the course; Lee Levitz and Ruth Giabado, awards clerks; Bob Leist, on deck referee; Barbara Geiger, Dot Wagner, Orli Coe, Ruth Leist, Gloria Rapp and Isabell Heller, coordinators.

Phillips assigned others to take attendance during the week at practice sessions. Eight timers are available at the meets.

The first meet is scheduled for July 6 with Mayor Park at Westfield.

PROFILE--Mrs. Herbert Weiner

Much has been written about the unusual talents of Kay Weiner in the fields of arts and crafts, sculpture and painting. When this reporter set out to interview Mrs. Weiner, it was with the purpose of writing about her as an artist, and also as a person, wife, mother and homemaker.

It has been said that the beauty and harmony of the home is but a reflection of the personality of the homemaker, and if that truism is to be accepted, it can be seen and felt at 1184 Ridge Dr., in Mountainside, where Mrs. Weiner has lived with her husband, Herbert, and her three children, Debbie, 13; Laura, 11, and Brad, 8--for the past seven years.

The house, while an art gallery in itself, has somehow been made by Mrs. Weiner into a warm, comfortable home where one feels relaxed and welcome. It is unusual, in that colors which no one would believe could be matched harmoniously do just that.

Hanging mobiles, cut-glass sliding doors, exquisitely carved furniture, the bottoms of old wrought-iron sewing machines serving as table legs and covering windows, a Japanese motif recreation area and hand-painted murals in the children's bedrooms, all blended together by Mrs. Weiner, are caught by the eye, and can only be described as beauty.

Dems discuss election issues at get-together

The presidential campaign was the theme of a meeting of the Mountainside Democratic Club which was held at the Mountainside Inn, Mountainside, on June 18.

The first order of business according to a spokesman, was a critique of the debate held on May 28, when representatives of organizations supporting various presidential aspirants were present. Robert Goldmann of Livingston, former deputy director of the New Jersey Select Committee on Civil Disorders, spoke for the candidacy of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy; John Wilson of Westfield, a former assemblyman, spoke for Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Robert H. Jaffe of Mountainside spoke for Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

"It was the consensus of the meeting that the debate was sharp and informative and it would be a good precedent to continue such debates prior to other important contested primaries," the spokesman said.

Robert Sacharow, president, and a candidate for the Borough Council, reviewed the June 4 primary results and expressed satisfaction at the large number of voters who turned out to vote in a Democratic primary.

"Although the votes cast for our local candidates ran behind the votes cast for the slates of convention delegates, it showed that the citizens of Mountainside were not hesitant to identify themselves with the Democratic Party, if they believed that the issues warranted such identification. It shall be the aim of our forthcoming campaign to convince the voters of Mountainside that the Democratic candidates for Borough Council are on the right side of the issues and should be elected in November, regardless of party label," Sacharow said.

Police 'roast' firemen; false alarm doesn't help

A barbecue in a Mountainside resident's back yard, which had been erroneously reported by a neighbor as a fire, caused the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department to call a halt while they answered the call, in the sixth inning of a nine-inning softball game with the Mountainside Police Department last Sunday afternoon at the Echobrook School playground.

The respite, did nothing to help the firemen, who were trounced by the police 34-7. Both teams were cheered on by the wives and children of the players.

When the police found themselves one man short, young Joe Mazur jumped in to help his dad's team to victory.

Sgt. Mazur announced that the Police Department will play the Chester, N.J. Police Department next Sunday afternoon at 4 at the Echobrook playground. He also promised that the police athletes will strike up a return match with the Fire Department at an early date.

Government pours cold water of cost on post office here

Mountainside has been told by the Post Office Department that "the establishment of an independent post office would substantially increase operating costs without corresponding improvement in service."

The statement was contained in a letter from U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case to the mayor and council read by Elmer Hoffarth, borough clerk, at a meeting last week. Case based his information on a report to him by the deputy assistant postmaster general.

"However," Case said, "since it is alleged that there is a delay mail service, the deputy assistant postmaster general is referring this to the regional director, Post Office Department in Philadelphia, for a review of the postal service. He will advise what changes, if any, are warranted."

Case had advised in a previous letter to the mayor and council that he would contact the Post Office Department and would inform the borough when he had further information.

Hoffarth also read a letter from Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer in which she acknowledged receipt of the Mountainside Woman's Club petition, and the resolution adopted by the mayor and council on May 21 for improved mail service in the borough, and stated that she would do everything possible to help the cause.

Dem committee reelects Taussig

The Mountainside Democratic Municipal Committee, at its annual reorganization meeting last week, unanimously reelected Peter R. Taussig, Second District committeeman, as chairman for the coming year. Also elected were Patricia Kaplan, Second District committeewoman, as secretary, and Bernard R. Holleran, Third District committeeman, as treasurer.

In addition to those elected, those attending were John Medevielle and Trudy Palmer, Rose Holleran, Horace R. Cardoni and Virginia Heinze and Joseph J. Stypa and Dorothy Lombard, the other elected Democratic committeemen and committeewomen.

Following the reorganization meeting, the group was addressed by John H. Palmer Jr. and Robert Sacharow, the Democratic candidates for seats on the municipal council. Both Palmer and Sacharow stressed the need for a vigorous campaign this fall and said they felt confident that the wholehearted efforts and cooperation of the committee would help insure their election in November.

Officer Hafeken heads PBA group

Patrolman Ed Hafeken of the Mountainside Police Department, was installed recently as president of local Chapter 126 of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, it was announced this week.

Other patrolmen installed were: Wayne Martin, vice-president, Alan Kennedy, secretary; Joseph Lobl, treasurer, and Steven Semancik, state delegate. William Ayres was reelected as sergeant-at-arms.

