West Germans from Bonn learning how Americans live

Thirty-five students and business people from Bonn, West Germany, were welcomed to this country on Sunday at the Fanwood Community Center. These young people are spending the week with families in this area, learning how Americans live by actually having that experience.

Among the families in Mountainside serving as hosts to these students are Mr. and Mrs. Martin DeVos. Mr. and Mrs. John Juncker. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bronson and Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Grant,

Many group activities have been planned for the week, before the guests move on to. Milford, Pa. The Americana of the Old Straw Hat in Greenbrook; with banjo band and singalong, a tour of the Proctor & Gamble plant in Staten Island, canoeing on the Rahway River, a day at the beach at Island Beach State Perk, and a backward barbacous at about State Park, and a backyard barbeque at a home in Cranford are all part of the schedule,

These events are sponsored by the Watchung Area Chapter of the People to People program, This group was formerly known as the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Chapter, but themembership has grown to include residents of all the surrounding towns.

The People to People program is an international movement of private citizens aimedat promoting ffrendships and meaningful rela-tionships among the world's peoples, it was started in 1956 by President Dwight D, Eisenhowever, and chapters have sprung up throughout the nation and abroad.

The organization works through specific programs to reach all age groups, Adult members of People to People participate through a network of community chapters which set up host facilities, establish sister-city affiliations with communities abroad and sponsor cultural activities—to acquaint members with the customs and traditions of other people and countries.

PROFILE--Arthur-A. Manner

(This is the first in a series of Profiles on candidates for congressional, county and municipal offices.)

Local interest is what moved Freeholder Arthur Manner into politics. Now that he's in politics he finds it hard to get out—not that he wants to. "Once you acquire an interest in politics, it's hard to lose it," says the Berkeley Heights Republican now running for his second term on the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Manner, 57, first became involved in politics when he became disgruntled with municipal policy in Berkeley Heights, "You see some things being done that you disapprove of, that's when you get involved," said Manner. In 1951 Manner ran for Township Committee in Berkeley Heights, Six years later his colleagues on the governing body named him mayor, a post he filled from 1957 to 1959. But Berkeley Heights wasn't his sole concern, "I always took an active interest in county affairs," says the onetime Jersey City resident, His awareness of county government increased when Manner was mayor of Berkeley Heights.

In 1967 about 22 county Republicans expressed interest in going against the three incumbent Democrats on the Board of Freeholders. The three who were chosen were Manner, Charles Tracy and Jerome Epstein, his runningmates this year. All three won. FOR FIVE MONTHS Manner served both on the Township Committee and the county governing body, but it was "too much" for the gray-haired Republican. He resigned his position in the township to devote all of his public activities in the Board of Freeholders.

Manner is current chairman of the freeholders' Road and Bridge Department, He also serves as a member of the county Department of Public Affairs and General Welfare and the Department of Intergovernmental Relations as well as the planning board,

Two years ago the county initiated a study road system in the 21 municipalitles making up the County of Union. The idea, says Manner, was "to provide continuity of county roads, to begin somewhere and end somewhere, not just to have spurs starting and going nowhere." Negotiations are now going on with municipalities, said Manner, to switch some municipal roads to the county level and some county thoroughfares to municipal systems. This, says Manner, will provide the continuity the Board of Freeholders desires. Right now, there are 156 miles of roads in the county network.

"MOST PEOPLE ARE FEARFUL that county roads will become four-lane highways," says Manner, "But this would never be in resi-dential districts," promises the road agency chairman, Business and industrial areas, claims Manner, are where bigger roads are needed. "Traffic should go through areas where it is intended to go." He is against any expansion of roadways in residential neigh-

Manner wants to "continue and strengthen a policy of building a county road system designed to serve the needs of the people." He said "Union County must have

He said "Union County must have a road system that will provide movement of traffic in urban areas that will permit our people to reach shopping, their place of business and to serve our fine industrial areas."

But, warns Manner, "We must accomplish this goal without sacrificing our fine residential areas by directing the movement of traffic through them." traffic through them."

- A project recently completed by the County Road Department that Manner is pleased with is the reconstruction of the Lawrence avenu bridge in Rahway. The structure across the Rahway River has not been used for years. The $200,000 county project - which required the approval of the U.S. Coast Guard - rebuilt the old drawbridge into a modern, fixedbridge structure.

FEW ISSUES HAVE EVOLVED so far in the campaign, but Manner is quick to dispute one of the few differences between him and an opponent that has appeared so far.

Last week, one Democratic challenges cricitized the operation of the Union County. Narcotics Commission, saying the panel should be replaced by a 27-member advisory committee because the present group is ineffective.

Manner contends that the present group conducts a "quite comprehensive drug pro-gram."-He-added-that-the-federal-government has asked the county to assist in its drug program but that the county could not because it is not large enough.

The county drug program, says Manner, includes education, rehabilitation and outpatient services.

REGIONAL PLANNERS throughout the nation are debating the validity of county governé ment, A few years ago, Connecticut abolished counties and replaced them with bigger planning districts. To Manner, this move is a regrettable one.

regrettable one.

"Some problems," says the one-term freeholder, "are too big for the municipality to handle, such as roads, the jail system, county hospitals and the court system mandated by the state." Others, says Manner, are too small for the state level.

