Steering body hears all views on high school referendum

By JANICE ADLER

A special meeting of the PTA steering committee was held last Wednesday to decide whether it should take a stand on the proposed Regional high school expansion referendum which would have all Mountainside students attend Jonathan Dayton Regional, Springfield, instead of Gov. Livingston, Berkeley Heights. Most of the speakers from the floor voiced strong opposition. At the end of the evening, the committee took no definite stand.

Mrs. William Gutman, who presided at the meeting, said that its purpose was to hear all opinions on the referendum and then the steering committee can be heard as "voicing one opinion regarding the high school situation so that, instead of having factions, the community can unite."

Mrs. George Crain outlined what has happened during the past three years since the steering committee was formed. In late spring of 1967 it was announced that Mountainside freshmen would go to Jonathan Dayton because the number of students had increased in Gov. Livingston. They would then finish the next three at Gov. Livingston.

In spring of 1968 a Regional referendum was brought up which would have provided for an addition to Gov. Livingston. This was defeated. The steering committee then sent two petitions to the Regional Board of Education stating that they would like to see the referendum submitted again. According to Mrs. Crain, no answer was forthcoming.

The board last summer announced that Jonathan Dayton would be Mountainside's home high school under the new expansion plan. In the meanwhile, said Mrs. Crain, steering committee representatives have been sent to board meetings.

Now, said Mrs. Crain, the steering committee "must decide if it should continue and what it must do." It cannot solicit funds and cannot express an "opinion other than through the mails" as a private organization. A stand should be taken either to support or oppose the proposed referendum, Mrs. Crain concluded. "Our position on support or opposition can only be based on what is best for our children."

Time to register for kindergarten

The Mountainside PTA summer roundup for the 1970-71 kindergarten will take place in all three schools from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. on April 13, 14 and 15. The following schedule will be maintained: Beechwood, Monday, April 13; Echobrook, Tuesday, April 14; Deerfield, Wednesday, April 15.

Parents may register at the school which is most convenient to them. To be eligible to enter kindergarten in September, a child must be five years old on or before December 1, 1970. The child's birth certificate must be presented at the time of registration. Anyone who has any further questions may call Mrs. Paul Smith at 232-0786.

Board opposes state money for private schools

The Regional High School District Board of Education last week voted its opposition to proposals in the State Legislature to provide direct state aid to private schools. The resolution was passed by a vote of six to three at the board meeting at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

It was proposed by Edwin Little of Berkeley Heights. The resolution stressed the high cost of public school education, as well as the need for additional funds for the public schools, and said that school costs placed a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

Voting in favor of the resolution along with Little, were Dr. Frederick Hagedorn of Berkeley Heights, Dr. Benjamin Josephson and Mrs. Natalie Waldt of Springfield, Dr. Minor C. K. Jones of Mountainside and Manuel S. Dios of Clark, board president. Opposed were John E. Conlin of Garwood, John J. Cullin of Clark and Charles Scheuermann of Kentlworth.

The board also acknowledged receipt of two letters and referred them to committee for whatever action is adopted. An official of the N.J. Carpenters' Welfare Fund complained about students trespassing on the fund's parking lot at 130 Mountain ave., Springfield, across the street from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The letter said that students use the parking lot for unauthorized parking and for the loading and discharge of passengers. It added that students congregate on the property and litter the area.

The other letter came from Mrs. Eleanor Hecht of Mountainside. She asked that the board hold orientation programs for Mountainside freshmen, now at Dayton, who will attend Gov. Livingston as sophomores next year. She said that they would benefit from such a program as much as the present eighth graders who will undergo orientation before entering high school.

Pressures on parents topic at PTA meeting next week

The Gov. Livingston Regional High School PTA will meet at 8 p.m. on April 9. The program at the high school will be entitled "The Pressures on Parents." It will feature Dr. William G. Hill of Summit, director of the Office of Specialized Agency Services, Family Service Association of America, New York.

The Family Service Association is a federation of some 340 voluntary, non-profit family agencies in Canada and the U.S. It is the national spokesman on matters concerned with strengthening family life as well as those conditions which adversely affect family life.

Dr. Hill formerly worked in child guidance clinics, adult mental health clinics and hospitals, and directed a family service program whose centers were located in the U.S. as well as in Europe and other parts of the world. He has taught at a variety of professional institutes and workshops throughout the U.S. and Canada and has consulted with family service agencies and mental health clinics in places from Helena, Mont., to Baltimore. He is also a visiting lecturer at several universities, with special ties to Fordham University.

Magazines which have featured Dr. Hill's works include the Journal of Mental Hygiene, American Journal of Psychiatry, Journal of Social Work, Social Work Practice, Armed Forces Medical Journal and U. S. Government Printing office publications. His articles were concerned with a variety of mental health matters, but particularly with family and family problems.

Dr. Hill said: "I have been concerned for some time with what goes on in families that make it possible for family life to enhance one's being rather than cause distress, distrust, and unhappiness. I am of the opinion that the essence of the matter rests on how well families solve their problems."

"Therefore, the kinds of pressures viewed and felt by parents and their children are of utmost concern to me. In order for us to get at these pressures, I would need to talk about family life and the burdens parents have these days in just trying to keep up with their kids, saying nothing about trying to be ahead of them."

All parents are invited to attend this meeting, according to a PTA spokesman.

Citizens organize to oppose transfer

Mrs. John Knodel has been named chairman of the newly formed Citizens' Committee to oppose having Mountainside high school students attend Jonathan Dayton Regional, Springfield, Fred Wilhelm, former Mountainside mayor, and Robert Jaffe were named co-chairmen. The executive committee includes Alan Rockmore, Thomas Loftus, John Palmer, Eugene Kelly and Joseph Stypa.

The committee's purpose is "to create within the community an organization dedicated solely to the premise that Gov. Livingston Regional High School will remain the home high school for all Mountainside students and that said committee will adopt and conduct a program consistent with this purpose and as promised in five referendums," said Wilhelm.

Patrolmen pick up two for hitch-hiking

Mountainside Patrolmen William Alder and Herman W. Hafeken stopped Monday afternoon at the intersection of Rt. 22 and Lawrence avenue westbound to talk to two young girls who were hitch-hiking. The girls said they were from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and gave their age as 16. They told patrolmen Alder and Hafeken that they were coming from New York and were trying to hitch their way home. They were then brought to police headquarters.

A check with the Sault Ste. Marie police department showed the girls to be runaways. Detective Lt. James Herrick made out juvenile complaints. The girls were taken to the juvenile detention home in Berkeley Heights, where they are waiting for someone from Michigan to come and take them home.

Dates announced for local hearings

By ABNER GOLD
The Regional High School District Board of Education formally voted Tuesday night to present its $6,975,000 expansion bond proposal to the voters of the six member communities in a referendum on May 12.

The board, meeting at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, set up a schedule of meetings at all four Regional high schools to outline details of the expansion plan.

The meetings will be held April 29 at Dayton, May 5 at A. L. Johnson Regional, Clark; May 6 at Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights, and May 7 at David Brearley Regional, Kentlworth. The next regular board meeting will be April 28 at the Deerfield School, Mountainside.

Two resolutions authorizing the referendum were passed Tuesday by votes of six to two, with Dr. Minor C. K. Jones of Mountainside and John Conlin of Garwood opposed. Dr. Jones issued a strong statement objecting to the referendum as "unwise, unjust, excessively costly and illegal."

During the public discussion period following the votes, most of the speakers were from Mountainside, as they have been for the past several months. This time however, Mountainside parents expressed views on both sides of the issue. Most Mountainside speakers previously had been opposed.

THE BOARD'S PROPOSAL will spend the nearly $7 million as follows, with the total for each school including square footage, construction costs and alterations (at $31 per square foot), furniture, repair, renovation and updating and pro rata shares of architect's fees, contingency funds and legal fees and other bonding costs:

Total cost for Dayton, oldest of the four high schools and most in need of renovation, with 61,000 square feet of construction, will be $2,417,124.

For Gov. Livingston, 28,000 square feet, $1,094,673; for Brearley, 25,000 square feet, $973,975; for Johnson, 63,000 square feet, $2,479,228.

Improvements and additions planned at Dayton include an auxiliary gymnasium and locker rooms, 11 general purpose classrooms, instrumental music room, vocal music room, instructional media center-library, five science laboratories, two art rooms, typing rooms, expanded metal shop, expanded cafeteria and kitchen facilities, expanded guidance and new health service facilities, new field house in agriculture building, public toilets and added district-wide storage facilities.

Scheduled for Gov. Livingston are four general purpose classrooms, instrumental music room, two art rooms, new instructional media center-library, conference room, expanded guidance facilities, departmental office and student project room, student store, two new science labs in present library and additional toilet facilities.

Comparable facilities will also be added at (Continued on page 5)

Anti-war spokesman states peacetime draft un-American

Students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School recently joined members of the Springfield Committee to End the War in Vietnam. Now in distributing a leaflet opposing a peacetime draft.

According to the leaflet, "Nothing now so poisons academic life in America as the draft. To draft above 400,000 men each year, we keep about 5 million young men between the ages of 19 and 26 continuously on tenter-hooks.

"And don't think the young women aren't there, too! Our entire younger generation, students, and even more nonstudents, is kept in a continuous state of insecurity and uncertainty, unable to plan their lives."

Dr. George Wald, professor of biology at Harvard and a 1967 Nobel Prize winner, is the author of the leaflet. He also is a sponsor of the National Council to Repeal the Draft.

He stated: "Almost all the students I teach were born since World War II. Just after World War II, a series of new and abnormal procedures came into American life. We regarded them at the time as temporary aberrations. We thought we would get back to normal American life some day.

"But those procedures have stayed with us now for more than 20 years, and those students of mine have never known anything else. They think these things are normal."

