School board approves its 'final' offer on teacher salaries

By JANICE ADLER
Following a half-hour caucus, the Mountainside Board of Education Tuesday evening in the Deerfield School accepted a motion by Walter Rupp to adopt an eight percent pay ruise for teachers based on the 1969-70 salary schedule. This "final" decision by the board was made after a heated debate between the board representatives of the Mountainside Teachers Association, More than IQO people, mostly teachers, attended.

Besides the raise, the board said it would increase the employes' medical plan to 100 percent coverage for employes and their de-pendents. Allan Dehls, head of the board's negotiating committee, proposed that the final salary increase be rounded off to the nearest $50. Oliver Deane, head negotiator for the teachers, said he will let the board know the association's stand after the group discusses

In other business, Dr. Levin Hanigan, super-intendent of schools, announced that a state law has been passed requiring all teachers from the seventh grade up to take 10 hours of instruction in drug education between Sept.

The board accepted the school allocation and transportation policy for 1970-71. Details will be published in next week's edition of the Echo.
The board and the Teacher's Association had reached a stand-off before Tuesday's meeting. They had been negotiating since October for a contract. The MTA requested that the board enter into negotiations on major areas that the association considered negotiable.

They were teacher evaluation, non-teaching duties, teaching hours and load, sabattical leave, personal leave, application for and notification of professional openings within the system, MTA rights and privileges and salary and fringe benefits. The board conconsidered everything event salary and fringe considered everything except salaryand fringe benefits as not being negotiable, Dehls said. During the second month of negotiations this winter, Dehls reported it became clear that the MTA and the board "were interpreting their respective mandates under two separate sets of laws. These are chapter 303, Public Employees Relations Act, and Title 18A, Mountainside was not alone in this position because other boards in the state had the same problem." The courts and the Public Employees Relations Commission have cases pending which are based on the same conflicting interpretation, Dehls

It was realized that an agreement could not be reached on items other than salary and fringe benefits, By law, the board had to submit a budget for the taxpayer's approval. The MTA refused to discuss salary and fringe benefits as a separate item, Dehis said. The board then deliberated and worked out a plan for salary increases.

Debis added that the MTA refused to consider salary and fringe benefits to be ne-gotiable on an individual basis and would

The MTA requested a new salary schedule which represented a total increase of $203,763, which represented a total increase of $205,763, "which translates to an estimated acrossthe board raise of 25 percent, This would have raised a starting teacher's salary from $7,100 to $8,900," Dehis reported, Meanwhile, the board suggested that negotiations use the 1969-70 salary schedule as a base and proceed from there. Negotiations terminated when the MTA refused to move from its final demands.

The board was ready to adopt a final salary schedule Tuesday when Rupp moved that the meeting be opened to the public to hear its views. A heated discussion followed where both sides, plus taxpayers, aired their views. The board then decided to caucus before coming to a decision on the salary schedule that it was ready to adopt. This was when it decided on the eight percent increase plus increased medical benefits. The back-and-forth debate consisted mainly of the teacher's sticking to their point of view that the board's offer was unacceptable.

Music Association presents copying machine to Deerfield

The Mountainside Music Association re-cently presented the Deerfield Middle School with a Thermo-Fax copying machine for use in the school's musical studies program. The machine serves to duplicate and laminate musical compositions.

The time spent in preparing ditto sheets is thus eliminated. Sheet music for choral well as instrumental music is supplied to all students in these programs and clear copies are made in a moment.

An MMA spokesman added: "Original compositions and arrangements are thus made readily available to the music students, giving them a wider range of choice selections less time spent by teachers preparing inumerable copies and more time in music."

Also given to the music department by the MMA this year were typany tuning gauges and a tape recorder.

The last MMA meeting of the season was

Highlanders nine waits until next year --after another one-run defeat in finale

By BILL LOVETT

The Gov. Livingston baseball team finished the 1970 season with a record of 9-13 by doing what it had done six other times this yearlosing a game by one run. North Plainfield edged the Highlanders, 3-2, putting Regional four games under .500. It does not have to be reiterated how much those seven one-run losses meant to Coach Ray Massaro's team, Gov. Livingston's loss to North Plainfield was typical of most of these defeats—a failure to get hits at crucial Against North Plainfield, the Highlanders quickly fell behind, 3-0, rallied for two runs and couldn't capitalize in a seventh-inning threat.

In the second inning, North Plainfield scored twice on a walk, a hit, a double steal and a single. An inning later, Ken Gregory doubled in the third run.

