School consultant gives interim report to Regional board

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education has received an interim report from its school consultant on the needs of the school district. A full written report is expected later this month.

The consultant, Dr. Henry J. Rissetto, presented the report at an executive meeting of the board last Thursday night.

Avery W. Ward, president of the school board, said adequate copies of the comprehensive written report will be prepared to insure the widest possible distribution throughout the school district.

He said copies will be made available to the local boards of education in the six towns within the district; local governing bodies and public, libraries in the district and to all. newspapers, serving the Regional high school

Municipal budget

The complete text of the Mountainside municipal budget for the coming year is printed on Page 2 of this issue of the Echo. The Borough Council will hold its budget hearing Thursday evening, March 20, at the Beechwood School.

The school budget this year is up 15 percent over the 1968-69 figure, it is $1,672,081. Last year's was $1,447,948. Grant H. Lennox, president of the board, said at the public hearing on the budget: "This budget, like most everything else today, reflects the increased Stypa is named president of local Democratic club days are still in negotiation.

Also installed as officers of the club were Robert H. Jaffe of 350 Summit rd., as vice-president, Mrs. Frank Lombard of 338 Linder dr., "as secretary and Russ Cardoni of 326 Short dr., as treasurer. Trustees elected for the 1969-70 year were Sacharow, Brian Grant, John H. Palmer, Jr. and Arthur M. Goldberg.

One issue of major importance considered by the club at its recent meeting was the question of the size and priorities of municipal spending. Stypa said, "The administration is apparently trying to soften up our community for another tax increase with statements indicating an inevitable rise in municipal spending. Each day it gets a little harder to afford to live in Mountainside. We fervently hope that many citizens of Mountainside will join members of the Democratic Club who will give the new budget a strict review at the budget hearing scheduled for Thursday, March 20."

Stypa indicated that it was not only the size of the budget that concerned him, but the prior-ities given expenditures, "Last year approximately $5,000, less than one percent of the total municipal budget, was given over to recreation This part of the budget primarily benefits Mountainside's youth and its senior citizens. These groups are getting short changed in our

Other plans for the local Democrats include a cocktail party in September in honor of previous years' council and mayoralty candidates, a panel program on the drug problem in today's society and proposals for better borough utilization of existing facilities.

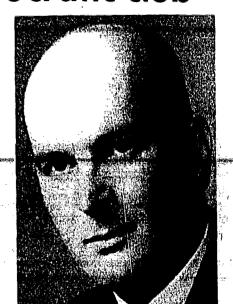

The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, March 25, at the Mountainside Inn. Persons interested in joining the club were urged to call any of the officers for informacosts for goods and services. The total increase is $224,133, of which 80 percent is due to increased salaries for our staff.

"The primary responsibility we have to our children is to see that they receive the best education we can provide. One way to make that happen is to obtain and retain a good staff. To do this, we must pay them adequately. Our new agreement puts us in a strong competitive position with the surrounding communities to attract and to keep teaching talent."

Lennox was reelected president of the board at the annual organizational meeting last week. Prior to that, at the annual school election, Lennox was reelected to the board for another three-year term, William J. Biunno, who ran for another three-year term along with Lennox, was reelected vice-president of the board, Both incumbents ran unopposed.

In other actions at the annual reorganization meeting, John McDonough was renamed board secretary. Charles A. Jerome was renamed

Career Day -- 1969' slated tomorrow at Gov. Livingston

"Career Day--1969" will be held tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. until noon, at Gov. Livingston Regional High School. The event is jointly sponsored by the guidance department of the School, the Student Council and the PTA, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. E. Seaman of Mountainside.

Each student will be assigned to four of the more than 50 participating speakers, and will attend the sessions on a regular school day schedule, returning to regular classes for the afternoon. As far as possible, assign-ments will be made according to student choices, as indicated early last week. Selection of speakers has been guided by the students' predominant academic and extra-curricular interests, as shown by their answers to a questionnaire distributed last October.

Many of the less prominent occupations are represented in the program, to the ex-clusion of many of the more familiar professions and trades. Nevertheless the committee felt that such occupations would be already familiar to most students, or easily researched on an independent basis. At the same time; all students, both decided and undecided with respect to career choice, should find the talks stimulating and broadly educational, us well as specifically informative, a spokesman Mountainside residents participating in the program will include Harry Devlin, artist and illustrator, and Harry E. Seaman, artist and draftsman with Bell Laboratories.

Others from nearby areas include the following: from Berkeley Heights: Mrs. Mary Bellig. home economist; Douglas Brush, commercial artist; Police Capt. Ralph Del Duca; Alfred U. MacRae, physicist, James Mac Rae, architect, and Ronald Ogle, newscaster, ABC-TV. From Murray Hill: Dr. Jarvis J. Badgley, veterinarian; Garl Christensen, computer research; William Easton, technical editor; and Mrs. Richard Nightingale, social worker.

Organizations and industries to be represented (in addition to those mentioned above) include: Allstate Insurance Co., American Automobile Association (air and traffic engineering), Bell Laboratories, C. Pfaltz introduces legislation to end county college abuse lican, from western Union County, announced this weel that he has introduced Assembly Bill 264 in the current session of the New Jersey Legislature. This bill is designed to end an abuse which has been practiced by a few Union County students who attend twoyear colleges in other counties.