Regional planning districts like Connection

Regional planning districts like Connecticut's, claims Manner, "carries government too far away from the people, People lose touch with government completely," He cited New York City's move to decentralize its school system to bring government closer to citizens.

The nearer government is to the people.

observes Manner, the 'greater the opportunity to come to town hall and voice opinions, He is quick to add that many people experies their views at each Board of Free

Use of Springfield pool proposed by Democrats

Arthur Caprio and Robert Weltchek, Dem-ocratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, this week called for evening use of the Springfield pool. Citing the benefits that would accrue to various groups, particularly senior citizens and teenagers, they called for re-examination of the municipal ordinance that limits use of the pool to day-

Their statement follows:

People's needs for recreational facilities do not end at sundown, in many instances, it is the close of the day that presents them with the first opportunity for relaxation. We note, however, that Springfield's greatest summer facility, its swimming pool, is required to close each evening at sundown. I rom either a businessman's point of view of trying to get the most use out of a fixed asset, or a township official's point of view of trying to provide the greatest municipal services, this early closing seems like a questionable policy that should be reviewed.

'In earlier years the pool was used as a site on which to show motion pictures one night a week at a nominal charge. Many of our citizens took the opportunity to have a night out in midweek. With the price of a movie ticket in a commercial theater anywhere between two and three dollars each, low-cost enterta nment was an extremely welcome change of pace.

"It was particularly welcome by our senior citizens living on fixed incomes who took the opportunity to get together for a pleasant evening of diversion.

would benefit from having the pool open at night would be the teenagers. They, too, are in a constant quest for a place of their own where they can get together. The pool has facilities for music, either live or recorded and it has plenty of concrete areas in which to dance. Why not give it over to the kids one night a week? Then, of course there are the rest of us who are neither teenagers nor senior citizens, Last fall we had a marvelous dance at the pool site. Unfortunately, too few people knew of it. Those that did expressed great pleasure at the chance to get together with people they don't normally see on a social basis, but with whom they share the common experience of living in Springfield. Activities such as this tie the people together into a more cohesive unit.

"Of course, the reason that the pool is not kept open at night now is that there is an ordinance limiting its use to daylight hours. However, we think that another look should be taken at the value of this ordinance, to determine the real need for it. 'Basically, the problem is noise, But is this an insoluble problem? Perhaps different kinds of loudspeakers, different kinds of sound baffles, different location of facilities, or any one of a number of other possibilities would eliminate disturbance. Certainly, we can seek expert professional advice on this problem.

There are many ways to make living in our town a more fulfilling experience, it would appear that a more extensive use of the pool area provides one of the simplest.

Rt. 78's path in Watchung Reservation will be discussed by state and county

The Union County Park Commission is expected to meet with representatives of the State Department of Transportation in the near future to discuss a right of way for Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation, a section which will connect the western part of the highway with the segment to be built through Springfield and Union.

Work on the east-west highway, which will generally parallel Rt. 22 across the state, now underway in the Newark Airport area. In Union, the state has purchased and de-molished homes along the right of way but has not yet started construction. And in Springfield, grading has been done but no work has been started on paving. The western section of Rt. 78 has been completed.

The section of the highway which will cut through the Watchung Reservation is one of the few for which no right of way has yet been

John G. Walsh, president of the County Park Commission, said that "discussions" have been held with the State Department of Transportation in the past and "we hope to sit down with them again very shortly.

The Park Commission, which operates the Watchung Reservation, is not opposed to construction of the highway, Walsh said. But, he added, "we want to see to it that the people of Union County and their parks are protected.'

The Park Commission is seeking assurance that there will be adequate provision for drainage, Walsh reported. He cited problems which arose in Springfield last year when construction on Rt. 78 and Rt. 24 disrupted drainage patterns and sent run-off into Bryant reek, which overflowed and flooded nearby homes as well as the Municipal Building.

Introducing

the 53/18 Blue Chip Passbook

First New Jersey Bank gives you 53/4% interest per year (5.92% annual yield) plus a passbook. And the 53/4% is guaranteed for two to five years—depending upon the maturity date you select.

Select a maturity date that suits you: from two to five years. Your money earns a full 534 %, compounded daily and credited 🔀 quarterly, to yield an effective annual return of 5.92%. The interest rate is guaranteed until the maturity date you specify—up to 5 full vears!

You can open a Blue Chip Passbook Account for as little as $500. And you can make additional deposits of $50 or more anytime up to two years-before its maturity date. But no withdrawals before maturity.

One. The current - interest - payment plan. Each quarter we'll pay you the interest in person. Mail you a check. Or we'll put it in your checking or other savings account at First New Jersey. Or you can simply leave the interest in your Blue Chip Passbook to grow and grow. It's your choice.

Two. The deferred-interest-payment plan. This plan defers the receipt of interest to the maturity date you select. And, according to our tax counsel, you can defer your income taxes on it until then. Great for reirement or years when you figure you may be in a lower tax bracket.

Both interest payment plans have their advantages --- you pick the one that's best

Systematic Saver Service

you like, you may make deposits to your lue Chip Passbook automatically through our Systematic Şaver Service, with a mininum monthly transfer of $50 from your First New Jersey regular checking account until wo years before the maturity date.

Also available . . . First New Jersey's 5% annual Golden Passbook Investment Account. Initial deposit of $500 and 90-day withdrawal privileges.

