Ruggiero changes mind; will seek re-election

Announces candidacy at meeting

As an ordinance giving the Mountainside Police Department across the board pay raise of about 10 percent was being passed by the all-Republican Borough Council over heavy Democratic opposition Tuesday night, Councilman Robert Ruggiero who had previously stated he would not run for re-election this fall, reversed himself and announced his candidacy for office.

Meeting at Beechwood School for their regular monthly session, the Borough Council voted unanimously on the one-year police contract which calls for a first-class patrolman (three years on the force) to receive $10,500 a year.

The salary increase affects all ranks on the 19-member force with the police chief receiving a boost from $13,100 a year to $13,600 a year.

Democratic candidates at the meeting, including Jack Walsh, candidate for mayor, and Beth Loftus and Jack Palmer, council candidates, argued against the council's timing in presenting the ordinance to the public.

They contended that since the ordinance was passed Tuesday night the public, if they opposed the pay raise, had until the next regular meeting of council Oct. 21 to present the

Local music buffs present new dance and art programs

The Mountainside Music Association will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 23 at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Geiger, 1128 Saddle Brook rd. The purpose of the organization is to foster music and art appreciation in the community. Any resident interested in becoming a member is invited to attend.

The officers for the present year are, Nancy Serio, president; Ruth Spina, vice-president; Ruth Ann Wagner, recording secretary; Vaughn Cushman, corresponding secretary, and Grace Hempel, treasurer.

The MMA in past years has presented many gifts in the field of music to the local schools and donated the equipment for the music room in the new library. Each year a modern dance program is offered to second, third, fourth and fifth grade girls. Notices will be sent to the parents shortly with complete information about registration for this course.

The MMA will again sponsor an oil (and

Dad swears son into naval rank

Col. James R. Root, U. S. Air Force, of 1075 Charles st., Mountainside, proudly administered the oath of office last week which commissioned his son, Barth James Root, midshipman first class, as an ensign, U. S. Navy. Colonel Root received special authorization from the Navy Department to commission his son. The ceremony was held at Defense Contract Administration Services District, Rt. 22, Springfield, which is under the command of Colonel Root.

Ensign Root, a recent graduate of the University of Texas, will be assigned to the Destroyer USS Larson (DD-830), as assistant gunnery officer after specialized schooling at Dam Neck, Va. The Larson is homeported at Long Beach, Calif.

Also in attendance at the ceremony were Mrs. Root, who presented her son with the insignia of his new rank; Mrs. Root's brother, the Rev. Gilbert Barth of the College of Steubenville in Ohio, who gave the invocation, and various military officers and civilian officials of DCASD, Springfield.

YES reorganized with Mrs. Hechtle selected president

The Youth Employment Service of Mountainside was reorganized recently at the home of its new president, Mrs. John Hechtle of 346 Old Grove rd. Mrs. Hechtle succeeded Mrs. William Gutman, one of the original organizers of the Mountainside YES.

Mrs. Hechtle, wife of Borough Councilman John Hechtle, served for nine years on the Mountainside PTA board, two years as president.

The YES group also includes Mrs. Robert Dunlap Jr., chairman of volunteers; Mrs. Donald K. Skoog, vice-president; Mrs. Walter Young, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Nelson Jr., publicity, and William Gutman, finance chairman. Telephone volunteers are Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Mrs. William Cullen, Mrs. George Ramsey, Mrs. C. Thorpe Thompson, Mrs. Francis Fitzgerald, Mrs. Michael Sgarro, Mrs. Carl Heinz, Mrs. L.H. Stecker and Mrs. Brook Gardner.

Anyone wishing to volunteer time one afternoon a month may do so by calling Mrs. Dunlap at 232-9107.

Students 14 years of age and older may apply in person at Borough Hall. There is always a call for waitresses, clerical helpers, domestic and mother's helpers, gardeners, painters and leaf rakers. YES may be reached by calling 232-3975 at Borough Hall between 3:30 and 5 p.m.

guests joined former Gov. Robert B. Meyner and Gov. Richard Hughes last Saturday afternoon to honor Democratic mayoralty candidate John Walsh and Borough Council candidates John H. Palmer Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Loftus at a lawn party held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Noe.

Other political notables who appeared at the party included Union County Democratic Chairman James Kineally, the father of Mountainside's Mrs. Tom Phillips; John Connor Jr., candidate for assemblyman-at-large; Robert Li-Sooye, Union County coordinator for the Meyner gubernatorial campaign; and Joseph Gannon, Democratic state committeeman for Union County, Democratic municipal chairman Horace R. Cardoni escorted the political guests to and from the affair.

CBS sportscaster to highlight Little League awards dinner

At the first awards dinner of the Mountainside Little League, to be held at the Mountainside Inn tonight, an attendance of more than 275 Little Leaguers and parents is anticipated. Highlighting the evening's activities will be guest speaker, Pat Summerall of CBS sports.

Guests will include Mayor Fred Wilhelms Jr., William Blunne, Bill Ditzel, Max Deutsch, Little League Director of District 9, and the Rev. E.A. Talcott, who will give the invocation. Representatives of the sponsors of the winning teams will also be present, including the First Federal Savings and Loan of Westfield and Mountainside, National Bank of Westfield and Mountainside, Mountainside Fire Department and the Mountainside Inn. All officers and committee chairman of the Mountainside Little League will be in attendance.

After the guest speakers have been heard, the evening's activities will end with the awards being presented to the sponsors and winning teams in each League for 1969. They are as follows: American League—co-champs—Orioles; and Yankees; National League—Cubs; Major League—co-champs—Mountaineers and Mustangs; Senior League—Orioles; Senior League All Stars—District 9 champs; and Girls' Softball League—Orioles.

The guest speaker, Summerall, is director of sports for WCBN/Newsradio 88, a former star professional football player, a history and English teacher and broadcaster. Sum-

Gov. Hughes stressed the need for the support of independent-minded voters of all political persuasions in order to win state and local elections.

Said Hughes: "The day of blind loyalty to party is past. Today's voter will choose his candidate on the basis of individual impression, not on the basis of mere party affiliation." Hughes predicted that Meyner would draw substantial votes from independents in suburban areas such as Mountainside.

After a brief discussion of his recent campaigning experiences, Meyner answered questions from the audience. To a query on his position on "increased facilities" for state universities, Meyner reminded his listeners that when governor more than eight years ago, he had advocated a special bond issue for higher education. He also recalled that he had been instrumental in establishing New Jersey's only state medical school.

In response to a question on a state income tax, he stated that although he was personally in favor of it, as opposed to the sales tax, it was apparent that "the people of New Jersey would not put up with an income tax" and he was not ready to force the issue.

THE LAST QUESTION posed to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate referred to Meyner's position on the proposed cloverleaf at New Providence road and Rt. 22. Meyner responded that although the matter of the cloverleaf had been discussed with him, he did not have enough detailed information to make a final statement on what he knew to School board meets on Tuesday evening

The next regular monthly business meeting of the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark.

Avery W. Ward, board president, reminded residents of the Regional District that the meetings are open to the public and that a portion of the meeting is set aside by the board to hear comments from the public.

PROFILE--Peter J. McDonough

This is another in a series of Profiles on candidates in this November's election.

Union County's new assembly district -- 9C -- has brought together two familiar faces who hope to form a new Republican legislative team in Trenton. Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway, formerly part of District 9B, and Peter J. McDonough of Plainsfield are the candidates from the new U-shaped district, which includes Roselle, Mountainside, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Plainfield, Clark, Cranford, Winfield and Rahway.

McDonough, 44, has represented 9C in two non-consecutive terms, winning in 1963 and 1967 and losing a bid for the State Senate in 1965. He served as majority whip in the Assembly's most recent session, coordinating activities between committee chairmen of both legislative houses.

McDonough is looking forward to this year's election. "We have a good ticket," he said, "and I should enjoy working more closely with Herb Kiehn."

The captain of the team is gubernatorial candidate William T. Cahill, and Cahill's campaign manager for Union County is Dick McDonough, Peter's cousin. Dick has also served in the same capacity for Republican Congressman Florence F. Dwyer.

Although Peter McDonough is linked so closely to Cahill's campaign, he strongly asserted that "we're not going to agree with all of his stands. I'm well known around Trenton for the independence of my views," said McDonough.

One area where he disagrees with Mr. Cahill is on the methadone treatment for narcotics addicts, a plan which the party standard bearer favors. McDonough, a member of the Public Safety Committee, stated, "I think two-thirds of the crime in this state is related to the misuse of drugs," and is in favor of "extremely strong punishment for convicted pushers who sell drugs to our youth."