All officers will serve for a period of one year, with the exception of Semancik, who will serve for three years.

PROFILE--Mrs. Herbert Weiner

learned she was born and raised in Miami, where she attended local schools, the youngest of three girls and one boy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Han, from early childhood, young Kay loved to design doll clothes, collect shells, which she fashioned into useful objects, and "when I couldn't find anything else, I made things out of paper," she says.

Her mother, sensing the talent of the child, sent her for painting lessons. Upon graduation from high school she entered the University of Southern California, where she majored in art. "You see," she says, "my married sisters lived in California and it was nice going to college there, because I could be near my sisters. Too, when I entered the university, it was with the intention of becoming an interior decorator or a dress designer and I never thought in terms of painting. And then I discovered glass."

We wondered if the fact that Kay Han, while still in college, met Herbert Weiner, a New Jerseyite, who was in the glass business, and is the owner of the Weiner Glass Co., in Roselle, and for whom she left college to marry, had anything to do with her interest. This medium has now become her forte, a rare and unusual method of doing delicately colored glass work in which the artist, using stained glass imported from Italy, fuses it in a kiln and creates glass birds, animals and fruit. By melting bottles, she is able to produce ashtrays of unusual design.

With a self-discovered technique for embedding glass in plastic and working with polished bits of glass, stones, brushes, paints and a variety of tools, she produces framed wall pictures of trees and landscapes which emerge as objects of remarkable beauty.

Democrats

Mountainside, John Palmer Jr. also a Democratic candidate for the Borough Council, told members that the "increase in rate meant that a house with a $20,000 assessment would show an increase of $150 per year in taxes. This tax rise only verifies my earlier statement, published in the Mountainside Echo to the effect that the Borough Council has been left alone too long without any concerned opposition representation."

Bonds issued now will bear significantly higher interest rates and consequently cost the taxpayers in Mountainside considerably more in the form of higher taxes than if the bonds had been issued at the time the construction they represented was authorized."

In other business, Sacharow reported on a trip taken to the Harvard University Library in Cambridge, Mass., on June 7, in which he was accompanied by Palmer and Jaffe. The purpose of the trip was to see if an arrangement could be made with the library, whereby duplicate books might be purchased cheaply for use in the Borough Library. It is intended to have a meeting soon with the trustees of the library to give a full report on the trip and show samples of the type of books that would be available, Sacharow reported.

Highlight of the evening was a presentation of a gift of a volume written by the late President John F. Kennedy, to William Seeds, who retired this year, after five years as Democratic committeeman from the Mountainside voting district. According to Sacharow, it was the intention of the club to recognize and honor workers such as Seeds who, "without compensation, have devoted time to participation in the political life of the community."

Building

This year, with a valuation of $600, two swimming pool permits were issued with estimated valuations of $6,500. The standpipe and observation tower permit issued to the Elizabethtown Water Co., added a valuation of $60,000 this year, as did an office building permit with a valuation of $135,000.

Total permits issued for the five months of this year are down six, for a total of 22, as compared to the 28 permits issued in 1967 for the same period.

IN OTHER BOROUGH BUSINESS, an application for a minor subdivision by Air Con Inc., of 1148 Rt. 22 was approved by the Planning Board at a meeting on Monday night.

Other applications included that of the Cardinal Consulting Inc., of Springfield for a preliminary subdivision in which the company would extend Cornell parkway and for the consolidation of lots in Springfield. There were no objectors at the public hearing which followed the application and approval was granted. An application for approval of building plans for an addition to the present building on 1248 Rt. 22 was approved for the Mountain Heights Inc., dealing as Mountainside Inn, which had been granted a variance by the Board of Adjustment on June 10.

Also, Martin Brady, representing the Murray Construction Co., of Springfield had his application for a reappraisal granted for a minor subdivision. An approval had been granted to the company by the board in November of 1967, but because the company did not comply with the 90-day period for filing with the county, a new application was necessary.

Duplicate bridge club season award winners

Four Mountainside residents were awarded trophies as winners of the 1967-68 season of the Mountainside Duplicate Bridge Club at a dinner dance which was held recently at the Bound Brook Inn, it was announced this week. First place winners were Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Mr. and Mrs. John Halkowich placed third.

A FEW MONTHS AGO, Mrs. Weiner joined two other creative women to establish the Artist and Craftsman Guild, a non-profit enterprise in Cranford. The center brings together the artist and the craftsman in classes, workshops, lectures, demonstrations and exhibitions. The center is also a store in a sense, since items can be purchased there, but when this artist talks about it, it is evident that her enthusiasm lies in the teaching and creating end of the enterprise.

Qualified to instruct by returning to college after her marriage, she also studied at the Crafts Students League in New York City. As a member of the First Mountain Crafters and the New Jersey Designer Craftsmen, she is constantly searching for new ideas and new techniques.

With her arms around each of her children at one time or another during the interview, and stopping to listen to their questions and advising them on the things that confront children who need and get their mother's attention, this attractive young wife and mother plunges enthusiastically into an explanation of her new interest, the center.

"You know," she says, "this is no ordinary art gallery. We (the other women and myself) know our place to be unique in the area."

IN THE BEGINNING, I planned to devote three days a week to it, but it has snowballed so fast (as a matter of fact we have 160 students and have only been open three months.) now I find I must be there five days a week. However, my home and family come first, and while my husband has also become involved because of the way the Center has mushroomed, we will have to get more help so that I may spend more time in my home, and he in his own business.

