Highway crossing alternatives urged

CPM asks underpass, feeder roads

Mayor reports on talks with officials in Trenton

By JANICE ADLER

The Committee to Preserve Mountainside presented two alternatives to the state's proposed cloverleaf to eliminate traffic problems at the intersection of New Providence road and Rt. 22, at a meeting Tuesday at Beechwood School. Ed Keebler presided. About 200 citizens attended.

One local proposal is for a feeder system from New Providence road to an underpass at Chapel Island. It would eliminate the Rescue Squad, the Board of Education's administrative offices, Echobrook School, Borough Hall, Bl-wise Liquors and the Fire Department.

The other plan would have two one-way crossings about 100 to 200 yards on either side of the present crossing. These would be controlled by traffic lights.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi read a letter that he wrote to the New Jersey Department of Transportation following a recent meeting in Trenton which he and members of the Borough Council attended.

The letter said, "At that meeting we discussed at length, among other things, the proposal of certain consultants to the Transportation Department for construction of an overpass at the intersection of New Providence Road and Route 22, Mountainside."

"Constant with the objections of the previous borough administration," reiterated on behalf of the citizens of Mountainside our objections to a major overpass at the New Providence road intersection.

"I was heartened by the fact that your department does not appear to be irrevocably committed to the proposed overpass and was encouraged by the interest shown . . . in conceptual alternatives."

"I understand that the members of your staff will review the suggestions we have made

Regional District board honors Dr. Davis, Ward

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools, and Avery W. Ward of Kenilworth, former president of the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education, have been honored by the board for their contributions to the district.

The auditorium at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, is being named Davis Hall, and the athletic field at David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, will be known as Ward Field.

Dr. Davis, who lives in Berkeley Heights, has been superintendent since 1956. He began his teaching career in a one-room school in Ohio. Before assuming his present post with the Regional District, Dr. Davis was principal at North Plainfield High School.

A member of numerous professional organizations, Dr. Davis was recently elected to the board of trustees of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

In announcing the honor to Dr. Davis at the Gov. Livingston graduation ceremonies last Thursday, Edwin Little, vice-president of the board, cited Dr. Davis' "outstanding contributions" to education, not only in the district, but state and nationally.

Ward, board president from 1963 until his retirement in November, 1969, served on the board for 15 years. A former member of the Kenilworth Board of Education, he played an active role in the planning of three of the Regional District's four high schools, including the David Brearley building, which opened in 1966.

Ward, who resigned from the Regional school board because of ill health, was active in the State Federation of District Boards of Education. He was also active in community affairs, including the Boy Scouts.

School board member Charles Scheuermann announced the honor to Ward at David Brearley's graduation ceremonies last Thursday.

The Regional District comprises Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield, and operates four high schools.

Police promotions cause complaints at council meeting

Complaints about recent promotions within the Mountainside Police Department were presented by Patrolmen Frederick Ahlholm and William Alder at a special meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday night at Borough Hall. The meeting was called to vote on extending liquor licenses.

Patrolmen Raymond Della Serra and Edward Hafeken were promoted to sergeants at the meeting by the passing of a resolution. The complaints came because Patrolman Steven Semanachek did not receive the same promotion although he received the highest score on the written examination for promotion, said the protestors.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi said that the council had discussed the promotions at several sessions. He said that someone had to make a decision based on all the facts which were presented. "The decision was fair and equitable," he added.

James Clarkin said that he felt there was discrimination against Semanachek. Councilman Louis Parent said that the

Fireworks set for dusk on 4th

Fourth of July fireworks will begin at dusk Saturday on the grounds of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. They will be set off by members of the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department under the supervision of Ernest Kuffer. A spokesman said that extra mortar tubes are being planned to speed up the show.

The fireworks will be viewed from the Deerfield School playground and the parking lot of Our Lady of Lourdes. The spokesman thanked the Rev. Gerald McGarry for his cooperation. "A good view of the display may be had from almost any vantage point in town. There will be no parking in the school parking lots or on the lower part of Central Avenue," the spokesman added.

The spokesman concluded, "The cooperation of the public is requested in order to make this a safe celebration by remaining in back of the lines that are erected and guarded by the firemen."

