TO FIGHT NARCOTICS USE -- Mrs. Arthur Tonnesen (right), first vice-president of the Mountainside Woman's Club, presents a check for $200 to Mayor Thomas Ricciardi to aid the newly formed Mayor's Advisory Committee on Narcotics as Mrs. Donald Hancock, the club's president, looks on. The committee is preparing a booklet containing information concerning current drug problems for parents and children.

A new chapter will open for Our Lady of Lourdes

This fall, Our Lady of Lourdes School, Mountainside, will start a new chapter in Catholic education in this area, with a staff of lay educators. In June, the Dominican Sisters of Caldwell, who have served the community for 10 years will be leaving.

A church spokesman stated: "When the Rev. Gerald J. McGarry, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, learned of this decision, he appointed a task force to study the situation and make recommendations. The task force learned that Our Lady of Lourdes was not in a unique position, that scores of schools were closing in New Jersey and throughout the country. Many of them were just closing their doors on religious education as a thing of the past. But this group was charged with Our Lady of Lourdes's situation, not those of other parishes."

"What would become of the property valued over $300,000 if not used for education? What advantage would it be to the present and past residents of Mountainside who have sacrificed for years to build the plant to allow it to lie fallow with no immediate use in sight? They were aware that the school is an integral part of the community. "Many people moving into Mountainside base their decisions on the choice of schools both parochial and public. After studying the situation in detail the task force recommended that Our Lady of Lourdes take a 'giant step' and come up with a formula for running the school staffed with lay people."

"IN NOVEMBER, Father McGarry announced his decision. Our Lady of Lourdes would remain the center for Catholic elementary education in Mountainside with the services of a Dominican nun to ensure the religious education of the students. "A school board was selected to plan and implement the decision. The board, under the leadership of Rudy Krafack set about interviewing applicants for principal and other lay teachers. Last month it announced the appointment of Robert Pellegrino of Bloomfield as principal. Since then many ideas for expanded curriculum have been explored and some accepted."

"For instance, there will be a science program for each grade with supplementary programs for the more advanced child. New equipment and new teaching techniques will be used

Leaguers going door-to-door in annual drive

Doorbells will be ringing on May 22 after 2 p.m. as the Little Leaguers of Mountainside conduct their annual fund drive. Little League is in full swing now in Mountainside and there are over 350 boys involved. The three leagues are each under the leadership of a president who donates his time and energy for the benefit to the boys.

The American League comes under the leadership of Ben Merdo. This league consists of six teams for boys in the 8-9-year-old bracket. The teams are Indians, Senators, Twins, Red Sox, Tigers and Yankees. The National League consisting of 10, 11 and 12-year-olds has Gene Kelly as its president and the teams are Cardinals, Giants, Braves, Dodgers, Mets and Pirates.

The Major League teams, which are the official Little League teams also include 10, 11 and 12-year-old boys. Harry Heide is president of this league, whose teams are the Mountaineers, Mustangs, Blue Sox, Vikings, Pioneers and Chiefs.

Harry Irwin, chairman of the Mountainside Little League expressed the hope that "all Mountainside residents sense the need of the public in this fund-raising endeavor and will give generously when the boys arrive at your doorstep. All contributors will receive a copy of the Little League program for the year. Any checks are to be made out to: Mountainside Little League, Inc. c/o William Styler, 300 Old Tote rd., Mountainside."

Students' concert, installation event for borough's PTA

The last general meeting of the Mountainside PTA for the school year will be held tonight at 8 in the Deerfield School gym.

This program will feature the Middle School music department, including the Boys' and Girls' Glee Club and the Larkettes under the direction of the vocal music teacher, Thomas Wallace.

The Middle School Band under the direction of the instrumental music teacher, Charles Guinta, will also perform.

In the business portion of the meeting, the new PTA officers for 1971-72 will be installed by Mrs. Joan Lasher, a past PTA president. The incoming officers will be: president, Mrs. Kathryn Dillemuith; executive vice-president, Mrs. Ronnie Krause; Echobrook vice-president, John O'Connell; Beechwood vice-president, Mrs. Bruce Talcott; Deerfield Elementary vice-president, Mrs. Edith Kluczewicz; Deerfield Middle School vice-president, Mrs. Eleanor Burke; treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Young; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joan Krystow; recording secretary, Mrs. Ann Callahan.

Convention held by student group

The second annual convention of the New Jersey Federation of Students of German was held Saturday at Monmouth College, West Long Branch. Approximately 300 students from high schools and colleges in New Jersey were in attendance.

Presiding over the day's events was Joanne Holcombe of Ledgewood road, Mountainside, president of the New Jersey Federation of Students of German. Miss Holcombe is a senior at Gov. Livingston Regional High School. Her advisor and sponsor was Mrs. Barbara Oberding of Mountainside, German teacher at Gov. Livingston.

Activities of the day included a German church service conducted by the Rev. Leopold Schneider of Elizabeth and workshops in: German cooking, demonstrated by Mrs. R. Kaiser-

Palmer raps Ricciardi on referendum

Decision to 'sit back' described as a sell-out

"Mayor Thomas Ricciardi's decision not to exercise leadership in the recent Regional High School bond referendum was a sell-out," John H. Palmer Jr., president of the Mountainside Independent Democrats, declared this week.

Palmer said, "In our opinion, Mayor Ricciardi anesthetized the power of his office and the Borough Council because of a few vocal residents who convinced him that there was great support in our town for the referendum. Although no one could have accurately forecast the final vote (1,620 noes to 197 yeases), our mayor again lacked the courage needed to lead the cause of the people of Mountainside. He played politics but, unfortunately for our children, not smart politics."

"His political move was to sit back and let still another citizens' group carry the ball."

"Under the able leadership of Russ Cardoni and Fred Wilhelm, the citizens' group tried to spread the word to our own residents and the voters in the other communities. They are working under severe handicaps because they did not have the 'official' support of the mayor, the council or the Board of Education. The other communities, not having been convinced of the shortcomings of the referendum, sent home flyers and bulletins with their school children favoring the referendum."

Palmer said, "If the Mayor, council and the Board of Education took a firm stand and worked at it they could have convinced the elected officials of Clark, Kenilworth and Garwood to support Mountainside and help defeat the referendum."

Palmer continued, "In the March 25 issue of our local papers we wrote, 'We call upon the mayor to work with the representatives of our neighboring communities to organize the defeat of this referendum once again. It's time for the mayor to publicly support Dr. Minor C.K. Jones in his lonely effort to gain what's right for Mountainside.'"

"In the 1970 referendum, the mayor of Kenilworth offered the power of his office to fight for Mountainside but our governing officials again saw fit to sit on the sidelines and do nothing."

"Why do we have a mayor? Why do we have a council and a Board of Education if they are not willing to fight for Mountainside's problems. Now we are faced with the two major communities who benefited most from this referendum actively working for the dissolution of the regional system."

"Was our mayor playing the country gentleman's role? If so, Mr. Mayor, those days are gone forever. When it comes to our children being forced out of 'their' school and our tax money being used for an effort that solves nothing, we feel our mayor should have put on the boxing gloves and started slugging in the first round," Palmer concluded by saying, "In the coming November election Mountainside will have the opportunity to elect a mayor who will serve until 1976. Mountainside will elect Thomas Loftus for mayor and David Walsh and Edward Reisdorf to the council to insure that our community gets the leadership it deserves and needs."

SUCCESSFUL TO LOVE -- Thornton Wilder's 'The Matchmaker' will be presented tomorrow and Saturday by the students of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. Shown rehearsing are Nancy Parent as Mrs. Dolly Levi, the widow from Westchester, and Michael King as Horace Van Dergelder, who finally succumbs to Mrs. Levi's matchmaking plans, as Suzanne Snell as Irene Malloy watches with glee. All three students are from Mountainside. The play, which also ran on Broadway as 'Hello Dolly' for seven years as a musical, is directed by Norman Schneider and produced by Robert Nagel.

PROFILE--Mrs. Douglas E. Tuttle

Mrs. Douglas E. Tuttle of Mountainside, president of the Westfield Chapter of Church Women United, recently returned from "the most inspirational, challenging, educational and thrilling experience I have ever had." This was the international, interracial and interfaith Ecumenical Assembly in Wichita, Kan.

Mrs. Tuttle said that more than 2,000 women attended the assembly. They ranged in age from children in native costumes to teens, to young marrieds, to women in their 90s. Despite the differences in age and religion "there was a feeling of love and concern for each other," she commented.

The theme of the assembly was "breakthrough." Mrs. Tuttle explained that this means "a breakthrough of faith into the everyday world and into the future. To bring humanity to a better understanding of each other and better conditions for all."

The Ecumenical Assembly meets every three years to elect officers and "gain new directions. It tries to bring new trends and areas in which local chapters should be working," she declared. This includes "shaping new social structures," such as race relations and health care, Mrs. Tuttle added.

Mrs. Tuttle said that there is no problem with interracial relations in the international organization. She commented, "There is a high percentage of blacks in the organization. We treat each other as persons. There is no prejudice. Mrs. Martin Harvey, a black woman from Jackson, Miss., is the new president."

THE TWO MAIN GOALS of the international organization are women and peace, Mrs. Tuttle said. She then explained what these are. She commented, "The goal for women is to call for open opportunities for women in translation so they can develop their full potential."

Chapel to install pastor Sunday

The Rev. Ronald S. Bence will be installed as pastor of the Mountainside Union Chapel, Mountainside, in ceremonies Sunday at 3 p.m. at the church.

Mr. Bence is a graduate of the Northeastern Collegiate Bible Institute, Essex Fells, where he received his bachelor's degree in religious education in 1969 and his bachelor's degree in theology the following year. While studying he also served as youth director of the First Baptist Church of Passaic. Before becoming the pastor in Mountainside, Mr. Bence was the minister of youth and assistant to the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Asbury Park.

Ministers from various churches in the area have been invited to participate at the installation. They include the Rev. C. F. Groszalt of the Clinton Hill Baptist Church, Union; the Rev. James Kallam and the Rev. Wesley Olsen of the Northeastern Collegiate Bible Institute; the Rev. William Schmidt, Jr. of the Evangel. Baptist Church, Springfield, and the Rev. Raymond Brower of the First Baptist Church, Woodbury.

Board says negotiations are finished

No faculty to lose jobs because of budget cuts

By JANICE ADLER

Contract negotiations for the 1971-1972 school year between the Mountainside Board of Education and the Mountainside Teachers Association have been completed, board member William Biunno disclosed Tuesday at the board meeting at the Deerfield School.

Biunno was speaking for negotiating chairman Tom Spina who was absent. He said committees for both sides have agreed upon contract terms and that the final document will be submitted to both sides for ratification. "We hope to have a complete report next month," Biunno added.

During the public session a question was asked regarding the $169,080 budget cut. A woman asked if any teachers who are presently in the system will be out of jobs and which services will be cut.

Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools, said that no one who is presently on the staff will lose his job. This is because there have been enough resignations, he added.

Grant Lennox, board president, mentioned some of the services that will have to be cut. They include the piano program, certain field trips that had been planned (but not the ones already in existence), curriculum work for teachers during school holidays and the summer, civic activities that use the facilities at Deerfield and the summer school enrichment program.

The latter brought heated protests from the floor. Comments were made that the enrichment program is necessary for a good school system and that the youngsters will be deprived of an opportunity to increase their knowledge and become better rounded persons.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Hanigan said the summer school program will only provide for increasing basic skills, such as reading and mathematics. The fee will be $20 per subject per child.

In a 4-1 vote the board approved paying compensation to teachers who were assigned student teachers during the year. Spina and Jim Taylor were absent. Mrs. Patricia Knodel cast the dissenting vote. She said she dis-

Community Pool picks coaches, sets registration dates

The Mountainside Community Pool this week announced the appointment of its swim coaches, Howard D. Dimond Jr. and Susan Schmidt. Dimond, the head coach, is a recent graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. While swimming for Newark Academy of Livingston, he held the New Jersey Independent Schools Athletic Association record in the breaststroke and served as president of the Westfield Leaders Corps.

Dimond is a certified Red Cross instructor and has instructed at the Westfield YMCA and the Ash Brook Swim Club. At the Y he was also associated with the competitive swim school. In September, Dimond will enter the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine.

Miss Schmidt recently completed a season as assistant coach with the Union Boys' Club Swim Team. Her swimming achievements include three state age group records in the backstroke and the distinction of holding times ranked third in the nation. She also holds a Senior Life Saving Certificate. Miss Schmidt will enter her senior year at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in September.

REGISTRATION FOR the Community Pool swim team will be held on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 29, 30 and 31 at the swim club. All those wishing to participate in this year's activities are eligible to register in person at this time. Parental permission is required in writing.

A fee of 50 cents will be charged per individual for the season to cover part of the swim team's expenses. Pool spokesmen urged last year's members and all others with interest to take advantage of this opportunity, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. A meeting will be held in the afternoon of Monday May 31, at the pool for registered members to meet the new coaches.

Speakers selected for commencement

Ruth Gutman and Bill Lovett have been selected to give commencement speeches at the Gov. Livingston Regional High School graduation exercises on June 23, according to Frederick Aho, principal.

Competition to give a commencement speech is open to all seniors. All seniors who entered the competition submitted a written speech which was judged by a committee of faculty members. From all the speeches entered, the faculty committee narrowed the choices down to five finalists. The other finalists were Barbara Hoffert, Eric Kushnik, and Bruce Mullin.

Each of the finalists gave an oral presentation of their speech to a combined assembly of the junior and senior classes. Following the assembly the seniors voted for their two choices.

MRS. DOUGLAS E. TUTTLE

This is based on the rights of women, who should be more involved in policy making.

"We also issued a call to engage in peace building. A prayer service for peace, with more than 2,000 women participating, was held at the assembly. We are writing to government leaders to urge withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of the year."

Mrs. Tuttle told about some of the activities at the assembly. There were two panel discussions and a dance program which stood out in her memory.

She said, "Scientists held a panel on future developments that will change the course of our lives. One told about experiments with the human mind. He said we only use five percent of our potential. He told how scientists have cured migraines, controlled skin temperature

Borough lists openings, exams for patrolmen

The Mountainside Police Department is accepting applications for appointment as patrolmen. The starting salary is $9,500, increasing to $11,300 after three years. An examination will be held on Wednesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Deerfield School. Applicants must be between 21 and 35 years old, at least 5 feet 8 inches and must have lived in Union County for at least two years. Benefits include vacation, paid medical and hospitalization insurance, 10 paid holidays and longevity pay. Application can be picked up at police headquarters.

