Two women hurt in traffic accidents on Mountain ave.

Two persons were reported injured in separate accidents last week along Mountain avenue, according to Springfield police.

Theresa Carpenter of 86 Tooker ave., Springfield, was reported injured last Thursday morning in a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Kew drive, police said. She was a passenger in a car driven by Peter Graziano of 86 Tooker ave., Springfield. Ms. Carpenter told police she could see her own doctor.

According to police, Graziano was traveling south on Mountain when the accident occurred. A car driven by Eleanor Shubert of 90 Kew dr., Springfield, made a left turn from Kew to head north on Mountain. The Shubert car pulled in front of Graziano's car and stalled in the intersection, police reported.

Rose M. Garrison of Scotch Plains complained that her back hurt following a two-car accident last Tuesday afternoon at the intersection of Mountain and 411. She said, police said, she could see her own doctor.

The police report said the Garrison car was traveling east on Mountain avenue near the white line. A car to the right of Mrs. Garrison stopped to let a car driven by Fessie P. Leason of 100 Stonehill rd., Springfield, make a left turn onto Mountain from under when the accident happened.

A car driven by Elaine Lifshultz of North Plainfield struck a utility pole on Mountain avenue near Hillside Avenue last Tuesday morning, police said. Mrs. Lifshultz was traveling north on Mountain when her vehicle went out of control, skidded on the ice across the south bound lane, went up on the sidewalk and hit the pole.

'Medieval Mystery' theme at the First Presbyterian

Christmas Eve Services will be held in the Springfield First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 and 11:15 p.m. The 7:30 service is a family worship service and this year will feature "A Mystery for Christmas" in the Medieval Manner" by Howard D. McKinney.

This "mystery", although modern in origin, is based upon the idea of a 15th Century scriptural play. These were written for the church and acted in the choir or chancel, with the characters occasionally appearing in the aisles. The cantata will be sung by the combined choirs of the church and the pageant characters will be portrayed by members of the Westminster Fellowship and the Girls' Choir.

The production is under the direction of John H. Bunnell, music director of the church. Mrs. Elsie B. Brooks, church organist, will provide the organ accompaniment for the cantata. Assisting will be student director, Debbie Sim; stage manager, Mrs. Alan Isley; costumes, Mrs. Raymond Forbes; and lighting, Brad Smith.

Featured in the pageant are Mary, Sally Greiner; Gabriel, Beverly Stewart; shepherds, Yolie Rueda, Wayne Rutz, Sue Springer and Holly Huneke; angels, Kathy Smith, Lori Klein, Debbie Clickenger, Karen Wright, Nancy Sim, Debbie Taylor, Karen Peters, Jane Staehle, Holly Quinton, Jan Smith, Cheryl Stewart, Karen Pfeifer, Dale Pfeifer; Gladys Roth, Linda Schramm, Robin Scapicchio and Karen Clarke; wisemen, Steven Wipfler, Debbie Jarman and Glenn Hetzel.

The service will also include the singing of well-known Christmas carols. Members of the Westminster Fellowship will assist in ushering and taking the offering. During the service, members of Westminster Fellowship will light the luminarias which will outline the walk and wall of the church.

These are candles set in sand in paper bags. They originated in the southwestern part of the country, where they are a featured event each Christmas Eve. The local church learned of this custom through Ruth Robinson and Gladys Davis who spent a year in New Mexico teaching at the John Hyson Memorial School in Chimayo.

The 11:15 service will be a candlelight Communion service. Dr. Evans will preach the Communion meditation. The Advent wreath will be a feature of this service, the minister lighting a candle from the large Christ candle. He will then light the candles of the ushers who, in turn, will light those of the congregation. When the entire sanctuary is light by candle light, the carol "Silent Night, Holy Night" will be sung.

The community is invited to participate in both of these traditional Christmas Eve services, a church spokesman added.

Chamber issues a warning on mail business scheme

Expensive variations on the old start-your-own-mail-order-business scheme have been brought to the attention of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce, Christopher R. Wemple, president, reported this week.

The Chamber of Commerce said promoters recruit beginners to invest in promotions of pens or office supplies by mail order.

The Council of Better Business Bureaus, of which the Chamber of Commerce is a member, said a number of complaints have been received from persons who invested in such mail order promotions.

One example, said the BBB, is a California mail order business offer to beginners. Under this plan, according to the BBB, a mail order novice, called an associate distributor, signs a contract requiring an investment of $1,147 for an initial mailing to a list of 2,500 "exclusive computer selected" business firms for the purpose of soliciting orders for ball point pens.

For his investment, the associate distributor receives a list of 2,500 prospects, the same number of sales brochures, envelopes, sample pens and other incentive-stimulators. Besides his investment, he also has to pay for postage, labor and other additional costs involved in mailing the promotional materials.

In addition, the contract requires three more mailings a year, even if the returns on the first mailing are negligible.

The BBB received complaints charging that the "market directors" who sign up the associate distributors assure prospects that profits from the first mailing will pay for the second, even though the contract does not specify any minimum return.

Complainants reported receiving from no more than 10. Of those who got a response, their total return varied from $9 to $200, a range that in most cases failed to cover even postage charges of $150 for one mailing — far short of their total investment.

The "computer selected" lists were said to be from a well-known credit reporting agency. Complainants found that the lists sent to them contained such businesses as filling stations, barber shops, churches, lawyers and even individuals. The BBB learned that the relationship had been severed by the agency last March.

Company literature implies that distributors will receive lists of firms "in their area," making it possible to follow up a mailing through personal contact. Instead, lists include the names of firms several states away.

The promoters emphasize the need for repeated mailings to ensure success in mail order operations. The BBB says that may be true in some direct mail promotions, but that repeated mailings of the same offer to the same list after such disappointing initial returns would not be considered by a professional mail order operator.

Yuletide services will fill schedule at Emanuel United

Christmas Eve will be celebrated at the Springfield Emanuel United Methodist Church, Church Hall at Academy Green, beginning with Christmas greetings and conversation at 10:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. At 10:50 p.m. Christmas caroling will begin in Fellowship Hall, followed by a procession of the choir and worshippers into the sanctuary, singing, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The Christmas Eve "Festival of Light" will include stories of Christmas Eve from modern times and other centuries. Pastor James Dewart's meditation will entitled "Christ, Light of Men," based on John 1:1-14. The service will conclude with the traditional lighting of the candles and singing of "Silent Night, Holy Night."

