Former mayor comments on defeat of Board of Education budget at polls

Former Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. this week issued a statement on the recent defeat at the polls of the Board of Education budget and the complexity of the decisions the Borough Council must now render on the budget.

The text of Wilhelms' statement follows:

The voice of the voter has been heard. Expert to tell PTA about efforts to turn the tide of pollution

The Mountainside PTA will hold its general meeting tonight at 8 in the Deerfield School gym.

Mrs. Edith Kluczewicz, program chairman, announced that the speaker of the evening will be Joel S. Fogel, who will discuss "Our Polluted Waterways."

The 26-year-old lecturer on water pollution studied marine zoology at the University of Hawaii. He has travelled in such countries as Australia, Japan, New Zealand, India, Thailand, Israel, Spain and "all the islands of the Caribbean," she added.

Sponsored by the National Geographic Magazine, Fogel drove a motorcycle from Alaska to South America along the Pan American Highway.

He is the author of the soon-to-be-published book, "40 Days and 40 Nights." This book is based on his encounters with water pollution while paddling a canoe from New York City to Miami Beach, along 1,500 miles of inter-throughout New Jersey on the subject of school taxes. In Union County two-thirds of the school budgets were defeated by the voters.

Clearly enough, the opinions of the voters have been registered and now the task falls on the mayors and councils to determine what the school expenditure will be.

The town councils are required by law to establish the amount of money to be spent. An awesome task for these people who by and large have little knowledge of the day to day problems, requirements or responsibility for administering and operating a school system.

In Mountainside the preparation of the school budget requires four to five months of study, evaluation and deliberation by the Board of

Sign up Saturday for Little League

Registration for the Mountainside Little League will take place at the all-purpose room at Deerfield Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. It was announced by Harry Irwin, chairman of the Little League. The registration is for boys between 8 and 13 years of age, and a parent must accompany each boy. The fee is $8 for the first child registered in a family and $4 for each child thereafter.

Ed Steel said he is looking for adult help in umpiring in the Senior League games and teenage help for the other leagues. Anyone who is interested in helping the Little League and earning additional money was urged to call Steel at 233-0499 as soon as possible. Steel runs a clinic for training umpires and said he is anxious to get started on this project.

Education. How, in 30 days, the Borough Council can arrive at a decision worthy of Solomon presents a difficult problem. Certainly the voters have placed an albatross around the necks of the mayor and councilmen. They will be damned if they do and damned if they don't by those who hold diverse opinions on education and taxes and the politically inspired opportunists.

It must be understood by the voters that the function of the town council is only to determine how much money is to be spent for operating our schools, not where or how it is spent. The "where and how" remains the province of the Board of Education and it must make do with the total money provided in the most practical and meaningful way.

THIS DIVISION of responsibility presents some interesting facets. For the sake of example, let us suppose that the operating budget by $74,950, equal to the amount allocated in the school budget for school bus service. The Board of Education could eliminate bus service and have the children walk to school. This certainly would be a defensible position for the Board of Education, for are traffic safety or the lack of sidewalks their responsibility? Why should a school budget be saddled with $74,950 for bus service that sidewalks could largely eliminate?

But, then, Mountainside residents have looked upon sidewalks that would destroy our suburban atmosphere as anathema. So, too, have they looked upon school bus service as a necessary and desirable convenience. And

Chairman tags Community Fund drive 'success'

The Mountainside Community Fund Drive chairman, Frank J. Thiel, announced recently that the 1970 drive was a "huge success." Total cash contributions collected to date amount to $23,284.

Thiel stated the 1970 Community Fund goal of $21,000 had been reached within the first month of the drive. An additional $1,000 in pledges should be collected by March or April, bringing the grand total to approximately $24,500, he said.

Thiel expressed his "sincere thanks and appreciation to all the residents and businessmen of Mountainside for their generous moral and financial contributions to the drive in a year when the pocketbook was really being pinched by severe economic conditions."

A special note of thanks, Thiel indicated, is due John Miller, treasurer, and seven district chairmen: Joseph Mazur, Matthew FitzGibbon, Joseph McMahon, David Hutchison, Murray Staub, Monroe Nestler and Leslie Cooper, for "their many hours of planning, organizing and supervising of the drive itself."

Thiel also extended his "thanks" to the "countless area captains, street captains and men and women who did the real hard leg work of actually ringing the doorbell and collecting the dollars that made the Mountainside Community Fund for 1970 such a huge success."

He added: "As a result of the combined efforts of all those involved, the ten community agencies which provide much needed child care, health, and rescue services, will receive invaluable assistance in the year 1971."

Regional schools ready to present referendum plan

Plans for a new expansion bond proposal, expected to be announced in the coming month with cost reductions beyond those previously indicated, shared primary attention at Tuesday's meeting of the Regional High School District Board of Education with a discussion of a possible dissolution of the district.

The meeting, held at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, drew an audience of some 15 people, in addition to school board staff members.

Dr. Fred Hagedorn, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, reported that after many meetings his group had virtually completed its work on the expansion bond proposal expected to be submitted to the voters this spring.

If the board takes action at a special meeting this coming Tuesday, he said, the referendum could be voted on by April 20, if the board waits until its regular March meeting, the earliest date for the referendum would be May 11.

Stormy weather phones made known for Dayton

Hagedorn noted that the referendum will be the board's third attempt in three years to deal with overcrowding in all four high schools. He said that he was directed to cut costs to no more than $6 million from the nearly $7 million proposal defeated last spring.

The committee chairman disclosed three steps the board was taking to cut costs: He said that plans are now based on a functional classroom capacity formula of 30 students, rather than the present state formula of 25 students, which had been the basis of last year's plans.

With 80 percent utilization of classroom space standard procedure, this means an average class size of 25-plus, rather than 20. "We are seeking to reduce costs," Hagedorn said, "and this way we can build fewer classrooms."

He added that the architect is also considering use of pre-engineered (pre-fabricated) construction for one-story additions. Later in the evening, Hagedorn said the committee was still considering a cutback of non-classroom space, especially gymnasiums, as well as methods to reduce all costs -- such as use of cinderblock construction.

"The final questions of priorities are still to be resolved at a meeting very soon," Hagedorn declared. Then we will proceed to determine how much the referendum will cost and when we can hold it."

In the public discussion period, Mrs. Sonya Dorsky, a candidate for election to the board

Palmer is named chairman for local Cancer Crusade

John H. Palmer of 144 Greenwood rd, has been named chairman for the 1971 American Cancer Society Crusade in Mountainside. The educational and fund-raising drive begins April 1.

The appointment of Palmer was announced by Arthur C. Fried, Union County Cancer Crusade Chairman, who said that Palmer had accepted a leadership role "because of a deep understanding that the fight against cancer must not lose momentum but actually must be accelerated in every way possible."

In accepting the position, Palmer stated that "last year insufficient appropriations hampered important cancer research programs. The society was overwhelmed with requests for grants, many of which merited scientific support but could not be funded because of lack of money. While the American Cancer Society increased its research expenditures, some promising developments in the search for the causes and treatment of various types of cancer are marking time."

Palmer served as a district captain in the 1969 Fund Drive and as town chairman for Mountainside last year.

He is an insurance agent and broker and operates the Palmer Insurance Agency in Union. In addition to being active in local politics, Palmer is chairman of the methods committee of the Citizens to Preserve Mountainside and a member of the organization's board of directors. He is also a member of the Knights of Columbus in Mountainside.

ALTHOUGH A RECENT Gallup study showed a gradual increase in the percentage of Americans who get medical checkups (from 55 percent in 1961 to 62 percent in 1970); it also indicated a slowing down in the rate of increase of those who went for specific cancer tests of skin,

Rt. 1-95, part of the interstate highway system between Maine and Florida, may go through the Watchung Reservation. This proposed intrusion on the 2,000 acres of naturally wooded area is a threat being fought by the Friends of the Watchung Reservation whose main purpose is "to insure the preservation of the reservation as a naturally wooded area," according to Edward Reisdorf of Mountainside, the organization's treasurer.

He said, "Rt. 78 has already taken about 114 acres. We have a map from the State Department of Transportation that shows four alternate routes for 1-95. One of these proposed alternates goes through the Watchung Reservation and would appear to take 200 acres of the reservation.

"In addition, because it will cross Rt. 78 it might be a beautiful spot for an interchange, probably just north of Lake Surprise.

"With respect to a federally supported road, which 1-95 is, if the Watchung Reservation were designated as a 'protected area' the federal government would not allow a highway to go through the area. So this is our purpose.

"PETITIONS ARE being circulated to encourage the freeholders of Union County to designate Watchung as a protected area. Nearly 4,000 signatures have already been obtained. We hope to obtain many more.

EDWARD REISDORF

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States: about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

you can kick
the Habit.

As You Approach Q Day

Many stress willpower as the decisive factor in giving up cigarettes. For them the sense that they can manage their own lives is of great importance. They enjoy challenging themselves and, with an effort of will, they break the cigarette habit.

Thus, some psychologists describe stopping cigarettes as an exercise in self-mastery, one that introduces a new dimension of self-control.

Others, often successful in many aspects of living, find that willpower does not help them in giving up cigarettes. They try to stop, they do not, and they feel guilty over their weakness.

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail in their first and second, even their fifth attempts, and then finally succeed. Those whose "will" fails in breaking the habit are not weak but different. Their approach must be less through determination and more through relearning new behavior with patience and perseverance.

Self-suggestion, when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes can be useful.

One health educator remarked recently, "nothing succeeds like willpower and a little blood in the sputum."

To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error: the ex-smoker should not believe that he is giving up an object of value, however dependent he may be on it. If he begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings, they may well become more severe and indeed unendurable. He must recognize that he is teaching himself a more positive, more constructive, more rewarding behavior.

Try Cutting Down...

An important first step in the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers is to set the date for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and, as it approaches, to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, or week by week.

A good system is to decide only to smoke once an hour—or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, 11 and 12, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, etc. And then to extend the nonsmoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours.

You may decide to halve the cigarettes you smoke week by week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities; if you have one pocket in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to fumble for it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand. Is it your custom to rest the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side.