"Herbert knows I need his help and he is giving it to me. We have three fields there—painting, sculpture and crafts, and because of the demands for our services of teaching we will hold classes this summer for teenagers and adults. We are not just a business in a sense we are actually doing a service for people because our place fills the needs of so many people."

"I don't want to brag," she continues modestly, "but amateurs and professionals come to us and tell us we have some of the most exciting creations they have ever seen."

Leading the life of wife, mother, homemaker, art teacher and working in the studio in her home, this extraordinary woman is now also busy packaging a craft kit under her trade name of "Kay-t-did."

"And what, Mrs. Weiner, do you want for your own children? Are you hopeful they will inherit your talent and ability for hard work?" we asked.

"Well," she concluded, "my children have an affinity for these things, perhaps because they have been exposed to it all of their lives, but, while they enjoy it, understand and cooperate with me, Herbert and I want our children to do whatever is important to themselves, when they grow up."

Brother, sister win honors

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dwyer of 1327 Wood Valley rd., Mountainside, won scholastic honors as the 1967-68 school year came to a close.

James R. Dwyer, who was graduated from Union Catholic High School, won a four-year tuition scholarship worth $16,000 to Webb Institute of Naval Architecture, Glen Cove, N.Y. While in high school, he was a member of the National Honor Society and captain of the golf team. He was also offered scholarships to Brown University and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

His sister, Patricia L. Dwyer, received a bachelor of arts degree with distinction in mathematics from Trinity College, Washington, D.C. A former lifeguard at the Mountainside Community Pool, she will leave soon for Ireland and England, where she plans to work this summer.

AMY HARRIS

Award recipient now back at home after conferences

Livingston Regional High School, who was a recipient of the Mountainside Woman's Club Citizenship Institute Award, has returned home from conferences which were held this week at Douglass College, according to a spokesman for the club.

Miss Harris and honor roll student also attended the Science and Humanities Symposium at Fairleigh Dickinson College and the Math Day competition at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

A member of the drama club at the high school she worked on the costume committee for the school play, "My Fair Lady," and served as chairman of the costume committee for "West Side Story." In 1966, she was a contender in the state division of the National Wool Contest. She is a page at the Mountainside Public Library.

As a senior, she will serve as president of the senior French Club and editor of the senior section of the year book.

SELECTIVE SERVICE questions and answers

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, State Director of Selective Service, has issued the following series of questions frequently asked of the Selective Service System, along with appropriate answers.

Where may a person volunteer for induction?

A registrant may volunteer for induction only through his own local board. If a man has not been registered, he may register then volunteer, but may do so only through the local board having jurisdiction of the area in which his place of residence is located.

I am a college senior, hoping to attend graduate school. Can I receive an Armed Forces physical examination prior to my graduation to determine if I am acceptable so I can make plans accordingly?

Selective Service Regulations provide that if induction may shortly occur, the local board may order a registrant to report for an Armed Forces physical examination. Such action, however, is not mandatory. The local board's first concern is to fill their call from those classified in Classes I-A, I-A-O or I-O. If time, space and funds are available, the local board may comply with your request. It is suggested you contact your own local board for this determination.

If there is a substantial increase in calls from the Department of Defense, will those in Class II-A be reclassified before those in III-A or vice versa?

Neither one. There is no prescribed sequence for review of reclassification. It is noted, however, that classification in Class II-A is limited to one year. At the time of expiration, the case will be reopened and considered anew. The II-A may be continued if circumstances warrant or a new classification given, if appropriate.

My wife and I were recently divorced. Our children will live with her. Will I lose my III-A deferment as a father because of this?

Probably so but all aspects of your case will be considered. Regulations provide that you must maintain a bona fide family relationship in your home with your child or children for a III-A deferment based on fatherhood. However, if your induction into the Armed Forces would result in extreme hardship to your divorced wife, children or dependents, your local board may continue you in Class III-A even though you and your wife are divorced.

Recently my local board reopened my classification because of new evidence that was submitted, I believe the new classification they gave me is incorrect. Can I appeal from that decision?

Yes. When a local board reopens a registrant's classification and classifies him anew, the registrant has the same right of appearance before the local board and the same right of appeal as in the case of an original classification.

Can a registrant be assured he will be deferred to complete the requirements for his baccalaureate degree?

No. Such assurances cannot be given. Student deferments will be determined by the registrant's local board based upon the merits of each individual case.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
How do you change a man who talks too much? The man in question is my husband. Now that summer is here, he'll be sitting out on the terrace and talking up a storm to our neighbors like he does every year.

He tells them all our personal business and everything that goes on in our house. I've fought with him over his big mouth so many times, but it does no good.
Any suggestions?

Dear Embarrassed:
If you've been fighting over this for years, and he still suffers from chronic indiscretion, there is little you can do to stop him. Persevere, my dear. The day is bound to come when he puts his foot in his big mouth. Then your troubles will be over... and his will start!

Dear Amy:
I don't know if you have ever had to answer any questions regarding cats, but I would appreciate it if you could answer mine. I have heard pros and cons on the subject, and by now, I'm thoroughly mixed up.

My problem is this: Does a cat that stays in the house 100 percent of the time leave any permanent odor?

Ted
According to the United States Humane Society, only the unneutered tom cat carries an odor. All other breeds are odor-free and can be kept indoors.

Dear Amy:
I am a seventeen year old girl, a sophomore in college and I am going with a wonderful and considerate boy who is a junior at college. I have known him for two months. He likes to park and neck. Please tell me if it is all right to do this. I must know and hope you print this as I'm sure many girls would be interested.

