Board approves budget of $1,995,317 to go before voters in school election

Board of Education approved a $1,995,317 budget for the coming school year, following a hearing before some 50 citizens lest Wednesday night at the Deer-field School. The budget will be presented to the voters at the school board election Feb. 9.

The figure of just under $2 million is up from $1,842,412 for the current school year and $1,677,014 for 1969-70. Board members estimated that this would represent an addi-tional increase of $4.40 per $1,000. In other words, taxes on a house having a true value of $40,000 and an assessed value of $16,312. will increase by $71.94 for local school purposes. These figures are based on 1970 ratables and as ratables increase the tax increase goes down. This indicates that the $4.40 increase is the upper limit.

BOARD MEMBERS William Biunno and

Thomas Spina explained the budget. They said the total budget is made up of three parts, current expense of $1,709,400, capital outlay. of $94,255 and debt service of $191,662. In accordance with state laws the public will vote only on the first two parts.

The current expense part involves opera-tion, or what it will take to run the schools for year. This includes salaries for teachers and administration, transportation, operating and maintaining the buildings, school supplies, heat, utilities and $5,000 for the negolator for teachers' salaries. Capital outlay represents additions or improvements of sites, buildings and equipment, This includes the purchase of land, such as the recent one of property adjacent to the Beechwood School.

Debt service represents the amount of money needed to pay for bonded indebtedness for the fiscal year. It includes the payment of interest at the rate specified on bonds, plus a year's amortization-of-the-principal. In other words, it is a fixed rate representing commitments authorized under previously approved referenda.

MAJOR ITEMS in the budget are adminis-tration salaries, up from $74,130 for the current year to $78,620 for nextyear; salaries for instructional purposes, up from $1,046,275 to $1,106,735; textbooks, up from $15,420 to $16,250.

Also, transportation, up from $59,650 to $74,950. This includes the use of an addi-tional bus to bring children from the south side of Rt. 22 to the schools because of traffic weeks, Dr. Freu Hagedorn reported at the board meeting Tuesday night at A. L. John-son Regional High School, Clark. Dr. Hagedorn, chairman of the board's buildings and grounds committee, said that his group is "again reviewing priorities" as to what features must be included in the program to be presented to the voters in a He added, 'We hope to solidify the referendum program in the next few weeks, at which time it will be presented to the public." Hagedorn also reviewed the committee's study of pre-engineered construction methods as a possible means of cutting costs. He said, however, that the consensus among architects and others who had worked with this technique was that there wouldbe "severe interface problems" where the new construcinterface problems" where the new construc-tion would be joined to the old buildings. He commented that the question still needs "further clarification," but that "in all candor, 1 and rather pessimistic." The board also discussed the problem of its annual election of members, originally Weekend accidents injure 2; 4-car crash on snowy Rt.

Two persons were injured and one driver received a summons in five accidents, including a four-vehicle collision last weekend, according to Mountainside police.

The four-vehicle accident happened on snowcovered Rt. 22 East in front of Hall and Fuhs Sunday night, police reported. Three of the hen R Gat of Irvington. E. Conrad Jr. of Newark and Stanley M. Lubas mour M. Wasserman was parked in front of his house. Miss Tonneson was coming down Larkspur road when someone shouted to her to, and her car struck the Wasserman vehicle.

Robert R. Bass of Caldwell was slightly injured Sunday night when a station wagon he was driving struck a utility pole on Rt. 22 West.

Peter R. Taussig would like to improve communication between the Mountains de Board of Education and the public. This is one reason he decided to seek a three-year term on the board.

He said, "Our school system is our community's greatest asset and one of the prime reasons people move to Mountainside. It is one of our major responsibilities and is deserving of special attention by all of our citizens. I am seeking a position on the Board of Education in order to take an active role in maintaining a high level of education in the Mountainside schools. This is something I have wanted to do for several years.

'My sons are being educated in the Mounmy sons are being cutated in the Moun-tainside school system, hence my strong motive for maintaining the quality of their education. I have a great deal of formal education myself. Therefore, I am aware of the value of our public schools. My business experience has provided me with many of the skills necessary to solve practical administrative problems."

'Finally, because of a new job assignment I will no longer be required to commute to New York and, thus, will have more time to devote to board matters

* * * "FOR THESE REASONS, I am seeking to be elected to the Board of Education of Mountainside.'

Taussig explained what he would like to accomplish if elected. "There are no simple solutions to the problems of our school system and we would be fooling ourselves if we didn't realize this. Problems are even more difficult to solve if they are misunderstood -- and impossible to solve if they are not communicated at all. I am convinced that the board could do more to create two-way communication between themselves and the community. "It is not just enough to explain problem situations as they arise or to undertake to justify board policies to the community. The hoard must attempt to listen and become aware of the citizens' concerns for their educational' system and incorporate community ideas whenever possible, "Our borough is filled with intelligent, interested and dedicated people who wish to contribute their ideas and talents. If elected I would hope to improve this communication and invite ideas and contributions from all interested citizens.

"I will endeavor to do my part in maintaining our excellent teaching and administra-tive staff and improve it wherever possible, I will not be entering the board with any preconceived notions but rather with a flexibility in my thinking.

"A good staff cannot be obtained overnight, nor can it be maintained without constant effort and good judgment. As costs go up we must do our best to insure that we get what we are ert w. Snields has a per ial interest in the borough's school system. His main concern is to settle issues by taking the desires of the borough's residents and teachers into account. This is why he is seeking a three-year term on the Mountainside Board of Education. He said, "Within the past three years several issues with ultimately far-reaching effects on both the physical plant and educational quality of our school system have emerged. They are issues which have tended to divide those concerned with the educational process and its cost into opposing camps.

e present board has either been unable to resolve them, as in the teachers' contract negotiations, or has recommended solutions which clearly did not meet with the approval of the majority of the electorate. The defeated school board referendum of two years ago is an example. The board certainly has not communicated its guidelines and objectives adequately to the citizens of Mountainside and, furthermore, may be guilty of inadequate dialo-gue within the school system.

"I believe that the foremost job of the board in the immedate future is to expend a major, effort to settle these issues in such a way that the solutions take into account the legitimate desires of taxpayers, parents concerned with their children's education and the members of the teaching profession.

"I PROMISE THAT as an elected member would seek solutions which give due consideration to all three of these primary constituencies. I do not believe that a board representative can do otherwise.

'As a taxpayer concerned over the doubling of our education expenses over the past five years, I shall support only those expenditures which have a recognizable and acknowledged effect on the educational process. Consistant with the traditions of a born, bred and educated New Englander, I will not support expenditures of questionable or superfluous value. This is an obligation the board owes to residents whose children have graduated from the system, particularly to those senior citizens on a fixed income. "To achieve this objective I would utilize techniques of economic evaluation which have been part of my job during the past 12 years. My primary responsibility at American, Smelting and Refining Company is to evaluate possible new and more economical manu-facturing methods for our products. I would apply a similar detailed study to the budget, item by item, to measure the specific educational benefit derived from each expenditure. 'Since I have two children who will remain in the schools for many years, I also have a strong personal interest in the guality of the system, Today we are witnessing a period of rapid change in which the established philosophy, methods and content of our education

The police report said the wagon, owned by Display Box Co., Harrison, skidded on snowy pavement and struck the pole.

Lawrence F. Austin of Westfield was given a summons Saturday night after the vehicle he was driving hit a sign at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Rt. 22 East, police said. Austin was cited for allowing a passenger to ride on a part of the vehicle that is not intended for passengers.

Austin was slowing down to enter the highway from Mountain avenue. His vehicle skidded on a patch of ice and off the road into the sign, police ; reported.

No one was injured Sunday afternoon when a car driven by Isaac R. McKie Jr. of Plainfield collided with a car driven by Ted Ellowitz of Scranton, Pa., on Rt. 22 West, police reported. The McKie car had to be towed away.

According to the police report, both vehicles were in the left lane when an unidentified vehicle cut in front of Ellowitz's car. Ellowitz applied his brakes to avoid hitting the vehicle McKie was unable to stop in time and struck the Ellowitz car in the rear, III By FRED GREENBERG RE-INI Medicare - how do you know when you are covered? The rule is that to qualify for hospital insurance, you have to be 65 or over and eligible for monthly Social Security benefits, although there are some exceptions to this. When you become 65, a form (SSA-1966) is sent to you which certifies your right to Medicare, The card lists your personal claim number and the effective dates of your hospital and medical protection. When both you and your wife, for ex-ample, are covered, you each receive a separate card. When your card is shown to a hospital, no other action is necessary. The hospital becomes entitled to receive government payments in your case.

in the short and long-run. Moreover, the plan-ning process in Union County provides a

Manufacturing, wholesale trade our two biggest employers

The manufacturing and wholesale trade industries are Mountainside's two biggest employers, according to a report issued recently by the Union County Planning Board, Manufacturing employs 1,579 of the borough's 4,398 workers, according to the study prepared by Hammer, Greene, Siler Associates for the planning board. The economic study is the fourth in a series of reports for the Union County master plan program. The employment figures are based on 1968 statistics.

Wholesale trade provides jobs for 1,356 persons. Other employment categories and number of workers are: services, 380; con-struction, 324; transportation, communica-tions, utilities, 286; retail trade, 255; government (including schools), 184; agriculture, 23, and finance, insurance and real estate, 11.

In manufacturing, 915 persons are employed in the fabrication of metal products while 150 workers in the non-electrical machinery field. Other manufacturing categories in Mountainside include electrical goods and machinery, automobile industry, aircraft industry and miscellaneous manufacturing. Across the county, the planning board sees 142,710 jobs in manufacturing 30 years from now. According to 1968 statistics, 100,310 persons were employed in manufacturing. Total county employment in all fields for 1968 was 269,759. The planners estimate 391,088 workers for the year 2000. * * *

THE PLANNING REPORT lists six crucial areas that could affect the economic growth of Union County: finance and optimum land use, labor-skills training, industrial development, transportation, housing, pollution. The report states that municipalities, to meet future fiscal responsibilities, "will depend largely upon their ability to put the remaining land available to work at optimum levels in the manner outlined by good planning," Fiscal planning, advises the report, "must be linked to the physical planning process," The report adds that public capital improvements are needed to develop available land. Fiscal analysis and capital improvements "assist in insuring the proper allocation of resources in government investment. A balanced program of investment of both public and private capital could assist in maintaining the economic viability of the county," the report observes. Industrial development, according to the report, relies on finding and upgrading available land to industrial needs and promoting the availability of that land. The master plan recommends the establishment of an industrial development coordinator's job in Union County to assisting in bringing new firms to the area.

Air, water and rail transportation in Union County "are in a satisfactory state of contin-uous improvement," the report notes. However, two modes in transportation are termed "inadequate from an economic standpoint highway and bus service." The report suggests that the county "initiate a program for the installation of improvements and traffic control devices on a systems basis in order to develop an efficient county road network."

THE_PROVISION_OF_housing-in the county, states the report, is the job of local leader-ship. More housing is needed "to retain some of the workers who are left no other housing choice but to commute to other counties and eventually depart from the Union County Pollution is recognized as a major problem by the economic study report for the planning board. "The heavy concentration of manufac-turing industries in Union County, particularly the large number of heavypolluting industries, has generated a critical air and water pollution problem in the eastern part of the county, states the report. The study recommends the creation of a county agency "that will help local industry to face the problems" of new environmental control laws.