It has been estimated that approximately 150 such students, who are unable to meet the academic requirements of Union College, the county-assisted college, have enrolled in adjoining county junior colleges, Pfaltz said,

In these instances, he noted, the existing law requires Union County taxpayers to pay the county share of the tutton for such students. The result is that in some cases the County will be required to pay larger tuitions for these unqualified students than it pays for qualified students at Union College.

Assemblyman Pfaltz explained that Union County freeholders expressed strong opposition to the existing law which left them with an open-end commitment to pay for two activities. Most important, along with all our other activities, a continuous membership campaign has been conducted, resulting in the doubling and then tripling of our number by January. I think it is most typical of the spirit of this post that every member has been, since its inception, a self-appointed membership chairman. Such onthustasm is really infectious!

'The planning of Sunday's formal institution has taken much time and cooperative effort from post members, I'd like to find a word a little warmer and livelier than 'dedicated' to describe the feeling that most of us have for our post activities—the feeling that almost guarantees our enjoyment of them and of each other, and makes post affairs for most of us, something more than a way of killing a casual evening from time to time, "Perhaps because we all put something of ourselves in this activity, we get a satisfaction in return, Whatever it is, I think we have a great group, and one that promises to become a meaningful and valuable part of the local scene. Let's keep it that way, and more-let's make it part of the action!"

between the freeholders and college administrators to set workable standards that were both fair to students and to the county taxpayers. The bill is co-sponsored by Assemblyman McDonough (R-9C), Kiehn (R-9B), Heilman McDonough (R-9C), Kiehn (R-9B), Heilmann (R 9B) and Irwin (R-9 at large).

Pfaltz noted that the bill will not change existing law where a student is both qualified for general acceptance in a local county college or county-assisted college and such college is either over-subscribed in a particular course or does not offer certain courses which the student desires. In such event, the student may enroll in courses given at another county college with the cost of such instruction to be paid in part by the home county.

Talk to be given on student unrest

Student unrest and its meaning to society and the Christian conscience will be discussed Sunday night in a special educational program at the Hirst Baptist Church of Westfield. Dr. L. I., Law, superintendent of Westfield schools, will bead the discussion of major issues in the education field. The program will begin at 8 p.m. lour courses are being offered at the First Baptist Church each Sunday night through March 23. Theme of the special emphasis is "Change Offers Potential Enrichment," Dr. who will participate in the course entitled "Change in Mission to our Community is a visiting lecturer at New York University. CYO team extends its winning streak

The Our Lady of Lourdes CYO basketball team of Mountainside won the Suburban divi-sion playoff championship of the Union County Senior CYO League last week, defeating St. James of Springfield, 62-43.

Tomorrow night the team plays St. Mi-chael's of Cranford, at Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth. The winner of that game then plays the National League's Blessed Sacrament of Elizabeth the following week.

Should the undefeated local team get past both games, it plays the Hudson County CYO champion at Roselle Catholic High School on March 23. The winner of that game then plays the winner of a match between the Essex and Bergen County champions for the Newark archdiocesan CYO title.

Against St. James last week, Mac Ramsey led all scorers for Our Lady of Lourdes with 19 points. Bob Munch got 15 and Craig Marks netted 12. Others in the scoring column were Ken Koszowski, 9: John Barry, 5, and William Dermody, 2.

INSURANCE AGAINST RIOT DAMAGE Several readers of our column have written to ask about insurance coverage for properties damaged during the course

While all of us are hopeful that no one will be marred by civil disorders, we must be prepared for them.

Property losses resulting from rior and civil commotion are generally covered under homeowners and commercial property package insurance policies.

For the businessman, protection is available under a variety of insurance contracts including the extended coverage endorsement normally written with fire insurance policies. One of the provisions of this endorsement, which also covers damage caused by windstorm, and other common natural catastrophes, provides coverage for loss-es resulting from looting and pillage that occur during a riot.

Most dwellings are insured under a homeowners package policy or a fire insurance policy. Both contracts give the insured protection against fire damage resulting from a civil disorder.

The fire insurance policy is often written with an extended coverage endorsement. This endorsement, which is also an intergral part of the homeowners policy, usually covers direct losses resulting from property damage and looting during

A four-year-old girl sat at a table in her classroom at the Institute of Child Study at Newark State College, Union, and slid a small round object over a box with variously-shaped openings on top until the object dropped into

Her teacher placed the child's small hand against her mouth and exclaimed, "Very good, Elleen!" She lifted the laughing youngster high in the air, swinging her in wide circles. Eileen is one of four children in a preschool class for children who are close to being totally deaf and blind. She wears tiny glasses with thick lenses and a hearing aid in each of her ears, but these devices do not help much. Little sensation reaches her. The teacher is Miss Theresa Cornacchia, a special teacher for the New Jersey Com-mission for the blind, who teaches the class three mornings a week, assisted by students from the Department of Special Education at the college. This is the first year of operation for the class, the first of its kind in the state. Miss Cornacchia holds Eileen's hand to her mouth when she speaks so that the child will feel sound vibrations. Used repeatedly, this device and endless patience may some day be the means by which Eileen learns to speak. By swinging the child in the air she rewards wher for manipulating her toy correctly. The children are rewarded immediately for suc-cessful attempts to cope with the physical world, and a brisk swinging in the air seems to be the reward they like best.