A German language worship service will be held on Christmas morning at 10 with Emanuel Schwing, lay pastor, in charge. His sermon will be "The Sign," Luke 2:12. Members of the congregation will then deliver the Christmas poinsettias to those who are shut-ins or ill.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

DIAGNOSING DEATH
The electroencephalograph, or EEG, often called the "brain wave machine," is an instrument useful in mental health research and diagnosis, as indicated in a previous article.

The machine records the electric currents developed in the brain. It does this by electrodes and wires which run from the patient to a machine which makes ink tracings of the electrical impulses on rolling graph paper.

Usually, the electrodes are applied to the scalp, but sometimes, especially in research studies, they may be applied to the surface of the brain, for an "intracranial electroencephalogram," or placed within the substance of the brain, for a "depth electroencephalogram."

The machine is helpful in neurological work and in mental illness. But recently there has arisen a new utility for the brain wave machine that is not yet widely known.

This is its employment as a method for determining when a person is dead—for diagnosing death, as it were.

This is becoming more and more important as time goes on, in part because of the matter of removing organs from newly dead persons for transplantation to living people who need a new heart or kidney or eye or some other organ.

Highlander cagers lose third game, but Weiss (20 points) starts clicking

By BILL LOVETT
The Gov. Livingston Regional High School basketball team was still looking for its first victory of the year Tuesday as it played a sub-par Watchung Hills squad.

little confidence. He came out of it against Scotch Plains, scoring 20 points on a variety of long shots and driving layups.

Information regarding the appointment of challengers for the school board election on Feb. 9 and the drawing of candidates' positions on the ballots or voting machines was released this week by the MountainSide Board of Education.

healthy 11 points per game scoring average. Now Burdette is gone, but against Scotch Plains, Richie finally asserted himself offensively.

At the start of the game, it looked as if Regional was going to be blown off the court. Behind Randy Hughes, the Raider's all-county nomination, they spurred to a quick 18-5 first-quarter lead and soon lengthened that to 39-17 at half time.

Amazingly, and it was just that, Gov. Livingston went on a rampage in the third quarter, scoring 17 straight points at one time. What made it even more unbelievable was that the streak nearly doubled the Highlanders' offensive output for the game to that point.

BUYING WISELY

From Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, Inc.

I'm about to have my annual BIG fight with my husband. His mother insists that we use the same Christmas tree lights every year because she had them for several years.

gadgets and other inferior merchandise from sidewalk salesmen. Tell your husband not to fall for a familiar swindle—the one where salesmen approach businessmen who buy gifts in quantity for Christmas.

Dear Lit-Up,
I think if you go on using the old lights your entire family could be hurt. Please explain to your husband that faulty Christmas tree lights are often a dangerous fire hazard.

This is the time of year when unordered merchandise increases. Whether it is sent to raise funds for some unfamiliar "cause" or as a frankly commercial venture, it's an objectionable practice.

Dear Larrie,
Will you please try and tell my wife not to buy junk from street peddlers during the Christmas season? I mean real junk.

Be sure to examine all purchases before Christmas. Before you buy check and see if the sale is final or if the purchase can be exchanged.

Dear Husband,
Your wife should deal with reputable stores —where most of the floppy animals on sale are fireproofed.

One more thing: don't be like the lady we know of who always packed cheap articles into gift boxes from expensive stores.

Dear Larrie,
Christmas in our house used to be fun. But with three small children and a hardworking husband it's difficult for me to get out and get the shopping done.

One more thing: try-to-get-things-done-in easy stages. If a toy has to be assembled don't leave it until Christmas Eve.

Dear Shopper,
We do. Buy from reputable stores. Avoid buying ties, cheap watches, perfume, toys,

"TELL ME, HOW DID YOU get into this business anyway?" "It's funny you should ask, because, as a matter of fact, it was totally an accident."

"Well, I started out as a mailman you know, carrying messages of good will from house to house. After a while, however, the mails became flooded with third class bulk mail, and no one was reading it anymore. I began to feel irrelevant."

"What do you think of all the people who dress up like Santa Claus every Christmas?" "Well, as they say, imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. After all, they do help me out during the busiest period. I think it's fine. What I don't like is being misrepresented. Some of these commercial Santa Clauses, they go around telling people I can make them happy. Now I can't do that. The best I could do would be to make a referral."

"Santa, has anyone ever asked you what you would like for Christmas?" "Ho, ho, ho. No, I guess no one ever has." "Then I guess that should be our next question. What would you like for Christmas?" "Besides to thank-you?" "Yes." "And besides the milk and cookies?" "Yes." "Peace, I guess."

Accidents

Police said Dalessio was traveling in the right lane of the highway when Daniel's car came out of a U-turn. Daniel pulled out onto Rt. 22 after traffic in the left lane allegedly had stopped for him. The Dalessio car then struck the Daniel vehicle.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS
WHILE most of us think of our eyes as being among the most important parts of our body, they are actually the most important. The cells of your eyes are constantly being replaced, and their ability to do this depends on the appearance of the blood. If the blood has an overwhelming taint of bacteria, which can cause serious illness even in severe cases, the eyes may, at times, occasionally, become inflamed. On the other hand, if the blood is extremely clean, the eyes may become extremely dry, and the white blood as well.

'Pike hearings urged before increasing tolls

The New Jersey Turnpike Authority was called upon this week to hold public hearings before making any changes in its toll structure. Concern that Turnpike tolls might be increased without public discussion was voiced by Jack Staskewicz, state chairman of the AAA Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, which have a combined membership of more than a quarter-million motorists. Staskewicz noted there have been published reports that Turnpike commissioners are considering toll increases to cover an anticipated budget deficit.

"The motoring public, which would bear the burden of any toll increases, should be given the opportunity to understand why the Turnpike believes higher tolls are necessary," Staskewicz said.

Christmas fireworks? Pork for Noel?

UC students add foreign spice to U.S. Yule

Dreams of a "white Christmas," frosts the snowman, Santa's eight reindeer and visions of sugar plums fill the minds of every American child around Christmas time and provide endless reminiscing for adults. But different dreams occupy the minds and provide memories for at least 100 foreign students at Union College. Memories of their homelands and traditions of Christmas customs.