New NCE grads paid better, but more fail to get positions

Preliminary statistics from Newark College of Engineering's annual senior placement survey disclose young NCE engineers who found jobs this spring are making more money but that a larger number than usual are still at loose ends.

The survey, distributed each summer to the hundreds of companies who recruit at NCE and to each member of the year's graduating class, covers such items as the number of students seeking jobs, the number of interviews, a breakdown of where the class went, and starting salaries. Usually NCE figures have proven to be characteristic of national trends. This year the placement office survey reports private industry is starting the young

gree at $30 to $60 a month higher than last year, depend-ing on the discipline involved,

Average monthly salaries in the six degree areas at NCE were chemical, $904; civil, $874: electrical, $872; $844; electrical, $872; mechanical, $858; industrial, $859, and engineering science,

The highest job offer re-ported in the survey was $1,050 to start, in electrical engineering; the lowest $735, in mechanical engineering.

The new figures represent an increase of more than $200 monthly over salaries of five years ago with better than three to seven per cent in-creases over last year's starting salaries, depending Significantly, the number of graduates not taking the highest salary fell from 33.9 per cent last year to 9.3 per cent this year. Often in the past the young engineers have forsaken a few dollars to go with a particular company or to do special work, ACCORDING TO James L. Lubin, director of placement at NCE, where the young engi-neers went is a reflection of

This year NCE's 639 graduates went to private industry — 48 per cent; civil service — 8 per cent; and military — 6 per cent; and graduate school — 9 per cent; graduate school - 9 per cent; leaving 28 per cent who have not submitted information as their employment plans.

Those going to graduate school or into military service reflect no major change over prior years. But the private industry and civil service categories are both down nine per cent due to the fewer number of jobs offered this year and a higher degree of selectivity on the part of

About 50 fewer companies recruited at NCE this year, offering about 200 fewer jobs than usual,

"Last year an average stu-dent talked with perhaps ten companies and received two or three firm offers; this year he had to take II interviews to get one good offer.' Lubin, the placement director "Actually I do not think the picture is as discouraging as it might appear," Lubin said, "Normally we aid in placing approximately 80 and 90 per cent of the graduating class, which we did this year. Of the remainder, some are offered jobs directly by companies on the basis of last summer's performance, and others are placed through family connections. The few remaining are often those whose interests are so tightly bound to some speciality that they refuse to consider any alternative tunity.'

Williams, who is chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, pointed out that many older workers are "forced" into early retirement as an alternative to long-term unaployment or underemployment. He also noted that the rate of unemployment arrong workers 55-years-old and older has meanly doubled since May of last year.

There are currently more than 1,8 million American men between the ages of 55 and 64 who are unemployed. Williams said. Older workers, he added, account for 42 percent of the total number of persons classed as "long term" unemployed because they have been out of work 15 weeks or longer.

died from eating steaks roasted over a fire of oleander twigs. Rhododendron contains a poison that has shown up in honey made by bees that have visited the plant, Cherry twigs, when eaten, release cyanide, and peach tree leaves contain hydrocyanic acid, one of the most dangerous poisons known. The stalk of the Rhubarb plant is of course edible, but its leaves contain oxalic acid, which crystallizes in the kidneys and causes severe damage.

(R-NY) announced this week the start of a broad survey of private pension plans.

Williams is chairman and Javits is ranking minority member of the Senate Labor Subcommittee, which is conducting the survey under special authorization from the Senate.

The senators revealed that detailed, 32-page survey forms have been mailed to the administrators of pages.

administrators of more than 1,000 private pension plans.

"The forms were designed to elicit key information concerning the structure and operation of pension plans in a broad segment of the private pension plan industry," the senators said.

"We hope to determine, among other things, whe hope to determine, among oner mings, what benefit rights an employee gets under a plan, what funding arrangements are provided to pay benefits, under what circumstances an employee forfeits his benefit rights, and how likely he is to do so," they added.

"Much of this information has never been applied before use it is accomplished before a second to the latest to full."

compiled before, yet it is essential to full understanding of the many problems which confront private pension funds," Williams and Javits declared.

Some 30 million Americans participate in 33,000 private pension plans which have combined assets of $126 billion.

The labor subcommittee was recently authorized by a Senate resolution to conduct "a general study of pension and welfare funds with special emphasis on the need for pro-tection of employees covered by these funds." The same resolution also authorized the subcommittee to investigate last year's United Mineworkers union election, including allega-tions that the UMW pension fund was manip-the survey forms represent the first step by the subcommittee into the general pension fund area of the investigation. The subcommittee plans to obtain additional information relative to pension fund investments and other areas at a later date.

POOR STATE POLICIES.

Thank you for the excellent coverage of the recent proposals made by the forough of Mountainside relating to highway construction at Rt. 22 and New Providence road, While you indicated that the writer opposed the preposals made by officials of the Borough of Mountainside in reaction to construction plans of the State Department of Transportation, I would like to point out that the basis of any good faith dispute among Mountainsiders over highways is the fantastically poor and but I ward transportation policies on the part of New Jersey.

