Democrats claim GOP 'understates' tax increase from school bond issue

The tactics utilized by the all-Republican Borough Council in their attempt to stir up support for the proposed $747,000 Mountainside school bond referendum were scored in a statement released this week by John Walsh, John H. Palmer Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Loftus, Democratic candidates for mayor and borough councilmen, and Robert H. Jaffe, campaign manager for the Democratic candidates.

The Democrats claimed their Republican opponents had, among other things, understated the increased taxes that would result from the construction of new elementary school facilities at Deerfield, given encouragement to the efforts of the New Jersey State Department of Transportation to construct a cloverleaf at New Providence road and Route 22, and downgraded the importance of successful passage of the Regional High School referendum now scheduled for December.

The Democrats said: "The voters of Mountainside will not be fooled by a mayor and council that try to isolate the effect of our real estate taxes of the so-called $747,000 Mountainside school bond referendum from other scheduled and related costs leading to higher taxes in 1970.

For example, at present there is a storm sewer construction program under way which already commits Mountainside to issue municipal bonds at the highest interest for municipal obligations since World War II.

Even without any major construction projects, both the local district and Regional High School budgets have increased more than 40 percent over the past two years. This school year, teachers and other school personnel are likely to seek salary increases in line with raises given other municipal employees such as our Police Department.

"Moreover, Union County taxes apportioned to Mountainside have increased over 50 percent during the past two years. These increased school operation and county government costsdirectly increase Mountainside real estate

"The accuracy of the estimated $100,000 to renovate Echobrook for a municipal complex is also very much in question. The mayor and (Continued on page 3)

Students grade their programs on drug abuse

Union County Regional High School District said they learned a great deal from a series of drug abuse programs held last spring, according to a report made public this week.

The district conducted a series of four day-long meetings in the four high schools. Each of the meetings was scheduled for one of the high schools with activities designed to focus on students, faculty and parents and their roles in the conduct of the schoolcommunity drug program.

Student replies to a statement, 'I believe the best way to stop students from using drugs would be to . . . " ranged from "to have more drug abuse programs to make the kids more aware of the dangers of drugs, to "there is no way to stop it through the schools. The home is most important. The evaluation of the drug abuse program, the first of its kind in the district, was prepared by Dr. Donald Merachnik, assistant superintendent for pupil personnel services. Dr. Merachnik said the results of a student sampling showed that approximately eight or nine out of 10 students in all four schools also said the program was "interesting."

HE SAID "THERE APPEARS TO BE an inverse relationship between age and grade and attitude toward the program of drug

More ninth graders, he said, learned 'a great deal" from the program than did 12th graders. "Perhaps," the report said, "as students progress from grades 9 to 12, their attitudes toward drug usage change."

Because it was impossible to sample all the students, a ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th grade homeroom was randomly selected in each of the four schools, Dr. Merachnik said, Among the other comments by students on how to stop students from using drugs were:
—Stop people from getting hold of drugs in the first place, so they can't distribute it

Patrolmen's group issues statement on salary increase

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association of Mountainside, in an effort to clarify the facts concerning the police raise, which they claim were distorted in a newspaper article, have issued the following statement:

VFW post nearing 100-member total on its first birthday

Commander A. E. Lueddeke announced this week that the Mountainside Memorial Post 10136, VFW, first organized on Oct. 13, 1968, is approaching the 100 member mark. Current renewal of dues plus applications on 15 new members should assure the goal by the end of this month, he said. Current membership is composed of 47 Army men; 24 Navy, 13 Air Force, three Marines and one SeaBee. Activity for the summer-fall period included installation of Save-A-Child safety signs in strategic locations around the borough. A family picnic on Sept. 6 was attended by 200 people. Children's games and youth activities were the focal point of entertainment. The post is also sponsoring participation for Gov. Livingston Regional High School students in the Voice of Democracy scholarship Contest. The contestant prepares and tapes a brief essay on "What Democracy Means to Me." Local winners are then submitted for district, state and national competitions: The awards for national winners total $13,000. Details are available at the high school.

Commander-Lueddeke extended an invitation to all qualified ex-servicemen to apply for membership in the post. He pointed out that the emphasis of all programs will be on "youth and community affairs that will be of aid to young people, and which foster pride in, and strengthening of American democratic principles and institutions."

Post officers for 1969-1970 are: Ray Herrgott, senior vice-commander; Tom Burgess, junior vice-commander; Joseph Mazur, chaplain; John Allen, adjutant; Nick Molinaro, officer of the day, and Sal Severini, sergeantat-arms. Trustees are Frank Thiel, James Altomare and Joseph Chieppa. Chairmen of major committees are Ed Soltysik, social recreation, and Ray Herrgott, membership.

scheduled a special hearing on its proposed $747,000 bond issue, to be held at the Echobrook School for Tuesday at 8 p.m.

At a preliminary open meeting held Monday evening at the Echobrook School, the facts and plans regarding the bond issue were discussed. Grant Lennox, president of the school board, presented a series of transparencies showing the estimated cost of the program, the cost to the taxpayer, and schematic drawings of pro-posed new buildings.

Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms Jr. pointed out that the bond issue was complete with a fringe benefit in that the badly-needed, new borough hall could be housed in the abandoned Echobrook School at a "minimal" cost, not to exceed $100,000.

A question and statement period was held for members of the audience who wished to question the plans or obtain more information regarding the bond issue.

Mayor backs Ricciardi and council entries

At a meeting of the Mountainside Republican Party, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. this week announced his endorsement of the Republican candidates for borough office, Thomas Ricciardi for mayor and Peter Simmons and Robert Ruggiero for the Borough Council.

'Continued good government in Mountainside can best be provided by the Republican candidates," stated Mayor Wilhelms. "They will become part of a working team that has made our community one of the finest in the state. Ricciardi, Simmons and Ruggiero are Moun--tainside oriented, their interests are here and they are not watered down with political ambitions beyond our locality."

The mayor noted that "Tom Ricciardi, as a former councilman and present chairman of the Board of Adjustment, having served the past six years, has a broad knowledge of municipal government. He is very conscious of the business and family sacrifices the office of mayor demands, and in the interest of good local government is prepared to devote his time and extraordinary talents on behalf of our com-

The mayor added, "Pete Simmons and Bob Ruggiero are two outstanding and vigorous citizens. Simmons through his business and civic endeavors, including the Parent-Teachers Association and the Borough Safety Committee, indicates great promise for public service. His zeal and interest in Mountainside and its citizens establish him as an excellent Borough Council candidate.

private citizen. This deficiency was pointed out by the mayor as one of the building's greatest disadvantages, for it causes a problem in the area of expansion. With the present situation at the Borough Hall, expansion would be an impossibility.