Birthday calendar plans announced by Woman's Club

Mrs. H. Arthur Tonnesen, ways and means chairman of the Mountainside Woman's Club, announced at a recent meeting at her home: "The regular monthly meeting dates for 1970-71 of all service organizations in Mountainside will be printed free of charge on our community birthday calendar, as well as special school vacation dates."

"The calendar, which will be for one year starting September, 1970, will include birthdays and wedding anniversaries of residents of Mountainside. This will be in keeping with Mountainside's 75th anniversary theme to make it the most friendly community in our State."

"It is the wish of the Woman's Club to serve the community by presenting one complete calendar which residents may have at their fingertips for constant referral; one calendar on which service organizations will list their regular monthly dates with the charge."

Mrs. Tonnesen asked that all organizations phone her at 233-4537 with their listings before July 10 in order to make printing deadlines for September publication.

The community birthday calendar is a project of the club to help finance the annual nurses' scholarship fund.

State police class graduates Harding

Thomas Harding III of 409 W. Elm st., Mountainside, a Gov. Livingston Regional High School student, was graduated Saturday as a member of the ninth Trooper Youth Week class conducted at the State Police Academy, Sea Girt, according to an announcement by Col. D.B. Kelly, superintendent.

Sixty-nine 11th grade boys from high schools throughout the state, selected by school authorities on the basis of character, scholarship and physical ability, participated in a full week of simulated police training at the academy. Each boy will be expected, upon his return to school, to report on his experiences to the student body. The report, made during his senior year, may take the form of an assembly program, a feature story in his school newspaper, an exhibit or any other form he wishes. The student may also enlist the aid of a state trooper for whatever practical assistance may be required.

Truck rams car, Rt. 22 snarled

John Scott Jr. of Orange was charged by Mountainside police with passing a red light, not having a registration in his possession and driving an unsafe vehicle after a trailer truck he was driving collided with a car driven by Beatrice Scheller of 885 New Providence rd., Mountainside, Monday afternoon.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Rt. 22 and New Providence road and tied up traffic for about three-and-a-half hours on both roads. The truck wound up on the divider after its brakes locked, the report said. Scott reportedly told police that he saw the light turn red but could not stop. He said that the load of frozen eggs that he was carrying pushed him through the light. No one was injured.

Refresher course at Overlook helps nurses to 're-graduate'

Resetting their caps, a group of "retired" nurses are proving at Overlook Hospital in Summit that it's never too late and the challenge of nursing offers a lifetime career. Several in the class are widows in their 50s, a number are grandmothers, and together they are an average 50 years out of nursing.

The class of 13 members has been especially geared to staff Overlook's new 80-bed extended care facility, which will open this August. Meanwhile they will be assigned to other staff positions.

On regular salary while they were updated, the nurses earned while they learned and were unanimous in their opinions that they wouldn't have dared to return to the nursing field without such a comprehensive course as Overlook offers.

According to Mrs. Ann Temple, in-service education instructor at Overlook, the recent re-graduates have spent three days each week in classroom lectures and demonstrations by medical specialists in many fields. Two days each week they have been rotated through different clinical floors to gain experience in diverse fields.

Learning about new drugs and medications received special emphasis as one of the greatest areas of change in modern medicine. All felt that the concept of progressive care - having nurse specialists in recovery room, intensive and special care and on the coronary unit - greatly relieves the returning nurse from the acute, highly geared and technical care of critically ill patients.

Special emphasis was placed on rehabilitation techniques and psychological understanding and motivation of patients, since the extended care facility is designed for long-term patients, many recovering from strokes, hip fractures and other long illnesses.

Inhalation therapy, occupational and physical therapy, diet planning and all important phases of rehabilitation were particularly stressed, along with demonstrations of advanced new equipment involved and techniques of cardiac resuscitation.

Nurses interested in future refresher courses at Overlook may call Mrs. Temple in in-service education, 273-8100, Ext. 322.

While there, we will have an escorted tour through the noted mansion of the Coopers and the Hewitts. After luncheon, we will visit Skylands Manor. This is a fabulous early 20th century English manor-type house just opened to the public. The group will then return to the municipal parking lot at 6 p.m."