Dear Curious:
A girl of 17 who is a sophomore in college must be extremely intelligent, so I know that the following information will be evaluated carefully before the next time you park. Many wonderful and considerate boys enjoy 'necking'. This does not mean that because they want to, you have to. Decent, respectable girls, and I hope you're one of them, must draw a line somewhere. I assure you that the boy, if he cares for you, will not like you less because you did not give in to his emotions. Rather, he will admire and respect you for your self-discipline.

Necking in itself will not ruin a girl, nor her reputation. Its resultant complications, however, can be very damaging. Rise to every situation... but never step down!

Dear Amy:
After graduating college, I was taken into a large firm at an excellent salary doing the kind of work I enjoy. The organization, from the top-man down, is made up of young, energetic men such as myself. I'm being invited to attend the wedding of the top-man's son. Discussing the question of a proper gift with my mother (a very strong willed woman), she insisted that I subscribe to an offer she saw in a magazine made by a nationally advertised food product (tomato sauce) to send two sauce labels and a dollar and a half for a serving dish which would suffice as a gift.

Amy, this I can't do. It's cheap, degrading and rubs me the wrong way. Would you please tell my mother that she's wrong. I can't fight with her anymore!

Dear L.R.V.:
It's cheap, degrading and rubs me the wrong way, too! You're old enough to make your own decisions. And there's no time like the present to do so.

850 attending Legion Boys' State

The 23rd annual session of American Legion Jersey Boys' State began Sunday at Rutgers, The State University, New Brunswick. Some 850 boys, high school juniors or its equivalent, assembled for specialized training in citizenship and government at local, county and state levels during a seven-day period.

The students, selected by their various schools on the basis of character, scholarship and service, were welcomed by Dr. Mason Gross, university president, and addressed by James O. West, State Legion commander, and Harry V. Groome, president of the New Jersey American Legion Boys' State Corp. During the week they were addressed by Robert A. Roe, commissioner, Department of Conservation and Economic Development; Col. David B. Kelly, superintendent New Jersey State Police; Raymond F. Male, commissioner, Department of Labor and Industry; Lloyd W. McCorkle, commissioner, Department of Institutions and Agencies; John J. Farrell, chief examiner and secretary of the Civil Service Commission; Commander Thos. J. Keane, USNR (Ret.); S. David Winans, director, Office of Statistical Services, State Department of Education, and other leaders in the fields of law, education, military, business, municipal, county and state government.

At American Legion Jersey Boys' State, the Boy Statesmen are learning about the executive branch of government by serving as governor and mayors. They are learning how to legislate and how to maintain law and order by serving as senators, assemblymen, freelancers, municipal councilmen, police chiefs, prosecutors and judges.

The highlight of the week is the election of a Boy Governor for 1968-1969, to succeed Mark A. Bouda, of Metuchen, present incumbent. The new governor will be introduced by Hon. Joseph P. Hanrahan, Hudson County Judge tomorrow night at the Rutgers Gymnasium.

Harold A. Eaton, Roverton, director, American Legion Jersey Boys' State, is presiding at the sessions in New Brunswick.

by SAM MANN (Diamond Cleaners)

Temperature going up! It's summertime, and the living's supposed to be easy.

Certainly, some of our labor-saving time-making life easier for Mrs. Home-maker. Not so the "drip-dry" suits, however. According to actual findings, it takes 64 minutes to process a man's suit in an automatic washer and dryer Plus 12½ minutes of touch-up time.

Drip-dry laundering took an average of 22 minutes for washing, 20 to 24 hours for drying and 18 minutes for touch-up.

And on the basis of over-all appearance, and accredited panel judges these suits after five washings and cleanings or washings. Result: dry cleaned garments looked very good to excellent; home-laundered poor to fair.

State authorizes study of air rights over highways

The use of air space over and under present and future state highways in New Jersey urban areas is going to be the subject of an intensive one-year study. Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg has announced that a consulting engineering and architectural firm has been retained to make a comprehensive study of highway air rights.

Tippetts-Abbett-McCarthy-Stratton of New York City, has been assigned the federal study to determine how the space over and under state highways can best be used for construction of public or private improvements needed by communities without interfering with the safe and efficient movement of vehicular traffic.

The consultant has been requested to consider programs and standards for possible air rights development. The study will include a review of economic feasibility, legal, highway engineering, architectural design and procedural aspects of air rights.

Commissioner Goldberg cited the growing urbanization of New Jersey and the increasing difficulties in carrying out major capital improvements in urban areas as compelling reasons why such an air rights study was required at this time. "New Jersey," he said, "today is the most urban state in our nation with 900 persons per square mile and much higher densities in our more developed areas. We expect this trend towards increased densities to continue for the foreseeable future since a population increase of nearly 50 percent is forecast in the next two decades."

"With this ever continuing demand on our remaining land resources, we must attempt to maximize the return from the land areas occupied for major improvements such as highways. In urban areas it is conceivable that major highway projects will be acceptable in the future only if it is possible to devote some of the available air rights to other productive use. Certainly, the feasibility of such coordinate uses must be explored in an effort to provide a maximum return to the communities."

Use of airspace for construction is hardly a new phenomenon. The practice has prevailed for hundreds of years in various parts of the world. The Ponte Vecchio bridge, built in the Roman era over the Arno River in Florence, Italy, is one of the earliest structures built on air rights. Reconstructed in 1345, this famed tourist attraction is lined with goldsmith, jewelry and specialty shops.

In the 15th Century Leonardo da Vinci made notebook sketches of a covered roadway, a sort of forerunner of the depressing of the railroad right-of-way beneath Park Avenue, New York, at the turn of the century. Significant air-space development has since followed in New York, Boston and other large American cities.