The second floor is also the master storage area for the majority of the borough documents and court records. The "official record room," as pointed out by the mayor with the aid of Councilman John Hechtle, is a broom closet shared by cases of Coca Cola and

Because of the excessive overcrowding on the second floor, various committee meetings are held on the main floor in the borough clerk's office, which is a landmark in itself. The borough clerk's office houses filing cabinets, judge's chambers, and five full-time staff members during the daytime hours. During the winter, the desks in the office are moved away-from the cinderblock-walls in order to avoid cold drafts.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT takes place on Wednesday nights in the second floor meeting room. The judge is forced to make do with primitive conditions—there are no private chambers available for private conferences. The various groups such as the recreation commission meet in the clerk's office and must make adjustments with files and books and office machinery before business can be discussed. At the end of every meeting, all equipment must be replaced into original position for the daytime office workers. The police station occupies a sma of the building. The police locker room contains six lockers for the use of 19 men. The locker room is also a miniature boiler room, teletype room and photography room. Even the "mug shots" are taken there.

roomiest in the entire building and occupies approximately 75 square feet. According to Mayor Wilhelms, the State Department of

PROFILE -- Robert B. Meyner

This is another in a series on candidates who will appear on November's ballot.

The calendar says he is 61 years old. Except for the striking silver hair and the tanned, somewhat weathered skin, it is difficult to give credence to the calendar. He is a big man and he moves down the streets with the grace and deceptive speed of a lithe animal. Some, oblivious to his identity, pass him by. But for others, there is the shock of recognition, "There's Governor Meyner," they gasp before self-consciously lining up to shake the famous hand and be on the receiving end of the familiar smile and the traditional supplicating words of the candidate. Robert B. Meyner is scheduled to lead a "walking tour" of several Union County communities next week. He has been through before and he probably will spend other days in this key county during his quest this fall for the keys to Morven. This is no cut-and-dried campaign, and he and his aides are well aware of closeness of the contest, But this is a path Bob Meyner has successfully traversed on two occasions in the past. It led him from the virtual anonymity of a country lawyer's office to two terms as New Jersey's governor and to the brink of serious consideration as a presidential candidate. It is also a path that led him into a lucrative law practice, directorships of several large companies and a well-paying post as czar of the cigarette advertising code

:::When he relinquished the governor's chair to :: Richard Hughes nearly eight years ago, Robert Meyner left office with a legacy of good will from his constituents that few public officials can command after two terms. He could have enjoyed the perquisites that naturally accrue to a former governor, But the pomp, pageantry and power that are trappings of the office were gone. Nevertheless, he insists that he did not miss being governor. "I can have fun at what-ever I'm doing," he smiles. Bob Meyner says that his candidacy for governor is motivated by the call of public service. "I run," he claims, because of the inward satisfaction I derive from serving. And in New Jersey the ability to put one's ideals into practice is best achievable in the governorship.

ROBERT B. MEYNER

MEYNER MAINTAINS that the major issue of the campaign can be distilled into the question of trust: Who is best qualified to run the state? In his early informal campaign talks, he hammered hard on this issue, hoping voters would infer that his Republican opponent's years in Washington would have left him illprepared to deal with the problems of this yards and impressively kept his poise ever with Raiders swarming all around him.

The only Highlander who had a really good day was flanker Jeff Burdette, who battled double coverage to haul in 5 aerials for an eye-catching 94 yards. Last Saturday this constituted the entire Regional offense.

From the outset, it was obvious that the Scotch Plains linemen were beating Regional's linemen off the ball, both offensively and defensively. After the Highlanders failed to move following the opening kickoff, the visitors went to work, opening huge holes for Molten and Crisp. The Raiders drove effortlessly 52 yards for the score, culminated by a four-yard burst by Molten into the end zone standing up.

Gov. Livingston, which was unable to manage a first down during the first quarter and had only three for the opening half (all on passes to Burdette) failed to show any offensive activity its next two times with the ball, and Scotch Plains eventually ended up with the ball on its 45. From there Barrett beautifully guided Scotch Plain's 55 yards to increase its lead to 13-0, with Molten powering ir from the three. Tom Davis added the point-after-touch-

BY NOW, Coach Len Zanowicz's Raiders had pretty well asserted themselves and were dominating play. They sewed it up when they took the second-half kickoff and marched 71 yards in 14 plays, during which Crisp carried nine times. Molten plunged in from the one.

Davis again converted. Mainly because of two receptions by Burdette for 58 yards, Piccirillo was finally able to mount an offensive drive that seemed destined to score when Burdette twisted and dodged to the one. Then, however, Livingston was penalized twice for being offside and seconds later a fumble ended the threat. Bad breaks, penalties and several overthrown and dropped passes hurt Gov. Livingston last Saturday but, hopefully, these were due to inexperience and nervousness. If Coach Lawrence's team has any hope of winning the Watchung Conference title, it must give a better performance against Hillside this aturday -- when it should win -- and, more importantly, against the Westfield Blue Devils the week after that. Westfield got off to a fine start last weekend by downing Clark, 23-15. At first glance, one would count the Highlanders out of the conference race, but -- remember what happened last season.

Borough Hall

Institutes and Agencies has been very critical of the Mountainside penal facilities. In describing the building, Mayor Wilhelms said, "Needless to say, Borough Hall is hopelessly inadequate. There is virtually no storage space for records that can be kept. An ongoing business could never be conducted from these offices, nor can the business of the community of Mountainside,'

The mayor stressed that the condition of the Borough Hall had great significance in relation to the proposed bond issue, by saying that "the whole story of Borough Hall and the bond issue ties up into one big package. In continuing his correlation between the proposed use of the Echobrook School for & dew borough hall, Mayor Wilhelms asserted, When something is necessary, it must be done, but it would go against my grain 100 percent to build a new hall. It would be a total disuse of taxpayers' money. We need a Borough Hall, but I find it difficult to spend as much as $300,000 for a new one when we won't get that much use from it, and the Echobrook School would suit us very well.

In concluding his statements to his audience at the Borough Hall tour, which totaled a majority of one Mountainside citizen, the mayor stressed once again the connection between the badly-needed new Borough Hall facilities and the obsolete Echobrook School by saying, "This program, included in the proposed bond issue, wraps up both in a deal which will be both cheaper and more beneficial for the people of Mountainside."