Make it a real effort to get a cigarette: Wrap your package in several sheets of paper or place it in a tightly covered box. If you leave your change at home you won't be able to use a cigarette machine.

Shift from cigarettes you like to an unpalatable brand.

Before you light up, ask yourself, "Do I really want this cigarette or am I just acting out of empty habit?"

A smoker may find an unlighted cigarette in the mouth is helpful. Others enjoy handling and playing with a cigarette.

Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned—learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help in breaking into your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking behavior.

Do you really want this cigarette

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?

Yes, for some, no, for others. If you are a really "addicted" smoker, psychologists favor the sudden, decisive break.

For some, gradual withdrawal is less painful and entirely satisfactory.

Some cigarette smokers shift to pipes and cigars—there is of course some risk of mouth cancer from these but over-all mortality of cigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than among nonsmokers, if the smoke is not inhaled.

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic?

If there is a clinic or program in your community, you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such efforts.

Sharing your withdrawal experiences with others and working with them on a common problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make it considerably easier in various ways to stop cigarette smoking.

However, remember, no clinic can provide a sure result. In this matter you must be both patient and physician.

Shall I Make A Big Thing Of Q-Day?

Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which Q Day, quitting day, is singled out as the important, decisive day in their personal lives—that indeed it is.

Others who have known for a long time that

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a useful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record on a scale like that below.

In your gradual withdrawal you may decide to eliminate those daily cigarettes that you find are rated 1, 2 or 3 on the scale, i.e., ones you want least.

Or you may wish to give up first the cigarettes you like most. In any case keeping a smoking log will give you information about yourself, make you more aware of what your smoking habits are.

You may find that you are largely a social smoker, that smoking makes you feel closer to others, more welcome at a party, that you seem to have more friends. A cigarette may play a surprisingly large part in your picture of yourself as a mature and successful man.

How do you convince yourself that people like and respect you for more important reasons than for your cigarette? Try going without a cigarette and see.

PLUS AND MINUS

Write down carefully, after some thought, in one column the reasons why you smoke and in another all the reasons why you should give up cigarettes.

As you turn this exercise over in your mind, new material will occur to you for one or the other columns. Thoughtful concentration on your reasons for giving up cigarettes is important in changing your behavior.

SCORE CARD

Some cigarettes are more important to you than others. This score card will show you how much you smoke during each hour and how much you want each cigarette, on a scale of 1 (low need) to 7 (high need). A check mark opposite 2 indicates a low need.

For the cigarette, a check opposite 3 indicates a rather strong need. The hours on the chart are from 6 A.M. to 1 A.M. By rating yourself on this scale of 1 to 7, you can see which cigarettes are most needed and decide which ones to eliminate.

NEED	MORNING HOURS (AM)												AFTERNOON, EVENING HOURS (PM)

Shall I See My Physician? YES

However, the problem is yours, not his, and he may not feel that he can be helpful. On the other hand he may be able to give you sympathetic support and may prescribe medication. He can be helpful, also, in suggesting a diet which will prevent you from gaining too much weight.

Physicians as a profession have been leaders in acting on the risks of cigarette smoking: the Public Health Service estimates that 100,000 physicians (half of the physicians who once were cigarette smokers) have kicked the habit. A California study shows that only 21.3 per cent of all physicians in the state are cigarette smokers now.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Surely one reason is that the cigarette industry spends about $300,000,000 a year in promoting the habit and in challenging the facts that scientists have produced that point to the dangers of the habit. Another reason is that something in cigarettes, probably nicotine, is habit forming: smokers become dependent rather rapidly. Cigarette smoking is essentially a 20th century habit, encouraged by wars, by brilliant advertising, and by the development of remarkably efficient automatic machinery that produces those millions of round, firmly packed cigarettes.

It is only within the last 15 years that we have learned, through research pioneered by the American Cancer Society, that this personal and socially accepted habit is extremely dangerous. Cigarette smoking is deeply embedded in our life: agriculture, industry, government, the communications media, all have a stake in it. It is still widely accepted, even though proven to be a most certain hazard to health.

Because promotion is important in maintaining the habit's popularity, the Society believes all cigarette advertising in all media should be terminated. We hope that this goal will be achieved voluntarily and that governmental action won't be necessary.

Approaches in Giving up Cigarette Smoking

if you don't stop immediately and permanently

1. List the reasons for and against smoking.
2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and nicotine cigarette.
3. Chart your smoking habits for at least two weeks: how many cigarettes, when, the most and least important.
4. Repeat each night, at least ten times, one of your reasons for not smoking cigarettes.
5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes: the most or the least desired.

6. Secure a supply of substitutes: mints, gum, an inhaler, ginger root, etc.
7. Quit on Q Day—try the different substitutes as the wish to smoke recurs—enlist your wife or a friend in a busy series of events: eating well, going to the movies or theater, exercise and many long walks, moderate drinking.
8. If you are depressed, see your physician and discuss your symptoms.
9. Keep reminding yourself, again and again, of the shocking risks in cigarette smoking.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed, if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that—if you are a heavy smoker—your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that 100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

Dr. Silvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows:

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking;

here the smoker may hardly be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it made him feel good, or feel better, but in fact it does neither. He may once have regarded smoking as an important sign of status. But now smoking is automatic. The habitual smoker who wants to give up must first become aware of when he is smoking. Knowledge of the pattern of his smoking is a first step towards change.

Positive Affect Smoking;

here smoking seems to serve as a stimulant that produces exciting pleasure, or is used as a relaxant, to heighten enjoyment, as at the end of a meal. Here a youngster demonstrates his manhood or his defiance of his parents. This smoker may enjoy most the handling of a cigarette or the sense and sight of smoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to make an effort, they may find giving up cigarettes relatively painless.

Negative Affect Smoking;

this is sedative smoking, using the habit to reduce feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust or any combination of them. This person may not smoke at all when things go well, on vacation, or at a party, but under tension, when things go badly, at the office or at home, he reaches for a cigarette. These smokers give up often, but when the heat and pressure of the day hit them, when there's a challenge, they find it very hard to resist a cigarette. A strong substitute, like nibbling ginger, root may be useful.

Addictive Smoking;

the smoker is always aware when he is not smoking. The lack of a cigarette builds need, desire, and discomfort at not smoking. With this increasing need is the expectation that a cigarette will reduce discomfort—and the cigarette does give relief—for a moment. Pleasure at smoking is real, just as the buildup of discomfort at not smoking is real, sometimes rapid and intolerable. The enjoyment of the cigarette, however, is very brief, and may be disappointing—but the suffering for lack of even slight relief is considerable.

For this smoker, tapering off doesn't seem to work; the only solution is to quit cold. Once you have been through the intense pain of breaking your psychological addiction, you are unlikely to start smoking again. The experience of giving up has been too uncomfortable—and too memorable for you to risk having to go through it again.

Some such smokers have found it useful to increase during the week before Q Day the number of cigarettes smoked, to go from two packs to four packs, to force themselves to smoke so that their bodies will be in actual revolt against the double dose of tar and nicotine.

For information on a Smoker's Self-Testing Kit (four questionnaires, etc., to help one to understand personal reasons for and style of smoking) write to the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, United States Public Health Service, 4040 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Va., 22203.

In addition to the above salaries for officers and employees a longevity payment shall be paid as hereinafter fixed and determined. Such longevity pay to be considered as additional compensation based upon the length of service of said officers and employees according to the following schedule:

Additional Compensation per annum (Percentage of Annual Salary)
5 years	2%
10 years	3%
15 years	4%
20 years	5%
25 years	10%

(b) Such additional compensation shall be based upon the annual salary of each officer or employee. No employee who works less than an average of 45 hours per week in any one year shall be eligible for said additional compensation. In calculating said additional compensation, the base salary of the calendar year shall be used for such purpose.

(c) Any interruption of service due to a cause beyond the control of the officer or employee, such as military service, injury in line of duty or illness, shall be considered as service for the purpose of determining the compensation of said longevity periods. Leaves of absence of employee will not be considered in determining length of service.

(d) All periods of employment shall be computed from January 1st of the year of leaving office, appointment or employment unless the said date was calculated to June 30th, in which case the calculation shall be computed from January 1st of the year following.

(e) Additional compensation of any nature, including overtime, will not be considered in computing longevity payments.

(f) In order to compute the period for said longevity payment, credit will be given for all time served with the Township of Springfield, whether consecutive or non-consecutive, as hereinabove determined.

(g) The aforesaid additional compensation of longevity payments shall become effective as of January 1, 1971 and shall be added to the salaries above set forth and paid at the same time as said salaries are paid.

3. The foregoing ordinance shall take effect immediately upon final passage and publication thereof according to law.

I, Eleanore H. Worthington, do hereby certify that the foregoing ordinance was introduced for first reading at a regular meeting of the Township Committee of the Township of Springfield in the County of Union and State of New Jersey held on Tuesday evening, February 23, 1971, and that the said ordinance shall be submitted for consideration and final passage at a regular meeting of the said Township Committee to be held on March 9, 1971, in the Springfield Municipal Building at 8:30 P.M., at which time and place any person or persons interested therein will be given an opportunity to be heard concerning said ordinance. Copy is posted on the bulletin board in the office of the Township Clerk.

Church society to hear talk dealing with inner city center

Next Wednesday will see a varied program of activities taking place for the Springfield Presbyterian Church in the parish house at 37 Church Mall. The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society will be held at 1:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be a representative of the Grant Avenue Community Center in Plainfield, an inner city center located at 812 W. Sixth st.

The idea of the center was originated in 1967 and began to take shape in June of that year under the guidance of five laymen from the Grant Avenue Presbyterian Church and four members of the surrounding community. It has progressed now to the stage where the center is administered by an independent board of trustees, consisting of representatives from the Presbytery of Elizabeth, Grant Avenue Presbyterian Church, First Presbyterian Church of Plainfield, Watchung Avenue and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Churches and Willow Grove Presbyterian Church in Scotch Plains; also, First Park Baptist, St. Andrew's Episcopal, Messiah Lutheran, Wilson Memorial, First Methodist and the Congregational Church of Plainfield.