A unique application was the four Bridge Apartment buildings, comprising 960 units and adjoining three-level Uptown Bus Terminal built over the approaches to the George Washington Bridge in New York.

America needs your help.
Invest in U.S. SAVINGS BONDS, NEW FREEDOM SHARES

The research will be particularly aimed at how the Department of Transportation can use air rights to cooperate in programs to revitalize cities. The possibility of joint development projects will be explored in the hope that air rights can contribute to the social, economic and aesthetic improvement of the communities.

NOT GUILTY
Jurors found Lizzie Borden not guilty of murdering her father and stepmother on June 20, 1893. The bodies of the elder Bordens were found hacked to death in their home in Fall River, Mass., on Aug. 4, 1892.

Cheaper protein goal for project

A pilot plant for the separation of protein from cotton seed is to be built at the Israel Institute of Technology (Technion), Haifa, as a joint enterprise of its Department of Food Technology and Unicef, the UN International Children's Emergency Fund. The project aims at producing cheap, highly concentrated protein, to be used either in the form of "milk powder" for deprived children in underdeveloped countries short of dairy herds, or as an additive to diets facing protein deprivation. One of the problems is the extraction of a toxic substance called gossypol from the protein.

Strikes in May blamed for drop in employment

Nonagricultural wage and salary employment in New Jersey declined in May, but would have risen were it not for strikes during the survey week, according to estimates prepared by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. Though the state's economy was in a period of spring expansion, a major strike of public utility workers combined with smaller strikes and temporary layoffs to push the employment level down 6,200 to 2,416,000 (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers).

Weekly earnings of factory production workers in New Jersey jumped by $4.46 to $123.93 between mid-April and mid-May. The increase came primarily from a return to a more normal workweek (40.5 hours in May); average weekly hours had been shortened to 39.3 in April because of a holiday in the survey week and a loss of time due to the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Average hourly earnings rose by two cents over the month to $3.06 in May.

Employment in manufacturing industries was substantially unchanged, as seasonal hiring in apparel and food products (canning of early vegetables) offset a temporary layoff in transportation equipment. In nonmanufacturing, the effects of the public utilities strike were tempered considerably by seasonal gains in the construction and trade industries and in ser-

Every major industry in the nondurable goods group reported higher average wages in May, as did all but one hard goods industry. The largest single advance came in transportation equipment, where a considerable amount of overtime work contributed to raising average weekly earnings by $19.77 to an estimated $156.09.

SHIPWRECKED COUPLE--Rex Harrison and Samantha Eggar are shipwrecked on a floating equatorial island in 20th Century-Fox's "Doctor Dolittle," filmed in Todd-AO and De Luxe Color. The picture, which features 14 songs, including "Talk to the Animals," made its New Jersey screen bow at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair yesterday.

Ormont screens 'Elvira Madigan'

"Elvira Madigan," which offers America a new kind of movie from a new director, Bob Widerberg, opened yesterday at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

The picture, which was the sensation of the fifth New York Film Festival, is based on a true story, very well-known in Scandinavia, it tells of the romance of a noble officer and a circus star.

Under Widerberg's guidance, the star of his picture, Pia Degermark, won first prize as Best Actress in the 1967 Cannes Film Festival for her first performance.

Tommy Berggren plays opposite Miss Degermark.

Most of "Elvira Madigan" was filmed outdoors in natural sunlight, and the delicate background music is taken from Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 21.

'Graduate' is held on three screens

"The Graduate," record-breaking film starring Anne Bancroft, Katharine Ross and Dustin Hoffman, continues for its 21st week at the Millburn Cinema in Millburn, and begins its second week at the Regent Theater in Elizabeth and the Stanley-Warner Rt. 4 Drive-In in Paramus.

The picture, which tells an adult story of an awkward young man rebelling against the elders' way of life, was directed by Oscar-winner Mike Nichols in color.

'Scandalous Follies' set

"Those Scandalous Follies" will open July 16 at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater, Cedar Grove, Mamie Van Doren and Reginald Gardiner and Irving Harmon will star in the "Follies." The show will run through Aug. 24.

A FEMININE LOOK AT SOME MID-EUROPEAN CITIES: 1968

(Commentary on a Study Mission to Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Greece)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Fourth in a Series

TOURIST GREECE

There is a saying in Greece that the light in that land is so clear and penetrating that it made men think clearly and with penetration and that is why Greece has had so many wise scholars and philosophers.

Nowhere in the world, the Greeks will tell you, is the light so clear and brilliant. There is the white, discerning light of morning, the brazen, dazzling light of noon, the pink and coral light of sunset and the colorless, sudden light just before dark. And at night, you can tell if the man-in-the-moon is frowning or smiling, the moon is so clearly seen, and the man-made lights shimmer like diamonds in the pluperfect air.

That is what they say.