Community discussion on narcotics

Springfield PTAs plan program at high school

On Monday evening, Oct. 13, a meeting on local drug problems will be held at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain avenue. Springfield, under the auspices of the Springfield Council of PTAs, the organization representing the PTAs of Springfield's elementary and secondary schools.

Convinced that drug abuse is the "concern of everyone in the community, adult and child, parent and non-parent," the Council of PTAs is presenting a comprehensive program on the 'practical approach to today's drug problem."

The program will cover such topics as "why there is a drug problem nationally and in suburbia, how the Springfield schools are dealing with the problem and what the Springfield community and Springfield parents can and should do to cope with the social disease."

Mrs. Arthur Weiss and Mrs. Joseph Berkowitz, co-chairmen, announced that Dr. Sylvia B. Herz will be the keynote speaker of the evening. Dr. Herz, a psychologist-sociologist and family consultant, is president of the Essex County Council on Drug Addiction and chairman of the pilot project on drug abuse prevention in the Essex County school system. She is a member of the Essex County Mental Health Board and has been an instructor and lecturer at Rutgers University, Long Island University and Seton Hall University. She is the author of several books, among them Community-Based Drug Addiction Plan of Action," 'Drugs vs. Sex on the College Cam-'Drugs vs. Sex on the College Campus" and the forth-coming "Teenagers and Drugs."

A representative from ALERT, a local group composed of residents, merchants, and professional people, will review the efforts being made in Springfield to combat drug abuse. The programs in the Springfield elementary schools and Dayton Regional will be presented by staff members from both systems.

Personnel active in the school systems will act as discussion leaders for small group meetings which will follow the general meeting. Practical approaches to the drug problem, in terms of parent, school and community activity, will be the subject of these informal discus-

According to Mrs. Weiss, members of the local clergy embracing all religious bodies in Springfield have endorsed the forthcoming meeting, and are urging their congregants to attend the Oct. 13 meeting.

A large audience is anticipated, because of the "timeliness of the program, the reputation of the principal speaker and the participation of many local organizations," she added.

PLANNING THE DRIVE - Mrs. Daniel Grace, wife of the chairman of the 1969-70 Mountainside Community Fund drive joins Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms and Eugene Kelly in planning for the event designated for Sunday, Oct. 19.

executive committee of the Mountainside Community Fund, Mrs. Eileen Grace, filling in for her chairman husband who was out of town, announced the following additional appointments: Jim Keating, district 4 chairman; John Millen, treasurer; Charles Emm, industrial chairman, and Matt Bistis, printing.

After some comments by Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, the committee put the final touches on the procedures for the Oct. 19 town-wide collection, and released more information on the nine recipient charities of this year's drive. The services to the individuals of the town and the organizations' need for financial help were discussed.

The organizations discussed included the Mountainside Rescue Squad, which provides round-the-clock service for emergencies and accidents, and transportation to and from hospitals for those who need the special equipment of an ambulance. Contributions are used to meet the day-to-day operating expense, such as maintenance, oxygen, equipment and insurance. Of these donations, more than two-thirds come from the Community

The Youth Employment Service, which is an employment service staffed by volunteers to help youngsters find part-time gainful

sary and unusual job openings they have in their homes and local businesses, was also discussed. No fees are charged to either employe or employer, and all operating expenses of the service come from money supplied through the Mountainside Community

The Washington Rock Girl Scout Council and Watchung Area Boy Scout Council of America, which number about 800 young people from age 7 through 17, participate in the various educational and recreational programs in the town. Scouting is designed to help strengthen America by placing emphasis on character, citizenship, and service programs, by and for the youth. Budget requests are made to the involved communities on a pro-rata basis to help scouting carry out its large commitment.

The United Service Organizations (USO) which looks out for the spiritual, morale and welfare needs of men and women in uniform at home and abroad, at present, helps more than 120 citizens of Mountainside serving the country. ### Parish members begin rehearsals for annual musical

Plans are in progress for the annual parish musical show of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, Mountainside. The show will be entitled "Girl Crazy" and will be performed, with the permission of Tams Witmark, N.Y., in the school auditorium on Nov. 21 and 22.

The first administrative meeting for the parish show was held on Sept. 22 in the rectory basement meeting room. At the meeting the following officers were elected: John Medevielle, executive chairman; John McCarthy, executive co-chairman; Mrs. Edward Capraun, secretary: Mrs. Charles Emm. treasurer.

Louis Scolnick of 1156 Sawmill rd., Mountainside, is the man who has discovered the interesting hobby of collecting ladies, for he is responsible for the transportation of members of the Mountainside Senior Citizens

At 67, Scolnick is a lively gentleman with a sharp wit who busies himself the second and fourth Wednesday of every month with the chore of seeing that some of the older women of the community are able to attend the meeting, which is held at the Mountain-side Library on Watchung avenue.

The senior citizens of Mountainside are a delightful group of people who gather together for three hours at each meeting to eat cake and ice cream, play card games and enjoy one another's company.

The senior citizens have formed an organization which has as its president, Everett P. Perkins of 297 Old Tote rd. and as its vicepresident, his wife, Cornelia. the highest-paid police force in the county. This is not true. Our present salary for 1969 is $9,500 for a top-grade patrolman. This will remain the same until January, 1970. There are other towns in the county that are currently receiving $10,000. These towns are presently negotiating for 1970 pay increases.

"The longevity program in which a police officer receives a two percent increase for eyery five years of service is not a new addition to the salary ordinance, but has been in effect for a number of years.

"The manner in which the pay increase was negotiated this year was the same as in previous years. It has been the custom of the PBA to approach the mayor and council regarding our salary proposal for the oncoming year during the latter part of the present year. The police will not cater to any political affiliations, but wish to dedicate their services to the benefit of the community as a whole. "With respect to comparing the salaries of the police to other professions, there is no comparison. The police work rotating shifts which include all holidays. There is no such thing as a five-day work week. On many occasions, the police have had to work more than the normal five days in a row—six, seven and eight days are common. The police are on call 24 hours a day, rain or shine. We lare also required to live in the town, which, in a way, is good, because we get to know the people we serve.

purposes. Experience has shown that proponents of construction are generally found on the low side of a cost estimate.

'In short, the true picture of the tax crunch facing the citizens of our community has been distorted by the attempt of our Republican opponents to isolate the costs of construction and renovation out of the context of other tax increases already in the works.