"A peacetime draft is the most un-American thing I know. All the time I was growing up I was told about oppressive Central European countries and Russia, where young men were forced into the army, and I was told what they did about it. They chopped off a finger, or shot off a couple of toes; or better still, if they could manage it, they came to this country. And we understood that, and sympathized, and were glad to welcome them."

Dr. Wald continued, "There are choices in getting rid of the draft. I think that when we get rid of the draft, we must also cut back on the size of the armed forces. It seems to me that in peacetime a total of one million men is surely enough.

"I don't think we can live with the present military establishment and its $80-100-billion-a-year budget and keep America anything like we have known it in the past. It is corrupting the life of the whole country. It is buying up everything in sight: industries, banks, investors, universities, and largely it seems also to have bought up the labor unions."

Dr. Ward concluded, "I say that the Vietnam war is just an immediate incident, because so long as we keep that big an army, it will always find things to do. If the Vietnam war stopped tomorrow, with that big a military establishment, the chances are that we would be in another such adventure abroad or at home before you knew it."

The local committee urged residents to write Rep. Florence P. Dwyer and Senators Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams to express their views while Congressional hearings were being held to "reform the draft," a spokesman said.

LaSota gives tips on how to practice golf shots indoors

Lack of golf practice facilities can be overcome with a little ingenuity, says Adam P. LaSota, former golf coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

Writing in the current issue of The Coaching Clinic magazine, LaSota, whose teams scored 160 victories during his 14 years as coach, notes that the "lack of facilities is all too often the fault of the coach, because he thinks in terms of golf courses and driveway ranges."

According to LaSota, little money is needed to bring golf practice indoors, both for a golf team and for the individual player.

For indoor practice, he said, the team uses gym mats to protect the floors and the new triangular plastic tees when it uses woods or irons. Each member of the team shoots at gym mats hung from a wall. To develop accuracy, circles are drawn on the mats.

The individual golfer can use another LaSota innovation—putting rugs. "Through the use of rugs, a golfer can develop putting strokes, learn to gauge distances, and differentiate speeds. Rugs with thin piles will be fast while those with high piles will be much slower."

LaSota is coordinator of diversified occupations at the regional high schools. During his tenure as golf coach, his teams twice won the Watchung Conference championship, as well as the Central New Jersey Sectional title and the New Jersey Scholastic Athletic Association championship.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

Appropriations of current funds for capital purposes in the proposed 1971 New Jersey state government budget continue to lag behind $100 million levels reached in the late 1960's.

This is shown in the annual analysis of the Governor's budget recommendations for fiscal year 1970-71 prepared by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. The $73.5 million proposed for capital projects is only 5 percent of the total $1.6 billion budget recommended for the new fiscal year which begins July 1. Capital appropriations in the current year total $63.6 million. In 1967 and 1968, the state's capital appropriations from current funds topped $100 million per year.

While New Jersey voters in the past two years approved massive bond issues totaling $1 1/4 billion to finance transportation, education, housing and water conservation projects with borrowed funds, a higher level of annual current financing of capital needs could reduce periodic demands for "crisis" bond issues to meet the State's future requirements, observes the Taxpayers Association.

NJTA in its budget analysis points out that thus far the State has failed to gear its capital planning machinery into the budget process. It declared:

"For seven years, the Interdepartmental Committee for State Planning has annually prepared a six-year capital improvement program and a proposed annual capital budget setting forth project priorities for each major department. It has become a significant 250-page document with much valuable information. It has not yet become standard practice for the report to be completed in time for the Governor to submit it to the Legislature with the annual budget and for the Joint Appropriations Committee to have it for study and reference during budget deliberations."

Progress seen by utilities in battle against air pollution

"Significant progress" in the fight against air pollution has been announced by Jersey Central Power & Light Company and New Jersey Power & Light Company, Morristown, as a result of recent major changes at their electric generating stations.

Two of the utilities' three conventional generating stations have been converted so that instead of burning coal they now use low-sulfur oil or natural gas as fuels. Thus far the change-over from coal to oil or natural gas has been completed at the 356,000-kilowatt Sayreville Generating Station and the 112,000-kilowatt E. J. Werner Generating Station in South Amboy. Conversion is under way and is scheduled for completion early in 1971 at the 128,000 kilowatt Gilbert Generating Station in Holland Township.

Ralph F. Bovier, JCPL-NJPL president, said that in January of 1966, total production from the companies' New Jersey stations was 330,935,000-kilowatt hours and that in January, 1970, production from all their New Jersey stations was 677,100,000-kilowatt hours. "The 1970 emission of fly ash was reduced by about 60 percent and sulfur dioxide by more than 86 percent over the 1966 emissions on a per kilowatt hour basis," he said.

"When the Gilbert Station project is completed," Bovier said, "the emission of fly ash from these stations will be reduced to zero and the emission of sulfur dioxide on a per kilowatt-hour basis will be further reduced from 14 percent to four percent of the 1966 values."

Pointing to the cost of the current program, Bovier said the utilities have spent approximately $5,000,000, including $3,160,000 at Sayreville; $346,000 at Werner Station, and $1,474,000 at the Gilbert Station. The Werner conversion, he explained, had been virtually completed earlier and the recent expenditure was primarily for the installation of additional oil storage facilities.

The $5,000,000, the utility president explained, was in addition to the more than $2,141,000 spent by the companies earlier for electrostatic precipitators to control the emission of fly ash and for ash collecting and disposal equipment at all stations.

JCPL-NJPL, which are subsidiaries of General Public Utilities Corporation, and which serve 43 percent of the land area of New Jersey, had a total generating capacity of about 750,000 kilowatts in 1966. The companies now have a generating capacity of more than 1,290,000 kilowatts within the state. However, Bovier said, "While our capacity has increased substantially to meet the growing use by our customers, improved technology, new equipment, and more recently the conversion to utilize fuels with lower sulfur content, have enabled us to sharply curtail the emission of air pollutants from our generating stations."

In addition to the Sayreville, Werner and Gilbert Stations, JCPL-NJPL own the new Oyster Creek Nuclear Generating Station in Lacey Township, which entered production last December, and which emits no fly ash or sulfur dioxide. With Public Service Electric & Gas Company, they are joint owners of the Yards Creek Pumped Storage Station in Blirstown. This facility, too, is free of pollution.

Who is this lady?

- A. Little Orphan Annie.
- B. The Jolly Green Giantess.
- C. The Statue of Liberty.
- D. Mae West.

If you picked anything other than C, well, you're in a whole lot of trouble.

Sure, you probably picked the Statue of Liberty. Everybody knows who she is and what she stands for.

Or do they?

It's amazing how many of us take this proud lady of the New York Harbor for granted.

We should know that her proper name is "Liberty Enlightening the World." That she symbolizes the triumph of freedom over tyranny. That she is a declaration of our independence.

Of course, we need more than statues to remind us of our freedom. We need action, by each and every one of us.

And that's where U. S. Savings Bonds come in. They help preserve that thing called freedom.

They help make this country of ours economically stronger to tackle some of the problems that face us.

And, buying Savings Bonds can be easy and automatic. All you have to do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. And then you can sit back and forget 'em while the money piles up.

So think about the freedoms we enjoy. And think about U. S. Savings Bonds as a way to keep us free.

As for Miss Liberty, well, when you're in New York go up and see her sometime.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

When pupils leave, classes go on at Regional

Robert Nagel, a science teacher at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, also teaches bridge in the Union County Regional Adult School.

The atmosphere in the beginning bridge class is a "homey" one...the card tables are set up in the home economics food preparation room, complete with stoves, sinks and refrigerators.

"What's your plan of attack?" Nagel asked one player in a foursome. He answered the question himself. "The first thing you do is look at your hand and say, there's no chance for me to make it. But what you want is to get trump out of it...you're still in trouble, but you're on your way."

THE DULL THUMP of tennis balls being whacked across the nets in the gym failed to drown out the continuous patter of instruction by Frank Leite in his intermediate tennis class.

"Palm down flat...palm stays flat...you swung late...let it bounce...good...now try the backhand..."

In the swing of things in this particular class were about a dozen adults who spend one evening a week with their racquets and visions of serving their opponent a well-placed ace.

GOV. LIVINGSTON Regional doesn't close its doors for the day when the youngsters go home. Over 425 persons are enrolled in the spring term of the Regional Board of Education-sponsored adult school program at the school.

According to Harry E. Linkin, the district's director of adult education, approximately 1,000 adults have taken advantage of the program at the school during the 1969-70 school year.

"We attempt to provide for the vocational, avocational and recreational needs of the community," he said during a tour of the school one evening.

It was a Tuesday night and the sights and sounds of the adult school program were seen and heard...

The sound of typewriters were heard in the beginning and refresher typing courses...few sounds could be heard in the oil painting workshop where Stanley Stark was watching over his group of artists at work...and, if one listened carefully enough, the sounds of the swimming class could be heard at a swim club on Springfield avenue.

There's modern math for parents on Wednesday evenings at the Columbia School which is co-sponsored by the Berkeley Heights PTA Area Council...beginning and intermediate guitar...piano lessons...beginning and advanced social dancing...golf...driver education which includes classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction...and a course designed to take off those excess pounds...

MORE "WEIGHTY" subjects may be found in the off-campus college credit courses in the Adult School, offered by Newark State College, Jersey City State College, Union College and Rutgers University.

"There's something for everybody here, no matter what their interest might be. If a particular course isn't offered in this building, there's a good chance it is available at one of the other three regional high schools or the Lincoln School in Garwood," Linkin said. "It's all part of the Board of Education's program for continuing education."

Linkin, who directs the overall adult education program in the Regional District, works closely with Joseph Martino, his director at the Gov. Livingston building.