McDONOUGH BELIEVES that public safety will be one of the biggest issues of the campaign and stands proudly on his record in that field. He is the co-sponsor of bill A-709 which created a School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University; and has also sponsored bills aimed at improving the lot of policemen, including capital punishment for killing of policemen and changes in local residency requirements to allow better recruitment of police officers.

On firearms control McDonough is a staunch supporter of the current New Jersey law. "I think it's one of the strongest in the country and I would let it run. I think most police officials are in favor of it, and it's working fairly well."

As chairman of the education committee in 1965 and again in 1968, McDonough has become an expert in that field. He was chief sponsor of bills A-411, which established an adult education equivalency certification pro-

Board asks approval for $747,000

Plan Deerfield addition to replace Echobrook

The Mountainside Board of Education will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m. at the Deerfield School to explain details of its proposed $747,000 bond issue. The meeting was announced this week in a statement by the board urging all citizens to attend the meeting and then to vote Oct. 14 in favor of the bond issue for school improvements.

Board members signing the announcement were William J. Blunne, Marjory Bradshaw, Allan W. Dehls, Donald L. Jeka, Grant M. Lemox (president), Walter H. Rupp and Abe Suckno.

They declared:

OUR CHILDREN deserve the best educational system that we can provide to equip them for today's world.

The time has come when we can no longer make a 31-to-65 year old building complex-Echobrook School -- serve the educational needs of the 1970's.

We need a new school. An the Borough Council has stated that it needs enlarged facilities to house its operations for running the town.

The Board of Education recently announced a $747,000 bond issue to create new elementary facilities at Deerfield, eliminating the Echobrook buildings as a school. These buildings will be sold to the borough at a fair market value and the proceeds will be used to reduce the amount of school bonds sold.

A public hearing will be held on Oct. 7 to discuss plans for the proposed new addition at Deerfield. Then, on Oct. 14, you will be asked to vote approval of the bond issue.

In the board's opinion, the best interests of the town will be served by approving this plan. The board believes Echobrook School should be eliminated because:

1. It doesn't meet the requirements of a modern school building in educational facilities and equipment, according to New Jersey state standards.

2. Its inadequate facilities cannot compare favorably to those in our other schools.

3. It is in a bad location for a school because of proximity to Rt. 22 traffic, noise and pollution levels.

4. It is expensive to maintain as a school building because of its age.

5. The buildings are better suited as a Borough Hall/Recreational Center at a time

gram which could benefit a great many N.J. residents; ACR-42, which created a commission to study the causes of and develop remedies for high school dropouts, and A-897, which creates an "Information Bank" for all available student scholarships, both public and private.

McDonough, whose own college education was largely financed by the GI Bill after World War II, is in favor of a complete program of scholarships and loans for financing higher education. He would force all banks and institutions chartered by the state to turn part of their assets back to the community in this way.

He also advocates a more feasible plan for the transfer of students from the county junior colleges to higher institutions. "I would like to see an automatic transfer for those that are qualified," he said.

McDonough has also served on the state commission to study child labor laws. He feels the current state laws are inadequate and in need of revision. "There have been no major revisions since 1937," he stated.

He disagrees sharply with N. J. Governor Richard J. Hughes on this issue, and says that the Governor is afraid that someone will tamper with the laws. McDonough would authorize the creation of a computerized work permit program which would cover every minor in the state. Instead of having to apply for working papers every time he takes a new job, a youth would have a card of his

Local Red Cross group selects board members

At the annual meeting last week of the Westfield-MountainSide Chapter of the American National Red Cross, Mrs. H. H. Anderson, Red Cross youth chairman, presented a check for $1,500 to Robert S. Everett, newly elected chapter chairman, from all the school children of Westfield and MountainSide for the national Red Cross disaster assistance program for children who were in the Camille hurricane. A Red Cross youth fund drive is held in the schools annually in October and the money collected is used for local, national and international youth programs upon recommendation of the youth committee and the approval of the board of directors of the chapter. The chapter also elected officers and board members at the meeting at the chapter headquarters last Tuesday.

Mrs. Grant H. Lennox, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of candidates for the board of directors. The following members were re-elected to the board: Mrs. George Alayeto, Mrs. Robert Bender, Abner Jackson, Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Mrs. Jock Heatly, Mrs. Grant H. Lennox, Mrs. Robert Ohaus, Dr. Robert J. Ott and Mrs. Edward Pletz.

Mrs. Robert Clayton, chairman of the office of volunteers, presented the following awards: five-year pins - Mrs. Walter Young and Dr. Robert J. Ott; 10-year pin - Mrs. Thomas Herbert; 15-year pin - Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. Stanton Harcourt was unable to attend but was to have received a 25-year pin. Mrs. Harcourt has spent many thousands of hours working in the Chapter with servicemen, veterans and their families and at East Orange Veterans Hospital. Mrs. Clayton also presented a certificate of appreciation from the American National Red Cross to Robert D. Youngmans, retiring chapter chairman.

As a sidelight Charles Horner, a Red Cross youth member, told members and guests of his experiences this summer while attending the Youth Leadership Training Center at Peddie School, Hightstown.

necessary petition to council to make it mandatory for the issue to be put on referendum during the general election Nov. 4. This, they contended, under state statute requiring a 30-day time period between the presentation of the petition and its appearance on the referendum, would then be too late.

IN ANNOUNCING his candidacy for council, Ruggiero, who is also police commissioner here, said that two events during the past week led him to reconsider his decision.

The first, he said, was the withdrawal of Ronald Heyman as a Republican candidate for council due to an employment change. The second, he added, "was the unwarranted and irresponsible attack upon our fine Police Department by the local candidates of the Democratic Party." Ruggiero was ostensibly referring to articles in local newspapers recently in which the Democrats made known their opposition to the police pay raises.

Ruggiero defended the pay raise as hatched off "the outstanding contributions" of members of the department. He termed statements made by the Democrats "not only foolhardy but degrading to the entire community."

Several Democrats, including campaign chairman Bob Jaffe and Democratic municipal chairman Russ Cardoni objected to Ruggiero making his announcement of candidacy from the dias of the Borough Council.

In the way of another announcement, Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr. urged all MountainSide voters to support the forthcoming referendum October 14 for the replacement of Echobrook School and its ultimate conversion to Borough Hall facilities.

ALTHOUGH THE GEOGRAPHY of 9C is slightly different this year, Pete McDonough feels he knows his district well. "I like my district," he says, "I consider it a cross-section of myself. It's neither wealthy nor poor, neither liberal nor conservative.

"These people in my district care; and they don't fall to express themselves, as my mall has indicated in the past. I relish the people's opinion. It has to help shape my thinking, and I will vote the way my people tell me."

when those facilities are sorely needed. But what about the cost? True enough, consideration of the bond issue would hit us at a time when we are in the midst of a fluctuating economy. But the increase in your taxes for this purpose would be only an estimated $28.52 per year on a $35,000 home.

That $28.52, expressed in other ways, in a good dinner at a fine restaurant, or an inspired trip to the hardware store, or a new tire for your car. Those material things are soon gone and forgotten. The dollars we spend on education are an investment. People increase in value. "Things" decrease.

We are asking that you consider all of these points very carefully. Come to the public hearing on Oct. 7. Decide for yourself.

be a serious problem in MountainSide. He stated that during his previous term as governor there were similar episodes of local opposition to public projects. "In such cases," said Meyer, "I would often meet personally with representatives of the groups opposing the construction before final determination would be made on the project. I would do so in the case of this cloverleaf."

He also indicated that if he was elected governor he would have his state officials appear at the request of the borough if MountainSide held its own public hearing on the impact of the proposed cloverleaf.

Although party workers said he was seen to frown at the pile of empty champagne bottles left at the end of the party, Joseph Stypa, president of the MountainSide Independent Democratic Party, expressed his pleasure at the large turnout.

Said Stypa: "The response to our call for support of the 'ticket' of Watski, Palmer and Loftus on both state and local levels has been truly astounding. We have developed an early momentum for the forthcoming election campaign that will surely lead to victory."

"On Tuesday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m., at a public meeting to be held at the MountainSide Inn, our candidates will address the hard issues of this campaign--issues such as constantly rising borough taxes, our burglary problems, future traffic patterns and present traffic safety, and the effect of approximately $1,500,000 in proposed bond issues. We look forward to a full and controversial meeting."

It was also announced that democratic candidates Walsh, Palmer and Loftus have been asked to campaign a second time with Meyer at the Blue Star Shopping Center tomorrow afternoon.