TAPING THEIR LESSONS—A group of 13 and 14-year-old Springfield students visited Bell Laboratories, Murry Hill, to interview a group of scientists about lasers. Bell Labs has many such visits. However, these interviewers came in with their own videotaping equipment and taped a one-hour lab tour and interview with scientists Morton Panish, Izuo Hayashi and Elhanon Pinkas. The student, Eli Shapiro, Craig Kozan, Sylvia Promataroff, Drew Shulman and Gene Meyer, attend the Florence Gaudineer School. Along with Ronald Brown, the school's TV workshop instructor, they have visited various places on request assignment from teachers to get videotape interviews for instructional aids in their school. Recently they interviewed actor William Shatner at the Papermill Playhouse in Millburn. Their next goal is to meet and tape the Mets' Tom Seaver at Shea Stadium.

Five to be confirmed Sunday at Emanuel Methodist Church

Five youths will be confirmed by Pastor James Dewart at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday at Springfield Emanuel United Methodist Church, Church Mall at Academy Green.

The young people have been studying since October of 1970 in preparation for becoming members of the congregation. Included in the class are: Bonnie Farber, Dolores Holler, David W. Brown Jr., Thomas Moen, and Richard Reimlinger.

Temple teenagers to spend weekend at Boston conclave

Approximately 30 members of the Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, Youth Group, along with chaperones, this weekend will board a chartered bus to attend their 12th annual interfaith, interracial youth conclave. It was announced jointly by Alan Kampf, temple youth committee chairman, and Judie Leventhal, Youth Group advisor.

The young people to be confirmed will participate in the worship service, and will also assist in the sermon: "What is the Church?" William Rosset, chairman of evangelism, will share in the confirmation service, as will the parents of the confirmands. Immediately following the service the young people will be welcomed into the church by members of the congregation in a reception line. They will receive the sacrament of Holy Communion as a class on Sunday, June 6, at the 11 a.m. service.

The host congregation for this year is the First Unitarian Society of Upton, Mass. Other participating groups will be from the African Methodist Episcopal Church of Boston, in Roxbury, Mass., the Congregationalist Church, Andover, Mass., and foreign students of the American Field Service Group.

Traditionally a gift is presented by the confirmation class to the church, this year it is one of the paraments for the Trivet Chapel, which will be dedicated on June 6. Each member of the class will also receive a gift on confirmation Sunday from the congregation—personal copy of the Methodist Hymnal.

This year's theme will be "Ecology and the Environment," and there will be discussion groups and social functions throughout the weekend.

Church School will meet at 9:30 a.m. with classes from nursery through senior high. The German language worship service will be conducted by Emanuel Schwing, lay pastor, whose sermon will be entitled, "A Stern Schoolmaster," based on Psalm 119:71.

The conclave had its beginning in January, 1960, when the first two groups met in Springfield in the first "dialogue." The conclave now has five participating groups, and the site rotates among the groups each year. The Temple Sharey Shalom Youth Group is a member of the Jersey Federation of Temple Youth, an arm of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Sunday evening at 6:30, the Senior High Youth of Union, Summit, and Springfield will entertain their parents at a covered dish supper in Fellowship Hall of the Springfield Church.

TO PURCHASE FILM—Lt. Joseph Mazur of the Mountainside Police Department accepts a check from Mrs. Edward Hafeken, community services chairman of the Mountainside Foothill Club, on behalf of the Union County Safety Officers Association. The money will be used to purchase a safety film which will be shown in the borough's schools. Also shown are, left to right, Mrs. Edward J. Wolf, incoming president, Mrs. Neil Clover, outgoing president, and Mrs. Russell Lausten, vice-president of the borough's Girls Softball League.

Charges of assault are traded in fight at riding stables

Charges and counter-charges were filed following a fight May 2 at the Sky Top Stables at 1340 Summit lane, Mountainside, according to Mountainside police.

Competition day for math students

The eighth annual Union County Regional High School District "Mathematics Day" will be held at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield on Saturday morning. Students with one, two or three years of mathematics study from the David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and Gov. Livingston schools will participate.

William Keller, owner of the stable, filed complaints for assault and battery and use of indecent language against Robert Gossweiler of East Orange. Keller also signed a John Doe complaint for assault. Gossweiler signed complaints for assault and battery against Keller, Anthony Morris of Newark and Michael Rascinti of 1340 Summit lane, Mountainside. The police report said that at about 2:10 p.m. Sgt. Edward Hafeken called Patrolman Jose Pires to go to the stable regarding a fight that was in progress. Upon arriving Pires found a group of people standing around, but there was no fighting.

There will be three levels of competition, one for each of the three years of mathematics study. Fourth-year mathematics students will not be involved as they are engaged in a national mathematics competition each year.

Keller, 36, had a cut on the right side of his face that required four stitches, police said. Keller allegedly told police that Gossweiler, 20, had hit him with a pipe, causing the injury. Gossweiler had bruises on his back and said that a dog bit him, police stated.

The purpose of these competitions is to stimulate an interest in mathematics and to recognize outstanding students through the presentation of awards and through publicity. Contestants from each of the four schools attaining the three highest scores in each of the levels of the competitions will receive awards. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the first place contestants. All winners will receive certificates in addition to mathematical publications.

Morris, 28, reportedly also was involved in the fight and had a bump on his head. Rascinti, 19, allegedly told police that Gossweiler and some of his friends began the fight over the fee charged for renting horses.

3 Springfield artists in show at Union Tech

A juried state show sponsored by the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Arts Association will be held at the Union County Technical Institute, 1776 Raritan rd., Scotch Plains, June 22 to 25.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS

"Code 99!" What is it? Who is it? It's actually an announcement that comes from the public address system of St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City which sets off a series of events calculated to save the life of someone dying from severe heart attack. A trained team of doctors and nurses speed into action, and within seconds they are at the patient's bedside. Each member of this team has his or her own pre-arranged duty to perform in the organized ritual of life saving. If doctors can get to a patient in the first four minutes of attack, before his brain begins to die, his chances for living are best.

Armour is given SDX award for article in financial weekly

NEW YORK — The Deadline Club, the New York City Chapter of the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalistic society, announced last week that Lawrence A. Armour of Springfield, N.J., associate editor of Barron's, had been chosen as the recipient of its 1971 Financial News Award for an article entitled "Lost, Strayed or Stolen?"

The article, which appeared in the Dec. 21, 1970, issue of Barron's, provided a detailed analysis of the events surrounding the suspension and ultimate collapse of First Devonshire Corp., a New York Stock Exchange member firm, Barron's, a financial weekly, is published by Dow Jones & Co., the parent organization of the Wall Street Journal.

The Sigma Delta Chi award, consisting of a cash prize of $500 and a statuette designed by the late Rube Goldberg, was presented at the society's annual dinner, held at New York City's Americana Hotel last Thursday. NBC correspondent Edwin Newman was host for the evening's activities.

Armour, a graduate of Dartmouth College and Northwestern University Graduate School of Business Administration, has been a Springfield resident for 12 years. His community activities include past chairmanships of both the Springfield Fair Housing Committee and the social action committee of Temple Sharev Shalom.

Cement mixer is taken from Rt. 22 bank site

A cement mixer, valued at about $1,200, was reported stolen Monday by Torsello Bros., the building contractor at the new bank building, at the corner of Rt. 22 and Hillside avenue, according to Springfield police. The contractor told police the mixer was last seen on Saturday. Frank Perrelli, the owner of Frank's Auto Service on Morris avenue, called police Monday to report that four tires and wheels were stolen from a car which he had towed in Friday following an accident, police said.

JOURNALISTS' JOURNALIST—Lawrence A. Armour of Springfield, (center), associate editor of Barron's, receives a check for $500 and the Deadliner trophy of the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society for his selection as winner of the 1971 award for financial news reporting. The awards were presented by Charles Ames (left), vice-president of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, and NBC correspondent Edwin Newman.

A musical for Overlook

Mrs. J. Roger Faherty, the new general chairman of the Overlook Musical Theatre, has announced that the 1971 production will be "Gypsy," by Jules Styne and Stephen Sondheim. It will run Dec. 2, 3 and 4 in the Summit High School auditorium.

Mrs. Faherty was named to the post at a recent meeting of the Overlook Hospital Women's Auxiliary by Mrs. Ralph Witmer Jr., second vice-president of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Witmer, who launched the drama group in its present format and served as general chairman for the past two years, will continue in an advisory capacity.

The director will be Mrs. Billie Worth Burr, of Long Valley, whose staging of "Fanny" in Chester last winter brought her to the attention of the Overlook group. She will also do the choreography. Kevin Farrell of New York City will return to the show for his third year as musical director. He is presently touring with the road company of "Stop the World I Want to Get Off."

The Overlook Musical Theatre is the major fundraising activity of the Women's Auxiliary of Overlook Hospital. In 1969 it superseded the Overlook Follies revue, which had been put on for 20 years. Altogether these productions have raised over a quarter of a million dollars for the hospital since their inception.

This year's play, "Gypsy," is a story taken from the memoirs of the late Gypsy Rose Lee, and concerns the prototype of a stage mother, who drives her two daughters through the rigors of a childhood in vaudeville until she breaks one and inadvertently makes the other a superstar of burlesque.

Card party listed to benefit YWCA

Yellow and white daisies will decorate the Summit YWCA on Wednesday for the annual YWCA benefit dessert card party, according to Mrs. R.S. Nycum and Mrs. R.B. Runyon, co-chairmen of the event. Homebaked desserts and beverage, arranged for by Mrs. R.L. Seidler, will be served at 12:30 p.m., to be followed by an informal afternoon of card playing.

Proceeds from the benefit will aid the YWCA to continue its programs of service to the community. Tickets for the affair may be obtained at the YWCA. Reservations are limited. Persons wishing to attend should contact the YWCA as soon as possible.

Highlanders find new hope for future after winning three of four last week

By BILL LOVETT

Optimism has replaced the pessimism and frustration of two weeks ago after the Gov. Livingston baseball team won three of four games last week to raise its record to 5-8, setting the stage for Regional's most important week of the season.

The Highlanders will face Cranford, ranked by many as the best team in the county, and Linden, which boasts the best pitcher in the county and, possibly, in the state.

G. L., however, hopes that something may be salvaged out of a season which has been bitterly disappointing and frustratingly wearing on both coach and team.

Two weeks ago, the team many had expected to win the Watchung Conference championship seemed destined for last place. Then, the schedule allowed Gov. Livingston to play two easy teams back to back--Pingry and Jefferson, which because of graduation is far from the splendid team it fielded last year.

The Highlanders, suffering from a lack of confidence, desperately needed these two victories--and got them--to rebuild their confidence.

Against Jefferson, Curt Mohs went all the way for the 9-0 triumph. The Regional hitters pounded numerous Jefferson pitchers.

Against Pingry, the Highlanders suffered a scare and then settled down behind Tom Wilson to win, 5-3. The victory may have meant more to Wilson than Regional. It was his first in four decisions and he then pitched a tremendous game against Rahway, one of Union County's better teams to win, 7-2. If he can keep this up, he will get the call against Cranford or Linden.

Wilson had a lot of support in the Rahway game, as his teammates scored five runs in the fourth inning to break open a close pitching duel. Ron Steel started it off with a homer and Jim Murphy followed with another four-bagger.

Later, Rich Weiss tripled with two men on, and then scored himself on an error. Wilson held Rahway in check the rest of the way.

Gov. Livingston will face Linden in the first round of the Union County tournament and will most likely face Ron Penczak, who is 7-0 this season with five shutouts; he has not given up an earned run all season.

Blackbirds, Cardinals, Eagles tied for girl's softball top spot

With four victories and no losses each, the Blackbirds, Cardinals and Eagles wound up the second week of play in a three-way tie for first place in the MountainSide Girls' Softball League.

A home run by Lisa Mauney and a triple by Elaine Emslie helped the Eagles edge out a narrow 14 to 13 victory over the Bluejays. Mary Ann Herrick pitching for the Eagles went the full six innings and was supported by Chris McCormick's great defensive play in center field.

The Parrots' strong offense and fine fielding netted them a 16 to 4 triumph over the Peacocks. Nancy Balazik and Carol Keis showed great early season form. Diane Balazik contributed a home run to the victory.

Melissa Lover and Sandi Smith powered two home runs in the Toucans' 5 to 3 triumph over the Doves. Lois Dehl's was the winning pitcher.

In a high-scoring game the Blackbirds overcame the Owls by a 22 to 16 margin. A home run by the Blackbirds' Robin Sury and a grand slammer by Laura Laustsen contributed to the margin. Laura, sharing honors with second baseman Judy Seidel, completed the only double play of the game.

In another high scoring game the Canaries edged the Flamingoes 21 to 20. Jennifer Winter belted out a grand slam home run in the third inning. Krista Rau's homer later in the game helped cement the victory. Fine fielding by Karen Gensert and Dawn Mazzarella supported the winning team.

Chris McCormick, pitching a full six innings, led the Eagles to an 18-8 romp over the Peacocks. Chris also clouted a homer but took a back seat to Mary Ann Herrick's two home runs and Lisa Mauney's grand slammer.

Jane Harbaugh's and Connie Smith's home runs sparked the Bluejays to an 11-6 triumph over the Falcons.

Amy Getzeiler, pitching the full route, caught a pop fly for the last out to nail down the Bluejays' 25-11 triumph over the Flamingoes. A home run by Sue Carroll and a grand slam by Jane Harbaugh aided the win.

The Eagles piled up nine runs in the first two innings to beat out a stubborn Canary team by a score of 10 to 6. The winning pitcher, Mary Ann Herrick, went the full six innings.

The Owls overpowered the Peacocks by a 20 to 1 score. Before being relieved at the end of three innings, the Owls' pitcher, Nancy Lawrie, struck out six and contributed a home run. Teri Bloom added another home run, and strong defensive play by Donna Orgen clinched the victory.

Chiefs bow 10-5 as Pioneers win in major league play

In major league action in the MountainSide Little League last week, the Pioneers defeated the Chiefs 10-5. Bob Modrowski of the Pioneers hit a home run with two men on to help with the victory.

Kevin Riley of the Mustangs had four hits to help his team to a 7-1 victory over the Mountaineers.

The Blue Stars were defeated by the Vikings, 8-6. Chuck Allen of the Blue Stars had three hits. Jeff Ivory of the Vikings hit a home run and Van Vitale, also of the Vikings, connected for three hits.

Jerry Toeffler had a single, a double and a triple as he drove in four runs for the Pioneers as they won 8-6 over the Blue Stars. Scott Masters of the Blue Stars hit a triple.

Standings in the Major League are Mustangs and Vikings, 3-1 for a first place tie; Pioneers, 3-2; Mountaineers, 1-2, and Blue Stars and Chiefs, 1-3 for a last-place tie.

In American League action, the Twins and Indians tied 2-2. Bobby Cleveland hit a double. The Senators shut out the Red Sox 4-0. Terry Lesslauer of the Senators connected for two doubles, Mike Young hit a home run and Mike Race had a double. Marty Swanson of the Red Sox hit a double.