It was after 10 p.m. and the lights were still on at the high school.

Lack of depth may hamper track team; golf hopes depend on talented juniors

BY BILL LOVETT

Even though the weather may have other plans, the track season is due to start at Gov. Livingston. A lack of depth, always a problem in this sport, may hinder the Highlander squad and pose a major problem to second-year coach Richard Lawrence. How he can overcome this will likely be the key factor in determining Regional's final record.

In 1969, the track team finished with a disappointing 4-9 mark—but this was not an accurate measure of ability. Commented Lawrence, "Last season, we felt we had a better team than the year before, but wound up with exactly the opposite record. A lot depends on the level of competition." This same situation holds true for this season with Westfield looming as the Watchung Conference favorite.

In almost every event Gov. Livingston has one returnee but -- unfortunately -- in many cases the level of excellence then falls off sharply. An exception is the distance events, dominated by runners from the cross country team. "We expect some help from the sophomores," but Lawrence emphasized it was too early to tell who or in what event.

In the sprints, the Highlanders have a fantastic one-two punch in Jack O'Dowd and Eric Jones. O'Dowd was the most consistent runner last season, always finishing first or second. Jones, a junior, has a great chance to break the school record of 10 seconds in the 100.

Steve Paine is a dependable runner in the 440, the most difficult race to run in track. After him however, no other performer has shown any consistency. The mile, half-mile and two-mile races figure to be Gov. Livingston's main strength. John Lee will run the two-mile, and could lower his school record. Another senior, Guy Groves, again will run either the mile or half-mile as he has done for two years. Juniors Jim Fairbanks, Greg Bataille and Mark Zillis all performed well in cross country and will be used where needed.

Tom Roll will be back for his third year at shotput while in the discus and javelin Dave Ruch, Bob Zetterstrom and Tom Fraolla show promise. Mike McBain is the only returnee in the high jump. In the long jump, Kevin Cocoran returns, as does Jeff Burdette, who may or may not jump. Rodger Pitzer in the pole vault may break the school record he set last season. Doug Clendenin, who saw limited action in 1969, is also back.

In training for track, the opening two weeks consist of "over-distance" work and general conditioning for runners. Then, Lawrence explains, "We try to teach the boys 'pace' and break them down into specific distances." The same holds true for the throwing and jumping events, except that form and technique are stressed as well as weight lifting and isometrics.

With meets scored on a 5-3-1 basis for first, second and third place finishes, depth is necessary to win. If Gov. Livingston is to break the .500 barrier, it will need the second and third performer, a problem that Lawrence must solve before Regional's first meet April 7 against Watchung Hills.

County parks used by school systems for sports facilities

Union County Park Commission athletic facilities are used by students of at least 11 school systems, a Park Commission spokesman declared this week. His statement was prompted by a discussion last week at the meeting of the Regional High School District Board of Education.

Dependence of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, on park land for virtually all outdoor sports activities was questioned last week on the basis of long-range planning. The questions were raised by Mountainside parents opposed to the board's expansion plan, which would send all Mountainside students to Dayton rather than to Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights.

Besides Dayton, Regional high schools using park facilities are Gov. Livingston and David Brearley, Kenilworth. The spokesman said that no other school depends as heavily on parkland as does Dayton.

Others using park sports fields include Rahway Junior High School, Kawameeh Junior High School of Union, Plainfield High School, Hillside High School, Thomas Jefferson High School and at least two junior highs in Elizabeth, Roselle High School, Roselle Park High School, Roselle Catholic High School and Cranford High School.

Regional students to spend summer studying in Europe

Union County Regional High School students will be among those jetting to Europe this summer to attend classes at campuses in Germany and France, announced August J. Caprio, foreign languages coordinator of Union County Regional High School District No. 1.

Mrs. Barbara Maria Oberding, German teacher at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, has been named by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) to chaperone eight students, including seven from the Regional District, on a six-week study tour beginning the latter part of June. They will attend classes at Schiller College near Stuttgart, Germany.

Funeral rites held for E. K. Harbaugh, former local official

Funeral services were held Monday for E. Kerritt Harbaugh, 55, of 308 Partridge Run, Mountainside, who died Saturday in Overlook Hospital, Summit, after a long illness. The New York attorney was a member of the Mountainside Board of Adjustment from 1967 to 1969.

Another Gov. Livingston teacher, Mrs. Sylvia Lewis, a resident of Springfield, will accompany another AIFS group to the College Internationale in Cannes, France, for their six-week study tour.

Born in Gettysburg, Pa., Mr. Harbaugh lived in Westfield for seven years before moving to Mountainside 11 years ago.

Area students planning to go to France include Francine Ship and Rochelle Fosman of Springfield and Karen Heller, Ruth Gutman, Nancy Parent, Emily Crom, Susan Layton, Karen Kaplan and Andrea Katz of Mountainside.

He had a bachelor's degree from Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and a law degree from Yale Law School.

Both groups will spend time in London and Paris before going to their respective universities. At the conclusion of their academic session, they will visit Rome via Florence and Milan before returning to this country.

Mr. Harbaugh was a partner in the Sage, Gray, Todd and Sim law firm, New York. He specialized in corporate law, and was with the firm for 30 years.

The college students going to Germany will spend four weeks at Schiller College, overlooking the Neckar River. During their four weeks at Schiller, Mrs. Oberding's group will be living in a Renaissance castle which has been completely remodeled and adapted to modern living. The college was founded especially to teach German to foreign students and boasts a distinguished faculty of German scholars, according to Caprio.

He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the Army as an artillery captain. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Catherine Winters Harbaugh; two sons, Jeffrey A. and James K. at home; a daughter, Miss Jane E., also at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert R. Harbaugh of Gettysburg; a brother, Raymond E. of Norristown, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Letha H. Hartman of Gettysburg.

The College Internationale in Cannes is in the heart of the French Riviera. The college was founded in 1932 as the International Summer School of the neighboring University of Nice. It has since become a year-round school for foreigners, and attracts students from all over the world. During their stay in Cannes, Mrs. Lewis and her students will have an opportunity to make a weekend excursion to Switzerland.

Services were held at the Community Presbyterian Church.

AIFS, an association of teachers and students, was founded to meet the growing demand for serious programs combining study and travel to Europe at the lowest practical cost. Expenses are paid by the individual student, Caprio said.

Preparing your tax return

LAST OF A SERIES

While the new Tax Reform Act makes substantial changes in the treatment of capital gains and losses—which will affect taxpayers' returns filed in 1971 and thereafter—the rules with respect to capital gains or losses experienced last year are the same as they have been previously, according to Arthur L. Breakstone, president of the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants.

This means that a person filing the federal income tax return due this coming April 15 need include in his income only 50 percent of any net profit he may have realized from the sale of stock he owned longer than six months. And the tax ceiling of 25 percent, exclusive of the 10 percent surcharge, on long-term capital gains remains in effect for 1969 returns.

Long-term capital gains are defined as those on investments held for more than six months before selling. Short-term gains are those made on investments held six months or less, and the whole of these gains must be counted as regular income, subject to whatever tax bracket the person happens to be in.

"Don't count the day of purchase but include the day of sale in determining whether you have a long-term gain," Breakstone cautioned.

"For example, if a stock was bought on April 28, 1969, and sold Oct. 29, the profit is a long-term gain. But if the selling date was Oct. 28, it is short-term because the stock wasn't held for the required more than six calendar months."

If a person's stock transactions resulted in loss for the year, he can deduct up to $1,000 of the loss from regular income on his 1969 return, and can carry over any loss above that figure at the rate of $1,000 each year thereafter until the full loss is deducted.

"Changes concerning treatment of capital gains and losses, specified in the new Tax Reform Act, will begin to affect people's tax returns for income received in 1970—what is, the returns to be filed a year from now," Breakstone said.

One change is that the 25 percent tax ceiling on long-term gains will apply to the first $50,000 of such gains ($25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return) but the rate on gains above such amount will rise to 29.5 percent, exclusive of the surcharge, for gains realized in 1970; 32.5 percent in 1971; and thereafter one-half of total long-term gains

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo

The most recent available statistics indicate that New Jersey residents paid about $1.70 in federal taxes for each dollar received in the form of aid from Washington. Given this state's relative affluence, it is too much to expect a dollar-for-dollar return on tax money going to Washington. However, it is not too much to ask that the drastic imbalance be reduced.

It has long been my contention that a more vigorous pursuit of federal grants on the part of New Jersey might help us improve on our sorry rank of last among the 50 states in the amount of aid received per tax dollar paid out.

ability of federal aid. At the same time, he would be expected to work closely with those state agencies that would be required to provide assistance on a matching basis, wherever feasible.

The purpose of creating this office would be to guarantee that New Jersey receive a more equitable share of state aid. The number and complexity of federal programs offering grants in aid has grown so rapidly that only a full-time professional can put us in a position to receive all the aid to which the state is entitled.

It is obvious that the catch-as-catch-can methods of the past have contributed significantly to New Jersey's last-place position. We can no longer afford the luxury of trusting to luck and political providence. We must play an active role in bringing federal dollars into our state. Each dollar we get from Washington can mean another dollar in the pocket of New Jersey's taxpayers.

The little man—the individual at the end of the line—is too often the forgotten element in the governmental equation. I am convinced that adoption of S-123 would effectively represent his financial interests. The Department of the Treasury believes that the creation of this office would net New Jersey federal aid dollars far in excess of the costs involved and create a surplus.

Accordingly, I have introduced legislation, Senate Bill No. 123, in the current session calling for the creation of the Office of Federal-State Assistance in the Division of Budget and Accounting in the Department of the Treasury.

The person selected to head this important new office would of necessity be someone who is familiar with the ways of Washington—a person whose background and experience would qualify him to seek out and find funded federal programs in which the State of New Jersey and/or its counties and municipalities might be eligible to participate.