2 persons injured in Rt. 22 collision of car, state truck

A N.J. Highway Department truck working on Rt. 22, MountainSide, Monday was struck in the rear by a car traveling in the west-bound lane. The maintenance truck was operated by Maynard Blalock, 41, of Newark, who was engaged in road work on the highway when his truck was hit by a car driven by Sebastian Macclachera, 43, of Springfield, police said. The truck suffered damage to its left tail light. The car received a damaged front end and was towed away.

Mrs. Betty Macclachera, 43, who was riding in the car when the accident took place, was taken by the MountainSide Rescue Squad to Overlook Hospital in Summit where she was admitted for a fractured patella and contusions. Macclachera was treated at the hospital for cuts on both knees and on the mouth and was then released. Mrs. Macclachera's condition was reported as good.

Barbara G. Byron, 55, of 227 Indian Hill trail, MountainSide, was involved in an accident which took place Monday at the intersection of Mountain and Edgewood avenues in Springfield.

Harnett to speak to AAUW group

Michael Harnett will address the MountainSide Branch of the American Association of University Women tonight at 8:30 in the home of Mrs. Julian Levitt, 296 Meeting House lane, MountainSide.

Harnett, a teacher of special classes at the Children's Country Home, will discuss his work. He has a bachelor's degree in special education from Jersey City State College.

Four study groups are being formed. The chairmen and subjects are: Mrs. John Bilangi, foreign affairs; Mrs. Brian Grant, cultural interests; Mrs. John Miller, human use of urban space; Mrs. William Gutman, the academic community. Anyone interested in joining AAUW may phone the membership chairman, Mrs. Julian Levitt.

Mrs. Byron was traveling north on Mountain avenue, attempting to make a right turn into a driveway, Springfield police said, when a car driven by Thomas Scarpitta, 19, of Elizabethtown, struck her car on the driver's side. Neither person suffered any visible injuries, the report added.

A program for girls

Programs for girls are again under way at the Summit Area YMCA. Weekly 90-minute swim-gym sessions are held after school on Tuesdays, with grades 3, 4, and 5 meeting at 3:30 p.m. and grades 6 through 9 meeting at 4:15. Organized games and recreational swimming are directed by the Y professional staff.

Registration is also being taken for special skills classes open to girls grades 3 through 9. Skills such as gymnastics, trampolining, tumbling, judo, deck hockey, and tennis will be offered in five week sessions, beginning with trampolining on Thursday, Oct. 2. The Thursday classes will be limited in size to permit individual instruction.

Junior high age girls may participate in coed swimming on Friday evenings and coed open gym Monday thru Friday. The "Den" (game room) is reserved for junior high coed use Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. and Saturday from noon to 3 p.m.

Senior High girls have coed swimming time on Monday and Wednesday evenings and reserved coed time in the "Den" Monday through Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Girls aged 12-17 are also eligible to join the Leaders' Club in which they receive training in how to teach sports and swimming and give volunteer service in the Y's physical education program.

Girls aged 8-17 may also try out for the YM's two girls' swim teams which participate in state and regional YMCA league meets.

Elizabeth resident gets 60-day term

A 34-year-old Elizabeth man was arrested last Wednesday by the MountainSide police for violating motor vehicle regulations. Reuben Singly was picked up for driving while on the revoked list and as an unlicensed driver operating a vehicle. The arresting officer was Sgt. Joseph Lobl.

In a special court session, Judge Jacob Bauer fined the defendant $325. Singly, unable to pay the fine, was then sentenced to 60 days in the county jail where he is now serving his time.

At the regular session of the MountainSide Municipal Court last Wednesday night, Judge Bauer fined Otto Smacowitz, 62, of Whitehouse Station $205 and suspended his driver's license for two years on a charge of drunken driving.

Hilton Whitaker Jr. of Union paid $30 for passing on the shoulder of the road, and Robert J. Brannon, 51, of Scotch Plains was charged $20 for careless driving.

Songs, cheers, games, talk at freshman orientation week

Freshman orientation week for 440 first-year students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield came to a climax last Friday with songs, cheers, games, and coaches' speeches in the annual wind-up assembly held in the boys' gym with seniors and freshmen present.

The orientation week began last Monday when Principal Robert F. LaVanture opened the program with an assembly which introduced the newcomers to the philosophy and spirit of Dayton Regional. School administrators, coaches, club and council officers and guidance personnel were on hand to inform the freshmen of the opportunities available, as well as their responsibilities and obligations.

Senior class president Ted Ramos, who was in charge of the week's orientation program, said, "Aside from just being a great deal of fun, it relaxes the atmosphere during the first week of adjustment for the Teachers will get more training to aid the slow learners

According to David L. Carl, Title I coordinator, the program for the slow learner in the Union County regional High School district will continue with in-service sessions for teachers during the school year. The first session was a regional meeting held at the David Brearley School on Sept. 10. There will be weekly in-service sessions in each of the regional schools.

Initial sessions will include a discussion of the needs and methods of dealing with the slow learner and a display and presentation of materials prepared for the slow learner in English and social studies by Title I workshops during the summers of 1968 and 1969.

Other sessions will deal with how to teach reading and determine readability of material; the use of audio-visual materials, such as the language master, and evaluation of prepared materials. A curriculum specialist, a reading teacher and a learning disabilities specialist will be a part of the in-service program.

The in-service project will provide the teachers with opportunity to share problems as well as successes in dealing with the slow learner in the Regional District. Teachers are encouraged during the sessions to work cooperatively in planning and preparing English and Social Studies materials.

CARL SAID THAT "the Regional District in the past two years has made significant changes in their approach to curricular development for the slow learner. The teachers of the slow learner, in all four regional schools have been a part of a project planning and curricular development team. "After a study of the slow learner in the District it became clear that curricular changes must be made. These changes are adding up to new approaches, new teaching practices and new materials. The developed materials stress multi-media and skill reinforcement activities. "Unit topics and materials were selected that would aid in filling in the student's deficits and experiential gaps. Flexibility of unit construction permits either daily or part time use of the curricular materials. "The program includes experiments such as the use of the feature length film. The regional school system rejects the idea that secondary school is too late to help."

Air Medal awarded Kiefl in Thailand

U.S. AIR FORCES, Thailand—U.S. Air Force Captain Michael C. Kiefl, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Kiefl of 300 Central Ave., Mountainside, N.J., has received the Air Medal at Ubon Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, for air action in Southeast Asia.

Capt. Kiefl was decorated for his meritorious achievement in aerial flight as an HH-43 Pedro helicopter pilot. He was cited for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions. He is with a unit of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service.

Capt. Kiefl, a graduate of St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Newark, received his BSME degree from Newark College of Engineering, where he was commissioned in 1963 through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

School district teaching posts now fully filled

The Union County Regional High School District has again started the new school year with no teaching vacancies, it was announced this week by Dr. Randolph T. Jacobsen, assistant superintendent for personnel and recruitment.

Dr. Jacobsen said that this year's classroom teaching staff totals 321, an increase of 16 teachers over the 1968-69 school year. He said the additional teachers were hired primarily to meet the increased student enrollment in the Regional District, which is expected to reach approximately 5,500 as additional students continue to register.

Dr. Jacobsen said that besides the fact that teachers realize the Regional District is a good place to teach, the comprehensive teacher recruitment program carried on throughout the year ensures enough candidates to choose the best and most experienced teachers available.

"We work closely with colleges and teachers' agencies throughout the country to obtain the most qualified candidates available," he said. Dr. Jacobsen noted that work is already under way on the recruiting program for the 1970-71 school year. Dates are being established to visit colleges and universities to interview prospective teaching candidates.

Men teachers outnumber the women in the district this year, 174-147. The Regional District, which operates four high schools, is comprised of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

Airman aids towns struck by Camille

BILOXI, Miss. — Airman Warren R. Davies, brother of Mrs. Kenneth Alape of 317 Old Tote Rd., Mountainside, N.J., is among the thousands of personnel from Keesler AFB here who have joined the massive effort to help nearby communities recover from the devastation of Hurricane Camille.

Airman Davies and others from the training base are aiding civil defense teams and city crews in the distribution of food, clearing debris, and directing traffic. Heavy equipment is assigned throughout the Biloxi area to help clear wreckage. Medical teams from the base are augmenting health staffs in the stricken communities of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian and Gulfport as well as Biloxi.

The Keesler airfield is the center of airlift operations for giant cargo planes bringing in food, supplies and medicines, and for continuous shuttle missions by helicopters. The airman, a graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, attended Midwestern College, Denton, Iowa.

Two local students win Pingry awards

Two Mountainside students at the Pingry School have been named recipients of awards from the Pingry soccer camp. They are Rudy Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt of 1010 Mary Allen lane, and Robert Kurz, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Kurz of 10 High Point dr.