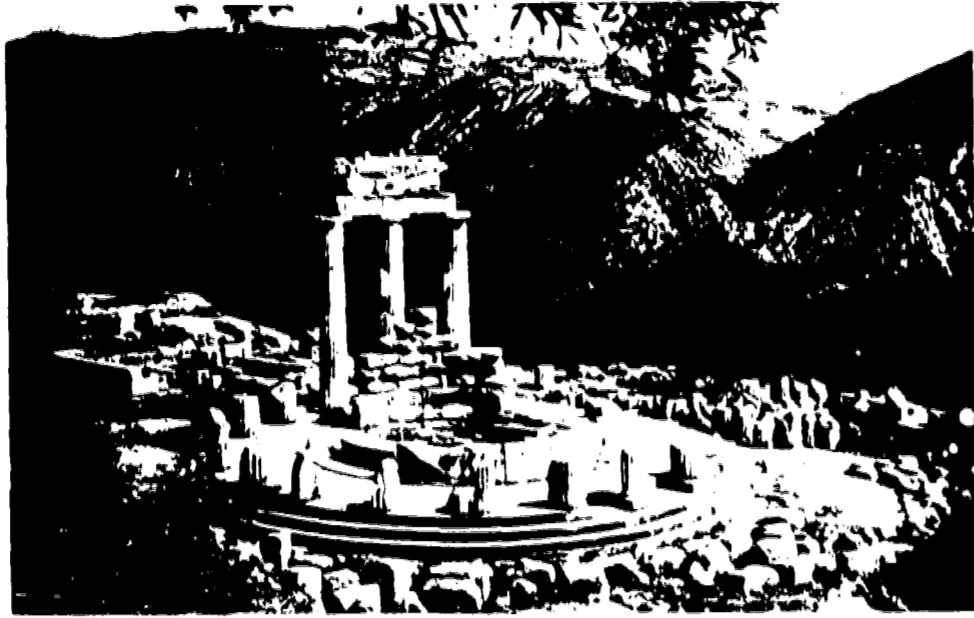

In 1961 when I first saw Athens all this seemed a beautiful truth, but in 1966 and now in 1968 when I visited Athens again, there was a murky difference.

There was smog.

The Greeks say with stern determination that it is "early morning haze"—but it looks just like S-M-O-G.

Into this surprising atmosphere then, our Study Mission group flew one evening in May from Belgrade. On a —ahem—clear night, and if the lights are shining on it, you can see the Parthenon atop the Acropolis as you come in to land, but on this evening, it was all in darkness and nothing could be seen. Since the Light and Sound shows have been in operation, the lights are not kept lit all evening on the Acropolis as once was the case. So one can only see "the hill" and its ruins when the lights play on it during the show. Or, as I said, when it is a clear moonlight night.

FOR THOSE PEOPLE who have never been to Athens, the first thing they want to see is the Parthenon and that is beautiful whether you have "early morning haze" or smog. Its floor is not level and its columns are not straight, but it is serenely beautiful. Actually, the "imperfections" were done quite purposefully. The architects leaned the columns inward and curved the floor convexly just exactly right to give the proper pleasing impression to the eye when viewing the building, particularly from the city level and not directly on the Acropolis (the hill on which the Parthenon stands). When you consider that the columns are four-and-a-half people around at the base, arms outstretched (we people-measured) that is some leaning, AND some figuring.

THE WILD, RUGGED TERRAIN at Delphi. This is the look of the land near and around the ruins at Delphi. To reach this area, one must travel over a rather narrow, winding, rollicking road, but the countryside is beautiful.

The outer columns once were 34 feet high and eight of them stood along each end and 15 along each side, making 46 in all. The Greeks built this temple in honor of Athena Parthenos, the patron goddess of Athens, and it was begun in 447 B.C. It is considered one of the finest examples of Ionic architecture extant. Athens once struggled with Poseidon for control of Athens and it is said she won because her gift to the people was the eternally productive olive tree while Poseidon's was only cold gold. I am rather glad. Imagine going to Poseidon's instead of Athens.

Anyway, "In Athens," a Greek taxi driver said, "more people are in love than anywhere else in the world."

At first we smiled, half listening, and then we heard what he really said, and laughed heartily. That driver obviously had a word for it—in Greek but not in English.

Anyway, Greece is lovely. Its rural areas are mountainous or graceful with farming crops, its sea is a sapphire jewel, its houses are clean white chalk and its Parthenon is a joy. Even the Hilton Hotel is wonderful in Athens, and "the plaza" (old town) is full of atmosphere and Greek music.

And then there are the islands. It is said that to see the Greek islands properly, one must approach them slowly. Apparently the approach is the thing. And it is. Each one is a picture worthy of framing.

In this visit we went on cruise into five of these islands, and everything good they say about them is true.

When I saw Crete in 1966, and no other island but Crete, I thought it was beautiful. But now there is Delos, Mykonos, Rhodes, Santorini. Ah Santorini! What a charmer that island is! But they are all beautiful, each in its own way.

We boarded our ship, the Fantavros, at Piraeus, and sailed for three days — not half enough time. We arrived first at Delos at sunset, Mykonos that night, Rhodes late the next morning, Crete the following morning and Santorini at sunset again. Since I collect sunsets, I have some fine additional now.

DELLOS WAS UNINHABITED with ruins of temples and an ancient city and its ruins for us was a limbo to the top of a cliff on the tiny island and facing out over all the rooms and the sea and the sunset.

MYKONOS IS THE ISLAND of windmills and we were there—at night! Mykonos is famed for its hand-knitted sweaters which are bulky and beautiful and inexpensive. Six dollars—would you believe —for a glorious one.

RHODES IS A LARGE ISLAND and its quaint town, with its castle and little side streets filled with shops of delightful goodies.

is marvelous to wander in. Many of our group visited the Acropolis at Lindos, some 50 miles up the coast, but this particular day was not my day for sight seeing. I stayed and enjoyed just ambling through Rhodes and doing NOTHING. It was just thrilling setting foot in Rhodes, without anything else.

Next: Crete and Oh, That Santorini!

Warns deadline is near on federal tax stamps

J. Robert Murphy, acting district director of Internal Revenue, said this week that dealers in wine, beer, liquor, narcotics and firearms must purchase 1969 federal tax stamps before July 1.

