Stadeck anchors fastest relay team

MEDFORD, Mass. — Track captain Bob Stadeck of Mountainside is a member of the fastest mile relay team ever produced at Tufts University.

Stadeck, along with Paul Katzeff of Brook-line, Mass., John Riordan of Omaha, Neb., and Neal Robinson of Winnetka, Ill., set a new school and Greater Boston League record of 3:20.4 in the Greater Boston Track and Field Championships recently.

Stadeck ran the anchor leg of the race which snapped the meet record of 3:24.5, set by Harvard in 1966, and also broke the school indoor record of 3:25.5 held by Tufts' 1946 1C4A champions.

A senior, Stadeck formerly attended Gov. Livingston Regional High School and was on the track, football, baseball and basketball teams there. He co-captained the track team in his senior year. He has been a three-letter man for Tufts in both of his first two varsity seasons, running cross country and indoor and outdoor track. He will again win three letters this year.

The IBM 1620 processing system is an electronic computer system designed for scientific and technological application. The use of solid state circuit components and availability of from 20,000 to 60,000 positions of core storage provide the 1620 system with the capacity, reliability and speed to solve problems that in the past required the use of larger data processing systems. Five units are used with the IBM Fortran system: The IBM 1620 Central Processing Unit contains the computer, 20,000 positions of core storage, a console panel, an input typewriter, and an output typewriter. In addition, this particular IBM 1620 being used at Dayton also contains a 1622 card read punch and a Model 26 Key Punch. At Dayton programs are being written using the Fortran "Language." FORTRAN IS a compromise between the language of the computer and the language of the engineer and scientist. To satisfy the computer, symbols that the computer can understand are used. This requires that the rules for their use be closely followed. To satisfy the engineer and scientist, as many of the detailed computer control operations as possible are eliminated from the job of writing programs. Drama to be given at Gov. Livingston March 14 and 15

The drama, "David and Lisa," will be presented by the students of Governor Livingston Regional High under the direction of Dennis R. Carroll in the high school auditorium in Berkeley Heights on March 14 and 15 at 8:15 p.m.

Adapted by James Reach from a movie screenplay of the same name, it originally appeared as a novel by Theodore Isaac Rubin. Written by a psychiatrist, the story concerns two mentally disturbed adolescents who find any kind of relationship with other human beings impossible. It is in this tragic situation that the actors probe the depths of a severe emotional disturbance.

Al Rodee and Evan Hess will play the of David and Lisa, the deeply disturbed young people, Other members of the cast are Dennis Boutsikaris, Robert Brown, Jeanne Cooney, Mike Dendiger, Roy Dornfeld, James Feely, Linda Gibson, Debbie Goedde, JoAnn Holcomb, Gred Jones, Judy Nickolls, William Olland, Nancy Parent, Harold Rosenberg, Barbara Sacharow, Daniel Seaman, Leslie Somerville, Toni Toland, Cary Weisbaum and Kathi Wez-

Varsity, faculty to clash March 7

The second annual varsity-faculty basket-ball game will be held Friday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Deerfield School gymnasium. It is sponsored by the Mountainside Teachers

A highlight of the evening will be the "surprise performance" by the faculty cheerleaders under the direction of Ann Roush.
Tickets for the game may be obtained from any teacher in the Mountainside school system.

Mrs. Edward Mooney is chairman of the affair, assisted by Mrs. E. T. Weibel, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Mildred Herron, publicity. Jeannette Sektberg and Charles Carson, athletic director, are in charge of arrangements.

Temporary solution sought to 'contain erosion problem'

The governing body is deliberating on a temporary solution 'to contain the present erosion" in the vicinity of Fernwood terrace and Dunn parkway caused by occasional flooding in a drainage creek there, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. said this week.

His remarks postscripted a walking tour of the area Saturday by the Mayor and councilmen William Brandt, Joseph Parent and John

The inspection was prompted last week when n perition asking for action was presented to the borough council at its regular monthly meeting. The petition was presented by Dr. J.C. Howard of 1434 Fernwood road in behalf of 30 signers.

The petition not only asked for immediate relief from the flooding, but also declared the stream when flooded was hazardous to

"It is apparant considerable erosion has occurred on their property," Mayor Wilhelms said, "and we are now considering whatever phase of the drainage program" which is not scheduled to be started until 1971.