The center, whose purpose has been described as "a commitment to the belief that people of different races, nationalities, cultures, economic means and backgrounds can work together to create a united community," operates on a full-time basis, six days of the week.

It coordinates its programs with those originating in city government and those sponsored by other agencies in the city. Early in the history of the center, several women in the community organized themselves as a Mothers' Club to raise funds for the purchase of equipment, provide refreshments and assist in whatever manner they were needed.

The center provides day care for preschool children, tutoring, family counseling, recreation and sport programs, arts and crafts and field trips.

The Springfield church has a continuing interest in the Grant Avenue Community Center since this is one of the projects assisted through the benevolence program of the church. In addition, excess equipment from the Springfield Church has been given to the center to help in furnishing it, as well as contributions made to pave the play area around the center.

Wednesday afternoon will also be the time for the final rehearsal of a playlet which will be presented by members of the fifth grade discovery group in the Church School. Those taking part will be Meg Day, Linda Frost and Judy Wunderlich. The youngsters have been meeting with Mrs. Sheila Kilbourne, director of Christian education, each Wednesday after school and have written the script, built sets and made costumes for the playlet, "Events in the Life of Moses."

Wednesday evening at 8, the first in a series of lectures entitled "The Chaos of the Cults" will be given by Dr. Bruce Evans, pastor of the church. These lectures will feature an historical and doctrinal study of some of the better known offshoots of Christian faith, such as Jehovah's Witnesses, Mormonism and Christian Science. A question and answer period will follow the lecture.

Chamber selects another director

At the recent monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce, Louis E. Yeager Jr., supervisor of industrial-commercial air conditioning sale of the Elizabethtown Gas Company, was elected as a director of the Chamber.

Yeager fills the unexpired one-year term of Sanford Galinkin of Galinkin and Barton of Westfield. Yeager is a member of the Union County Chapter of Professional Engineers and publicity chairman of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers.

Mountainside coed to go on band concert tour

MARYVILLE, Tenn. — Alice Louise Strohmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Strohmeyer of 390 Creek Bed rd., Mountainside, N.J., will leave Sunday, March 14, with the 50-member Maryville College Concert Band for a four-day concert tour of cities in Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio, where they will present a program of classical and contemporary music.

Miss Strohmeyer is a senior at Maryville College, a co-educational, four-year liberal arts college.

BANK REMODELS — Inspecting remodeling and renovation of the Westfield office, the Central Jersey Bank and Trust Company, are manager and executive vice-president Harry A. Giuditta, left, and vice-president Richard S. Pinnell. The bank is open to serve the public uninterrupted during the construction work, which is scheduled for completion within the next few months.

County prosecutor handed four counts for possible action

Four counts against Charles Anthony Germanotta of Jersey City were turned over for action by the Union County prosecutor's office by Judge Jacob Bauer last Wednesday in Mountainside Municipal Court. Germanotta is charged with possession of a narcotic drug, being under the influence of a narcotic, possession of lottery paraphernalia and carrying a pistol without a permit. Bail has been set at $6,000.

Fred Thomas Jr. of Elizabeth was sentenced to a total of 60 consecutive days in the Union County Jail in lieu of $445 in fines after being convicted on three charges. They are driving while on the revoked list, $205 or 29 days in jail; operating a motor vehicle while its registration was suspended, $215 or 29 days in jail, and failing to have his vehicle inspected, $25 or two days in jail.

Two persons were fined $115 each and had their driver's licenses suspended for six months each for driving while under the influence of alcohol. They are Richard E. Price of Fanwood and Ben A. Bentley of Westfield.

John P. Novak of Summit paid $35 for knowingly drawing a check for $24,200 on the United National Bank of Central Jersey without having sufficient funds in his account.

Other convictions and fines were Ralph Della Serra of 156 Sunrise pkwy., Mountainside, $25 for parking a garbage truck within the borough's limits; William H. Horton of Scotch Plains, $30 for going 65 miles per hour in a 45 mile zone on Rt. 22 West; and Raymond A. Ranucci of Scotch Plains, $20 for not having his driver's license in his possession.

Charles Charity, retired Bell aide

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for Charles A. Charity of 1091 Sunny Slope dr., Mountainside, who died last week at Overlook Hospital. Mr. Charity, 68, was the husband of Mrs. Mary E. Salter Charity.

Mr. Charity, born in Yorkshire, England, came to the United States in 1922. He lived in New York City for a number of years.

He was employed by the New York Telephone Company and New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in Summit for 18 years before joining Bell Laboratories in Murray Hill in 1942. At Bell Labs he became service supervisor before retiring in 1962 because of illness.

Mr. Charity is also survived by three sons, Charles R. of Northport, L.I., Donald A. of Middlesex and Douglas A., a student at Florida Institute of Technology; one brother, Robert of Kings Park, L.I.; two sisters, Mrs. Doris Kehoe of North Charleston, S.C., and Mrs. Hilda Corbunoff of Villa Park, Ill., and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were completed by Smith and Smith, 415 Morris ave., Springfield.

Armed with knife, bandit robs station of $92, then flees

A masked bandit and his accomplice Saturday held up and robbed Pete's Cigar Service Station at the intersection of Mountain avenue and New Providence road, according to Mountainside police. They escaped with $92.35.

The attendant, Milton Provel, 19, told police he was alone in the main office when the masked man, armed with a kitchen knife, entered the station. The bandit allegedly held the knife in front of Provel and reportedly told him to unlock the rear office. Police said Provel told the man he did not have the key.

The robber then told Provel to lie on the floor and then tied his wrists and legs with a clothesline, police said. The man allegedly told Provel he was sorry but had to tie him up. At that point the attendant allegedly heard someone else enter the station and open the cash drawer. The bandits then reportedly turned off all lights in the station and fled, police said.

Police reported that around 8 p.m. Donald McLaughlin was at the intersection when he saw the lights were out but Provel's car was there. He went in to see if anything was wrong and found Provel who was tied up. McLaughlin cut him loose and called police.

Provel told police that the robber seemed polite and never threatened to cut or harm him with the knife, police said.

Anthony Messina services are held

Funeral services were held Monday for Anthony Messina, 88, of 123 Parkway, Mountainside, who died Friday at his home.

Arrangements were made by Gray's, 318 E. Broad st., Westfield.

Born in Naples, Italy, he came to the United States in 1903 and lived in Piscataway before moving here in 1922.

He retired from his own painting and decorating business 16 years ago. He later worked for Ray's Sport Shop, Route 22, Watchung.

He is survived by a son, Fred of Mountainside; three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Spainhour of Princeton, Mrs. Margaret Jones of Cranford and Mrs. Myrtle Merry of Pittsfield, Mass.; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mountainside student on college committee

Edith Deborah Klingsberg of 1257 Cedar ave., Mountainside, is one of four undergraduates named to a student-faculty-administrative Commission on Undergraduate Education at the University of Rochester (N.Y.) by President Robert L. Sproull.

According to Sproull, the group "is empowered to look at the entire university, as it is and as it might be, from the standpoint of the education of the undergraduate and to make recommendations in this area." Such recommendations, Sproull said, "might well involve the teaching of undergraduates, special programs, undergraduate participation in academic life, student activities outside the classroom, improvements in communication between undergraduates and other members of the university community, and any other aspects of university life that affect the quality of the undergraduate experience at Rochester."

Break and entry

A break and entry at a house on Christy lane Monday was reported by Springfield police. Entry was made by someone breaking the glass in a rear door and the bedroom was ransacked. It has not been determined what was taken, police said.

'Finian's Rainbow' scheduled at Gov. Livingston next week

Preparation for the production of "Finian's Rainbow," to be presented at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights on March 4, 5 and 6, is nearing completion, according to Walter Both, the show's producer. Curtain time will be 8:15.

Steve Dendinger and Suzanne Snell will star as Finian and his daughter, supported by Seth Brown, Geraldyn Albamonte, Tim Caffrey, Ib Elsamak, John Erikson, Gary Green, Steve Kammerer, Harold Rosenberg and Dennis Uhlig. The cast will be backed by a chorus, a special dancing chorus and the high school orchestra.

Both, who is the producer and musical director of the show, was responsible for last year's production of "The Sound of Music."

The director, Norman Schneider, has had extensive experience in the theater. He has directed 55 major shows including such local productions as "Brigadoon," "Cactus Flower," "Inherit the Wind" and "A Man for All Seasons." Schneider is a member of the American Council of Drama Judges. Barry Mansfield, the set designer, has worked with Schneider on many of his past productions. The sets for last year's productions of "The Sound of Music" and "The Lark" were designed by Mansfield.

Several committees are working on this year's production. The scenery committee is composed of Barbara Crow, June Leo, Susan Riley and Eric Seemann. The stage crew is headed by Craig Lyons, chairman, and Vic Peterson, co-chairman, Allan Conrad, Tom Lyons, Ken Moyers and Tom Oles make up the sound and lighting effects crew. Leslie Harvel and Nancy Robbins are the co-chairmen of the make-up committee. The program committee is led by Joette Dadds. The co-chairmen of the prop committee are Pat Faber and Linda Lucas.

Faculty members assisting the students include Mrs. Arlene Church, costumes; Daniel Gomula, set construction; Robert Nagel, sound effects and lighting.

Mr. Heckel; fire, police chief in town

Funeral services were scheduled to be held at 11 this morning at the Gray Funeral Home, 318 E. Broad st., Westfield, for Lewis E. Heckel, former Mountainside police and fire chief, who died Monday at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield. Mr. Heckel, 70, was a resident of Lebanon at the time of his death. He was married to the late Mrs. Gertrude M. Heckel who died in 1969.

In 1925 Mr. Heckel was fire chief for the borough and also served as Mountainside police chief in the early 1930s.

He was born in Springfield and lived most of his life in Mountainside before moving to Lebanon four years ago. He was the owner of the Heckel Trucking Co. of Springfield for 45 years.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy E. Welch of Lebanon; Mrs. Helen M. Sabine of Belle Meade, and Mrs. Gertrude M. Winters of Mountainside; a sister, Miss Elizabeth Heckel of Roselle and six grandchildren.