The variety of economic activity in Union County is praised in the report. "This diversity," according to the study, "is a source of strength to the county. The economy is less subject to shorter term fluctuations in the business cycle and even to long-run, trends, The report notes that local business, professional, educational, administrative and govern= activities "all tend to support one another.

..... MANUFACTURING IS Union County's biggest

The chemicals industry is the county's biggest in terms of employment, with more than 20,000 workers. In 30 years employment in the chemical industry will be about 33,000 with most of the plants in the eastern end of the county.

Another major manufacturing employer in Union County, according to the report, is the electrical goods and machinery industry, with 13,500 workers. Machinery manufacturing, excluding electrical, has 14,250 employees. The fabricated metal products field employs an additional 12,500 workers.

By the end of the century, about 143,000 persons will be employed in manufacturing in Union County. The 84,150 workers now involved in manufacturing represent about 37 percent of total county employment.

ALTHOUGH UNION COUNTY has no trade and commercial center because of its proximity to New York City and Newark, there is still substantial employment in wholesale trade, partly because the excellent distribution facilities available.

In the nine-year period between 1958 and 1967, wholesale sales in the county increased by more than $2 billion (183 percent). The greatest gains were made by the merchant wholesalers, who accounted for more than 68 percent of the increase. The 1958 sales in the field were $1.14 billion while nine years later they were $3.22 billion.

The wholesale trade industry employs 21,641 persons, compared to 19,663 in 1958, a 103 percent increase. There are 784 merchant wholesalers (569 in 1958) with 1967 sales of more than $1.8 billion and 286 other wholesale establishments with 1967 sales of $1.33 billion. Retail stores in Union County increased their annual sales by $270.9 million between 1958 and 1967, according to the planning board report, a gross sales gain of 39 percent, Employment in retail trade during the period increased by only 10 percent, with 26,786 workers in 1967. At the same time, the number of firms decreased by 7.6 percent, from 5,105 to 4,716.

THE REPORT LINKS the "conservative performance of the retail sector" to several factors. "First, the sales performance of the downtown stores in some of the municipalities (Linden, Union, Elizabeth) only contributed minor gains. . .Second, the lack of a strong traditional business district for the whole county precludes any major concentration of retail developments at one location." Another influence; according to the report, is the difficulty for stores to "pull all of the county from a single location because of topography and the complicated road network." A fourth factor is that "it has proven more feasible up to the present to cover parts of Union County market from retail locations in adjacent counties."

The services sector of the Union County economy is one of its growing industries, says the report, Employment in the field increased by 22 percent between 1960 and 1968 with a 113 percent growth in sales receipts between 1958 and 1967. The number of employees increased by 47.3 percent during the pine-year period from 7,403 to 10,904 with the

Harpist scheduled to be featured artist at Concert Sunday

Kathleen Bride, concert harpist, will be the featured artist in a program presented by "Pathways in Music" Sunday. The concert, second in a series of three, will be held at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer path and Meetinghouse lane, at 8 p.m.

Director Paul Kueter announced the program. It will consist of 'Concerto in F Major' for organ and harp by Handel; 'Fantasie' for violin and harp by St.-Saens; four songs for voice and harp by Poulenc, Caplet and de Falla; 'Serenade' for flute and harp by Pers-ichetti, and 'Sonate' for flute, viola and harp by Debussy.

In addition to Miss Bride, other artists will be presented. They are Barbara Altman, soprano; James Scott, flute; Joseph Kovacs, strings, and David Porkola, organ. Miss Bride has an extensive background of concert performances. She has appeared as guest artist in residence at both the University of Puerto Rico and the University of Hawari. As the featured harpist with the Julliard Ensemble of Contemporary Music, Miss Bride recently completed a European tour under the direction of Luciano Berio.

Miss Bride received her bachelor of music degree from Marywood College, Scranton, Pa. and her master's degree from Julliard. She studied for 10 years under Marcel Grandjany, a harpist and composer. In the greater New York area, Miss Bride has appeared as a harp soloist at Carnegie Recital Hall, Library for the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center and with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, Juilliard Concert Orchestra, the New Jersey symphony and ensembles in the eastern United Miss Altman has performed a variety of operatic roles in this country and abroad, She maintains a performing interest in ora-torio and concert work throughout the United States and Canada.

A graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., Miss Altman continued her operatic training at Julliard. In 1959, she was awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study in Rome. Upon her return to the United States in 1961, Miss Altman studied with Miss Rosa Ponselle and was chosen to sing the role of Micaela in Baltimore's production of "Car-men." Miss Altman also teaches privately.

James Scott and Joseph Kovacs are mem bers of the faculty at Douglass College, New Brunswick, and have previously performed payroll increasing by 107.4 percent during the same term, from $24.3 million in 1958 to $50.5 million in 1967. 2000. The employment forecast for manufac turing calls for, a 42 percent increase in the period. 3. Manufacturing, however, will clearly continue to make the largest employment additions of any sector of the economy.

THE PLANNING BOARD report also notes "a sharp expansion" in construction activities with an employment gain from 1960 to 1968 of from 10,036 to 11,581 workers. The report links the growth of construction to an increased demand for housing, a major road building program, new office buildings and shopping centers, addition of industrial plants, installation of ship berths at Port Elizabeth and the expansion of Newark Airport.

The finance, insurance and real estate segments of county economy have shown a healthy growth trend in recent years with employment moving from 7,071 to 9,403 work-ers in the 1960-68 period, a gain of 31.6 percent.

Substantial gains were noted in the report in the number of employees in transportation, communications and utilities activities, from 8,812 to 17,389 workers in the 60-68 period for an increase of 97.3 percent. Two factors have acted as deterrents to further employment expansion: sharp gains in worker productivity and actual declines in railroad employment. The advances in productivity have been greatest in the communications and utilities fields where electronic and other devices have been stimulating great production increases with little gains in employment."

The report states that "the present industrial base of Union County is well diversified with no single industry group having special dominance. This industrial mix is receptive to all types of industrial and commercial enterprise and thus provides a variety of opportunities for economic growth."

EMPLOYMENT PROJECTIONS are included in the master plan report. They are as follows: 1. Non - manufacturing activities will continue to grow more rapidly than manufacturing in the next 30 years.

2. The projected gain in non-manufacturing employment (including agriculture and the self-employed and domestic category) will be more than 46 percent between 1968 and

Regional voters to decide fate of budget Tuesday

Registered voters in the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 will go to the, polls next Tuesday to vote on the total current expenses and capital outlay items in the proposed 1971-72 budget.

The polling places will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. in each of the six constituent districts: Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

Current expenses total $8,142,246, an increase of $599,489 while capital outlay has decreased $2,153 to $105,282. The proposed total budget of $8,854,822 was adopted by the Board of Education last Tuesday following a public hearing attended by a dozen people.

Anticipated increases in teachers' and other salaries, property and liability insurance, health insurance and employee retirement contributions are the major reasons for the 7.1 percent increase in the budget. This com-

The latter is for students requiring special instruction outside the dis-

DURING THE PUBLIC SESSION most of the questions centered around why the budget has increased so while the school population is showing a slight decline, A typical question was raised by Jim Taylor of 1557 Long Meadow. Taylor said that in five years the budget has doubled to almost $2 million while the student population is declining. He said that the long-range outlook predicts a downward trend in students while there are about 15 percent more teachers in the system.

Board member, Walter Rupp reiterated his report at the last Board of Education meeting. He said that the peak enrollment was in 1966 and has slipped slightly since then. The present plateau of about 1,250 to 1,300 students will continue until 1978, which is as far as he has projected his figures. The birth rate in Moun-tainside is decreasing but people moving into the borough will keep the student rate at about its present level. Rupp added that the board is aiming to lower the number of youngsters in the classroom to about 25 per class. The rise in teachers is because of specialists besides the 47 classes in the system.

Grant Lennox, board president, said the increase in teachers' salaries is because of the anticipated outcome of negotiations with the Mountainside Teachers' Association. In reply to several questions concerning the actual figures of what the teachers will receive he declined to answer because negotiations are still in progress and he did not want to jeopardize the talks.

ROBERT SHIELDS of 144 Deer Path asked why tuition income has decreased from $74,600 to an anticipated $7,000.

Lennox explained that the borough had classes in the Children's Specialized Hospital and had been reimbursed by districts whose students_attended.-He-said-that-last-year-the Union County Educational Service Commission was formed and took over that responsibility. Shields also asked why two portable classrooms had been included in the capital outlay portion of the budget and why they are necessary. Biumo replied that they had been rented several-years-ago-for-the Deerfield-Schoolbecause the school was running out of space. The rooms had been rented on an option that the board could either buy them or drop the option after seven years. This year the board decided to buy them because this would be less expensive in the long run. Biunno added that if it is decided the rooms no longer are needed the board can eventually sell them. At present they are being used for instrumental music instruction so that academic classes will not be disturbed.

JOHN PALMER of 144 Greenwood rd. asked about the heavy textbook and library expenses. Lennox replied to the former question. He said that texts cost about $13 for each child. This includes audio-visual aids, library books, periodicals and newspapers.

Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools answered Palmer's question on the library. He said that the board figures to get four years' use out of each book, Many of the youngsters (about 70 percent) will be college bound and the-library is used heavily. Because of this a diversity of books is required. In addition, Hanigan added, the cost of texts and library books has increased by about 30 percent.

"AS A SCHOOL BOARD member I would maintain a close working relationship with the administration concerning new programs and insist on the general consent of the board before implementation and periodic review of their effectiveness. I am certain that the quality of a school system is a major factor contributing to the maintenance of property The board should be aware of the legitimate requirements of its third major concern, our professional teachers. Yet during the pro-tracted contract negotiations which have and will continue to cost the taxpayers' money, the residents of Mountainside have not been informed of the current board's stance or Progress toward resolution. "Here, just as in my own scientific profession, the morale of teachers is a major influence of the quality of work. Through an appreciation of the professional aspirations of teachers I may be able to contribute to a settlement of the negotiations and the avoidance of future difficulties by opening channels of communication. "Should the voters of Mountainside elect me to the Board of Education, I shall try my best to maintain a balance favoring no constituency and to render decisions in consideration of all individuals affected. I shall be available for discussion with concerned citizens and will serve as a diligent representative of all taxpayers and parents. STUDENT CENTER

After teading the letter of Mrs. Patricia Knodel which was published in the Mountainside Echo on Dec. 17, I took the time to investigate into the true facts of the new Student Center (lounge) in the Deerfield Middle School, The questions raised and the statements set forth by Mrs. Knodel certainly aroused my curiosity and required further investigation. If this "lounge" were a place where students could spend time indolently, than I too would object. I cannot conceive of our administrators using a school room for this purpose. I have a son in eighth grade and I questioned him about this Student Center. I also questioned the Student Council President and Mr. Brown, Principal of the Deerfield Middle School.