More specifically, he would be charged with the responsibility for completely familiarizing himself and his staff with any and all federal programs that provide grants-in-aid to state, county and municipal governments, as well as school districts. His duties would also include the job of compiling up-to-date analyses of all such programs and of appraising the eligible governmental entities of the available to be counted as regular income. This provision, of course, affects only people at comparatively high income levels.

There will also be some important changes with respect to capital losses. In the case of long-term losses realized in 1970 and later years, two dollars of losses are required for each one dollar of deduction. Therefore, in order to deduct the full $1,000 allowable, it would be necessary to have a long-term capital loss of at least $2,000. For married couples filing separate returns, instead of each person being able to take $1,000 of realized loss as a deduction, the $1,000 will be split, with each allowed a deduction of only $500.

Fight on drugs gets under way within borough

At the first meeting of the Mountainside Drug Study Committee, it was decided that the possibilities of an accelerated drug problem in Mountainside were great enough to start a preventive program immediately.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, chairman, was authorized to select a small working committee to prepare a list of community leaders, develop a series of training seminars for possible use with them, investigate the consultant service available for such a program and suggest a possible community-wide plan for the distribution of instructional materials on the prevention of drug problems and the detection of drug users.

The group, a sub-committee of the Mayor's Advisory Council on Youth (MACY), met last Wednesday. Among those attending were Mayor Thomas J. Ricciardi; Dr. Hanigan, superintendent of schools; Borough Councilman Robert Ruggiero, MACY chairman; Detective Sergeant Jerome M. Rice; borough councilman John Hechtle; Thomas Spina, Board of Education member; Father Raymond Aumack, Our Lady of Lourdes Church; the Rev. Elmer Talcott, Community Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Donald Merachnuk, Regional High School District assistant superintendent.

Status reports on the drug situation were given by Ruggiero, Sgt. Rice, Dr. Merachnuk, Herbert Brown, principal, and Alston Collins, eighth grade science teacher at Deerfield Middle School.

A second meeting will be held as soon as the working committee is ready to report.

Steering

new feature in the referendum is "a change in functional capacity and an enlarged library," said Dr. Jones.

Discussing the last referendum, one speaker said that Mountainside is in the minority. "We only lost the last referendum because I did not sufficiently prepare Berkeley Heights," Dr. Jones said. Parent replied that now with taxes so high, the general trend probably would be to say "no" and "any referendum of significant size has a tough ride."

Mrs. Antoinette Kaplan questioned that if all the schools are equal and Mountainside needs a home base, why is there such a strenuous objection to Jonathan Dayton?

Again, size was the main issue. Dr. Jones reiterated that Dayton only has 11 acres whereas Gov. Livingston has 40 acres. Besides, he said, Dayton has no place to park. Dayton then could have twice the staff and twice the amount of students now there, he charged. "I feel that a rural site is much better."

Dr. Jones said that Springfield has taken steps to break up the Regional district and his proposition will eventually pass. He expressed concern over the possible dissolution and said that legislation has been introduced in Trenton to permit a break-up of the Regional district. Mountainside and Springfield will continue to grow. When this happens there will not be enough room on Jonathan Dayton for both towns.

Mrs. Kaplan then brought up the issue of parking facilities and bus transportation. "We pay for transportation whether the students drive or take the bus. College freshmen cannot have cars in many schools, so why should high school students?" she asked.

Dr. Jones replied that those who work need cars and "driving is a requirement of modern life." The only school that has no parking problem is Gov. Livingston, he added.

Another speaker asked why there suddenly is not enough room at Gov. Livingston for Mountainside students. All the schools are jammed, replied Dr. Jones, and "educational standards have improved so they want to reduce class size."

According to Dr. Jones, a school was proposed some years ago in Mountainside, but the board could not get the space and had to go to Berkeley Heights.

It was asked what would happen if the referendum does not go through. Dr. Jones stated, "I don't know." He mentioned that one board member had suggested that vocational students go to Union County Vocational School. He added, "I am bitterly opposed to this."

Mrs. John Hechtle mentioned that a Clark representative had proposed double sessions if the referendum fails. According to Dr. Jones, "There is no reason to go to double sessions."

Mrs. John Knodel said her newly formed Citizens' Committee will fight to keep Mountainside in its home high school—Berkeley Heights, and that this home high school was given to Mountainside ten years ago.

"The site of Gov. Livingston was selected because it is close to Mountainside. It was meant to serve two towns—Berkeley Heights and Mountainside." She added that 13 years ago the students were "put out of Jonathan Dayton, sent to Clark and then to Gov. Livingston because of crowding. After seven years they are doing the same thing."

"I do not feel that the answer is to renovate Jonathan Dayton and put 500 more Mountainside students there when there is so much more land in our own home high school. We have decided to fight with whatever means available to retain our home high school. We want this settled once and for all."

Mrs. Hechtle gave another side of the picture. She stated that she is not sure that anyone wanted the referendum making Gov. Livingston the home high school two years ago, because four out of six towns defeated it.

She said, "Gov. Livingston is closer to Mountainside than to the populated area in Berkeley Heights, but it still is in Berkeley Heights. In the last referendum there was a lack of support from Berkeley Heights. The Berkeley Heights Regional representatives did not support us. The Berkeley Heights-Springfield League of Women Voters ended the idea to make all equal in size."

"Later, Berkeley Heights asked that room be made for their children now in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. So Mountainside is not wanted and will only give token support."

She mentioned that Springfield has shown it will defeat the referendum to send Mountainside students to Gov. Livingston.

Mrs. Hechtle concluded, "Is pride the only reason we want Gov. Livingston as our home high school? Mountainside will always be at the short end of the stick because we have no high school within our borders. Our main concern should be education. We should go to Springfield where we are wanted."

Dr. Jones conceded that the Springfield League of Women Voters would like Mountainside Youngsters in Jonathan Dayton. "I am sure Berkeley Heights would like its own high school when the Regional District breaks down. However, we should look out for Mountainside and not other towns," he concluded.

Jane R. Gordon of 878 Hillside ave., Mountainside, is among 14 Union College, Cranford, students who are serving in the role of "Mousketeers."

"Mousketeers" are volunteers who are seeking to send a mouse to college. Sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the "mousketeers" are seeking contributions for 27 cents. Each 27 cents contributed buys a Swiss Webster mouse for a college cancer research lab. About 100,000 mice are needed by scientists each year to help save lives from cancer.

Regional

the other two high schools.

DR. JONES, board member from Mountainside, presented a number of reasons for his opposition to the board's plan. He predicted a substantial decline in enrollment over the next eight years and urged the board to "put up with" overcrowded conditions until the reduction begins.

He also contrasted traffic and parking conditions at Dayton and at Gov. Livingston, where all Mountainside sophomores, Juniors and seniors now are enrolled. Declaring that Gov. Livingston has much more land available for athletics and other purposes, Dr. Jones added that the board in the 1950s had said the Dayton building was as large as it should ever be.

A different viewpoint was expressed by Mrs. John Hechtle, also of Mountainside, who called on the voters to approve the referendum. Mrs. Hechtle read a statement she had presented last week at a meeting of the Mountainside PTA steering committee. She noted that she had worked equally hard two years ago for another referendum, which would have kept all Mountainside students at Gov. Livingston, rather than the present plan to send them all to Dayton.

"That referendum was defeated, with strong opposition in Springfield and a comparatively light turnout in Berkeley Heights. Much of the Springfield opposition stemmed from a desire to equalize the size of all four schools, as much as possible, in order to equalize educational opportunity. Equalization is a major factor in the current plan."

MRS. HECHTLE declared: "Now we must decide, what is the struggle all about? Do we, because of pride, want to insist that Gov. Livingston is the only school we will accept for our students, and because of lack of support from Berkeley Heights and known opposition from Springfield submit our children to another defeat and more delays and leave our children subject to more transfers to other schools and possible double sessions? Can we, in all good conscience, be so insistent?"

"We must decide that the issue here is not what we have been promised years ago, because the board will be the first to say that one board cannot commit another, nor can the issue be hurt pride because of Mountainside's treatment by the Regional Board. Unfortunately, we must remember that we will always be at the short end of the stick, since we have no high school within our boundaries."

"The only issue here is education. Dayton has an excellent administration and guidance department, with a teaching staff comparable to Gov. Livingston's. Our last two classes of freshmen at Dayton have proven that our children enjoy their stay there."

"This, more, I would ask you all to examine yourselves — what are your motives, if you are concerned with education and as little disruption in your child's education as possible."

able, and if you want to give him the chance to have a home high school to attend where he will be welcome, then there can be only one way to vote — with Springfield's support to pass the proposed Regional referendum."

OTHER SPEAKERS from Mountainside generally spoke against the board's proposal. Mrs. John Palmer said that only a small portion of the people of the borough agree with Mrs. Hechtle. She questioned what she regarded as a lack of parking space at Dayton.

Mrs. Frank Schott of Mountainside said that Gov. Livingston would be too large just for Berkeley Heights and that the board could save money by keeping Mountainside students there.

Manuel Dios of Clark, board president, and Dr. Fred Hagedorn, member from Berkeley Heights, commented that the school is badly overcrowded now, that temporary classrooms now in use would have to be demolished and that a sharp rise is anticipated in Berkeley Heights student population.

Dr. Hagedorn said that once the expansion is completed, Gov. Livingston will meet the same standards as at Dayton, and the other two schools.

William Doerfler of Springfield questioned the $7 million price tag on the expansion plan. He said, "We should knock some of the frills off and get back to education as it should be."

Mrs. Robert Labor, president of the Berkeley Heights League of Women Voters, spoke to clarify her group's position on the subject. She said the LWV had supported the proposed pupil distribution plan, for equalization of school size.