In no time at all now we'll be putting away the basketball sneakers for baseball cleats, so we thought in today's column we'd speed up the arrival of baseball with a little quiz on this subject.

- A newspaper headline reads: DIMag hitting streak ends at 36. (What year was it? What fielder made a spectacular stop to rob Joltin' Joe of a hit? What team opposed the Yanks in that game?)
- Who pitched the only American League no-hitter in 1969?
- In 1930, what National League player hit 56 home runs?

Now that you have the answer to the above quiz, here's the answer to the question, name the best dry cleaning/laundering shop in this area...it's ECHO CLEANERS, conveniently located in the Echo Plaza Shopping Center, Mountain Ave. and Rt. 22, Springfield.

Sedatives harmful, warn pharmacists

"Sedatives and sleeping pills have important medical value, but an overdose of these barbiturates can be harmful, even lethal," the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association warned this week.

President Isadore Singer said: "Descriptive of their wide range of color or their effect, barbiturates are variously called goofballs, red birds, yellow jackets, blue heavens, blue devils, bars, candy, phenies, peanuts or downs. All such terms mean the same, and their misuse can cause time and space distortion, coma, unconsciousness and death.

"Too many depressants can fog the memory and sense of time. Physical symptoms are drowsiness, stupor, dullness, slurred speech, drunk appearance, vomiting.

"Overdoses of barbiturates can kill. While classed as habit forming rather than addictive drugs, they can get so tenacious a grip that withdrawal from the habit is a painful process that includes spasms and convulsions. But staying on them can be worse.

"Distorting as they do the sense of time and space, fatal overdoses can easily result. A combination of barbiturates and alcohol can be fatal as well.

"Barbiturates are high on the list of suicidal poisons. Suicides may be either intentional or unintentional.

"Unintentional or accidental suicide usually is related to two phenomena: errors in the perception of the passage of time occurring at a given

PUNCH LINE OF THE WEEK

QUICKEST WAY TO WIPE OUT A FRIENDSHIP IS BY SPONGING.

A harmonious contest

The tenth annual New Jersey barbershop quartet novice contest will be conducted Saturday, March 6, at 8 p.m. at Roosevelt Junior High School, Westfield. The affair will be co-sponsored by the Westfield Woman's Club Scholarship Fund and the Westfield Chapter of S.P.E.S.S.A.

Fifteen quartets will compete. Also on the program will be a guest quartet and the Westfield Chorus. Wallace G. Bader of Scotch Plains is in charge of arrangements.

Snake milking featured at Upsala show today

Want to pet a crocodile, wrap a python around your neck, watch a rattle snake being milked?

The opportunity will be yours today at 4 p.m. at Upsala College when a reptile show will be sponsored for students and the general public by Theta Nu, the Upsala chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary society of biology majors.

The show will be given by Upsala alumnus Jerry Zelenka, an advanced biology teacher at Clifton High School. He has a collection of 25 reptiles including four foot long alligators, crocodiles, boa constrictors, water moccasins, gila monsters and turtles plus other wild life including hawks and porcupines. He keeps some in his cellar in Clifton and some at the high school.

Zelenka, who was graduated from Upsala in 1961, said he catches some of the reptiles and imports others through a friend from Africa and South America. He will bring them to Upsala in a special suitcase and will demonstrate them to the audience, enabling spectators to handle some of them if they so wish. Zelenka also will bring a tape recording of various frog sounds.

Assistant Professor Richard Graham of Upsala's biology department said the show is being presented to provide another dimension to the biology curriculum. It will be held in Puder Hall (science building), room 7, and there is no admission charge.

Dealers set trailer show

Recreational vehicle dealers and organized campers will present the N.J. Spring Camping and Trailer Show at the Fresh Pond Raceway on April 30, May 1 and 2.

Featured will be motor homes, travel trailer, tent campers and truck campers. An unusual attraction will be an oldtime caboose turned trailer.

Booth displays will feature camping equipment and accessories information on RV insurance, camping tours and campgrounds, magazines and travel aids. More than 200 displays will be included.

IRS will do your math on 1970's income tax

The Internal Revenue Service this year will make the income tax computations for a greater number of taxpayers than in previous years, Roland H. Nash Jr., IRS district director for New Jersey said this week.

The IRS will also figure the retirement income credit if the taxpayer otherwise qualifies to have his tax computed, Nash said.

The taxpayer may have his tax computed by IRS if he has no more than $20,000 income consisting of wages, tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities, and does not choose to itemize deductions.

In prior years, IRS computed the income tax only for certain taxpayers with less than $5,000 income.

This additional service is not furnished in IRS offices. The tax computation is made in the IRS Service Center at 11601 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19155, where their returns are mailed.

Eligible taxpayers who wish to have IRS figure their tax liability should follow the instructions in the tax forms booklet mailed to them.

After the computation has been made in the Service Center, refunds or bills will be automatically issued. Bills must be paid within 30 days.

Teacher's work to be exhibited

W. Carl Burger, associate professor of Fine Arts at Newark State College, Union will be represented at the Artists Equity Paintings Show at the Library Gallery at Morris County College, Dover, on Sunday from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Burger will display a large acrylic Alpha series 30" x 40," based on emergence of lineal and aqueous elements.

40 protest Laos action

A group of some 40 Union County residents last weekend picketed the office of Rep. Florence Dwyer in Plainfield to protest the U.S. invasion of Laos.
They said, "We, citizens of the 12th Congressional District, protest the invasion of Laos. We believe it to be an illegal act, unauthorized by Congress, which violates the neutrality of Laos and international law. The bombardment of the country by our planes is just as destructive of human life and property as that brought about by direct participation of ground forces."
"President Nixon has said that the U.S. will use unlimited air power to bomb villages and people anywhere in Indochina. This is counter to the will of 73 percent of the people who, according to the Gallup Poll, want the U.S. out of Indochina by the end of 1971."
"The Senate and House of Representatives will soon vote on bills which will demand we get out of Indochina by 1971."
"We call upon Mrs. Dwyer to support all legislation which calls for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indochina, especially the McGovern Vietnam Disengagement Act and H.R. 1739 and H.R. 4126, which prevent any military operations in Laos and Cambodia."

7 officers re-elected

Benjamin Romano has been reelected chairman of the board of Springfield State Bank. Also reelected were Frank M. Pitt, vice-chairman of the board; Edward W. Moore, president; Albert E. Hartung, vice-president; Jack H. Stifelman, vice-president; Nicholas A. Stabile, treasurer, and Arthur Blivise, secretary. The voting took place during the directors' reorganization meeting last week.

All seven men had served in similar capacities since the bank opened last Jan. 31 in temporary quarters at Hillside avenue at Rt. 22. The bank, which is constructing a new two-story colonial structure that will serve as its permanent main office, finished its first 11 months of operation Dec. 31 with assets of $5.1 million.
Springfield State shareholders reelected the 16-man board of directors during their annual meeting last month. Directors named to new terms are: Charles Beardsley, Arthur Blivise, John Goepfert, Albert Hartung, Bernard Heinzman, Dr. Alan L. Jacobs, Austin Kohl; Moore, Azeglio Pancani, Pitt, Thomas Ricciardi, Romano, Stifelman, James Thurston, Max Weiss and Dr. Eugene Wilkins.

Firm enters a new field

NEW YORK, N. Y., — Publicly-owned ASPI, Inc. (OTC) announced this week that it divested itself of its interest in Aerospace Precision Industries Inc. through an exchange of shares and has acquired privately-owned Harason Enterprises, Ltd., of Springfield, N.J., a move that has given control of ASPI to Harason's principal shareholders. The acquisition involves the exchange of an undisclosed number of ASPI shares.
Tied to the transfer of control is an executive change-over which brings a new management group led by Harvey M. Zelin, president, into the company to direct ASPI's expanded operations. Supporting Zelin in the new ASPI management group are directors Dr. John Ratcliffe, vice-president; Irving Baker, vice-president, and Bernard Mankoff - secretary - treasurer.
"It's the intention of the new management group to shift the company's direction as well as to give it greatly expanded operating scope," Zelin stated. ASPI was formerly active in the aerospace precision instruments field. "Our planned expansion of ASPI will be based on an acquisition program already under way and the continuation of Harason Enterprises' present activities as the company's new frame of reference."
Harason is engaged in the supply of medical products and services. Among Harason's services is a computerized system for electrocardiogram analysis using conventional telephone lines.

A 'mitey' sneeze Blame the bug

THE HOUSE DUST MITE, no bigger than the period that ends this sentence, lives around the house in any cranny or crevice that can collect dust. Tiny though he may be he can cause heap big trouble, says the National Pest Control Association. House dust allergy is second only to pollen allergy, the cause of hay fever, as a medical problem.

It will doubtless surprise no one to know that the plant pollen which brings on the red nose and sneezes of hay fever is the leading cause of allergy in the United States.

But eyebrows will doubtless rise upon learning that the second leading allergy—house dust allergy—is associated with a tiny eight-legged animal no larger than the period at the end of this sentence. Its innocent-sounding name is the house dust mite.

The National Pest Control Association cites as evidence the scientific research it has sponsored in the Acarology Laboratory of Ohio State University's College of Biological Sciences.

There, Dr. G.W. Wharton, the lab director, has carried on years of work on mites and their closely related arthropods, ticks, Dr. Wharton, who reported that allergies arising from house dust make up a full quarter of the practice of doctors specializing in these cases, believes that house dust mites can be found in virtually every American home. Seventy-four carefully vacuumed-up samples from nine widespread states showed mites almost everywhere, Dr. Wharton notes. Although they can thrive upon almost any organic material as food, he notes that dander, or the discarded human skin that continually flakes off into the air or rubs off on clothing, furniture and bedding, is perhaps their favorite.

Mite populations thus can build, providing moisture conditions are appropriate, in such places as overstuffed furniture, bedding and discarded clothes, as well as in the move common environment of cracks and crevices where conventional house dust accumulates.