Noting that a new coach had since been appointed, the teenagers and parents urged that the board name Pollack as a second coach. They said that this would end the supervision problem. They also said it would eliminate the rumored proposal of hiring ete out of town so I the team determined second-half comebacks, which increases hope the team can finish with a winning record. Had not the Highlanders lost their first four games, they might well be on the winning side of the scales right now. However, considering

Mrs. Knodel is correct in her statement that a teachers' aide would be in this room to supervise the students. There are teachers' aides available doing work in the building and they could work in this room when assisting teachers with non-teaching tasks. The fact-of the matter is that $2,700 would not be spent as stated by Mrs. Knodel, Mr. Brown has informed me that there would be no extra expenditure for placing a teachers' aide in this

That this room is to be used by the "intellectually gifted," as purported by Mrs. Knodel, is in fact entirely false. The room is to serve all eighth grade students, not only the "better students. A student could be restricted from this privilege for unacceptable behavior or academic defaulting.

The question now arises, what is the true purpose of this student center? It is a place for all eighth grade students to go, if they wish, once a month during a study or library period. The center will provide a source of paperback books for exchange enabling stu-dents to read during a study period, if they desire. Certain outdated materials will be available for students to cut up and incorporate into their academic reports.

The room is also available to teachers' aides throughout the day to supervise makeup tests and to transcribe audio materials for students' and teachers' use. It is a place where one can operate stereo equipment for playing music during the lunch periods when students cannot go outdoors because of inclement weather. Students may also play Scrabble, chess, and math games. I am sure that this room will acquire other useful purposes for the student body.

As to the eighth grade class trip to West Point, Mr. Brown-discussed the matter with me at length and I think the community should be informed of the facts governing the decision to cancel the trip. Mrs. Knodel can and should get the facts from the responsible parties before misinforming the community. I do object to information being passed onto the taxpayers with the repeated statement: 'I was told.'

We must recognize the multiple objectives of education and the legitimacy of the several paths to be followed in reaching them, Intellectual development cannot and should not be -isolated from the development of the whole personality. A principal aim of education should be to accustom the students to the habit of engaging voluntarily in learning rather than of submit ting involuntarily at certain periods to formal instruction, Such educational self-dependence should be encouraged.

I believe that the creation of this student council center is a step in this direction. We must allow our children to work in an atmosphere of tolerance, understanding and humanity_ all the factors which Gov. Livingston has had to overcome, it is surprising that the Highlander's record is as good as it is.

First, Jeff Burdette was graduated, and it has become terribly apparent just how much he meant to Regional's offense. Petrulla has used five guards trying to find the spark to ignite an offense which was having trouble scoring 50 points a game. Without Jeff's ball control and running ability, Petrulla has had to scrap the Highlander's fast break, which was one of the best in the county, making it harder for Regional to find and get the ball to an open man.

in an attempt to find theproper combination. Petrulla has started five different guards, five different forwards and two different centers. This led to a lack of cohesion and teamwork. which kept Regional's scoring down.

However, the Highlanders now appear on the verge of a winning record--something not even a Burdette-led team could accomplishbecause of superior teamwork and balance and some smart substituting.

Unlike last season, when Petrulla has had to make use of each player's individual tal-ents, and be able to call on them at the right time. As the season progresses, he is doing it more effectively. This was aptly demonstrated last week against Rahway, when Rich Weiss came off the bench to lead Regional to a 64-52 victory. It was very satisfying for Rich, who has come under a good deal of criticizm this season, almost all of it unfair. He was Gov. Livingston's major hope to replace Burdette and many Regional fans had expected miracles. As a result he began pressing and lost his starting job. But last Tuesday, for the first time, he displayed the potential he showed last year.

He came in the game with his team behind, 20-19; a tough Rahway zone defense had allowed the Highlanders just four second-quarter points. In four minutes he destroyed that defense, hitting four of five shots--all of them 20-25 footers from just outside the perimeter of the zone. This opened up an eight-point Regional lead and the Highlanders then took control.

He finished with 13 points and a half-dozen assists." In the second half Gov. Livingston scored 45 points, more than it had gotten in several games this season. Don Revnolds led Regional with 17 and Kevin McBrien added 14.

Against Union, the Highlanders found it a little tougher going, but again some clutch shooting, this time by Curt Mohns and Don Reynolds, brought a victory. Accurate shooting and playmaking by Weiss, Mohns, McBrien and Reynolds kept-the Highlanders close, with Union ahead by three after three periods. In the fourth quarter, Union went ahead, 49-44, but Mohns hit five points to knot the score. Union scored another basket but Reynolds, who had six points up to that point, scored three quick baskets to ice the victory.

The parents stressed that Pollack's comover playing conditions, submitted plaints for the past several years, had never been presented to the board. They and the boys declared that Pollack, in his four years at the-helm,-had brought-the-team to the point where it is a strong contender for the Suburban Conference championship this year. Pollack told the board, "I tried to go through channels for four years. I only regret that I didn't come to you before I resigned." He listed a number of coaches he said had left Dayton for other schools in the Regional District or had gone on to successful coach-ing careers elsewhere.

Manuel_Dios, board_president, commented, "We will do everything that is possible" to aid the tennis team, "including a second coach if one is needed."

The board tabled for further_study a request by Martin Taglienti, Dayton winter track coach, for permission to have athletes run in the upstairs halls in inclement weather. Dr. Davis expressed concern for the safety of the runners. TEA. ARGENTINE STYLE ---- Iris Weisman of 6 S. Derby rd., Springfield, shows how to drink yerba, which is one of the customs she learned while living and studying in Santa Fe, Argentina, for a year. Yerba, a type of tea, is drunk from an individual mate, or cup in which the tea is brewed. The tea leaves are put in the mate, hot water is added and a small stick with a strainer in it, called a bombilla, is used like a straw to drink the liquid.

Down Argentina way Student liked her year abroad

By JANICE ADLER

Iris Weisman had no trouble adjusting to life in Argentina. She now is readjusting to life in the United States.

The junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School returned to Springfield Jan, 16 after a hectic, fun-filled year living and studying in Santa Fe, Argentina (about 250 miles from Buenos Aires). Iris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weisman of 6 S. Derby rd., was in Argen-tina under the American Field Service's "Amiris explained what school is like in Argentina. Her classes met from 1 to 6 p.m. Each met three times a week with a different schedule each day. "You have no time to go into depth in any subject," she said. She continued: "The majority of schools consist either of all boys or all girls. In the school where I went the boys go in the morning and the girls go in the afternoon, You have to wear uniforms to school. Girls have to wear their hair back and cannot wear makeup.

"The students have no responsibility and there's no chance to do anything. You have to stand up when the teacher enters the room and when you recite.

"One important thing is that they don't have substitutes. You just have a free period if the teacher is out. They have a precept, or teacher's aide, to take attendance and check conduct.

"Academic life there is completely different. High school is for five years. You have 11 subjects the first four years and 15 the

THE COURSES Iris took were history of the Americas until 1810 (this was the year of the Argentine revolution), old Spanish literature (like going back to "Beowulf" in English), anatomy, physics, inorganic chemistry, math, French, Argentine geography, music, psy-chology and physical education. She said, "You have lots of subjects and less studying than here. For example, here you can study a period of art. You get a lot of material covering one period. There you get a little of everything.

"They are trying to make a junior high school like here. Now up to the seventh grade is primary school and high school starts with the eighth grade." Iris told of her likes and dislikes of school in Argentina. "One of the main things I didn't like was the passing system. You read from page to page and go home and read. In class you get up and repeat what you've memorized. "Homework was mainly reading and memory. Very little was written. Written exams were easy. You are given areas that will be tested. There are four themes. You get one of four and do not have the same one as the kid next to you," she said.

"We had a day-to-day program, such as math. You have to finish the program and measure it out so that it is completed in the required time. In other words, you have a schedule that you have to stick to and the teacher gets fired if it isn't observed. "You can miss class and still know where you are. Each day you are supposed to read a certain number of pages. If you miss class you just continue your reading," Iris said.

Because the teachers are afraid of being fired if they don't complete the required program, they don't answer questions unless they pertain to that day's lesson," she said. "For example, in history class I asked a question about something that was going on in Argentina at the time. The teacher told me to talk to him after school.

"ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS are run by the State Department of Education. One person decides what has to be done. They now are trying to get away from this. "A very good thing about school is recess because you have five minutes between classes. You stay in the room all day and the teachers go from room to room. There is a rule that at the beginning of the day you have to get in line and raise the flag. Between classes you have to go out and get in line. There is a canteen that sells refreshments between classes.

There is no heating in Argentina, You sit bundled up with your coat and hat on in class. Your coat has to be the school color or you can't wear it. Mine wasn't so I often had to wear several sweaters under my uniform." Iris stayed with Senor and Senora Felix Manuel Woelflin and their six children in Sante Fe, "I had no problem adjusting," she said, "Everyone was very friendly. The only difficulty I had was the language. I didn't speak Spanish when I got there. 'I was in a family that is not really Argentine. They had a European culture, In general, life is family oriented. However, there is the same generation gap as here. They think it's less because everyone goes visiting together. In other words, they are more together in a physical sense." Iris said.

"ARGENTINE SOCIETY is more closed. It is both traditional and, at the same time, status-seeking. The majority of people are middle class. The poor are too lazy to work because work is available. The rich are in the military," she said.

Iris was in Argentina last May during the government upheaval when the new president took over. Her "father" is an ex-governor and the family's telephone was tapped. They could not go outside when there was trouble, she explained.

The teenager said her school had to be closed because of a bomb threat last August. That was the day of Juan Peron's birthday and the anniversary of Che Gueverra's death. She explained two aspects of Argentine culture. The Sado is the Argentine barbeque. A fire pit is dug and stakes are set up in it. A side of beef with its skin on is put on the stakes and—the_meat—is—served—in—the-skin,—"This helps keep the flavor in," she said.

She also explained the Argentine method of drinking tea. Yerba, a special type of tea, is drunk from a mate (a type of cup). The mate straw) is put in and the tea is sucked through the bombillas

There is a sub-fluvial tunnel in Sante Fe. It is one of four such tunnels in the world, she said. It goes under the river bed instead of on top of it and is anchored to a "floating" island, Iris visited Buenos Aires, "It is a beautiful city," she said. "It's nicer than New York. It's clean. There are parks, trees and flowers. It has what New York has, except on a smaller scale.'

SHE ALSO VISITED the Mar del Plata on the South/Atlantic coast. "This is said to be the prettiest beach in the Americas," Iris explained," "I met people there from all over the world. I guess you could say it's like the Miami Beach of Argentina." Iris said that "one thing I admire is that everyone is patriotic, not just to their country, but to the city where they were born. They are proud of where they live and have songe and folklore.

"I was astounded when I saw they could have true fights. In my family some of the children

'I was ashamed that they knew more about the United States than I did. At times it was embarrassing because I thought I was great. I didn't know about my country or about the rest of the world. I thought the country (Argentina) was full of gauchos and Indians."

Iris explained what she feels she's gained by her experience. "I gained knowledge about myself, I learned what I am and who I am." learned to make my own judgments and decisions. I learned tolerance to accept another society even if I didn't like it, respect for others, humility. I learned to wake up in the United States and talk to my mother in Spanish."

Iris almost didn't make it back to the States. She arrived in Buenos Aires on Jan, 13, While, there she was informed that there was an airline strike. The plane finally left on Jan. 15.

Now that Iris is home she can reminisce about the wonderful year she spent in Santa Fe, Argentina, and get ready to return to Jonathan Dayton on Monday when the second semester begins.