The Indians shut out the Yankees by 6-0. Ed Osterle of the Yankees hit a double. For the Indians, Billy Pellegrino and Steve Gutkin each connected for a double and Brian Kukon hit a triple and a double.

Standings in the American League are Indians, first; Senators and Twins, second; Red Sox, third; Tigers, fourth, and Yankees, last.

Five residents of Mountainside are candidates for degrees in commencement ceremonies at Seton Hall University in South Orange on Sunday. Seton Hall will award a record 1,902 degrees this year in two separate ceremonies.

The Mountainside residents and their majors are:

Linda Mary Andrejek of 298 Garrett rd., elementary education; Andrian Lawrence Connolly of 224 Apple Tree Lane, psychology; Alfred Anthony Perna of 168 Sunrise pkwy., industrial relations; Nicholas P. Rizzo of 1440 Forest ct., marketing, and Diane E. Silby of 1080 Sylvan lane, elementary education.

Powers to aid groundbreaking for big model railroad setup

Steve Powers of 1182 Puddingstone rd., Mountainside will take part June 5 in groundbreaking for the world's largest model railroad. With over 10,000 feet of track, it will be more than three times larger than any existing model railroad. It will be housed in its own specially designed air-conditioned building located just south of Rt. 22 on the banks of the Rahway River in Springfield.

A spokesman for the Model Railroad Club Inc. added:

"This model railroad not only will be huge, but, more important, will be built to higher standards than any other so far. For example the minimum radius on the main line of the HO railroad will be six feet. One station will be over 100 feet long.

"With work on the building just starting, there is time for all interested model railroaders to submit their ideas of what should be in this model railroad. We invite all to join with us in this project, expert and novice model railroaders alike. There is no better way for a beginner to learn model railroading than in building a layout like this alongside some of the most experienced model railroaders in the country.

"Those interested should attend the organization meeting of the Model Railroad Club Inc. to be held at noon on June 5 at Snuffy's Restaurant, Scotch Plains and the groundbreaking at the building site at 3 p.m. For more information including a four-page brochure, Mountainside residents may contact Powers."

Bus driver injured in Rt. 22 accident

One person was slightly injured last Thursday morning when a car driven by Katherine Damore of Scotch Plains struck a bus driven by John M. Lynn of North Plainfield on Rt. 22 East in front of the bus stop at the Echo-Road School, according to Mountainside police. Lynn reportedly complained of pains in his back, but refused medical treatment, police added.

The police report said the Damore car was in the right hand lane when she saw the bus, owned by Greyhound Lines Inc., Chicago. She tried to stop when an unidentified truck cut her off and her vehicle hit the bus, which was picking up a passenger, police added.

'Academy' to open for young golfers

Application forms are now available at the Union County Park Commission's Ash Brook Golf Course for the first annual Ash Brook Junior Golf Academy which begins June 28 and continues for four two-week sessions.

Each two-week session will include 10 daily two-hour lessons, held Monday through Friday of each week. Class enrollment for each session will be limited to twelve 12-14 year old male students who are residents of Union County.

Donors needed for Blood Bank

The Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a blood bank on Thursday, May 27, from 1 to 6 p.m., at the First Congregational Church of Westfield.

A spokesman for the chapter said donations are preferred, although it is not necessary. Transportation will be provided upon request. Anyone who has any medical questions can call the Red Cross Chapter House at 232-7090.

Dr. Tibor L. Greenwalt, national medical director of the Red Cross, said the organization is taking steps to curb the increasing incidence of hepatitis which are caused by blood transfusions. The illness usually comes from commercial donors, he added.

The program to curb hepatitis involves three steps. They are an intensive nationwide campaign to increase the number of voluntary donors, hepatic testing in all Red Cross blood centers and the expansion of the organization's hepatitis suspect registry system. "Volunteer donors will thereby be cutting the risk of hepatitis to one-tenth of that from commercial donors," Dr. Greenwalt concluded.

Ranzau to receive bachelor's degree

George Henry Ranzau Jr. of Mountainside will receive a bachelor of arts degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro, Ky., in commencement exercises on Saturday, May 22. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ranzau of 461 Bayberry lane.

This will be the 105th spring graduation program at Wesleyan, a United Methodist church related institution, which was founded in 1858. The college began its history at Millersburg, Ky., moved to Winchester, Ky., and then to Owensboro 21 years ago.

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinoldo

A recent agreement between the State Transportation Department and the New Jersey Highway Authority has removed the cloud of toll charges that had hung over the heads of motorists who use the Garden State Parkway in Union and Middlesex counties.

The fact that the presently toll-free sections of the Parkway will remain free in perpetuity as a result of this agreement is most gratifying to me, one of the pledges I made to Union County voters when I ran for election four years ago was that I would fight vigorously to prevent the imposition of tolls on the Garden State Parkway. I think I am justified in regarding the signing of this agreement as one of the signal accomplishments of my first four years in the State Senate.

For as bad as the conditions on the Parkway are now, I was convinced that the placement of toll booths on the presently free sections would have made things infinitely worse. Under that plan, two free lanes would have been built in each direction parallel to the existing roadway. In addition to the astronomical costs of such a project, it would have caused communities like Clark, Roselle Park, Roselle, Kenilworth and Union, to lose more taxables in the name of progress. In these days of mounting costs for our municipalities, it would have been unfair to expect these communities to make such a sacrifice.

BUT THE FACT that the Parkway will remain toll free is only part of the story. The agreement also provided for the addition of two new lanes, one in each direction, and I am gratified that the preliminary study shows that the additional lanes will be built with no dislocation of homes or loss of ratables. Any rush-hour user of the Garden State Parkway can give persuasive testimony to the need for such an expansion. And the need for additional lanes will move into the sharp focus again in the weeks ahead as Jerseyans head southward to the shore along the Garden State Parkway.

I have written State Transportation Commissioner John Kohl to urge him to do everything possible to expedite the expansion project, so it can be completed sometime in 1973.

Movie at Trailside to note the need for quarantine of plants

"Among Our Souvenirs," a color, sound movie produced by the United States Department of Agriculture, will be presented by George Crow of New Providence at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

The film shows the concert of the Department of Agriculture in the importation of plant material from foreign nations and the procedures used in plant quarantine in searching for insects and pests that may come into the country.

Also on Sunday, at 3 and 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, assisted by Elmer Van Gilder, educational assistant, will present a program in the Trailside Planetarium entitled "Sky Explorers." The lecturers will discuss several of the modern astronomers and what they have done to add to our knowledge of the skies above. The same program will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

As the Trailside Planetarium can seat only 35 persons at a performance, it is necessary to obtain a ticket from the Trailside office on the day of the show. Tickets are issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under eight years of age are not permitted in the Planetarium chamber.

Half-hour nature talks for children will be conducted at 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 20. The talk, "Lewis and Clark," will be presented by Donald W. Mayer.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

UC alumni to honor Dean Wolf at annual dinner-dance June 5

Prof. Elmer Wolf a member of the Union College Class of 1944 who was appointed dean of the college last October and this year is completing 25 years of service with the college, and his wife Doris, also a 1944 alumna, will be the guests of honor at the annual dinner-dance of the Union College Alumni Association, it was announced this week by Richard P. Muscatello of Elizabeth, association president.

The dinner-dance will be held Saturday, June 5, at 8:30 p.m. in the Campus Center gymnasium on the Cranford campus of Union College. Buffet will be served at 11 p.m. Music will be provided by Andy Mingione and his orchestra.

Tickets for the dance are available by contacting the alumni office at Union College.

Prof. Wolf, a former resident of Kenilworth and a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, was appointed dean of Union College after serving as acting dean since 1968. Chairman of the Engineering-Physics-Mathematics Department since its formal establishment in 1959, he holds the rank of full professor.

After earning an associate in arts degree at Union College, Prof. Wolf received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering and a master of science degree in electrical engineering from Rutgers University, New Brunswick. He joined the Union College faculty in 1946.

Under Prof. Wolf's leadership, Union College's engineering program was modernized and broadened to provide a more science-oriented program, including modern physics and differential equations. In 1968, the department phased into computer science.

Chairman of the faculty's curriculum-committee for many years, Prof. Wolf as dean is responsible for all academic affairs, including faculty relations, and all student personnel services, including admissions, registration, counseling, and student activities.

Prof. Wolf served as a consultant for Nytronics, Inc., Berkeley Heights, and is a past president of the Rutgers Engineering Society. He is a member of the American Society for Engineering Education and serves on its affiliate membership committee.

Mrs. Wolf, a life science major at Union College, received her bachelor's degree from Upsala College, East Orange. A former biochemist and Union College instructor in microbiology, she serves as vice-president of the American Association of University Women, Cranford Branch.

Prof. and Mrs. Wolf have served on the board of directors of the Union College Alumni Association for more than a decade and were among the top leaders of the 1958 silver anniversary fund-raising campaign. Prof. Wolf is a past president of the Alumni Association. He and his wife were recognized with a silver plaque in 1963 by the alumni for their many years of service to the Association.

PROF. ELMER WOLF

MacDonald Hall marks 'new era,' says Iversen

The dedication of James R. MacDonald Hall marks the beginning of a new era for Union College, Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president, said at ceremonies dedicating the new Administration Building on the Cranford campus.

The building memorializes James R. MacDonald of Westfield, who was chairman of the board and president of General Cable Corp. and co-chairman of Union College's science building fund campaign when he died March 6, 1966.

"MacDonald Hall not only provides increased services in the student personnel services area and increased educational services by freeing nine classrooms formerly used for administrative purposes, but marks the first phase of our long range, $10 million master plan for the development of our Cranford Campus," Dr. Iversen said.

"The success of this project has been instrumental in making it possible to go ahead with the second and third phases of that master plan. We anticipate breaking ground before this month is out for the new library and the additional academic building--a $5 million project."

Dr. Iversen added that MacDonald Hall has been praised for its beauty and design by nearly everyone who has visited the campus.

Edward Aborn, chairman of the Board of Trustees, paid tribute to MacDonald as a businessman, friend of higher education, and booster of Union College. "We are proud that his widow, Mrs. Jean MacDonald, serves as a trustee of our college. And, I might add, a very hardworking member of our team," Aborn said. Aborn pointed out that Union College presented a Citizens' Citation to MacDonald in 1964, and the dedication of MacDonald Hall further recognizes his contributions to the entire higher educational community as well as Union College.

Agent group picks Griffith

H. James Griffith, president of the Union County Association of Independent Insurance Agents, has been elected to the executive committee of the New Jersey Association of Independent Insurance Agents. Griffith was named to the policy-making body of the 5,000 member organization at the group's 78th annual convention, held at the Host Farm, Lancaster, Pa. Griffith, who resides in Stirling, is vice-president of the Richland-Knowles Agency in Summit. He recently received the National Capital Award for distinguished service from the National Association of Insurance Agents.

Police investigate two autos, thefts breaking, entry

Two cars were stolen in the town on Friday, according to Springfield police.

John Farrell of 99B Troy dr., Springfield, called police around 5:15 p.m. to report that his car had been stolen about five hours earlier from the parking lot at the Baltusrol Country Club, where he is head pro. Police said Farrell had left the registration and keys in the vehicle.

JoAnn Poelster of Scotch Plains called police that same day to report that her car was stolen from the parking lot at the Channel Lumber Co. on Rt. 22, police reported. She told police she had gone into the store to do some shopping and the vehicle was missing when she came out.

There was a break and entry Monday morning at Stanley's Restaurant at 160 Morris ave., police said. An undetermined amount of cash and a gun were taken from the safe which had been ripped open. Entry was made by someone going through the grease ventilating shaft.

About $45 in cash, identification cards, an automobile registration and driver's license belonging to Myrna Klein of Union were stolen Sunday, according to police. Miss Klein, who works as a cashier at the Harmony House on Rt. 22, told police she had left her purse under the counter and that someone had taken it.

A cigarette machine at the Evergreen Lodge was pried open Friday, police reported. An undetermined amount of money was taken.

Five persons fined as careless drivers; three for speeding

Five persons were fined for careless driving by Judge Max Sherman Monday in Springfield Municipal Court. The drivers, their fines and the locations of their offenses: John Austin of Newark, $30 for hitting a telephone pole on Rt. 22; David Bartlett of Madison, $25, the corner of Morris and Mountain avenues; David J. Rosenberg of Orange, $30, the corner of Mountain and Tooker avenues; Thomas Paluck of Livingston, $20, the corner of Meisel avenue and Laurel drive, and Carolyn S. Brown of Brick Township, $15, Mountain road.

James J. Giannone Jr. of Madison was fined $15 for driving while impaired. He also had his driver's license suspended for six months.

Three persons were fined for speeding. They are Gail P. Latawiec of Summit and Anthony LaFace of Elizabeth, $40 each for going 60 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone on Morris avenue, and Melvin Kornspon of Hillside, $10 for going 37 mph in a 25-mile zone on Meisel avenue.

John W. Haight Jr. of Rutherford was fined on two charges. He paid $20 for not displaying the road tax stamp on a commercial vehicle and $15 for failing to display a rear license plate on the vehicle he was driving.

Other convictions and fines: Seth Malovany of 22 Dogwood ter., Springfield, $30 for being an unlicensed driver; Herbert Goines of Scotch Plains, $20 for passing a school bus that was stopped at the corner of Mountain and Hillside avenues, and Michael Denning of Irvington, $45, including contempt of court, for failing to comply with the state's inspection laws.

3 named to honor roll for 4th marking period

Three Mountainside residents have been named to the honor roll for the fourth marking period at the Pingry School, Hillside.

They are David Allan of 257 Oak Tree rd., second form; Mark Keating of 1169 Ridge dr., fifth form, and Michael Metz of 1309 Summit lane, sixth form.

SHARING THE YOLK — Mrs. Shirley Middlekauff, right, manager of the Crestmont Savings branch office at 744 Mountain ave., Springfield, hands entry blank for Crestmont's 'Draw a Good Egg' contest to young Lisa Mortensen as her mother, Mrs. Carol Mortensen of Mountainside, looks on. The contest ends May 28. Entry blanks are available at any Crestmont office.

Brush fire ignites coal pockets, Summit units called in to help

The Springfield Fire Department, assisted by the Summit Fire Department, last Tuesday afternoon battled a brush fire which extended from Baltusrol way behind Temple Beth Ahm to the Summit line for about four hours, according to Fire Chief Robert E. Day.

Awards to be received by 2 for volunteer work

Two Mountainside residents will receive service awards Monday during recognition day ceremonies at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Lyons, for donating time to the Veterans Administration volunteer service program.

Mrs. Emma Burbank of 35 Whipoorwill way, representing the American Red Cross, will receive a certificate of merit for 300 hours of service. Charles Horner of 1575 Brookside rd., also representing the Red Cross, will get a certificate of appreciation for 100 hours of service.