The Highlanders scored in their half of the up to cleanup position, singled in John Pic-cirillo, who had singled and taken second on an outfield error. Bob Honecker, who finished the season leading Regional in stolen bases, got a single in the fifth, stole second and third and scored when the North Plainfield catcher tried to pick him off and threw the ball into left field.

Down 3-2, the Highlanders came up with a final flurry in the seventh. With two out, Honecker beat out an infield hit, stole second and took third on an infield hit by Dick Tratile kimas. After Trakimas had stolen second. John Piccirillo had a chance to tie or win the game. But Piccirillo, who has delivered so many other times this season, popped out. Doug Rau, who absorbed the loss to drop his record to 7-5, had all but two of the Regional victories. Rau was the mainstay of the Highlander pitching staff. Next season? Rau and Piccirillo graduate, but the Highlanders hope to have the depth to replace them. With a bit more experience, compensated for. The loss of Rau, though, poses problems. Without him, Regional's 9-13 record would have been worse. Kyle Mc-Cormick, who can throw the ball hard enough but has a great deal of trouble getting it over the plate, will return and will carry much of the burden. Kevin McBrien, who saw some relief duty this year, will also be back, along with Curt Mohns, who will move up from JV.

the loss of Piccirillo who hit .308 can be Hitting does not appear as much a prob-lem—Honecker, who led the team in stolen bases and runs scored, and Bill and Dick Trakimas, who combined for three homers, will take up most of the slack left by Piccirillo's graduation. Tom Wilson and Rich Weiss, nable in Chuck Rundlet, who showed flashes of hit-ting brilliance, Sam Manganiello and Jim Murphy, who started a year ago but were pushed out of the starting lineup, will all be back.

Now—if the Highlanders can just get rid of some of those one-run losses.

AAUW branch is compiling jubilee Mountainside history

Members of the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women will present the borough with a commemorative history in time for the 75th Jubilee cele bration, A history of the town's first 50 years had been written by Jean Hesketh Hershey, and it is the hope of AAUW to stress the past 25 years, during which Mountainside has grown considerably.

A spokesman added:
"Useful in the search for information has been the Mountainside Echo, which published its first issue on Dec. 11, 1958. As its name implies, the Echo has recorded the events that have shaped the history of Mountainside.

2 scouts drive lauded by library

Ken Matysek and Coit Mulligan of Boy Scout Troops 76 and 177 of Mountainside took a long step toward Eagle Scout rank by organ-izing a paper drive which netted $172.64 for the Free Public Library of Mountainside. Troops 177 and 76 worked together to publicize the event through newspaper articles and posters displayed in local stores and at the Mountainside PTA fair. On collection day, May 16, they gathered 10 1/2 tons of old paper and rags from Mountainside and Westfield homes.

Asked why they had decided to do this, Marysek explained that they were fulfilling their Community Service rank toward becoming Eagle Scouts, and they realized that "just about the entire public uses the library and it would be real community service. satisfied with the earnings of $172.64, Ken and Coit chipped in to bring the amount to

A library spokesman added: "The library is naturally extremely grateful for this dona-tion and plans to use it to expand the collection of art books.'

"Members of AAUW have faithfully thumbed through old pages of the publication. It has been an overwhelming task, especially when the researchers realize that the presses go right on printing more and more for them to

"Past is prologue, and reviewing the years helps to put into perspective some of the local events that seem so glaringly important today. The commemorative history should be completed by September. Copies will be available with proceeds earmarked for the AAUW Scholarship Fellowship Fund."

Also participating in the contest were John Keenan, narrator; Helen Saloom, "The Diamond Necklace;" Margo Krasnoff, "Gwendolyn, the Miracle Hen;" Amy Geltzeiler, "Napoleon and the Tailor;" Jane Harbaugh, "Old Mister Rabbit, Ile's a Mighty Good Fisherman;" Mary Alice Keenan, "The Foolish Old Man," and Tom Bisio, "The Man in the Middle,"

Cards win, 17-16, defeating Bluejays with 2 runs in 7th

In the first extra-inning game of the Mountainside Girls' Softball League season, the Cardinals topped the Bluejays, 17-16. With the score tied at 15-15, the Bluejays scored one run in the bottom of the seventh. Laurie Weeks, coming to bat in the top of the seventh, knocked in two runs for the victory, Homerun by Irene Bachmeier and Cindy Smith earlier in the game aided in the victory.