The total cost includes bus fare, parking fee, admission cost to the houses and a box lunch. Reservations may be made by mailing checks to Miss Catherine A. Stess, treasurer, 77 Linden Ave., Springfield. Questions will be answered by Mrs. Robert D. Hardgrove at 376-3348.

Letters to Editor

LATE OPENING

It is too bad that the Mountainide pool was not available to our children for the week of July 19. This was an important transitional week before vacations begin and before many children went to camp. Yet this was not a consideration in deciding the opening date of the pool.

Surely this recreational facility, supported by Mountainide residents and built for their convenience, should have had an opening date coordinated with our schools, not with the schedule of the pool director and his staff members, who go to school out of town.

Another factor to be considered is that the lifeguard and staff jobs should be given to Mountainide youths, not out-of-towners.

within your staff and with your independent consultants and following that review a subsequent meeting will be scheduled to discuss the material of these suggested alternatives."

Jaffe, a member of the CPM executive committee, read the minority report on the dual feeder proposal to an over-2000 meeting at the Mountainide Municipal Center. Other minority members were John H. Palmer Jr., Frank Falter and Mrs. Thomas Loftus.

Jaffe outlined the purposes of the committee and reviewed his previous findings at length. He said "The economic effect on the Mountainide taxpayer of the dual feeder road alternative is nothing less than disastrous. New bond issues would be required for an addition to school facilities to replace Echobrook School, Borough Hall, the Rescue Squad building and the Fire Department building. In addition, a great number of commercial retailables will be irrevocably destroyed increasing the tax burden for each remaining taxpayer.

"The damage to the esthetic beauty of our community and the increase in air pollution and traffic need not be detailed here. The number of trees that will be required to be cut down along the highway and on the approaches to the proposed overpass at Mountain avenue would be enough to bring the most battle-hardened conservationist to tears.

"In conclusion, the dual feeder road alternative presented by officials of the Borough of Mountainide to the State Department of Transportation will not lead to the preservation of Mountainide—it will go a long way towards destroying it."

written examination is designed just to determine if the person is qualified. There are other factors, said Parent, just as if a person were entering college.

Alholm said that he and Alder spoke with other members of the police department and said that 95 percent believe that there was an injustice because Semanchek was not promoted.

Committeeman Robert Ruggiero said that those chosen could have been chosen solely on their scores on the examination, but this was not done. After receiving the grades, the chief of police, Edward Mullin, gave recommendations and the council then examined each man's qualifications.

FAMILY POT LUCK

Need a quick treat? Try a Danish sandwich. Spread 1 slice rye bread with prepared mustard, top with lettuce. Halve 1 slice each boiled ham and Swiss cheese; roll up each half, jelly-roll fashion. Alternate meat and cheese rolls on lettuce; garnish with watercress.

For a different sandwich, spread mustard-mayonnaise on hero roll. Top with egg salad, using 1 egg per person. Overlap with 3 slices Italian salami; top with slices of red onion.

A quick and easy dessert is made by topping drained canned pear halves with whipped cream. Sprinkle generously with chocolate sprinkles.

Dried beef comes in both jars and packages. You can shred it for use with cream cheese and horseradish as a dip. It can also be used in a cream sauce served over baked, boiled or mashed potatoes.

Town cancer crusade
surpasses goal for 1970

Co-chairmen Harold H. Liebeskind and Arthur A. Caprio of Springfield, this week announced that the goal for the 1970 American Cancer Society Crusade in Springfield has been surpassed. Local residents were asked to contribute $3,800 to continue and expand the society's threefold program of research, education and patient service. "The response from the residents has been both generous and overwhelming to our appeal," said Liebeskind. He added, "To date we have received $4,042 in contributions from our friends and neighbors, who sympathize with the society's cause to eliminate cancer as a disease to mankind. This is the ultimate goal, and it can be accomplished through research. However, to attain this goal, we the populace, must care enough to learn and know the dangers of cancer and the possibilities of cure."