The allergy that house dust can cause, Dr. Wharton points out, is similar to that which can arise when humans are in close and continuing contact with any one of a variety of insects. Conventional pest control measures, however, are promptly taken against the larger visible pests with ever-increasing efficiency, while the almost invisible mites are unseen and ignored.

But that, Dr. Wharton says, is one of the next targets of his continuing research. He will soon be recommending methods by which commercial pest control operators can collect samples for identification as well as to further research. The next step, he hopes, will be the development of safe and effective chemical or other means of control of mite populations; seen or unseen.

Mites are coming in for increasing attention from entomologists and Dr. Wharton will be one of the key figures at a regional conference of entomologists in Chicago in March. The federal government is also interested in these mites and in its attempt to acquire mites in large numbers for scientific study contracted with Ohio State to grow them.

Since 1968, 2.5 million mites have been sent to the Division of Biologic Standards to help with better specification of commercial house dust extracts.

Scholarship fund set up

A scholarship fund in memory of Daniel L. Kessler has been established at Rutgers University for the Graduate School of Business Administration.

The scholarship will be primarily to aid students who are New Jersey residents enrolled in a graduate program leading to an advanced degree in business administration and who demonstrate financial need.

Mr. Kessler was a native of New Brunswick and one of the founders of Unishops, Inc., in Jersey City. He died early in 1969 of leukemia, and relatives and friends established the Daniel L. Kessler Memorial Foundation in his memory.

At University Heights Campus in Piscataway, the Daniel L. Kessler Teaching Laboratories at Rutgers Medical School, dedicated May 29, 1970, reflect the contributions of the foundation to medical education at the State University.

Red Cross chapter to begin its annual campaign for funds

The Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American National Red Cross will launch its annual fund-raising drive in the Mountainside area on Monday, it was announced this week by Ernest S. Winter, fund chairman.

He stated: "All Red Cross services and programs are financed through voluntary contributions. If it were not for the generosity and complete support of the residents of Mountainside and the United Fund of Westfield, the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter could not have served so efficiently during the past years.

"The Red Cross provides emergency and long-term relief for disaster victims, arms our community with skills in first aid, water safety, and home nursing education, and boosts morale supplied by volunteers and workers among our servicemen and veterans and their families.

"These numerous Red Cross programs and services could not operate so effectively without the willing hands and hearts of over 400 volunteers in our chapter. If the more than 2.3 million Red Cross volunteers were to cease work tomorrow, the nation and this community would surely feel the loss.

"Young people today are deeply concerned with the world in which they live. Through participation in Red Cross Youth programs they have the opportunity to learn how to serve others, how to relate to their groups, and how to gain leadership experience.

"The theme for this campaign is Help Us Help. Helping the Red Cross help others, through your contributions of dollars and time, means an investment that rewards the entire community - now and in the future.

"March is Red Cross month and all residents are urged to join in supporting their local chapter of the American National Red Cross."

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo

For the next few weeks, legislative activity in Trenton will be concentrated on Governor Cahill's budget for 1971. As one who has long advocated economy in government, I was heartened to learn that the proposed budget contemplates no new major taxes for 1971.

In his message to the legislature, Governor Cahill said he had imposed an "austerity" budget upon the state. I regard his decision as altogether fitting and proper in view of the fact that the "little man" in this state has had a personal austerity budget imposed upon himself and his family by the national economy.

I believe the Governor recognized reality when he said the people of this state were "fed up" with newer and higher taxes. In my talks with people from all walks of life, I have come to the same conclusion. More than once people have told me: "We have to live within our personal incomes. Why can't government do the same?"

This should not be interpreted to mean that the state should not continue to provide those essential services that are its responsibility. And, by increasing expenditures in such vital areas as higher education and school aid, I believe the Governor has faced up to his responsibility.

I GREETED the Governor's announcement of a new $25 million program of state aid to 24 cities with mixed emotions. On the one hand, I was pleased that Plainfield would obtain $304,536 in additional state aid. However, I was extremely distressed to discover that Elizabeth, which surely needs more state funds than most cities, will receive only what it had gotten under the existing urban aid program.

Moreover, a case can be made for nearly every community in Union County to receive more money. Union Township, my home town, is the county's second largest community in terms of population. It has, in fact, a larger population than 11 of the 24 cities in line for the added aid. Yet, Union will receive no new aid. Neither will Linden, Railway, or any other municipality in Union County, except Plainfield.

During my three and a half years in the legislature, I have sponsored many bills that have become law. But few have given me more personal satisfaction than S-721, the landmark legislation that wrote revenue-sharing into New Jersey law. Under the 1968 bill I sponsored, up to $25 million in sales tax revenues is given annually to municipalities in the form of direct, no-strings-attached state aid. I believe the time is long past for this $25 million ceiling to be removed from this program. It is clear that the funds are needed and that the state has a responsibility to provide them.

Therefore, I am hopeful that next year the administration will get behind my bill to delete the $25 million limit on the amount of the sales tax return for property tax relief, so that all of the municipalities in this county will get additional revenue to provide some aid to the heavily burdened taxpayer.

ORT sponsoring benefit art festival at Short Hills Mall

The Springfield Chapter of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) will take part in presenting the seventh annual festival of art sponsored by Sections II and III of the North Central Jersey Region in the Short Hills Room at the Mall in Short Hills from Saturday through March 4.

The festival of art will open with a champagne preview for patrons on Saturday from 7 to 11 p.m. The show will be open to the public on Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m.; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.; next Thursday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All general admission tickets are $1 and can be used throughout the run of the show. They are available at the door or from the local art show chairman, Mrs. Howard Bernstein, 379-9315.

Over 350 works of art in all price ranges and media, including oils, watercolors, graphics and sculpture, will be exhibited by galleries and independent artists. All proceeds will benefit the school building project which provides for the construction of new installations throughout the world.

CHERYL L. BOYLE

Miss Boyle to wed Thomas Rannels

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert D. Boyle of 12 Essex rd., Springfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to Thomas Doyle Rannels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom D. Rannels of Newark, Del.

Miss Boyle is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and the University of Delaware. She is a statistician with the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington, D.C.

Her fiancé was graduated from Newark High School and the University of Delaware, where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a student at Georgetown University Law School in Washington, D.C. An August wedding is planned.

June date planned by Dayle R. Seroff

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Seroff of Westfield have announced the engagement of his daughter, Dayle Randy, formerly of Springfield, to Gary Wade Lozier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Lozier of Westfield. Miss Seroff also is the daughter of Mrs. Selma Seroff of New York City.

The couple are graduates of Westfield High School. He is a student at Southern Colorado State College, Pueblo, Colo. A June wedding is planned.

Det. Sgt. Rice slated to present drug talk to Newcomers Club

Det. Sgt. Jerome Rice of the Mountainside police force, will speak about local drug problems at the Mountainside Newcomers Club's March 10 meeting at 12:15 p.m. at the Mountainside Inn. A question and answer period

ELLEN SUE LEVY

Engagement is told of Ellen Sue Levy

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy of 81 Morris ave., Springfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Sue, to Irwin Steinlight of Elizabeth, son of Mrs. Milton Elson of Maplewood and the late Samuel Steinlight.

Miss Levy is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains. She is a dental assistant for a dentist in Springfield.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Weequahic High School, Newark. He attended New York University and Rutgers University and is a veteran of the U. S. Army. He is a territorial manager for the Stiegel Tire Co., Linden. A July wedding is planned.

Hadassah to hold medical program at meeting tonight

Springfield Chapter of Hadassah will meet tonight at 8:15 at Temple Beth Ahm. The Hadassah Medical Organization will be highlighted. Mrs. Mel Bloomfield is fund-raising chairman and Mrs. Carlyn Deitz is donor chairman. Mrs. Aimee Neibart, director of education at Temple Emanuel in Westfield, will bring a tape recorder on which she recorded sounds and impressions of her recent trip to Israel. Mrs. Clifford Schwartz and Mrs. Anthony Deiner are program chairmen.

Mrs. Aaron Kazin, president, reported this week:

"A common antihistamine is being tested at the Hadassah-University Hospital in Jerusalem on so-called psychogenic aborters, women who suffer from stress and lose their babies early. Dr. E. Sadovsky explains that the drug prevents the action of serotonin, an agent in the blood that causes constriction of the blood vessels during stress and can lead to premature labor.

"So far, 20 habitual aborters have given birth to healthy babies at the Hadassah Hospital and several others have passed the sixth month of pregnancy. It will be some time before the drug can be used for this purpose in America since according to law, extensive studies must be carried out in animals."

Charge for Pictures

There is a charge of $5 for wedding and engagement pictures. There is no charge for the announcement, whether with or without a picture. Persons submitting wedding or engagement pictures may enclose the $5 payment or include a note asking that they be billed.

will follow the demonstration, Sgt. Rice has been on the force for 10 years and resides with his wife and four children in Mountainside. He is a member of the New Jersey and the International Narcotics Enforcement Associations and part of the Union County prosecutor's narcotics enforcement team. Rice graduated from the Department of Justice School which is run by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Mrs. Edward Warabow will be day chairman. Preparations are being completed for the Newcomers' annual dinner dance to be held March 13 at the Somerville Inn. A cocktail hour at 7 will be followed by dinner and an evening of dancing to the music of Sal Rio's band. "Surprise entertainment" will be presented by the following committee: Mr. and Mrs. John Kovacs, chairman; William Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. W. Texas Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kierspe, Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Earle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ziobro and Mr. and Mrs. Albert D'Amanda.

Mrs. Donald Garretson, ticket chairman, urged making reservations now for choice seating. Members may invite guests.

"Games people play" was the theme for the Newcomers' February meeting at the Tower Steak House. Mrs. Irvin Krause was the chairman of the day. Elections for the nominating committee to propose a slate of officers for the new board of directors were held at this meeting. Named were (chairman) Mrs. W. Texas Jackson, Mrs. Theodore Burdge, Mrs. Charles Dougherty, Mrs. Albert D'Amanda, Mrs. Scott Schmedel, Mrs. James Taylor and Mrs. Alan Zimbaum. Alternates are Mrs. Joel Landon and Mrs. Henry Ziobro.