The students add all kinds of "foreign guides" to television travelogue of their countries. They are: Jose David, former of Elizabeth, a native of Panama, Venezuela; All in of Passaic, who hails from Turkey; Panagiotis, a native of Greece; Robert E. Roselle, who is from a town in Greece; Humberto O'Valle of El Paso, who hails from Columbia, South America; and Miss Anastasia of Wroclaw, who is from France.

Significantly, most of the students admit they truly enjoyed the Christmas holiday in their homelands, many of the traditions are being replaced by the "American way" and they have "Americanized" the holiday.

Panagiotis, called "Fano" by his friends and family, has been in the U.S. for the longest time—six and a half years. He is a college senior and speaks both Greek and English.

Farber to speak at Green Lane Y

The third event of the Festival of Arts series of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA will be a lecture entitled, "America and Israel—Do We Stand or Fall Together," by Harry Farber, WOR radio personality, on Sunday, Jan. 3, at the Y center, Green Lane, Union.

Farber recently ran for Congress in the 19th Congressional District, Manhattan, losing to Bella Abzug in a close race.

Admission at the door is $3 or by series ticket. Series tickets are $10 for two admissions for the remaining five events, $6 for one admission to the remaining five events. Golden agers and students are admitted for half price. Tickets may be purchased in advance through the Y's office or from Carl Shackman, program director of the Y.

Board of Realtors names Boyle to job father held in 1925

Realtor William A. Boyle Jr. has been elected president of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, Boyle, whose father was the first president of the board in 1925, is president of The Boyle Co., Realtors, with offices in Elizabeth, Chatham and Bernardsville. The firm was founded in 1905 by the late William A. Boyle Sr. and his father, the late Michael W. Boyle.

Also elected were Raymond A. Pisano of Roselle Park, first vice-president; Herbert Tiegler of Elizabeth, second vice-president; Frank J. Johnson of Union, third vice-president; Robert E. Scott Jr. of Elizabeth, secretary; and John J. Bloom, executive secretary. Boyle's brother, John M., an Elizabeth attorney, is counsel to the board.

Those elected to the Board of Directors include George Papoulatos, Donald Driscoll, Milton Samberg, Alfred Palermo, Dorothy McFarland, Ralph Autorino, Jr., Reuben Katzman, William L. Ard, Fred Garfinkel, Shea Schapiro, Joseph Mesnick and James J. White. Sauer, Bloom and Power were named counsel to the board.

Boyle will be honored at an installation dinner at the Manor, West Orange, Jan. 15. A resident of Summit, he attended Elizabeth school and Seton Hall University. He is married to the former Helen Roloff of Roselle Park. They have four children.

Boyle is a member of the Somerset County and Morris County Boards of Realtors, the New Jersey National Association of Real Estate Board. He was formerly an executive committee member of the New Jersey Association of Realtors. Other affiliates include the National Association of Home Builders, Eastern Union County and Morris County Chamber of Commerce, New Jersey Association of Insurance Agents, American Motel-Hotel Association of the New Jersey Historical Society.

Boyle is a member of the Board of Managers of St. Elizabeth Hospital, president of Boyle Associates, insurance brokers, and president of the Red Lion Motor Lodge, Elizabeth. He is also a principal in a number of real estate investment companies and has built and is the owner of a number of apartment houses in North Jersey. He has been involved in the development and sale of residential land for thousands of new homes since World War II.

Psychology Club visits drug treatment center

Members of the Union College Psychology Club came a little closer to understanding the causes of drug addiction and types of rehabilitative treatment when they visited Daytop Village, Staten Island, recently.

The students, all interested in the drug abuse problem, observed firsthand the living quarters and recreational facilities and met with Village residents, all ex-addicts, who were willing to discuss their particular cases.

In November, a drug abuse workshop was conducted at Union College, Cranford, and among the speakers were Frank Horn and Miss Geraldine Gentile, directors of Daytop Village. They reported to the students that they have had success in rehabilitating drug users and explained the significance of their being a "therapeutic community," which does not employ any chemical approaches in rehabilitation.

Richard Perchaluk of Hillside organized the trip, Miss Eileen Kaufman of New York City, is adviser to the group.

Space specialist appointed to NCE engineering faculty

Newark College of Engineering President Dr. William Hazell announced this week the appointment of a 48-year-old internationally known space specialist as the college's new chairman for the department of mechanical engineering.

The appointee is Dr. William L. Haberman of Rockville, Md., currently manager of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Space Flight Experiments Program as well as manager of NASA's Planetary Mission Studies. Dr. Haberman is also a member of the faculty of the University of Maryland, has an extensive industrial background, has had one of his patented and two other U.S. patents.

It is felt that Dr. Haberman's total experience in industry, in the academic world, and in administrative supervision - well qualified him for the position. Dr. L. Bryce Underhill, NCE's dean of engineering, says, "Dr. Haberman's association with Newark College of Engineering will be at the end of the year."

Always drive safely; weather or not

The shoulders of the weatherman carry a heavy burden each winter.

Too often this fictitious snow-maker, storm-starter, or sleet-setter, is blamed for traffic accidents that occur on streets or highways. It is not uncommon for someone to blame a severe rear-end collision on the two inches of snow on the highway, or to pin the cause of a highway crash on had visibility from falling snow.

Although these conditions DO make driving hazardous, often it is the failure of the driver to adjust his driving to the weather conditions that causes highway crashes. Reduced speed, increased distance between vehicles, the use of snow tires or studded tires could eliminate that rear end collision so often blamed on the fresh fallen snow, and a new set of blades on the windshield wipers could prevent a driver from being caught in a snow drift.

The New Jersey State Safety Council says it is up to each driver to be a defensive driver and adjust his driving techniques to fit the conditions and always be on the alert to avoid accidents. There are some basic rules for winter driving:

1. Start early. On packed snow or ice, it takes longer to get going and gradually. In a car with manual shift, use second gear. Turn wheels straight ahead to ease starting.

2. See and be seen. Keep windows and windshield free of snow, ice and slush. Turn on headlights during daytime snowstorms to help others to see you. Falling snow reduces visibility and snowbanks can conceal driveways, intersections, pedestrians and other vehicles.

3. Get the feel of the road. Keep a check on the surface of the road testing it for slipperiness. Using a single brake application, find out how easily the wheels will slide.

4. Follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the vehicle ahead so that you will have plenty of room to stop. Drive at slower than normal speeds.

5. Brake before turns. Anticipate braking situations and start slowing down well before you reach a turn, an intersection or the crest of a hill.

UNLIMITED CONVENIENT LIGHTED FREE PARKING

Too many accidents happen during the holidays," explained Anthony Chairman Alfred E. Driscoll, "and a great many could be avoided merely by exercising a little care. People are in such a rush to get to their destinations, home and back to work, and consequently, fatigue and loss of concentration follow."

Do on the safe side and take time out for coffee. Driscoll, Chairman of the Highway Safety Council, said.

Motorists will be served free coffee at all Holiday Inns and at all Holiday Inns on the New Jersey Turnpike from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Dec. 24, 25, Dec. 27, 28, Dec. 31, Jan. 1, and Jan. 3.

Last year a total of 1,285 containers of coffee, tea and milk were provided to Turnpike patrons at Christmas time, and 8,544 at New Year's, for a total of 9,829. Most of the servings were for coffee.

Yule trees: How safe?

The natural Christmas tree is considerably safer in American homes than kitchen stoves, furnaces, matches, electricity, and a long list of things that cause fire losses - including the thawing of frozen pipes.

Austin N. Lentz, secretary of the New Jersey Christmas Tree Growers' Association, cites the national growers' association as authority for this statement. Lentz is also extension specialist in forest resources and recreation management at Rutgers University.

The basis of the statement is an estimate of the number of Christmas tree fires prepared by the Fire Protection Association. The FPA sets a figure of 1,030 Christmas tree fires, nationwide, in 1969, out of a total of 973,000 fires from all causes.

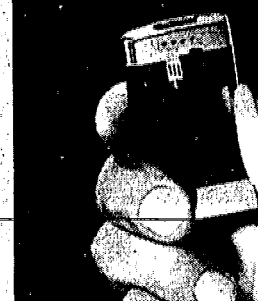

On record are 139,800 fires from heating and cooking equipment, and 111,800 from smoking and matches. Another 4,000 fires were caused by "thawing pipes."

District school vote not affected by law permitting a delay

A bill signed last week by Gov. William I. Cahill, permitting regional school districts to delay elections until after the 1970 census figures are officially promulgated, will have no bearings on the Union County Regional High School District's Feb. 2 election, a Regional spokesman said this week.

A news report of the bill made it appear that all regional school elections in the state would be postponed. The census figures are expected to affect the allotted representation of some regional school boards and thus elections held under the old figures might not be truly in accordance with the results of the 1970 census. Representation on regional school boards is proportional to the populations of the member communities.

The Regional District spokesman said the preliminary 1970 census figures released for the six communities in the district will not affect the makeup of the present nine-member board.

The New Jersey School Boards' Association said the bill is not a mandatory one, and in order to be applied to any district, unanimous consent of the affected regional board members must be attained.

The Regional District comprises Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountaine and Springfield, and operates four high schools.

Consorting charge made against two

Two persons were arrested Thursday and charged by Springfield police with consorting with known criminals. They are Jerome D. Giovanni of Belleville and Frank Grieco of Newark.

Police said they found in the vicinity of an attempted break and entry in Springfield center. They were released on $250 bail each.

Robert M. Lavacic Jr. of Plainfield was arrested last Wednesday and charged with larceny, police reported. He allegedly took a skill saw valued at about $70 from Channel Lumber. He was released on $150 bail.

For And About Teenagers

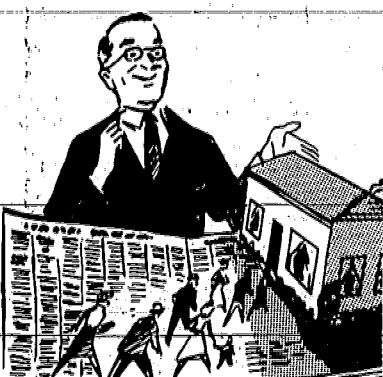

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a problem concerning this guy I like very much. He seems to care a great deal for me. He says he loves me more than any other girl. We've been going together, off and on, for two years. I broke up with him some time ago, but he came back to me. He always takes me home after our date and then goes back to town and rides around. He calls me once in a while. He doesn't work on Sundays, but he never seems to have time to come over. During the week, he always goes home real late and tells his parents he has been with me. I think if he loves me, he shouldn't do these things, nor ride around all hours of the night. He lies to me about what he does. I am only 15 and he is 18. What can I do about my problem."

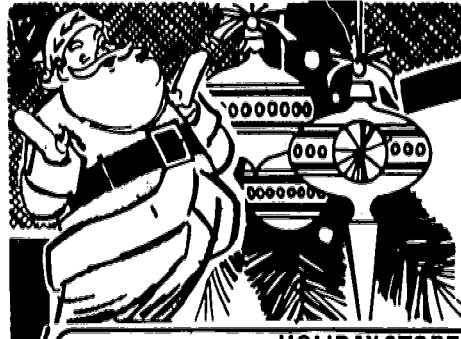

OUR REPLY: You should accept the truth as you see it. He does like you. Maybe he likes you better than anyone else. But he isn't ready to settle down with just one girl and, at 15 years, you should not allow yourself to get so serious about him or any other boy. If he treats you properly, gets you home on time, and is otherwise a gentleman where you are concerned, settle for this if you like him enough. You aren't going to change him, or his habits. This is something he must do for himself, and for his own reasons.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

 October 10, 1970

Mr. Robert Brummel
 Suburban Publishing Corp.

Dear Bob,

I must comment most favorably on the "pull" of your classified ad page. We run many ads in newspapers throughout the state, and out of state. And, being an agency, we are naturally more aware of results than the layman.

Recently, I had need for both domestic and office help. Running a classified ad with a phone number in a major newspaper would have meant receiving calls from all over. Also, the circulation spread would have impractical people calling who would find it geographically impractical to work here. By running in your concentrated group, and referring to familiar bus lines, the calls received were from people sincerely interested and accessible.

The end result is we have hired the help we needed, plus a few back up names for our files. I am convinced that the classified ads in the Suburban Publishing group are read. And that the readers are "action" people.