The American Cancer Society works to make all people aware of this malady through its public and professional education programs, and its distribution of educational literature. Another facet of the American Cancer Society is its service program. Service activities are varied, depending on the needs of the patient and funds available. The following is a list of services provided by the society:

Counseling service for the cancer patient and his family, providing pertinent information, assistance and guidance through full use of community, medical, and social resources; loan closets, offering sick-room necessities, such as hospital beds, surgical dressings prepared by volunteers, patient transportation.

Caprio expressed his deepest thanks to all those who contributed, thus enabling the community to surpass its goal. "Let's hope that the contribution made by the Springfield Crusade brings closer the day when cancer is only a bad memory like polio," he stated.

"The cure of cancer is as far away as the moon, or as close as tomorrow's newspaper headlines," added Liebeskind. "It is up to us."

Liebeskind concluded that if anyone has not contributed to the Crusade and wishes to do so, donations can be sent to the Union County office located at 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, 07208.

The story of organ transplants is breathtaking in its implications. The extremely delicate surgical technique of organ transplants still has a long way to go. But slowly and surely successes are being chalked up which would have been impossible to achieve even five years ago. There are many persons in the United States today who are alive because their blood is being purified by a transplanted kidney. Most of these successful transplants have been between identical twins; a few have involved people with no relation to each other; and there is one case of a man surviving for a few weeks with a kidney transplanted from a chimpanzee. Transplant operations are still in their experimental stage. Yet what we have seen so far proves that spare parts operations will be an accomplished feat in the near future.

There are many new drugs and vaccines on the market today that achieve cures or prevent illnesses that we would have thought impossible several years ago.

Vets earn pilot wings

More than 25,700 veterans are taking flight training for a commercial pilot's license under provisions of the GI Bill, Paul M. Nugent, manager of the New Jersey Veterans Administration's Regional Office in Newark, said this week.

An eligible veteran entered into an approved flight course will be paid an educational assistance allowance computed at the rate of 90 percent of the established charges for tuition and fees which non-veterans enrolled in the same flight course are required to pay.

According to Nugent, these allowances may be paid monthly by the VA upon receipt of a certification from the veteran, and the school, as to the flight training received and the cost to the veteran during such month.

The eligible veteran will be charged one month's educational entitlement under the GI Bill for each $175 paid to him as educational assistance allowance for a flight course.

Nugent said that flight training as a part of an approved college degree program is also available to the veterans.

Lebau named United Fund director for Eastern section of Union County

Harry Lebau, executive director emeritus of the YM-YWHA, Union, has been named executive director, pro tem, of the Eastern Union County United Community Services and the United Fund, it was announced by Roland Chard, president. He succeeded William A. Richards on July 1, when Richards left to accept a post with the Morris County United Fund.

Lebau started his career by serving as a representative of the Jewish Welfare Board at an Army general hospital after being discharged from the Medical Corps in early 1919. Thereafter, he served as the pioneer director of the Hebrew Educational Society in Brooklyn, N.Y. and the YMAHs of Birmingham, Ala., and Boston, Mass.

Before coming to Elizabeth in late 1926, he worked for the joint distribution committee raising hundreds of thousands of dollars in Canada and upper New York State for Jewish relief overseas.

In his 37 years as director of the Elizabeth association, it grew from a membership of 300 to nearly 5,000. He is credited with having been instrumental in the erection of the old building on E. Jersey street, Elizabeth, and the present $2,000,000 structure on Green lane, Union.

In 1963 he assumed the burden of trying to complete the structure then building in Green lane. He retired as director emeritus in 1968. Mrs. Lebau and he were elected honorary directors for life.

While president of the area social workers' group in the Thirties, he helped reorganize Elizabeth's Recreation Department. He also worked on the mayor's Labor and Industrial Relations Commission. He organized the first vocational educational forum in Elizabeth; founded and conducted the Lyceum community forum for 25 years; was assistant war fund director; organized the Eastern Union County Jewish Council and United Jewish Appeal and directed it for 10 years, and developed the first

USO unit in this area.

One of the organizers of the local Community Chest (now the United Services and United Fund) and its first secretary in 1933, he and Mrs. Lebau have been identified with every campaign of the fund since then. In 1968-69, he served as the drive's general chairman. That year the fund surpassed the $700,000 mark for the first time.