A major consideration given for supporting the so-called $747,000 bond referendum is that the proposed cloverleaf at New Providence road and Rt. 22 will create increased traffic in the area of Echobrook, Democratic candidates Walsh, Palmer and Mrs. Loftus will not concede to the New Jersey State Department of Transportation that a cloverleaf should be built at that intersection. If elected, we pledge to resist the construction of the cloverleaf with all the resources available to the borough.

"One of the best arguments against the construction of the cloverleaf is the continued use of Echobrook for school purposes. The cloverleaf will mean an irreparable loss of almost $2,000,000 of tax ratables and tremendous disruption of community traffic patterns. When our Republican opponents say that a new addition to Deerfield is needed because of the likelihood of cloverleaf construction near Echobrook, they only encourage those who community. 'It is at the level of our Regional High School system that there is a desperate need for additional school facilities. At present, many of our Mountainside High School students are being taught in temporary classrooms in the parking lot of Gov. Livingston High School. 'A most important Regional High School bond referendum is scheduled for December. Democratic candidates Walsh, Palmer and Mrs. Loftus unconditionally endorse the Regional High School referendum as essential to the future educational needs of the young people of Mountainside.

'Only a well-equipped and properly staffed high school system will produce Mountainside students eligible and qualified to be admitted to the better colleges desired by our young people and their parents. Our Republican opponents shrug off the timing of the so-called $747,000 bond referendum as unfortunate in relation to the bond issue of the Regional High School. They say that one should not be favored at the expense of the other.

Yet, it is only common sense that efforts made in October to push through for approval of taxpayers one large spending commitment must result in dissipation of support vitally needed to obtain approval of the Regional High School referendum this December.

Democratic candidates Walsh, Palmer and Mrs. Loftus give priority to the Regional High School bond referendum because while the Regional High School population is still expandng, the Mountainside elementary school population has stabilized and is actually in a slight

Committees named by PTA chairmen

Mrs. William Ruch and Mrs. Walter Brown, general co-chairmen of the Governor Livingston Regional High School PTA annual spaghetti supper this Saturday, have announced the following committee members from Mountainside: food preparation - Mrs. Joseph Cognetti, Mrs. Theodore White, Mrs. Paul Mocko; kitchen - Mrs. Frank Urner; tickets - Mrs. Robert Reel, Mrs. Francis Fitzgerald; posters -Mrs. Robert Reel; publicity-Mrs. Herbert Houghtaling; waiters - Mrs. Theodore White; costumes - Mrs. Herbert Houghtaling; hos-that in a few years this decline may allow a gradual phasing out of the Echobrook facilities without the need for any large addition to either Deerfield or Beechwood. According to the report of Prof. Henry J. Rissetto, prepared for the Regional High School Board of Education at a cost of $20,000, the birth rate in Mountainside was more than 50 percent less last year than in 1961.

This is consistent with a nationwide declining birth rate. Prof. Rissetto's reportalso indicated the school population of Mountainside elementary schools could decline as much as eight percent over the next three years.

'In sum, the inaccurate reasoning of Republican opponents in untimely support of the so-called $747,000 bond referendum is not borne out by the facts. Their arguments and distortions can only give comfort to those who desire to justify higher taxes, encourage construction of the unwanted cloverleaf at New Providence road, and lead to defeat of the much-needed Regional High School bond referendum. The voters of Mountainside must and will reject such tactics."

POLITICAL HONEYMOON-Spare time is work time, but also shared and enjoyable time for John and Pamella Petronko, who are going all out in support of Thomas H. Hannen for State Assembly.

Of love and politics Couple runs campaign

A law school-nursing school romance developed into mar-riage and with it joint participation in the political campaign of Thomas H. Hannen, Democratic candidate for the State Assembly in District 9-C. a nice community district which includes Roselle, Mountainside and Winfield.

--The husband and wife, now married a little over a month, are John Petronko Ir. and Pamella. He is working on the general political side as campaign chairman, and she is concentrating on voter regis-tration and enlistment of sup-port from the distaff side. They live at 16-B Pacific dr., Winfield.

Mrs. Petronko receivedher political baptism by aiding in her then future husband's successful campaign for Winfield Township committee last year. So she had an idea what she was getting into in marrying someone already involved in political life. 'We both feel strongly about

Tom Hannen's candidacy," Pamella said, "and I'm gladwe can share the same interest." "Sharing" can mean meetings and conference at any hour of the evening or weekends, but Mrs. Petronko seems to take it in stride. The coffee always is ready and the

'please be at home" attitude. Petronko is an attorney with offices at 16 W. Elizabeth ave., Linden, He is a graduate of Rutgers, the State University, and received his law degree from the University of

His interest in civic affairs has been deep and extensive. He presently is Winfield.commissioner of finance, is on the Boy Scouts' southern district planning committee, a former member of the Board of Education, member of the Moose, trustee and former secretary of St. John's Russian Orthodox Church in Rahway.

The campaign chairman and his wife, the former Pamella Russell of Fremont, Ohio, met at the University of Toledo. Formerly with St. Barnabas Hospital in Livingston, she now is a registered nurse with the Visiting Nurse and Health Services.

Labor unit announces rise in consumer prices

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.4 percent in August to 128.7 (1957-59 equaled 100), the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced,

As in other recent months, the increase resulted mostly from higher prices for services and food. The August index for all items was 5.6 percent above a year ago.

So far this year retail prices have increased by four percent, compared to 3.1 percent in the first eight months in 1968.

Charges for consumer services went up 0.7 percent, led by significant increases for mortgage interest, property taxes, residential gas and electricity rates, and home repair services. Medical care services continued to advance substantially in August, along with automobile insurance and repairs and movie admissions. Food prices were up more than is usual for August because of a sharp jump in egg prices, resulting from lower supplies. Prices of most fresh fruits and vegetables were lower, but the overall decline was less than seasonal. Beef prices declined for the first time in eight months. These declines were offset by increases for other meats.

Women's apparel declined more than usual for this time of the year, while tags were marked up for men's and boys' clothing, and footwear. Prices for new and used cars also declined with the approach of the 1970 model

Cigarette prices posted their third substantial advance in as many months in the wake of earlier wholesale increases. Other commodities which contributed to the August price rise included alcoholic beverages, gasoline, and housekeeping supplies.