Renewal applications have been mailed to all stamp holders of record. Dealers who did not receive applications should immediately notify the IRS Service Center, 1100 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19155. Additional information on occupational tax stamp requirements is in Document 500, "Excise Taxes for 1968". It is free at any IRS office.

Now's time for all adults to watch out for children

The summer vacation period is at hand and thousands of school children wearing their favorite tee-shirts, shorts, tennis shoes, and catchers' mits, are getting down to the more serious and carefree business of baseball, bicycling, swimming, and sports in general.

Now is the time when adults should give more attention to the problem of child safety, for as the New Jersey State Safety Council points out, summer is the time of year when children are left to their own devices and are most prone to accidents.

A study by the Council reveals the following about play accidents:

- * More than one-third of the fatalities occur during the summer months.
- * The yard is the most dangerous play area -- much more so than inside the house or on the school playground.
- * Boys being adventure-some are twice as likely as girls to get hurt while playing.
- * The most common reason for play accidents is that those responsible for overseeing the child's play are not on the job.
- * A word of caution to the motorist -- when you see a ball bounding out into the street between two parked cars -- be careful, for most assuredly it will soon be followed by a small child in hot pursuit.
- * A word of caution from the Council for parents -- as soon as the final exams in school are over, hold an exam at home to be sure that the children are aware of the safety rules which they need to know if they are to survive the summer accident free.

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN MALE

Marinades vary from mild to highly seasoned, but they should not mask natural meat flavor. Marinades are thinner, usually more highly seasoned, and have less oil than sauces. But you can use either to add zip to your charcoal grill masterpieces, whether you're doing chops, roasts or kabobs. Pork chops today are leaner and meatier than ever before because of research. They are also a good menu main-item and can be prepared in several tasty ways.

Corned beef hash direct from the can takes on a special appeal when topped with pineapple slices before baking.

For a summer tidbit, arrange whole Norway sardines on buttered toast fingers. Sprinkle with a little lemon juice and serve.

To keep the color bright in cooked red vegetables, cook them in a tightly covered pan.

Creamy Baked Custard (Serves 8)

4 eggs
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 quart milk scalded
1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash nutmeg

Beat eggs slightly; add sugar and salt and mix well. Add scalded milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Pour into 8 buttered custard cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg, if desired. Place in shallow pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes or until silver knife inserted in the center will come out clean.

Why humans behave like animals

Matter of evolution, says Rutgers prof

Parwin's idea that man's physical form evolved from that of other animals is now generally accepted. Many scientists, among them Rutgers anthropologist Robin Fox, are beginning to think that much human behavior can also be traced to animal origins.

Dr. Fox, an Englishman who is chairman of the Department of Anthropology at Livingston College of Rutgers University, says many clues to man's behavior can be found in studies of lower animals, especially such primates as monkeys and apes.

Anthropologists and other scientists are only beginning to understand the implications of extending to behavior the same kind of evolutionary analysis that has proved successful with flesh and bone, he suggests.

"Nevertheless, we know that there must have been an evolution," the Rutgers professor argues. "In the same way as there was a gradual transition from apelike to manlike form there must have been a similar gradual transition from apelike to manlike function."

THE RELATIVELY YOUNG science of ethology (the biological study of behavior) is beginning to shed light on the development of human behavior patterns through the study of how animals behave.

Far from being the simple creatures of instinct that sociologists have long assumed them to be, primates prove to have complex social structures in which learning plays a not inconsiderable part, Dr. Fox says. The elements of these animal social structures, moreover, bear a striking resemblance to elements of human social structure. For example, he points out, the animals always arranged in a hierarchy of dominance and submission.

He notes that anthropologists have theorized for years that the difference between man and other animals was that man had "culture" while other animals did not.

"Little by little this bastion is crumbling. We can probably still cling to true language as a peculiarly human trait, but otherwise the difference between us and the 'lower' animals comes to look more and more like a matter of degree rather than kind," Dr. Fox suggests.

If man wishes to better understand his own behavior, Dr. Fox advises, he had better add the study of the behavior of other animal species to his study of fossil records and to his direct study of human behavior.

Volvo has a very efficient cooling system for its engine.

The one for its passengers isn't bad either.

Volvo's sealed cooling system comes with a built-in expansion tank, to keep the engine from overheating.

Volvo is also available with an optional air conditioner, to do the same for the driver and passengers. This makes sense when you consider that people have much lower boiling points than radiators.

The Volvo air conditioner is rated at 12,000 BTUs. Which is one or two thousand BTUs more powerful than the air conditioners you'll find in the rooms of some houses.

Of course, if you happen to like the hot weather we're having now, we'll be glad to sell you a new Volvo without air conditioning. Or if you're already a Volvo owner, and you hate being hot, we'll be equally glad to sell you air conditioning without selling you a new Volvo.

Start job-housing study in suburbs

Thursday, June 27, 1968-

To what extent is the movement of jobs to the suburbs contributing to the high unemployment rate and poverty in the city ghettos? Are discrimination and other restrictive conditions in the suburban housing supply preventing Negroes, Puerto Ricans and other minorities from following jobs in the tradition of other American workers? What are the essential elements for a realistic program to insure the same mobility for blacks that whites exercise in their search for economic and social advancement?

The answers to these and related questions will be sought in a pilot study of the New York Metropolitan Region to be conducted over the summer months by the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing (NCDH) and the Regional Plan Association (RPA). A planning grant of $75,000 was awarded to NCDH by the Carnegie Corporation to enable the two organizations to make a preliminary analysis of the relationship between housing and job opportunities and to develop a design for a full-scale research study. The long-range investigation will take about two years, will cost approximately $400,000, and is expected to result in a recommended plan of action for industry, government, and community leadership aimed at overcoming negative conditions uncovered by the research.