Daeubler named editor of Bucknell magazine

LEWISBURG, Pa. — Neil K. Daeubler, a freshman from Mountainside, N.J., has been named editor-in-chief of the Bucknell Engineer, a quarterly magazine of the students in the College of Engineering at Bucknell University.

A 1970 graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Daeubler of 328 Timberline rd., Mountainside. Daeubler is studying for the degree of bachelor of science in engineering.

Swimmers get awards

The Summit Area YMCA presented 44 "outstanding swimmer" awards to members of the four boys' and girls' swim teams at their annual banquet last week which was attended by 180 members and many parents.

This was the climax of the 1970-71 season which saw the boys' team place seventh in the YMCA national championships, as well as third in the Central Atlantic Area Championships, and the girls place fourth in the latter event.

Roger Schwanhauser was awarded an "outstanding swimmer and national champion" citation for his first place in the YMCA nationals 100-yard and 200-yard backstroke events, and Ann Ogazaly the "outstanding swimmer and diver" citation. Both are of Summit.

Dr. Evans to be honored on 25 years as pastor of Presbyterian Church

Dr. Bruce W. Evans, pastor of the Springfield Presbyterian Church, will be honored on Sunday in observance of the 25th anniversary of his service to the local congregation. Dr. Evans will preach at both services and the combined choir will sing the festival anthem, "A Canticle of Praise." A number of former officers of the church and other friends who have transferred from the area are expected to attend the services and celebration.

Following the 11 a.m. service, a reception will be held in the Parish House auditorium, 37 Church Mall, so that all will have an opportunity to greet Dr. Evans and his family. A short program of recognition will be held during the reception. After the reception a dinner will be held in the lower hall for those having reservations.

The Springfield Presbyterian Church has had a steady growth under the leadership of Dr. Evans during the past 25 years. Notes from the minutes of one of the members of the original pulpits committee, James Duguid, recall that... "the night he came on from Illinois to meet the committee, I took him for a walk to see the church and manse and even the cemetery. He seemed much pleased with what he saw and when he returned to the committee meeting, he accepted our call. At this time we were pretty much a rural church—the entire budget was only $6,800 and the membership was about 225." The membership of the church is currently about 1,000 members.

During his pastorate, Dr. Evans has baptized 920 children, married 450 couples and officiated at over 800 funerals. In addition to his work in the local church, he has served the Presbytery of Elizabeth on numerous committees, on its council and as moderator. He is currently serving on the ministerial relations committee of the presbytery. He received a special commendation from the Elizabeth Presbytery for his work as chairman of national missions in organizing four new churches in a five year period.

On the synod or state level he has served on the council, as a director of Bloomfield College, a trustee of the Synod Homes for the Aged and Ill and President of the board of trustees. His work culminated in 1967 when he was elected moderator of the synod.

He has served three times as a commissioner to the General Assembly, the highest governing body of the United Presbyterian Church. In 1968 he was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of divinity by Bloomfield College.

Under the guidance of Dr. Evans, five persons from the Springfield Church have entered Christian vocations: John Borter, Edward Danks, Donald Flemer, George Rupp and Gail Runyon Willard.

He has also served on a community level in a number of capacities. In 1947 he became the first chaplain of the Springfield Fire Department and still serves in that capacity. He was an original member and still serves on the Springfield Juvenile Commission appointed by the Union County Domestic Relations Court. He was the first convener of the Springfield clergy group and organizer of the community interfaith Thanksgiving service.

Dr. Evans has served as president of the trustees of the Overlook Hospital Protestant Chaplaincy Service and as chaplain of the St. David's Society of the State of New York. For seven years he was the summer preacher at Christ Union Chapel, Culver Lake.

He has received numerous awards and citations over the years including the first "outstanding citizen" award bestowed by Springfield B'nai B'rith and a life membership in the American Legion. Tomorrow evening he will be honored with a citizenship award from the Springfield Lions Club.

Players bow in with 'Lovers' Polished comedy reflects talent

Last Saturday evening at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, the Springfield Community Players presented their second production of this season, "Lovers and Other Strangers." As they did with the musical "Mame," the Players again showed us a polished, professional production of the comedy hit.

"Lovers and Other Strangers" was ably directed by Carl Hantz, who showed his many years of fine experience with a slick, fast-paced and touching interpretation of Renee Taylor and Joseph Bologna's play.

This reviewer recognized some familiar faces in the cast. Especially interesting was the casting of Laine Lewis, who had played the glamorous title role in "Mame," transformed into the dowdy, very typical role of Bea in "Lovers." Certainly Mrs. Lewis showed her versatility.

Others who have performed with the Players included Jerry Cohen, who played a show-stopping Johnny; Debbie Stavitsky, who previously was seen as "Gypsy;" Terry Saperstein, an intellectual tease; Mario Albanese, who was Ito, the Japanese houseboy in "Mame;" as the hard-luck bachelor and Oscar Stokes, who played two parts — the youngest and the oldest of the men in the cast.

New faces in the cast included Jill Scher, Lois Kampf, Bob Mac Cauley, Bob Pashaian and Lynda Johnston, all of whom are valuable assets to the Players' company.

The technical aspects of the show were handled by a capable stage crew and technical staff, headed by Gil Wolfe as stage manager.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a girl, 14 years old, and I have a problem. Last year on vacation in a different state, I met a boy. He is 17 years old and I love him very much. Before I left we promised that we will write to each other. I wrote the first letter and he answered it. I wrote a second letter and overdid it, putting too much mushy stuff in it and sending my picture. Now, he won't write back. What can I do to get him back. Please answer."

OUR REPLY: The first thing you need to do is convince yourself — and mean it — that you are not really in love with him. You like him very much and you want to remain friends. If you are able to do this, you have "grown up" a bit and this will be news to him. Write and tell him that you have been doing a lot of thinking about the mushy letter you wrote and understand why he did not respond to it. Tell him you have "wised up" a bit and hope the two of you will meet again sometime. Chances are high he will answer such a letter.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Renee Shatten, set coordinator, again as in "Mame," showed her capability as an inventive stage and set designer.

It is rewarding to this reviewer to see such quality productions coming from our local theater group and to hear the fine comments from the audience.

Two held for court on money charges

Two men were turned over for action by the United States District Court last Wednesday by Judge Jacob Bauer in Mountainside Municipal Court on charges involving counterfeit money.

James E. Hull of Whippany and James E. Dwyer of Newark are each charged with conspiracy to cheat and defraud by passing counterfeit money and passing a bogus $100 bill at the Halfway House on Rt. 22.

Jerry J. Lewis of Newark was turned over for action by the Union County Grand jury on two charges. They are using or being under the influence of marijuana and possession of a stolen motor vehicle. Bail was set at $750.

Donald Weirich of Scotch Plains was fined $60 for using and being under the influence of marijuana. He also was placed on six months' probation.

Other convictions and fines were Joseph Reynolds of Newark, $30 for not having a driver's license in his possession, and Leonard C. Dinardo of Newark, $25 for driving an unregistered vehicle.

Post Office puts its two cents in

If you have a large supply of six-cent stamps, you'd better use them up quickly—or stock up on two-cent stamps. The Post Office Department has announced that postal rates will go up Sunday. Effective Sunday, all first class letters will cost eight cents for each ounce. The rate for post cards will go up to six cents. Domestic air mail will jump to 11 cents per ounce or fraction of an ounce. The rate increases were approved last year by Congress and signed into law by President Nixon. Increases for second, third and fourth class mail also will go into effect Sunday.

Nuclear generators due off Jersey coast in '80s

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. revealed this week that it has been working for a year on plans for nuclear generating units which would be located off the New Jersey coast in the Atlantic Ocean. Edward R. Eberle, president, said feasibility studies will be completed by the end of the year. If the studies are favorable, the plants could be a reality in the early 1980s. "They'll go a long way toward helping us continue lessening our impact on the environment," Eberle said. "The reactors to be used will have near-zero radiation releases and will solve the problem of finding sufficient cooling water." Eberle added, "They will produce about 1,100,000 kilowatts of power." Public Service engineers, working with engineers from Westinghouse Electric Corp. and General Electric Co., have developed two prototype plants. Both would rise about 175 feet above sea level. One would be roughly 400 x 400 feet; the other, a more elongated structure, about 150 x 900 feet. They will sit on huge, floating barges, which will probably be made of steel or concrete, and will be enclosed by a substantial breakwater. The barges would be towed to sea, into an open end in the breakwater, which would then be closed. "The feasibility of the entire project hinges on the breakwater," Eberle said. The breakwater, which will protect the generating plant from hurricane-whipped waves and stray ships, will sit on the ocean floor. It will be at least 100 feet wide and more than 60 feet high, depending on the depth of the ocean. "Our intention," said Eberle, "is to keep within the three-mile limit to stay clearly within the jurisdiction of the State of New Jersey." Depth of the ocean within the three-mile limit varies, but does not generally go beyond 55 feet. There has been no decision about precisely where the floating nuclear plants will be located, although Public Service indicated they would be at least two miles outside shipping lanes. The power which the plants will produce will be brought to the coast by cables which will be buried in the ocean floor.

Gallup Jr. heads cast of Iolanthe

Lee H. Bristol Jr. and George Gallup Jr. will head the cast of Gilbert & Sullivan's Iolanthe, which will be presented by the Gilbert & Sullivan Association on May 21, 22 and 23 at the Princeton Day School. Dr. Bristol will appear in the role of the Chancellor, with Gallup playing Private Willis, the Sentry. Five performances will be given, matinees on Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and evening performances on Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and Sunday at 7:30. Tickets may be obtained at the McCarter Theatre box office.

Barbershop concert set

The 1970 International chorus champions of the SPEBSQSA, the Dapper Dans of Harmony from New Jersey, will bring barbershop singing to the Garden State Arts Center for the first time on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 7. Chairman John P. Gallagher of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Arts Center on the Garden State Parkway, said the 70-voice Dapper Dans from the Livingston Chapter of the SPEBSQSA will appear with two barbershop quartets. The SPEBSQSA stands for Society For The Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The program by the Dapper Dans of Harmony and the two special quartets, the Easternaires and the Exclusives, both from New Jersey, will be staged for the benefit of the Garden State Arts Center Fund in its drive to expand coverage of free performances for New Jersey youth and senior citizens.

Minority businesses in state to be listed in new directory

Malcolm Corrin, director of the Interracial Council for Business Opportunity (ICBO), has announced plans to publish a statewide directory of minority businesses in New Jersey.

When complete the list will be an industrial buyer's guide, listing New Jersey minority-owned businesses in the manufacturing, service and construction fields.

"I realize that many worthy local and regional organizations may have prepared similar lists, but to my knowledge none has attempted a statewide list," Corrin said. "Moreover, we fully intend to incorporate these local organizations into our directory to make it as complete as possible."

The directory will be distributed to all purchasing agents in New Jersey as well as to large businesses and minority-oriented organizations. It will be produced in a loose-leaf type binder, thus making updating relatively simple.

Corrin advised that minority businessmen can make themselves known throughout the state by participating in this enterprise. Businessmen wishing to be listed should send name, type of business, address and phone number to: Interracial Council for Business Opportunity, 24 Commerce St., Newark. The Council will contact those desiring a listing for additional information as required.

College thespians in final production

The Department of Dramatic Art and Speech of Rutgers University in Newark will present "Collision Course" today through Saturday—and last production of the season. The production will be directed by Gail Kellstrom, a Rutgers drama instructor, who is currently appearing in the Off-Broadway production of "Yerma."

"Collision Course," which was first presented in 1968 at the Cafe Au Go Go in New York City, is a collection of one-act plays by contemporary playwrights.

"Collision Course" will be seen today at noon and 7:30 p.m. at the Rutgers Drama Department, 31 Fulton St. It will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday. Tickets are available at the department office or may be purchased at the door.

Jersey Symphony to present concert to 2,500 students

Some 2,500 elementary school students will attend a concert by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra at Symphony Hall, Newark, on Tuesday at 10 a.m. The concert will be directed and narrated by Henry Lewis, the Symphony's music director, and is programmed especially for young people.

Approximately 1,000 students from Newark public schools, and 1,500 students from schools in Essex, Ocean, Morris, Passaic, Bergen, Union and Warren counties will have an opportunity to hear the orchestra perform. For many of the students this will be the first exposure to a full symphony orchestra.

Lewis will introduce each piece and "involve" his young audience in the music. He may, for example, tell an anecdote about the composer, or advice, "Let's all listen for the French horn in this next piece." Then he'll have a French horn player stand to show the instrument.

Student reaction to these concerts has been so enthusiastic that the orchestra has played in schools and auditoriums in almost every county in the state.

Grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts provide a large portion of the costs of youth concerts. Students are charged only $1.50 each to cover the remainder of the expenses. Teachers and chaperones are admitted free. Busing to and from the concert is arranged by the individual schools.

Principals or music educators desiring information regarding possible youth concerts for their schools may contact the Symphony office at 624-8203.

EVE workshop starts Tuesday

During the past few months, five past presidents of the League of Women Voters have visited the EVE office at Newark State College in Union. These women were seeking help in translating their extensive community experience into a paying job.

To assist them and other community leaders like them, EVE is organizing a career workshop, informal round table discussion will be led by Mrs. Barbara Freiert of Roselle, an EVE interviewer, with Mrs. Betsey Brown of Westfield, director of EVE, as recorder and resource person. Participants will share their experience and information and help each other

Teacher's status in 1871: Turnover high, salary low

This is one of a series of articles written by the New Jersey Education Assn. to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the State's free public schools.

A century of free public education has not changed the lot of the teacher. As now, teachers considered their salaries too low.

"We have not enough experienced teachers," commented Cumberland County Superintendent of Schools A.R. Jones. "And why? Because we will not pay them. There are young men and women who love the work, but they soon learn that they will not be paid as they deserve. Who can blame them if they quit about the time they learn how to do it?"

In 1870-71, salaries for male teachers in New Jersey averaged $57.34 per month—fourth highest in the nation. California led the pack with an average of $81.33. California also had the highest average salary for female teachers, $62.81, compared to $32.43 in New Jersey, reports the New Jersey Education Association.

That was the average. The highest salaries were paid in the cities. But in Cape May County, one female teacher was earning a mere $16 per month.

In the 1870-71 school year, New Jersey's public schools had 1,979 female teachers and 952 males. In the 1871-72 school year—the first year of free public education in New Jersey—the totals rose to 2,120 female teachers and 955 males, and average salaries climbed to $34.66 for females and $62.11 for males.

MALE TEACHERS COMMANDED higher salaries than females. As a result, budget-conscious local school boards preferred females to males—despite recommendations from State officials that hiring be done on the basis of qualifications and ability, not gender, NJEA reports.