Mrs. Charles Price, membership chairman, introduced the following new members: Mrs. Hubert Giordano, Mrs. Ulyessee Le Grange, Mrs. Jesus Perez-Santalla and Mrs. Joseph Walls. Attending their first meeting were Mrs. Albert DiGiorgio, Mrs. Hugh McKay, Mrs. Edward Oels and Mrs. James Rau. Mr. and Mrs. Azeglio Pancani Jr. of 3 Briar Hills circle, Springfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Irene, to Edmund B. Gloriande, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gloriande of Paterson.

Miss Pancani is a graduate of the College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station. She is an elementary teacher in the Springfield school system.

Her fiancé is an administrative staff assistant for Burns and Roe, consulting engineers in Oradell. He will graduate this June from St. Peter's College, Jersey City. A fall wedding is planned.

First child for Kaplans

A six-pound, 10-ounce daughter, Allison Ilene Kaplan, was born Feb. 10 at St. Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kaplan of 82 Garden oval, Springfield. Mrs. Kaplan is the former Renee Marsh of Hillside.

Lourdes Rosarians to hear chaplain of detention center

The Rosary-Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, will hold its March meeting on Monday at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. Sam Moschella will report on details concerning the March Day of Recollection.

Mrs. Thomas Root, program chairman for the evening, will introduce the Rev. Richard J. Garcia, assistant pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Scotch Plains. Father Garcia's topic will be "Two Worlds," an organization of which he is both founder and president. Two Worlds was started in Union County in 1968 and is primarily concerned with the welfare of juvenile offenders and disadvantaged youth. This organization seeks more effective ways to improve communications with young adults, and seeks to help in their adjustment to, and understanding of, the community.

Father Garcia is a graduate of Seton Hall University and Immaculate Conception Major Seminary. He is chaplain to the Union County Juvenile Detention Center as well as Union County director of the youth assistance department for the Mount Carmel Guild.

Sisterhood to hear lecture on the arts

Mrs. George Widom, president of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, has announced that the meetings will start at 8:15 p.m. starting with this Monday's meeting at the temple. Mrs. Donald Perlmutter, program vice-president, has arranged for an illustrated lecture by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, spiritual leader of the congregation. His topic will be "The Image of the Woman in Jewish Art."

The contest chairman, Mrs. Bertram Goldberg, reported that the winner will be awarded a cruise to Nassau. Books will be available at the meeting, according to the ways and means vice-president, Mrs. Sanford Gelwarg. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Saul Schwalb for the fashion show to be presented by the Sisterhood at the temple on March 31.

Mrs. Callen heads planning for dinner

Mrs. Sidney Piller, president, B'nai B'rith Women Springfield Chapter, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Wallace Callen as donor dinner chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Martin Karp.

The committee's goal is to raise funds for the philanthropic projects of B'nai B'rith Women, Northern New Jersey Council, which is sponsoring three successive donor dinners at the Westmount Country Club, West Paterson, on March 3, 9 and 11.

Springfield Chapter will attend on March 9. The dinners will be attended by approximately 3,000 members and their guests, representing 23 chapters in Northern New Jersey Council. Approximately 60 women of Springfield Chapter are expected to attend.

Dads, girls plan pow-wow

Approximately 200 fathers and daughters are expected to attend the Summit Area YMCA Indian Princesses Snow Pow-Wow scheduled for this weekend at the Central New Jersey YMCA camps located near Blairstown.

Activities for the winter weekend will include skating, sledding, and hiking plus Saturday evening council fire program and Sunday non-denominational devotions. Winterized cabins and meals are provided.

There are now 16 Indian Princesses active in Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Springfield, Millburn, and Short Hills, with a total of 214 fathers and daughters in grades 1-3. Chief of the longhouse is Paul Campanella of Summit; medicine man is Larry Twill, also of Summit. David R. Cotten, YMCA extension and camping director, is in charge of the program.

EARLY COPY

Publicity chairmen are urged to observe the Friday deadline for other than spot news. Include your name, address and phone number.

Miss Porter plans wedding in August

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Porter Jr. of Pitt road, Springfield, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Brian Paul O'Sullivan, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. Paul O'Sullivan of Madison.

Miss Porter, a graduate of Immaculate College, Washington, D.C., is a senior at Seton Hall University. Her fiancé graduated from Upsala College and is employed by Chubb and Son, New York City. They plan an August wedding.

Atkins-Blumenfeld engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Atkins of West Orange have announced the engagement of their daughter Diane to Robert Jay Blumenfeld, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Blumenfeld of Springfield.

Miss Atkins, a graduate of West Orange Mountain High School, attends Newark State College and is employed by St. Barnabas Hospital, Livingston. Her fiancé, a graduate of the University of Kentucky and American University Washington College of Law, is affiliated with the law office of J. W. Taylor in East Orange. An August wedding is planned.

Breakaway signs point to saving lives

A coupling device which permits large signs struck by automobiles to collapse without serious damage to vehicles or injury to their occupants will be a standard installation for New Jersey highway projects in the future.

Commissioner John C. Kelli said the device, key component of a breakaway signpost, was developed by the department's design staff and has been approved by the Federal Highway Administration.

Full-scale testing of the breakaway post at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Buffalo, N. Y., has demonstrated its effectiveness, he said.

"I am most gratified by the Federal Highway Administration's action in approving the department's breakaway unit," Kelli said. He added that information on the device will be made generally available for highway safety improvements.

"Even on the most-ideally-engineered highways, vehicles, either through driver error or mechanical failure, occasionally go out of control and strike fixed objects. Last year throughout the nation 6,500 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle collisions with fixed objects," the commissioner said. "Elimination of some of these hazards through application of the breakaway design concept is an invaluable contribution to highway safety."

He commended Richard A. Strizki, engineer in the department's research division, who developed the device after he was assigned the project two years ago.

THE COMMISSIONER SAID that the breakaway unit for which a patent is pending, will, wherever possible, be installed in current highway construction projects. It will be included in all future contracts and every effort will be made to extend its use throughout the state highway system.

A motion picture of the breakaway signpost being tested was made at the Cornell site. The film will be made available to interested organizations with Strizki providing a commentary. Arrangements for showings may be made by writing to the Office of

Jim Bouton to get on the old ball for Library Week '71

Jim Bouton, former pitcher, author of the controversial best-seller "Ball Four" and a sportscaster for ABC-TV, has been named honorary state chairman of Library Week 1971 in New Jersey.

In making the announcement, Edwin Beckerman, president of the New Jersey Library Association and director of the Woodbridge Public Library said, "I am happy to say that this April Jim Bouton will be pitching for New Jersey libraries, instead of the New York Yankees."

Bouton, a resident of Wyckoff, will tour libraries throughout the state during the week-long celebration, April 18 to 24. On April 20 he will visit South Jersey; April 21 will be devoted to tours of North Jersey libraries. Tuesday, April 13, Bouton is expected to meet with Governor William T. Cahill and State Library officials for the signing of the National Library Week proclamation.

New Jersey's National Library Week slogan for 1971 is "Think Libraries." "The motto does not mention books specifically, because libraries in New Jersey are no longer just book warehouses or reading rooms," Beckerman said. They answer thousands of reference questions daily for busy executives, lend framed pictures to young homemakers, sponsor pre-school story hours, provide classroom space for a variety of courses, and circulate films, phonograph records and cassettes for home use.

Information Services, 1035 Parkway ave., Trenton.

Breakaway signposts, which are now mandatory along federal-aid high speed highways, were developed in cooperative federal-state sponsored research at Texas A. & M.'s Transportation Institute beginning in 1963. The Texas post, which has been installed in many states, is designed to slip at its base upon impact and move forward and upward out of a vehicle's path.

"However, the Texas breakaway post, while it represented an impressive breakthrough, has inherent limitations in design and operation which the department sought to overcome. Among them, the Texas post slips at its base only if struck within certain angles of impact. Also, a strong wind could prevent it from slipping effectively," Kelli said.

BECAUSE OF THESE FACTORS, the New Jersey Department of Transportation received approval of the federal highway officials to defer breakaway signpost installations of the Texas type pending further research. The department's device will break when struck from any angle and will withstand winds of up to 80 miles and hour and gusts of over 100 miles an hour. On impact, the breakaway post is carried forward by the vehicle and, as the car continues ahead, a wire cable which connects the top of the two posts supporting the sign swings the broken post away from the car's path.

-Thursday, February 25, 1971-

"Two basic items make this design concept work-as-it-does. They are a load concentrated breakaway coupling (LCBC) and a load concentrated (LC) washer.

The coupling is fashioned from a steel rod four inches long and two inches in diameter. A half-inch wide slot is removed at the center of the coupling. The upper portion of this slot tapers down to about one-fourth of the original diameter to resemble the upper portion of a golf tee. The lower half of the coupling

Strauss Viennese ball at Governor Morris Inn

Recapturing the Vienna of the 19th Century, the Edelweiss-Passaic Folk Dancers will sponsor a Strauss ball on March 6 at the Governor Morris Inn, Morristown. Antique military costumes (one dating to the Franco-Prussian War) and elegant ball gowns (one was worn to the Artists' and Writers' Ball in New York City in 1900) will add to the nostalgia.

The waltz melodies of the Strausses will be provided by an eight-piece string ensemble from the New Jersey Philharmonic Society.

Adding to the aura of the Austria of 100 years ago will be a rare performance of the century-old quadrille. The quadrille, a formal and stylized dance with intricate configurations, has been performed infrequently during the past 60 years.

The Edelweiss-Passaic dancers are past winners of the International dancing contest.

Engraved invitations to the ball, which is open to the public, may be obtained from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Joan Delaney of Montclair 746-9736.

Formation of soot is under study

A research project to determine those engine conditions which result in zero soot formation is underway at Newark College of Engineering.

The study, under the direction of Dr. Leonard Dauerman of Summit, is based on an investigation of the causes and properties of soot formed in space engines utilizing hydrocarbon fuels. A grant of $51,625 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to NCE's Research Foundation is supporting the project.