Approximately 20 directors of the association from throughout the country will hold an all-day meeting at the congregation on Saturday. Though its headquarters are at Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind., the LHRAA has a policy of conducting its board meetings in different parts of the nation in order to understand local conditions and to communicate with local congregations. Following the Saturday meeting in Springfield, the board members have been assigned to various parishes throughout the state for Sunday services and seminars.

At Holy Cross, the Rev. Dr. Clemonce Sabourin will preach both the 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. services on Sunday. He is the honorary president of the LHRAA after having served s president for 10 years. A native of New Orleans, Dr. Sabourin.served several parishes in the South before coming in 1944 to Mount Zion Lutheran Church, New York City, where he is presently the pastor. Other positions held by him have included the presidency of the Bronx-Manhattan-Westchester Pastoral Conference and membership on the board of directors of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. He has also authored the book "Let the Righteous Speak," his reaction as a black man travelling in the South in the 1950s. Valparaiso University has conferred upon him an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree and in 1970 he received the Mind of Christ Award from the Lutheran Human Relations Association of America! After the second service, there will be a coffee and discussion hour in the fellowship hall with Dr. Sabourin for members and guests. The fellowship committee of the congregation, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Compher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and Mr. andMrs. Melvin Nuechterlein, is in charge of planning.

Net earnings of First New Jersey Bank jumped 25 percent to $503,000 in 1970, according to an announcement by Frank M. Pitt, chairman of the board. Per-share earnings increased to $1.55 in 1970, compared to 1969 figures of $1.24 per share. Pitt said.

In a year Pitt described as one of "growth with progress," First New Jersey also saw its assets grow to a record $72.5 million, a gain assets given to a record $72.5 million reported at the end of 1969. Deposits also rose 16 percent, from $55.3 million on December 31, 1969, to $64.6 million at the end of 1970. Pitt noted that the record earnings and assets had been achieved during a year in which First New Jersey incurred the expenses of opening three new branch offices and the introduction of Master Charge. The three new branches, in New Providence, Clark and Middlesex, bring to seven the number of First New Jersey offices. The First New Jersey chairman also pointed out that 1970 was also the year in which the Union Township-based bank became the first financial institution in the New York metropolitan area to introduce a Docutel in-stant cash dispensing machine.

Show tomorrow will conclude Dayton biochemistry seminar

A three-week seminar of biochemistry under the team direction of advanced biology teacher Roland Marionni and advanced chemistry teacher Mrs. Linda Penkalski will be concluded tomorrow by 18 advanced biology and nine advanced chemistry students at Jonathan Day-ton Regional High School, Springfield, with demonstrations of individual projects and experiments.

The approach was designed by science co-ordinator George Barclay to utilize the interrelationship between the two sciences – and to use the chemistry laboratory facilities to do the experiments which coincide with the course of study. The teachers feel this unusual approach has been very successful in preparing. Dayton students who will be taking freshman biological science courses in college next year.

The three-week unit includes lectures in energy and living things, photosynthesis, respiration and organic compounds, which will be followed by the demonstration of experiments and research projects selected by the students. Projects prepared and-demonstrated will include;

Jury deadlocked in DiPaglia trial

Union County Court Judge John L. Ard declared a deadlocked jury Saturday in the trial of Floren*DiPaglia, 44, of Des Moines, lowa, The state, represented by Union County Prosecutor Karl Asch, charged that DiPaglia was one of two men involved in the armed robbery of Mrs. Irene Margules in her home at 18 Avon rd., Springfield, Sept. 18, 1969.

The defendant had been on trial two weeks on charges including robbery, armed robbery, assault with intent to kill, carrying a dangerous weapon, theft of a motor vehicle and receipt of stolen property. The assault chargealleged that DiPaglia attempted to kill Springfield Police Lt, Thomas Kennedy, Kennedy testified that the defendant twice pointed a pistol at him and pulled the trigger, but the gun misfired.

Defense attorneys contended that DiPaglia vas innocent by reason of insanity. Psychiatrists called by the state and defense during the trial gave conflicting testimony concerning DiPaglia's mental condition at the time of the robbery. Judge Ard said a new trial date will set later and he continued DiPaglia on $15,000 cash bail,

More Turnpike drivers having fewer accidents

Despite an unprecedented increase of 9,037,108 revenue vehicles using the New Jersey Turnpike in 1970, there were fewer ac-cidents and a 13.5 percent drop in the accident rate, it was announced this week by Turnpike Authority Chairman Alfred E. Driscoll, The total of 2135 excident persecuted

The total of 2,135 accidents represented an annual decrease for the first time in seven years and an overall accident rate of 8,3 per 100 million miles, the lowest in four years.

Contributing to the marked improvement in accident prevention was the widened 12-lane section from Edison to Newark, with its built-in safeguards along its 20-mile length, Turnpike performance in 1970 produced these favorable statistics, Chariman Driscoll notad noted: A decline in the number of accidents from

2,272 in 1969 to 2,135 in 1970, from an ac-cident rate of 102.8 per 100 million miles to 89.3, A total of 916 injury accidents-10 less. than 1969, and a total of 1,646 injuries, 119

There were 46 killed in 41 accidents in 1970, for a fatality rate of 1.92, or .02 per-cent over the 1969 rate of 1.90, despite the great increase in traffic. On the 20-mile long 12-lane dual/dual section nine accidents resulted in nine deaths, for a rate of 1.44. In the southern unwidened section, the 87 miles from Edison south to Deepwater, there were-29-killed in 25 accidents: The fatality rate: 2.10. In 1970, a total of 89,655,299 revenue ve-hicles used the Turnpike, traveling a grand total of 2,382,332,241 miles.

The gain of 9,037,108 vehicles was the greatest numerical increase in Turnpike history.

Senator Clifford Case (R.N.T.) will address the luncheon session of the New Jersey School Boards Association's 1971 legislative conference Saturday at Trenton State College, Trenton, Senator Case, who will speak on "The Outlook for Increased Federal Aid to Education," is/a strong advocate of federal support for the public schools.

The annual conference provides board members and school administrators with the opportunity to interact with key legislators on questions of major concern to the public schools. On the list of topics to be discussed will be the implementation of the new state school aid laws.

A panel composed of N.J. Senate education chairman William T. Hiering, Assembly edu-cation chairman John H. Ewing, and State Department of Education official Harold Y. Bills, will discuss the public school aid bill (S-575), the Bateman Bill). Assembly-man Richard J. Vander Plaat will explain the ramifications of A-1078, the bill he sponsored, which provides aid to non-public schools.

Another topic to be discussed is payment for student expenses incurred in connection with extra-curricular, school-sponsored acti-vities. Mrs. Hugh Auchircloss, vice-president of the State Board of Education, Dr. William H. Lucow, director of the Office of Management and Information, State Department of Education, will explain the proposed change in State Board rules on these costs. Conferees will also be given a preview of he report of the legislative commission which has been studying "Hazardous Conditions Confronting Pedéstrian School Children." As-semblyman Peter P. Garibaldi, commission chairman, and Dr. Orville G. Parrish, director of pupil transportation for the State Department of Education, will explain the commission's findings and recommendations

Thirteenth In a Series THE CONTRASTS OF AFGHANISTAN Afghanistan is a country of contrasts--and so is its capital city, Kabul.

When one is surrounded with snow on two different visits to a country, one does not usually think of that country as being renowned for its delicious oranges, melons and in-comparable raisins. When one is some 6,000 feet high in the capital city and yet staring up at towering mountains, one also is not to think of blooming valleys and sunstroked desert country. When you sees the face of an Afghan citizen and it is Mongolian in character, one does not expect to see a fair-skinned, European type who is also a citizen, Ye: Afghanistan is such a country. Its rugged Hindu Kush mountains and sisterranges bring the snows and the cold; its lush lower valleys, protected by those same looming mountains, bring forth, even in winter, the oranges, melons, 60 different kinds of grapes and all the other goodies grown there; its desert brings such ungodly heat in summertime that only hardy souls can stand it, and its people bring variety because they are descended from all those vaces which passed through this ancient crossroads of trade and invasion from east to west, west to east, long ago, And so it will be for Afghanistan always. But now, for this particular traveler, there is still another contrast: the difference be-tween 1964 and 1970. The last 20 to 30 years have brought great changes to the Afghans themselves, but for the traveler who has only been there two times on a visit, six years apart, the changes in those few short years apar, ... is amazing. * * *

IN 1964 THE NATIONAL NEWSPAPER AS-SOCIATION Study Mission group stayed at a hotel in the center of town, While it was "new" in that it had steam heat in its rooms, baths in most and apple pie and beer in its restaurant--camel caravans still passed by its front doors, robed and turbaned men wundered through the dark halls, the water was undrinkable and nan and palau or Otlau, the national dish of Afghanistan, was prepared for us by the Afghan chef-host in the restaurant.

Not many new buildings dotted the horizon. Most of the shops on the main street were booth-type stores with no windows or doors, and raisin merchants hovered on the street corners with mounds of their unpackaged ware piled on round trays in front of them, ready to be hand-scooped into a bag if you cared to buy some under those conditions.

Many of the shops sold pots and pans which were hung in mad disarray all over the entrance of the "booth". While most of the streets had newly been paved, they still were clogged with masses of slush and pools of water so deep we were prevented from crossing streets, or going where we wished. (Even so, it was an improvement, for as little as 12 years previous, Afghanistan had not ONE MILE of paved highwayl) At any rate, the snow and slush was pretty inhibiting this day for us and we could not get about. Snow shoveling was going on, true enough, but not on the streets. Men were busy shoveling snow off--roof tops. Yes, that is correct: roof tops. A great many of the houses of Kabul, it seems, had mud type roofs or fragile wooden ones, and the heavy snow had to be cleared off before a cave-in occurred.

Shoveling was also going on at the newlycompleted airport on the runways but it was done by hand with homemade wooden shovels whose handles were attached by leather thongs.

We saw no other tourist Americans and almost all the people on the streets were men and boys. They were dressed in all kinds of robes, rags, furs, posteenchas, jackets, trousers and breeches. Their feetwere mainly covered in old boots or shoes or swathed in some type of material, Their heads were covered with turbans, fur hats, caps or tribal hats. Not many were dressed in full western clothes.

Something was different about the street crowds in Kabul, though, and it took us a while to determine what it was. Then it struck us; there were no women. In all,- we saw perhaps two, and then they were com-pletely encased in the "walking cloth prison," the chadri, and couldn't be seen anyway.

The chadri is the veil of Afghanistan which does not even have one peep hole. Only a thick screening in the veil at the eye level permits vision. The chadri usually is made ordinary_cotton, but is inordinately finepleated all around from the cap-like top all the way down, leaving only the feet or ankles to be se

. In 1964 there were not many cars or buses on the streets. Those that were there were mostly Russian-made and not too shiny new. All in all, the city seemed the most quaint and isolated one we had yet been in, and the world seemed very far away, But then we WERE snowbound. It might have aided the mood.

IN-1970, HOWEVER, A SNOWSTORM had hit the night before we arrived also, and all again a cocktail lounge. It was a gorgeous copy of Americana 1970.