The task of the dark-haired young teacher is to awaken the youngsters to the existence rof-the world around them. Deprived of stimuli that affect most children, their minds turn Inward so that, left to their own devices, they will amuse themselves with rhythmic gestures or by staring fixedly at a light, Their heads turn up toward the ceiling lights, and Miss Cornacchia patiently turns their heads down again, redirecting their attention to some form of activity. She touches them firmly and gently, making them aware of her presence in their lives. Before they can reach out to the physical world, they must know it is there. Before they can learn to speak, they must learn there are people to speak to.

This class is the most recent addition to the college's Institute of Child Study, a diagnostic and remedial facility for children with learning disabilities, which also serves as a training center for students preparing for careers in special education. Known recently as the Child Study Center, the facility was begun in 1964 and now provides services for some 1,500 New Jersey children each year. It also includes an Evaluation Clinic, which provides a core of diagnostic services, two special classes for the neurologically impaired, and remedial clinics for reading, speech and hearing. Director of the institute is Dr. Edward La Crosse, chairman of the Department of Sepcial Education.

When the class for children with both visual and auditory problems opened last October, Eileen and a little boy named John were its only pupils. Two others arrived early in December, and one or two others are expected as the year progresses. The four who are here now were handicapped by an epidemic German measles, which their mothers contracted during pregnancy. They are all four years old,

The mothers usually remain throughout the children at home and observe the personal-ity changes that the class effects, Eileen cried a great deal in the beginning, her mother says, but now she responds happily to the people who work with her. She will play with toys now also, at home as well as in school, and reach out to other children to touch them.

When the class began, John could not walk without groping for pieces of furniture; so Miss Cornacchia wrapped a soft scarf around his chest and under his arms and held him firmly on his feet until he acquired the self-

Prices up again in January, Labor Department reports

WASHINGTON -- Prices rose in January at both wholesale and retail levels, the United States Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced. Preliminary data for February foreshadow a further advance in wholesale prices, but at a rate considerably under that of January.

The Consumer Price Index went up 0.3 per-cent to 124.1 (1957-59 equal 100) in January. This increase was smaller than the average monthly advance last year, but it left the index 4.6 percent above a year ago. Higher prices for services of all kinds, particularly those ownership and medical care were chiefly responsible for the increase. Food prices also went up considerably more than usual for January. These increases were partially offset by lower prices for apparel and for new and used cars.

The Wholesale Price Index rose 0.8 percent in January -- its largest monthly increase in almost three years. Industrial commodities advanced at the fastest rate since August 1956 (0.6 percent) influenced chiefly by price increases for metals and lumber, Prices of farm products rose 1.5 percent and processed foods and feeds went up 1.1 percent -- well above the seasonal rate. At 110.7 (1957-59 equal 100), the All Commodities Wholesale Price Index was 3.3 percent above a year earlier.

Preliminary data point to a 0.3-percent increase in the February Wholesale Price in-dex. Industrial commodities continued to advance, but at a more moderate rate than in The January rise in consumer prices equaled that of a year ago, and was considerably larger than the average for the month during the preceding 10 years. Costs of consumer services averaged 0.7 percent higher in January, led by a sharp increase in automobile insurance premiums (particularly in New York) and boosts in conventional mortgage interest charges as well as in taxes, insurance, and repair costs on owned homes.

Larger-than-seasonal increases for meats and eggs boosted food prices an average of 0.7 percent in January. Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables also averaged higher, but their 0.9 percent increase was less than usual for the Apparel prices declined as a result of seasonal clearance sales on winter clothing, but the drop was somewhat less than usual.

The steep rise for industrial commodities in January brought the index to 110.9 (1957-59 equal 100), 2.9 percent above a year earlier, causing well over half of the total advance in the wholesale price index. Although two commodity groups (metals and lumber and wood products) accounted for about two thirds of the overall industrial increase, price advances were more widespread than in recent months.

Increases for steel mill products and steel scrap, nonferrous metals and a wide range of metal products accounted for more than 40 percent of the total advance for industrial goods. The metals index registered the largest monthly increase in more than 10 years.

The advance for farm products principally reflected higher prices for livestock, live poultry, fresh and dried fruits and vegetables. grain and eggs. Meats, poultry and fish increased more than seasonally, accounting for close to 90 percent of the rise for processed foods and feeds.

More than 630,000 workers will receive cost-of-living wage increases based on the January Consumer Price Index.

College to mark its fortieth year

Jersey City State College is making preparations to celebrate its 40th year of existence.
Although founded in 1927, J.C. State -- as the New Jersey State Normal School -- opened its doors for the first time on Sept. 12, 1929. The date was just a month before the fateful "Black Friday" disaster on Wall Street. The first student body consisted of 386 students -- 382 of them women.

Since those early beginnings, the college has grown by leaps and bounds, and now has more than 3,200 day and over 3,000 evening students. Dr. James Mullen, president, said a series of events during the 1969-70 school year will be presented to mark the anniversary.

The college will print a brochure in connection with the 40th anniversary.

STEEL IMPORTS

Steel imports into the USA in 1968 reached a record high of 17.5 million tons, the largest year-to-year increase on record.

1968 property damage loss can be deducted at tax time

By MABEL G. STOLTE, County Home Economist

If this winter's snow, or other natural troubles are raising havoc with your house or grounds, don't forget that part of your loss can be regained through income tax casualty deductions.