An enlarged Rt. 22, a destroyer of Mountainside's school and municipal facilities, tax ratables and suburban beauty, will not relieve traffic on Rt. 22, Instead, traffic consection will rise to meet the new capacity of the

The need for eliminating many present access roads into Rt, 22 will result in even further destruction of tax ratables and lead to dangerous concentration of traffic at intersections such as New Providence road, Of course, this situation will then probably result in highway engineers demanding larger roads and more cloverleafs to ease the new traffic problems caused by their own poor

While millions and millions of dollars are being spent by our state on highways, our mass transit facilities get the short stick. In addition to increasing air pollution, destroying tax ratables and our suburban scenic beauty, highway construction causes a double

Waugh appointed head of Occupational Center

Alexander J. Waugh, of Somerset, has been appointed executive director of The Occupational Center of Union County, Inc.

In announcing the appointment, Richard Rodgers, president of the board of directors, said that Waugh will have the responsibility for directing the professional and technical staff so that it may rehabilitate severely disabled young adults to prepare for gainful employment in competitive industry or

Prior to joining the Occupational Center, Waugh established and supervised the field work internship program at Rutgers University for the sheltered workshop administration program. He also held the position of executive director of the Goodwill Industries in various states for 12 years and was a facilities specialist for the New Jersey Rehabilitation Commission.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Waugh holds a BA and MA and has done further graduate work at Syracuse University, He is a member of the National Rehabilitation Association, International Association of Rehabilitation Facilities and Association of Educators of Rehabilitation Personnel.

The Occupational Center of Union County is a vocational rehabilitation workshop, training handicapped young adults to be productive citizens. The Center is now assisting approximately 200 persons at the Elizabeth facility and the branch in Berkeley Heights.

Senator Williams asks full funding of Tocks

WASHINGTON-U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Wilhams, Jr., (D-NJ) announced this week that he has written to the chairman of the Senate Public Works Subcommittee to urge full funding this year for the Tocks Island Reservoir project.

"The benefits to my state from this project and the companion national recreation area far outweigh the objections thus far raised to immediate funding," he stated.

Round-the-clock pollution inspection demanded by Young Republican unit inc., at a council meeting Monday, urged the state legislature to establish a "24-hour, 7day-per-week" air and water pollution in-spection system and answering service for complaints on pollution in order to stop the evasion of the present daytime inspection system by industries that pollute at night and on weekends.

Special elections for state delegate to the Young Republicans of New Jersey, second vice-chairman, and alternate state delegate plus the establishment of a Narcotics Committee also highlighted the meeting. The meeting was held at Angelo's Restaurant, Route 22. Union and presided over by the chairman, James J. Lulcomer of Rahway.

Young Republicans charged that the employment of state inspectors for "less than third of the time that industries ... violate anti-pollution codes guarantees inadequate en-forcement of the law. They also urged an increase in the maximum fine for air and water pollution violations to $10,000 per day and a minimum, non-refundable fine of $5,000 per day for violations between 4:30 p.m. and 9 a.m. The present maximum is $3,000 per day with up to 90 percent of the fine refundable on first day violations. A non-refundable minimum at night is needed, according to bulcomer, to lessen the incentive for industries literally to poison the air that we breathe while we are sleeping and less likely to register complaints."

To finance their proposal they advocate two anti-pollution taxes, a two cents per gallon tax on gasoline using lead additives and a ten cents tax per barrel on No. 6 fuel. The tax on No. 6 fuel oil would be increased to 15 cents per barrel in 1971 and 20 cents in 1972. Gasoline with lead was selected "because of the toxic effect of lead on life" and No. 6 fuel oil because it is "the greatest source of air pollution among oil based fuels and does the greatest damage in oil spills." The following were elected to county Young Republican offices: Miss Veronica McGowan of Scotch Plains, state delegate; Mrs. Kathe-rine I ulcomer of Rahway, second vice-chairman; and Richard Poole of Summit, alternate state delegate. McGowan is a member of the group's board of trustees; Mrs. Ful-

Kind words, confidence aid patients Cornell Hall service head lends helping hand the director of social services at Cornell Hall Convalescent Center. But, Mrs. Morton Goldberg never fails to answer cheerfully, Almost always it's a worried family member on the other end," Phyllis Goldberg notes. Their concern for the welfare of their relatire needs the reassurance I can give them. And, after all, that is one reason why I'm here."

. The job of the social service director in the 100-bed convalescent center located at Pive Points in Union is a varied one. Mrs. Goldberg trys to interview a member of the family shortly after the patient's admis-sion to the center. Cases which might require more than the usual amount of counselling are brought to her attention immediately.

*AFTER THE FAMILY has been assured of the quality care the patient will be receiving at Cornell Hall, Mrs. Goldberg noted, finances quickly become the foremest problem.

Due to the frequent changes in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, many families are unsure of the coverage either plan affords. 'That's where I come in," she says.

. Under the present law the Medicare program provides nursing home patients up to 100 days of paid care. "But," Mrs. Goldberg warned, "every case is judged on it's own merit. Many patients and their families were under the impression in the past that they were automatically covered as with Blue Cross. I'm fortunately, this is not so."

Mrs. Goldberg has a frank discussion with the family and the patient, if possible,

'Although I do not inquire too deeply into their finances, I do try to alert them that Medicare may not grant the full 100 days

BORN IN NEW YORK CITY, Mrs. Goldberg was graduated from Brooklyn College with a B.A. in sociology. Her first job was with the Department of Welfare in New York City.

"Although I liked the varied duties of a social worker in the department, I was espe-dually moved by the plight of the elderly. It seems that so few public or private welfare agencies have adequate programs to care for these people."