Lebau is an emeritus of the National Association of Jewish Workers; holds two U.S. Army citations for civilian services in World Wars I and II; has several "Man of the Year" awards, and has been honored in many other ways. He has written extensively in his fields.

The Lebaus reside at 828 Linden ave., Elizabeth.

Social Security applicants advised to bring all necessary documents

Be prepared when you go to file for social security benefits, Ralph W. Jones, district manager of the Elizabeth social security office, said this week. "If you come prepared, you will be assured of receiving your first check promptly," he added.

Jones made these suggestions on the documents or information applicants should bring with them:

-Social security numbers-not only the worker's number, but the numbers of all eligible dependents such as wife, widow, and children.

-Proof of age-birth or baptismal certificate.

-Data on earnings for the past year and the current year. This can be the worker's W2 income tax form for the past year; income tax return if self-employed; and an estimate of earnings in the current year. Your payroll office can usually provide you with the estimate of current year earnings.

-Marriage certificate-if a wife or widow is filing.

-Discharge papers-if worker had military service.

-Addresses of doctors and hospitals where treatment has been received-if the person is filing for disability benefits.

-Name and address of school-if a child is between 18 and 22 and attending school.

-Dates and records of previous marriages-if either spouse has been married before.

"This list includes the most common information needed, if you have questions as to what you will need," Jones said "telephone the office before visiting. The representative there will be pleased to tell you what proofs you will need."

Auto's brakes fail, officer not injured in mishap Tuesday

Lt. John C. Baber of the Springfield Police Department escaped injury last Tuesday evening when the brakes on his patrol car failed as he was attempting to turn into Brown avenue from Commerce street, police said. Two front wheels and the front end were damaged and the vehicle had to be towed from the scene.

Baber, responding to a holdup and robbery alarm, was traveling north on Commerce. He attempted to slow down the vehicle to make the turn into Brown when the power brakes went. The car crossed Brown, went over the curb and wound up on the lawn at Vector Electronics.

Four persons were injured Sunday afternoon when a car driven by Richard E. Paskevicius of Hillside collided with one driven by Edward J. Glankowski of Plainfield at the intersection of Meisel and Wabeno avenues. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Glankowski and three passengers in his car, Diane Glankowski, Catherine Glankowski and Shirley Glankowski, all of Plainfield were taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where they were treated and released.

According to reports, Glankowski was making a left turn from Wabeno into Meisel avenue. Paskevicius was traveling south on Meisel and told police that he did not see the other car because he was blinded by the sun.

Ira Brown, 12, of 50 Christy lane, Springfield, was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad after he was hit by a car Friday afternoon on Meisel avenue. He was discharged after being treated for multiple bruises.

According to reports, Louis Antonucci of Wyckoff was traveling south on Meisel avenue near Milltown road. Ira was riding his bicycle and cut in front of the car to cross the street from west to east. He was hit by the vehicle's right front fender.

A car driven by Robert S. Bell of New Providence collided with one driven by George A. Conway 2nd of Summit last Tuesday morning on Morris avenue, according to Springfield police.

House and office entered by thieves over the weekend

Two break and entries were reported this past week by Springfield police. The Friden Co. on Rt. 22 was entered over the weekend by knocking out a window on the side of the building. A typewriter and adding machine of undetermined value were missing, according to reports.

A house on Becker road was entered Monday by someone who broke out a pane of glass in the rear door. A television set was missing the report said.

Eric Ostrow of Great Neck, N.Y., called police headquarters Sunday to report that someone had broken into his car. He told police that he was visiting someone at the Summit Hill Apartments and that a radio and tape player valued at about $200 were taken from the car.

Frederick Bailey of Kenilworth reported that four hubcaps, six tapes and a stereo tape player were taken from his car Monday while he was at the Lido Diner. The items were valued at about $200, police said.

Two tires valued at about $40 each were taken from a wrecked car in the yard of the Springfield Garage on Keeler street over the weekend, according to police.

Witnesses attend 4-day convention in Hudson County

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Springfield Congregation are planning to attend a four-day, faith-strengthening convention in Jersey City, July 9-12 or 16-19.