No camel caravan passed this door, believe me. As a matter of fact, no camel caravans passed anything in the city limits anymore. A new ordinance forbade it. The clerks on duty in this new hotel were very "Madison Avenue" and very debonair. The maids looked same as maids everywhere. The host in the restaurant didn't even know what nam and palau were. He was an import,

THE HOTEL WAS NOT THE ONLY new buildings in Kabul either. The array of new buildings was impressive, Half the city, it seemed to me, was new. While the old section, known locally as "The City" still remained, the skyline of Kabul had changed so much, it hardly seemed possible. New schools, government buildings, office buildings, cultural buildings, high rise and low, seemed to have ap-peared everywhere. While the booth-type shops still remained and the pots and pans still hung in their peculiar display, many new stores and shops were in evidence, too.

In the first day after a snowstorm, no slush or deep pools of water clogged the streets, could move about freely. Even at the and one airport in the morning, the runways were clear. No handmade, leather-tied shovels seemed to be around, either, and no one was seen shoveling roofs. But then, all the new buildings had strong roofs.

Yet with it all, the raisin merchant-was still the corner with his mound of raisins piled high, ready to be sold - the old-fashioned way--by-hand.---

And with it all, too, almost all the people on the streets still were men and boys. A few more women were seen, yes, but still in chadri even though that, too, has been outlawed. In the new stores there were women clerks in western dress, and reportedly there were others who did not wear the chadri, but we saw none on the streets. Among the males, there was more western dress than before, but usually mixed up with old traditional pieces. TOP--The fabulous raisins of Afghanistan as sold in Kabul. The front tray consists of nuts, but the two behind it are raisins. Many similar vendors can be found on many streets of the city in heat of summer or cold of winter. On this day it was cold and the native is bundled in his winter clothing. Between the trays or on the ground, a blazing brazier can frequently be seen, glowing with warmth, to help ward off the cold.

BOTTOM-The contrasting faces of Afghanistan, Here, on the main street of Kabul, two young men show how diverse a native Afghan can look: one has European features, the other distinctly Mongolian was new snow and beautiful, but aha, what a difference there was

This time we were not hampered by the snow, and this time we did not stay in a six-year-old, midtown, half-modern hotel. This time we went modern all the way.

There, on the crossroads of the old world. on the route of the east-west Silk road, in historic, exotic, ancient Kabul--was a brand new, svelte, shiny Intercontinental Hotel. It was as modern as the New York Hilton with all the equipment to go with it, and it was situated on the outskirts of town atop one of the highest spots of the Kabul valley, affording a striking view of the city and the mountains around it. It was beautiful. But was it KABUL???

It surely did not feel like it.

Hospitals will face hike in payments to unemployment fund New Jersey hospitals will be faced with an additional expense of almost $10 million next year, when hospitals and other nonprofit institutions are covered by the Unemployment Security Amendments of 1970. This financial impact on future hospital payrolls was cited this week by Jack W. Owen, president of the New Jersey Hospital Association, in a message to the membership. For the first time, Owen noted, hospitals will be required to contribute to unemployment compensation starting in 1972 under the Federal law. The rate of contribution is 3.2 percent of the first $4,200 of each employee annual earnings. This means, Owen said, each employee earning $4,200 or more will cost each hospital at least $134.40 more per year start-ing in 1972. "Thus, if you have 350 full-time employees, the cost to your hospital would be $47,040 per year," he said. Owen noted that New Jersey hospitals employ more than 73,000 people. This amounts to $9,811,200.00 or almost $10 million in contributions in 1972.

And, because of the structure of the New, Jersey Unemployment Compensation law, hospitals would provide not only unemployment compensation benefits but temporary disability benefits as well.

"Owen also noted that payroll costs - the factor most affecting total hospital costs increased by 15 percent in New\ Jersey in 1969, according to the latest available tabulation.

Archinaco joined the firm two and one-half years ago after graduating from Seton Hall University. While there he was a brother of Phi Kappa Theta fraternity, and was selected He said New Jersey hospitals reported a total of $430,942,000 in 1969 - a 15 percent increase over 1968. Owen reminded the New Jersey Hospital Association membership that 'nearly 70 percent of the hospital's operating to Delta Sigma Epsilon national-honor fracosts are paid out in wages and salaries". The greater the needs of the patients the ternity. He is working towards a master's degree in marketing at Seton Hall. Archinaco and his wife Suzanne reside in greater the number of personnel are needed. New medical techniques, new procedures, new equipment all require more and better "Community dialogue rather than chaotic violence must be the mechanism of conflict resolution and change," according to Dr. Nathan Weiss, president of Newark State College, Union.

Speaking at the first general public meeting In a series of community dialogue sessions presented by the Newtune Township Board of Education in cooperation with the Newark State College Institute of Community Service, Dr. Weiss noted that 'we are faced with a dilemma in our society. The failure to respond to the needs of a changing society may mean violence, but an over-response may also lead to chaos and repression.

The principal speaker in this first session, Dr. Weiss cited examples of other societies-which have experienced a crisis of confidence in their social institutions. He

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States: about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego-and to the ego's mate.

can kick the Hahit

As You Approach O Day

Many stress willpower as the decisive factor in giving up cigarettes. For them the sense that they can manage their own lives is of great importance. They enjoy challenging themselves and, with an effort of will, they break the cigarette habit.

Thus, some psychologists describe stopping cigarettes as an exercise in self-mastery, one that introduces a new dimension of self-control. Others, often successful in many aspects of living, find that willpower does not help them in giving up cigarettes. They try to stop, they do

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail ir their first and second, even their fifth attempts, and then finally succeed. Those whose "will* fails in breaking the habit are not weak but different. Their approach must be less through determination and more through relearning new behavior with patience and perseverance.

Self-suggestion, when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes can be useful.

One health educator remarked recently, nothing succeeds like willpower and a little blood in the sputum."

To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error: the ex-smoker should not believe that he is giving up an object of value, however dependent he may be on it. If he begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings, they may well become more severe and indeed unendurable. He must recognize that he is teaching himself a more positive, more constructive, more rewarding behavior.

Try Cutting Down...

An important first step in the process of giving up eigarettes for many smokers is to set the date. for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and, as it approaches, to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, or week by week.

A good system is to decide only to smoke once an hour-or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 clock, 11 and 12, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, etc. And then to extend the nonsmoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours. You may decide to halve the cigarettes you smoke week by week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each 'cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities; if you one posket in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to fumble for it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand. Is it your custom to rest the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side.

Make it a real effort to get a cigarette: Wrap your package in several sheets of paper or place it in a tightly covered box. If you leave your change at home you won't be able to use a cigarette machine.

Shift from cigarettes you like to an unpalatable brand.

Before you light up, ask yourself, "Do I really want this cigarette or am I just acting out of empty habit?

A smoker may find an unlighted eigarette in the mouth is helpful. Others enjoy handling and playing with a cigarette.

Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned-learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help in breaking into your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking behavior.

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting? Yes. for some, no, for others. If you are a really "addicted" smoker, psychologists favor the sudden, decisive break.

For some, gradual withdrawal is less painful and entirely satisfactory.

Some cigarette smokers shift to pipes and cigars-there is of course some risk of mouth cancer from these but over-all mortality of eigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than mong nonsmokers, if the smoke is not inhaled.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic? If there is a clinic or program in your community, you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such efforts.

Sharing your withdrawal experiences with others and working with them on a common, problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make it considerably easier in various ways to stop eigarette smoking.3

However, remember, no clinic can provide a sure result. In this matter you must be both patient and physician. Shall I Make A Big Thing Of Q-Day? Some find it most satisfactory to work on a sible stimulants to stop but almost always behave a fine feeling.

One school of thought asks, do you leave a bottle of whiskey near an alcoholic? Their recommendation is to get rid of cigarettes, ashtrays, anything that might remind a smoker of his former habit.

Another school of thought take a different view and even suggest carrying cigarettes to demonstrate to yourself that you can resist temptation. Choose for yourself.

Shall I Tell Others

Of My Decision? Some do, some don't. Some find that the wider they spread the news of their decision the easier it is for them to make it stick. Others regard not smoking as their own personal business and keep it almost entirely to themselves. Will you strengthen your decision if your wife and friends know that you have committed yourself?

Will I Gain Weight?

Many do. Food is a substitute for cigarettes for many people. And your appetite may be fresher and stronger.

During the first few weeks of giving up cigarettes some psychologists recommend pampering yourself: cating well, drinking well, enjoying those things that are pleasant and fulfilling. Some people, those to whom self-mastery is vital, get rewards out of controlling their wish for fattening food at the same time that they are licking the urge for cigarettes.

Again, it depends upon the person and his approach.

How About Hypnosis? Its helpfulness in stopping smoking is not accepted. Why not discuss the matter with a physician, if you are interested?

Shall I See My Physician? YES

However, the problem is yours, not his, and he may not feel that he can be helpful. On the other hand he may be able to give you sympathetic support and may prescribe medication. He can be helpful, also, in suggesting a diet which will prevent you from gaining too much weight.

Physicians as a profession have been leaders in acting on the risks of cigarette smoking: the Public Health Service estimates that 100,-000 physicians (half of the physicians who once were cigarette smokers) have kicked the habit. A California study shows that only 21.3 per cent of all physicians in the state are cigarette smokers now.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Surely one reason is that the cigarette industry spends about $300,-000,000 a year in promoting the habit and in challenging the facts hat scientists have produced that point to the dangers of the habit. Another reason is that something in cigarettes, probably nico-line, is habit forming: smokers become dependent rather rapidly." Cigarette smoking is essentially a 20th century habit, encouraged by wars, by brilliant advertising, and by the development of remarkably efficient automatic machinery that produces those millions of round, firmly packed cigarettes it. It is only within the last 15 years that we have learned, through research pioneered by the American Cancer Society, that this personal and socially accepted habit is extremely dangerous. Cigarette. smoking is deeply embedded in our life: agriculture, industry, government, the communications media, all have a stake in it. It is still widely accepted, even though proven to be a most certain hazard to health

Because promotion is important in maintaining the habit's popularity, the Society believes all cigarette advertising in all media should be terminated. We hope that this goal will be achieved voluntarily and that governmental action won't be necessary.

Dr. Silvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows:

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking; here the smoker may hardly, be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it made him feel good, or feel better, but in fact it does neither. He may once have regarded smoking as an important sign of status; But now smoking is automatic. The habitual smoker who wants to give up must first become aware of, when he is smoking. Knowledge of the pattern of his smoking is a first step towards change. Positive Affect Smoking; here smoking seems to serve as a stimulant that produces exciting pleasure, or is used as a relaxant, to heighten enjoyment, as at the end of a meal. Here a youngster demonstrates his manhood or his defiance of his parente. This smoker may enjoy most the handling of a cigarette or the sense and sight of sinoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to make an effort, they may find giving up cigarettes relatively painless

Negative Affect Smoking; this is sedative smoking, using the habit to reduce feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust or any combination of them. This person may not smoke at all when things go well, on vacation, or at a party, but under tension, when things go badly, at the office or at home, he reaches for a cigarette. These smokers give up often, but when the heat and pressure of the day hit them, when there's a challenge, they find it very hard to resist a cigarette. A strong substitute, like nibbling ginger root may be useful.