First thing to remember, of course, is that you will soon be determining the extent of the tax you must pay by April 15 on your 1968 income. This means you are concerned now

Purchasing power drops in January for rank-and-file

WASHINGTON -- The purchasing power of the nation's rank - and - file workers declined in January, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported.

The decrease resulted from a rise in consumer prices, higher Social Security taxes effective in January, and the usual January decline in the work week,

Gross weekly earnings edged down to $110.63 in January, 12 cents lower than in December. The decline was due to a three-tenths-of-anhour decrease in average weekly hours, which more than offset the 2-cent gain in hourly earnings. After adjustment for prices in creases, gross weekly earnings were 0.4 percent below the December level but up 2.7 percent from a year ago. While gross real earnings rose in trade and finance, insurance, and real estate, they declined in mining, contract construction, and manufacturing, Spendable earings, or after tax pay, averaged $96.97 in January for the worker with three dependents, an over-the- month drop of $.53 or 0,5 percent. Most of this drop was the result of higher Social Security taxes.

Real spendable earnings -- take-home pay expressed in 1957-59 dollars to eliminate the effect of price changes -- fell by 0.9 percent in January for the worker with three dependents. At $78.14, real spendable earnings were 2.2 percent lower than the alltime high established in September of 1968, All major industry divisions reported over-the-month declines in real spendable earnings. Compared to a year ago, real spendable earnings in January 1969 were up 1.0 percent.

Helps Vets Find

The U.S. Employment Service is making a concerted effort to help veterans of the military service become re-established in civilian jobs. Representatives of the local offices of the State Employment Services offered assistance to nearly 200,000 newly-released veterans during the final six months of 1968.

up to December 31, 1968, Losses incurred since New Year's Day will be figured next year, in time for you to file your 1969 return by April 15, 1970. There's a chance true that the damage incurred before the end of December won't make itself known or won't be repaired until 1969. No matter. The determining factor is when the damage occurred,

The deduction will be allowed for the year 1968 provided you can show it happened before the end of last year. This can be proved in one of two ways: through dated articles in your local newspaper detailing damage that took place in your town and neighborhood, or through repair bills that include the date the damage was incurred.

If you don't discover damage incurred during 1968 until after April 15, 1969, in a summer house, for example, when you have filed your 1968 return, never mind. For the tax authorities will allow you to file an ammended 1968 return, and grant you a tax refund if you are entitled to it because of this newly discovered damage,

The losses on which you may take deductions this April, remember, are those in-curred any time during 1968. So make sure you go all the way back to January 1, 1968.

Did you suffer any damage some time back during the winter before the current one, losses you may have forgotten about by now? A quick search through your check book should assure you on this.

The general rule about such casualty deductions is that you can take off on your income tax for repair costs, less any moneys you receive from the insurance company. You are entitled to a deduction up to $50 or $100 where your insurance policy calls for that.

My lovely young daughter is sweet and popular. The boys who date her come from nice families, I understand, They walk into my home with covering their faces so that I can hardly tell one from another. The respect should have for their elders is gone and so are their manners. Their clothes are so ridiculous, I wonder if they are all male. To enter into a conversation with them is a lost cause. Your letter in a recent column to a teenager who complained of her nagging father is admirable in intent but unfair. Teenagers do not need nagging; they need support. They cling to their boy or girl-friends to bolster their egos. They feel withered when they can't relax in a parent's company. Also I know mothers beat their teenagers with words, hands and a punishment they refer "grounding" (keepi to as "grounding" (keeping the children home and out of activities.) Dear Amy:

I just read the letter in your column from "Nagged" I thought my dad picked on me too much when I was 16, (I'm 18 now) So I thought I'd be smart and get married so I could be my own boss. Now I realize he was doing it for my own good and because he loved me. He wanted me to finish school and make something out of myself so I could have the things he and Mama wanted to give me but couldn't afford. Deer object of state study Federal funds aid research

An expanded research program concerned with deer, Jersey's most valuable wildlife species, is getting underway, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic

The ultimate aim of the five-year project will be to gain a thorough understanding of the condition of the deer herd in various areas, its range and the quality of habi-The study is financed with federal aid funds derived from the excise tax on sporting arms, with matching funds from the sale of New Jersey hunting licenses,

The first new phase of the project involves tagging of deer in important wintering areas to ascertain the extent of range supported by key winter grounds, as well as other aspects of deer movement, initial tagging is being undertaken in the Applachian forest area of norther Warren County and a section of managed woodland in the Ocean-Burlington County

A helicopter survey, delayed by lack of snow cover in January, will pinpoint other wintering areas. Future tagging will include typical sections of central New Jersey farmland and southern New lersey pine where deer management has not been under-causing doors to slam down over the openings. These traps are tended at least once every day. Usually the captured deer will finish eating the balt and take a nap; however, the box is small enough so the animal cannot hurt itself unduly by thrashing around.

The deer is then transferred to a tighter box, with a hole designed to temporarily im-mobilize the neck. This permits a cursory examination of the teeth, an indicator of age, and application of tags to the ears. The deer and box, which is of known weight, are then weighed on a portable spring scale, and the whitetail released at the point of capture. The animal's general condition and the prevailing weather are noted.

Tags of three types are being used, two kinds of aluminum ear tag and a plastic streamer. Numbered aluminum tags are placed in both ears, to protect against loss and test the durability of each type. The streams are of different colors and attached to different ears, according to the location where the deer was released.