Schmidt was named to the camp's all-star team, and Kurz was honored as best all-around player of the camp. Daniel N. Phillips, director of the camp, stated that the award recipients are selected on the basis of proficiency and improvement in the playing of the game.

Two-car collision injures one driver

A two-car collision occurred on Rt. 22, Mountainside, last Thursday at 7:40 a.m. The accident took place in the west-bound lane when a vehicle operated by John DiLorenzo, 40, of Clifton, halted at the intersection at New Providence road. Another car driven by Mrs. Dorothy B. Marshall, 42, of Springfield struck the DiLorenzo car in the rear, police said. Mrs. Marshall told police that she had stopped behind the first car, but as she was reaching for a vent her foot slipped from the brake and her car rolled forward, striking the car in front of her.

DiLorenzo's car suffered no damage, and he was reported unhurt. The second car suffered severe front end damage and was towed away. Mrs. Marshall was taken by her husband to Overlook Hospital, where she was treated for lacerations above the right eye and an abrasion on the bridge of the nose, and later released.

Dick Gregory plans Westfield appearance

Dick Gregory, the famous entertainer and civil-rights crusader, will appear at Westfield High School Saturday evening Oct. 18 under the joint sponsorship of the Westfield Area Committee for Human Rights and the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Human Rights Council.

In emphasizing the importance of this event, the trustees of the Westfield Area Committee stated that Gregory "has had enormous impact bringing his comedylaced civil rights message to audiences all over the country."

Princeton trip for Y

The first trip of the fall season sponsored by the Summit YWCA will be on Tuesday, Sept. 30 to Princeton. A chartered bus will leave from the YWCA at 9:30 a.m., to return at 4:30 p.m. Members of the Orange Key Guide Service will take trippers on a guided tour of Princeton University. After lunch in the town of Princeton, the group will visit Morven, the Governor's residence. Morven has frequently been described as New Jersey's most historic building. The earliest section was built in 1701. The residence is furnished as an 18th Century country house and contains many interesting antiques.

Letters to Editor

OPOSES REFERENDUM

The Echobrook School site is most valuable to the Board of Education now and in the future. The old building is substantially built and will last a century, and could not be replaced for a school office for $100,000. Echobrook School could not be replaced for $400,000 today.

The Borough Council could not repay the Board of Education in any way reasonable to compensate the taxpayers of the Borough of Mountainside for what they would gain by improving the school and using it, rather than crowding Deerfield.

The borough would not gain in recreational area as all school properties are in use now. Property on Rt. 22 is bound to become commercial — why not rezone now?

The highway crossing is impossible now and could and should have been corrected years ago.

Vote no on the bond issue to overcrowd Deerfield further and dispose of a fine building on a wonderful site.

Voter registration campaign is begun by Westfield LWV

The voters' service committee of the Westfield League of Women Voters is currently engaged in a campaign to inform citizens of the facts on registration and voting in New Jersey. Members of this committee are ringing doorbells, leaving literature and calling on new citizens in all areas covered by the League, including Mountainside. To vote in the Nov. 4 election, citizens must register by Sept. 25. Transportation will be provided by members of the Committee for those otherwise unable to go to the place designated for registration. Mrs. Francis Marshall (233-8734), chairman of voters' service, is in charge of such arrangements.

More than 2,000 Mountainside residents will receive Candidates' Sheets with non-partisan information on local, county and state candidates and issues. These are now in preparation for distribution shortly before election day.

A 50th Anniversary Voters Service exhibit under the theme, "Politics and Petticoats," is on view until Oct. 13 at the Westfield Memorial Library and should be of interest to all citizens.

State Civil Rights aide to give talk Thursday

The next public meeting of the Westfield Area Committee on Human Rights, at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday, Sept. 25, at the Westfield YMCA, will be addressed by Hilton Davis, first assistant to the head of the N.J. Division on Civil Rights.

Davis' address, entitled "Now Is the Time," will concern the question of priorities in the civil rights movement.

Meet budget by changing meat buying

Changing your meat buying practices is one way to meet the budget squeeze which has been evidenced lately, says Anne L. Sheelen, County Home economist.

First of all, when choosing meat, consider the cost per serving, not the cost per pound. Many times the actual cost of a cut of meat is quite different from the cost per pound when the waste, including fat, bone and gristle, is considered.

Generally, a boneless cut serves three to four persons per pound while a bone-in cut serves two persons per pound.

To determine the cost per serving, divide the price per pound by the number of expected servings.

Seeking the economical cuts of meat is another suggestion for helping to stretch the budget. Liver, ground meat, stew meat, tongue, some hams, pork shoulder chops and chickens are among the cuts which have recently been giving the most meat for the money.

Changing your cooking and menu planning habits is another recommendation. Try to stretch your meat supply in casseroles with rice, noodles or vegetables. Or, substitute other protein sources like fish, cheese, and eggs for the meat usually served.

Another idea is to decrease your consumption of potato chips, cookies, soft drinks, and other snack foods and divert the money usually spent for such purchases toward the meat items to which the family is accustomed.

Class mothers to meet tonight

The class mothers of Battle Hill School, Union, will hold their first meeting of the year tonight at 8 in the school cafeteria.

Included on the agenda will be a discussion to plan a father and son night and a mother and daughter night and a class-mothers' trip. Class mothers are requested to attend and help plan the years activities.

Be sure it's right

The Veterans Administration says that the main reasons for delays in receiving checks from the VA is that necessary papers are not received, or are improperly completed.

Dr. Clark leads off lectures

Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, president of the Metropolitan Applied Research Center Inc., will be the first speaker in Seton Hall University's new season of lectures Monday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center on the South Orange campus. His address, which is open to the public free of charge, is presented under the auspices of the College of Arts and Sciences.

This year's series will have as its theme, "Science and the Human Community." and Clark will speak on "Human Values and Social Problems." Clark, who is a professor of psychology at the City College of New York, is president-elect of the American Psychological Association and former president of the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues.

He is the author of "Dark Ghettos: Dilemmas of Social Power," which received the Sidney Hillman Prize in 1965 and has been published as a profound social document throughout the world. In 1961 he was awarded the Spingarn Medal by the NAACP and he was the recipient of the Kurt Lewin Memorial Award in 1966.

His work on the effect of segregation on children was cited by the U. S. Supreme Court in its 1954 decision on school desegregation. From 1946 to 1966 he was research director of the Northside Center for Child Development, founded by himself and his wife, Dr. Mamie Phipps Clark, who is director.

Clark founded and served as staff director and chairman of the Board of Directors of Harlem Youth Opportunities Unlimited Inc. (HARYOU) in the planning stage from 1962 to 1964, and directed its study which resulted in the report, "Youth in the Ghetto." Last year he was elected the first recipient of the Distinguished Scholar Award given by the Center for Safety of New York University.

Addicts as they see themselves

Through the looking glass into a nightmare world

(The following article appeared in last week's edition of the Linden Leader, a sister publication. It is reprinted here because of its general application.)

(One of a series)
By PAT BAIRD

Hops, dope, snow white, H, horse, scag, smack and crap.

Although the names are different they all mean the same thing...heroin.

Sam and Joe are dopers, smackers, scag heads or mainliners.

Sam and Joe have been addicted to heroin.

THE TWO YOUNG men, aged 24 and 20, live on the edge of American society. Yet they live in a new society...the society of the broke, the hustler, the criminal, the sick.

They talk about tracks (needle marks), coping dope (buying), works (heroin paraphernalia), bags (the plastic bags heroin is distributed in), narcos (narcotics officers) and the constant threat of a bust (arrest).

Sam and Joe are not their real names but they are real people. If you saw them walking the streets of Linden, it would be difficult to know that they are addicts.

During the interview last week, both were polite, articulate and eager to tell their stories. They were not the monsters many would think they would be. They were neat, well-dressed and well-groomed.

Following is the conversation between the Leader and the two men.

LEADER: WHEN DID YOU GET STARTED?
Sam: I started using heroin about five years ago. Before that I used goofballs, marijuana and cough syrup. That was seven years ago. The first thing I really used a lot was alcohol. Alcohol was my first downfall.

Joe: I started using heroin in 1967. Before that it was mostly drinking. I didn't have a progression with drugs.

Sam: I'm still clean. I got out of Skillman two months ago. That's the New Jersey Neurological and Psychiatric Institute in Princeton.

LEADER: Were you sent there or did you go on your own?
Sam: I went on my own. My probation officer knew I was fooling around with drugs again. I knew he'd send me to jail so I turned myself in. I also knew I could get in the methadone treatment there.