However, the mayor indicated that the situation is no worse than in the Summit road area where the first phase of the sewage program has been completed or in the Nomehegan watershed in the Central avenue vicinity which will be begun this year and, he added, may, in fact, be better. 'No one gets their cellars flooded here like in the Summit road or Nomehegan areas," the mayor said.

Mayor Wilhelms suggested, however, that when permanent work is done on the storm sewer, the ditch may, in part, remain exposed instead of being enclosed with precast piping.

"Because of the amount of water flowing through when there is heavy draining" the mayor said, "the pipe would have to be eight feet in diameter and this would not be economitral avenue projects are entirely in piping, of which the largest sections are five feet in diameter.

The mayor explained that part of the problem is the volume of water flowing into the drainage ditch from the Humbly Hills section of Westfield.

"There is a three-feet, six-inch pipe coming in from Westfield," the mayor said, "that "runs completely full!" when there is extreme flooding conditions and 'that joins the regular open stream. Constructed, the piping in-stalled by the borough would have to be ex-tremely large in diameter. The party met Saturday morning at 10 at the home of Kenneth E. Thompson at 163 New Providence road. The stream at that point, runs under New Providence road on its way to emptying in Echo Lake.

After the inspection tour, the members of the governing body and local residents met at the Fernwood road home of Herman Graf to discuss the issue over coffee and doughnuts.

Dotto on rat problem: Cut off their food supply

Rats in the Fernwood road-Dunn parkway drainage area can be controlled by cutting off their food supply, according to Charles Dotto, borough health officer who inspected the frequently flooded area with other Mountainside officials Saturday,

During the tour at least one resident said he had trapped a rat in his backyard using hird seed as bait.

Dotto advised that three important measures be taken:

Garbage cans should be tightly covered. Pet food should be kept indoors.

The feeding of birds and squirrels should be stopped.

Dotto said his department would conduct a survey of the drainage creek to determine the extent of the rat population. If necessary, he said, the borough would conduct extermina

"If we are not introducing food or other organic material, we won't have rats," Dotto said, "But if lids are left off garbage cans we'll surely have them."

He said the rats harbor themselves in the ditches and forage in backyards for food, "Bird feeding is dynamite," he said, "and will draw rats from a mile-and-a-half away."

Dotto emphasized that the rat problem was not serious, but that preventative measures

"You don't have to live in the slums," Dotto said, "to have a rat problem."

Hydrant diggers thanked by chief

Mountainside Fire Chief Konald Huter this week issued a statement thanking local residents for their cooperation in digging out fire hydrants after the recent heavy snowfall. He declared:

The members of the Volunteer Fire Department of the Borough of Mountainside would like to publicly thank the home owners and business people of the borough for an outstanding job of clearing hydrants of snow in the recent snowstorm.

'This certainly demonstrates to the volunteers, who are all gainfully employed and who have had plenty of snow shoveling of their own to do, that you were both interested in helping them and making the hydrants available for your own fire protection.

You can well understand that we do appreclate your interest in helping us get the hy-drants cleared so that we did not have to do It for you'in the dark of night, which is the only opportunity your volunteers have to perform

Thank you again from your Volunteer Fire

R.R. Barrett Jr., president of the YMCA board of directors, has announced a new procedure for admittance to 'Y' physical department activities which requires members to present up-dated and valid membership cards to the control desk attendant. Members without cards will be required to obtain passes from the central office in the main lobby. The procedure becomes effective this Saturday.

The new procedure will benefit the member by making possible a closer attendance check, in addition to the activity sign-in sheet currently in use. Barrett noted that the new procedure is the result of the coordinated efforts of the program and physical committees, chaired by Jay F. Roch-lin and Norbert A. Weldon, The procedure was accepted by the board of directors at its regular February meeting.

No change in guest pass regulations will take place, according to William R. Hawkins, assistant executive director. The current limitation of two passes per person annually will continue, Questions concerning the procedure, or inquiries regarding Y programs, can be made to the Y office at 138 Ferris pl.,

Have you had that "noiseated" feeling lately? Do you feel headachy, irritable, frustrated, and just not able to get your work done as well as you would like? Then listen around you. It could just be the fault of that power mower, jackhammer, booming rock music, raucous radio, or screeching plane overhead. We are paying a high price for the rising noise level of our society today.