Wrote Maurice Beesley, Cape May County's superintendent of schools: "May all our energies be directed to secure the services to develop goals and a plan of action. The group will meet in the EVE office on five successive Tuesdays, 9:30 to 11 a.m., beginning next week, in the EVE office.

"Anyone with a history of community service who is contemplating employment is welcome," Mrs. Brown said, but registration will be limited to 12. There is no charge. Further information is available by calling 289-4912.

EVE (Education, Volunteer, Employment Opportunities for Women) is a vocational guidance service for women. It offers individual interviews to discuss educational or vocational plans. EVE is a community service of Newark State College's Division of Field Services.

ington in August of 1871, County Superintendent Ephraim Dietrich gave this report: "There was a goodly number in attendance. The exercises consisted of essays, class drills, and discussions and were highly interesting and profitable."

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS periodically conducted "teacher institutes." Alexander Gilmore, the outgoing superintendent of schools for Camden County, conducted an institute on Nov. 1, 1869 in Williamstown, now in Gloucester County but at that time in Camden. He wrote:

"Dr. Hart, principal of the Normal School at Trenton, N.J., read a lecture on the Method of Teaching which was replete with great research and deep philosophical knowledge."

Gilmore gave this description of a presentation by a Camden County teacher: "Miss Hillman delivered her deep and well-propounded essay on School Government. It was replete with naive and vivacious argument, and was one of the most striking of the essays of that species of scholastic erudition, and in the publication of which the public will have a mental treat of very rare character."

N.J. TV gets more outlets

The official assignment of Channels 23 and 50 to the New Jersey Public Broadcasting Authority has been approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC approved Channel 23 for Waterford Works in southern Camden County to serve the South Jersey region.

Channel 50 was approved for the station to be located on the Montclair State College campus, according to Dr. Lawrence T. Frymire, executive director of the New Jersey Public Broadcasting Authority. It will serve northern New Jersey.

The NJPBA has received approval on Channel 58 in New Brunswick and Channel 52 which is currently broadcasting from Trenton (WNJT-TV).

Dr. Frymire said "the final FCC approval is good news for all Jerseyans." He said it helps move closer a full statewide television network.

Hospitals urged to aid minority student training

CHICAGO — Edwin L. Crosby, M.D., executive president of the American Hospital Association, has urged hospitals to support a new program to bring minority students into the health field.

The program was recommended by the Inter-Association Committee on Expanding Educational Opportunities in Medicine for Blacks and Other Minority Students.

Dr. Crosby said that AHA has cooperated with other associations to help increase job opportunities for minority students, and stands ready to assist its membership in this area.

The Inter-Association Committee is composed of representatives of the AHA, American Medical Association, Association of American Medical Colleges, National Medical Association, Student American Medical Association, and Student National Medical Association.

Very Rev. Msgr. James H. Fitzpatrick, executive assistant for government relations for the Hospital Association of New York, and Clifton C. Weil, administrator of Flint-Goodridge Hospital of Dillard University and a member of the AHA Board of Trustees, represent AHA on the committee.

"The committee believes that hospitals should identify appropriate part-time and/or summer jobs for minority students, and that while preference should be given medical and premedical students, interested students in other health fields should be considered," Crosby said.

Museum to show recent additions

An exhibition opening Sunday at the Montclair Art Museum will display additions to the museum's permanent collection acquired since 1970. Many of the 31 works are being exhibited for the first time.

Elsie W. Dillon of the museum staff will give a gallery talk on the exhibition at 3:30 p.m.

The exhibition will be on view through June 30.

Racial problems discussed in Rutgers extension bulletin

Extension Bulletin 400 is unlike any publication ever offered by the Cooperative Extension Service at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science. Bulletin 400 is a paperback of nearly 400 pages bearing the title, "Trouble in Our Community -- The Issue in Black and White."

The New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service ranks as one of its priorities in educational programming the reduction in the effects of racism. It is publishing the book as the basis for community education programs. It may be used by all educational institutions and agencies concerned with the issues.

The book contains many readings and is designed primarily as a manual for adult study-discussion groups that will meet weekly for eight two-hour sessions.

Authors are Ethel D. Kahn, a Cooperative Extension Service specialist in community development at Rutgers, and William M. Phillips Jr., a sociologist who is a research professor at the Center for Urban Social Research, also Rutgers.

Their project has had the encouragement of the New Jersey Division of Civil Rights which has worked to develop and support community councils on human relations. Also unlike most Extension Service publications, Bulletin 400 has a price tag. It's for sale at $2 from Bulletin Clerk, College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, P.O. Box 231, New Brunswick 08903.

Free copies of the index may be obtained by writing to the Consumer Product Information Distribution Center, Washington D.C., 20407.

Increase of 15,010 noted in Jerseyans using food stamps

The Federal Food Stamp Program benefited 302,464 persons in New Jersey during March, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This represents an increase of 15,010 persons compared to the previous month.

The USDA's Northeast Regional Food and Nutrition Service office in New York City reports that food stamp participation was up in all but Somerset county during the month. The greatest increases were in Camden, Essex, Hudson, Mercer, Middlesex, Passaic and Union Counties.

During March, these persons paid $4,511,955 for food stamps valued at $7,395,276. The difference of $2,883,321 or bonus value of the coupons in USDA's contribution to the program and is designed to provide participants with more and better food.

About one-third of those persons participating in the program do not receive public assistance payments. In Essex County in March purchases of $1,017,463 in food stamps brought a total value of $1,564,287. In Union County $217,319 was spent for a total value of $364,756.

Mars, moon will put on celestial show Sunday

An astronomical phenomenon called "occultation" will take place Saturday night and Sunday morning, according to an announcement by Richard Peery, assistant supervisor, New Jersey State Museum Planetarium, Trenton.

The quarter moon will pass in front of the more distant red planet, Mars, and the subsequent occultation of a planet by our nearest neighbor, the moon, will occasion a rare occurrence likely not to happen again for years.

approved of the policy of "paying a stipend" to take in a student teacher. "I feel the teacher has a moral obligation to do this," she added.

The board authorized a contract to be drawn up with the Beirn Bus Co. for bus transportation for the 1971-1972 school year. The $33,000 cost is the same as this year, according to John McDonough, the board secretary.

A panel of five teachers reported on their attendance at the recent International Reading Association program in Atlantic City. The teachers told of the various ideas and recommendations to help children learn to use and improve their reading skills.

Plaques were presented to three former board members on behalf of their service to the board. Recipients were Mrs. Grace Gutman, Alan Dehls and Donald Jeka.

Hangan said the library program at the Beechwood School is reported to be in the top 25 percent in the state because of its facilities and the amount and diversity of materials. He added that visitors will be coming to examine the facilities and program there.

The board gave approval for the borough's recreation department to construct a handball court on the site between the tennis court and driveway at the Deerfield School.

The board approved contracts for three new teachers. Lillian Ileria and Mrs. Helen Gill will teach vocal music. Edward J. Saks will teach physical education.

"The ungraded first three grades will continue. This program, started last September has met with great success. Children are grouped for reading, math and phonics according to their abilities. This allows a child to learn at his own rate and in his own peer group."

"A new uniform will help give the students the feeling that they really are in a new school. A preview of the many changes at Our Lady of Lourdes next fall will be seen at an open house May 25 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Father McGarry, Pellegrino and the staff will outline more fully the programs for next year and everyone is invited to see for himself the result of dedication to an ideal of Christian education."

Expert to address narcotic conference

Dr. Robert Baird, founder and chairman of HAVEN, a clinic offering free medical services to narcotics addicts will be among the speakers at the New Jersey Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association conference in Atlantic City, June 13 to 16.

He has written for newspapers and other publications, an article for the United Nations entitled "Marijuana and its Dangers," and will soon publish a book, "Narcoticsville, U.S.A."

Police chiefs, government officials and educational personnel have been invited to the conference. The NJNEOA hopes further coordination of drug-fighting efforts will result from the activities of the conference.

"There was a theological panel involving a Methodist minister, a Syrian Orthodox priest, a Presbyterian professor and a nun. Their theme was 'breakthrough of the meaning of faith into humanity.' There were three sessions and we then divided into discussion groups.

"The dance, involving modern interpretation, portrayed the creation and the promise to God's people. During the performance women went up on the stage and participated by passing silently through the scenery."

MRS. TUTTLE then described the Westfield Chapter of Church Women United and what the organization does. She said, "The organization, which is 30 years old, originally began as a Protestant group. It now includes Greek Orthodox and Roman Catholic women, as well as having contact with Jewish women.

"We are a forward looking organization. We were working on race relations about 12 years ago when it was not popular.

"We have an intergroup relations committee which crosses racial and religious lines. This involves person-to-person contact so we can get to know and understand each other.

"Now we will probably pick up new directions. We will work with race relations, peace and the involvement of women in activities. The letter is to try to urge them to develop their full potential in themselves and their children."

The former Evelyn Schilling was born in Newark where she graduated from Central High School. She has taken college courses at night. She added, "I have tried to keep up with the times by reading and taking courses."

Mrs. Tuttle and her husband have lived in Mountainside for about 30 years. They live at 1000 Mary Allen Lane. The Tuttle's have three children, Mrs. Franklin Little of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Andrew Pokorny of Rockaway have given them three grandchildren, Linda lives in New York City.

Mrs. Tuttle is active in the Community Presbyterian Church, is secretary of the board of trustees of the Westfield Day Care Center and is a member of the community relations committee of the League of Religious Organizations. She also is a member of the speakers' bureau of the Two Worlds Program.

"About the latter, she commented, "We are trying to establish a half-way house for children coming out of the Union County Detention Center. This will give them a place to live and work if they want. It will offer a high school equivalency program, an opportunity for them to get on their feet, group therapy, a structured type of living and a big brother and big sister program. We hope to have it going by the end of the year."

Mrs. Tuttle concluded, "The assembly was optimistic about anticipating change, challenging it and looking forward to it. It opened relations with other races and creeds. It was inspirational.

"We would get the better of our problems if we accept people for what they are."

NAMED TO CABINET POST - Joseph A. Mazur of Mountainside has been named secretary of finance for the Student Government Association at Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn. He also is treasurer of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is a junior majoring in business administration.

New Jersey Bell points out a wonderful gadget for reducing phone bills.

Your index finger.

Use it to dial all out-of-state station calls. And no matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it will always cost less than if you had placed the call through an operator. Especially on weeknights and weekends when the savings are especially big. For example. During weekend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute, coast-to-coast station call costs $1.10 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator. But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax—if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, remember to dial your own station calls without an operator. And fight inflation with just one finger.

*From 8 a.m. till 11 p.m. Saturday, and from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. Sunday.

Church conference will hold breakfast

The missionary conference, being held at the Evangel Baptist Church, 242 Shunpike Rd., Springfield, will have a breakfast for the men of the church Saturday at 8:30 a.m. The speaker will be the Rev. Edward Schuit, assistant home director of the Africa Inland Mission. On Sunday at 11 a.m., Dr. Roy Watson, eastern representative of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society, will be the speaker.

In the 7 p.m. service the Rev. Herbert Reinhardt, missionary to Japan under the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society, will tell of his experiences on the field. Mr. Reinhardt spent the first part of his missionary tour in Tokyo, later moving to the northern province of Yamagata Ken. A time of refreshments will follow in the lower auditorium. On Wednesday at 7:45 p.m., the World Vision, Inc., film, "Target China," will be shown.

Meeting tonight of peace group

The Springfield Community Peace Committee will hold a meeting this evening at 8:30 at the home of Joseph Marzell, 26 Cypress Ter.

The campaign to end the draft now and legislation pending in Congress will be discussed. A report will be given on the April 24 Washington demonstration and May 5 memorandum on business as usual in Union County. Union County offices of the Selective Service (draft board) were picketed by students of Pingry and other high schools. Memorial meetings for the Kent State victims were held in many schools. The effort to set a date to end the war and get negotiations started for a cease-fire and orderly withdrawal of troops and return of POWs will be discussed.

The Springfield Committee invites all peace advocates to join in this meeting, a spokesman added.

Walsh attends forum in Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—John G. Walsh of Mountaintop, N.J., a commissioner of the Union County Park Commission, attended a national forum sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association and its National Commissioners-Board Members Branch held recently at the Stardust Hotel.

The forum was held to explore and develop public relations techniques and approaches needed to broaden the public image in support of the nation's park and recreation departments. An estimated 500 park and recreation board and commission members, administrators, and public information specialists from throughout the country attended.

During the three day meeting, experts in the public relations and park and recreation fields presented sessions covering all phases of public relations, communications and image building.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

IF YOU DOUBT
If you doubt God, go off to your self, sit and do nothing. Search the sky for something to believe in. Ponder the blue, the cloud patterns, the first shining star that appears in view.

If you doubt God, smell the magic of springtime in the air. See the buds and the new-green leaves, the wonder of now-growing things.

Consider the animals of the forest and the birds of the sky, the streams, rivers and the seas. Measure the height to which you may reach and compare it to the circumference of the earth. Think of the distance from the earth to the moon—and to the galaxies beyond.

With the magnitude of the universe fixed strongly in your mind, relate. You are but one small speck upon the face of a relatively small planet. But size is not the important thing. What counts is that you are blessed with humanity, you have the power of reason, you have the conscience, you have a soul.

Ask yourself from whence these blessings came.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

By DAVID F. MOORE, Executive director, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

The Passaic River isn't getting any cleaner these days, but in its majestic filth it at least is doing some good. It's turning people on about the growing rot which surrounds us all, and which most of us have managed to ignore, and it's even beginning to involve people in the democratic process; surely no mean feat and something which has to happen before Junior dares swim in the Passaic.

Back in September Richard J. Sullivan, New Jersey Commissioner of Environmental Protection, made an audacious proposal to a federal water pollution advisory panel which came to New Jersey for an unpleasant look at the Passaic and its problems. Sullivan had made note of a suggestion by the President's Council on Environmental Quality in its first annual report that maybe one specific river somewhere could be chosen as a demonstration project and become the target for massed federal and local cleanup — just to show what could be done. Sullivan said, "That's a great idea, and New Jersey has just the river for it — the Passaic!"

THE IDEA HAS BEEN kept alive by the Passaic River Coalition, a group of conservation groups including North Jersey Conservation Foundation, Sierra Club, Citizens for Conservation in Bernards Township, and many others, but one of those wonderful things happened recently which help to prove that if something needs to be done, somebody will jump in out of deep left field to help do it. What happened was that a young couple in Totowa, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Blatush, decided it was time to act. They had never done anything like it before, were completely naive about such things, have no political axe to grind and don't belong to any kind of pressure group. They just want action on the Passaic River.