. Any tagged deer victimized by accident or shot during next fall's hunting seasons should likewise be reported, including the tag number. If possible, Fish and Game personnel should be notified immediately of the location of any deer found, and hunters should save the jaw. This will permit examination of fat and bone marrow, major indices of nutrition, as well as age, health and reproductive data.

Autopsies are already being conducted on any deer found after accidents. Project biologists who should be notified are George Howard (201-638-6980) and Robert Lund (201-879-7330) in northern New Jersey and William Shoemaker (609-597-7985) in the south; if they cannot be reached, any ish and Came Conservation Officer or Wildlife Biologist should be notified, officials Construction of additional traps will permit expansion of the tagging program. Large nets and tranquilizer guns will also be tested for capturing deer: tranquilizers have been used to a limited extent for removing deer from enclosed areas, but have not

Film program set for State Museum

A special program of prestige films and new releases, sponsored by the National Film Board of Canada and the Canadian Consulate General, will be presented at the New Jersey State Museum Auditorium, Trenton, in two performances, at 3 and 4 p.m. Saturday.

The films to be shown at 3 p.m. are: "The Voyageurs," a film, including a tuneful view of history, about the men who drove big freighters and canoes into the Canadian wilderness (color, 20 min.);

"Eskimo Artist—Kanojuak," a film exploring the making of Eskimo seal-skin and stone-cut prints, the character of the artists who made them, the ideas and view of life contained in them, and the Story of the West Baffin Co-operative whose development has made all this possible (color, 20 min.);
"Nahanni," a film which has captured the spectacular scenery and recorded some of the mysterious legends of the famous Headless Valley of the Nahanni in the Northwest Territories.

The films to be shown at 4 p.m. will include one from the previous group as well as: "60 Cycles," a film which has caught the cycling races in Quebec, the race itself, the countryside and the crowds watching (color, 16 min.);

"Paddle to the Sea," taken from a book by Holling C. Holling, a film carrying the viewer on an adventurous voyage to the sea and seen through the eyes of a hand-carved Indian canoe man.

Auditorium programs are free to the public. People may be seated one-half hour before programs begin.

Williams urges greater role by nation's community colleges

WASHINGTON - U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) told the nation's junior college administrators this week that they have the opportunity -- and the responsibility -- to remake American education, Senator Williams also revealed that Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch has sent him a letter stating Finch's view that "the community colleges must play a greater role in the expansion of educational opportunities for all persons in our society," and anticipating "working with you toward this objective.'

The two-pronged developments in community college activity came as Senator Williams sent an opening-day message to the 49th annual convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges (AAJC), meeting this week in Atlanta. In his statement to the convention, he said that "two-year schools, acting in concert with the whole education mix, can work a startling change on American society."

Senator Williams said that his challenge to the AAJC convention was given "added meaning" by the Finch letter.

The New Jersey lawmaker is the author of the Comprehensive Community College Act of 1969, which would provide Federal assistance for state development of postsecondary education. The bill would give two-year colleges equal footing with the longestablished four-year colleges and universities.

In his message to the community college convention, Senator Williams said that two-year schools have domonstrated a capacity "get with it" more often than most other educational institutions. He said that mounting support for community colleges, and for his two-year college aid bill, puts the responsibilities for energy and experimentation squarely on the shoulders of junior college officials. "Do your work well," he told the convention, "and you will honor the hopes we have in your ultimate success.

As he released the message to the AAJC convention, Senator Williams said that nearly third of the United States Senate now has joined him as co-sponsors of the legislation, Representative Frank Thompson of New Jersey (D-4th Dist.) has offered a companion bill in the House of Representatives.

Senator Williams said that support for the community college bill has mounted in recent days. He noted several statements in support of the proposal:

-- The Maryland Council of Community College Presidents issued a statement which unequivocally supports, in its entirety, the logic and design of Senator Williams' bill."

-- Kermit Morrissey, President of the Allegheny County (Pa.) Community College, said that he 'will support your efforts in every way possible.'

-- Peter Masiko, President of Miami-Dade Junior College, called the proposal "relevant and applicable to many of the pressing needs of America's two-year institutions."

Senator Williams said that he was particularly gratified at the early and enthusiastic support he has received from AAJC itself. He noted that William G. Shannon, Associate Executive Director of AAJC, said: 'The American Association of Junior Colleges is pleased and gratified with the introduction in Congress of the Comprehensive Community College Bill by Senator Harrison Williams, Jr., of New Jersey. Senator Williams is to be commended for his leadership in focusing attention on the potential contributions of the community college in opening doors to higher education in helping to alleviate technical manpower shortages. hope the introduction of this important bipartisan bill signals the start of intensive Congressional discussions regarding the need to strengthen all levels of education."

Record enrollment for college studies will increase again

"There has been a record increase in enroliments at New Jersey higher education institutions, and our projections show we can expect a similar increase next year", said Chancellor of High Education, Ralph A. Dungan in commenting this week on enrollment data released by the Department of Higher

"Despite the fact that new facilities to be constructed from bond proceeds will not be ready for occupancy for several years. New lersey colleges have made excellent progress in accomodating the unprecedented demand for college spaces", said Dungan.