Yours truly,
 A. RAPP ADVERTISING

Letters to Santa come phrased in imperative Clauses

Santa's job of filling the Christmas stocking with gifts that answer children's Christmas wishes is becoming more difficult each year.

A letter from Diane explicitly requests "an engagement ring from Joe," and she adds, "last but not least I want to be married by next Thanksgiving."

Perhaps her wish for "some pants and some tops" shows her plans to have a modern trousseau.

Valerie asks for $1,000. From those less fortunate Santa still has view," which he will certainly get. And weren't you who asked for...?

Kathleen wants a "Tupewriter" Valerie wants a "Tupewriter." Patrick wants a "Tupewriter." Lisa wants a "Tupewriter." I love you, that's why I love you.

A number of more methodical writers sent in orders rather than requests. Many writers of the Busy Book asked for things like...

Kathleen's letter is more efficient than the catalogue numbers: "176294 $1.00." Gabriel cut out the ad for the toy he wants and mailed that.

While some writers send only lists, others are polite and let Santa know what they think.

Janet writes, "I like Christmas because we get lots of presents. And that's the best thing about it." Mother Krunic writes: "Dear Santa Claus, I hope you're feeling good. How are you? I'm so glad you've been a good boy. Please bring me some presents. I love you."

Dear Santa Claus, I have been good this year. Is it cold in the North Pole? I know it is very cold in Union, N.J. I have been cold all year. How are the reindeer? I love them so. Your best friend, Stephen."

Kathleen writes: "Dear Santa Claus, I love you. I want a guitar and a baby-go-by-bye and new Velcro and a table and chairs and a snuffed animal and I will give you some cookies and milk on Christmas. I can't wait to see my toys..."

One little boy sent Santa an invitation to stop and play with him in the middle of the night. Kenny writes: "Dear Santa, My toys are cool toys and you can meet me at Christmas Eve and it will be in the Middle of the night and we will look at the toys and have fun and using them."

Doreen writes, "Dear Santa Claus, if you can, bring lots of toys. If you can't, bring a few from my list. The doll named Jumpsy, a few games for seven-year-olds, baby-go-by-by. Dear Santa Claus, make me a doll of you. Dear elf, make me a doll of you."

"Dear Santa," writes Susan, "For Christmas I want all the toys I may have."

"Dear Santa Claus," writes Andy, "I am reading much better now. How are you? I hope you are jolly and well." Linda's letter is more direct: "Dear Santa, I was good all year. I want every thing I can get. I never get the stuff I want."

And the letters aren't letters at all but...

CHRISTMAS SERVICE ARE COSTLY When a consumer spends a dollar for food at the grocery store, he buys 40 cents worth of products and 60 cents worth of marketing services.

CHRISTMAS Christmas, 1970, does not come to a world that is perfect. Many nations are at odds. There are wars and rumors of war. And cold wars. There is poverty, even in the richest land on this earth. But, this is the day we have set aside to recognize that momentous event that took place in Bethlehem centuries ago. This is the hour when men pause, when combatants often call for a momentary pause... when, in essence, many of the affairs of the world are set aside for a few precious hours. Christmas, indeed, is such a universal holiday that it somehow touches the lives of everyone, even unbelievers. Christmas day is not a perfect day. Do not expect it to be. But, give it a chance to touch you. Take a closer look at your world on this Christmas day. Take a look into your own heart. You may find some singular experience that will lead toward a better tomorrow.

LIGHT FIRST CANDLE -- Mr. and Mrs. Harry Katz, 78, celebrated receiving two pacemakers by lighting the first candle for Hanukkah, the Feast of Lights, at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. Shown with Mr. and Mrs. Katz is Rabbi Shalom Gordon, Medical Center chaplain, who will conduct evening services over the hospital's public address system for the eight-day Hanukkah holiday. Special parties and tray favors are planned for the holiday at the center.

Unusual anniversary gift
His-her pacemakers installed

For the first time in four years, an East Orange couple has celebrated a holiday anniversary by getting "his and her" pacemakers at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Katz are both 78 and on their 54th year. "We've done everything to do for each other," Mrs. Katz said. "The day before our 50th wedding anniversary, the lovely couple discovered that Mrs. Katz was experiencing intermittent heart block and Mrs. Katz's cardiologists recommended pacemaker implantation. Exactly two months later, during a vacation in Florida, Mr. Katz was told that he, too, needed one of the small battery-powered devices to regulate his heart beat.

At a holiday time two years later, in 1968, Mr. and Mrs. Katz were admitted to Newark Beth Israel Medical Center for pacemaker battery replacements. At that time, however, their respective doctors were unable to schedule appointments.

AS THE HUSBAND GREW NEARER for a second replacement this year, the couple insisted they wanted to meet the Jewish holiday, Hanukkah.

Weequahic group tries to locate 1962 grads

The Weequahic High School Class of 1962 is planning to hold a reunion but is finding it difficult to locate all the classmates.

Graduates who have not been contacted, or those who know the address of members of that class, are asked to contact Lynn Schwartz Pollack in Springfield (476-0248), Dorothy Dorfman Miller in Hillside (923-9851) or Marian Gordon Mandel in Edison (382-9303).

Parkway will brew safety again

The Garden State Parkway is extending its 14th annual program of free safety drinks for New Year's Eve and making mortgage to add a cup of safety to the mix as well.

Chairman John P. Gallagher of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said the program for the first time will present free coffee, tea or milk during the Christmas Eve observance period.

While invitation cards will be given out by toll collectors on both occasions, the Parkway roadside restaurants will provide the free refreshments to all motorists, regardless of whether they are on the road.

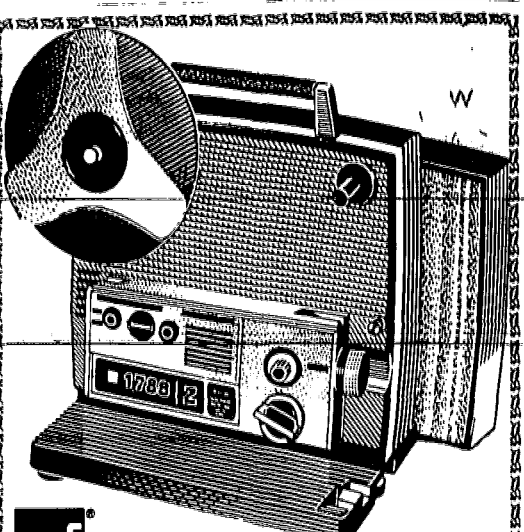

The Parkway's free safety drinks will flow during the Christmas eve observance hours of 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and the like New Year's Eve observance.