Mrs. Goldberg and her family now live at 213 Lelack Avenue in Springfield, She has three children, Mitchell, 18, a June graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and a member and she offered me the position of Director The staff here are wonderful people to work with. We have excellent facilities and yet we remain small enough to know each other and our residents on a personal basis. For instance, I make it a point to see the floor nurses frequently. Quite often they are the first to notice if one of their charges seems distressed." Mrs. Goldberg stated.

of the incoming freshman class at Johns Hop-kins University: Larry, 16, and Donna, 12, "When I decided to return to work, I just naturally turned to working with our senior citizens. I was associated with our administrator, Mrs. Elizabeth Ba'r, in another post

A RECENT CASE brought to Mrs. Goldberg's attention by the floor nurse involved an elderly woman who had been leading an active life of shopping, cooking and caring for herself. She had a fall, suffered a broken hip and shortly found herself facing a long and difficult con-valescence. While she was in the hospital she didn't have much time to think about herself but after she settled down at Cornell Hall, she hecam? depressed and worried about her future. When her floor nurse noticed the change in her patient's attitude, she contacted Mrs. Goldberg. The full cooperation and team work of the staff were brought to bear on the problem.

Mrs. Goldberg frequently enlists the aid of the recreation director and quite frequently the help of other Cornell Hall residents. Sometimes she recommends a shift in room, sometimes she arranges an introduction to someone she feels can establish a relationship with the a 'buddy' system,' Mrs. Goldberg notes, 'They've been taking care of others for so many years they just naturally continue to do so. You'll find an ambulatory resident cheerfully pushing the wheelchair of her 'buddy.' It does wonders for both of them.

"AND VISITORS! Unlike hospitals, we encourage visitors of every age. The sight of grandchildren running through the corridors brings smiles to the dourest of faces," Mrs. Goldberg added,
"But," she said, "sometimes my job begins only when one of our convalescents is ready to leave the center." If the convalescent requires minimal care after returning home, Mrs. Goldberg contacts the Visiting Nurses Association. "These dedicated women are more than just nurses. They take an active interest in every case we entrust to them.

'Not long ago one of our male residents was about to return to his bachelor abode," Mrs. Goldberg related, "When I checked with the Visiting Nurses Association they were horrified. The boarding home he lived in they claimed was no place for a sick man. With their assistance, I arranged for him to move to a more suitable place and he is well and happy under their care."

IF THE CONVALESCENT is going to take up residence with family members after having been on his own, Mrs. Goldberg often finds it advisable to call a general family conference to discuss potential problems. 'Our concern for our people doesn't end when they leave our she explained.

in addition to the Visiting Nurses Association there are other private agencies, groups and services Mrs. Goldberg can call upon when her charges leave the Center.

She keeps a list of suitable boarding homes it appears that the patient though well enough Mrs. Goldberg also advises homeward-bound patients about the home-delivered hot meal program sponsored by Meals-On-Wheels and she can put them in touch with reliable agencies who specialize in supplying paid companions. More times than not, however, Mrs. Goldberg's social service counselling extends far beyond a resident's discharge. "In this pro-fession," she added, "there's no such thing as 'office hours' or 'former patients."

The Japanese had built a pretty good medical system around the techniques of massare and acupuncture, or needling. The Hindus of Asia practiced extremely advanced surgery except for one thing; they never bothered to tie off bleeding arteries and most patients died. Even post mortemcaesarian section was practiced as early as 600 B.C. The Jews introduced circumcision to minimize infection, and they developed roller ban-dages as splints for broken bones. Children's hospital receives $200 donation from MMA

The Mountainside Music Association recently donated $200 to the Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, in addition to giving musical equipment to the Mountainside schools, the MMA has made donations outside the community and beyond the realm of music.

A $500 scholarship was presented to Virginia State College to be used at the discretion of the dean of the music department. The MMA also "adopted" an Indian child through the Save the Children Federation The services performed by the Children's Specialized Hospital are many and varied. In addition to the speech, physical, occupational and recreational therapy programs, the hospital serves as a teaching facility for hospitals and colleges throughout the state.

In the nearly 80 years of its existence, the hospital has treated thousands of physically handicapped patients, young and old, who sought

A Cranford man was dragged some 40 feet in an accident involving two cars and two men on foot, Spring-field police reported. The ac-cident occurred Saturday evening at the Springfield Esso Station on Dundar road and S. Springfield avenue.
Robina P. Ludwig of Goulds-boro, Pa,, was given a summons for driving while under the influence of alcohol and was being held for failure to post $1,500 bail.

Vincent Kearney, 41, was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Springfield First Aid Squad, He was admitted and is being treated for cuts on his scalp, a concus-sion and bruises on his chest. He is in fair condition, accord-ing to a hospital spokesman, Donald A. Bucciarelli, 18, of Garwood, the gas station attendant, was also taken to Overlook Hospital, where he was treated and discharged The report said that Miss

Ludwig had stopped her car and Kearney got out, Kearney got in front of the car and was talking with Bucciarelli when Miss Ludwig reportedly stepped on the accelerator. Bucciarelli was pushed aside and Kearney fell backwards. The car then ran over him and dragged him until it stopped after hitting a car driven by Steve Miller of Las Cruces, N. M., which was parked at the pumps.