She added that the League had no stand as yet on the board's referendum, but that it planned to reach a decision in the near future, and then to take a stand.

Mrs. Leonard Harris, president of the Dayton PTA, told the Mountainside parents, "We do need you and we do want you and we welcome you. We are a Regional District. The students have been very happy with each other here."

Responding to a question on teaching costs, Dios, as board president, said, "Whether the referendum is approved or the schools are forced into some sort of split sessions, we will need the same number of teachers for the same number of students."

Robert Jaffe of Mountainside, an attorney, provided a court stenographer to take verbatim minutes of the proceedings, apparently with the thought of some sort of court action against the referendum. He and Irvine B. Johnstone Jr., board attorney, engaged in several lengthy exchanges which seemed to be setting the framework for whatever court action which might follow.

Both Dr. Hagedorn and Edwin Little, his fellow board member from Berkeley Heights, stressed that those who feel Berkeley Heights voters do not want Mountainside students at Gov. Livingston are mistaken. Dr. Hagedorn said, "I regret the heartache this decision is causing in Mountainside."

Funeral for polluted Hudson River

Stevens students plan 'Earth Day' memorial

The Hudson River will be pronounced "dead of pollution" and buried in a mock funeral service by students of Stevens Institute of Technology on April 22 as part of their observance of "Earth Day," a national collegiate effort to focus attention on environmental problems.

The students, whose college is on the banks of the Hudson, plan a torchlight procession to a waterfront area, where the funeral service will take place. This will be held in conjunction with an outdoor meeting at which representatives of government, industry and education will speak on various aspects of ecology.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) will address the group at 3:45 p.m. Other speakers will include Richard J. Sullivan, Stevens graduate who is director of the New Jersey State Department of Health's Division of Clean Air and Water, and James V. Feuss, assistant-regional director, National Air Pollution Control Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Research projects by Stevens faculty members on water purification and gasoline engines will be demonstrated. Industries have been invited to set up displays and show films in Stevens Center telling of their efforts to combat pollution. Panel discussions by students, faculty members and visiting speakers will take place during the day.

Several student groups are planning to hand out literature to local residents and probably to commuters who pass through Hoboken on Erie-Lackawanna and PAT trains. This literature, according to the students, will emphasize the role of the private citizen in fighting for a better environment in his own community.

Another group of Stevens students had planned to challenge men from other colleges to a swim across the Hudson to dramatize pollution in the river. However, health authorities have discouraged the students, citing the dangers of contracting a disease. It was learned that a Stevens student who swam the Hudson 40 years ago developed hepatitis, and pollution has increased substantially since then.

The outdoor part of the Stevens event will include music by the Stevens Stage Band and by folk singers from other schools and colleges. Students from two women's colleges, Caldwell and the College of St. Elizabeth, have been invited to join the men undergraduates of Stevens for the educational and social activities of the day.

History -- useless study?

Rutgers making it 'relevant'

A historian's lot is not an entirely happy one these days. Try as he may to explain the past, an alarming percentage of the younger generation apparently just won't listen.

A national poll found that high school students regard history as the most irrelevant and most useless of the social sciences or humanities, whichever you prefer to call history.

Many radical students totally ignore history, apparently because they don't want to face the fact that some of their seemingly more exotic ideas for bringing about the New Jerusalem at the earliest possible moment aren't exactly new.

In short, the hard working historian is accused of that worst of all possible modern sins -- "irrelevance."

Among those who look upon this situation with concern and dismay is Dr. J. Joseph Huthmacher, the industrious young chairman of the Rutgers College history department. "If one believes that history is important in understanding past societies and our own, then something is radically wrong here," Prof. Huthmacher said.

"We historians have been blaming the high schools for years for not doing a good job, but on the other hand I don't think university professors have on the whole been very helpful in showing how to improve the study and teaching of history in the high schools, assuming that is where the trouble starts."

The fact is that some of the better high schools and school districts are doing something to improve the teaching of history on their level, Dr. Huthmacher said in his book-lined office in baroque old Bishop House. And some of the public and private universities are pitching in to help the high schools, but it seemed to be a point of considerable embarrassment to Prof. Huthmacher that his department was doing virtually nothing along these lines.

A MAJOR PART of the problem, Dr. Huth-macher believes, is that there is a distinct lack of communications between high school and university teachers of history. They usually belong to different professional organizations and have markedly different interests. University people, in addition to teaching, are largely concerned with research and scholarly production, high school teachers with such matters as educational methods and the psychology of teaching.

But all is not lost, Dr. Huthmacher pointed out, as an example of what can be done, that a number of school districts in Maryland and northern Virginia have elaborate programs bringing in people from the universities for in-service programs for high school teachers.

University instructors from the area are also brought in for special programs for high school students who are particularly interested in history. And the universities sponsor day-long conferences and summer programs for high school teachers on history as a subject and on how to teach history.

On the whole, though, such programs are not widespread. So the question remains -- what is to be done to meet the new challenge in teaching history on the college level.

Dr. Huthmacher, a man of considerable modesty, does not say that here Rutgers sparkles, although others do. The history department has long enjoyed a reputation as one of the most active and socially aware on the Rutgers College campus, or indeed in the entire State University.

Fundamentally, Dr. Huthmacher said, newer methods of teaching history in college involve modifications of both the content of and approach to history courses. "Most college professors of history have become quite aware of the need to more explicitly relate history to problems of current interest. If you believe that history is a necessary tool for proper analysis of the society in which we live this is a relatively easy thing to do in terms of selection of material, emphasis on continuing trends in domestic and international problems, that sort of thing," Dr. Huthmacher said. "Otherwise, a continuing reference to man's experience smacks of antiquarianism."

HISTORY TAUGHT from this point of view should be able to hold its own with philosophy, political science and sociology, which traditionally have been more attuned to current trends and problems, Dr. Huthmacher said.

The modern teaching of history also involves the introduction of courses on such subjects as black history, labor history, immigrant, ethnic or minority group history, urban history and the history of the military's role in society. Dr. Huthmacher, a specialist in immigrant and urban history, noted that these subjects were

IDEAL — Advanced graduate students Joseph Heide and Martin Haas (l-r) discuss a paper with Dr. J. Joseph Huthmacher, chairman of the Rutgers College history department in his office at Bishop in the past usually parts of general history courses but today seem to have an importance of their own.

House, on the college campus in New Brunswick. It is this kind of close study and extended discussion, Dr. Huthmacher says, that pays off in the long run — and costs a lot of money.

"Above all," Dr. Huthmacher said, "I am convinced that the key to more meaningful teaching is to get the student more involved with the subject, along with the teacher."

This means more use of specialized small seminars, colloquiums and — something new at Rutgers — seven-week mini-courses as used in the history and Romance language departments, most of which try to have a group of participating students study a subject in depth.

It also means more use of modern media to which the youngsters of today are accustomed, such as television, films and recordings. And it also means smaller classes and lighter teaching loads at both the high school and college level, all of which "costs a heck of a lot of money," as Prof. Huthmacher observed.

It seems to be working at Rutgers, though. Despite polls showing the number of history majors nationwide going down while the number of political science, sociology and religion majors is going up, the number of history majors at Rutgers is on the rise too. "Maybe it's just that we grade easier, but we like to think we are doing something right," Dr. Huthmacher said.

He smiled when he said that.

F-Dickinson lists studies at St. Croix

Summer courses for 1970 have been announced by Dr. H. Gray Multer, director of the West Indies Laboratory of Fairleigh Dickinson University. Held on the island of St. Croix in the U. S. Virgin Islands, the four courses will involve lectures with extensive field trips.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

He NEEDS MORE THAN A HINT!
Dear Amy: As a newlywed, I have what I feel is a real problem. My husband, who is a mechanic, comes home from work every night quite greasy and dirty. He insists on climbing into bed with me because he's tired. How can I get him to take a shower or at least wash up without hurting his feelings too much? I have tried hinting, but it didn't work.

Ugh!
It will take more than a gentle hint to get him into a shower. Put on the heat if he gives you a dirty look, then try soft-soaping him.

Dear Amy: I'm a 16 year old high school boy. I have been going steady with D.B. for about six months and I can't do anything without her knowing about it. I asked her if she would stop having people watch me and report to her, but she won't stop. What should I do about her?

Clay
The last thing a 16 year old boy needs is a girl who operates like a detective agency. Give her the gate and fly the coop!

Dear Amy: When people write and say they are lonely, need friends or want to belong "to something" and the other party tells them to join a church group, that person thinks right away of religion and says, "Not for me!"

Being active in church groups or societies doesn't mean you'll get lessons in religion. It's participating and planning activities for the church, meeting new people and its a lot of fun. Most of all, if you don't give up and stay with it, apply your ideas as an individual, you'll be Surprised and ask yourself why you didn't join earlier. Especially men... we need more of them. So come on, men, and join us!

Dear Amy: What do you think of a woman who wears too much lipstick? Her Boyfriend
Dear Boyfriend: Too much lipstick is vulgar, but it leaves a good impression.

She had taught at Newark State Teachers College and in various public school systems, as well as at the Morton Arboretum in Lisle, Ill. Mrs. Rulison is listed in "Who's Who of America Women" and is the author of a book entitled "Wasure Diary Through the Year." The panel consists of parents who have adopted mixed or minority race children, older children and physically or emotionally handicapped children.

The council's aim is to help expedite the adoption of children now under foster care and to have legislation passed "to demand uniform child-care," said a spokesman. The spokesman added, "We must find the specific steps needed to increase the adoption of waiting children."

A program to acquaint the people of Union County with the world in which they live and some of the problems connected with preserving our natural world, will be presented at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center and at the Union County Outdoor Education Center, both located in the Watchung Reservation, on Saturday, April 18, and Sunday, April 19.