Over 167,000 full and part-time students were enrolled in New Jersey public and in-dependent institutions for the fall 1968 semester. This represents an increase of 15 per cent or roughly 22,000 additional students over the 1967-68 academic year. About 102,000 of these were registered at public institutions - a 21 per cent increase over last year while almost 65,000 students were enrolled in New Jersey's independent colleges and universities, a seven per cent increase.

The most dramatic increase was at the twoyear community colleges, where total enrollments more than doubled to almost 22,000 students. This increase reflected the opening of new community colleges in Bergen, Essex, Gloucester, Morris, Somerset, and Monmouth counties," Dungan said.

Over 50,000 New Jersey residents - a 23 per cent rise over 1967-68 - were enrolled as full-time undergraduates at public institutions within the state. Some 26,000 additional New Jersey men and women - 10 per cent more than the previous year - were registered as full-time undergraduates at the state's independent institutions. The number of graduate students attending New Jersey institutions went up only slightly to 28,000 full and part-time students, a three per cent increase, Dungan added.

The ORT vocational schools that I have seen are invariably of high quality, run by dedicated men and of high quality, run by dedicated men and women, and operated so as to discover hidden talent among the native people of these various countries. This kind of educational work is a must, as the world faces up to the problem of the underdeveloped nations. Governors and mayors of each state and city throughout the nation will issue proclamations declaring ORT Day 1969 an official observance.

Mrs. Stanley Bell, president of the Spring-field chapter of ORT, said, "ORT, the voca-tional training agency of the Jewish people, operates 600 vocational installations in 22 lands. With a current worldwide enrollment of 50,000; the organization has trained more than a million needy and impoverished people since it started in 1880. Women's American ORT, the largest ORT group in the world, is a membership organization affiliated with the American ORT Federation, which currently receives funds, exclusive of membership dues, by special agreement with the Joint Distribution Committee, a member agency of the United Jewish Appeal."

OLD SHORT HILLS ROAD, LIVINGSTON, N. J. . 992-8761

Since teenage bodies are in an important period of de-velopment, girls need more essential nutrients than at any other time of their lives except during the later months of pregnancy.

It is also a time when the girl becomes conscious of her personal appearance, with special attention given to cor-rect weight and a clear complexion. Because of this, she is easily swayed by adver-tising in which crash diets and magic formulas are featured. It is the mother's responsibility to guide her daughter in choosing what will be best for her health. This includes a good diet.

Each day the teenage girl should have four servings of milk or its equivalent; two or more servings of a good protein source; four servings of fruits and vegetables; and four servings of a grain product. She should avoid a large quantity of candy, soda pop, potato chips, pretzels and other high calorie foods that have little nutritional value. Instead, for snacks she should choose fruit, fruit juices, and other similar

Officers elected by Service

The Visiting Homemaker Service of Central Union County, Inc. held its annual meeting recently at the Lynn Restaurant in Elizabeth, Officers for next year were elected. They were Mrs. Robert E. Royes, president; Mrs. Robert A. Orben, vicepresident; Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, secretary; and Mrs. Charles J. Irwin of Mountainside, treasurer. Trustees who were elected to the board for the 1969-1971 term include Mrs. Peter Hughes of Union, Mrs. Charles Ammann, Mrs. William T. Knox, Mrs. Andrew Campbell, Mrs. Robert Y. Garrett III, Mrs. Robert L. Sutman, Mrs. William C. Linn, Mrs. Robert R. Hendrick and Mrs. David B. Grinnell.

Mrs. Thomas Coniglio was elected to the board of trustees to fill an unexpired term for the years 1968 to 1970.

Three new trustees were welcomed for the 1969-1971 term! They are Mrs. Charles Brantley of Roselle, Mrs. Marcus Hamilton and Mrs. Heinn Tomfohrde III.

A talk on the mobile meals program in Westfield, which is sponsored by the service, was given by Mrs. Anthony Testa. A slide lecture about the service was shown by the director, Mrs. Ace L. Tubbs, and was prepared by the Rev. Robert Scott.

A gift was presented to Abram Londa for his years of volunteer service as a legal consultant to the service.

Also attending the meeting was Mrs. Cleora Wheatley, coordinator of Homemaker Services for the State Departnt of Health.

Furniture sales hunt can be fun

Public sales, auctions, antique, garage, white elephant and rummage sales are a few of the terms applied to oppor-tunities that can provide furnishings for a home, reports Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist. These events are not only likely to produce the desired items but can be the source of interest and enjoyment in

In following the "sales," part of the real fun is the "hunt." This means that it may take several months or many contacts before you find the item you are looking for. But during the hunt you meet and talk with many people, learn more about the area, and gain new knowledge about various things.
If one is concerned only with new items of furniture, or determined to have everything match within a room, then the best procedure is to go to a reputable furniture dealer,

On the other hand, if one has determined that more storage space is needed in a given room, or a cabinet is needed for the home-built stereo set, or different accessories would add atmosphere to a room, then a whole array of alternatives open up when you follow the sales.

The following guidelines may be helpful in evaluating used home furnishing items. is the piece of good basic design that pleases you? Is it sturdy and solid?

If parts are missing or broken, can you replace them yourself or must you pay to have missing parts made and replaced?

Women's pants or slacks will be a bigger than ever fa-shion item for spring and summer, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist, The current popularity of the pants suit with a fuller cut will entice more women than ever to indulge ir the pants craze.

Although the skin-tight fit of pants is passe' and the fuller cut through the crotch and legs is less revealing, a good fit is still necessary to look well in pants.