Elizabeth Weeks paced the Orioles to an 1812 triumph over the Peacocks with four strikeouts in the first three innings. Helen Daas helped cement the triumph with a home run. Elaine Kranich's six-inning, five-strikeout pitching, combined with four hits, sparked the Owls to a 17-10 margin over the Canaries.

Three home runs by Cindy Smith, two by Kristy Weeks and one by Lynn Shomer, plus five strikeouts by pitcher Margo Krashoff, contributed to the Cardinals' victory over the Falcons, 27-9.

In a game marked by strong defensive play by the Eagles and home runs by Marriane Herrick, Laurie Hambacher, Mary Jane Far-rell and Joyce Brodian, the Doves were defeated, 20-7.

The Orioles mauled the Parrots, 21-2. (Continued on page 8)

Eighth graders' pollution study finds most firms responsive to problems

By JILL BERNSTEIN AND INA SCHECHTER As an outgrowth of Earth Day class discussions of the pollution problem, Mrs. Norma Levine's eighth-grade social studies class at the Florence Gaudineer School decided to make a survey of industrial plants located in Spring-field to ascertain whether or not they were contributing to pollution in their town. The students in the class wrote to 52 companies requesting information about their pollution problems and attempted solutions.

Of the 52 companies contacted, 7 responded. Ten companies answered that they were either sales offices or do not cause any type

Hams join 'field day'

The Suburban Amateur Radio Club of Union County will participate in a continuous 27-hour, nationwide 'field day" contest sponsored by the American Radio Relay League. The contest will be Tamaques Reservation. West-Field day is a traditional contest among amateur radio operators of the United States. designed to test their ability and incenuity to meet the challenge of communication pre-paredness and to insure that ham radio operators can con-tinue to provide emergency communication facilities in the event of any and every conceivable type of disaster such as last year's Hurricane Camille and the recent earthquake in Peru.

During the contest, the club will operate three separate stations simultaneously with emergency power supplied by Cranford Civil Defense. Estimates indicate that approximately 1,800 amateur stations, throughout the world, will be contacted, and limited information, including locations and signal reports, will be exchanged with each.

William J. Hawkins took first place in the competition with an improved electronic locking system which the judges selected as the best of near-ly 2,000 entries that were submitted from all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Many entries carried APO addresses. Entries came from places as obscure as Two Rivers, Wis., and as newsworthy as Cape Kennedy, Fla. Hawkins' invention consists of two parts, one of which is located on the instrument panel and the other under the hood. They are connected by a multi-wire cable passing through the fire wall. Any unauthorized person who tries to jump these wires immediately kills the circuits and the would-be thief

New painting at Ringwood

A restored oil painting (circa 1853) has been added to the collection of Americana at the Manor House of Ringwood State Park, Richard J. Sullivan, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, said this week.

'This particular artwork captures an idyllic lake scene in the Catskills and was done by John Frederick Kensett, noted artist of the Hudson River School which flourished in New Jersey and New York during the 19th century," Commissioner Sullivan said, Restoration of the painting was contributed by the Ameri-can Association of Conservators and Restorers under the direction of Mr, and Mrs. Frank Moratz of Wyckoff as part of a two-month survey course presented at the Rutherford Campus of Fair-leigh Dickinson University.

The device does away with key-type locks currently in use on automobiles, Instead, there are two plastic pieces about the size of credit cards, which control ignition, hood, and trunk locks to prevent unauthorized persons from gaining access to them. One of the cards is for the operator of the car and permits him to have unrestricted use of the vehicle. The second permits a parking attendant to operate the car with continuous flashing of four turn signals, but prevents him from opening the hood, trunk or compartment. The blinking is designed to attract attention to unauthorized operation off the parking lot. Any attempt to defeat the protection system stalls the car dead, and even sets off an alarm, if desired. Patent rights to the Haw-

How to do this' Levine says that if the public is to be encouraged to express itself and to air its attitudes toward the schools, board members will have to "establish themselves as flesh and blood, un-threatening human beings who are as accessible to the public as the next-door neighbor." Levine suggests that board members "make themselves available (in pairs) on specific nights in borrowed rooms (ofnights in borrowed rooms (of-fices, classrooms, libraries, broom closets) to hear the complaints of their constitu-ents, one at a time or in groups." This, he believes, will create the "reassuring atmosphere" that is neces-sary "if the community is to really come out and say what really come out and say what it likes and what it dislikes about the schools."