Each program will be presented each day at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. A person may participate in all activities at one location on Saturday and the remaining six at the other location Sunday.

Academic Artists elect new president

Mrs. Michael Jenkins of Westfield has been elected president of Academic Artists, Inc. Last year Mrs. Jenkins won the "best other media" for adults in the group's non-professional show. She has studied with Mary Ellen Sikotch of Piscataway and is studying with Perry Zimmerman of Cranford. Both instructors are members of Academic Artists.

On May 24 Academic Artists will hold an open house in the Pavilion Building at Echo Lake Park, Mountaintop. The instructors will have their works on display and questions will be answered on which medium best suits fledgling artists.

Two five-week sessions will be available this summer. The first will run from June 29 through Aug. 1; the second from Aug. 3 through Sept. 5. The first of five seminars will be presented May 1. Al Bross of Summit will discuss "Oil, Varnishes and Paints."

Registration begins for nursery school classes at YMHA

The Eastern Union County YM-YWHA's Nursery School is accepting registrations for the 1970-71 season. The school is approved by the state.

A special nursery wing has been set aside in the Y center, Green Lane, Union, to house the five classes, and an enclosed play yard provides safety for the children.

The school has a staff of five teachers and five assistants headed by Mrs. Max Wald. Two classes for three-year-old children are offered from 9:15 to 11:45 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. One class for four-year-olds is offered Monday through Friday from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

"The program provides learning through play, and the activities are purposeful," a spokesman said. "In addition to the varied experiences offered in the classroom and in the outdoor play, the children have a unique opportunity to participate in a program planned especially for them in the gym under the direction of a trained physical education instructor."

"Jewish culture is related to the entire program in a natural way, such as around the Sabbath and the holidays. A rest period and a snack of juice and cookies is part of the daily routine."

Pingry library friends to hold spring meeting

The spring meeting of the Friends of the Pingry Library will take place Sunday at 4 p.m. in the school's Springer Chapel.

Members and their guests will hear a program of instrumental music presented by several members of the Edgar Kogan family of Hillside. Kenneth E. Hill of Westfield will speak on "Adventures of a Book Collector." There will be a showing of items from his collection on view in the school's front foyer display cases.

Mrs. Michael Marczak of Linden will be in charge of the guest book. Non-members can exhibit their single crown plants in two classes: one specimen each of a single flower, named variety, any color; one specimen each of a double flower, named variety, any color. They can enter as many plants as they want, but only one of a kind. Hours for entering plants are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Disability payments up over period of 2 years

Social Security disability payments have shown a steady increase over the past two years, according to figures released today by Ralph W. Jones, local manager.

Insurance firms alter home policy

"Major changes are about to take place in all New Jersey homeowners insurance policies," the Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey said this week.

"All new and renewal policies effective on or after April 1 must be written on new policy forms. While these forms have been in general use in most states since 1968, they have only recently been approved for use in New Jersey," the association added.

Among the major changes are the following:

"1. Unscheduled personal property protection has been increased from 40 percent to 50 percent of the amount on the dwelling.

"2. Jewelry, watches, gems, precious and semi-precious stones, gold and platinum will have a limit of $500 in the aggregate for any one loss. Formerly there was a limit of $100 per item. This new limitation will require, for proper protection, detailed scheduling of all such property.

"3. Furs also will be limited to $500 in the aggregate for any one loss, whereas formerly there was a limit of $1,000 per article.

"4. Recreational motor vehicle liability away from the premises of the Homeowner will be limited to golf carts while being used for golfing purposes. Snowmobiles, therefore, will now require separate insurance.

"5. Liability for an operation of a boat with an outboard motor of up to 25 horsepower will automatically be provided without extra charge.

"6. Trailers will receive $500 of physical damage protection whether licensed or not.

"Most of the problems are expected to be in connection with the proper insuring of jewelry and furs, coming at a time when most companies, due to excessive losses, are not very interested in supplying such 'scheduled property' insurance.

"Homeowners are also reminded that in the past three years the cost of repairs and reconstruction of frame homes has increased by 24.2 percent with such costs for brick homes increasing by 23.9 percent. Thus, properties which were properly insured three years ago are now underinsured by these percentages, and the protection should be increased accordingly."

"The association also pointed out that 'worthwhile savings can be made by having homeowners insurance policies written with a $50 deductible on all losses, thus eliminating small claims and the cost of handling same. In some states, considerably higher deductibles can be had, with additional savings,' but not yet in New Jersey," the association said.

payments from the Disability Trust Fund, with some 100,000 young people included in this group after qualifying under the easier work test in the 1967 amendments.

Despite this over-all increase in payments, Ralph W. Jones noted that many disabled workers (possibly one out of 10) still lose money by not filing their claims promptly. A much higher number (two out of three) have their payments delayed unduly by not applying with their local Social Security Office as soon as their employment status due to disability.

Under present law, Jones explained that those who are insured through work (five years out of the last 10 before disability, or less if disabled before age 31), can get monthly benefits for themselves and their families after being unable to work for over six months, providing the disability has lasted or will last for at least 12 months. This means that any delay beyond 19 months in applying can result in a loss of income to the family.

Workers disabled before age 31 need to have worked under the program for only one-half the time between their 21st birthday and the start of their disability to meet the test, while those disabled before age 24 can qualify with as little as 1-1/2 years employment, providing the work falls within the three years directly before disability occurs.

People neglect to take action on their benefits for a variety of reasons, Jones noted. These include the failing to file who expect to recover and return to work, as well as those who think that receiving other kinds of disability payments precludes getting paid by Social Security. Also, there are many who lose benefits because illness has kept them from contacting the local office.

In all these cases, Jones said, a visit to Social Security is in order, and for those unable to come in he emphasized that staff members will arrange for a home visit promptly upon receiving such a request.

Since family benefit payments under the disability program are now averaging $250 a month, Jones stated that a loss of one or more months could be significant, and he suggested that anyone in doubt as to his rights under this part of the Social Security law should contact the Elizabeth office at 268 North Broad st., 351-3200. Office hours, including evening hours, are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Thursday.

Here's another in a series of favorite recipes compiled by the students and teachers in the home economics department of the Union County Regional High School District.

STRAWBERRY FILLED ANGEL CAKE
1 large angel cake
1 3-oz. pkg. strawberry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen strawberries
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar to sweeten cream
Chill the angel cake first. Then dissolve gelatin in boiling water (only one cup). Immediately add the block of frozen strawberries, breaking it up with a fork. Mix well. It will begin to congeal very quickly.

Next, place the chilled cake, top side down, on a plate. With a long serrated knife, using a rapid "sawing" motion, cut a one-inch layer from the top of the cake. Mark this one inch so it can be replaced exactly as it was removed.

Now cut a tunnel one inch from outer edge of cake, one inch from inner edge, and about one inch deep. Gently remove cake to form tunnel. Break these pieces up and place in gelatin.

Pour the strawberry gelatin into the "tunnel," making sure it fills the tunnel to the top. Replace the top layer of the cake and refrigerate until just before serving. Cut into serving pieces, then cover the cake with whipped cream.

This taste-tempting cake will serve 10-12 persons.

A program for a complete education Dental hygienists study at three schools

With thousands of students attending colleges across the nation, campus life is no longer unique, except, perhaps, for 13 Union County students who will enjoy college life on three separate campuses.

The 13 students are enrolled in the dental hygiene program at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains. The program provides pre-dental training at the Institute, liberal arts and basic science courses at Union College, Cranford, and clinical experience at the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, Jersey City.

The new program, which was launched in September, has received the enthusiastic approval of all of the students, seven of whom had been graduated from the one-year dental assisting program at Union County Technical Institute.

"The unique program has special significance, because of the tremendous shortage of dentists and auxiliary personnel," Mrs. Genia Berk of Westfield, director of the dental hygiene program at the Technical Institute, said. "Although there are 4,200 dentists in active practice in New Jersey, there are only 368 dental hygienists. In 1966 on a national level, there was one dentist for every 1,000 patients, but it is projected that in 1975 there will be only one dentist for every 2,200 patients. Since only about 250 dentists are being graduated each year, the only solution is the use of more auxiliary personnel. This is in accordance with the recommendations of the American Dental Association."

Mrs. Berk believes the students benefit from the multiple exposure, deriving the best from each institution. Describing the 30-hour per week schedule as a "heavy academic load," she says the students feel the results will be well worth the effort.

MOTIVATING THE STUDENTS is the desire for more professional recognition and job satisfaction. Miss Margaret Hausenauer of Elizabeth, a dental assistant who returned to school for this program, said she expects to derive greater personal satisfaction working more directly with patients.

Miss Susan Reno of Springfield explained her enrollment in the program as a desire "to do more than assist the dentist."

All of the students agreed that they are proud to be members of this group and they are determined to succeed.

Contributing to that success, they say is the outstanding instruction offered at both the College and the Institute. The students noted that grades at both schools tend to have a high degree of correlation.

During their first year, the dental hygienist students spend 12 hours a week at the technical institute and 18 hours a week at Union College. For the third semester, they will attend Union College and the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, and the fourth semester they attend N.J. College of Medicine and Dentistry, and the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange.

INSTITUTE COURSES INCLUDE dental hygiene, radiology, dental materials and laboratory procedures, dental orientation, dental anatomy and histology, and courses at Union College are anatomy and physiology, chemistry, psychology, microbiology, English composition, sociology and fundamentals of education. Clinical experience at the medical college includes clinical oral hygiene, dental assisting, anatomy of head and neck, oral pathology, pharmacology, and oral medicine, nutrition and diet and dental health education.