Medical investigators have shown that excessive noise can interfere with your digestion, break up your sleep, tire you out, and add to your nervous strain.

According to the U.S. Public Health Service, noise may adversely affect as many as 16 million U.S. workers. But most Americans are unaware that noises at home can be just E. Farr of the University of Texas found the kitchen to be the loudest room of all.

'The sound is at such a level of intensity," Dr. Farr reported, "that if one were exposed to it for a full working day over an interval of time, acoustic damage would result.

Noise, defined as an unwanted sound that irritates, is measured in decibels, units that describe levels of acoustic pressure, power and intensity. About 35 decibels (dB) is ac-ceptable for a classroom; 60 for a sports arena; 90 can be tolerated only for short periods; 100 can cause physical discomfort.

"quiet" suburban home, a blender, an automatic dishwasher (60-70 dB), garbage disposal unit (70 dB) and refrigerator (30-40 dB) - as well as a radio, air conditioner and washing machine -- may be "sounding off" all at once. While some sounds drown out others, the typical result is an average decibel level of 80, much higher than that of a sports arena and equivalent to that of a big city street corner, No wonder, more housewives are reaching for the aspirin bottle to relieve the headaches.

Noise can cause more than headaches. In severe cases there may be damage to your hearing when intense and prolonged sound waves destroy cells in the ear. At a recent national conference on 'Noise as a Health Hazard," U.S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart observed:
'Aside from hearing loss, it has been demonthat noise can cause physiological changes. These include cardiovascular, glandular and respiratory effects reflective of a generalized stress reaction."

Other physicians believe there is a direct link between noise and such stress diseases as peptic ulcer, heart disease, colitis and by

To help quiet down our cacophonous world, Congress is pondering bills to control aircraft decibels and various noises in industry. California has led the way in limiting motor vehicle noise, and New Jersey may pess similar legislation. But these are drops in the noise bucket. WHAT CAN YOU I'V about offseting or preventing the decibel bombardment? Dr. John D. Dougherty of the Harvard School of Public Health suggests that we think about the poise level of any appliance we might buy for our home, and cut down the time we spend in any noisy environment. One noise researcher also recommends that we wear ear plugs when us ing a a power mower or an outboard

Nursing Homes are Questionable If there's one thing Medicare has done for us, it's to change the concept of the nursing home. The old "county hospital" image pretty well ended with the New Deal. Now, with so many over -65's in a position to select this type of institution, the nursing home is gaining the reputation of a place that can be rather

That's because the Federal government, as dispenser of medicare, has laid down some new rules and regulations for institutions that qualify.

In general, premises are more hospitable, staffs more amiable, treatment better.

On the other hand, exceptions become evident when you do some real investigating. Fast buck operators inevitably put in an appearance when so much public money is being spent. And too many institutions tightrope along the borderline separates the acceptable from the unacceptable.

Selecting a nursing home at random may not be as bad as playing Russian roulette. But the risk is too great when you're settling the future of a loved one. A few pertinent questions should be asked before any decision is made.

Naturally a layman can't think of all the angles. He can however, consult some of the literature on the subject.

The first thing to read might be "What to Look for in a Nursing Home," a pamphlet put out by the American Medical Association.
Then there's the article, "Nursing Homes—Can We Pay the Price," which appeared in Harvest Years Magazine (Sept. '68).

When you have all the facts in hand, you may well decide that a nursing home is the best answer to your family problem. More than that, the member concerned may agree

Construction Factory labor demand hourly wage up sharply, BLS says

WASHINGTON -- The demand for factory labor continued strong in December, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. New hires increased sharply over the month, seasonally adjusted, and the layoff rate dropped to the post - Korean low reached in late 1966. New hires in December were 38 per 1,000 workers seasonally adjusted, 4 per 1,000 above December 1967. was the higest new hire level since October 1966.

Total accessions to factory payrolls, which include new hires as well as recalls and transfers from other establishments within the same company, were unchanged at per 1,000 workers in December, seasonally adjusted, the rate was up 3 per 1,000 over the year.