Pants are not difficult to make but they are hard to fit. Therefore, a pants-making project should include making a trial pair first to determine what alterations are needed. The criteria for fit are: the waist should be comfortably snug, the hips should be roomy enough for ease in sitting, the thigh area should not bind, and the crotch area must not be too tight or too loose.

In selecting a pattern for pants, determine the size by your own waist and hip measurements. If your hip measurement is larger than that shown for the hip on the pattern, then select the size according to your hip measurement rather than your waist measurement and adjust the

Suburban Mothers present funds for room in Children's Hospital

The Suburban Mothers of Twins and Triplets Club, who volunteer their services for the benefit of young patients at Children's Specialized Hospital, Westfield-Mountainside, have provided a completely equipped sound-proof room for the treatment of children with speech difficulties through successful fund-raising efforts.

This week a check for $500 in partial payment for the room was presented to E. Milton Staub, MD, administrator and medi-cal director of Children's Specialized Hospital. The presentation was made by Mrs. Maurice Lospinoso, president of the club, and Mrs. Frank A. Kelly of Mountainside. Mrs. Kelly served as chairman of the benefit fashion show which the club held last fall to raise funds for the hospital.

After the presentation, the members were escorted, on a tour of the hospital by Mrs. Charles W. Anderson, president of the hos-pital's board of managers, to inspect the second summer season opening June 12th will offer in subscription series such performers as Glen Campbell, the New York Philharmonic, Rowan & Martin, the American Ballet Theatre, and the musical "Fiddler On The Roof".

N.J. Arts Center opening on June 12; from Diana Ross to Eugene Ormandy

Executive Director D. Louis Tonti said the Center has scheduled three classical and six popular subscription series to include among other top artists The Washington National Symphony with opera diva Dorothy Kirsten; Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme; planist Byron Janis; Henry Mancini & Johnny Mathis; swingsymphonic Benny Goodman; and violinist Berl

Returning to the Center after publiclyacclaimed performances in the first season last Summer will be the Philadelphia Orchestra under musical director Eugene Ormandy; Diana Ross & The Supremes; planist Van Cliburn; Liberace; and the New Jersey Symphony conducted by Henry Lewis.

Season subscriptions at discount prices will be offered first to last year's subscribers, and detailed information for ordering has been mailed to them. General sale of subscriptions is to start by mid-March, Each popular series will include seven events; each classical series, six events.

THE ARTS CENTER, located at Telegraph Hill Park on the Garden State Parkway (Exit 116), will place on sale at a later date the available single performance tickets for individual events. Other performances not on any of the subscription series will also be announced by then.

The six popular series, for each day of the week from Monday through Saturday, will include the Glen Campbell Show (week of June 30); the Rowan & Martin Show--'It's Sock It To Me Time!" (week of July 7); 'Diana Ross & The Supremes with Buddy Rich and his Orchestra (week of July 14): "Fiddler On The Roof" (week of July 21); Steve Law-rence and Eydle Gorme (week of August 4); the new 1969 Liberace Show (week of August 18); and popular song stars Henry Mancini& Johnny Mathis (week of August 25).The three classical series will include, but not on all, the Ormandy-conducted Philadelphia Orchestra with the Romeros, Spain's first family of guitar; the American Ballet Theatre with guest artists Erik Bruhn and Carla Fracci

Berl Senofsky. Each classical series will have events on various nights of the week, unlike the popular subscriptions set for the same night-of-theweek, because of the special problems involved in booking the world's finest concert artists.

The 1969 season will run nightly except Sundays through July, August and Into September, with the Center's second annual Jazz Festival being scheduled for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday after Labor Day (Sept. 4, 5 and 6). The first Festival was a twoday program. There will be no Friday performances on the 13th and 20th in June.

AS A GROUP, the subscription series themselves start on opening night, (Thursday) June 12th, with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Ormandy, and end Saturday, Aug. 30th with the final Mancini-Mathis performance, Ormandy's world-famed orchestra, with guest planist Van Cliburn, opened the Arts Center in an invitational gala last June 12th.

Several changes have been planned for the second season operation on the basis of suggestions from the Center's inaugural-year patrons. They include the following:

1. The curtain time has been moved up a half hour to 8:30 P.M. for performances on Mondays through Thursdays, except the Thursday, July 3rd, evening before Independence Day. For the latter and all Friday and Saturday performances the curtain time will be 9 P.M. as before.

2. The price-scaled seating sections in the Arts Center's 5,058-seat amphitheater will be realigned to conform with existing cross aisles. This extensive rearrangement will reoutre a slight increase in single-event ticket prices for some seats so that the house will able to continue meeting contractual obligations with outstanding performers. The top price for single seats, other than boxes sold on a seasonal basis, will be increased 10

3. No combination "Pop-Classical" subscription series will be offered, but both a classical and popular series can be subscribed to separately although seats might not be the same for each series.

Subscribers this year will receive a 10 per cent or more discount from single-performance seat prices, and again will have the opportunity to reserve a 1969 series order with only a $10 deposit -- the remainder payable by June 1st.

All season subscription orders as well as single event sales this year will be processed directly through the Arts Center box office at Telegraph Hill Park on the Parkway. The administration office there is now staffed on a year-round basis under John Larson, the Arts Center Manager representing the managerial firm of Nederlander Arts Associates.