Every man has his price.

These are ours

And you don't have to worry what the price will be after the extras. The price you see is the price after the extras. Because they're standard.

Things like heater/defroster, windshield washers, even a combination ignition key and steering wheel lock, with an alarm in case you leave your key in it, are all part of the car. You can't own a Volkswagen without owning them, too.

(Things like whitewalls are extra, as you might expect. But we tell you that in the *.)

A Volkswagen won't only cost you less to drive out in. It'll cost you less to drive around in.

Even the biggest VW, our boxy station wagon, averages 23 miles to a gallon of regular gas. (The sedans, even the Fastback and the Squareback, average 26.)

Even the expensive-looking Karmann Ghia only takes oil by the pint.

And no Volkswagen ever cost anybody a cent for antifreeze.

Even with automatic stick shift the bug and the Karmann Ghia get about 25 miles per gallon. So do the Fastback and the Squareback with full automatic.†

So even the VWs that cost you more to drive out in still cost you less to drive around in.

Turtle (come)Back at Zoo Rare species gets special care

Someone does care for the lowly turtle-indeed, considerable concern has been expressed by officials of the Turtle Back Zoo in Vest Orange at the seriously threatened extinction of the bog turtle.

This species (scientific name: Clemmys muhlenbergi) is native to New Jersey and the neighboring Northeastern states, but has almost disappeared from its natural habitat. It is presently considered by authorities to be the rarest turtle in the world.

The bog turtle was once found in the cool boggy swamp from which it took its hame, but most of these natural areas have disappeared as new highways and buildings extend into the countryside. The few remaining marshlands are so far apart that natural repopulation of the bog turtle from one locale to another is almost impossible.

The Turde Back Zon, which has the second largest collection of turtles in the United States (over 170 turtles and 72 varieties), has started a conservation proof in to save the remaining bog turtles.

The zoo, which owns six of the disappearing species, has reproduced an area with conditions similar to the firtles' native environment. Free from noise and other disturbances, the bog turtles are fed a special diet of aquatic insects and maintained at an even temperature to encourage breeding.

The shell of the bog turtle is approximately five inches long, and is smooth, flat and black. The most distinguishing characteristic of this species is the two triangular orange-red marks on either side of the head, Most furtles breed once a year, laying as many as 20 eggs or more, but the bog turtle is not as prolitic, and lays only three or four eggs a year. The male of the species is often smaller than the female, with a more concave shell and a thicker tail. Any nature lover finding a turtle whose markings correspond to the above description should contact Paul Mead, headkeeper of the Turtle Back Zoo, which will happily enroll the condition in its program of tender loving

HOW TO ROAST CORN ON THE COB

Remove husks and silk from the corn. Place ear of corn on a piece of aluminum foil large enough to cover it fully. Spread soft butter on all sides. Sprinkle with salt and freshly ground pepper. This is where you can use your imagination. Use different seasonings for fun. Try sesame or poppy seeds. Fold the foil to make a tightly closed package. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

This method can be used on a charcoal grill. Time to cook varies according to how hot the fire is. The corn must be turned on the State arts council awards five grants totalling $9,610

The musical arts in New Jersey received a financial boost this week as a result of several grants announced by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Totalling $9,610, the grants will benefit five programs designed to further the development of the musical arts in the state, Recipients of the grants are the New Jer-sey Federation of Music Clubs; the College Community Orchestra of Jersey City; the State Symphony Orchestra at Montclair; the American Civilization Institute Morristown; and the Newark Museum, Newark,

The largest grant, for $3,110, was presented to the New Jersey Federation of Music Clubs for its "Stars of Tomorrow" Project, which gives talented young musicians an op-portunity to enter a competition making them eligible for solo appearances with New Jer-sey symphony orchestras in various locations throughout the state,

The college-Community Orchestra of Jersey City, Peter Souzo, director, will receive $2,200 to engage a guest artist of national reputation to appear with the orchestra and to augment the orchestra with professional musicians for specific performances.

Another orchestra receiving a grant was the State Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Ward Moore, director, Montclair, Awarded $2,000, the orchestra will sponsor a "Contemporary Concert Series" of four free performances, beginning in September. The concerts will feature both contemporary and classic works at each performance.

Presentation of a new opera will be the result of a $1,500 New Jersey State Council on the Arts grant to the American Civiliza on the Arts grant to the American Civilization Institute, Morristown, The opera, "Ransford Rogers," by Dr. Louis B. Gordon and Walter Savage, describes the "Morristown, New Jersey ghost," a well known eighteenth century hoax perpetrated on the people of that town by Ransford Rogers.

An $800 grant will be presented to the Newark Museum for eight poon-time concerts.

Newark Museum for eight noon-time concerts of popular music in the museum garden, This year's program, like last year's, will include jazz and Latin American music, as well as rock and folk combos from local colleges. In announcing the awards, Byron R. Kelley, council on the Arts said, "Assisting the musical arts in the state is one of the Arts Council's main functions, Hopefully these funds will benefit the public both by awarding recognition to the best in local musical talents and by bringing the finest concert performances to all parts of the state."

Blue Cross opens student enrollment

New Jersey Blue Cross and Blue Shield will hold their traditional open enrollment for student coverage during the two-month period from now to Sept, 15,

The student program offers benefits similar to regular Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage, at a special rate which takes into consideration the younger age and generally good health of students. Coverage is issued on an individual basis with no dependents.