Addictive Smoking; the smoker is always aware when he is not smoking. The lack of a cigarette builds need, desire, and discomfort at not smoking. With this increasing need is the expectation that a cigarette will reduce discomfort-and the cigarette does give relief-for a moment. Pleasure at moking is real, just as the buildup of discomfort at not smoking is real, sometimes rapid and ntolerable. The enjoyment of the cigarette, nowever, is very brief, and may be disappointing-but the suffering for lack of even slight relief is considerable For this smoker, tapering off doesn't seem to roi) dai: sot work: the only solution is to quit cold. Once you have been through the intense pain of breaking your psychological addiction, you are unlikely to start smoking again. The experience of giving up has been too uncomfortable-and too memorable for you to risk having to go through it again.

Some-such-smokers-have-found-it-useful-to increase during the week before Q Day the number of cigarettes smoked, to go from two packs to four packs, to force themselves to smoke so that their bodies will be in actual revolt against the double dose of tar and nicotine For information on a Smoker's Self-Testing Kit (four questionnaires, etc., to help one to understand personal reasons for and style of smoking) write to the National Clearinghous for Smoking and Health, United States Public Health Service, 4040 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Va., 22203.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed, if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that -if you are a heavy smoker-your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that 100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

Symphony Society [•]sponsors concert of U.S. selections

Mart Barrow

- m-Thursday, January 28, 1971-

The Suburban Symphony Society will pre-sent a program entitled, "An American Pano-rama," Tor its annual free family concert on Sunday, Feb. 7, at 3 p.m. in the Cranford High School auditorium.

Music Director Henry Bloch, in announcing the program, said the family concert is designed to appeal to the family as a whole.

"We will play music from various parts of the country and from various time periods", Bloch said, "to show the growth of American music up to 1970. We will use various types of music, including folk, jazz and symphonic, so that the program will truly be 'An American Panorama.

Panorama,"" Pieces which will be included in the concert are: "American Salute" by Morton Gould; "Old American Country Set" by Henry Cowell; "Saturday Night Waltz" and "Hoedown" from "Rodeo" by Aaron Copland; First Movement of "Symphony No 5 1/2" by Don Gillis; and "Suite from Hair" by Gart McDermot, In addition is colociton of proposatorium

In addition, a selection of representative jazz works will be played by the Cranford High School Jazz Band under the direction of Robert Yurochko

Musicians for this performance are provided by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries in cooperation with Local 151.

Net earnings jump 25 percent at bank Net earnings of First New Jersey Bank jumped 25 percent to $503,000 in 1970, according to an announcement by Frank M. Pitt, chairman of the board.

Per-share earnings increased to $1.55 in 1970, compared to 1969 figures of $1.24 per share, Pitt said.

a year Pitt described as one of "growth with progress," First New Jersey also sawits assets grow to a record $72,5 million, a gain of 15 percent over the $62.7 million reported at the end of 1969, Deposits also rose 16 percent, from $55.3 million on December 31, 1969, to $64.6 million at the end of 1970.

Pitt noted that the record earnings and assets had been achieved during a year in which First New Jersey incurred the expenses of opening three new branch offices and the introduction of Master Charge. The three new branches, in New Providence, Clark and Middlesex, bring to seven the number of First New Jersey offices.

The First New Jersey chairman also pointed out that 1970 was also the year in which the Union Township-based bank became the first financial institution in the New York metropolitan area to introduce a Docutel instant cash dispensing machine,

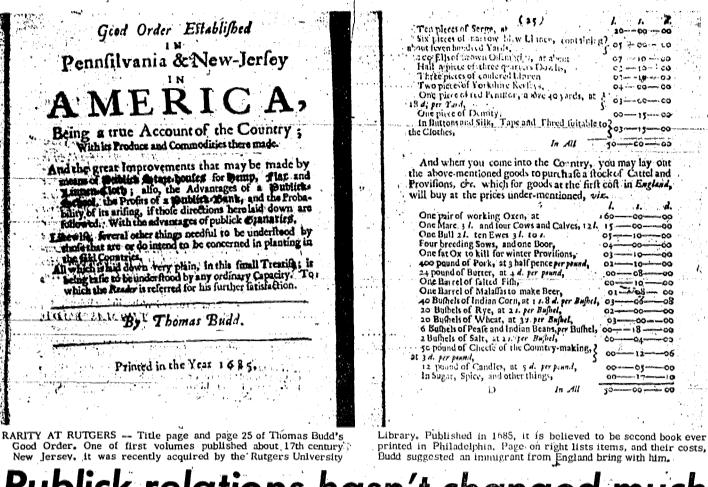

Recreation chief for county parks

Barry C. Lock of Westfield has been named assistant superintendent of recreation for the Union County Park Commission. He will be responsible for supervising and coordinating the acitivities of several facilities operated by the park commission such as the pitch and putt golf courses, rifle and pistol ranges, trap and skeet grounds, and the Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center.

He will also be responsible for conductingtournaments in various athletic events and organizing and operating various leagues and organizations affiliated with the park commission.

Lock is a graduate of North Carolina State University with a degree in recreation and parks administration. He served two years with the Army with a 13-month tour of duty in South Vietnam. During his college years he worked with the Raleigh, N.C., Recreation Commission and with the Raleigh YMCA. He served a one year recreation internship program at Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W.Va.

Promotional literature apparently hasn't changed very much over the last few cen-, turies. The style has perhaps, but the primary objective remains the same, to convince the reader that there lies just ahead a life of contentment and handsome profits.

Consider, for instance, a rare and fascinating volume recently acquired by the Rutgers University Library here. It is among the first of the "guides for settle, ," as they might be delicately called, on the benefits awaiting immigrants who would settle in 17th century New Jersey or Pennysylvania. The slender volume is Thomas Budd's

Union Tech is asking how its grads are doing

Union County Technical Institute is making concerted effort to contact its alumni. Dr. George H. Baxel, president, reported this week. A questionnaire is being malled to the last known address of each graduate to determine where he is employed, his current income, progress made since leaving UCTI, and how well he thinks his curriculum prepared him for his first and subsequent positions. Alumni who have changed their mailing address since graduation are urged to contact the institute office.

The survey is one phase of a comprehen-sive self-evaluation being made by faculty and administrators of Union County Technical Institute in preparation for accreditation through Union College of its two-year post high school programs. An associate in applied science degree will be conferred on graduates of these curriculums by Union College through a cooperative arrangement with the Coordinating Agency for Higher Education in Union County.

Engineering technology programs for which accreditation is being sought are chemical, civil, electronics, electromechanical/computer service and mechanical design. The business curriculums include data processing/ computer programming and data processing/ accounting. The health career programs involved are dental hygiene, medical laboratory technology and dental laboratory technology. The questionnaire was developed by Victor

Morella of Piscataway, coordinator of mechanical design technology, and Harry Sheather of Elizabeth, coordinator of chemical technology. Mrs. Genia Berk of Westfield, coordinator of health career programs, is chairman of the outcomes committee, one of seven groups involved in this evaluation. The recording, secretary is Joan Pellegrini of Nutley. Other Technical Institute faculty members are: Mrs. Mary Gleason, R.N., of Mountainside, Mrs. Irene Zingale of Westfield; Herbert Etheridge of Livingston; Sol Libes of Springfield; and Carl Tolson of Old Bridge, Student member of the committee is Robert Beller of Fanwood, used

Union College personnel serving on this committee are: Miss Dorothea Wiersma, reg-istrar, and Gunars Salins, associate professor and director of the College Readiness Program.

Rehearsals have begun for the first musical comedy to be produced under the auspices of the Employees Social Organization of Saint Elizabeth Hospital.

Entitled "Pardon My Incision," the comedy is an original production under the direction Joseph Hayes of Theatre Productions, Hillside.

The play will be presented at the Immaculate

English bibliomaniac and antiquary and was acquired by the University through contributions by individual donors and the use of a number of endowed library funds, Johns said, The donors included John Fleming of New-York City, Sebastian Gaeta of Wyckoff, Arthur

A. Houghton Jr., of New York City, Mrs. Don-ald F. Hyde of Somerville. Also, Jay I. Kislak of Miami, Fla., Daniel Maggin of New York City and Miss Clara S. Peck of New York City. Johns pointed out that Budd was even more explicit about his intention in a one para-graph introduction to Good Order. There Budd stated his belief that 'many that have great store of Money that lies by them unimploy'd, would be willing and ready to assist and encourage those poor distressed People, by supplying them with Monies, in order to bring them out of that Slavery and Poverty they groan under, if they might do it with safety to themselves."

BUDD ADDED if the rich would aid the poor by loaning them money to migrate "the Rich may help to relieve the Poor, and yet reap great Profit and Advantage to themselves by their so doing."

At Public Service, we're making sure that our operations in the coming year will continue to have the smallest possible effect on our environment. Yes, we're helping to make things brighter, cleaner and greener. This effort is really not new to Public Service. More recently, we've converted nearly all of our coal-burning generating units to pollution-free natural gas or cleaner burning low-sulfur oil. We're using new methods to string power lines over woodlands so we don't cut large paths through the forests. We're letting homeowners use the land under our power lines for gardening or recreation. We're building nuclear generating units, the cleanest presently known method of large-scale electric production. We're using clean-burning natural gas turbines and pollution-free pumped storage. water power to quickly provide extra electricity when you need it.

Deadline listed by Arts Council for grants bids

New Jersey community groups and arts organizations wishing to receive financial assistance from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts have until midnight, Feb. 28, to submit their applications, Byron R. Kelley, executive director, said this week, The Arts Council is accepting applications for project grants covering the fiscal year July 1, 1971, to June 30, 1972. Aid is made available to non-profit, tax exempt groups throughout the state for the development or expansion of innovative and exemplary projects dealing with various aspects of the arts. As many as 170 grant applications have been submitted to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts for funding in a single year, totalling from $500,000 to $2,000,000 per annum. This year the State Arts Council is inopeful of being able to support a grants program to the extent. of $200,000 in combined State and matching Federal funds, made available by the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities.

This year, Kelley said, the Arts Council will assign priority to applications in the following areas: Townscape; creation of art objects; audience education and participation; personal execution in the field of the arts; administrative and technical assistance; arts research; and innovative use of the arts for functional pruposes such as therapy, rec-reation and the resolution of social problems,

Grants awarded by the Arts Council in past years have resulted in an extensive series of touring art exhibits, ethnic arts festivals, inner city arts instruction programs, free concerts, arts competitions and awards, drama workshop programs for prisons, art scholarships for needy students, and other benefits to the New Jersey community. Generally the Arts Council does not make contributions to help meet ordinary budget requirements of existing agencies, nor can it support programs previously operated entirely within the budgets of these groups. Funds are not usually available for con-struction of facilities or as subsistence grants to individual artists.

Projects aided by the Council should have reasonable prospects of obtaining an increasing proportion of necessary funds from other sources. Requests for guidelines and application-forms-should-be-addressed-to-the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Douglass House, John Fitch Way, Trenton 08608 or by calling (609) 292-6130.

PACE-SETTING PACEMAKERS .-- Two members of the Pacemaker Club at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center begin the action by the newly-formed Pacemaker Club bowling team, made up entirely of patients wearing fist-sized, battery-powered pacemakers to regulate their heart beats. Left to right are, Frank Franzese, 57, of 690 Morris ave., and Martin Meade, 50, of 30 Remer ave., both of Springfield. Meade, who underwent surgery to replace his battery pack two weeks ago, rolled one game while Franzese was able to roll two.