While space engines are the principal concern, Dr. Dauerman expects the research to have general applications in guiding design engineers in the development of many systems where soot is a problem. Laboratory studies utilizing rapid scanning mass spectrometry and optical spectrometry will lead to results which can be used to make predictions about engine performance.

The formal title of his project is "Soot-Formation in the Methane/Oxygen and Methane/Oxygen/Hydrogen Flames." The NASA contract is administered by the Foundation for the Advancement of Graduate Study in Engineering at NCE.

Dr. Dauerman is an associate professor of chemistry at Newark College of Engineering.

Benefit set to help boys

The 38th annual benefit and fashion show for Bonnie Brae Farm for Boys will be held May 18 and 19. "Back at the Farm" will be the theme.

Bridge tables will be available for persons wishing to play.

Booths will include "The Buttery," "Flower Patch," "Silent Auction," "Dry Goods and Sundry," "Country Crafts," all housed in a "general store."

Bonnie Brae, supported by private funds, has been in operation for 56 years. Over this period it has helped many disturbed boys, who had no other place to turn for the security and help they need in learning to adjust to modern society.

Suede is of durable material, has 'four-season' stylish use

Suede is a leading fashion material this year and can be the nucleus of your wardrobe, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist. A suede garment has four-season use. It goes everywhere in style and travels beautifully the year round. Suede is genuine leather turned inside out and buffed to a soft, velvety nap. Because of the depth of nap, suede garments can have a depth of color that is eye-catching, regardless of how the leather is cut; sewn or styled. Suede thrives on use. The more a suede garment is worn, the richer the patina on the surface becomes. The following suggestions for care of suede will increase use and enjoyment of a suede garment. The frequency of drycleaning of suede will be reduced if the garment is brushed regularly to keep the dust from settling in the nap. Usually most spots and light stains will be removed with brushing. In some instances a soft gum eraser, emeryboard or chalk cleaner will remove the spots. Chalk cleaners in stick or aerosol can be purchased in household or notions departments. Suede garments that are heavily soiled should be dry-cleaned professionally. If the suede garment has a label or tag suggesting special dry-cleaning procedures, it is best to follow these instructions. A suede garment is waterproof. If it gets wet or rain-spotted, allow the garment to dry at room temperature. After it is dry, brush with a terrycloth towel to restore the original appearance. Brush the nap in one direction. Wrinkles in suede garments will disappear after hanging. If they persist, press lightly with an iron at the rayon setting. Use heavy wrapping paper as a press cloth and press on the right side of the garment. If one stores a suede garment for a long period of time, it should be hung in a well ventilated closet. Cover the garment with a cloth to keep the dust from settling on the nap. Do not place the garment in a plastic bag for this keeps out air. And like all leather, suede needs to breathe. Questions on care of leather will be answered by calling Miss Yuknus at 233-9366.

Inaccurate measuring is problem

At one time or another it has happened to us all, says Mary E. Weaver. A recipe is carefully prepared, and yet it fails. Often the problem is due to improper measuring of ingredients, dry or liquid. This is particularly true in baking. To make sure of success, use standard measuring spoons and cups and measure carefully. Therefore, it would be wise to keep the following information in mind.

Dry ingredients such as flour and sugar should always be measured in aluminum or plastic measuring cups which are marked accurately as to capacity. Never measure dry ingredients in glass, which is used for liquid, or use china tea cups for measuring.

Always measure liquid ingredients at eye level (not overhead or on the table) in a glass measuring cup. For small amounts you might prefer to use a tablespoon. It might be worth memorizing: An eight ounce measuring cup equals 16 tablespoons; one ounce is two tablespoons; one-quarter of a cup is four tablespoons.

Never sift flour directly into the measuring cup. Pockets of air may form which could weaken your efforts. Instead, flour should be sifted on to a piece of waxed paper or aluminum foil, then measure out what you need.

Never pack flour into a measuring cup or measuring spoon. Spoon or scoop it lightly into a cup and level the top with the edge of a spatula of straight edged knife.

Brown sugar should always be pressed firmly into the measuring cup with the back of a spoon. It should hold its shape when turned out of the cup.

Always remember to measure out flat spoonfuls of dry ingredients - never heaping spoonfuls. Level with the edge of the spatula. It is good to remember that table cutlery is not for measuring and should not be used for that purpose. Such ingredients as flavorings should never be measured directly over the bowl. There might be some spillage which could affect your measuring.

Try always to measure accurately. The success of your product depends on accuracy.

Beth Israel gets a major U. S. research grant

DR. MARVIN A. KIRSCHNER

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center has been awarded a major research grant from the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., it was announced this week by Lester M. Bornstein, executive director.

The three-year grant for $81,200 was awarded to Dr. Marvin A. Kirschner, director of medicine, to explore the "Diagnostic Potential of Combined Ovarian and Adrenal Catheterization." Dr. Kirschner has been involved with the project for three years.

"This new approach of direct sampling of blood from the hormone producing glands in the body, will help us better define the kinetics of hormone secretion in normal and abnormal conditions," Dr. Kirschner stated. Further, hormone analysis of blood samples obtained from an adrenal or ovarian catheterization procedure may enable physicians to localize the sites of endocrine abnormalities, he added.

In the case of a woman who is making too much male hormone, this technique has already proved helpful in locating the site where the extra hormones are being produced. The male hormone, or testosterone, is often the cause of excessive facial and body hair in women. Determining the site of testosterone production causing the masculinization will permit a more rational program of therapy in such patients.

Working with Dr. Kirschner on the research project are Dr. I. Richard Zucker, chief of the cardiac catheterization laboratory and director of cardiodynamics, and Miss Joanna Taylor, research associate in the department of medicine.

Prior to coming to Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, Dr. Kirschner served on the staff of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, where he was the senior investigator of the Institute's endocrinology branch. He is a graduate of Cornell University, the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and is an associate professor of medicine at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Newark.

Dr. Zucker is a member of the pacemaker team at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center and is a clinical assistant professor of medicine at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, a voluntary, non-profit institution, is a member of the Jewish Community Council of Essex County, a beneficiary of the annual United Jewish Appeal campaign and a member agency of the United Community Fund of Essex and West Hudson.

Change improving college teacher-training courses

Change is improving the education of New Jersey teachers. The state's colleges are developing new ways to produce teachers ready for immediate effectiveness in any type of public-school classroom.

Until recently, reports the New Jersey Education Association, education majors spent most of their time on the campus studying theory. The new trend is toward more practical "laboratory" or "field" experience -- often in the big cities -- backed up by down-to-earth seminars on campus.

These practical experiences, reports the current issue of the NJEA Review, take the student off-campus for prolonged periods, involve him in community as well as educational projects, and put him in contact with children in a variety of ways -- in hospitals and guidance centers as well as classrooms.

Some of the colleges are making special efforts to produce teachers for big-city schools, the NJEA Review reports. Montclair State College entered a special arrangement with Newark; William Paterson College with the city of Paterson; and Upsala with East Orange. In addition, William Paterson College has begun training teachers through its Black Studies Institute.

At least three colleges have reorganized their teacher-education programs. Montclair and Paterson have each established a new School of Education. Rutgers University has decentralized its teacher training, shifting control away from the Graduate School of Education to the University's undergraduate colleges. Seton Hall University has established a new curriculum that gives "early involvement in teaching situations" to all education majors. Beginning in the freshman or sophomore year, students "work tutorially with individuals and small groups in more than 30 high schools and assist regular teachers in leading class discussions, aiding in research, and promoting interests outside the classroom," says the NJEA Review. In addition, a new course combines classroom instruction with at least 15 hours of "practical field experiences in the schools and community agencies -- principally in urban areas."

Rider College has created a short "inter-session" between the fall and spring experience in a public school "observing classes and the operation and activities of the total school environment." Rider students get other field experiences in their education courses. At Fairleigh Dickinson University, "work experience in urban and suburban communities" now forms the core of teacher training -- from one day per week in the freshman year to five in the senior year. By the end of his second year, the student has worked as a teacher aide at four elementary levels in four different urban and suburban schools.

Montclair State College has developed "a variety of paths" for a prospective teacher to follow, including a five-year program requiring five weeks of public-school or community-agency work and a full semester as a paid intern in a public-school classroom.

William Paterson College has established a "professional semester" to give field experiences to secondary majors and has set up "professional centers" in seven North Jersey school districts where college students get special classroom experience before they begin their regular practice teaching. Upsala College has started an intern program that doubles the time future teachers spend in public-school classrooms. Upsala interns begin their senior year with two weeks of actual practice teaching. Thereafter, until March, they divide their time between actual classroom work and college seminars dealing with instruction. In mid-March, they return to classroom teaching five days per week.

"Teachers in training will spend more time out in the field experiencing real school situations," the NJEA Review article predicts. "The world and our society are evolving rapidly. Education and other institutions must adjust."

Instruction series on metal cutting

A lecture series on metal cutting and overlaying began last night and will continue on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9:30 through April 28 at the Little Theater College Center Building, Newark State College.

The lecture series is the ninth annual instruction series available to the public and sponsored by the American Welding Society. The subject choice complements previous offerings in the series and will emphasize the practical aspects of metal cutting, and overlaying, a spokesman said.

Those interested in registering for the series may contact Boris Krantz, Airco Central Research Lab, Mountain Avenue, Murray Hill. Fee for the course is $15 for AWS members and $20 for non-members.

Nursing school plans open house for men

The School of Nursing of Kings County Hospital Center is holding an open house for men at the nurses' residence on Thursday, March 25, from 1 to 4 p.m. The theme will be "The Role of Men in Nursing."

The program will feature a panel discussion of the various areas of special interest to men. The school, which is located at Clarkson and New York avenues, Brooklyn, offers a two-and-a-half year program leading to a diploma in nursing. Further information is available from Miss Mary-Ann Moran, R.N., recruitment officer.

PS wants to sell bonds

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. has filed a petition with the N.J. Board of Public Utility Commissioners for authority to issue and sell 500,000 shares of a new series of cumulative preferred stock (par value $100 per share) and $70,000,000 principal amount of its First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, to be dated May 15, 1971, and to mature May 15, 2001.