Approximately 155,000 workers will receive cost-of-living pay increases based on the August Consumer Price Index, About 79,000 workers, mostly in the aerospace industry, will receive an eight-cent hourly increase, based on the change in the index since August 1968, Another 25,000 employees, also primarily in aerospace, will receive increases of five cents an hour, based on the quarterly change in the national CPI. Another 36,200 workers in the tobacco, aerospace and chemical industries will get increases ranging from one to three cents an hour, based on the increase in the index since May 1969, while approximately 11,500 employees in various industries will be given hourly pay increases ranging from four to eleven cents. About 2,800 transit employees in Washington, D.C. will get a 6-cent hourly increase based on the change in the Washington area index since

Candidates are in agreement on problems facing schools

New Jersey's pressing school problems need immediate state attention, says the New Jersey Education Association -- and the two major gubernatorial candidates apparently agree. 'Among the issues in this fall's election campaign, nothing is more critical than the financial difficulties facing New Jersey schools," says an editorial in the current issue of the NJEA Review, the professional journal for the state's teachers.

The candidates voice agreement in articles written especially for New Jersey's education community. The Democratic nominee, Robert B. Meyner, lists educational financing as his "Priority No. 1." and Republican William T. Cahill insists: "For too long, in education, has our state surrendered its rightful place among the other 49." Writes Meyner: "It should be clear to all of us that any proposal that is put forth for tem must be based on the hard reality that during the '70's more dollars must be devoted to education by the State of New Jersey." Cahill says: "The next governor must act to ensure orderly, timely evaluation of our State's educational needs, and the orderly, well conceived innovations such an evaluation will in-Both candidates agree that the state should play a larger share of local school costs. Writes Cahill: "The state school aid formula is outdated and must be replaced by a more equitable one." Says Meyner:

"Priority No. 1 for the next governor must be to increase the state's role in the financing of elementary and secondary education. It must be clear that no New Jersey community can bear by itself the rapidly increasing costs of quality education.

Inflation and rising enrollments make increases in State school aid necessary, says the NIEA editorial. In addition, NJEA wants the state to:

-- Boost school building aid, especially for replacement of obsolete facilities.

-- Provide incentives for efficient organization and improvements in school quality.

State leaders join fund-raising affair

New Jersey leaders in government, business and civic affairs have joined in support of the "Sail-In" of the Children's Aid and Adoption Society of N.J., a fund-raising gala slated to be held at the Governor Morris Inn in Morristown on Sunday, Oct. 19.

Honorary chairman for the affair is Bergen County State Senator Fairleigh S. Dickinson Jr., president of Becton Dickinson Company of Rutherford.

Speaking for the group, Senator Dickinson says:

"Work in behalf of disadvantaged children who can be given new homes where they are loved and cherished by adoptive parents that the Children's Aid and Adoption Society finds for them, is a most commendable enterprise.

"We are most happy to support the efforts of the Staff and Board of the Society in their desire to equip themselves to serve more and more children by way of the wonderful process called adoption,

Dr. Marburger, currently embroiled in a controversy with the New Jersey Education Association, indicated that "there is a need for creativity and innovation in the classroom," and that "we must test all aspects of our educational system."

Replying to questions from the audience, Marburger said that "as leisure time becomes increasingly available, the schools must instruct students with a greater knowledge of the arts and humanities so that the leisure time is properly enhanced." He said, "today's students are politically more aware and are closer in maturity to the adult world than the students of 20 years ago," and that it is not sufficient to use the schools of the state to meet college admission requirements alone.

Scientists investigating Antarctica Seek information concerning origins of earth

As the moon begins to yield its secrets to man, science is tapping the ancient mys-teries of other great land masses — the mammoth glaciers that cover more than sixand-a-half million square miles and contain three fourths of all the fresh water in the Biggest of all, according to an October Reader's Digest article, is Antarctica-"the world's largest desert" - which covers about 5,500,000 square miles and is almost as large as the United States and Europe combined.

Covered with a mantle of ice that ranges up to 11,000 feet in thickness. Antarctica is a kind of super refrigeration system, dissipating heat into space and cooling the earth's atmosphere. It also serves as a gigantic waterwhich combines with the Greenland glacier-about 665,000 square miles-and others to hold some seven million cubic miles of fresh water. Should the Antarctica ice cap suddenly melt, the level of the oceans might rise as much as 200 feet, flooding coastal regions and engulfing the world's great port exploring the Antarctic, hoping to gain precious information concerning the origins of earth. For example, one team of American scientists and engineers last year drilled nearly a mile and a half into the ice; they brought up a continuous core, four inches in diameter, which author Paul Friggins says provides "a clear profile of polar history — and an exciting look into the earth's past."

"From air bubbles trapped in ice 25,000 to 100,000 years ago, for instance," he writes, "scientists will be able to trace the composition of the earth's atmosphere back to that early time. In ice 10,000 to 14,000 years old,

Census Bureau survey planned

Census Bureau representatives will take their quarterly survey of consumer buying and home improvement expectations in this area during October, according to John C. Cullinane, director of the bureau's regional office in New York.

The survey is part of a nationwide effort to gather information used to guide Federal agencies and other groups in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns. sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car, or major appliance during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned in the future.

In the most recent survey of the series, taken in July, families in the U.S. indicated that their plans to buy new cars were about the same as they had been a year earlier, but that expectations to buy houses were off sharply from a year earlier. The survey also showed a continued high level of expenditures for household durables.

Households in the sample to be surveyed are not identified. All answers are kept confidential by law, and information obtained will be published only as statistical totals.

the Americans found layers of volcanic ash, possibly deposited during some worldwide catalysm. At about 850 feet, they recovered ice that had fallen as pure snow at the time of Christ, and in the topmost layers they identified 'dirty' ice containg thermonuclear fallout from our atomic age.'

But aside from the past, what can the Antarctic glacier reveal to us? According to the National Science Foundation, 'The Antarctic ice cap has a powerful influence on the world's weather. Any significant change in this great freshwater reservoir would affect man's environment by causing changes in sea level, rainfall, river flow and lake levels."

Is such "significant change" likely to occur soon? Probably not. Experts agree we're probably in the middle of an interglacial periodthat is, a period between "ice ages" - lasting several thousands of years. While the oceans are warming slightly and sea level is rising, the process is a very gradual one.

But there is one possible source of disaster -- man himself. Writes Friggins: 'The increasing carbon dioxide and industrial wastes emitted from cities, factories and vehicles, is perceptibly warming the world's climate. Such prodigal carelessness could, conceivably, hasten the melting of the great ice storage and squander the gift of the glaciers.