Joe: In January 1968 I went to St. Dismas Hospital in Paterson. I turned myself in and stayed there for 5 1/2 months. I had a choice between there or to jail for six months so I went there. I didn't finish the program. I was busted again on Jan. 27, 1969, and just finished six months in Union County Jail. Thirteen days after I got out they busted me for six bags of possession. I'm on bail now. I've been clean for three weeks.

Sam: We both graduated from Linden High School and we're both going to go to a trade school through the New Jersey Rehabilitation Commission.

LEADER: Did you ever work before?
Sam: I never had a steady job. If I didn't have any dope in the morning I'd have to go out and cop.

Joe: Everytime I got a steady job I'd lose it because of the drugs.

LEADER: Let's assume that it's morning and you don't have any dope. What do you do?
Joe: Do I have money?
LEADER: No.
Joe: Then the first thing I'd do is find a way to get it.

Sam: Yeah, beg borrow or steal. Sometimes I'd set something up the night before so I'd have it in the morning. Otherwise I just put my clothes on and go right out. I don't even talk to my parents.

Joe: The only time you say anything to them is when you need money. It doesn't work after while.

Sam: If you have transportation you go into New York, up to 115th or 116th street. You ask around about who has the stuff and how good it is. After you make the buy you find a hallway or a rooftop and get off (inject the heroin).

It's really dangerous up in that neighborhood especially for a white guy. You can get robbed or beaten. You always have to be on your guard. New Jersey may be worse. The towns are so small that the police know who you are. Joe and I could get busted for just walking together because we're both registered narcotics addicts, but the cops know it's a flimsy rap.

Joe: When you're registered the cops can stop you anytime.

Sam: Once I was going out with a clean-cut girl and she didn't know anything about my record. One day we were riding down the street and the cops saw us. They made her pull over and made me get out of the car. I was clean but they checked everything and said things to her like 'what do you think your father would do if he knew you were with a dope addict?' They even checked her pocketbook. How do you think she must have felt?

Joe: Once you've been convicted they can stop you anytime.

get you on anything like an old roach (the end of a marijuana cigarette) a pill or an empty cellophane bag.

LEADER: Let's go back. Now that you've had your first fix what do you do?
Sam: It depends on the time of the day and how much stuff you have left. If we need more money then we go into a big department store and try to shoplift. Then we pawn it or sell it to a fence. Sometimes we go the Port Authority and try to hustle tourists.

LEADER: Have you ever rolled anyone?
Sam: No.

Joe: I have but there are other ways of doing it. Sometimes you tell a guy you'll make a buy for him. After you get his money you go into a house and never come out.

Sam: You go out the back door. You can also tell him you're going to get it a few blocks away. When you come back you tell him the cops started to come after you so you had to throw it away. Or, you slap each other's face, pull out your shirt, ruffle your hair and tell the guy you were jumped and robbed.

LEADER: WHY DID YOU start to use heroin?
Sam: That's a hard question to answer. I'm still getting into that with my psychiatrist. I was going out with a girl for 4 1/2 years and planned to get married. The whole time I was drinking a lot and taking goofballs. When we broke up for good I saw some of my friends under the influence. I figured I'd be taking the easy way out and I thought I could control it.

LEADER: Weren't you afraid that first time?
Sam: I was always afraid of needles when I was in school. I still haven't gotten polio shots because of it. I was scared then but somebody was talking to me while they did it. When I looked down and saw the blood coming back up the eye dropper I started to tremble, but when I felt that first rush, man, I wasn't afraid anymore.

Joe: I wasn't afraid of the needle at all. A friend offered it to me as a payment for something. He didn't have any money so he gave me that. I turned my head, he hit me with the needle and when I tried to get up I couldn't move.

LEADER: When did you first realize that you were addicted?
Sam: When I started I always had money. I had a job and I was selling a little dope, too. After three months of shooting up two or three times a day I ran out of money. I woke up one morning and I was really sick. That's when I realized that I had a habit and I'd have to support it. After that I started hitting my friends for money and stealing things.

Joe: The same things happened to me only it was four months after I started. At first I couldn't believe it because a year before I didn't even know what drugs were.

LEADER: What did you do when you realized you were an addict?
Sam: I tried to clean up. I went to a doctor and told him I needed help. It was the first time anyone had come to him with that problem. He prescribed some pills for me but he didn't give me the right dosage so I was still sick. I finally went back to dope.

Joe: I stayed clean for two days but I knew I couldn't keep feeling like that. They told me it only lasted three days but I couldn't be sure so I shot up again. I've cleaned up three times and its been cold turkey (without medicinal aid) each time. I go away by myself and do it.

Sam: I couldn't do it that way. I'd always know that I could hitch-hike back here.

Joe: I did that once. Went to Connecticut and got $30 from my uncle. I came back here and made a score. If I went cold-turkey now it would only be about five days.

LEADER: When did your parents find out you were addicted?
Sam: My parents found my works a few times or the bags or bloody tissues. A few times they saw me coming out of the bathroom and from my condition they figured I had to be doing something in there.

Joe: When I started using dope I quit smoking and my parents knew it. My mother would come home and find an ash-try full of matches and no cigaret butts. Then she found out I hung around with Sam and Sam's mother told her he was an addict. My mother knew right away.

Sam: When my mother found out she started crying and it made me feel bad but I was too far strung out to stop. She tried to help me but she didn't have any experience. The last time she found my works in a coat pocket she turned me in to the police because she figured they could help me.

LEADER: If you had a brother or sister who was experimenting with drugs what would you tell them?
Sam: I'd try to help them before they were too far gone. I'd probably bring them to the Union County Narcotics Clinic. If you tell them not to do it they automatically will.

Joe: Your brother will do it if you do, I know of a lot of people that's happened to.

Sam: Even the hippies are fooling around with pot and pills and they don't know what they're getting into. The hippies have their speed but even they know that speed kills.

LEADER: But they don't want to get involved with heroin.
Joe: You're right and the addict doesn't want to go to LSD or pot, I don't mess with marijuana. It doesn't do anything for me. It never did.

Sam: I don't use pot or acid (LSD) because I want to escape from my problems. I don't want to bounce off the walls, I want to be plastered to them.

LEADER: What is it like to be high?
Sam: When I'm high...I don't know. It's a hard thing to explain. You have to experience it to know what it is. You know there must be something to it. I know a guy who was in Bordentown for five years. The same day he got out of there he got off on dope.

Joe: I've been on the streets only seven months in the past year and a half. I needed only a little more help to straighten me out. When I got out I went right back to it...two hours after leaving jail.

Sam: Jail isn't the answer. You're around people who are worse than you, I was talking to a guy in jail who was in for cashing checks. When I came out I started doing it his way. Another guy was a great bbe (break and entry) man. When I got out I started using his method.

LEADER: In other words, although you may commit a crime to support your habit, you feel that you're an addict first and a criminal second.
Joe: An addict should be treated as a sick person.
Sam: He is a sick person.

Joe: I know that after eight overdoses my mind has been affected. I should be brought someplace where I can be treated.

Sam: When you talk to an addict he'll tell you that narcotics are no good. Everybody knows that. In a hospital they give you help and courage to stop.

Joe: Now I want to stop badly. Even going to a place like Synanon would be the best thing for me. I'm out on bail now and the case won't come up for another few months. If they send me to a hospital I'll be all right. But if they send me to Bordentown...forget it for the rest of my life and I'm only 20 now. I start welding school soon and that will take away a lot of free time. Plus, I'll have a skill I can use. Now I have to find something to do at night, like go to a psychiatrist. You need a place to go individually.

Sam: When you go to a psycho at the Union County Clinic they have only 15 or 20 minutes to spend with you. There are just too many people who need help and too few to give it.

LEADER: There are several programs in which ex-addicts are trained to help those still addicted to heroin. Would you be interested in joining an organization like that?
Sam: I'd have to think about that but I really don't think I'm qualified. Addicts need psychiatric help. I'd just be able to tell them about my own experience.

Joe: When I was in St. Dismas we gave talks at schools. Some of the kids were really interested but others just wanted to know how we copped.

Sam: We did the same thing when I was at Skillman. We'd go to high schools to talk. After the talk a kid would come over and say 'do you know where I can cop some dope?' Not 'where can I buy some heroin,' man, but 'where can I cop dope.' They even knew the right words.

Man, where did they learn that?

LEADER: What did you do when you realized you were an addict?

Youth advisors named for Selective Service

The formation of an advisory panel of young people has been announced by Colonel Joseph T. Avella, State Director of Selective Service. The panel will have the official title of Youth Advisory Committee to the State Director.

The panel was suggested by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey and tested on an experimental basis in five states, President Nixon ordered the formation of such committees in all states, with separate programs in the District of Columbia, New York City, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone and Guam.