Any New Jersey resident attending a recognized college, juntor college, trade school business school, or hospital-based school of nursing or technology, is eligible to enroll, regardless of where the school is located. Enrollment is also open to non-residents who attend such a school in New Jersey. In 1962, its initial year, more than 8,000 students enrolled in the student program. At the end of 1969, that number had increased to approximately 36,000.

Head cold in summer not any fun

For the mother whose children have one, a midsummer cold is nothing to sneeze at.

To her-and to the offspring as well---the summer cold may come as the ultimate insult. After waiting throughout a cold winter and a rainy spring to get the children out and from underfoot, she finds herself again imprisoned with fretful, miser-

For the kids themselves, a bug they can't even see has turned liberation from school into a kind of house arrest. From one and all, the cry goes up: "Gee, Ma, it ain't fair!"

Adults get colds, too, in the summer. And those who say there is nothing worse than housebound children have never encountered the hus-band who has been kept from his golf date by a cold in the

While medical science has not yet discovered a cure for the common cold, it has discovered ways to soften the miseries, Here are a number of suggestions for tiding the children-and yourselfover a tiresome period,

The first step is to make the children as comfortable as possible. Physicians recommend aspirin as a means of relieving cold discomforts such as headache, fever, and sore throats. Decongestant drops are helpful in opening stuffed noses. Additional liquids or hard candies may be enough to control cough-

The collection of large color portraits of stars that lines the walls at the Meadowbrook Theatre Restaurant in Cedar Grove represents the work of one man, Len Leonards, The Meadowbrook Gallery of Stars developed from Leonards' first association with the establishment in the mid-1950s. "With few exceptions," he says, "I found every one of the stars to be very cooperative. Usually the more important the star, the more gracious. Recalling those days, he explains that his first subject was William Bendix, "He was a most unusual person."

A different personality was Allan Jones who opened in the first musical at the Meadowbrook. "He is a super star from the great Hollywood days," reflects Leonards. "Jones, as the father of the famed Jack Jones, has great rapport with his son.

'Another family man is Jan Murray," says Leonards.

'Z' suspense-packed thriller and monument to story-telling

"Z," now playing at the Ormont, is a French film with special appeal for today's young. Based on a novel by Vassili Vassilikos, it documents the assassination of a Greek leftist leader and the ensuing rise to power of a ruthless military junta.

A suspense-packed political thriller, "Z" is a monument to story-telling and an exciting expose. The picture won an Oscar for best foreign film at the 1970 Academy Wards ceremonies. In '7' a young reporter patiently unravels a plot to club to death a leftist deputy and to terrorize a confused democracy into chaging to its treacherous miletary forces.
The issues which form the background of "Z" are current ones -- suppression, violence, dissent, extremism, freedom of assembly and political fear. The movie, which could not be filmed in Greece, was filmed in Algeria. Tempers actually flared between students and police there who appeared in mob scenes during the filming, with actual skirmishes occurring on the movie set.

The title of the film comes from the Greek letter "Z" or "Zed," which was used as a symbol of the leftist peace movement following the seizure of the democratic government by the junta. Used in reference to the murdered leftist deputy, Lambrakis, 'Z" means "He lives." The letter is still banned in Greece today.

bureaucratic deception. It thrives on stark simplicity: The leftists are innocent, the rightists are bad. Although such outrageous one-sidedness might not succeed in any other film today, it succeeds here. It succeeds first, because much of its onesidedness is fact; second, presentation of a leftist political group in a favorable light is no simple statement in the free world today, and third, for all the simplicity of the film's political profile, the char-

Significant for its documentary value, the film is also important artistically. The story is spell-binding and was edited and adapted to produce a classic political mystery. Presented in tones of caution and understatement, the train of violence is shocking. The production is visual,

Banks loan* $100 million to students

More than 79 percent, or $100,1 million, of the $125.4 million in state and federally guaranteed student loans made since the program's inception in 1960, were made by New Jersey banks, according to the New Jersey Bankers Association.

The banks are making student loans at 1,030 offices throughout the state which represent almost 80 percent of all offices at which student loans are available.

Commenting on the banks' participation in the student loan programs, NIBA President Erwin O. Kraft, president of the First National Bank of Passaic County, Totowa, said, "The banks of New Jersey are well aware of their social responsibility in the field of higher education financing, and while the nation is still within the grips of inflation and consequent tight money, we will continue to help meet the financial needs of young people whose only chance of going to college is probably under one of the student loan programs."

Kraft also pointed out that more than 28 percent of all the New Jersey student loans granted in the last decade have been made in the last eight months, in spite of severe constriction of the money supply during this period. He also noted that according to figures compiled by the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority, 36 member banks of the New Jersey Bankers Association were listed in the top 40 lending institutions with the largest dollar amounts in student loans outstanding as of the end of last year.

Thirty-one of the NJBA member banks were placed in the top 40 lending institutions with the largest per-centage of total student loans outstanding to total deposits as of the end of 1969.

Students contribute to surge in number of jobless in state

The flood of students and other summershipe obseckers entering the job market combined with a less-than-seasonal drop in insured unemployment to inflate the total number of unemployed workers throughout the state. As in the nation, New Jersey firms pinched by the general economic slow-down were hiring fewer school youth (traditionally the largest jobseeking group during this period). Many high school and college students, who usually are hired by hard goods industries during the summer, primarily as vacation replacements, found that source of employment rirtually closed this year as companies recalled laid-off workers to fill such vacancies.