THE ARTS CENTER, built by the New Jersey Highway Authority as a roadside recreational development of the toll Parkway, drew more than 300,000 persons to performances during the basic inaugural season last year between June and early September.

Some, mostly youngsters from disadvantaged areas of the State, came free of charge under auspices of the Garden State Arts Center Fund. The Authority established the Fund to receive tax-deductible contributions for such youth activities at the Center, including special programs held later in September for some 55,000 elementary school children and teachers from throughout New Jersey.

The school programs will be expanded this year, and are to start in May with 36 young people's concerts arranged for classroomtime daylight hours during the month. Contributions are again being solicited from purchasers of box seats for the regular season. The boxes will be sold through the Office of the Director, and information on them can be obtained by writing there in care of the Arts Center, P.O. Box 116, Holm-

Father Flannery will speak Sunday on 'Anti-Semitism'

The Rev. Edward H. Flannery, director of the Institute of Judaeo-Christian studies at Seton Hall University and author of the first history of anti-semitism by a Catholic priest, will speak Sunday at 8 p.m. in Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, Father Flannery's lecture on "Anti-Semitism" will be the final offering of the 1968-1969 Bardy Hall lecture series. The program was originally scheduled Feb. 9 but was postponed because of the heavy snowfall.

Father Flannery wrote "The Anguish of the lews: 23 Centuries of Anti-Semitism," for which he won six awards, it is being translated into French, Spanish and Portuguese. In the book he says that division between Christians and News has come not only from anti-semitism but also from the "Christians" ignorance of Jewish history."

He is the executive secretary of the Secretariat for Catholic-Jewish Relations of the Bishops' Committee for Ecumenical and Interreligious affairs, with offices at Seton Hall.

Tickets for the lecture, at $2.50, will be available at the door.

Named president of Rider College

Dr. Frank N. Elliott, who has been credited with playing a major role in the transition of Hofstra University from a commuter-type college to a campus institution with Long Island's tallest buildings, will take over as president of Rider College, Trenton, on Aug. 1.

The appointment of the 42-year-old Elliott to succeed Dr. Franklin F. Moore was announced by Dr. George R. Hill, chairman of the Rider board of trustees, Dr. Moore is retiring after 35 years in the post, one of the longest tenures of a United States col-

Program is slated to outline careers in social service

Opportunities for a career in social service work will be the topic of the day at Overlook Hospital on Tuesday, when a special program for high school students will be presented in the Wallace Medical Education Center, starting at 9:15 a.m.

A film presenting different fields of social service work will be shown, after which Overlook's professional social service staff will conduct round-table discussions of opportunities in hospital social service work.

The students will meet with a representative from Union County Psychiatric Clinic to learn about out-patient psychiatric social service work. In-patient psychiatric social service work will be presented by Mrs. Barbara Cornwall, Psychiatric Social Service Worker; Mrs. Elizabeth Schofield, full-time social worker, will discuss home health care, assisted by Mrs. Mary J. Mackenzie, case aide, who will touch on school social work and rehabilitation. Lois Carleton, director of Overlook's social service department, and Mrs. Mary Strong, will present the fields of general medical social work and also community action.

Students interested may speak to their high school guidance counselors at once to make arrangements for Social Service Day at Overlook, Area schools participating in the Overlook, Health Career Program Include: New Providence High School, Westfield High School,
Oak Knoll School, Chatham High School, Millburn High School, Summit High School, Madison High School, Summit High School, Madison High School, Holy Trinity High School, Cranford High School, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

Mentalist to speak at lodge meeting

Sam Piller, program chairman of the Spring-field Men's Lodge of B'nai B'rith, has an-nounced that DeMille the mentalist will address a meeting of the lodge Monday evening at Temple Beth Ahm.
DeMille recently made front page news in Chicago when he predicted accurately on a Monday what the headlines of the Chicago Daily News, would be on the following Thursday, Known only as DeMille the mentalist has excited the curiosity of some of the foremost names in the entertainment field. Ed Sullivan has, said, "DeMille is the foremost mentalist in the field." Victor Borge added, "Fabulous... extraordinary...and good too.

Mrs. Sydnor gets honor society bid

Mrs. Harold R. Sydnor, the former Lenore Langheinz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry W. Langheinz, 224 Partridge run, Mountainside, has been invited into Phi Kappa Phi national honor society. Mrs. Sydnor, who is majoring in fine arts, is a senior student at the University of Wisconsin, a graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School and the Mountainside public school system. Membership in the honor society was ex-tended to Mrs. Sydnor in recognition of her high scholastic achievement, her active contributions to the community and upon recom-mendation from faculty concerning her character, leadership and citizenship. Phi Kappa Phi is unique among campus honor societies in that it selects its members from all of the colleges and schools of the university, and in that it stresses both scholastic achievement and active contributions to the community.

Courses in art, history to start next Thursday

The first session of the art and history courses offered by the adult education committee of Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, will be held next Thursday evening. The courses will continue through May 8.

The first course entitled "Great Events in Biblical History" will be given by Rabbi Kroloff from 8 to 9 p.m. It will cover the period from the dawn of the Jewish people to the time of the Maccabess. The second course, to be given by Rabbi Reuben Levine of Springfield, is entitled "Art in Judaism." Rabbi Levine has one of the few colored side collections in existence, dealing with Jewish art. The course will be given from 9:15 to 10:15 p.m.