So they sat down and laboriously wrote out about 100 petition forms by hand. The petitions were to get municipal officials along the Passaic to come out and agitate for the federal cleanup proposal being proposed by Sullivan. Local Boy and Girl Scout councils moved in on the project, and by now there are at least 25,000 of their forms being circulated, with a potential for many times that many signatures.

Signing petitions alone won't clean up a river, but they mean something to the people who can do it. And signing them makes each of the signers just a little more aware of the problem, which is also vital.

THE LATEST WORD on the proposal to make the Passaic a demonstration project is that the U. S. Environmental Protection Administration will decide by July 1 whether to have such a program. If it decides thus, it then has to designate a river. The Passaic at this stage of events is ranked as one of the top four under consideration. The others are the Fox in Wisconsin, the St. Johns in Florida and the Spokane in Washington.

University students have made a big impact in recent years as rampant critics of just about everything in our system, but without coming up with any practical solutions to the situation. The Passaic River now has been the catalyst which sparked a beautiful example of solid effort to come up with answers to something they complain about. At Princeton University, 30 undergraduate engineering and social science students took on the Passaic pollution as a research project. The result is the recent release of their 193-page report, which not only pinpoints causes of the pollution but makes valid suggestions about correcting them.

THEY DIDN'T COME UP with any new solutions, or even any new causes, but they set forth their findings in a forthright, refreshingly direct way. They said the laws needed to clean up the Passaic are already on the books, therefore the problem is that the laws are not being enforced. One reason the laws are not being enforced is that often, especially where malfunctioning or inadequate sewage plants are at fault, the enforcers in municipalities would have to act against themselves, which isn't about to happen.

The students quickly pinpointed a basic problem common to all of New Jersey — that as long as local property taxes are the backbone of the fiscal structure, no town is going to back-stab the industry which pays taxes, and which the town has probably begged to come there in the first place, by getting tough about its pollution.

The Princeton students' efforts may not play a critical role in upgrading the Passaic, but they give us all a chance to look at a familiar problem through the clear eyes of young persons who have not yet become jaded by the so-called "realities" of this cynical world.

ations to restore normal blood-flow.

Some cases of cerebral insufficiency or stroke result from obstruction of the brain's major feedlines located in the chest or neck, where they are potentially accessible to surgical attack. Many patients suffering from such lesions can be improved or completely cured by surgery to remove such obstructions or else to bypass them with bloodvessel grafts.

New techniques of supplementing the limited blood supply reaching the heart through diseased coronary arteries show promise of prolonging life and restoring normal activity to many victims disabled by angina pectoris.

A variety of totally implantable pacemakers have been developed to restore and maintain normal heartbeat in patients suffering from heart block.

Assisted-circulation techniques and mechanical "booster hearts" are being developed for maintaining normal blood pressure and adequate bloodflow to the body's organs and tissues while substantially reducing the workload of severely damaged or failing hearts. This temporary respite may enable a damaged heart to recover completely.

The National Heart and Lung Institute is presently supporting a research program directed at the development of a completely implantable artificial heart to replace hope-

Registration for Y camp

Registration is now being taken at the Summit Area YMCA for "Kinderkemp," a summer day camp for boys and girls who have completed or are starting kindergarten. Camp will be held at the YM building in eight one-week sessions June 28 through Aug. 20. Camp hours are from 9:00 a.m. until noon Monday through Friday.

Activities will include swimming, lessons and recreational swims, simple craft projects, outdoor activities, singing, story telling, hiking, and short trips.

Physical education will emphasize basic movement skills such as running, throwing, jumping, climbing, tumbling, and low organization games. Children will be taught to play together and follow rules.

Mrs. Joseph Caporaso of New Providence will serve as director. She has served on the YMCA staff for 13 years as instructor for tiny tots, kindergarten-swim programs and aquatic classes and is a certified YMCA instructor. She will be assisted by three senior counselors, two junior counselors, and several aides. Camp sessions will be limited in size for individual attention. Camp brochures and further information may be obtained by calling the YMCA, 273-3330.

NIH THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

CARDIOVASCULAR SURGERY

In no other area of cardiovascular research have such spectacular strides been made during recent years as in the field of cardiovascular surgery.

The National Heart and Lung Institute, one of the National Institutes of Health, located in Bethesda, Maryland, supports an extensive research program in the field of cardiovascular surgery, both through research grants and contracts. Major advances in this field include the following:

Corrective or palliative operations have been devised for most of the common congenital (inborn) heart defects and for many of the rarer forms as well. (Estimates of the number of children born in the United States each year with congenital heart defects range from 30,000 to 50,000).

With the development of better artificial heart valves and improved methods of sustaining the patient during prolonged open-heart operations, surgeons can repair or replace as many as three heart valves damaged by rheumatic fever during a single operation, with good prospects of success.

With improved artificial blood vessels and new techniques of blood vessel surgery, obstructed blood-vessel segments can be opened up, or the obstruction removed, or severely diseased portions may be bypassed or replaced by synthetic blood vessel grafts in the larger and medium-sized arteries.

High blood pressure caused by atherosclerosis or blood clots interfering with the kidney's blood supply can often be improved or cured by oper-

Double bill at Ormont

George Segal is making his way across local screens this week. He will open tomorrow in "Where's Poppa?" at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, starring opposite Ruth Gordon, Ron Leibman and Trish Van Devere. The picture, in color, directed by Carl Reiner, has bold gags, unrestricted situations and language, and is a comedy that stomps on the tradition of devotion to mother.

The associate feature, opening tomorrow, is "The Landlord," starring Lee Grant (who won an Emmy last Sunday), Beau Bridges, Diana Sands and Pearl Bailey. The picture, which concerns a rich white boy who buys a tenement brownstone in a black ghetto area and who proceeds to insinuate himself into the alien life, was directed by Hal Ashby. "Mad Dogs and Englishmen" will be seen today only at the Ormont.

Busy star busier at Meadowbrook

While studying the script of "The Boy Friend," stage musical currently at the Meadowbrook in Cedar Grove, Joan Bennett was in the process of giving up her Manhattan apartment and moving to Scarsdale.

"I began to plan the move from one home into two, resumed my vocal lessons and started to work on the 'Boy Friend' script," she says. "Those last four to six weeks were murder! Remember, I was still doing 'Dark Shadows' for television too. It was the shortest period for study for a musical that I ever had."

Silvers' style hampered in this domestic comedy

By ROBERT LYONS

"How The Other Half Loves" at the Royale is a bumper play -- funny when it bumps, but not funny in between when you and it are dodging around. It needs both.

The plot is clever, perhaps too clever for what goes into it. Two couples share the same set which is parts of their respective houses. The husband of one is having an affair with the wife of the other, whose husband also happens to be the boss of the former. They are on the verge of being discovered, even though they only have to account for one evening--the play starts off too thinly--and to do so they tell their respective spouses they were spending the evening, singly, with a third couple, husband with husband, wife with wife, who also are connected with the firm; or "team" as Phil Silvers calls it and manages to bring a laugh.

The third couple become victims and the play turns to them for the bulk of the plot, if not the premise, and it is this that is more attention diverting than the set which has to be given constant attention. The people having the affair manage to escape real danger and the frantic effort seems unrewarding. True, it is a farce, but even in farce your heart has to be interested, or your whim at least.

PHIL SILVERS was not so much miscast as misplaced. For he should have been the man extricating himself from the difficulty, and not the chump. This is really a compliment, Phil, but you make a lousy fall guy. You're an "on the make" performer, whether it's a dollar or a dame. But here you are the corporate organization man explaining away your own suspensions.

Sandy Dennis has a good strong attack along with squeezing comedy from her adonids. The parts for Richard Mulligan and Bernice Massey are not well written and they don't play them for much. The third couple, Jeanne Happle and Tom Aldredge, are required to go beyond the writing and are really more tiresome than winning.

The show is a big hit in London and has been adapted for New York by its British author, Alan Ayckbourn. The Atlantic crossing has been choppy. The play is now words rather than thoughts or ideas. Gene Saks' direction is full of halts that never run long or short enough to be pauses. It's a downhill battle.

Winner of awards seen at Fox, Union

George C. Scott, winner of an Emmy award last Sunday, and winner of the Oscar for Best Performance by an Actor, 1970 for his role in "Patton," is seen in the latter at the Fox Theater, Route 22, Union. "Patton also won six other Academy Awards.

Scott portrays Gen. George S. Patton in the film, and Karl Malden plays Omar Bradley, Franklin J. Shatner directed "Patton," which was photographed in color.

Elliott Gould and Donald Sutherland, who star elsewhere at another local theater, co-star in the Fox's associate feature, "M*A*S*H". The film comedy, directed by Robert Altman, and screened in color, has Sally Kellerman, Tom Skeritt and Robert Duvall in stellar roles.

Sophia Loren star of Mayfair movie

"The Priest's Wife" and "Loving" opened yesterday on a double bill at the Mayfair Theater, Hillside.

"The Priest's Wife," starring Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni, concerns the controversy about marriage for priests. The movie, in color, which features Venantino Venantini, Miranda Campa, Pippo Starnazza and August Mastrantonio, was directed by Dino Risì and produced by Carlo Ponti.

"Loving," starring George Segal, Eva Maria Saint and Sterling Hayden, concerns an advertising artist who is caught on a treadmill of boredom at home, work and play. The picture, directed by Irvin Kershner, is in color.

ORDINANCE NO. 471
AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH POSITIONS AND COMPENSATION FOR CERTAIN SUPERVISORY PERSONNEL IN CLASSIFIED POSITIONS IN THE CITY OF ELIZABETH.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH:

SECTION 1. That all supervisory personnel in classified positions as contained in Schedule "A" attached hereto and made part hereof are hereby established and shall receive annual compensation to be paid from January 1, 1970 as provided by the municipal salary schedule as set forth in the attached Schedule "A" and as provided on the attached Schedule "A".

SECTION 2. The compensation to be paid to each of the said employees listed in the attached Schedule "A" shall be in addition to the longevity compensation more particularly described as follows:

| Length of Service | Additional Percentage of Base Salary |
|--|--------------------------------------|
| Beginning 5th year to completion of 9th year | 2 percent |
| Beginning 10th year to completion of 14th year | 4 percent |
| Beginning 15th year to completion of 19th year | 6 percent |
| Beginning 20th year to completion of 24th year | 8 percent |
| Beginning 25th year and over | 10 percent |

If an employee's anniversary date of employment falls between January 1st and July 31st, he shall be entitled to longevity pay effective January 1st; if the anniversary date of employment falls on July 1st or after, then he shall be entitled to longevity pay effective July 1st.

SECTION 3. As the result of Chapter 303, Laws of 1968, of New Jersey statutes known as the Employer-Employee Relations Act of 1968, terms and conditions of employment are negotiated between the public employer and the public employee and, therefore, all increments as contained in Schedule "A" attached hereto are set forth as guidelines only, and are subject to the event that there are no such increments recommended by Department Heads and negotiation between the City of Elizabeth and its public employees who are covered by this Ordinance.

SECTION 4. This Ordinance shall serve in any job title by reason of death, resignation, termination, promotion, or any approved absence, in that the payment shall be prorated based upon the length of time actually served.

SECTION 5. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

SECTION 6. The effective date of this ordinance shall be continued upon the execution of an agreement between the representatives of the public employees covered by this agreement and the City of Elizabeth, and at the time and in the manner provided by law.

CITY OF ELIZABETH
NEW JERSEY
ORDINANCE NO. 470
AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE THE SHARE OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH FOR THE SECONDARY SEWERAGE TREATMENT PLANT OF THE EAST ORANGE COUNTY YORK MEMORIAL DUE AT THIS TIME TO APPROPRIATE THE SUM OF $236,000 TO PAY SUCH SHARE, TO MAKE A DOWNSIDE PAYMENT TO AUTHORIZE THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS TO FINANCE SUCH APPROPRIATION AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BOND ANTICIPATION NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF SUCH BONDS.

WHEREAS, under date of January 16, 1930, the City of Elizabeth, entered into a contract with the City of East Orange, Town of Hillside, in the County of Union, the Town of Irvington, Township of Hillside in the County of Essex, the Township of Newark, the Borough of Roselle Park, the Village of South Orange, the City of Summit, the Township of Union in the County of Union and the Town of West Orange (which municipalities are hereinafter referred to as the Essex County-Union County Joint Meeting) and under such contract the City of Elizabeth is required to pay a proportionate cost of the secondary sewerage treatment facilities to share of each cost over the Joint Meeting; NOW, THEREFORE:

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH as follows:

Section 1. The sum of $236,000 is hereby appropriated to the payment of the cost of the City's share of the cost of such secondary sewerage treatment facility now due, together with the capital cost of such facility, to be paid to the Essex County-Union County Joint Meeting at this time. The sum of $236,000 shall be paid to the Essex County-Union County Joint Meeting at this time. Such payment shall be made by the City of Elizabeth in the manner provided by law. Any sums received by the City from the Federal Government or State Government or any of its agencies to pay the cost of such improvement shall be applied to the payment of the City's share of such improvement and the amount of bonds and notes authorized by this ordinance shall be reduced accordingly.

Section 2. It is hereby determined and stated that (1) the City's current expense of said City, and (2) it is necessary to finance said purpose by the issuance of obligations of said City pursuant to the Local Bond Law of New Jersey, and (3) the estimated maximum amount of bonds or notes necessary to be issued for said purpose is $236,000, and (4) the cost of such purpose, as hereinbefore stated, includes the aggregate amount of $11,223 which is estimated to be necessary to finance the cost of such purpose, including architect's fees, accounting, engineering and inspection costs, legal expenses and other expenses, including interest on such obligations to the extent permitted by Section 40A-20 of the Local Bond Law. Each of said notes shall be secured by the full faith and credit of the City of Elizabeth and shall be payable not more than one year from its date, shall bear interest at a rate per annum as may be hereinafter determined by law. All matters with respect to said bonds not determined by this ordinance shall be determined by resolutions to be hereinafter adopted.

Section 3. To finance said purpose, bond anticipation notes of said City of an aggregate principal amount not exceeding $236,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to said Local Bond Law. Each of said notes shall be payable not more than one year from its date, shall bear interest at a rate per annum as may be hereinafter determined by law. All matters with respect to said bonds not determined by this ordinance shall be determined by resolutions to be hereinafter adopted.

Section 4. Each bond anticipation note issued pursuant to this ordinance shall be dated on or about the date of its issuance and shall be payable not more than one year from its date, shall bear interest at a rate per annum as may be hereinafter determined by law. All matters with respect to said bonds not determined by this ordinance shall be determined by resolutions to be hereinafter adopted.

Section 5. To finance said purpose, bond anticipation notes of said City of an aggregate principal amount not exceeding $236,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to said Local Bond Law. Each of said notes shall be payable not more than one year from its date, shall bear interest at a rate per annum as may be hereinafter determined by law. All matters with respect to said bonds not determined by this ordinance shall be determined by resolutions to be hereinafter adopted.