Drew gets wildlife grant To plant cover along pipeline

Drew University has been awarded a five-year, $50,000 grant by a major natural gas pipeline company to find ways of encouraging wildlife by se-lective planting along pipeline rights of way. The Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation of Houston, Texas, announced this week that it is funding a proposal by Chairman and Pro-fessor of Botany Robert K. Zuck to conduct planting experiments on certain of its pipeline rights of way within a 50-mile radius of Madison.

The announcement followed close on the heels of Dr. Zuck's disclosure that he has been retained by Texas Eastern to transform a Staten Island waterfront property into an attractive plant site. Those 50 acres near the Goethals Bridge are the site of a liquified natural gas storage tank, which at present is surrounded on three sides by tall Phragmites reeds. Accoriding to Texas Eastern and the Drew botanist, the reeds are not only unsightly but may constitute a fire hazard.

The professor says that both projects will get under way immediately.

The grant for encouraging wildlife along pipeline rights of way provides for the year-round employment of two Drew and birds. student research assistants for each of the five years at an individual annual salary of about $1,300. The first two assistants named by Dr. Zuck are Steven P. Darwin, a junior from Fairhaven, Mass., and Donald R. Cahoon, a sophomore from Rocky Hill, Conn. Though Darwin will be able to work for only a year before he graduates, Cahoon and three other students who will be named to the project as sophomores over the next three years will be employed for two years each, In this way, a total of five Drew botany majors will have the opportunity to engage in sustained original research as under-graduates; and, after the first year, Dr. Zuck will be able to call on a continuity of experienced aid until the grant terminates in 1975.

In his proposal to Texas Eastern, Dr. Zuck pointed out that a stable vegetational cover, like that in a mature forest or along older rights of way, supports much less animal life than an area in transition from one type of vegetation to another. Such transitional areas are usually found on farms, where diverse plant life provides food and shelter for a wide range of animals

"Laying of pipelines," he wrote, "results in a disturbed condition of the land, similar to farming. After a . . . time, however, with cutting and ap-plication of weed killers, a more stable condition obtains, and the great variety of plants which would normally be sup-ported cannot survive in the right of way. The essence of this research project, therefore, is the encouragement of animal life through the selective planting of largely native species of flowering plants." Texas Eastern and Dr. Zuck are also hopeful that the research will result in ground cover with greater erosion resistance than afforded naturally.

The proposal outlined three steps toward these objectives. First, 50 miles of right of way will be surveyed to determine the kinds of plants and animal habitats already there. For this purpose, and for the work generally, the grant provides for the purchase of a four-wheel-drive utility vehicle. Second, the professor and his assistants will gather — or purchase, if necessary — the plants and the seeds of plants judged most suitable for expanding the range of animal and bird habitats.

Third, greenhouse, labora-tory and field experiments will be conducted over the full term of the grant on factors affecting seed germination, on ways of establishing plants in the field, and on the adjust-ment of height, density and other plant characteristics to maintenance work along the right of way.

Dr. Zuck says the first year of the project will consist primarily of gathering data, col-lecting seeds and fruits, and beginning laboratory and greenhouse experiments. Over the four subsequent years, plants will be set out in selected portions of the right of way and their durability and suitability observed. At the end of the period, all data, plus conclusions, will be made available for publication. "It is expected," wrote Dr. Zuck, "that these recommendations would be applicable over much of the Northeast because of the great variety of habitats found in New Jersey and because of sim-ilarity in climate over most of this area."

On the Drew faculty since 1946, and chairman of the Botany Department since its establishment in 1947, Dr. Zuck is a member or a fellow of 11 professional organiza-tions, including the Botanical Society of America. A member of the North Jersey Conservation Foundation and a trustee of the Morris Museum of Arts and Sciences and the Willowwood Foundation, he is also a founder and former president of the New Jersey Academy of

Rinaldo calls for tax breaks for Jersey's senior citizens

State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo has announced plans to introduce legislation calling for an immediate tax freeze on the homes of eligible senior citizens,

"The program would be completely state-supported," he said, emphasizing that the tax

Union County to hold PTA institute, school

A Union County PTA Council institute and school of information will be held Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Union County Vocational and Technical School, Scotch Plains.

The purpose of the session is to familiarize local unit leaders with PTA purpose and policy and to gather the necessary information to en-able them to plan and execute local unit programs with greater confidence.

Registration will be at 9:30 a.m. and luncheon

It is obvious that senior citizens are asked to bear the greatest economic burden in today's inflationary whirlpool," Rinaldo declared.
"This burden of living on fixed incomes has become particularly onerous when one considers the inexorable increases in real estate taxes. The state should provide muni-cipalities with the funds that would make it Possible to freeze the taxes on homes owned and occupied by senior citizens.*

Kinaldo went on to explain that his idea would involve an immediate tax freeze on the residence properties of those over 65 who earn less than $6,250 a year. Investment properties of senior citizens would not be eligible for the freeze.