Max Bick of West Orange hasn't bowled in -30 years, but he rolled a 97 last Sunday as a member of the newly-formed Pacemaker Club Bowling Team, Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. The team is made up of patients beween 14 and 80 years of age and all of them are wearing a list-sized, battery-powered pacemaker inside their chests.

The Pacemaker Club was founded in 1968 when physicians of the pacemaker team at Newark Betholsrael Medical Center became concerned about those patients who, after cardiac pacemaker implantation, remained fearful of even the slightest physical exertion. Several considered themselves virtual "Cardiac cripples" and no amount of verbal reassurance proved sufficiently effective to re-storing normal and useful living patterns, Realizing that fear and apprehen sion con demned the patients to inactivity, the Medical Center decided to dramatically demonstrate the patient's capability to function by inviting pacemaker wearers to a "tea dansant." The event was successful far beyond anyone's expecta-tions and, dancing to the stains of a five-man combo, patients happily compared notes on the performance of their pacemakers and the rhythm of their dance steps. RELUCTANT PATIENTS, still afraid of taxing their paced hearts, gradually gave in to the pretty and persuasive smiles of nursing students inviting them to dance and, as they discovered they were not invalids after all, they joined formerly over-protective spouses on the dance floor. The Pacemaker Club was organized that day and now boasts over 300 card-carrying mbers and a 10-member executive board. While Club members have been dancing to-maker team physicians. Martin Meade, 50, of Springfield, and 30-year old Carole Wilson of Warren, for instance, kept their bowling date even though both had had pacemaker battery replacements within the last three weeks. Miss Wilson, who also ice skates and swims; received nationwide publicity in 1969 when she was admitted to Newark Beth Israel Medical Center with a "runaway" heart. While the normal heart rate is approximately 70 beats a minute, cardiolo-gists at the Medical Center recorded Miss Wilson's heart rate at up to 270 beats. She was the first person with a normal heart in which a heart block was surgically created to control the heart rate. The rare operation had been performed four times previously in_other_institutions_here_and_abroad,_but_always in patients with abnormal hearts.

OTHER TEAM MEMBERS are Frank Franzese, 57, Springfield, Mrs. Vivian Hart, 32, Greenbrook; Frank-Avella, 58, Hillside; Mr. Alex Maybaum, 55, Newark; and 14-year old Claude Vallello. Claude received his pacemaker when he was nine years old and hopes

42 sites utilized in filming of `Joe'

Every scene in ... Joe, ... one of the first motion pictures to deal with the lifestyle of contemporary middle America, now on screen at the Union Theater in Union Center, was filmed on authentic location. In fact, there are 42 authentic locations in and around New York City, filmed in the sub-zero depths of metro-politan winter, including an elegant picturewindowed office in the financial district, a tenement in the East Village, a Fifth Avenue penthouse, a peaceful farm in Rockland County and a Times Square bowling alley....

The picture, in DeLuxe color, which was directed by John Avildsen, tells a story of two widely-contrasting figures, Joe Curran (played by Peter Boyle), homeowner, bowler and World War II veteran, who earns $160 a week, and Bill Compton (Dennis Patrick), a $60,000 a year advertising executive. They are drawn together by a common distrust and envy of vouth.

Susan Sarandon plays Patrick's daughter, Melissa, who becomes enmeshed in an East Village environment of drugs.

'Producers' heads twinbill at Ormont

"The Producers" and "Monique" start tomorrow on a special double bill at the Or-mont Theater, East Orange. "Wild Child" and "Passion of Anna" conclude their run today.

"The Producers," starring Zero Mostel and Gene Wilder, is a rowdy comedy, with Mostel playing the part of a-charlatan Broadway producer, who discovers a way to make a fortune with a flop and produces a musical. The picture was filmed in color.

"Monique" is the associate feature at the Ormont.

Narcotics Squad film to have 84 locations

NEW YORK--William Friedkin is directing "The French Connection," which stars Gene Hackman and Roy R. Scheider, on location entirely in New York. There will be approximately 84 location set-ups in and around the New York area.

'The French Connection'' is based on the story of a pair of dedicated, hard-working New York City Narcotics Squad detectives, Eddie Egan and Sunny Grosso, who in 1962 began trailing a small-time, local hood, after seeing him with some big-time dope peddlers.

'Brilliant' acting, screenplay rates a 'hurrah' for 'Cromwell'

By BOB LIBKIND

We in America often tend to forget that the English had their own Civil War, and it is this that the film "Cromwell" dramatically chroni-

The movie, now playing at the Rialto in Westfield, shows us the two principals in the English Civil War as they were: imperfect but important men, Oliver Cromwell and King Charles I. They are aptly played by Richard Harris (Cromwell) and Alec Guinness.

In these days of fancy cinematography, avante-garde screen technique and fragile story line, it is comforting to view a movie that makes the most of dialogue. Without criticizing the newer methods of film making, I would like to put in a hearty "hurrah" for "Cromwell" as a story well told. Although "Cromwell" is not a historical document (the protagonist was not quite the good soul this movie leads us to believe; and Charles was even more inept than the film shows him) it gives us the flavor, the excitement of a specific era, a very important point in time, in European history. The second of the Stuart kings wants to fight a war with the Scots, but the House of Commons must come across with the money. Parliament refuses and starts to legislate curbs on the crown's power. Our conflict begins at this point and weaves its way on and off the rigid battlefields of Britain, through churches and back into Parliament house in 17th century London. Thanks to the brilliant acting of Harris and Guinness, Ken Hughes' well-re-searched screenplay and his able direction, 'Cromwell'' gives us a glimpse at a fascinatare more-than suitably reinforced by the supporting cast, particularly that venerable character actor Robert Morley who portrays the Coniving Manchester. The film leaves us with the impression that Cromwell's tenure as Lord Protector of England was one of unequaled freedom in the British Isles. True, his government didforever change the power of the royal family and prompt the great literature of Puritan England, ncluding Milton's "Paradise Lost," Yet, it must be remembered --- and one wishes Hughes had remembered this point -- that the reign of-Cromwell over the English people was only viable because of the Lord Protector's dominant and sustaining leadership, Cromwell was a dictator. But his son Richard lacked the dynamic personality of his father and was deposed less than year after his father's death. The English people rejoiced at the royal restoration.

Despite this historical inaccuracy, "Crom-ell" is worthy of our attention. It is a film that lets us taste the drama, excitement, ten-sion and importance of a day gone by.

Kiddie shows at Art

The Art Cinema in Irvington Center is continuing with its policy of matinee features for children on the weekend, "Treasure Island," will have two shows on Saturday and one show on Sunday. The adult feature, which opened yesterday, is a film from Denmark called "Threesome," produced in color.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

tight Jenny and David. Robert, the bachelor, tries to turn them on with a little grass and they have a bummer. It's a funny bummer,

THEN THERE ARE Amy and Paul who have lived together for eight years and are getting married. Except Amy gets scared. Beth Howland gives the best comic performance of wedding jitters you may ever see. Paul, played by Steve Elmore, has a brief speech of understanding that does not patronize. That speech was the most touching moment of the evening for me.

Mayfair, Elmora offer top films

"I Never Sang For My Father," and "A Walk in the Spring Rain," two top features opened yesterday at the Mayfair Theater in Hillside and at the Elmora Theater Elizabeth today. "I Never Sang For My Father" stars Melvyn Douglas, Gene Hackman, Estelle Parsons and Dorothy Stickney, and concerns a son who can never achieve a closeness with his father. Filmed in color, the picture was directed by Gilbert Cates. Ingrid Bergman and Anthony Quinn star in

There's good 'Company' at the Alvin Theatre

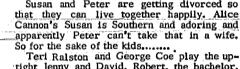

By ROBERT LYONS

Although I was enjoying "Company" im-mensely, I didn't really know why until about mensely, I didn't really know why until about an hour after the curtain fell. The glow of realization brought the whole show back into my head. "Company" does not think mar-riage is failing. All evening long it sticks out its chin at what it has confronted itself with and says, "Oh yeah?" The structure of "Company" does have an examinatory quality. A 35-year-old bachelor visits his five married couple friends. Every-and the structure of a couple friends. Everyone knows everyone else and there are birthday parties and weddings so the play does not entirely have a vignette look about it. Also the bachelor is a friend of the women as well as the men. That was the first clue after my pleasure started to subside. These are couples who do have something going for them.

SARAH AND HARRY are a fun couple. They don't drink but have a portable bar with everything including miniature Drambuie and the three litre bottle of Strega. And don't think you've had one too many--her costume does match part of the furniture. It's one of the best sight gags ever on wives who just stay home. Charles Kimbrough plays Harry ex-ternally as if trying to cover his joy at having Sarah. Barbara Barrie is a welterweight pixie as Sarah. If Miss Barrie ever decided to wickedly claim she was a daughter of Bea Liflie, I bet Miss Lillie would be overjoyed. Susan and Peter are getting divorced so that they can live together happily. Alice Cannon's Susan is Southern and adoring and perfect and he keeps the action unobtrusively fluid in Boris Aronson's glisteningly skeletal apartment building. Be sure to notice the opaque backdrops that lend such a mood. Michael Bennett's "character" choreography was super. The costumes by D.D. Ryan reminded one of the pleasure in the primary colors. Susan Browning's stewardess arb,-which-seemed-to-represent-about-12 different airlines, was a gentle Pucci put-down. And that's the kind of fun the entire

14-year-old organist `turns on' skaters Young musician entertains at Essex arena

When 14 year-oldBrad Siegel of West Orange turns on the organ at the South Mountain Arena, he also "turns on" hundreds of ice skaters. From tiny youngsters to older men and women, the rhythm of Brad's music gives a lilt to skating pleasure.

Skaters are not the first group the young organist has played for. Shortly after receiv-ing a portable organ for Christmas a year ago, he asked permission to practice on the Arena organ, which he had heard and enjoyed. The staff suggested he could practice there ouring the only hours the Arena is not occupiedfrom 2 to 4 a.m.

Brad seized at the opportunity and it was then he played for an audience of one--his mother---and a few birds which had entered the Arena in West Orange through the ventilating system. "At first my playing was for the birds," the youth quipped. Earlier, Brad had played accordion for his pals, and their horses, at the Junior Essex

Troop. He also plays plano. Friends had suggested he play for them as they rode horseback. He plugged his accordion into the public address system. 'It relieved the monotony -- and some people think it had a calming effect on the horses." Brad said.

BRAD IS A MEMBER of the Junior Essex Troop and has ridden for five years. His have recently purchases the Suburban parents Essex Riding Stables with three other families. Brad hopes to have his own horse in the near future.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Siegel is a persistent young man who appears to know exactly what he wants and pursues it with singlemindedness. The lad is a ninth grader at Roosevelt Junior High School in West Orange.

The young organist has risen from his thrice weekly middle-of-the night practice sessions to part time paid, professional organist for skaters at the Arena.