Employment rises to 2,580,100 total in state in August

Total nonagricultural wage and salary employment (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed, and unpaid family workers) rose by 800 in August to an estimated total of 2,580,100, according to estimates prepared by the Di-vision of Planning and Research of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. August jobholdings in manufacturing ad-

9,900 because of seasonal hiring and returns from a strike in the food industry; recalls by the automobile industry of employees temporarily laid off during the model changeover period; and a 4,000 increase in the apparel

Although government, services, and wholesale and retail trade had over-the-month declines, employment estimates for these industries still remain higher this August as compared with those of the same time last year. Construction, however, dropped because of a strike and small employment decreases on individual construction projects throughout the state. Non-manufacturing employment declined 9,100, bringing the total estimate to 1,681,300; but this is a seasonal pattern.

Weekly earnings of factory production workers averaged $132.44 -- up 90 cents from the July estimate. Returns to work after vacation, higher incentive pay, increased overtime, and seasonal recalls contributed to the gain. Average hourly earnings were up three cents to $3.27, but the length of the work-week was six minutes shorter (40.5 hours). Transportation equipment earnings, at $118.06, decreased by $45.01 from the one-month-earlier figure. This was due to a shorter work-week because of model changeover lay-offs. The hiring of low pay seasonal help and less overtime in some companies caused a few in-dustries to have lower average earnings.

Thursday, October 2, 1969-

Bible reading night planned on Monday by Rosary Society

On Monday evening, new members will be inducted into the Rosary Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, After the ceremony in the church, members will conduct a special Bible reading program, followed by an open discussion, Mrs. Thomas Roche, chairman for the evening, urged all interested women to participate.

The society has planned several programs for the coming year. These include a Nov.  $3\,$ program concerning "Today's Nun," with Sister Elizabeth Noonan, principal of St. Mary's Parochial School in Jersey City, as guest speaker. The program chairman at that time will be Mrs. Sam Moschella.

On Dec. 1, a Christmas social is planned with Mrs. Garrett Wishbow as the program chairman. During the month of January, the society will have no meeting, but it will resume on Feb. 2 with a Chinese auction; Mrs. Edward Capraum will act as program chairman.

An "Evening of Reflection" is planned for March 2 with Monsignor Henry G.J. Beck as guest speaker. Mrs. Thomas Root will be

On April 6, the program will be entitled "Year 2001," with Mrs. John Miller of Mountainside as guest speaker. Mrs. George Wiech will be chairman of the program. The May program has not yet been announced by the society.

Aspirant to House would hit industry fouling air, water

John F. Allaire Jr., Democratic candidate for Assembly District 9C, said he would impose a heavy tax on those industries that pollute the waterways of New Jersey and the atmosphere. Such a measure would be tem-porary until legislation could be passed to regulate pollution.

"My immediate goal is to hit industry where it hurts: in the pocketbook," Allaire said, 'Every industrial plant in my district is polluting the air. A tax of some sort should be imposed upon the offenders, and the amount of money paid out by each company would depend upon the amount of wastes being ejected into the atmosphere.

"As each factory reduced its level of pollution, so would its tax be reduced. This would not only contribute to the health and well-being of each resident, but it would also bring more money into the state." "Government moves slowly, "Allaire said," and in order to get legislation passed to regulate pollution and to set up a program, much time is wasted. Meanwhile, the tax I suggest would help us breathe easier until a permanent solution is found," he said. "I am thinking of the average taxpayer—the little man. It seems he always pays in some way. With pollution, he is paying with his health and, in some instances, with his life." According to Allaire, 12 million tons of sulphur is vented into the atmosphere over New Jersey each year, while only 16 million tons are extracted from the earth. "This is a half-billion-dollars" worth of pollution,"

Members will be toasted at AAUW sherry party

Allaire said.

A sherry party for members and prospective members will be held by the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women on Tuesday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gerald E. Gardiner, 73 Shady lane, Fanwood,

Members have been urged to invite prospective members to join them at the party, Anyone interested in attending or joining AAUW may call the membership chairman, Mrs. Julian Levitt, 296 Meeting House lane, Mountainside,

Bonded fabrics on market need special quality, care

Bonded fabrics have been around for awhile and were the source of some disappointment to the consumer, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

But now it is time to take a second look at the bonded fabrics on the market today and learn to judge the good from the bad.

The principle of bonding is the joining of two layers of fabric with an adhesive or a layer of urethane foam. One layer may be anything from a sports fabric to a dressy evening type that is woven, knitted or lace.

The backing for bonded fabrics is usually a knit of acetate tricot, or nylon tricot is often used on washable bonded fabrics. The foambonded fabrics are heavier and provide added warmth and insulation.

Bonding gives body to lightweight fabrics and increases the versatility of a given fabric.

Bonding improves the strength and shape-retention of a fabric and eliminates the need for lining.
Problems that have previously beset bonded fabrics are separation of the layers, adhesive stain, sagging or stretching and off grain bonding. Many of these problems now have been corrected or eliminated. It is important to look for definite qualities in selecting bonded fabrics or garments. Check to see that there is no separation, blistering or abundant this year. Use canned peaches in salads, baked products, as meat accompaniments, or as a refreshing des-sert served chilled "as is" from the can.

Plenty of potatoes for every possible use are forecasted because of the acreage planted for both summer and fall varieties. If the yield of the crop is as it is predicted, heavy supplies will be available.

The acreage planted for dry peas is the largest in five years. The supply, therefore, should be larger with the price lower. Use split peas as an economical protein source for the diet. The second largest rice crop on record is predicted.

puckering in the fabric. You should not be able to see stripes or dots where adhesive has been applied.
The layers of material should not be easy to separate. The face and backing fabrics should be bonded on grain. Look for well-known brands and shop in reliable stores. Better manufacturers have quality control programs for their bonded fabrics.

Follow the hangtag instructions for care of bonded fabrics. Most bonded fabrics are labeled "dryclean only." If it is labeled washable, follow the instructions carefully and do not wring or hang on a line with clothespins. If there are no care instructions, it is best to have the garment drycleaned.

Kopecky of Union, county purchasing agent, has been named a member of the newly-formed adhoc committee of the New Jersey Association of Governmental Purchasing Agents.

Warinanco Skating Center puts it on ice starting Oct. 10

The Warmanco Park Ice Skating Center, Roselle-Hizabeth, will pen for the 1969-70 season Friday, Oct. 10, at 6:30 p.m., it was announced this week by The Union County Park

Connor rips GOP on consumer bills at Candidates Night

John T. Connor Jr., Democratic candidate for Union County assemblyman-at-large, speaking at Candidates Night at McManus Hall in Linden, called for passage of several pieces of consumer legislation. 'The record of the Republican controlled legislature clearly shows a lack of concern for consumer protection," he said.