In announcing the preliminary stage of the project, Edward Rutledge and Jack E. Wood, Jr., executive co-directors of NCDH, and John

P. Keith, executive vice president of RPA, called attention to a recent report issued by the National Committee on Job Opportunities. "The Impact of Housing Patterns on Job Opportunities." Copies of this report are available from NCDH, 323 Lexington Ave., New York, New York 10016 at $1.50 each.

"EVIDENCE ALREADY COMPILED in the NCDH survey of data from several metropolitan areas points to the outmovement of jobs as a complicating factor in the unemployment problem among minorities," the three men said.

"Factory jobs increasingly are located in distant suburbs, Negroes largely are confined by the housing market to living quarters in central city areas," they continued.

The three executives called attention to RPA studies done for the New York Metropolitan Region which also have warned of the serious implications of this trend.

Rutledge, Wood and Keith said that while the study is primarily concerned with the housing/job location gap, many related problems and questions are being considered, including:

The specific job classifications that are leaving the cities and concentrating in the suburbs, including professional and managerial as well as production.

The circumstances surrounding the relocation of a plant or the creation of a wholly new establishment.

An analysis of the present work force in these new suburban establishments, including former and present places of residence and particularly where Negro and Puerto Rican employees live and how they get to work.

The skill requirements of newly-created jobs.

The skill levels of the unemployed in inner-city and old-suburban ghettos.

The actual effect of manpower training programs, including geographic and racial breakdowns.

Housing market conditions and practices in locations near available suburban jobs.

Analysis of the suburban nonwhite population beyond 1960 census data.

Transportation facilities and commuting patterns and costs.

"ONE OF OUR major objectives," the NCDH and RPA executives said, "is to determine the reasons why unemployment rates among Negroes consistently hang well above total unemployment in the Region, and to chart the direction for ending that condition.

- To do this, we need to know the answers to such questions as:
- How can the skills presently available in the work force be shifted to the skills that are increasingly needed by the Region's economy?
- What types of jobs should be encouraged to locate in this Region, and where, to assure minimal unemployment?
- Are job opportunities fully known to those seeking jobs in this Region and, if not, how can they be made known?
- What can be done to open suburban housing opportunities to Negroes and Puerto Ricans, particularly in relation to jobs?

What are the relative costs, to business, individuals and the public, of the several solutions that might be offered to the job-housing-training gaps?

The preliminary planning study is under the direction of Dr. Dick Netzer, Head, All-University Department of Economics, New York University, and will be guided by an advisory committee composed of representatives of the two civic organizations.

Looking for the lake that has everything? Then it's a MUST to visit Lake Hauto, located in the picturesque Broad Mountains at the gateway to the Western Poconos -- Route 54 between historic Jim Thorpe and Hometown. Newly opened this year is lovely Birch Pools, a new section in lovely Lake Hauto West.

Lake Hauto is a big lake with over five miles of shoreline and 300 acres of deep, highly navigable water area. This makes it ideal for motorboating, waterskiing, fine bass and other game fishing, sailing, swimming and, yes -- in winter -- ice fishing and other year-round sports. Lake Hauto abounds in scenic mountain trails ideal for hiking and sight-seeing, and boasts of its own 1500-acre hunting preserve set aside for the exclusive use of property owners. Lots, all wooded, begin at $1590. Financing is available.

A unique feature of Lake Hauto is the fact that it has its own domestic water system. Fresh mountain water is piped into each homesite from a large reservoir located deep in the Broad Mountains, which automatically eliminates the expense and inconvenience of well-drilling and maintenance.

Also, Lake Hauto has its own Club House as well as a recreational building for entertaining, cook-outs, and leisure-time activities of young people as well as Dad and Mother. Best of all, each of Lake Hauto's residential areas has its own sandy beach, complete with club house and a children's playground and picnic tables for family enjoyment unconfined.

Within easy driving distance of this secluded yet convenient year-round vacation and homesite community are doctors, dentists, hospitals, churches, stores, schools, restaurants, theaters... downtown convenience from a waterfront site. Police and fire protection are very close at hand. Taxes and maintenance costs are reasonable because Lake Hauto is a well-rounded community with surfaced streets, a fine water supply, ample parking space -- all completed before you move in.

Lake Hauto has a commercial area at the east extremity of the lake, with a gift shop and sundry services that are such a convenience to lakefront living. At Lake Hauto the emphasis is on quality. Each lot is of ample size and imaginatively plotted to guarantee the ultimate in lakefront living. No lot is more than a few steps away from lakeside. A nearby reservoir provides piped-in pure mountain water that does away with the sometimes unpredictable cost of well-drilling.

Nearby is a modern 18-hole golf course, a new 16-alley bowling center, a drive-in theater, golf driving ranges, fishing on fine mountain streams, horseback riding on lovely mountain trails, state parks and game lands, and -- just a half-hour away famous Big Boulder Ski Area.

Lake Hauto is reached by traveling Rt. 22 (Int. Rt. 78) to the Lehigh Valley exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, then north on Rt. 309 through Tamaqua to Hometown. At Hometown, a right turn on Rt. 54 takes one directly to the lovely west end entrance to Lake Hauto.

Truly, if you have ever dreamed of enjoying the pleasures of sunbathing, swimming or boating in a fresh water lake just steps away from your "front porch", then Lake Hauto is tops. The living is easy in such a setting. Lake Hauto is a project of Northeast Land Company, Box 37, Nesquehoning, Pa.