The drinks are offered free of charge by the operators of the Parkway restaurants, Howard Johnson and Holiday House, in cooperation with the authority. They will be given at all Parkway restaurants except southernmost Seaville, which is closed this time of year.

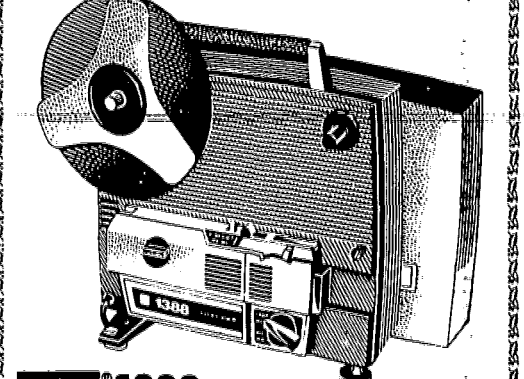

As noted in the invitation card, Chairman Gallagher urges all motorists on the Parkway during those traditionally festive holiday periods to pause for safety at the roadside restaurants. He added that such stops are recommended for safety throughout the year.

"Please do stop," the chairman said, "This is really one for the road... and safety."

The Parkway first introduced the now widespread toll road program of free drinks for safety on Jan. 1, 1958.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

RE-EVALUATE YOUR POSITION

Dear Amy: What is a married woman supposed to do when she has fallen very hard for her brother-in-law who is also married? My husband passes it off as some kind of a joke!

Dear Confused: You should re-evaluate your position, realize how foolish you are behaving, "get over your brother-in-law" and be big enough to join your husband in that joke. Laughing at one's self sometimes is the greatest therapy!

Dear Amy: I met a boy about two years ago but I never did go out with him because I was too bashful. Now he is coming in on a furlough. He likes me and wants to see me. I am very self-conscious about my complexion (pimples). I do wear make-up but it doesn't hide the fact. I am very bashful and very lonely and I would like to go out with him. I am 20 years old.

What do you think I should do?

Dear Marlene: Of course go out with the boy! Your complexion may not be as serious as you think, it doesn't seem to bother him!

Dear Amy: I'm 18 years old and have been married for two years. I have a daughter eight months old, I live in a nice house and have all the things a young married woman would want. But I don't love my husband and I don't think I ever did, I married him because I had to get away from my family (I ran away from home once and I didn't want to do it again) and since my family liked my husband, I saw marriage to him as an escape from them. My husband is a good provider, I don't want to live with him, but I think my daughter is more important than myself. When I was a child, my parents split up and I had to live with one then the other. So I know what my daughter would have to face, I know I would have no trouble getting a divorce. My husband doesn't beat me but he is very inconsiderate and he tried to shoot me once, I'm afraid to get a divorce because I would have no place to go and I don't want to deprive my daughter of the things I didn't have.

Should I stick it out?

Nervous: Your marriage is more than slightly sick. Any girl who uses marriage as an escape can expect to be disappointed. It's no use crying over spilled milk. Get the help of a marriage counselor and take your husband with you...without the six-shooter. He could use some advice, too.

Dear Amy: I have two men friends and they both want to marry me. They both are very good to me. The problem is that each one thinks he is the only one in my life. What should I do?

In Need of Advice: Dear In Need: If you have marriage in mind, make a decision. Two suitors is one more than you need!

Dear Amy: I have a problem with my mother. Whenever I go out on a date, she has the patio light on when I get home. How can I tell her that a boy doesn't like to kiss me goodnight with the light on?

Patro Paula: The patio light should be lit when you arrive home from a date. And if the light bothers the boys, just tell them to shut their eyes. Better they should be in the dark than you!

DEAR FRIENDS AND READERS: It always gives me much happiness to wish you all a Merry Christmas, a Happy Hanukkah and every good wish for the New Year.

Fondly,
Amy

Museum to show what funds can do

An exhibition currently at the Montclair Art Museum presents a selection of 34 paintings acquired over the past 18 years through the Lang Acquisition Fund. It is the third in a series of exhibitions the museum has mounted to show the growth of its collections through special funds.

Some 70 works have been purchased through the Lang fund since it was established in 1943 as a memorial to Mrs. Florence O.R. Lang (Mrs. Henry Lang) of Montclair, a founder and benefactor of the museum.

The paintings assembled for showing represent the scope of the group as a whole. The portrait by Samuel F.B. Morse, purchased in 1943, was the first acquisition through the fund. It is one of 14 portraits shown.

Pollutants peril Yule trees, too

Rutgers probes harmful gases

Yes, there'll always be a Santa Claus -- and a Christmas tree, too, with some help from the plant scientists.

To look at some evergreens you might have doubts about the future supply of Christmas trees. These are the ones that have been hit by air pollutants.

But others -- the big majority -- seem to have developed the ability to thrive in spite of the harmful gases in the air.

It's a mystery why certain trees in a forest or a group turn brown from air pollution while others remain unharmed. Of why hydrogen fluoride attacks only spruce trees, and ozone leaves its mark on white pines, but not on spruce or Austrian pines, but so it goes.

Trouble has developed only recently on Austrian pine, a long-needled species that is winning popularity as a Christmas tree.

The trouble is so new that no one is sure which pollutant is causing the mischief. It's being seen not only in New Jersey, but all across the country.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has given Rutgers University $14,000 to study the problem at its College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

A team of plant biologists at the college, Ida V. Leone and Eileen G. Brennan, added the new problem to many they have been working on several years on a wide variety of vegetables, flowers, shrubs and trees.

They found an outdoor laboratory made to order on the Rutgers golf course -- a group of Austrian pines, some healthy and others showing the harm done by some contaminant in the air.

The next step in running down clues about the cause is a chemical analysis of brown needles -- a fairly low and complicated routine.

Then they will make identification more positive by "gassing" healthy trees in a laboratory chamber with the contaminant under suspicion.

After that -- what? No cure is possible after a tree has been injured, and the only prevention would be to keep the air free of harmful substances. Who can say if this will ever happen?