The New Jersey plan effected by Colonel Avella resulted in the appointment of 21 young men to the committee. Three additional nominations are being processed. All nominations were based on the individual's qualities of citizenship, scholarship and leadership without regard to race, color, sex, religion or national origin. The average age of the members is just under 20 years of age.

"Gas Heat is the cleanest heat we've ever had, and the conversion was fast and easy."

Says Mr. Edward Brown, Pennsauken, New Jersey

"The cleanest!" It's great to know that as gas burns it produces absolutely no smoke or soot that can find its way to your costly drapes, upholstery and furnishings. Obviously, this helps you cut down on housecleaning while keeping your home cleaner, longer. The conversion to Gas Heat is fast and easy (usually completed in less than a day, as the Edward Browns of Pennsauken have already discovered). Don't put off the change any longer. Switch now to economical, automatic Gas Heat. Right now call your plumbing contractor, heating installer or Public Service for a FREE heating survey of your home.

Elementary pupils study contributions of minority groups

Teaching about the contributions of minority groups — the Afro-American in particular, is being accelerated in many secondary schools throughout the state and will be introduced in elementary schools soon, according to Mrs. Nida E. Thomas, director of the State Department of Education's Office of Equal Educational Opportunity.

Mrs. Thomas, who was appointed a year ago to head the office charged with helping school districts find solutions to problems related to desegregation, said that she has worked with 38 school districts preparing to teach about minority groups in America.

During the past summer many teachers have been involved in writing and up-dating social studies and history curriculums to accurately depict the role of the Negro in the history of the United States, Mrs. Thomas said.

She said that many other teachers participated in workshops and institutes designed to acquaint teachers with black history, its social importance to black and white students, its new materials and how to integrate this information in classroom subjects.

Mrs. Thomas suggested that such concentrated efforts should be developed at the elementary-grade level. "The social importance for students at this level is that it will help the child build a background that will guide his future actions related to persons who may be racially, socially, economically and culturally different," she said.

Mrs. Thomas said that the State Department of Education will sponsor a black history conference for elementary grades on Oct. 16. The conference will be held at Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education.

Guild fashion show planned for Oct. 11

Union and Essex County Parishes of the Dominican Guild of Caldwell with Sister M. Margaret, O.P., as moderator will hold its fifth annual luncheon fashion show Oct. 11 at 12:30 p.m. at Rod's Shadowbrook, Shrewsbury.

Fashions will be presented by Nan's Fashion Shoppe of Clark and modeled by members and friends of the Dominican Guild.

Tickets will include admission, cocktail, dinner and prizes and can be obtained by calling the ticket chairman, Mrs. Frank Vitranio of Linden, at 486-6287 or any parish that has Dominican nuns. St. Catherine's Infirmary of Caldwell will be the beneficiary of proceeds from the affair.

Mrs. Edmund Keczlerski of Rahway is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Guemple of Rahway, prizes, and Mrs. Robert Johnson Jr. of Union, publicity.

Indentured servants taught schools

Teacher licensing changes through the years

Parents want assurances that their children have good teachers. To provide this assurance, each state government has established standards that candidates must meet before they can receive a license to teach.

Requiring teachers to meet state standards is a relatively recent development, says the New Jersey Education Association. Many of New Jersey's colonial schools were taught by indentured servants. By 1758, the reputation of New Jersey teachers had grown so unsavory that the Crown required all teachers to have a permit from either the Bishop of London or N. J. Gov. Francis Bernard. Until after the Civil War the most prized teacher qualification was muscle.

In concert with a national movement, the 1829 N.J. Legislature granted city school boards the power to examine and license teachers, and in 1838 it gave the same power to the county boards of freeholders. Thereafter, city and county boards of examiners administered oral or written examinations to teacher candidates and granted licenses valid only locally.

Because of local and county politics, reports N.J.E.A., these boards often became tools that politicians used to reward the party faithful with paying jobs.

Such patronage existed nationally. One historian in Massachusetts — then the nation's leader in public education — wrote:

"For women the surest passport to employment was to be related by blood or marriage to the school committee of the district. His daughters or his sisters, of course, had first consideration; then his nieces, then his wife's connections." If the public objected enough to elect a new committeeman, they would only "substitute a new dynasty."

PATRONAGE WAS ONE REASON behind nationwide demands for state certification, says N.J.E.A. Local abuse of examining powers was another. Some city boards re-examined all teachers annually — often as a public spectacle. One teacher later wrote an account of an 1860 public examination in San Francisco. In the geography section of the exam, the school board president asked five questions, including: "Name all the rivers of the globe" and "Name all the cities of the world."

In 1866, New Jersey established the State Board of Examiners, the agency that, today, sets standards for educational positions. The next year, the board began licensing teachers.

For 45 years, city and county boards retained the right to license whomever they pleased as teachers. But three events built pressure for the state to assume the responsibility of fixing minimum qualifications for teachers, N.J.E.A. reports. These events were: 1. The assassination of President James Garfield by a disappointed office seeker in 1881. This caused establishment of the National Civil Service Commission in 1883. The Civil Service concept that public office should be filled because of an applicant's merit — not his political connections — spread to state and municipal governments in the following decades.

2. The Flexner Report, a 1910 document revealing that many American medical schools were fraudulent diploma mills, often with inadequate and unqualified teaching staffs.

3. A 1909-10 State Senate investigation of New Jersey schools. This investigating committee reported that "evils" were "prevalent throughout the State." Most local school boards were "divided along political lines," said the report, "and members of the dominant party controlled all expenditures and the selection of those to whom contracts or work of any kind was awarded."

"Membership in a board is sought by some for profit and by others for the patronage which it is possible to distribute... Principals and janitors have been requested to pay for their appointments."

THE 1911 LEGISLATURE reacted by requiring every New Jersey teacher to have a license issued by the State Board of Examiners, reports N.J.E.A. The State Examiners Board prepared, scheduled and graded qualifying examinations until 1924, when college course credits were substituted for tests. In 1936, New Jersey abolished county boards of examiners. City boards of examiners can still issue certificates, but only to candidates already possessing a state certificate. This regulation lets cities set standards that exceed State requirements.

New Jersey's State teacher standards have kept pace with improvements in teacher preparation, says N.J.E.A. For elementary teachers, the state required only a high school diploma in 1915. In the 20's this was raised to two years of college, and in the 30's to four years. In 1948, the State reached its present requirement, a bachelor's degree.

In related actions, New Jersey took over municipal teacher-training schools in Paterson, Jersey City, and Newark and made them state colleges. As the state upgraded teaching standards, it also improved teacher-training programs at all six state colleges.

New Jersey's present teacher certification standards are based on these premises:

* Teachers should be well educated. Thus, New Jersey standards require (except for certain trade courses) that they be college graduates.

* Teachers should be well versed in their subject field. Thus, teachers must have taken at least 24 college credits in the subject they teach.

* Teachers should know how children learn and how to teach. Thus, New Jersey teachers must have taken 18 credit hours in "professional" courses, with at least one course in methodology and one in educational psychology.

* New teachers should have had supervised on-the-job experience before they qualify to run his own classroom. Since 1935, a candidate must have successfully completed 150 hours of "practice teaching" before qualifying for a teaching certificate.

THE PUBLIC HAS ALWAYS wanted special provisions to get gifted candidates who lack full credentials into teaching. Since 1889, New Jersey has had such a procedure — the provisional certificate, which give temporary teaching permission to individuals not quite qualified for regular certification. It is granted with the stipulation that the candidate proceed to make up this deficiency.

Teaching shortages have forced the state to issue another type of certificate to candidates lacking full credentials, N.J.E.A. reports. This first appeared during World War I, when enlistments created a teacher shortage. For the duration, the State Board of Examiners issued special War Emergency Certificates. The emergency certificate reappeared during World War II and — because population growth and low salaries have kept the teacher shortage acute in some fields — is still being issued.

Provisional certificates go to candidates who meet most licensing requirements. Emergency certificates go to those considerably below standard.

Critics sometimes attack specific requirements in the teacher-certification process. Indeed, says N.J.E.A., these requirements will be ineffective unless they change with the times. But almost everyone agrees that teachers must meet minimum standards before they begin practice with children and that politicians should be prevented from appointing unqualified cronies as teachers.

Music school conducts registration for season

The Major School of Music at 57 New St., Irvington, which has been serving music students for 29 years, has commenced its 1969-70 season. Registration is now being accepted for students on all instruments.

Major is one of the first private music schools to receive the New Jersey State Department of Education Certificate of Approval.