Brad's schedule now brings him to the Arena on Wednesdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 5:30, on Saturdays from 2:15 to 4 p.m. and on Sundays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. "This means I have to really move on weekdays since I don't get home from school until 3:15," he said. The job means giving up things like ski trips with his school mates, but Brad has few regrets. During the 2 to 4 a.m. period the young man went to bed about 9 p.m., slept until 1 a.m. when he and his mother took off in the family car for the Arena. "When did mother "She practically didn't Brad explained, sleep? Shortly after receiving his gift organ, he went frequently to listen to Arnie Nocks, the organist at the Arena and picked up many pointers from him, "Without Arnie, I'd be nowhere," the youth pointed out, "and I'm still learning from him," Nocks still plays three evening sessions at the Arena.

PLAYING THE PROPER RHYTHM for iceskaters is not easy, according to Paul Mc-Innis, the rink manager, "Even organists who have played for roller skating sometimes have difficulty getting the ice skating beat." Innis praised the young man for "his talent, his alertness and his conscientiousness.

Brad keeps one eye on the rink all the while he is playing. He is an instant judge of reaction to his tunes. For childrens' sessions he plays numbers with which they are familiar. From two to eight special requests come to him during each skating session from youngsters who leave the ice, mount the steps to the organ and ask, "Play Frosty the Snow-man." Or, "Do you Know the Marines' Hymn" or "Will you play Alley Cat?"

Brad has familiarized himself with the pet tunes of many of the adult skaters. "There's one guy who loves "Tip Toe Through the Tulips"

Bell construction in 1970 set record of $266 million; 1971 may be higher

New Jersey Bell Telephone Co, spent a record $266 million on construction in 1970 to meet the growing demand for communications.

Robert W, Kleinert, telephone company president, said the construction budget was about $61 million higher than in 1969. He said the increased costs of needed communica-tions facilities, coupled with a downward trend in earnings, obliged the company last Septenber to file for its rate increase since 1958. He said the proposed increase would raise annual gross intrastate operating revenues by about $79 million. Net increase to the company, after taxes, would be about $38 million. Hearings on the application for higher rates are now being held in Newark by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners.

Anton J. Campanella, the company's Raritan Area general manager, said-"the-need-forcommunications expansion will continue to accelerate, and we are expanding our com-munications network to meet the increasing demands for service. Campanella said the Raritan Area, which includes Union County and parts of Essex, Middlesex, Morris and Somerset counties, showed an increase of 34,950 telephones in 1970. The increase raised the number of phones in service in the area to 866,650 from 831,700 in 1969. Calling in the area rose to 1,860,000 on an average business day, an increase of 100,000 calls per day over 1969.

AMONG THE EXPANSION and improvement projects completed in the area last year were two computer-like electronic switching systems (ESS) opened in Elizabeth and New Brunswick, and the opening of an $8 million long distance switching center, also in New Brunswick. The New Brunswick long distance switching center is a major link in the Bell System's direct distance dialing network. When fully operational the center will handle about 450,000 calls a day. It is equipped with an ultra-modern electronic translator system which converts dialed numbers into an electronic code and then selects the best long distance routes to phones throughout the United States and Canada

Late last year the company also established an ESS control center which is manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week to assure round-the-clock surveillance of all ESS installations. The new center is equipped with teletypewriter machines which connect directly with all of the ESS central offices allowing craftsmen to check the ESS systems at any hour of the day.

NEW JERSEY BELL PLANS to spend more than $280 million on construction in the state in 1971. Among the expansion and improve-ment projects scheduled for the Raritan Area in 1971 are: the opening in 1971 of two new ESS offices in Metuchen and Somerville, and the introduction of an advanced form of direct distance dialing which will allow customers to_dial_their_own_person-to-person, credit card, collect and bill-to-a-third-number calls from home, office or coin telephone,

This more convenient long distance callingwill be available in Bound Brook, Carteret, Dunellen, Edison, Franklin Park, Jamesburg, Plainfield, Somerville, South River and Spotsville.

Campanèlla said New Jersey Bell planners estimate that residential and business growth in the area will boost the number of telephones by 60 percent within ten years. During that same period, telephone usage is expected to increase by 40 percent.

Statewide, the company added 198,000 new phones to its network, bringing the total number of New Jersey Bell phones in the state to 4;668,000. The company's 2,5 million custo-mers averaged 22,163,000 calls every business day, about 1,537,000 more than last year. To serve these new phones and to expand and improve accurate the serve of the and improve service to customers the company placed 11 billion feet of wire in cable. Twothirds of this new cable was placed underground in line with the company's objective of burying cable wherever practicable. Most of this buried cable was installed to serve new housing developments. The company completed construction of three new buildings and additions to more than 50 buildings throughout the state last

LAST YEAR, the company put five new electronic switching system (ESS) offices into service to raise the company total of ESS offices to 13. These computerlike switching systems_allow_for_faster_completion of calls and have the capability of checking its own operation to detect possible troubles.

The first ESS office in the Bell System was opened in Succasunna in 1965 and New Jersey Bell has remained one of the leaders in construction of these modern central offices.

NSC reading clinic holding interviews to screen children

Screening for 'enrollment in Newark State College's Reading Clinic is now in progress at the Union campus, it was announced this week by Dr, Samuel Lourie, a member of the faculty and director of the Reading Clinic. The college provides year-round services to the community while training reading specialists. The clinic enrolls approximately 80 children each semester.

Applicants must appear for a screening interview at the college's Institute of Child Study and bring along a statement from their schools indicating a need for special help in reading. Parents should phone for an appoint-ment on Monday and Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 p.m. The fee is $35 per semester, with scholarships available.

The clinic sessions are held on Mondays and Wednesdays for ten weeks commencing Feb. 24 and ending May 5. Teachers give diagnostic tests from 4:30 to 5:45 p.m. The remediation group meets from 5:45 to 7 p.m. Each teacher at the clinic is assigned one student, so that every child can have individual help. The teachers are graduate students earning master of science degrees and hold regular positions as classroom teachers, Many already have positions in reading.

Each child usually attends for two semesters. The first semester emphasizes the diagnostic testing while the second semester provides concentrated remedial treatment of the reading disability.

Employment reported up .2 percent

According to preliminary estimates prepared by the Division of Planning and Research of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, nonagricultural employment in New Jersey (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers) rose by 5,700 to 2,607,-700 in December, an overthe-month gain of 0.2 percent.

Employment in durable goods manufacturing moved upward by 4,200 to 428,000. This gain reflected settlements of labor-management disputes in the fabricated metals, transportation equipment, and nonelectrical machinery industries.

However, the electrical machinery and miscellaneous manufacturing industries declined as a result of layoffs. Nondurable goods had a de-cline of 3500 to 4-7,800. The major contributors to this drop were the apparel and chemical industries which had

Late last year, the company also established an ESS control center which is manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week to assure round-the-clock surveillance of all ESS installations. The new center is equipped with teletypewriter machines which connect directly with all of the ESS central offices in the state, allowing craftsmen to-check the ESS systems at any hour of the day. Data communications is also becoming an important part of the communications picture in Raritan, as well as the rest of the state. There are currently 9,400 data sets in use in New Jersey, about 2,440 in the Raritan Area. The state total is expected to increase to more than 100,000 by 1980.

'Data communications, ESS and our long distance switching center are all important parts of the broadening communications, spectrum." -Campanella concluded. ""They are some of the tools by which we can insure that we have the best possible communications both now and in the decade ahead for Raritan Area customers."

and when he waves I play it." Many adults wave their thanks to Brad when he has completed their requests. The young organist also has learned another specialty -- playing during ice hockey games. There is special music, such as "charge," which-is-played-at-certain-moments during hockey game, His timing is perfect, "It works-fine with a real partisan crowd," Brad ex-plained, "They scream as I play."

Stenogs, typists sought by U.S.

Promotions, transfers, retirements and newly authorized positions have created op-portunities for Civil Service appointments as stenographers and typists in federal agencies in the Newark area. According to David August, Newark area manager of the Civil Service Commission, in-experienced high school graduates who can type 40 words a minute now start at $4,897 year. Those with additional training or office experience may start at $5,524 a year. Stenographers who can take dictation at 80 words a minute start at $5,524 to $6,202 depending on their education and experience.

Civil Service tests in typing and steno-graphy are given on a walk-in basis each Tuesday and Thursday at 8:30 a.m. The typing test only is given on the same days at 12:30 p.m. The tests are given in Room 934 of the Federal Building at 970 Broad st., Newark and no appointments are necessary. Additional information can be obtained from the Federal Job Information Center in Room 134 of the Federal Building, Its telephone number is 645-3673.

Federal employees enjoy job security, regular pay increases, promotion opportunities, eight paid holidays, paid sick leave and vaca-tions, a liberal retirement plan and partially paid health insurance. The federal govern-ment is an equal opportunity employer.

Testimonial dinner planned for Sears

State and federal officials will pay tribute to Senate Majority Leader Harry L. Sears March 12 at a $100-a-plate-testimonial din-ner at The Chanticler, Millburn. Featured eakers will be U.S. Attorney General John T. Mitchell and New Jersey Governor William Cahill.

Co-chairmen are Senate President Raymond Bateman, R-Somerset, and Senator Fairleigh S. Dickinson Jr., R-Bergen.

Sears, who gained his Senate seat in 1967 after serving six years in the Assembly, is chairman of the Governor's Tax Policy Com-mittee and the Senate Judiciary Committee, in addition to serving as Republican majority spokesman.

He also holds seats on the Senate Ways and Means Committee, the Rules and Orders Committee and serves as senate liaison to the State Library Commission.

A 1969 guvernatorial candidate, the Morris County legislator was 1968 chairman of the New Jersey Speakers Bureau for the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

`SmokEnder' course starts at hospital tonight

A new "smokEnder" course will begin to-night at Rahway Hospital, Rahway, for people who want to break the smoking habit.

The ten-week course is conducted by former smokers, and depends more on behavior modification than on fear or willpower. Further in-formation about smokEnders can be obtained at 454-4444.

seasonal furloughs. Nonmanufacturing jobhold-ing rose by 5000 to 1,761,900 on the strength of a 14,800 gain in wholesale and retail trade to handle holiday demands. However, the colder weather brought about layoffs. in the construction industry. Service activities showed a larger than usual seasonal decline. Transportation and pub-lic utilities slipped by 1500 due to layoffs and labor-management disputes.

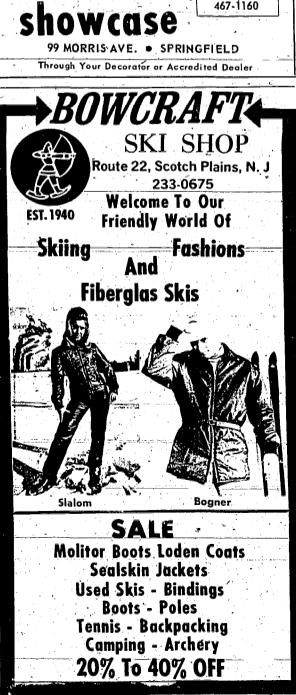

Compared with December 1969, total nonagricultural employment dropped by 18,900. Manufacturing, with an over-the-year reduction of 49,500, was pulled down by _sizeable decreases in elec-trical machinery, nonelectrical machinery, stone-clay-glass, and fabricated metals in the durable goods sector and by the chemical, apparel and rubber-plastic products industries in nondurable goods.

On the other hand, nonmanufacturing employment enjoyed a 30,600 gain on the strength of hiring in wholesale and retail trade, government, and finance, insurance and real estate. This increase was below the year-to-year rises of the last eight years.