"This is the least we can do for those who have done so much to establish the base upon which succeeding generations are building," he declared, "It is our duty to do all we can to make possible a tax freeze with no strings for our senior citizens,"

First Jersey will expand its highway branch office

will more than double the size of First New Jersey Bank's highway branch office on Route

Frank M. Pitt, chairman of the board, said the rectangular addition to the key-hole-shaped building will provide facilities for more teller windows and space for an enlarged officers' platform inside the building. The vault will also be enlarged, permitting the availability of more safe deposit boxes.

Pitt also said plans call for the addition of a new drive-in window, bringing to three the number available for use by motorists.

The enlargement of the highway branch building was made possible by the bank's acquisition of a tract of adjacent land that has added 25 feet to the depth of First New Jersey's property. Pitt noted that the enlargement of the property will also make possible "a substantial increase" in the number of parking

Amy, she may have swayed our son's thinking and is now trying to sway ours, but she will never succeed. My problem is how to get her to stop sending this literature to us?

Distraught
Dear Distraught:
The "now" generation may be better educated than their parents, but what some of them lack is common sense, they make up in nerve.

Don't let her get your goat. Tell her in nouncertain terms to cut it out, and if she continues this barrage of "educational" material, just write on the unopened envelopes 'Return to Sender' and drop it back into the mail box.

Dear Amy:

A very disturbing financial problem is arising in the public high schools that we feel should be discussed and changed although we have made no effort to do so. We refer to the Senior Prom.

The average family and senior high student cannot afford the elaborate proms that are being arranged. Instead of holding the prom in school. it is at an expensive hotel or restaurant which the students must pay for. Beside the gowns and tuxs involved, there are flowers, transportation, after-the-prom celebrations, pictures, etc., etc., etc. We were advised that this year the prom costs for each student will be $100. As a result, our son will not be attending, nor will many other HOURS: Sat. 10-4/Mon., Wed., Fri. 10-6/Tues., Thurs. 10-9. students. Most annoyed at all this. We feel

An earlier report had listed only 95 cases of eye damage. The survey was conducted to determine the effectiveness of the intensive information camnaign to warn the public about the eye hazards of direct viewing of the eclipse, and to determine the incidence and circumstances of eye injuries. The survey included some 5,000 ophthalmologists throughout the country, and 1900 hospitals east of the Mississippi — chosen to cover areas in or near the path of the total

'A survey after the last eclipse in the U.S.

"A survey after the last eclipse in the U.S., in 1963, which was only partial throughout the country except for totality in Maine and parts of Alaska, turned up 247 cases of visual damage," said Dr. David.

vision impairment, with vision reduced to 20/200 in the affected eye, Mild burns, most with only a temporary partial vision impairment, were reported in 22 percent of the total cases. Of the total cases, 60 percent had used no eye protection whatsoever -- the sun was viewed with the naked eye. Of the so-called protective devices, sunglasses were most frequently used. By all means get involved! I think like you. Since most parents foot the bill for school functions, it's especially necessary for the Prom Committee to have several parents to oversee the plans and expenditures.

As mentioned last week, we're being bombarded with questions from readers of our column and visitors to our shop asking what to do in the handling of oil

Last week, we briefly talked about both.
Today, we'd like to go into a little more detail. For instance, use a nylon brush for latex paints because this type of brush will not absorb the moteture out of the will not absorb the moisture out of the paint. A bristle brush would absorb moisture and would be ruined. For the same reason, use a synthetic roller with latex paint.

For oil paint, use a short hair mohair roller for the best results.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

YOUR TAX BILL HIGH?
WATCH LOCAL BUDGETS
The (tax) chickens have come home to roost —in the mail boxes of local taxpayers.

June 1 is the statutory deadline for mailing tax bills in New Jersey's 567 municipalities. Representing the combined needs of the muni-cipality, school district and county govern-ment, the local tax bill represents the cul-mination of discussions, public hearings and reams of news reports that preceded their reams of news reports and property adoption early last winter.

For many, the 1970 tax bills will be up, continuing a trend of many years that has helped establish New Jersey's reputation as a high property tax state.