Ralph R. Hoppe, presiding minister of the congregation discussed plans for the Hudson County convention following his attendance at a pre-convention organizational meeting in Jersey City last week. The Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, New York, sponsor of the gathering, has scheduled 32 of these "Men of Goodwill District Assemblies" throughout the United States starting this month and continuing through August.

Said Mr. Hoppe: "An assembly such as this which will be attended by more than 23,000 persons requires a vast amount of preparation and work, but we approach it with the attitude that it offers us the opportunity to demonstrate our Christian love."

"First of all," Mr. Hoppe said, "We demonstrate our love for Jehovah-God by making available the time, money and effort to attend. We also share by volunteering to work in the assembly organization comprised of about 20 departments. Everything from providing sleeping accommodations and food to moving in and setting up convention equipment will be done by our organization of volunteers who thus demonstrate the principle outlined by Jesus in the sermon on the mount 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.'"

"The assembly will not only enable us to enjoy the advantage of associating with a great crowd who love Jehovah-God but we will also hear a program that will be of benefit to parents and young people alike. We extend a cordial invitation to all interested persons in Springfield to attend."

TURNABLE TREATS (good listening) THE BOY FRIEND: an original Broadway Cast Recording. Judy Carne, the "sock-it-to-me" girl of TV's Laugh-In makes her Broadway debut as the wide-eyed innocent heroine, in the revival of the merry musical of the 1920's, when the only kicking young people did was on the dance floor, and "war" was something that happened to the soles of their shoes.

AIRPORT LOVE THEME: by Vincent Bell, Bell's guitar and creative ability is heard in a program of 10 selections. The hit sound featured throughout this LP album is his unique "water sound," which contributed so greatly to the success of the Ferrante & Teicher hit recording of "Midnight Cowboy."

South Brunswick runs only local migrant school

South Brunswick is the only school district in New Jersey — and one of only a few in the nation — that runs its own educational program for the children of agricultural workers.

"We have developed what we believe to be an exceptionally successful program for dealing with the educational, social, and medical needs of both the rural poor who live here year around and of migrant farm children who spend each summer and fall here," says Patricia Murphy, a school social worker in South Brunswick.

The program began in 1964 primarily to give specialized educational help to the children of the migrant farm workers who annually spend part of the growing season harvesting crops on South Brunswick's many farms.

The State of New Jersey operates schools during the summer for the children of migrant workers, but South Brunswick is the only local school district to do so.

But local needs also underlie the venture. The township contains permanent "rural poor" families. Local children of pre-school age also attend the summer migrant school to get a "head start." As migrant children are pulled out of the program in the fall, they are replaced with local children having special learning problems.

BECAUSE MIGRANT CHILDREN do not bring school records with them, each student's program begins with a thorough educational diagnosis. Once the child's ability level has been established, the program stresses improvement in reading, writing, and speaking. It also attempts to improve the self-image of the children.

All students in the program receive medical and dental checkups, laboratory tests, and immunization inoculations. Breakfast is available to all students who want it, along with a high-protein hot lunch and, later, a snack.

The school staff stands ready to help the families who send children to the program — even to the extent of halting an occasional parent out of jail.

A secondary goal of the South Brunswick migrant program is to upgrade the self-image of the pupils' mothers. To do this, the school district hires mothers to work in the migrant program — as drivers, medical assistants, clerks, but most of all as teacher aides. The program encourages mothers to continue their education. Two former aides have completed full time programs at Middlesex County College.

"Our limited goal of making 'better' mothers has been surpassed," says Mrs. Murphy. "Now these better mothers are making our program better. When we started hiring parents, we hoped we would be 'giving.' We never dreamed that we would be 'getting.'"

Annual golf outing to be held Tuesday

More than 100 realtors and guests are expected to participate in the annual golf outing sponsored by the New Jersey Association of Realtor Boards on Tuesday at Twin Brooks Country Club, Westwood.

Golf committee chairman Philip H. Weisbecker said a full day's activities have been planned with tee-offs starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until noon. A luncheon break will separate the morning and afternoon rounds.

Cocktails will precede dinner which will be served at 7 p.m.

A fifth can prove homicidal on 4th to holiday drivers

"Don't drink a fifth on the Fourth," is N.J. Motor Vehicle Director Ronald M. Heymann's warning to New Jersey drivers over the Independence Day weekend.