Louis Iorio of Short Hills is the director and proprietor of the school. His wife, Mrs. Paula Iorio, is the head registrar, and Alfred Grant of Irvington is the student-parent consultant.

The teaching staff consists of the following: in the accordion department, Flora Foscatto of West Orange, Frank Giampino of Irvington, Barbara Petrone of Belleville, Elaine Wittek of Irvington, Sonya Capar of Garfield, Kathleen Calderone of Woodbridge and Annette Di Vizio of Springfield; in the guitar department John Parisio of Lake Parsippany, Fred De Maio of Newark, John Corona of West Orange, Don Spalding of Orange, Mike Aldi of Roselle Park and Curt Allen of Irvington; in the piano and organ department, Joseph Canarelli of Union, Annette Di Vizio and Sonya Capari; in the percussion and brass department, Micky Blast of Newark; in the woodwind and harmony and theory department, Edwin Bave of Nutley, and in the voice department, Sonya Capar. All the teachers have received their certificate of approval from the New Jersey State Board of Education. Flora Foscatto is the department head and director of all the accordion orchestras. John Parisio is director of the guitar orchestras.

All teachers on the accordion staff are certified teacher-members of the Accordion Teachers' Association of New Jersey Inc. Louis Iorio, Alfred Grant and Flora Foscatto are also certified teacher-members of the American Accordionists' Association.

Since 1959 the accordion students of Major have taken 266 trophies in the New Jersey State contests in solo, duet, combo and orchestra divisions. Major has also taken 52 trophies in the A.A.A. contests which includes national and virtuoso championships.

The piano department has students who have received scholarships to colleges and universities and students who have been accepted at colleges and universities as music majors.

All band and orchestra activities for the season are starting this week. Recitals and concerts are being planned along with other activities such as Christmas parties and outings.

Major is the home of the Sano Accordion Symphony which has won many state and national trophies and has performed in concerts throughout the United States. Conductor Louis Iorio was chosen the official United States representative for the Coupe Mondial (International Accordion Competition) held in New York City Aug. 6-9.

This is the season for engagements for the Holohan family of Mountainside

The engagements have been announced of the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Barth A. Holohan Sr., of 1486 Deer Path, Mountainside. The Holohans have made known the betrothal of their daughter, Lynn Marie, to Paul Thomas Winberry, son of Mrs. Joseph Budis of Sea Girt, formerly of Livingston, and the late Lawrence F. Winberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Falbo of Wheaton, Ill., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marie, to Barth A. Holohan, Jr.

Miss Holohan is an alumna of Mt. Saint Mary's Academy, North Plainfield, and Overlook Hospital School of Nursing, Summit. She now attends Middlesex County College nurse education program and will receive an associate degree in nursing next June.

Mr. Winberry graduated from Livingston High School and attended Bordentown Military Institute. He is majoring in chemistry at Walsh College, Canton, Ohio.

They plan to be married next June. Miss Falbo is a graduate of Wheaton Central High School and holds a degree in psychology from Parsons College, where she was named to Alpha Xi sorority. She is personnel manager for Mass Insurance Consultants and Administrators, Inc., Chicago.

Mr. Holohan Jr. holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Parsons and a master's degree in the same subject from the University of Kentucky. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Now with the U. S. Army in South Korea, he was formerly staff assistant to the general sales manager of Texaco, Inc., Chicago.

They have set a wedding date next July.

MRS. CAROLEE GOTTLIEB

Dayton Regional appoints advisor for school paper

Mrs. Carolee Gottlieb has been appointed faculty advisor to the Dayton News, according to Principal Robert F. LaVanture of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. Mrs. Gottlieb takes over for Henry Rogers, who moved to West Milford High School as head of the language department.

Mrs. Gottlieb is a graduate of Kearny High School and Glassboro State College, where she was a member of Phi Sigma Phi, an honor society, as well as being a member of the student government and prom committee and a contributor to the school newspaper. She has a major in English and a minor in elementary education. Her teaching experience includes two years in elementary education in Kearny and three years in Newark in junior high school. She is entering her second year at Dayton Regional as a teacher of junior English and Journalism.

Mrs. Gottlieb and her husband, Stephen, reside in Piscataway. Last spring they were advisors for the Foreign Study League, taking 16 students (13 from Dayton and three from David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth) to Paris and London for a course in western civilization and culture.

The tentative staff of the 1969-70 Dayton News includes: editor, Randi Schneider (senior); news feature editors, Bonnie Bernstein and Leigh Blair (sophomores); news and layout editors, Rachel Kalem and Paula Kirschbaum (sophomores); sports editor, Don Lan (senior); photography editor, Howard Kalit (senior); and business editor, Robert Sternbach. Mrs. Gottlieb explained that a wide variety of contributors and credits will be given when the first issue of the Dayton News comes off the press at the end of this month.

Events planned by Brotherhood

The Brotherhood of Temple Sharey Shalom in Springfield will present a program of religious, cultural, political, sport and social events during the coming season, according to Sol Gabay, president.

He announced that the Brotherhood Men's Winter Bowling League will start its season Sunday. Those interested in joining may call Art Glover at 376-4926. The Guys and Gals League, which bowls once a month, will open its season Sept. 28 with Sandy Greenman, 376-3963, in charge.

Officers of the Brotherhood, in addition to Gabay, are: Len Arons, executive vice-president; Ron Citron, membership vice-president; Sandy Greenman, ways and means vice-president; Marty Geltman, treasurer; Sol White, corresponding secretary; Aaron Goldberg, recording secretary; and Jerry Rosenberg. Bob Arnold, Sol Ennis and Otto Granick, trustees. Past presidents are Marty Kahn, Alan Kampf, Leo Newman, Herb Kramer and Al Schneider.

727-763 MORRIS TURNPIKE - SPRINGFIELD

CAMPAIGNING TOGETHER—Springfield Mayor Philip Del Vecchio, left, expresses his support to Rep. William Cahill, Republican candidate for governor.

Mayor Del Vecchio: Cahill is 'man Springfield needs'

"Congressman William Cahill, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, is the man Springfield needs in the State House," Mayor Philip Del Vecchio stated this week.

"New Jersey urgently needs a governor who will respond to the needs of the municipalities in those areas where problems overlap town lines, something we have not had over the past 16 years.

"In such matters as flooding, refuse removal, highway construction and welfare, the assistance and cooperation the municipalities have received from the state government have been minimal, and it is in these areas where liaison should be the greatest," Del Vecchio commented.

"In examining Springfield's relations with the state, beginning with the location of Rt.

78, the efforts to have Morris avenue resurfaced, to today, we cannot force the State Highway Department to assume their responsibility to even maintain their right of way, let alone cope with flooding conditions that they have created.

"I feel that if Congressman Cahill is elected, under his direction many of these problems will be resolved, because Cahill is concerned for the well-being of the people, not the perpetuation of existing programs.

"I am certain that Congressman Cahill will bring a fresh approach to the problems of the municipalities and this is what is most necessary today, and I therefore urge you to vote for Cahill for governor on Nov. 4," Del Vecchio concluded.

Narcotics raiders catch 2 juveniles; teenager charged

The Springfield Police Department staged a narcotics raid in town about 9:45 p.m. last Friday at a location near Mountain and Henshaw avenues. Members of the detective bureau said they were able to pinpoint the location of the activities with the help of advance information and were able to secure search warrants prior to the raid.

Three persons were involved in the narcotics charge. Keith Brink, 19, of 178 Henshaw ave., Springfield, was charged formally with the possession of narcotics paraphernalia. The two others involved were juveniles.

The narcotics charge is not Brink's first contact with the local police, they said. He has been arrested before on charges of disorderly conduct. Brink is a drop-out from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and has been working in the local area as a landscape gardener.

The initial complaint against the offenders was filed by Detective Howard Thompson. The members of the arresting party were Patrolmen Dominick Oliver, Andrew Calabrese, Richard Gortke and Alfred Parker Jr. and Detective J.L. Robert Laaffe.

Brink was released upon the posting of $500 cash bail, and a Sept. 29 preliminary hearing was scheduled.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

WT, AND OTHERS

It was Mark Twain who said "Nothing so needs reforming as other people's habits." How true these words ring when we consider the attitude that many of us take when we judge the actions of our fellow man.

Nearly all of us are more aware of the faults of others than we are of our own shortcomings. We know why it is that we react in a certain way to a particular situation. We have a plausible "excuse" or "reason" for whatever it is that we do. Our fellow man does not always get the benefit of the doubt.