Statewide unemployment moved up to 187,100, pushed by a record May-to-June increase of 29,900, according to estimates prepared by the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor. The jobless rate jumped sharply from 5.1 percent of the work force in May to 5.9 in June. Compared with June 1969, the volume rose by 44,500 and the rate by 1.3.

Offsetting the seasonal gains in job openings in the trade, service, and construction industries were cutbacks in factory payrolls. Curtailed production schedules responding to lower sales of goods plus some reduction in government contracts led to increased mployment with layoffs particularly marked in durable goods manufacturing and government. Employees were permanently released by plants phasing out operations in the primary metals, electrical machinery, and instruments industries. Personnel were furloughed in fabricated metals and in apparel.

Cutbacks in government further increased joblessness because two military installations within the State are reducing civilian staff employment; schools closed for the stimmer releasing bus drivers, cafeteria workers, and other auxiliary school personnel; and, work ended for persons involved with the 1970

Job Corps cuts costs, lists rise in placement WASHINGTON -- In the year ing in another Manpower prothat it has operated the Job Corps, the Labor Department has lowered costs and at the same time improved the program's effectiveness. Before the Labor Department took over operation of the Job Corps on July 1, 1969, the average annual cost of services for an enrollee was $6,725 for the previous two fiscal years. So far this year, the annual cost has been reduced to $6,274 -- a reduction of about 6-1/2 percent. At the same time the proportion of youth placed in jobs, school, or military service within 90 days of leaving Job Corps had risen from 77 percent in fiscal 1969 to 80 percent during the first half of fiscal 1970.

Much of the increase in tob plocement is the direct result of the closer working relation-ship Job Corps now has with the rest of the Manpower Administration and the network of State Employment Security agencies.

This means that it is far easier now for a youth to be transferred to advanced traingram, or for the local State employment office to help him find a job, enter military service, or continue schooling.

Another factor in the reduced operating costs is that the Labor Department has been able to operate the Job Corps at virtually full capa city. This has lowered expenses by spreading fixed overhead costs among a wide group of trainees. Costs in-clude travel, room and board, education, job training, medical care, counseling, and financial allowances.

For seven of the 12 months before it was transferred to the Labor Department, the Job Corps was operated at 90 percent capacity -- or lower. For five months this year, the Labor Department has operated the Job Corps at 101 and 102 percent of capacity. Periodic Labor Department follow-up studies show that 91 percent of the 16,541 youth who finished Job Corps training, took jobs, entered further training, returned to school, or joined the Armed Forces.

New Jersey gets grant from HUD for four projects

The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs has been awarded $226,733 by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUI) to finance four special planning projects,

The grant was made under the Comprehensive Planning Assistance program created by Section 701 of the Housing Act of 1954.
The program provides funds to state planning agencies for a variety of planning activities. Some of the funds are transmitted to local, county and regional planning agencies or are shared by the state planning agency and other agencies.

The grant is in addition to the annual planning assistance award of $762,237 to the Department announced last month by HUD. This grant comes from a special portion of the program set aside for innovative planning Community Affairs Commissioner Edmund T. Hume said that two of the four special planning projects involved studies of the property tax system and its effects in New Jersey, 'a topic of major importance in current state policy and of immediate interest to all concerned citizens." The other projects, he said, are continuation of an intergovernmental planning-programming-budgeting (PPB) system demonstration, and a statewide study of the needs of New Jersey's nine Model

The amounts and the special projects are as follows:

--$34,000 to the legislature's County and Municipal Government Study Commission for a statewide study of the relationships among costs and quality of municipal services, levels of property taxes, and municipal zoning and landuse decisions. An additional $6,000 will be retained by the department's Division of State and Regional Planning for assisting with the study.

-$50,000 for a statewide evaluation of local property tax trends, planning and land use regulations, and housing problems, to be performed cooperadvely by the Planning Division and the New Jersey Tax Policy Committee created two months ago by Governor William T. Cookilly and property of the propert liam T. Cahill to recommend changes in the state's tax structure.

-$60,400 for continuation of the PPB system demonstration now under way by the Department's Planning and Local Finance Divisions, the Treasury Department's Division of Budger and Accounting, the Township of Woodbridge, Mercer County, and the State Departments of Health, Education and Transportation. Among the main objectives of the demonstration during the next year are developing instruction manuals to enable the PPF system to be adopted by other units of government, implementing the intergovernmental aspects of PPB, and refining the techniques of the system. The grant will be shared among the participating agencies.

-$75,000 for planning and evaluating the needs of New Jersey's nine Model Cities, to be conducted by the Department as a means of improving state government participation in the Model Cities program.

The remaining $1,333 of the grant is for processing fees.

12 St. Peter's students aid poor in Appalachia

Twelve St. Peter's College students are spending the summer working among the poor in a depressed area of Kentucky. The students, who have been in Martin County, for about two weeks, are working mainly with the children in the area. They have set up Bible schools and conduct autoring and social programs. The girls in the group also serve as babysitters.

Many of the Jersey City college's administrators and teachers also will share in the students' experience. Throughout the summer one teacher or administrator will spend a week