"It's a very simple fact — the drinking driver is a killer. It's been proven over and over again by police records, hospital emergency rooms, and the division's own pile of fatality files.

"We hear so much about the catastrophe of war, but compare our highway toll to 53,000 Americans killed in World War I, 34,000 Americans killed in Korea, 42,544 Americans killed in Vietnam so far."

"Last year, we Americans killed 65,000 people on the nation's highways. Add to this, the more than 1.5 million persons maimed, burned, and injured. In New Jersey alone, we've killed close to 600 persons since Jan. 1," Heymann said.

Statistics indicate that alcohol is a contributing factor in 50 percent of these deaths. In half of all New Jersey's fatality cases, one or both drivers had been drinking.

Heymann said New Jersey enforcement personnel "will have no welcome for those who come to the state's highways in less than the best possible physical condition to deal with holiday driving emergencies."

Vacation can go off without a 'hitch' if your trailer is properly connected

Mr. A and his wife were off for a weekend of camping in the mountains when the camper they were trailing broke loose and cartwheeled into the oncoming traffic.

Mr. B heard a loud thud as his rented trailer full of garbage overturned and spilled its malodorous cargo all over the roadway.

Mr. C felt the new boat he was towing lurch crazily seconds before losing control of his car and slamming into a hillside.

As the summer months of peak weekend and vacation travel begin, these cases from the files of Aetna Life & Casualty make a timely and ominous point:

Many of the ever increasing number of people that derive pleasure or profit from trailing their belongings don't know how to go about it safely.

Just how serious the situation is no one knows, according to Aetna. Yet the company says slightly more than a week's worth of research turned up nearly 150 trailer accidents, and Aetna, one of the nation's largest insurance companies, estimates that the yearly toll is in the thousands and growing.

The cases of A, B and C above tell the story of trailing's three great dangers:

- The safety chain that isn't attached properly under the hitch (A).
- The safety chain that doesn't meet normal safety standards (B).
- The hitch that's installed incorrectly on the towing vehicle (C).

HOW TO GO ABOUT avoiding these dangers? Aetna has some advice:

You can start by having a "pro" choose the hitch you'll need and by letting him install it. This means the dealer who sells your make of car or some other well-established automotive expert who regularly handles this type of work. If you're doubtful, check with the dealer who sold you your trailer.

In other words, resist the urge to save a couple of dollars by buying the least expensive hitch or installing it yourself.

Next, and failure to take this step is probably trailing's most common error, cross the safety chains under the tongue of the hitch. This forms a loop that will catch the trailer tongue before it can dig into the ground should your hitch fail.

Also, leave only as much slack in the safety chains as you'll need for proper turning of the vehicles.

Fresh air program is seeking homes

The "We Care Too" fresh air program sponsored by the Cranford Interfaith Social Action Group is seeking homes in the suburbs for Newark children to spend two-week vacations away from the city. The vacation periods are July 20 - Aug. 3 and Aug. 17.

The program's chairmen are Mrs. Henry Smuthers of Cranford and Mrs. George Schlenker of Kenilworth.

"Last year nearly 40 boys and girls who live in the area of the Humanity Baptist Church in the Central Ward of Newark were offered the hospitality of suburban Union County homes," the chairman said. "This year it is hoped that even more children may have the opportunity."

HOW TO BOIL CORN ON THE COB

Husk corn, remove silk. Put the corn in rapidly boiling water in a large kettle. Cover and cook over high heat for 3-6 minutes. Remove — drain & serve with melted butter applied with brush. Salt to taste.

HOW TO ROAST CORN ON THE COB

Remove husks and silk from the corn. Place ear of corn on a piece of aluminum foil large enough to cover it fully. Spread soft butter on all sides. Sprinkle with salt and freshly ground pepper. This is where you can use your imagination. Use different seasonings for fun. Try sesame or poppy seeds. Fold the foil to make a tightly closed package. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. This method can be used on a charcoal grill. Time to cook varies according to how hot the fire is. The corn must be turned on the grill.

DID YOU KNOW?

When properly chilled, young, sweet corn retains its luscious sweetness. Otherwise, the sugar in the corn turns to starch.