It is expected that the preferred stock will be offered to the public in mid-March through underwriters on a negotiated basis, and that the bonds will be sold in May. The proceeds from the two security issues will be used for general corporate purposes, including the payment of a portion of construction costs and the repayment of short term obligations.

Gallery exhibits film shot on moon

NEW YORK CITY -- Much of what the Apollo 14 astronauts accomplished on the moon can be seen at the Kodak Gallery and Photo Information Center, 1133 Avenue of the Americas (at 43rd street).

In conjunction with the spectacular display of the "Moon Colorama" at Grand Central Station, a special exhibit has been installed in the Kodak Gallery to run until April 6. One of the featured items in the exhibit is a print of the first 16mm-movie film shot on the moon. The film will be shown continuously throughout the day.

Chorus auditions

Auditions for membership in The Masterwork Chorus will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, at Masterwork Headquarters, 300 Mendham rd., Morristown.

Henwood and Rooney named to epilepsy posts

Two key executive positions with the New Jersey Chapter, Epilepsy Foundation of America, were filled this week, according to James F. White, president.
The positions, community relations director and public information director, were filled by Robert E. Rooney, Jr. of Union and Earl C. Henwood of Union, respectively.
Rooney, who resides at 428 Durling rd., is a cashier's division clerk in the treasurer's office at Public Service Electric and Gas Co. Born in Brooklyn, he attended Seton Hall University and Rutgers University.
Active in civic affairs, Rooney is executive director of the Union County Young Republicans; a charter member of the Union County Chapter of the Epilepsy Foundation, and is a member of the Green Lane Civic Association and Public Service Athletic Association. In his position as community relations director, Rooney will be responsible for coordinating the efforts of local groups with the state effort.
The Epilepsy Foundation's new public relations director is employed as the production manager of the Stuyvesant Offset Co. in Union.
Also active in civic affairs, Henwood is president of the Young Republican Club of Union; a member of the Union Township Environmental Pollution Control Committee; the Graphic Arts Advisory Committee of the Union Board of Education; Newark Manpower Skills Center Advisory Committee on Graphic Arts, and vice-president of the Union County Chapter of the Epilepsy Foundation.
Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Henwood attended Temple University and served four years with the United States Air Force.
As public information director, he will be responsible for disseminating through the news media activities of the state chapter.
"We feel," said state president White, "that placing these two energetic volunteers in key positions on a state level, will enable us to move ahead quickly. The Epilepsy Foundation is only a neophyte in terms of public education and community relations and we will be counting on these two men to ease our burden."

Safeguarding marine life through years of research.

A Better Environment is Our Business Too!
Near the construction site of our Salem Nuclear Generating Station on the Delaware River, a team of biologists is carrying out an extensive marine life survey. The study started in 1968 and will continue for several years after the station goes into operation.
Fish are being caught, daily, counted, identified and studied. Certain species of fish are tagged so their migration patterns can be learned. A small number undergo laboratory analysis. In addition, samples of vegetation and plankton from the river and nearby creeks are taken so that every form of marine life is included in this study.
All this is being done by Public Service to help safeguard the ecology of the river and to provide scientific proof that marine life in the area of our Salem station will remain essentially unchanged. It's one more way of saying we believe "a better environment is our business, too!"

4-H makes urban sounds Music clubs help reach kids

Underground Funk, The Cautions, The Young Souls, The DebTones. When small groups of boys from city neighborhoods of Union County got together, these are the names they took. But these aren't street gangs -- they're the names of some of Union County's new 4-H music clubs. The man behind this different look in Union County 4-H is Romando (Ray) James, 4-H agent with the Cooperative Extension Service since July. "4-H groups and projects can give status to kids who have never had it," he says. "The different activities give them something to look forward to."

NEW WORLDS THROUGH 4-H -- Romando James, 4-H agent in Union County, examines the sewing notions bag that Sherry Coffield is stitching up at the 4-H Opportunity Sewing Center in the Elizabethtown section of Elizabethtown. Sherry is one of hundreds of inner city youngsters who use the center daily to make and mend their own clothes and to learn how to make articles for sale.

RAY KNOWS WHAT he's talking about; he's worked with teens before. After his graduation from Florida A&M University he taught fifth grade in Sarasota, Fla. His assignment in the army as information specialist also included organizing youth programs for the children of army professionals. Following his army duty he served as program director for the Boys Clubs of America in Newark. He was a substitute teacher in Newark, and later joined the Jersey City public school system as a full-time teacher. He continued his education at Jersey City State College, and was awarded an M. A. in education and reading in 1968. He is now studying for a Ph.D. in urban planning at Rutgers.

"I'VE FOUND THAT one way to reach these kids is through music," he says. "They're really concerned about music, and they practice all the time." Ray first became acquainted with many of these musical groups after he organized "Your Musical City." This was a caravan of bands in inner-city areas which played engagements, mostly on a volunteer basis, in Jersey City, Newark, Plainfield, Bayonne and Elizabeth.

By inducing these music groups to join the 4-H program, Ray has helped the kids continue their fun and gain more exposure, too. The Underground Funk, a seven-member band led by 4-H leader Harold "Butch" Banks of Plainfield, won first place in a 4-H competition, the Union County Multi-Service Festival. "These kids are really motivated," Ray says. "They're read about other groups making it through music and that's what they're working for in the long run."

BESIDES BUILDING the reputation of the music group, the 4-H activities are good for individuals in the group too, as they mingle with other kids. "A Little Bit of Heaven and a Lot of Hell" is an improbable name for a 4-H project, but another of Ray's clubs thought it described their project best. This project is part of the activities of the 4-H Playmakers Guild, a group that meets in back of Elizabeth's Little City Hall at 169 First St. Ray's undergraduate degree in drama has come in handy here.

"A Little Bit..." is a play about the dangers of VD, and it was written by the 4-H Club members. The 20 guys and girls in the cast write all their own material and produce it for community groups. They performed "A Little Bit" last fall during Senior Member Camp at the Rutgers 4-H Youth Center for Outdoor Education in Stokes State Forest. Other plays have been done on narcotics and equally pertinent topics.

THE 4-H OPPORTUNITY Sewing Center at 173 First St., Elizabethtown, is another of Ray's projects. It's a self-help project that's been available to the community since July. Mrs. Esther Coffield of Elizabethtown, manages it. Mrs. Joseph Rinderer of 122 Sterling Pl.,

Astronomy course to begin March 8

An advanced astronomy course will be offered at Union College beginning March 8 at 8 p.m. The eight-week course at the William Miller Sperry Observatory is sponsored by Amateur Astronomers, Inc. Topics to be covered in the course include Time and Celestial Coordinates, Telescopes and Accessories, Constellations, Forces in the Universe, Spectroscopy, Peculiar Stars, Radio Astronomy and Space Probes. Most of the students in the advanced course will be persons who are enrolled in a basic astronomy course offered last fall at the Observatory. Some background in astronomy is recommended for all others planning to enroll in the course, according to Patrick J. White of Mountside. Enrollment is limited to 35 students. Registration deadline is March 1. All applications should be accompanied by a $15 tuition fee.

$1,887,000 in N. J. budget for county higher education

Gov. William Cahill's 1971 budget submitted to the legislature on Feb. 16 includes $1,887,000 in state aid to Union County for higher education. It was reported this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education. Dr. MacKay said the $1,887,000 appropriation for the 1971-72 academic year will support 3,145 full-time equivalent students; 2,400 at Union College, Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield, and 745 at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains. The state funds will be provided to Union College and Union County Technical Institute under contract with the Coordinating Agency to provide programs at the two-year college-level in lieu of a County College, Dr. MacKay said. Union College provides transfer programs leading to the Associate in Arts degrees in liberal arts, engineering, life science, physical science, business administration, education, and law enforcement as well as non-credit programs in continuing education for adults. TWO-YEAR PROGRAMS leading to associate in applied science degrees conferred by Union College are provided by Union County Technical Institute in chemical technology, civil technology, electro-mechanical technology, electronic technology, mechanical technology, dental hygiene, medical laboratory technology, data processing accounting, and data processing/computer programming.

Union College also offers pre-engineering and pre-science programs, a program for first year nursing students from Elizabethtown and Perth Amboy General Hospitals, and an Educational Opportunity Fund Project for educationally and economically disadvantaged students. Other programs available at Union County Technical Institute are: Pre-business, pre-health, and pre-technical, and one-year certificate programs for library assistants, medical secretaries, technical secretaries, dental assistants, medical assistants, and practical nurses. With the funds provided by the state as well as those appropriated by the Union County Board of Freeholders, the tuition for full-time students from Union County will remain at $300 a year or $150 a semester at both Union College and Union County Technical Institute, Dr. MacKay said. The tuition for part-time students at Union College will remain at $12 a credit per each semester, while the tuition for part-time students at Union County Technical Institute will remain at $9 a credit hour each semester.

ONTO EVERY CAR A LITTLE RAIN, SNOW, OR SLEET MUST FALL.

Life for an automobile is not all palm trees, polo ponies and white sandy beaches as some car ads would lead you to believe. With a Volvo, you can accept life as it is. For better and for worse. For instance, every Volvo we send out into the world is covered with six coats of paint and primer, instead of a ton of chrome. This is one of the reasons why 9 out of every 10 Volvos registered here in the last eleven years are still on the road. Naturally, we can't guarantee every Volvo we sell will last eleven years. That's life.

7 live wires take course

Seven journeyman electricians have been enrolled in two-year heavy-duty cable splicing course, sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, according to Richard Kay of North Plainfield, director.

The students, all members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 675, Elizabethtown, meet two nights a week to take the cable splicing course at UCTI, one of the few places in New Jersey where the course is taught.

Kay explained the course involves working with high voltage, high powered cables with copper diameters of four inches. After the cable is spliced, it must be covered with solder, insulated and then covered with tape, while still retaining the strong currency of the original cable.

Presently, few persons in the state are qualified to perform this process completely. Those who are usually work as consultants for electrical firms.

The UCTI course is taught by Robert Mumm of Elizabethtown, also a member of Local 675.