Section 6. It is hereby determined and stated that the Supplemental Debt Statement required by said Local Bond Law has been made and filed in the office of the City Clerk of said City, and that such statement so filed shows that the gross debt of said City, as defined in Section 40A-23 of said Local Bond Law, is increased by this ordinance by $141,800 and that the issuance of the bonds and notes authorized by this ordinance will be within all debt limitations prescribed by said Local Bond Law.

Section 7. It is hereby determined and stated that the period of usefulness of said purpose, according to the reasonable life expectancy of such purpose, is 10 years from the date of said bonds.

Section 8. It is hereby determined and stated that the Supplemental Debt Statement required by said Local Bond Law has been made and filed in the office of the City Clerk of said City, and that such statement so filed shows that the gross debt of said City, as defined in Section 40A-23 of said Local Bond Law, is increased by this ordinance by $236,000 and that the issuance of the bonds and notes authorized by this ordinance will be within all debt limitations prescribed by said Local Bond Law.

Y Nursery School will begin Sept. 13; registration is open

The Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union, will open its new Nursery School session Sept. 13. Registrations currently being held.

Children who attend this state certified nursery school are grouped between the ages of three years and five years into two-day, three-day, or five-day sessions, morning or afternoon. It is designed to meet the specific needs of every child that attends.

The program, under the supervision of skilled, certified nursery school teachers and assistants, aided by expert "Y" staff members, offers a varied "learning through play" experience. The child learns to relate to his peer and adult groups. He is encouraged to express himself and become self-thinking, independent and aware of the thoughts and ideas of those around him.

He also is guided in a pleasant environment with superior learning and play equipment. Hollow blocks for muscle development and coordination, Bank Street School charts and story-telling maps, which encourage creative thinking and structured idea building are part of this program.

Activities include housekeeping, waterplay, drawing, printing, clay modeling and crafts, blockbuilding, rhythms and music, singing and dancing, storytelling and science experiences. The children enjoy caring for and feeding the small menagerie of animals and plants and watching chicks hatch in an incubator supplied by Rutgers University School of Agriculture.

Parents are urged to register their children as soon as possible to assure a place in September. Marilyn Slovin may be contacted at the "Y", 289-8112, for additional information.

A FINAL CHECK - Conrad Caron, right, and Tom Bishop, engineer at Bell Labs, Murray Hill, near Summit, check the transmission specifications on apparatus cases before activating the field trial of the new T2 digital transmission system in Willow Grove, Pa. The new system, which carries information at a digital rate of 6.3 megabits per second, is expected to go into commercial service during 1972.

Bell Laboratories develops a new transmission system

A new digital transmission system is being developed at Bell Laboratories, Murray Hill, near Summit, as a high-capacity communications link between cities. The new system, known as T2, is designed to provide service economically over distances up to about 500 miles.

Scheduled for commercial service in 1972, the T2 system is able to carry more than 4,400 simultaneous telephone conversations over two 50-pair cables.

Bell Labs engineers are now testing the system in Willow Grove, Pa., with the cooperation of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania.

The new system transmits over cables containing twisted pairs of wires and provides capacity for 96 voice channels or one Picture-phone signal for each wire-pair. In the Pennsylvania field trial, 50-pair cables are being used, producing a route capacity of 4,400 conversations. In commercial operation, cables larger than 50-pair cables are also expected to be used.

In addition to voice telephone traffic, the T2 system will transmit data, facsimile and, in the future, Picturephone service, carrying information in digital form at a rate of 6.3 million "bits" per second. The error rate of the T2 system will be less than one incorrect "bit" in a billion for the average 500-mile T2 line.

T1, the Bell System's first digital system, was introduced in 1962 and has a digital rate of 1.5 million "bits" per second. Since 1962, nearly one million T1 voice channels have gone into operation, primarily in and around major cities. The T2 system has four times the capacity of T1 and will provide a digital transmission link between cities.

St. Peter's to present 4 honorary degrees

The arts, sciences, business and sports will be represented when St. Peter's College presents honorary degrees to four persons at its commencement ceremonies May 30 in Roosevelt Stadium here.

The college will cite Dr. Choh Hao Li, who is the first person to isolate and synthesize the growth hormone, actor Cyril Ritchard, sports personality Jack Twyman and David Chase, an expert on tax legislation who is also a regent of the college.

Digital systems transmit information in the form of electrical pulses. Groups of pulses representing separate communications can be interleaved by a technique called multiplexing into a single stream for high-speed transmission. A new multiplex terminal developed for the T2 system combines up to four T1 "bit" streams into one 6.3 megabit signal for transmission over T2.

The Bell System is developing a hierarchy of digital transmission systems for its nationwide network. Such systems maintain excellent signal quality over long distances and are particularly efficient for digital data and other non-voice signals. Use of these digital systems combined with analog systems on the growing Bell System network will offer substantial economies for handling the nation's rapidly increasing volume of communications.

Progress is noted in community effort

Housing, urban aid, program evaluation, and communications between state government and its municipalities are among the areas in which "marked progress" has been made by the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, according to its third annual report.

The 32-page report, covering fiscal year 1970, reviews the operation of the department and its two quasi-independent sister agencies, the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency (NJHFA) and the Hackensack Meadows Development Commission. In addition to providing statistical information about programs, the report explains the functions and duties of each major division in the department.

"Our initial thrust during fiscal 1970 has been in keeping with Governor Cahill's call to combat New Jersey's housing crisis," noted Community Affairs Commissioner Edmund T. Hume in the letter of transmittal.

"Working with the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency, 1,908 housing units were placed under construction... and commitments were made to provide mortgage financing for an additional 1,423 dwelling units."

Hume also cited the department's revision of the urban aid formula and in anticipation of federal revenue sharing plans, the development of acceptable methods of implementing and distributing these federal funds.

"For the first time since its inception," Hume continued, "the department instituted a method of program evaluation by which the ultimate value of the projects administered can be measured accurately."

Hume also added that the department made "noteworthy progress" during fiscal 1970 in establishing "positive communications links between the town halls of New Jersey and state government." He pledged that these avenues of communication will remain open and the every effort will be made to strengthen the relationship.

Other accomplishments listed by the department include:

- Training of over 4,500 local government employees under an expanded and broadened training effort;
- Inspection of nearly 55,000 hotels and multiple dwellings in cooperation with local inspectors under the State - Local Cooperative Housing Inspection Program;
- Awarding of nearly $500,000 in State-aid matching grants to local community action agencies which attracted over $19 million in federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) Funds;
- Administration of 14 Day Care 100 Centers with a combination of State and federal funds totaling $2.5 million.

Copies of the department's third annual report are available free-of-charge from the Office of Public Information, New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, P.O. Box 2768, Trenton, 08625.

Insurance Association lists safety measures for boating

Now is the time of the year when boat owners begin to get their boats ready for the coming season. At the same time, they should review safety precautions, and check up on their boat insurance, states the Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey.

- According to the latest figures, only eight states have more boats in use than New Jersey. With the increase in the number of boats in use has come a corresponding increase in boating accidents and losses. Therefore, the following safety rules should be observed at all times:
1. Don't overload or overpower your boat.
 2. When loading, make sure that the weight is evenly distributed.
 3. Before leaving, tell a friend or relative where you are going, who is going with you, and when you plan to return.
 4. Provide a life vest or preserver for each occupant. Insist that they be worn by children and non-swimmers at all times, and by others when conditions are hazardous.
 5. Boat equipment should include a good first aid kit, fire extinguisher, paddle or oars, distress flares, a pump or bailer, anchor and line, boat hooks, a transistor radio, drinking water, emergency food supply, and extra fuel in a safe container.
 6. Keep a good lookout. When towing a skier, have a second person act as a lookout.
 7. Operate at safe speeds. Watch your wake. You are responsible for damage caused by it to other boats or waterfront facilities. Give swimmers, skiers and divers a wide berth.
 8. Know and obey state and federal boating laws, marine traffic laws and the "rules of the road."
 9. Listen to marine forecasts and heed weather warnings.
 10. Be familiar with emergency signals and procedures, and explain these to passengers. Conduct life preserver drills. If boat capsizes, in most cases occupants should stay with the boat.
 11. Guard against fires and explosions. Observe all safety precautions in handling fuel. Have a good ventilation system to conduct fresh air into each fuel and engine compartment and to remove gases from the bilges to the open atmosphere.
 12. Don't operate a boat if intoxicated, and don't allow any intoxicated person to operate boat.

Under the latest homeowners or tenants insurance policies, protection for boats and outboard motors is limited to $500 on residential premises, and there is no protection for such property away from the premises.

Liability insurance for bodily injury and property damage should be provided by the proper endorsement added to a homeowners or tenants insurance policy.

Physical damage insurance for the boat, motor, accessories and contents should be provided.

Friday deadline

Careful adherence to the Friday deadline for news releases to this newspaper is urged. Early copy will be required for the June 3 issue, which follows the Memorial Day holiday.

'Weed scientists' make plans for U.S. data bank

Better control of ragweed, crabgrass and more than 100 other objectionable plants will be aided by a national data bank now in the planning stage, a Rutgers scientist says.

Joseph C. Cialone, associate research professor of soils and crops at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, feels that computerization of research findings is essential in advancing the progress of weed science.

Dr. Cialone calls himself and his colleagues "the first generation of true weed scientists." It is only very recently that this field acquired an identity of its own, separate from botany and plant physiology.

"The discovery of the herbicide 2, 4-D during World War II spurred a hunt for chemicals that would selectively kill some plants and leave grass, trees, shrubs and farm crops untouched," Dr. Cialone said. "Today there are over 125 different herbicides in commercial use."

"My feeling is that we've almost reached a plateau so far as chemicals are concerned. The real need is for basic research on just how and why present herbicides act as they do. This requires very detailed data from laboratory, greenhouse and field experiments."

"Consider the options. If you multiply the number of weed species times herbicides times crops (including turfgrass and ornamentals) times soil types, the result is something close to 2-1/2 million different possibilities -- without counting weather conditions at time of application, genetic variation within a single species and many other factors."

To help classify information, Dr. Cialone and others of the College's soils and crops department have developed a mark-score form to record the chemical name, stage of growth at application, method of application, actual formulation for use, pounds per acre, and other aspects of herbicide application. The information is then processed into the familiar IBM punched cards and the results collated and compared in the final printout.

A somewhat similar system is also in use at the University of Oregon, and plans are under consideration to establish a national data bank under the auspices of the Weed Science Society of America.

A major consideration in any weed control program is the total environmental effect. "Most herbicides are readily biodegradable," Dr. Cialone emphasizes, "the great majority disappear in less than a year. The physical, chemical and biological properties of each herbicide, however, must be carefully assessed in relation to its effect on weeds and its possible side effects in the environment."

"Biological control of weeds--mainly through the importation of insects--has been successful in a few isolated instances, but fundamentally our dependence is on chemicals and will be for a long time to come.

Bell offers movie on crime fighting

Prints of a new public service film, "Fighting Crime with Science," are now available through New Jersey Bell's motion picture bureau.

The 28-minute film, in full color, explains how technology helps law enforcement agencies combat crime. It includes several communications services provided by the Bell System--law enforcement teletype system (LETS), emergency reporting telephone system and "911"--as well as products and services supplied by five other firms who shared in the sponsorship of the film.

"Fighting Crime with Science," available in 16mm, was produced by the Walter J. Klein Company with the cooperation of leading professional law enforcement organizations. It features Raymond Burr as narrator.

Law enforcement agencies, schools, civic organizations and other adult groups desiring a print of the film may arrange to borrow it, without charge, from their local telephone company business office.

WEEDING OUT DATA--Joseph C. Cialone, associate professor of soils and crops at Rutgers, checks a computer printout on the effectiveness of various weed-killing herbicides. The computer is necessary, Dr. Cialone feels, to get maximum efficiency with minimum environmental side effects.

'Dial-a-life' at Deborah Pacemaker clinic uses phone

Deborah Hospital of Browns Mills has found a dramatic new use for the telephone that would make even Alexander Graham Bell look twice--or more.

Cardiac patients using Pacemakers can dial a number that can literally save their lives. A Pacemaker is a small, battery-operated device that is implanted surgically under the skin near the heart and with a continuing series of electrical impulses stimulates the malfunctioning heart to beat at a normal rate.

However, since the Pacemaker is a mechanical device and its power source is a battery with a limited life span, it is vitally necessary to keep a constant check on the Pacemaker's function and also whether or not the patient's heart is actually responding to the electrical impulses.

TO MEET THE PROBLEM, Deborah set up its new Pacemaker Follow-up Clinic, under the supervision of Dr. Dryden Morse, attending surgeon at Deborah. The Clinic utilizes the latest electronic devices, computers, and the common, everyday telephone.

When the patient with a Pacemaker comes into the hospital, he is examined by the doctor, given a routine electrocardiogram and a special X-ray is taken of his Pacemaker batteries to determine their state. In addition, the patient's Pacemaker is evaluated by an electronic oscilloscopic instrument which measures all the parameters of the electrical output of the Pacemaker. Impulses are measured in fractions of milliseconds.

Then all the information gathered at Deborah is transferred onto a teletype machine which sends it in seconds to a central computer in Newark, operated under the Regional Medical Plan of New Jersey. Earlier data on the patient's Pacemaker has been recorded on the computer.

By comparing the new data with the old, the computer, in a matter of minutes, is able to send back to Deborah an analysis and a report on the state of the Pacemaker which indicates approximately how long the Pacemaker will last in the future.

NOW, WITH EVEN NEWER technology, the patient can have a check made on his Pacemaker and its functioning -- without being present at the hospital.

The patient is given a small electronic box which he can keep in his home or even carry in his car. When he takes two pencil-like electrodes out of the box, it starts to emit an auditory signal or "beep" each time the patient's Pacemaker fires.

He then phones Deborah's special central checkup service, gives the operator his name and transmission number and puts the mouthpiece of the phone next to the transmitter box.

The electronic "beeps" are then fed -- over the phone -- into another device at the central station called "interval-counter," which determines whether the Pacemaker is functioning at the proper rate.

Finally, the patient attaches a small clip from the box onto the index finger of his hand. In this manner, his pulse is taken over the telephone as though a doctor were holding his wrist! The impulses from his heart are transmitted through his finger tip, over the phone, to the Deborah Service Center where it can be determined if the Pacemaker is firing effectively, or as the doctors put it, "capturing the heart."

THE PACEMAKER CLINIC at Deborah Hospital is only one facet of Deborah's total program for the surgical treatment of the heart, which encompasses the care of children who are born with birth defects, men and women of middle age who have valvular problems, and a new attack on America's great epidemic of coronary artery disease through bypass vein graft surgery directed to correcting blocked coronary arteries.