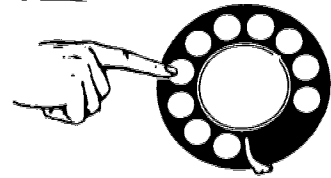

We would all do well to take an impartial look at the face we see in the mirror, to more closely examine our contributions to the world in which we live and the role we have chosen to play in community and in family life.

If we apply the principles of Christianity to everyday life, we institute a program of "fair play" that serves as a guideline for determining not only our own course of action, but as well influences our attitude and our relationship with contemporaries.

Democrats plan party Sept. 28

A cocktail party sponsored by the Springfield Democratic organization will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Stokes, 369 Mountain ave., Springfield, on Sunday, Sept. 28.

Stokes is the Democratic candidate for township committee. He and his running mate, Marie Smith, Democratic candidate for tax collector, have invited "all persons interested in good government to attend." Stokes and Mrs. Smith will discuss their programs and ideas for improving government in Springfield.

They added, "All residents of Springfield are

Two from Springfield enter Mount Holyoke

Two young women from Springfield have entered Mount Holyoke College in the Class of 1973, it was reported by Miss Clara R. Ludwig, director of admissions.

They are Elizabeth A. Dewey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dewey of 105 Henshaw ave., and Laurie Feldman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Feldman of 58 Kew dr.

asked to come by to sample the refreshments and say hello. No solicitation of funds will be made, just good food, good talk and good ideas."

Creative Crafts Center to open in Millburn

A new store, dedicated to stimulating the creative talents of suburban women, will open soon in Essex County.

Called the Creative Leisure Crafts Center, the store is located at 512 Millburn ave., Millburn, on the same block as Saks Fifth Avenue.

The 3,000 square-foot, two-level store will serve as a one-stop shopping center, providing all the materials women may need to practice such crafts as beaded flowers, decoupage, Indian love beads, ceramics, copper enameling, mosaic tiles, toleware, liquid plastics and many, many more.

Most important, the store will also offer complete instructional courses in a wide range of individual crafts. The classes will be given in a specially designed classroom that comprises the store's entire lower level.

Classes will be two hours long, and will be held once a week. They will be conducted by experts in specific crafts from the local community. "Our theme is 'Combine your creative talent in our craft materials,'" stated Lewis Polk of Maplewood, president of Creative Leisure Crafts Center. "Up to now women with leisure time have not had a source of supply for needed creative materials."

BETSY PALMER—Actress plays the title role in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," which opened Tuesday...

'Libertine' star started in teens

Catherine Spaak, who stars in "The Libertine," which is being held over at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, got her film start at the age of 14...

Her father, Charles Spaak, author of such film classics as "The Grand Illusion" and "Carnival in Flanders," is still active as a screen writer in France.

Her uncle, Paul-Henri Spaak, several times premier and recently minister of foreign affairs of Belgium, was the first president of the General Assembly of the United Nations...

'Funny Girl' star repeats stage role

Barbra Streisand plays Fanny Brice in an Academy Award winning performance in "Funny Girl," screen musical based on the Broadway musical hit...

The cast includes Omar Sharif, Jay McInerney, Walter Pidgeon and Anne Francis. The movie was filmed in color and directed by William Wyler.

Musical continues on screen at Union

"Sweet Charity," screen musical, derived from the stage musical hit, continues at the Union Theater in Union Center...

Bob Fosse makes the transition from the stage to the screen medium. John McMartin, Chita Rivera, Sammy Davis Jr. and Ricardo Montalban have leading roles.

Central to hold reunion

The Newark Central High School Class of 1939 will hold its 30th reunion Saturday, Oct. 18 at the Club Diana, in Union.

Advance reservations can be made with Mrs. Anne Romano Farinello, 324 Passaic ave., West Caldwell.

NJEA reports teachers 'must insist on sharp salary increases' next year

"Public school teachers—falling behind in economic status—must insist on sharp salary increases in forthcoming negotiations for 1970-71 salaries," the New Jersey Education Association said this week.

"In every New Jersey community, education associations should demand no less than $8,000 as the beginning salary for teachers," according to Dr. Frederick L. Hipp, executive secretary of the 65,000-member statewide teacher organization. "In the communities which pay beginning teachers above $7,000, they should insist on increases of at least $1,000."

In New Jersey, teacher salaries are fixed by negotiations between the school board and the local teacher association. These negotiations are generally concluded by February, when the school district adopts its budget for the subsequent academic year.

School districts have teacher salary scales with about 12 steps. First-year teachers receive the salary paid on step one; second-year teachers on step 2, and so on. Teachers with master's and doctor's degrees are paid on higher salary scales than teachers with bachelor's degrees.

These are the NJEA statistics to detail the New Jersey teacher-salary problem:

"1. Teachers get smaller beginning salaries than classmates entering other fields. "College graduates who earned their bachelor's degrees in education, this year will begin work in New Jersey with a median salary of $6,600. Male graduates with majors in liberal arts begin at an average salary of $7,884; in accounting $8,844; in physics $9,360; in engineering $9,816. The deficit to teachers - $2,000.

"The disparity is higher at advanced levels. With a master's degree, an engineering major begins at $11,484, an accounting major at $11,148. Other fields average $10,536. But for those with master's degrees in education, the beginning salary averages $7,200. The deficit to teachers - over $3,000.

"The State of New Jersey hires college graduates beginning at least at $7,018. By the end of the first year, college graduates working for the State earn at least $7,686.

"2. Teacher salaries are increasing more slowly than those in other fields. Beginning salaries for all men with a bachelor's degree rose an average of $648 this year, to $8,928. Beginning salaries for New Jersey teachers increased by only $600, to $6,600.

"Among college graduates with five years of experience in their field, those with majors in engineering average $11,640; in accounting $11,508; in sales $11,568 and in general business $10,596. If they have earned their master's degree, teachers with the same experience average only $8,100. Without the added degree, they earn less. The average deficit to teachers - about $3,000.

"After 10 years, graduates in engineering average $13,716; in accounting $14,292; in sales $14,544; and in general business $13,776. New Jersey teachers with 10 years of experience average about $10,000, but only if they have taken an additional 30 college credits beyond the master's degree. Teacher deficit: $4,000.

"3. Women, who once found salaries higher in teaching than in other professional fields, now find them lower.

"Women college graduates who enter business and industry this year receive a beginning salary averaging $7,944. This is 20 per cent higher than the $6,600 being offered the typical beginning teacher in New Jersey.

"4. Cost-of-living increases are canceling out whatever salary increases teachers have been able to win.

"Recent research by Life magazine shows cost-of-living increases have all but wiped out normal salary raises in the past decade. The worker must have increased his salary by 50 per cent just to remain even in 1959 purchasing power. For example, Life reports, a person who earned $5,000 in 1959 and has since been raised by $2,500 has gained only $290 in real dollar power. A person earning $10,000 in 1959 who has been raised $5,000 has really gained only $575. Even the executive who has gone from $50,000 to $75,000 in the past decade has really gained only $515 in 1959 dollars. Taxes and inflation take the rest.

"Average teacher salaries in New Jersey have increased by about 50 per cent in the decade, NJEA reports. The 1959 average teacher salary was $5,530; in 1969 it was $8,425. This increase of 52 per cent represents practically no gain in purchasing power.

"5. Teachers elsewhere are increasing their salaries at a faster rate than are New Jersey teachers. "In other states, much improvement in teacher salaries has come from State-level action and appropriations, and the average salary for all U.S. teachers has been growing at an annual rate of 5.1 per cent. In New Jersey, where teacher salaries are negotiated locally, the growth rate has been only 4.3 per cent."

Says Dr. Hipp: "New Jersey teachers are going backwards in relation to the economy, to salaries paid comparable professionals in other fields, and to teachers everywhere else. Drastic action is needed, immediately."

More women workers

In April 1969, about 30 million women 16 years of age and over were in the labor force. This means that nearly two out of every five workers were women.

Nautical benefit for kiddies Adoption Society plans 'Sail In'

A "Sail In," miles inland from the nearest shore, will be the 1969 fund-raiser of the Children's Aid and Adoption Society of New Jersey.

Members of the planning committee chose the Governor Morris Inn in Morristown, for their fund-raising "gang-plank" gala on Sunday, Oct. 19 when technical difficulties prevented them from engaging a seagoing vessel.

According to Mrs. John I. Muller Jr. of South Orange, chairman of the planning committee, arrangements will be nautical with "boats" (tables) seating eight and ten, each "captained" by a tableleader who will be asked to recruit his or her own "crew" of guests. Mrs. Muller said that dress would be informal, with cruise outfits, in keeping with the theme, as preferred attire.

"Since the needs of little children, who look to adoption as a better way of life, are most urgent, it is our hope and plan to double the result obtained by last year's fund-raising.