Connor said that only a tenth of the consumer legislation introduced into the legislature was passed. He described "some of the trouble spots."

'Right now in New Jersey a consumer can be forced to pay twice for the same work and to pay for work not done. For instance, the present mechanic's lien law allows a supplier or subcontractor to place a lien against a home even when it can be proven that the contractor himself was paid in full for the work. A bill that would have cured this obvious injustice never cleared the Republican caucus.

"Another common complaint arises," Connor said, "when a consumer signs an installment contract for goods or services. The merchant sells the contract to a bank or finance company which makes collections even if the product is faulty or the services inadequate. On one instance the repairman died never having started the work. Still the bank collected. The bill that would prevent this injustice lies in a Republican-controlled Senate

CONNOR ARGUED that other bills which should receive immediate consideration would require the transparent packaging of fresh meat

"Even when a firm violates laws already on the books," said Comor, "because of the leniency of present penalties, it may still make a sizable profit. Present law provides a $100 penalty for the first offense; $250 for subsequent offenses. Where profits of $1000 or more are involved, this is no deterrent. A bill which would have raised the allowable penalty never cleared the Republican Assembly caucus.

"In addition, a consumer who is sued on such contracts should be allowed to raise these issues in the same court. This right would be a most effective prevention of fraud

Pharmacists on offensive They're pushing drug disabuse

from life behind a chemical curtain, according to the president of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association. He described drug abuse as "a cop-out" as he led the professional organization into its annual observance of Pharmacy Week which begins Sunday.

Albert C. Meyer of Wood-Ridge said local pharmacists will mark the week with activities stressing the drug abuse education and information program of the profession of pharmacy and its practitioners. "The theme of this year's observance is drug abuse, truly an escape to nowhere," Meyer said.

'During the week residents should consult their pharmacist on the safe and proper use of today's powerful drugs and learn from him the truth about marijuana, the dangers of the abuse of barbiturates and amphetamines, and the sources of information and referral assistance in cases of drug abuse.

'The pharmacist is the lawful custodian and dispenser of the community's drug supplies, educated and experienced in the dangers of drug misuse, and in the proper and safe use of these powerful agents.

DIFFERENTIATING BETWEENdrug misuse and abuse, Meyer said misuse is the taking of a drug in unnecessary and excessive amounts and without knowledge of the full range of its effects, beneficial or adverse; abuse is use of excessive amounts or prolonged use of drugs which interfere with optimal personal, social "Drug abuse is one form of acting-out be-vior," Meyer pointed out,

'When a person acts-out, he chooses a substitute manner of dealing with a life situation. People who constantly depend on narcotics, amphetamines, barbiturates, tranquilizers and any mood-affecting drugs for nonmedical reasons are copping out on life. "Unaware of long-term effects, ignorant of potential side effects, they seldom seek out expert help. That's where their parents or other adults can help by getting the answers from the pharmacist, who is a specialist in the science of drugs.

MEYER QUOTED President Nixon's July 14 message in which he said "the abuse of drugs has grown into a serious national threat to the personal health and safety of millions of Americans."

The President went on to say, Meyer recalled, that the number of narcotics addicts across the United States is now estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands, and that 'several million American college students have atleast experimented with marijuana, hashish, LSD, amphetamines or barbiturates.

Meyer said that as the Nixon message in-"young people in shockingly large numbers are hiding from life behind a chem-

"We urge every concerned citizen to help his pharmacist fight the dangers of drug mis-use and abuse," Meyer continued. "Pharmacy Week is an ideal time to do it."

Cancer research emergency seen with cut in U. S. funds

The annual meeting and dinner of the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society was held last Thursday evening at the Kings Grant Inn in Point Pleasant, More than 200 volunteers were present as Mrs. Winfield Bonynge Jr. was installed as the division's first woman president and awards were presented to several county units for outstanding accomplishments.

The principal speaker, Lane W. Adams, executive vice-president of the American Cancer Society, described the emergency that has arisen in cancer research because of recent cutbacks in government funds. He noted that a tremendous number of scientists are now looking to the society for assistance and the New Jersey Division has been a leader in providing additional funds to aid the national society's research effort to find a cure for cancer." Adams also emphasized "the humanism of the ACS program which fights cancer by a three-pronged attack of research, education and service to the cancer patient.

Program awards were presented by W. Jefferson Lyon, chairman of the division's awards committee, to the Sussex, Hunterdon, Atlantic and Union County units of the society for outstanding accomplishments. The Sussex County Unit was honored for a "dawn to dusk" radiothon held in April as part of the unit's Crusade efforts. The public information program award went to Hunterdon County for excellent year-round efforts in communicating

Professor named U.S. ambassador to Burundi, Africa

Professor Thomas Patrick Melady of Seton Hall University has been named American Ambassador to Burundi in East Central Africa. The chairman of the Department of Asian and Non-Western Studies was appointed to the post by President Nixon last week. He is only the second ambassador from an American university to head an overseas diplomatic mission since President Nixton took office.

Burundi is roughly the size of the Maryland and has a population of 3,400,000. It became independent in 1962 and was formerly a part of the Belgian Trusteeship of Ruanda-Urundi. Bordered by Rwanda, Tanganyika and the Democratic Republic of the Congo, it is a constitutional monarchy with Mwami Mwambusta IV serving as king.

When Dr. Melady joined the Seton Hall University faculty as professor of Afro-Asian Affairs in 1967 his reputation as a leading international authority on Africa was well established. He has served as an adviser to African heads of state and four African leaders, the Presidents of Senegal, Liberia, Cameroon and Madagascar have conferred high decorations on him for services to their people. In 1968 Pope Paul' VI knighted him for his work in Africa. He has also received honorary doctorates from six universities.

The author of six books on Africa and developing countries, Dr. Melady and his wife, the former Margaret Judith Badum of Long Island, N.Y., recently bought a home in Maplewood, where they and their two young daughters, Christina and Monica, now reside.

Mrs. Melady has accompanied her husband in many of his trips to Africa. This past year she collaborated with him on a book devoted to what mankind must do to reduce the alienations in the world. Entitled "Closing The Gaps In The Family of Man," the book will be published by Sheed and Ward in January. Dr. Melady said he wants to return to his Seton Hall professorship when he has completed his tour of duty for President Nixon.