According to statistics of the New Jersey Department of Health, Deborah performs more than 60 percent of all open-heart surgery in the entire state.

Deborah is open to all, regardless of race, religion, or ability to pay. It is maintained primarily through the efforts of thousands of dedicated volunteers affiliated with some 300 chapters, and contributions from labor, industry, management and the professions.

The Deborah national office is at 901 Walnut st., Philadelphia, Pa. The New York office is located at 110 W. 40th st., New York City.

Medical College names Dr. Bergen president

John K. Kittredge, chairman of the state medical college's board of trustees, announced this week the appointment of Dr. Stanley S. Bergen Jr. of Englewood as president of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.

Currently senior vice-president for medical and professional affairs of the New York City Health and Hospital Corp., Dr. Bergen will assume his responsibilities as chief executive officer of the CMDNJ about July 1.

He becomes the first president of New Jersey's unified public medical and dental education system, created last summer by the state legislature.

Kittredge said that Dr. Bergen was the trustees' first and unanimous choice following a six-month search that screened 50 candidates from throughout the nation. The process included interviews conducted by a committee of four board members, which worked closely with faculty, student and alumni representatives drawn from the college.

Kittredge said the board is "especially impressed by Dr. Bergen's extensive experience in providing health services to urban populations." He noted that Dr. Bergen functions simultaneously as chief administrator and director of medical programs for the Health and Hospital Corporation, among whose 18 New York municipal institutions are nine important teaching hospitals.

Equally impressive to the board is what Kittredge called Dr. Bergen's "thorough grasp of the many issues which are leading to a reexamination of current approaches to educating physicians and dentists."

"Dr. Bergen's academic experience and active role in the delivery of health care hold great promise that the CMDNJ under his leadership will assume a significant national position in the field of medical and dental education," Kittredge said.

Prior to assuming his current position, Dr. Bergen served in various medical and management capacities on the staffs of several metropolitan area hospitals.

As director of community medicine of the Brooklyn-Cumberland Medical Center in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area, he acquired a national reputation for the dynamic and varied program he established to provide health services to its residents.

The 42-year-old physician is a native of Princeton and graduated from Princeton University in 1951. He earned his medical degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University in 1955, and took further post-doctoral training in internal medicine at St. Luke's Hospital in New York.

He also served for two years with the U.S. Army Medical Corps, and ended his active duty as Chief of Medical Service at Fort Jay Army Hospital in Brooklyn.

State police open academy building

Col. D. B. Kelly, State Police superintendent, announced this week that the new academy building at the State Police Training Center in Sea Girt will be dedicated on Saturday at 12:30 p.m., in honor of the late Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, the first State Police superintendent.

On July 1, 1921, Col. Schwarzkopf, a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, was appointed superintendent of State Police. He organized a training class for 120 men at Sea Girt in September. Of that number, 81 officers and troopers completed the rigorous program and were ordered to duty on Dec. 5. Schwarzkopf served as superintendent until 1936, when authorized strength stood at 280 men.

Col. Kelly said, "The organization that he formed 50 years ago now numbers more than 1,600 dedicated men who take this occasion to honor the memory of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf."

The formal ceremony is open to the public and will be followed by a tour of the training complex which includes an historical display commemorating the 50th anniversary of the State Police.

Environment theme for Armed Forces program Saturday

Something new is in the air this year as the Armed Forces Environmental Program opens its doors for the celebration of Armed Forces Day on Saturday. Instead of the traditional "Open House" program, in which military equipment and mission-oriented displays are shown to the public, the East Coast's largest military terminal has set its sights on a major problem affecting everyone: the war on pollution.

With the general theme of "Man and the Preservation of the Environment," Col. Clinton M. Hanks, USA, MOTBY's new commander, is joining with the community and industry in a four-hour "Open House" program dedicated to this new type of warfare.

Gates at the 32nd street entrance will admit the general public at 11 a.m. "The public is vitally aware and conscious of the need to preserve our natural resources both of human life and the environment that sustains life," commented Col. Hanks. "Significant contributions to the preservation of life and the environment have been and are being made by both government and industry. Therefore, we have invited the community--industry, civic, federal, military and just plain folk--to demonstrate what they are doing to help make their communities better places in which to live and to work."

More than 20 industries in the New York-New Jersey area have responded to invitations and will participate with exhibits, displays, and equipment depicting strides made in noise and smoke abatement, and modern waste disposal. Exhibits include: home trash compactors; pollution-free detergents; baling machines; oil slick removers; open hearth steel operation; water purifiers; reclamation processing, and machines that measure air pollution levels. As a departure, one company will feature a display on Apollo 11 with photographs, autographs and medals of the American Astronauts and the Russian Cosmonauts. For clean air advocates, a test car that runs on propane gas will be on view.

Expert to address narcotic conference

The social, political and scientific aspects of environmental management will be the theme of the W. Frank Knowles Institute for Ministers at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science June 7-9.

Environmental specialists from the college and other experts will speak at the two and a half-day conference, announces Wallace A. Mitcheltree, specialist in community life at the college and conference coordinator.

Topics to be covered the first day are urban environmental issues, nitrate pollution in the soil, some aspects of water pollution in New Jersey, and air pollution.

Noise, pesticide pollution, the politics of pollution, recycling and utilization of biodegradable wastes in the soil, managing New Jersey's woodland for outdoor recreation, problems in developing pollution standards, and civic planning for a clean environment will be discussed June 8.

Relativities of environmental perception of natural hazards, and morality of a clean environment are the topics for the last day of the conference.

Further information is available from Mitcheltree at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Box 231, New Brunswick 08903.

'Lost' tribe to get visitors Upsala couple aids Indians

An Upsala student and his fiancée plan to return to the interior of Mexico this summer as part of an anthropological expedition to an indigenous territory where most of the Indians are not aware a war is taking place in Vietnam.

John Daniel Brown of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and his fiancée, Margy L. Hurwitz of Palos Verdes, Cal., spent two months with other students and a professor in the territory last summer as part of a preliminary study of the antiquated living and working habits of two groups of Indians known as the Mazhua and the Otomi. This summer they hope to conduct more extensive research.

Their findings in the form of day to day notes were turned over to a Mexican Social Studies Institute which will synthesize the information for the purpose of bringing about improvements. Recently Brown and Miss Hurwitz participated in a symposium on stability and change in rural Mexico at the annual meeting of the Northeastern Anthropological Association at the State University of New York in Albany.

"It was like living in a different world," said Brown, of last summer's experiences. "Most of the Indians don't know about the war. They eat meat about once every two weeks and in the community of 3,500, where we resided, there are only two TV sets. The symbol of status is owning a radio or bed and there aren't very many of them."

Pottery manufacturing is the main industry there, but Brown pointed out that it is not exactly a profitable industry. A gross of 144 pots returns to the Indians a sum of less than $6.

THE AREA OF STUDY and research is about 800 miles from the U.S. border, but the expeditionary force refuses to divulge its exact location because it is feared identification might attract tourist curiosity seekers. It is in a region where the United Nations and the Mexican government are carrying out a program of social economic change.

Brown said he communicated with the Indians in Spanish and sometimes with an interpreter when the Indians did not speak Spanish. He found that the pottery workers usually arose at 3 a.m. and worked until the afternoon when the rains came, then retiring for the night at 7 o'clock.

The major problem is to convince the natives of the need for modern facilities, he said. A controversy still exists among them over why there is a need for electricity.

"To improve their way of living and their productivity output, they must be taught how to use technological changes that are new for them," Brown stated. "This could include any number of things--such as the use of new fertilizers, how to establish an orchard, how to use bulldozers and tractors and so on."

Masterwork appoints photography director

The board of directors of the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation announced this week that Alec Cohen, commercial and theatrical photographer, has been appointed the foundation's director of photography.

As his first duty, Cohen will lead a beginner's class and an intermediate class in the art of photography that will be held at Masterwork's headquarters, The Morris County Cultural Center, 300 Mendham rd., Morristown. Registration by telephone with The Masterwork Music and Art Foundation is scheduled weekdays between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Registration for the classes, each of ten sessions, will commence immediately. The first session of each class will be held on Monday.

State organization formed at meeting of nursing schools

An Association of Diploma Schools of Professional Nursing of New Jersey, the first of its type in the nation, has been formed at a recent meeting of representatives of 21 hospitals with schools of nursing.

Jack W. Owen, president of the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey, said the new group was organized "to improve and expand diploma schools of professional nursing" and "to further standards of excellence in nursing through unified action in an independent association."

The association will work with the Office of Medical and Allied Education within the State Department of Higher Education to review and consider the recommendations set forth in the National Commission for the Study of Nursing and Nursing Education, Owen said. He added:

"Specifically, the Association of Diploma Schools of Professional Nursing in New Jersey will:

- "1. Determine and meet the needs of diploma nursing education in New Jersey.
- "2. Work cooperatively within the group and with local, state and national groups.
- "3. Foster communication among diploma schools and colleges.
- "4. Assist faculties to continue their education.

- "5. Interpret the goals and objectives of diploma nursing education to the public.
- "6. Initiate and support appropriate measures which enhance nursing education.
- "7. Identify and secure economic resources to achieve the goals of the association.
- "8. Evaluate annually the goals of the association."

YMHA will begin travel program for teenagers on July 1

Mrs. Stanley Levy, chairman of the camp committee of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Union, has announced the offering of a seven-week travel program for teenagers entering the 9th, 10th or 11th grade as of Sept. 1. The program will be known as "Teen Tours," and will run on a four-day-a-week schedule Monday through Thursday beginning Thursday, July 1, through Wednesday, Aug. 18.

The entire program will be conducted in conjunction with the Perth Amboy JCC Teen Tour program, which offers teenagers an opportunity to develop friendships outside of their present circle of acquaintances.

The program features a 15-day tour of New York State and New England. In addition to visits to places of interest, a good portion of time will be spent fishing, canoeing, sailing, swimming and horseback riding. There also will be approximately 10 one-day trips to places of interest or amusement, such as the Garden State Arts Center, Asbury Park, Shea Stadium, summer stock theaters, roller skating rinks and Palisades Amusement Park. A special of the camp will be one day a week devoted to "working with children and adults in a meaningful, helpful capacity."

Air conditioned modern coach buses will be used on all trips. Registration will be accepted only for the full seven weeks, and the fee is $295. Family membership in the Y is required for participation in the program. Carl Shackman may be contacted at the Y for application forms and additional information.

Scouting district has Camp-O-Ree

Northern District of Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a Friendship Camp-O-Ree in Bierneupfel Park on Saturday and Sunday. It will include most of the packs and troops from Union and Springfield.

The event will start with a unit inspection by the commissioner staff headed by Patrick W. Lee, of Union, district commissioner, at 8 a.m. Saturday. The rest of the morning will be spent in setting up camp sites and booths. Each troop will be responsible for a booth showing handicraft which they have completed in the last year.

In the afternoon there will be skill events for both the packs and troops. The sites will also be inspected.

During the day, Murry Hurwitz of Springfield will be roasting beef on an open spit for the supper meal. Each Scout Webelos who is staying over will participate in the supper. At 8:30 p.m. there will be a camp fire.

The public is welcome to attend. Approximately 1,000 Cubs, Scouts and adults will participate. Hot dogs and soda will be on sale all day.

Registration under way for camp for retarded

Registration is in progress for Camp Star, the summer day camp of the Union County Unit, New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Camp Star serves mildly, moderately, and severely retarded children (aged four and over) and adults. Campers may attend any or all of the three two-week sessions, which will run from June 28 to Aug. 6. Mrs. Richard Olsen, recreation chairman of the Union County Unit, said this week that in response to requests a seventh week of camp is being considered.

Campers are bused from points near their homes to the campsite in Echo Lake Park, Mountainside. They attend camp five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. On rainy days the program is held indoors at the Union County Unit's Day Care Center in Winfield Park.

Activities at Camp Star are similar to those at other camps: team sports, arts and crafts, boating, music, hiking, fishing, nature study, dramatics, story time, and cookouts. There is a daily swim, with instruction, at the nearby Quality Motel in Springfield. During each two-week session there are excursions to such places as the Central Park Zoo and Palisades Amusement Park, and there is an overnight campout. In addition there are special events, such as a puppet show, a masquerade party, or a variety show.

Because of the particular needs of the campers, the program emphasizes self-help, meaningful social experiences, language development, and improvement of coordination. But the counselors, many of whom return year after year, are adept at combining skill-building with fun.

For the fifth year, the camp will be directed by Dennis Paporello, a special education teacher. The Paporello's are teachers and college students, most of whom are majoring in special education or related fields. There are also special interest counselors for music and crafts, a certified lifeguard, and a number of volunteer aides. A typical group at Camp Star

Day Care Center nearing completion

The Jefferson Park Day Care Center being built at 485 Madison ave., Elizabeth, under the sponsorship of the Elizabeth Section of the National Council of Jewish Women is expected to be completed this spring.

This was announced by members of the Elizabeth Section, which is composed of women from Elizabeth and surrounding communities.

The Day Care Center, which will operate as an independent non-profit organization, is being built with funds contributed anonymously by a retired industrialist as well as a grant from a foundation and matching moneys from industry, business and individuals.

A representative of the sponsoring organization added that "financial and moral support" is needed from the community.

The center is designed to accommodate 60 children between the ages of three and six.

Those interested in serving as volunteers have been asked to contact Mrs. Mort Gershman at 989 Kipling rd., Elizabeth, 354-8197, who is NCJW representative to the board of the Day Care Center.

Class is in good spirits Students cook up beer, wine

There's something brewing in the chemistry laboratory at the Cranford campus of Union College these days that smells suspiciously like beer. It is beer. And for those who have more sophisticated tastes, there's a baker of apple wine. There's no clandestine still at work behind the ivy covered walls. It's all part of the chemistry program, according to Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion: Cut down on the high cost of getting around. And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $5XXX. That's around $1200 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (leave it in the bank. More's coming.)

A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil. Not one iota of antifreeze.

And it gets about 26 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14. So the more you drive, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face. Try putting that in the bank.

will consist of about twelve campers of similar age and ability, with a counselor for every two or three.

Additional information and registration forms may be obtained from the Union County Unit, New Jersey Association for Retarded Children, 562 Boulevard, Kenilworth 07033. Contributions to the unit's campership fund may also be sent to that address; such donations make it possible for financial aid to be extended to families that cannot pay the full fee.

In the near future the unit will announce plans for a ten-day residential camp to be held in late summer.

Games highlight YMHA picnic

The annual family picnic of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union, will be held in the Dippe's Wood area of Warinanco Park from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, May 23.

The four-hour program will include potato sack races, egg throwing contests and baseball.

The highlight of the afternoon will be a watermelon feast. Families have been asked to bring their own food and grills.