Pending release and compilation of 1970 data, the latest statewide tabulations are for "New Jersey Fiscal Facts," published by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, shows that local property tax levies more than doubled between 1959 and 1969 to total more than $1,710,500,000. Greatest increase was a 156% rise in the school levy to nearly $957 million. Closely following in percentage rise was a 145% increase in the county tax levy to a total of more than $335 million. The levy for municipal purposes rose 46% over the decade to total nearly $385 million. Tax deductions granted senior citizens and veter-ans added nearly $34 million to the bills of all taxpayers last year.

Together, the 1970 bills are expected to reflect a continued high rate of climb in the local property tax burden in New Jersey. As frequently pointed out by NJTA, "to bring taxes under control, spending must be controlled" – and the place to control spending was via the budget prior to adoption earlier in the year. Most of the hearings however played to less than standing room crowds.

Increasing taxpayer discontent with bulging local tax burden is reflected in a number of moves being directed toward the problem. Among these, the Governor's newly-appointed Tax Study Commission has established a task force to deal with the problem of the local property tax in relation to the overall tax and fiscal problems of New Jersey.

At least, it is a proporsition that can be convincingly supported by the New Jersey 4-H and The Seeing Eye, Inc., of Morris-town. For 27 years now, 4-H of New Jersey and The Seeing Eye have been working together in a project sponsored by the Cooperative

Club raises Seeing Eye dogs

Every club member who takes a dog is entirely responsible for its care and feeding. He also sees that the dog has plenty of exercise and play each day and keeps a careful record of his experiences in raising the animal. Seeing Eye fieldmen and county 4-H agents make periodic visits to 4-H homes to check the care and physical progress of the dogs and to discover any bad traits that might rule the animal out of the program.

Almost needless to say, the dogs and the 4-H families become quite attached to one another, but, nevertheless, there comes a day when the dog must be returned to Seeing Eye headquarters for training.

One Ocean County 4-H'er remarked, "Ihate to see the day come when I have to give up my dog, but I keep remembering what she will be doing for the rest of her life. Besides, I know it will be the proudest day of my life when she graduates with her new master."

If you don't quit cigarette smoking this month, it won't be the fault of the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey.

The association, which sponsors the local Christmas Seal campaign, is participating in a nationwide education program conducted by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to urge smokers to "Kick the Cigarette Habit."

Cigarette smoking has been linked with the rapid rise of respiratory diseases such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis. In addition to these ailments, smoking is also associated with coronary disease and cancer of the lung, lip and tongue.

Area's TB group

joins anti-smoking

educational drive

"Carbon monoxide is a gas that escapes every time a cigarette is lighted, the association said. "If you inhale cigarette smoke, there is no way to block the gas from entering your respiratory tract. Filters cannot trap

"When cigarette smoke is inhaled a complex mixture of smoke particles and gases curfus the respiratory system, settles on its surface and disrupts its normal process.

"The respiratory system has an intricate way of keeping clean. Tiny broom-like organs (cilia), which line the nose, throat and lungs, remove the dirt and other substances by beating in rhythm forcing these invaders out of the breathing passages.

'Cigarette smoking paralyzes the cilia.
'Medical studies have shown that one cigarette lowers the temperature of the skin, upsets the flow of blood and air in and out

"Smoking, of course, has other effects, too. However, the minute the individual stops smoking, the body goes to work to repair the damage. The ill effects of smoking have been stressed for several years, but as most smokers will report kicking the habit is not an easy task."

Antique auto 'race' slated on Saturday

Drivers in Essex County are advised not to be overly concerned this Saturday if their shiny new cars are overtaken and passed on the roadby cars 50 or 60 years old.

They will simply have been overtaken by the participants an unofficial race of about 100 antique cars. It will run from Branch Brook Park, Newark, to Turtle Back Zoo, West Orange, to help celebrate the founding of the Essex County Park System 75 years ago.

Sponsored by the 75th anniversary committee of the Essex County Park Commission, the cars are being provided by members of the Antique Automobile Club of America. They will be on display on the ice center parking lot in Branch Brook Fark until 10:30 a.m. The cars are then scheduled to simulate a race along Park avenue through East Orange to Main street, West Orange, and then down Northfield avenue to Turtle Back Zoo.

The public may also view the old automobile relics during the afternoon at the zoo. They will be in a roped off area on the zoo parking lot for a judging and awards presentation from about 11:30 a.m. to about

Driver hurt in collision

Eleanor Pittenger of Mountainside suffered a bruised nose last Thursday afternoon when her car collided with one driven by Helen K. Mangiris of 132 Briar Hills circle, Springfield, at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Briar Hills circle, according to Springfield police. The Springfield First Aid Squad took Mrs. Pittenger to Over-look Hospital, Summit, where she was treated and released. Mrs. Mangiris refused treatment, police said.