The factory layoff raterose less than seasonally in December. After seasonal adjustment, the rate edged down from 11 to 10 per 1,000 workers, returning to the post-Korean low posted in October 1966. This modest declineresulted from decreases in the layoff rates for ordinance, machinery, fabricated metals, and food industries.

ability of job opportunities, declined slightly to 25 per 1.000 workers in December seasonally adjusted. The Dehourly scales varied from $5.11 for painters to $5.81 for bricklayers. Building laborers' scales averaged $4.01

The factory quit rate, which normally reflects the avail-

cember rate equaled the average for the previous 7-month period and was 2 per 1,000 bove the year-ago level.

The resurgence of manufacturing employment in 1968 was signaled by a rise in accessions and a decline in layoffs, Except for 1966, labor turnover rates duming 1968 were at their most favorable levels since the early 1950's, Accessions, which averaged 46 per 1,000 workers a month in 1966, were up 2 per 1,000 over 1967. New hires, rising by 2 per 1,000 over the year to 35 per 1,000 in 1968, were the principal cause of the increase in accessions.

Layoffs declined from 14 to 12 per 1,000 workers between 1967 and 1968, equaling their 1966 post-Korean low. The average quit rate edged up over the year by 2 per 1,000, to 25 per 1,000. Total separations, however, were un-changed from both 1966 and 1967 at 46 per 1,000 and remained at their highest point

Research For Health

IATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

Because plastics can be shaped or molded, they are invaluable aids to those who must create both aesthetic and functional repairs or replacements of mouth tissues. Industrial plastics usually must meet only one set of physical conditions, but remuirements for the mouth are far more complex. The mouth is in constant motion, always moist and ex-posed to wide temperature fluctuations and a variety of foods and bacterial products. Also, chewing exerts thou-sands of pounds of pressure on small surfaces. To meet the demands, materials must be insoluble and non-corrosive, as well as non tovic and color-stable.

Perhaps the greatest need is for a safe material that will bond with the tooth. If an adequate adhesive were available, the dentist could scrape off decay when it begins as a small spot of damaged enamel and apply the matching adhesive, Further decay would be prevented without removing large parts of healthy tooth to shape a cavity that will lock in the filling.

Investigators whose work is supported by the National In-stitute of Dental Research, a compenent of the National Institutes of Health, are trying to develop adhesives in several ways. One reports progress in making a composite material consisting of hard particles of fused silica mixed to an adhesive plastic with a coupling agent to bond the particles to the plastic. Preliminary tests on animals were encouraging, but the durability and toxicity of this material for human use is un

While not durable enough for fillings, another adhesive may be helpful in preventing the common pit-and-fissure type of decay in the grinding surfaces of duldren's molars. The plastic is painted on the teeth after they are slightly etched with an acid, In oneyear trials, although about 70 percent of the coated surfaces became at least partially uncovered, they still had about 70 percent less decay than untreated teeth in the same mouths. After further evalu-

A non-adhesive use of plastics is also promising, in one experiment scientists are molding plastic replacements of individual teeth of test animals and inserting the replicas into the gaping sockets. Already the acrylic teeth have stayed in place for six years. The gums seem healthy and, unlike transplanted natural teeth, the plastic ones have not been rejected by the body. However, the procedure is still in the experimental stages of development.

Plastics research is just one area in which imaginative investigators are exploring new ways to make dental restorations look better and BIBLE QUIZ

Watchung Stables facilities to move within reservation

The Watchung Stables, in the Watchung Reservation, will be relocated from its present site to another section of the reservation in the future, it was announced by John G. Walsh of Mountainside, president of the Union County Park Commission.

The present location of the stables will be separated from the main portion of the 2,000acre Watchung Reservation by Rt. 78 which will take approximately 125 acres of park property for the right-of-way of the highway and separate another 130 acres of park land from the main section of the reservation. The present stable is located in that separated

Walsh said that efforts must be made to assure the continuous operation of the stable facility and once highway construction begins the stables must be in a location so that it can continue to operate. The stables attract over 25,000 horseback riders each year. He also said that several sites in the Watchung Reservation are being investigated by the commission and its staff, as well as by representatives of the architectural firm of McMurray and Grove of Elizabeth.

The commission has reviewed several sites and would prefer to have the stables relocated in an area near the Deserted Village but preliminary estimates of costs to bring utilities to this area may be prohibitive. The investi-gation of sites will coninue. Commissioner also announced that the firm of Mc Murray and Grove has been retained to prepare preliminary design plans for the relocated

THE GOOD THINGS The farmer is proud that the table he sets reflects the fruits of his own labor. The carpenter who builds a home for himself is proud that it contains the best materials and was raised through careful workmanship.