Plant scientists have long been successful in dealing with situations like this. They select individual plants for the characteristics they want to preserve or strengthen -- in this case resistance to air pollution -- and use them as foundation stock for future generations.

So, there'll always be a Christmas tree.

Parkway reports accidents lowered by 'lights on' drive

The Garden State Parkway reported this week there was a marked decrease in traffic accidents during the early-darkness hours this year under the annual "Lights On, Please" drive effort.

Chairman John P. Gallagher of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said a 15 per cent accident total drop from the previous year was recorded during the 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. hours over the 10-day program period concurrent with the change to Eastern Standard.

Those two hours become critical upon the switch back from Daylight Saving Time in late October as darkness falls earlier than before for homebound motorists, and the Parkway program is aimed at alerting drivers then and there to the need for caution and putting on headlights promptly.

The reduction in total accidents during the two-switching hours between Oct. 21 and Nov. 28 -- from 55 last year to 47 this -- was not despite an approximate five per cent increase in traffic volume on the Parkway. There was a 12 per cent accident rise in the same period for the other hours of the day.

It was the second successive decline in early-darkness accidents during the annual program period tied to the turn-back of clocks in the hour and the changing time of dusk and darkness. There were 60 such accidents in 1968.

To help smooth the transition for motorists, Parkway toll collectors handed out leaflets which reminded drivers to "turn on lights at dusk" and "watch for sudden stops" and additionally "Lights On, Please" signs were posted at toll plazas a half hour before sunset daily through Nov. 28th.

This was the toll road's ninth annual "Lights On, Please" alert in the interests of safe driving.

'Catch-22' film is Fox attraction

'Catch-22' is an imaginative faithful film adaptation of Joseph Heller's book, starring Alvin Karpis, Richard Benjamin, and an all-star cast. In the Christmas attraction at the Fox Theater on Route 22 in Union.

The film, in color (just as the book's purpose) is meant to jar and leave one feeling uncertain about everything pertaining to life and people, concerns a U.S. airman who wants to live, but who is a total mystic on a World War II base steeped in lunacy, depravity and greed, symbolizing a system in which some are asked to die enthusiastically while others get rich.

There is an assortment of caricature parts in an uncompromising situation.

'Catch-22' was directed by Mike Nichols.

DISC & DATA — JOE COCKER is now recording his fourth album for A&M Records in Muscle Shoals. Thus far material and musicians are a secret. Joe's "Mad Dogs and Englishmen" film is now completed and hopes to have it in release in time for Oscar consideration. FAIRPORT CONVENTION is set to return to the U.S. Jan. 1, when they play The Bitter End in New York. They will then head cross-country where they will share billing with GRAND FUNK. LEE MICHAELS has returned to his first love, the organ, and left the piano playing. Continuing with Lee is drummer JOEL LARSON.

CARPENTERS, RICHARD AND KAREN, recently received Gold Records for both single and album, "Close to You." Soon to follow will be a Goldie for "We've Only Just Begun." LUTHERINGAY, Sandy Denny's new group, plans a U.S. visit in late spring. BARRY MCGUIRE AND THE DR. ERIC HORD have just released their first LP on the Ode '70 label, featuring the oldie, "South of the Border," which is a five-minute FM single, and is described as an "aural" Easy Rider. LAMBERT AND NUTTYCOMBE have completed their second album for A&M, recorded in its entirety in England.

MICHAEL COLOMBIER has written a pop symphony for A&M which he has just finished recording in Paris and the U.S. under the tutelage of HERB ALPERT. Colombier says recording utilizes more than 125 musicians and singers. Release is set for early spring.

ROGER KELLAWAY, composer, arranger and pianist, will present his CELLOQUARTET on his first album to be released next month.

HOWDY IS Blowdy Pig minus MICK ABELHAMS, and they are now recording a new LP on the A&M label. In the meantime, Mick has formed a new group called WOMMET, and they are getting it together in England for a recording session.

Chorus to present 'Messiah' Sunday

Good seats are still available for the performance of Handel's "Messiah" by the Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra Sunday at Symphony Hall in Newark, according to Mordecai Bauman, managing director of Symphony Hall.

The holiday performance of "Messiah," which will begin at 3 p.m., will mark the first time the Masterwork, under the direction of David Randolph, has performed the work in Newark.

The Morristown-based chorus has given the work at Carnegie and Philharmonic Halls in New York City to critics' praise and a wide audience following for the last five years.

Soloists for the Newark performance will be Karen Altman, soprano; Carole Walters, mezzo-soprano; Kenneth Riegel, tenor, and William Metcalf, bass-baritone.

Sound of computer music

Magnetic 'readings' recorded

A year's variations in the earth's magnetic field under the buffeting of solar wind have been transformed into music by composer Charles Dodge of Columbia University. He did it with the help of three physicists and a large computer.

The result is a recording titled "Earth's Magnetic Field" (Nonesuch H-71250)—30 minutes of music composed by man but performed by computer.

Dodge, a music instructor at Columbia, based on composition on "Kp index" readings, which look like music but aren't. They are measurements of the varying strength of the earth's magnetic field as it is struck by solar wind—electrically charged gaseous particles that are constantly flaring out from the sun. The readings, taken every three hours, become strings of black dots on graph paper that are known as "Bartels' musical diagrams" because they resemble notes on music paper. They were developed by Julius Bartels, a German geophysicist.

Dodge programmed his music according to the 2,920 Kp index readings taken for the year 1961. He used the IBM/360 Model 91 at the Columbia University Computer Center to shape the composition's final sounds, which are electronic impulses, impressed directly on magnetic tape. The product is computer music—sound that has never been played by anyone; in fact, it is music that has never passed through any sound source, conventional or electronic, until it is played at home on the phonograph.

The three physicists translated the year of Kp index readings, correlating them with pitches in a diatonic scale over a four-octave range.

The final sound comprises a wide range of instrumental-like effects, but Dodge is quick to point out that this is sound created, or synthesized, within a computer, and is not electronic sound produced and shaped in a studio.

Hung up over hangovers?

Science knows no sure cure

In this season to be jolly, a lot of people will miscalculate their capacity for liquid cheer and wake up with that classic New Year's Day malaise, the hangover.

Although there are almost as many homemade prescriptions for this unhappy syndrome of headache and fatigue as there are victims, none is what you could call a surefire cure. The oldest is "more of the hair of the dog that bit you"—a recommendation that may help some, but starts others on the way to a new hangover.