Mrs. Pittenger's car sustained damage to the complete front, both doors and the steering wheel and had to be towed. Mrs. Mangiris' auto also had to be towed after being damaged on the front end and front left side.

According to reports, Mrs. Pittenger was traveling south on Mountain avenue and Mrs. Mangiris was making a left turn onto Mountain from Briar Hills circle when the accident occurred. The cars collided at the intersection and Mrs. Pittenger's vehicle traveled about 30 feet before hitting a utility pole, Mrs. Mangiris' car wound up on a lawn after traveling about 20 feet, police

THE SEARCH THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

DENTAL COMBAT ZONE Oral diseases are as old as man, Evidence of decay of the teeth and periodontal disor-ders has been found in the most ancient of human skulls.

Scientists at the National Institute of Dental Research, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, have shown that certain forms of tooth decay and periodontal destruction are related to specific types of bacteria foundin most people's mouths. These bacteria are able to attach themselves to the teeth, where they grow and multiply into increasingly larger colonies cailed plaque. Plaque develops constantly in the mouth and is very ad-hesive. Although difficult to detect because it is colorless and transparent, plaque some-times accumulates so heavily that it can be seen as whitish mats.

Plaque plays a big role in tooth decay, and certain strains of bacteria are especially active in forming it. When these bacteria come in contact with ordinary sugar in various foods and beverages, they produce gummy sub-stances called dextrans which enable plaque to stick to the teeth.

Once plaque is established on the teeth, more bacteria lodge in this sticky film, reproduce, and manufacture acids which attack tooth enamel. The enamel is eventually dissolved by the acid, and bacteria from the plaque actually invade the underlying dentin to continue the destruction of the tooth.
Bacteria in plaque begin

Bacteria in plaque begin producing acid within a few seconds after a person eats any food which contains sugar, and continues the process for long periods of time, thereby prolonging destructive action long after sweets are actually in the mouth.
A progressive accumulation

A progressive accumulation of bacterial plaque on the teeth, along the gum line, is also responsible for the most prevalent form of periodontal disease, which attacks gums and bone supporting the teeth.

Scientists have found that the accumulation of plaque in this area leads to the development.

the accumulation of plaque in this area leads to the develop-ment of periodontal disease through a chain of events. (1) The gum tissues become in-flamed and are likely to bleed. (2) Bacterial plaque closest to the tooth surface is converted the tooth surface is converted into a hard deposit called tartar or calculus.

(3) Fibers that fasten the gums to the teeth are eventually attacked and destroyed. The gums slowly separate from the teeth, leaving pockets or spaces between gums and teeth which fill with bacteria and inflammatory cells. (4) The disease process reaches the bone that supports the teeth; the teeth become loose teeth; the teeth become loose and finally fall out. Although periodontal disease is often thought to be a disease of older persons, the early stages of this infection can be seen even in children. Since the disease starts early in life, the time to prevent it also is early in life. The way to prevent it is through the control of plaque.

Both prevention of initial plaque infection and control of existing infections require of existing infections require that one follow a simple pro-gram of wise eating habits and regular, effective removal of bacterial deposits from all tooth surfaces.

Chain opens 400th unit

On June 8, nine years after opening its first store in Milford, Ohio, SupeRx opened its 400th unit in Daytona Beach, Fla. The Cincinnati-based subsidiary of the Kroger Company, operates coast-to-coast in 23 states, and has grown to become the nation's second largest drug chain, Super X operates the Sav-On Drug Store at Echo Plaza Shopping Center, Springfield, It all started in 1960 when Kroger hired James P. Her-ring to establish a drug store subsidiary. Herring had built an eight-store chain in the New Jersey-New York area, which became the high-volume, discount, self-service prototype for the present SupeRx concept. SupeRx merchandising philosophy stresses the importance of filling prescriptions; tance of filing prescriptions; the Rx in SupeRx is pharma-cist shorthand for prescrip-tion, Most SupeRx Stores are managed by registered phar-macists. The stores feature national brands of health and beauty aids, franchised cosmetics, private-label products, and a wide variety of everyday and seasonal merchandise at discount prices.

In March of this year, SupeRx President Herring was named president of the Kroger named president of the Kroger Company, heading the five operating companies which make up Kroger: the 1500 unit Food Store Company, Kroger Food Manufacturing, Family Center Stores, Top Value En-terprises and SupeRx Drug Stores.