There are so many "good things" for which we can all be grateful -- "Little" things such as air to breathe, water to drink, sugar to sweeten, salt and spices to flavor, even the beauty of a snowfall discovered at dawning. In fact, most of life is good.

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN

(Diamond Cleaners)

SUEDE CARE How has your suede wear weathered the winter? Chances are those garments that were so sleek and sveite last fall now look dejected and worn. If they're not badly soiled, there are a few steps you can take right now to give them a new lease on life. As you know, suede should not be moistened. Instead, use a dry rubber or plastic sponge to rub off soil and lay the nap in one direction. In fact, it's a good idea to do this after each wearing of a suede coat or jacket.

Should a suede garment become wrinkled, you can smooth it with an iron. But BE CAREFUL! First, clean it as suggested, then cover the surface with a double layer of brown paper (such as an opened grocery sack) and press with a warm, dry iron. Never use steam.

Protected from heat and moisture, leather will give you long wear if you com-bine good home care with professional cleaning. But be sure to choose a cleaner such as Diamond Cleaners who SPE-CIALIZES in leather handling. Only then can you be sure those smart garments will age slowly and gracefully. McDermott seeking an audience with Bergen Republicans

Republican gubernatorial candidate, Senator Frank X. McDermott (R-Union), this week announced that following visits to many leaders in Bergen County over the weekend he is requesting an opportunity to appear before the Bergen County Republican Policy Committee later this week.

In a letter to each member of the Policy Committee, Senator McDermott said, "As you well know, whoever is endorsed by Bergen County will be well on his way to the primary election. Your decision in this matter is a very important one." Senator McDermott also urged that the Policy Committee, "as a matter of fair play" grant the same opportunity to all the other Republican candidates even though they may not have filed officially yet.

The Republican State Committee has quite rightly declared this to be an open primary," McDermott said, "and I know each of you will agree with me that the qualifications of each candidate must be weighed very carefully. Union Technical Institute, Mountainside, has affiliated with three additional accredited four-

Paul J. Barotta, president and director of the Mountainside school, said he had been notified that Indiana Northern University, Gas City, Indiana: the Milwaukee School of Engineering, Milwaukee, and Southern State College, Pueblo, Colorado, have agreed to accept Union Tech graduates as advanced students

Last year, Drake College, an accredited four-year institution in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, became Union Tech's first affiliate college.

Barotta said Union Tech graduates can now transfer credits to any of the four schools, where they will be eligible to pursue bachelor's with control of their own finances within limits of state law and subject to post audit by the state. Dr. Wilkins said, Under the present system all college money is turned over to Trenton, where it is budgeted and redispursed to the individual state colleges, Rutgers, NCE and the county colleges, on the other hand, already enjoy the fiscal and general autonomy that the state colleges would like to have,

according to Dr. Wilkins. "The delay and inefficiency resulting from red tape are deplorable and in emergency situ-ations are actually dangerous." Dr. Wilkins pointed out. "Last year intruders upon the campus made the acquisition of additional security guards, lighting and fencing a matter of urgent concern, involving the safety of students. The college administration had to request permission from Trenton for a transfer of funds to handle the emergency. The request was met with a delay of several months, during which we had the money but not the authority epend it," he said,

HE ADDED THAT the quality of education is also affected adversely by the lack of autonomy, citing the difficulty of hiring new faculty without being able to negotiate directly on matters, of salary. "I am negotiating right now to hire a Ph.D. from Harvard, but if I don't get salary approval from Trenton soon, we might lose him," Dr. Wilkins said.

Another problem is that new professors often walt weeks or months before they are paid. The college faculty has had to institute an emergency fund to assist its newer members over this period.

There are also long delays in building construction, purchasing equipment and contracting for repairs -- even those that are needed. immediately. Because state college administrators do not have authority to supervise construction on their own campuses, faulty air conditioning was installed in two of Newark State's new buildings.

The public relations office was without a telephone for two months last fall, because the college could not negotiate directly with the telephone company.

"Autonomy will mean greater budgetary efficiency, At Newark State we have developed a system of checks and balances to insure; efficiency, eliminate duplication of expenditure and reduce costs. The system will go into effect as soon as autonomy is granted," Dr. Wilkins said.