The two-year program is made possible under the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education contract with Union College and the Union County Technical Institute, whereby the college provides university-parallel courses and the Institute occupational programs. The state approved contract permits the county to offer higher educational opportunities to residents without the necessity of establishing a separate county college.

Forsberg stresses success in treatment of breast cancer

"Medical interest in breast cancer dates back 3,000 years to ancient Egypt, but treatment is only coming of age in the 20th Century," Dr. Roy T. Forsberg, a member of the executive and medical and professional committees of the Union County Unit, American Cancer Society, said this week.

"Today's physician can look to surgery, radiation therapy, hormone therapy, chemotherapy -- or possibly a combination of different methods of treatment -- to care for his patient."

Postal strike hurt Easter Seal drive; urgent appeal made

The confusion of the postal strike has seriously disrupted the Easter Seal mail appeal to raise money for the care and treatment of New Jersey crippled children, according to Dr. Ronald Myers, Union County Easter Seal chairman.

Dr. Myers indicated that many appeal letters were left undelivered and numerous Union County residents were unable to send in their regular contribution because of the work stoppage.

Appealing to all Union County residents he said, "Now that the strike is over -- don't forget the crippled kids who depend on your help -- it is not too late to do our share in helping handicapped children in our community."

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of New Jersey offers a year-round, statewide program of care and treatment for the physically handicapped. Services are adapted to specific community needs and include rehabilitation and treatment centers, residential summer camping, job placement, out-patient clinics and equipment loan services.

"Use the regular envelope received along with the appeal letter -- or address your contribution to Easter Seal Society in care of your local Postmaster. Do it today. These kids need our help," he urged.

Rahway rock show needs more bands

The Rahway Jaycees will conduct a Rock Music Festival and Dance on April 24, 8 p.m., at the Rahway High School. Any band composed of school students not over 18 years of age may play in concert at this event.

A group will be selected to be sponsored by the Rahway Jaycees in a statewide band competition to be held in May. In addition, cash prizes of $100 for first place, $50 for second place, and $25 for third place are being offered.

The groups will be judged by professional musicians who are engaged with work in the entertainment field of rock music. Any group wishing to secure an application may contact the chairman, Barry Dersamer, at 351-2195, or by writing to the Rahway Jaycees, 350 Hamilton st., Rahway.

DIAGNOSTIC CLINIC

The Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society provides support of diagnostic and treatment clinics at Mohlenberg Hospital in Plainfield, Overlook Hospital in Summit and Elizabeth General Hospital in Elizabeth.

Tradition broken by Marine Corps

The Marine Corps will break a tradition and let qualified men and women choose the occupational field they want to serve in, Sgt. Kenneth Kastner of the Marine Corps Recruiting Office at Five Points in Union announced this week.

Enlistees will be able to select fields from data processing to aviation. All guarantees will be made before enlistment and in writing. Kastner also announced the "180 Day Delay" program that permits applicants sign up and report for duty six months later. The time spent in the delay program counts for pay purposes and toward completion of the enlistee's military obligation.

Further information can be obtained without obligation from Sgt. Kastner at the Marine recruiting office.

DENTAL HYGIENE—Miss Kathy A. Chase of Mt. ## Print show at Upsala

New York City's Printmaking Workshop is holding an art show at Upsala College through April 30, featuring the etchings and lithographs of some of America's well-known professionals and newcomers on the art scene. A total of 40 prints will be displayed in the Upsala Chapel each Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The exhibit has an international flavor with the works of artists from Europe, Africa, the Orient, North and South America.

The Printmaking Workshop is a cooperative studio set up for the benefit of professional artists who would not otherwise be able to afford fine lithograph or etching presses and other studio equipment. Upsala art instructor Richard Barnett arranged for the show.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS

By FRED GREENBERG, R.P.

We consider pain our persistent enemy, but its value as a warning far outweighs its evil. Without perceiving pain, people would go through life incurring one critical injury after another, simply because they have no means of knowing when they get hurt. Pain is our built-in safeguard. The amount of pain one can take varies from person to person. Pain tends to become worse at night when there is more time to think about it. Pain is diminished when there is a secondary discomfort in the body.

Some day, it's expected that with better drugs, doctors will have no need for the addictive analgesic.

There is a constant research and development of new drugs and we keep our stock up to date. For prompt service call PARK DRUGS, 225 Morris Ave., Springfield (in the General Green Shopping Center) Phone 379-4942.

Group will attend ecumenical youth conclave in Boston

This weekend, 27 members of the Temple Sharey Shalom Youth Group of Springfield, along with six chaperones, will board a chartered bus to attend their 11th annual inter-faith, inter-racial youth conclave, it was announced jointly by Rabbi Israel S. Dresner and Alan Kampf, temple youth advisor.

The host congregation for this year is the Charles Street African Methodist Episcopal Church of Boston, in Roxbury, Mass. Other participating groups will be from the First Unitarian Society of Upton, Mass., the West Parish Church, Andover, Mass., and students from the ABC program (A Better Chance), studying at Andover High School.

This year's theme will be "Reconciliation in a Broken World—Youth in the '70s and Building a New Society." The theme will be discussed from three aspects: drugs, religion and social relations.

The conclave had its beginning in January, 1960, when the first two groups met in Springfield in the first "dialogue." The conclave now has five participating groups, and the site rotates among the groups each year. Temple Sharey Shalom Youth Group is a member of the Jersey Federation of Temple Youth, and arm of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Motorist arrested, car reported stolen from Newark man

David A. Kelley of Newark was arrested by Springfield police Friday possession of a stolen vehicle. He was stopped by Patrolmen William Cieri and Alfred Parker for passing a red light at the intersection of Morris avenue and Baltusrol way. Kelley reportedly produced the driver's license and registration of Leonard Rosenfield of Newark.

Cieri and Parker brought the driver to police headquarters where Lt. John Baber found out that the driver's name was David Kelley. It also was discovered that the vehicle had been reported as stolen in Newark by Rosenfield. Kelley, 18, was released in the custody of his father.

Joanne M. Garzillo of Plainfield reported to police that someone broke into her automobile Monday. According to police reports, Miss Garzillo had parked her car in the parking lot at Fisher Scientific at 8:30 a.m. When she returned at 4:45 p.m., she found that her two bucket seats had been stolen.

Artist to present exhibit at library

An art exhibit by Mrs. Carole Steorra Sterling based on the theme, "Realistic Yet Heavenly," will open Saturday afternoon at the Mountainside Library. Refreshments will be served from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Sterling studied art in many places, including Rutgers University and the Pan-American Art School in New York. Her works have been exhibited at such places as the Newark Museum, the Washington Outdoor Art Exhibit and a one-man show at the Short Hills Art Gallery. She designed the program cover for the Mountainside Union Chapel.

TASTE-TESTER -- H. Loring Banfield, director of the adult school at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, gets a taste of what goes on in "Gourmet Cooking with a French Flair," by sampling the beginnings of a Baked Alaska being prepared by the instructor, Shelley Kudak. Banfield is a resident of Mountainside.

Parents will meet with guidance staff

The guidance staff of Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights will meet with parents, to discuss all aspects of college education and post-high school opportunities, at 8 p.m., April 13, Kenneth Gleason, acting guidance director, announced. Topics to be discussed include the various tests used for college admissions, choosing a school, visiting schools, the application process, current costs and financing, transferring to other schools, and the opportunities in junior college.

A question and answer period will follow the informal panel presentation by all the members of the guidance department.

Volunteer squad brought up to date

Three members of the Mountainside Rescue Squad were among the 133 volunteers from 17 communities who took part in a day-long seminar at Memorial General Hospital, Union, last week. The seminar included 11 speakers and a New Jersey State Police film as well as a panel discussion, all designed to bring volunteer squads up to date on the latest life-saving techniques. Certificates were awarded to all participants.

Representatives of the Mountainside squad who attended included: Captain John Keuler, Ruth Keuler and Dayle L. Moore.

LUNAR SOIL PROVES 'BLOOMING' GOOD FOR EARTH PLANTS

Earth plants grow exceedingly well in moon soil, moon researchers have found. Does this indicate that there are tiny germs or viruses hidden deep in the moon soil that could conceivably escape and contaminate the earth—or is there another, equally logical, explanation? Thus far, no one has found physical evidence of hidden germs, even though the moon soil has been examined down to the molecular level. On the other hand, two researchers at the University of Minnesota have theorized that the "unexplained biological effect" of moon soil on earth plants is caused by chemicals, since chemical fertilizers also make plants grow.

A TINY UMBRELLA-LIKE DEVICE inserted into a large body vein is protecting patients against pulmonary emboli—life-endangering clots that lodge in the blood vessels of the lungs. This is a common problem among bed-ridden hospital patients, taking as many as 50,000 lives a year. The device, developed at the University of Miami School of Medicine, has holes in it to let blood ooze through, but the holes are small enough to block any traveling clot (embolus) and keep it from getting to the lungs.

THE 'BLUES' WILL BE produced in Canada for the first time soon at Port Hope, Ont. However, they aren't the musical blues. These are pigments called phthalocyanine blue. While their name may be a strange mouthful, they actually are quite popular, says their manufacturer Chemtron. They are used in automotive paints, vinyl upholstery and tops, household and industrial paints and plastics and are one of the four basic process colors for printing.

THE EFFECTS OF LSD and other "hippie generation" drugs are contributing to mounting evidence that schizophrenia is basically caused by chemical imbalances in the bodies of its victims, says a biochemist at Cornell University. "This offer the prospect," he said, "that with the aid of biochemistry we may one day increase man's control of his emotions, his aggression and thereby of his own destiny."

GET RID OF PAPER REFUSE by turning it into alcohol, one scientist suggests. Up to 75 per cent of the junk we generate is paper, he notes, and converting it is a relatively simple two-stage process—transform the cellulose to sugar, then ferment it into alcohol.