Edmond M. Shipp is the new president of Supekx. He has served the company as a dis-trict manager, division manager and operations vice-pres-ident. Shipp reports a five year plan for continued growth of 50 new stores annually.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D. Director National Institute of Mental Health

PUBLIC ATTITUDES

What are the public's atti-tudes toward mental illness and the people who are emotionally or mentally ill?

Public understanding and attitudes based on fact rather than superstition are essential to finding and treating mental to inding and treating mental illness effectively — and to preventing mental illness and fostering mental health.

This is particularly important now that there are community mental health centers growing up all over the ters growing up all over the country, allowing greater numbers of mentally ill persons to be treated in their community to the community's advantage as well as theirs.

Surveys have been made to find out what the public's understanding and attitudes are. These have been scattered, done at different times, by different investigators, with different methods and aims, and on different groups of the population.

Nonetheless, the general impression from these studies is that the public is better informed about mental illness than it was 10 to 20 years ago. Most important, the public expresses more tolerant and understanding toward the mentally ill than toward the mentally ill than used to be true.

People at all social and economic levels are more knowledgeable now than they were a decade or more ago. Unfortunately, this greater knowledge has not always been matched by progress infacilities and services for dealing with mental or emotional difficulties.

We can look for this to improve. For one thing, the proximity of more mental health resources in the community, as these services are developed in accord with local needs and desires, will lead to changes in the ways people seek help for mental illness and in the ways it is provided them. This, in turn, should lead to further changing of public artitudes for the good of all concerned.

TELEPHONE REASSURANCE SERVICE Sometimes there's nothing as silent and de-pressing as a telephone that doesn't ring. But now there's a unique service in many towns and cities across the country that breaks the silence and means that a lone person is being reached by a concerned community member.

This "telephone reassurance service" allows thousands to live independently without the hazards and dangers often involved in living alone. The system is based on volunteer callers and people who want to be called. (Sometimes the subscribers pay a small fee.) Primarily this is how it works:

Telephone calls are regularly made at an arranged time.

The caller must phone according to the prearranged plan every day; sevendays a week. The subscriber must notify the caller if for reason he or she will be out of range of the telephone at the appointed calling hour.

If a call goes unanswered, a carefully organized emergency plan goes immediately into effect. In most cases, a neighbor, nurse, or a policeman will come to the house at once. If they discover a medical crisis, they call a doctor and notify relatives.

Even if an emergency never occurs, the need for the service remains. There's a great comfort knowing that someone is going to call you every day at a certain time. It also gives you something to look forward to, along with peace of mind.

June food prospects look good for next few weeks

As indicated by the cattle on feed report, supplies of beef have increased recently, remaily rise during the summer ports Mary E. Weaver, County Home economist. The prospects for continuing supplies look good for the next several included with the beef is a heavy supply of pork, There-fore, an abundant amount of red meat should be more than adequate for this time of year and wholesale prices should continue to ease off slightly in the near future.

Lamb marketing remains above a year ago but will soon drop below last year's levels. The supply of veal looks pretty dim at this point. With the demand greater than the supply, the prices will be on the rise.

You can look for plenty of chicken during June, which is the beginning of the outdoor cooking season. Marketing for broilers during June will be about eight percent greater than for the same month in cherries among the plentiful months. This rise in price will not be as great as other years.

The egg supply for June will also be greater than last year's. Production is expected to be up about three percent over June of 1969.

June is the peak month for finfish because of the open weather and the high level of fishing operation. The lead-ing fish on the market includes bluefish, cod, flounder, King, Spanish and Northern mack-erel, porgies, halibut, sea bass, striped bass, and whit-ing. Shellfish too are on the increase with clams, crabs, and mussels all in good supply.

June is the month that many local fruits and vegetables begin to come to market in large quantities. The quality is generally good and the homemaker should look for rhubarb, strawberries, blueberries, watermelon. peaches, apricots, plums and

His comments came at commencement exercises for the graduating class of the Ward-law Country Day School in

Williams told the graduates, most of whom will be college freshmen next fall, that American college students to-"are leaders of some of the most vigorous attempts to find answers" to the prob-lems facing the nation.

"They are filling what might be called an 'involvement gap' which their parents allowed to develop," he said, "It is a gap between American citizens and their government.
'Today, the leaders of this country are paying attention added. In business, labor, and government, the policy makers are listening to the dialogue on college cam-

He pointed out that this "new involvement of American college students in the problems of society" will add to the decisions each of the students will have to make when they get to college,