He urged all persons interested in higher education to write to the sponsors of the bill or their elected representatives, indicating their support of the bill. Sponsors are Senators, White, Tanzman, Wallwork, Hauser, Dumont, Hiering, Sisco, Rinaldo, Bateman, Coffee and

Central High students at work at NCE

College program aimed at Negro community

Newark's Negro community are plunging right into the complexities of engineering and scien tific research this spring in a new program at Newark College of Engineering.

The high school students, all juniors and seniors from NCE's neighbor, Central High School, are working side by side with NCE's faculty researchers in such new engineering challenges as computer language development, deep-sea ocean engineering, and molecular bi Announcing the pilot program this week, Dr. Richard G. Griskey, director of research for Newark College of Engineering's affiliated Foundation for the Advancement of Graduate Study in Engineering, said many young students in Newark have expressed an interest in engi neering but admit frankly that they don't have

"We have designed this program to offer insight into the working aspects of engineering and to give these young poetle the chance to operate as actual members of a proceed team," Griskey said.

Fach participating student spen is one or more afternoons a week with an NCF researcher, beginning at 1 p.m. ofter a shortened school session. They assist in constructing test equipment, obtain and analyze data, and contribute in developing new laboratory tech

Faculty researchers working on projects in chemistry, chemical engineering, physics, mechanical engineering and computer science have volunteered to act as mentors in the proj ect,

"Our main goal is to provide a direct and realistic taste of engineering research," Griskey said. 'Therefore in their work with our regular researchers the high school students will be performing functions that help them understand what research is about."

Backgrounding the origins of the new cooperative program, Griskey said the initial suggestion came from Central High administrators during a joint NCE/Central exploratory meeting last fall. The program started in February as the new semester began.

Mrs. Ila Martin, Title I coordinator at Central, presented the idea and Mrs. Lillian Lago, chairman of Central's science department was put in charge of handling the high hool end of the relationship.

lirst thoughts on the subject were directed toward Central Students "seeing" research in action. Then as conversations expanded, certain similarities in interest to NCE's highly-successful summer program for outstanding high chool students became apparent, and the pilot program was modified to make the students active members of the research

"We consider the proximity of Central H.S. and the advantages of having selected students work with our people one afternoon a week throughout the year. The final design seemed to have merit and we began actual operations in mid February. Griskey said.

From the high school point of view, we believe the cooperative project has several characteristics of value," says Mrs. Lago, science department chairman, "It is important to have students participating in science work that goes beyond the normal high school curriculum, and the experience should open their ves us to how engineers approach problems."

The high school administrationalso believes that regular exposure to a college environment will motivate a larger number toward college careers. This has already proven true with Newark College of Engineering's Educational Opportunity Program which began last summer with preparatory studies and now has 17 young sters taking freshman engineering studies. Selection of the participating students for the new research program was made by the college based on nominations submitted by the high school, Considerable emphasis was placed on a good background in mathematics and has resulted in a tally of 15 boys and one girl, 'If the future of the project can be measured by the student's first response, it will be wonderful," Mrs. Lago said. "Many of the selected students immediately elected to work ductory session." All of the participants are considered potential college material and it is hoped that their experience at NCE will be a contributing factor their future career decisions, Since the program originated as an NCE/ Central H.S. idea, all of the students presently taking part are from that secondary institution, "Assuming the pilot program meets our expectations, it seems likely that we will expand it in the future to include students from other Newark high school," Griskey said. Dr. Griskey is involved in the project since his office coordinates researchat Newark College of Engineering. The research organization, known as the Foundation for the Advancement of Graduate Study in Engineering, is also underwriting the administrative costs of the

Rosarians to hear Irish Airlines aide

Anne Tolan of Irish International Airlines will deliver a talk on Ireland next Monday at 9 p.m. to members of the Rosary Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in the parish hall, 304 Central avenue, Mountain-

A Rosary spokesman added:
 "Talking about Ireland comes easily to Amic Tolan, She was born in Sligo, a land of takes and beautiful landscapes immortalized in the poetry of William Butler Yeats, Before coming to the United States, she traveled extensively in Europe as an air hostess with Irish International.

"She is the voice on the airline's radio commercials and has won the Clio -- the Oscar of commercial television, for the best voice over in a television commercial. The commercial, need we add, was promoting Ireland and Irish International."