A list of supposed hangover cures ranges from a vitamin B injection, to a session in a hyperbaric chamber where pure oxygen is breathed under pressure, to drinking egg whites whipped with Worcester'shire sauce. Also highly recommended by some are raw carrots, steamed cauliflower, a square of cheese followed out and filled with tobacco sauce, an icebag on the head, and a milk punch of milk, rum and bitter.

Since science as yet has no cure for the hangover, the best medical advice is to take aspirin and go back to sleep. The aspirin will help relieve the throbbing headache, while sleep relaxes the body, restores energy and buys time for recuperation. The surest remedy, in a word, is helpful.

THE HANGOVER COMES from a number of different causes, beginning with an excess of alcohol consumption. This upsets the blood sugar balance as well as the salt and water in the body's circulation system. But in addition, say medical authorities, the admixture of social excitement, the conglomeration of canapes, loss of sleep, and even guilt feelings, all contribute to the making of a colossal hangover.

Scientifically speaking, the main cause of a hangover is not the alcohol itself, it is an intermediate metabolite, acetaldehyde, which develops from the oxidation of alcohol.

Since the alcohol in one's system will not vanish until the body metabolizes and elimminates the substance, a hangover will not disappear in a hurry. It's a long, slow process—about one ounce of alcohol an hour.

With New Year's Eve just around the corner, it might be well to spread the good word to celebrants: eat a nourishing meal, preferably high in protein, before going to a party. As long as there is food in the digestive system, alcohol will absorb less rapidly and the chances of developing a hangover are lessened. Space properly diluted drinks well apart and drink them slowly. Follow this advice and you'll certainly wake up to a happy New Year!

TUNING IN - Mrs. Ruth Perry, business education teacher in the Union County Regional High School District, plugs in her headset to check progress of student taking dictation via tape recording. Four-channel system allows students to take dictation at various speeds.

They follow their own 'dictates'

School labs help to train stenos

A laboratory without test tubes, but with earphones, may have the right formula to provide the business community with a steady flow of skilled secretarial help.

Fresh impetus has been given to secretarial training in the four high schools in the Union County Regional High School District by the use of the laboratory method in the stenographic classes.

The steno labs (there's one in each of the high schools) are equipped with a teacher's console, four tape recorders and student listening stations. Educationally - prepared multi-channel tapes are used for dictation.

Eleanore Murphy, business education coordinator, pointed out that these laboratories in no way replace the teacher "but are used as a teacher's aid in the development of the skill ability of students in the shorthand areas."

Because of the multi-channel dictating machines, maximum individual instruction is possible, she said.

Each student, by tuning into one of the four channels, may receive dictation at speeds from 60 to 140 words per minute. The student is able to receive the dictation at her own rate of speed, and there is no longer the frustration experienced by those who are unable to "keep up" with the teacher's dictation nor by those who are able to take the dictation at higher rates of speed. Heretofore, the teacher was able to give dictation to the "average" ability level of her total class only.

Miss Murphy said that perhaps the greatest advantage of the business education laboratory for steno is that the teacher can give individual attention to each student while all students are actively engaged in taking dictation.

"Because the teacher doesn't have to dictate orally, she is able to move about the room and observe the students' progress directly. By plugging her own headset into the extra jack in the receiver unit, the teacher can listen to the various dictations and watch the transcription. Any problem is readily apparent and corrective measures are made immediately."

Another advantage of the system, she said, is that the machines provide a variety of voices so the students become accustomed to several voices, male and female. Still another advantage is that the student finds it possible to receive more practice opportunities.

The laboratories are used by all of the stenographic classes and, in addition, are used by those non-business classes which receive training in note-taking for personal use.

In the Mountainside Men's League on Dec. 7 at Echo Lanes, Bud Clevenger rolled the individual high series with 654 and Dan Bucino scored the individual high game with 262. The team high series and game were rolled by Owen Flying A with 3,028 and 1,056 respectively.

NIH THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH BETHESDA, MARYLAND

TUMORS ON BRAIN OR SPINAL CORD - PART I
Bill Partek finally took a step in the right direction. After symptoms of unusual headaches and trouble using his eyes which he attributed to eye strain, Bill went to see his family doctor.

The physician examined his eyes with an ophthalmoscope, a gadget that magnifies the nerve endings in the back of Bill's eyes. And, eerily, he knew the bad news. Bill would have to see two specialists immediately - an ophthalmologist (eye physician) and a neurosurgeon. After examinations that answered more or less the same - brain tumor - in one "late surgery."

Bill's life has saved because of the operation, but delay cost him the right of an eye and decreased the vision in his other eye. Eyes and did NOT start the brain tumor which damaged his eye nerves. The cause is unknown.

Sally Satterfield discovered she was almost deaf in one ear by plugging up the phone and listening for a dial tone. She could barely hear it. She then shifted the receiver to the other ear. The tone came through loudly and clearly. She shifted back to the other ear - almost no sound.

Mrs. Satterfield called her doctor who made an appointment with an ear specialist (otologist). After an examination and special tests, the verdict was a tiny tumor - acoustic neuroma - which was affecting the nerve of hearing.

on one side. Early surgery saved her life and partially restored the lost hearing.

There are many success stories of early surgery for brain tumors. However, a tumor (neoplasm) within the brain still is a serious and often baffling problem.

Sudden erratic behavior and personality changes such as extreme irritability in a middle-aged person who formerly had not shown such traits, may be caused by a brain tumor.

Symptoms depend on the location and size of the tumor. Disturbance or loss of hearing, sight, speech (aphasia), taste, smell, emotion, intellect, and balance may be occurring (dizziness, vertigo, may occur).

If headache is present in a brain tumor it may come and go, or it may be steady. Look for the "unusual" headache. That is the type that would be reported to a physician for a medical diagnosis. Unusual sleepiness, or restlessness, with sleep by fits and starts, may be a brain tumor symptom.

The patient's medical history, including his history of symptoms and changes, is the first step a physician takes in order to diagnose a brain tumor. Then he observes signs which might indicate disease.

Since its founding, investigators at the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke, a component of the National Institutes of Health, have conducted basic research on the brain and spinal cord which has contributed to advances in diagnosis and treatment.