The Music Box

by BOB LIBKIND

April is a busy month on the music scene at Newark State College in Union. This Wednesday at 8 p.m. Odetta will sing at the Theater for the Performing Arts. Joining her will be the Voices of East Harlem. Voices had the stage to themselves at Newark State last week and the response was so good that they were asked to come back for another stand.

On Saturday, April 18, Phil Ochs will be the draw. The patriot of the musical Left will start singing at 8 p.m. Tickets for both concerts are available at either the information desk in the college center or at the student activities center. Ticket information may be obtained by calling the college at 289-4500, extension 214.

PETE SEEGER will give a benefit concert at Drew University in Madison on Tuesday, April 14, at 8 p.m. in the Baldwin Auditorium. All proceeds from the concert will go toward the sloop "Clearwater," which Seeger sailed up and down the Hudson River last summer to bring attention to pollution. Seeger

'Reivers' at Mayfair

"The Reivers," film comedy based on William Faulkner's novel, and starring Steve McQueen, opened yesterday at the Mayfair Theater, Hillside, on a double bill with "Arabella." "The Reivers" concerns a 12-year-old boy who accompanies his older pals on a trip from Mississippi to Memphis, and becomes unwholesomely involved in adult activities. Sharon Farrell, Mitch Vogel and Rupert Crosse have stellar roles. The picture, in color, was directed by Mark Rydell. "Arabella" is a romantic comedy starring Virna Lisi and James Fox, and was photographed in color.

Tale of a dynasty grips the emotions in 'The Damned'

In "The Damned" at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, brilliant director Luchino Visconti, shatters his audiences with a movie that snags in two every Commandment --- and adds a few more, of its own to break down and dissolve. It is a powerful film drama about a corrupt German munitions dynasty in 1933, and Visconti makes fierce use of his superb international cast. The Warner Brothers movie in Technicolor, which is subtitled "Goetterdammung" (Twilight of the Gods) tells a confusing story about an aristocratic German family whose business is steel and munitions, and what happens to that family (and to Germany, itself) when Hitler ascends to power. It brings to the screen much too vividly a degenerate and debased way of life --- incest, homosexuality, book-burning, transvestitism, perversion, greed, murder --- Nazism.

In short, it is not a picture for the squeamish. The characters, excellently portrayed by Dirk Bogarde, Ingrid Thulin, Helmut Griem, Helmut Berger and Charlotte Rampling, tear a viewer's emotions to pieces, and it's difficult to identify the various relationships of all the members of the family called Eszenbach. In fact, a viewer will walk out of the Ormont Theater in bewilderment --- wondering if she should turn around and go back to see it a second time --- to clarify scenes and characters and story. It is truly a shattering experience --- one you would want to discuss with the viewer in the next seat but dare not! By BEA SMITH

Walt Disney genius survives for all in timeless 'Fantasia'

When you arrange for your youngsters to see "Fantasia" at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, get a ticket for yourselves and accompany the children for an afternoon or evening of sheer delight. You might even bring your husbands along --- and the teenagers --- even grandmother and grandfather. The picture has something for everyone. In fact, when this reviewer visited the Bellevue the other day to see Walt Disney's enchanting and beautifully constructed "Fantasia," she was not surprised to see that the audience consisted of many different types of people. There was the youngest set, four years old and up, sitting back to enjoy the cartoon sequences designed to the music of Tchaikovsky's

"The Nutcracker Suite," Dukas' "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," starting Mickey Mouse; Beethoven's "The Pastoral Symphony," starting fauns, unicorns, winged horses, the black Pegasus and his snow white mate, Cupid, centaures, noble centaurs, Bacchus, Zeus and Apollo; Pinielli's "Dance of the Hours," starting ostriches, a hippopotamus ballerina (and her ladies in waiting), dancing elephants and alligators. Teenagers, dressed up, and teenagers, long-haired and wearing their hippie clothing, sat totally absorbed, watching the fabulous color-patterns and listening to the marvelous sound track --- music provided by Leopold Stokowski and the 103 musicians of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Just as fascinated with Disney's genius, his unparalleled cartoon masterpieces, were viewers in their 20s and 30s --- and all the way up. Among the eight compositions provided in "Fantasia," were Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, a cacophony of reflections on the screen; Stravinsky's savage "Night on Bald Mountain" and the beautiful "Ave Maria" by Franz Schubert. Disney produced "Fantasia" in 1940, and it seems unbelievable today that he was so far ahead of his time. Because now, 30 years later, the picture is luring the same variety of people that it appealed to then. It is a timeless motion picture, appealing to everyone, and a truly unique experience of sights and sounds and imagination. This viewer has seen it before --- years ago --- and has seen it last week and will certain make a date to see it some time in the future.

PETER DUCHIN

MARTY AMES

Duchin, Ames bands to play for Symphony Ball April 18

Two orchestras will supply dance music for the New Jersey Symphony Ball to be held April 18, at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark.

The selection of the Peter Duchin and Marty Ames orchestras was announced this week by Assemblywoman Millicent H. Fenwick of Bernardsville, state chairman of the eighth annual symphony ball. Both orchestras have appeared at the occasion previously, but never before together.

This year's Symphony Ball is entitled "The Gemini Ball," and is being jointly sponsored by the State Council of the Women's Committee for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and by the Junior Committee.

The joint participation, (undertaken this year for the first time), accounts for the selection of the name Gemini, the astrological sign of the twin constellations. The "twin" groups sponsoring this affair, differ only in age. Both have a common goal—to raise funds for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

Peter Duchin will lead his orchestra in the Main Ballroom. The internationally-famed Peter Duchin orchestra has played at many of the major art, symphony and opera halls throughout the United States, and at the Inaugural Ball of Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew.

Marty Ames will play in the Crystal Room where junior supporters of the Symphony will dine and dance. Marty Ames and his orchestra have also appeared at many functions in and around the metropolitan area, as well as for President Lyndon B. Johnson's Inaugural Ball and in Trenton for Governor Robert B. Mey-ner's and Governor Richard J. Hughes' inaugural balls.

Proceeds of the ball will help to underwrite concert and educational activities of the orchestra.

Ask 40 at NSC: teach in Newark

Forty senior education majors from Newark State College, Union, have been offered contracts to teach in the Newark school system for the 1970-1971 school year. Joseph A. Vitale, director of placement at NSC, reported this week.

Robert Brown, director of personnel for the Newark Board of Education said that "approximately 15 students applied individually and the remainder were interviewed on the Union campus."

According to Vitale, "an increasing number of courses throughout the college dealing with urban-educational problems prompted a number of students to request professional laboratory experiences in urban school." He added "as a result of the satisfaction gained in many of these experiences a higher percentage of students is requesting interviews with urban school district recruiters."

Bilowit takes part in research project

Dr. David S. Bilowit, chairman of the Special Education Department at Newark State College, Union, recently participated in a federally funded controlled research project entitled "The Effects of Modifying Factors on Initiation of Movement in Parkinson's Syndrome Patients."

The project, carried out during the past year, was completed this month with Dr. Luba Stefaniwsky, chief of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, and Dr. Evalyenne Braun, resident in physical medicine at the VA hospital.

Dr. Bilowit served the project as a consultant in physical medicine and rehabilitation. According to Bilowit, "the purpose of the project was to evaluate the efficiency of a new rehabilitation technique through the measurement of speed on initiation of motion and electromyographic changes."

Adoption of child is topic of meeting

The Council on Adoptable Children will sponsor a panel discussion and slide show on the adoption of mixed and minority race children and physically and emotionally handicapped children at a meeting April 8 at Temple Emanuel, 756 E. Broad st., Westfield. The program, open to the public, begins at 8 p.m.

Panelists will be Robert DeMott, Richard Merrills and William Boyds.

The organization says about 3,500 New Jersey children need adoptive homes and 1,000 are now free for adoption. The organization says the reason for the "surplus of both children and potential parents are serious lags in staffing, in agency coordination and in progress development."

Help fight cancer

Since 1945, the American Cancer Society has spent more than $200,000,000 on research into the cause, diagnosis, treatment and cure of cancer. Half of those who now get cancer could be cured if the disease were diagnosed and treated in time. Help continue the war against cancer by supporting the April Cancer Crusade when your neighbor calls.

'Don't drop driver ed,' warns automobile club

With the nationwide tightening of our fiscal belts, considerable attention is being given to the costs of public secondary school education programs. One of the first programs to come under the scrutiny of would-be-budget cutters is generally driver education. As a result, some driver education programs, particularly in larger cities, have been dropped.

Much attention is being given to the demands by youngsters for "relevancy" in school programs. Almost every youngster in high school today will become a licensed driver, points out the AAA.

"Isn't it, therefore, our obligation to prepare these youngsters to assume the social responsibilities which go with operating a motor vehicle on the public highways?" asks R.J. Vialle, manager of the New Jersey Automobile Club, AAA.

In stressing the need for more emphasis on the social responsibility of every driver AAA indicated that the new, sixth edition of its "Sportsmanlike Driving" high school driver education textbook, which has just been published by McGraw-Hill Book Co., tries to "tell it like it is" about today's driving needs.

The new text confronts the student with the facts about alcohol, drugs and driving and the enforcement of motor vehicle laws and traffic regulations.

AAA is concerned that in the commendable efforts to control rising costs of educational programs, expedient decisions are often made to eliminate curriculum items such as driver education because of the newness of the course without giving sufficient thought to its relevancy for effective living in today's society.

The successful acceptance of driver education in the secondary school curriculum is due, in large part, to the support given by parents who long have recognized the value of driver education instruction, says AAA.

The New Jersey Automobile Club, AAA called upon parents to let their views be known to School Board officials and other community leaders to see that local youngsters will receive the benefit of this important and potentially life-saving instructional program.