College reports record faculty

The faculty of the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University -- the largest undergraduate day division on the Newark campus of the State University --has grown to a record number of 359 members, an increase of 57 over last year, according to Dr. Henry Blumenthal, dean of the college.

The number includes 23 newly-appointed members who are full professors, associate professors and assistant professors, in addition to many newly-named lecturers, instructors and teaching assistants.

The growth in faculty was attributed by the dean to the larger fall enrollment tentatively estimated at 3,600 students, an increase of 600 over last year. This excludes the more than 360 educationally and economically disadvantaged students enrolled in the Urban University Department who are taking one or more credit courses at NCAS,

Established in 1946, the liberal arts college has 21 departments, including the Institute of Animal Behavior and the Institute For Cogni-

Newark State's Dr. Angers named meritorius professor

Acting President Nathan Weiss announced this week that Professor William P. Angers of the graduate psychology faculty at Newark State College, Union, has been awarded the title of meritorous professor.

Dr. Weiss said that Dr. Angers has made "an outstanding contribution to the college that will be of vital importance in the col-lege's growth and development." He added that "I am grateful to Dr. Angers' total commitment to the community."

The criteria that are necessary for elevation to meritorious increment include: excellence in teaching, performance in professorial rank, professional growth and accomplishment and dedication to the goals of the college.

Dr. Angers is a graduate of Providence College. From there he earned a master of arts degree from Catholic University. He school boards. Mediation has resolved 104 of these conflicts. Says NJEA: This is evidence that the law is needed. -

Until 1968-69, teacher organizations talked with their school boards about many issues but engaged in formal negotiations almost exclusively on welfare matters such as salary and fringe benefits. This past year, however, most teacher associations worked out comprehensive written agreements with their board covering such other matters as the school calendar, non-teaching duties, teacher assignment, transfer and promotion. Some even agreed on ways to reduce class size, improve the instructional program and select better textbooks and teaching materials.

New Jersey is one of 16 states with some type of negotiations law for public employees, NJEA reports. The laws in Connecticut, Maryland, Rhode Island, California, Minnesota, Oregon and Washington permit negotiations only for teachers. In New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Michigan and Wisconsin the law applies to public employees generally. Alaska, Florida, Nebraska and New Hampshire have laws permitting negotiations in the public sector but not requiring it.

The New Jersey law provides machinery for resolving impasses between public employers and employees that never existed before. Until the Public Employment Relations Commission was established, neither side had any agency to turn to for help when deadlocks developed. Now, either the employer or the employee group may turn to PERC for mediation and fact finding to end disputes. While the machinery is not perfect, says NJEA, it has proved

As both sides gain experience in negotiating and in using mediation and fact finding, relations between public employers and employees will probably improve, says NJEA. This will increase the stability of public institutions and services in New Jersey.

Purchasing power stable in August, says labor agency

The purchasing power of the nation's rankand-file workers in August showed little change both-from July and June, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. A small gain in weekly take-home pay was countered by a further rise in con-

Gross weekly earnings advanced to $116.48 in August, an increase of 61 cents from July and $7.27 (6.7 percent) from a year ago. The August advance was attributable to a 0,2-hour gain in the workweek, as average hourly earnings remained unchanged at $3,04. After adjustment for price changes, weekly earnings were slightly above the July level and one percent over the year.

Spendable earnings, or take-home pay, for the worker with three dependents rose to $101.38 in August, a gain of 46 cents over the month. Compared to a year ago, take-home pay was up by $5.09 (5.3 percent).

Real spendable earnings—take—home pay expressed in 1957-59 dollars to reflect consumer price changes--were about unchanged at $78,77 in August for the worker with three dependents. Over-the-month gains in contract construction and trade were countered by declines in mining; manufacturing; and finance, insurance, and real estate. Real earnings were 0.3 percent below the August 1968 level and 1.1 percent below the record level of last Sentember, Real earnings have remained below year-ago levels for the past seven months.

PLAYTIME -- A staff member of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic, a United Fund agency, and a youngster acting as a patient depict a typical scene at the Clinic, where psychiatric specialists try to discover the cause of a patient's emotional disturbance. Playing with toys, as in this scene, gets the staff member and patient better acquainted and also gives an insight into the child's interests and abilities. Weekly interview sessions with the patients and their families are important in the clinic's treatment program. Community funds throughout the county, including the Eastern Union County United Fund, contribute to the support of the non-profit clinic.

Learn how to use extinguisher to halt small home fires

Many small home fires could be controlled and damage could be held to a minimum -- if fire extinguishers were standard equipment in all homes. But a fire extinguisher can be of little value unless each member of the family old enough to operate it knows how.

'Too many homeowners rely on fire extinguishers they don't know how to use or maintain," warns Don Costa, safety director of Allstate Insurance Companies.

"All too often people buy an extinguisher, set it in a corner and never read the instructions on the label," Costa says.

He offers these tips about fire extinguishers for homes or apartments: 1. Buy only an extinguisher approved by an independent testing laboratory such as Underwriters' Laboratories. Extinguishers which have not passed the test of nationally recog-nized laboratories may prove to be ineffective

2. Select the proper type of extinguisher for the principal hazards being guarded.

3. Know how to use the fire extinguisher. 4. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for charging, maintaining and operating the extinguisher.

5. Recharge an extinguisher after every use or replace it with a new one. 6. Examine the extinguisher a few times a year to make sure it's in good operating

7. One last tip: If the blaze is too much for an extinguisher to handle, call the fire department immediately and get out of the house. Don't try to put out a fire that's going to take

Army opportunity: enlist now, Two hikes stay home for Yule holidays

Army policy of offering young men the opportunity to enlist in the Army now but remain home until after the Christmas and New Year

Men who enlist under the Delayed Entry Program cannot be drafted and are not required to attend any organized military meetings before reporting for active duty, SSG Lewis Devlin, local Army recruiter, said this 'In some cases, it is possible to qualify for this program and stay home for the holidays, even if induction orders have been received, Sergeant Devlin added. Under the Delayed Entry Program, young men are sworn into the Army Reserve in inactive status. When they report for active duty, within 30 to 120 days, they are discharged from the Reserve and enlisted in the Regular Army. The time spent in the Reserve is counted for purposes of promotion and pay and toward the total six year military Sergeant Devlin also pointed out that young men who enlist now but go after the holidays, have the same opportunity to choose a job training course as those who leave immediately after they enlist.
