Patricia Knodel

Patricia Knodel, incumbent member of the Mountainside Board of Education, and a candidate for reelection to a three-year term on the board, stated her platform can be summed up in very few words, "I stand for quality education at a reasonable cost."

'However," Mrs. Knodel continued, "in Mountainaide, I believe we have already gone beyond what can be called a reasonable cost. It is time to examine every penny of the tax-payers' money that is spent for education, to make sure that money is well spent."

Continuing her criticism of the handling of funds, Mrs. Knodel said, "I think the Mountainside Board of Education today must study and examine thoroughly every proposal put before it by the superintendent of schools and the board secretary. The board must not act as a rubber stamp to these administrators. If the board takes the time to investigate, they can save money."

University and has taught on the college level. He has served on the Board of Education since May 1972, when he was appointed to fill an unexpired term, and is now seeking election to a three-year term

Continuing his discussion on education, Krause explained one reason he chose to serve on the board: "I feel very strongly about the need for good teaching. The learning experience for a child is almost totally dependent on his relationship with the teacher, and 1 wanted to help provide the climate which would attract good teachers and in which students can learn. In fact, one of the reasons I was attracted to Mountainside as a place to live was ### only dissenting vote

The Mountainside Board of Education approved a total budget of $1,997,727 for the 1973 74 school year, following a hearing last week at the Deerfield School. The board's vote was 6-1. with Patricia Knodel casting the dissenting ballot on the total figure, up $73,330, or 3.8 percess, from the 1972-73 budget. The budget will now go before the voters on Feb. 13.

The current expense portion of the budget is $1.81-455, or 90.7 percent of the total. Of this. the local tax levy totals $1,560,655, and is the only figure that will be presented to the voters in the February elections. The levy is up $54.852. or 2.6 percent, representing an average focrease of $14 in taxes for a home assessed at $50.00

In introducing the budget, board member Orville White told the approximately 100 persons in attendance that the board had two primary objectives in drawing up the expense figures "to try and maintain first-quality education at the lowest reasonable cost to taxpayers, and to hold the line on rising costs."

The current expense figure, which has increased $89,450, covers nine categories: instruction, plant operation, administration, fixed charges, plant maintenance, transportation, attendance and health, student activities and summer school.

The instructional portion is budgeted for a total of $1,223,290, an increase of $39,825. Of this 79.2 percent, or $873,435, is earmarked for teachers' salaries. Other monies will go toward salaries for principals, supervisors, bedside and substitute teachers, secretaries, librarians, guidance counsellors, team personnel and aides bringing the total salary cost to $1,145.325, a $38,090 increase. Also covered by instructional funds are textbooks, libraries, A mdi visual material, teaching supplies and other expenses.

Project leads to troop 14 boys in new unit at hospital

Several months after the original idea, a Boy Scout unit, Troop 110, has been established at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside

Mrs. David Wagner, former member of the hospital staff, and Mark Osbahr, senior patrol leader of Troop 177 at the Community Presbyterian Church, began the troop with patients at the hospital. Now there are 14 boys divided into two patrols. They worked on tenderfoot and second class requirements, had a hike and picnic in the Watchung Reservation and visited the Scout museum in New Brunswick.

Mark's work was part of a project to attain the rank of Eagle Scout. Since then, the troop has formed its own staff. Kurt Bauer is scoutmaster and Donald Pote is his assistant. Edward Hartnett is chairman and Fred Bittner is treasurer. Bruce Gollob, as part of his Eagle project, is now senior patrol leader.

Another Eagle project that resulted to the benefit of the new troop was the chopping down of trees into firewood. Carl Kolts of Troop 177 cut down trees on property at the Community Presbyterian Church, and split them into firewood for a $190 profit.

He then donated the money to Troop 110 at the hospital. Assisting Carl in the project were Lou Borchurt, Bob Kolts, Jim Goense, Helmut Grimm, Art Silva, Curt Mulligan and members of the troop.

"Last year all such transportation went to one cab company," she said. "This year we brought the cost down $7,300, a savings of 36 percent. This was done through competitive bidding. Parents are allowed to bid and transport their own youngsters, under contract to the board.'

Mrs. Knodel, who cast the only dissenting vote against the 1973-74 school budget, also "I am concerned that the price of stated. education is forcing many taxpayers in our community, particularly senior citizens, to move elsewhere. We cannot allow this to happen, not even in the name of education." Mrs. Knodel, during her term on the board,

Mrs. Palmer asks board to reconsider Echobrook plans

Trudy Palmer a candidate for the Moun-tainside Board of Education, this week called upon the board to reconsider its plan to phase out the Echobrook School.

Mrs. Palmer stated, "Based on the study of only one member of the school board (who did not seek professional opinion, studies, or recommendations), the board has decided Echobrook must be phased out. To those of you not familiar with the Echobrook situation let nie acquaint you with the facts.

"The master planning board of the Borough of Mountainside in their plan of 1965 showed, athong other changes, Echobrick would be chused and the building sold to the borough for a numerical building. maintaining quality education in Mountainside.'

"We're approaching a difficult time," the 40year-old candidate said, "with dropping enrollment forecast and a declining birth rate, and we will be under severe pressure to cut costs.

"Generally, the first place it is felt is in what some people consider unnecessary 'frills.' But I feel many of these 'frills' are what result in our quality program, and before we cut them we must see if we are sacrificing something important, something which other boards worked hard to get."

Regarding the current controversy over the possible phaseout of the Echobrook School, Krause said his opinions on the situation are well known.

I don't believe the school should be closed at this time, and I don't feel there's that much to be gained in terms of monetary savings by a partial closing," he stated.

He said the recent PTA survey indicated "no clear cut in entering students, and it even looks like there will be a slight increase. I don't feel we should deviate from the three-school system.

DISCUSSING PROBLEMS (acing the board, Krause again cited the difficulty in maintaining the quality aspects of an educational program in the face of a still-possible decreased enrollment and rising costs. "The compound effect results in a high cost per student, but this

Candidates' night for the Mountainside Board of Education election and for the one Mountainside seat on the Regional High School board will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the allpurpose room of the Beechwood School.

All candidates said they expect to be present and each will be given the opportunity to express his qualifications and concerns to the audience. The public, in turn, will have the chance to ask questions from the floor. Gene Simpson will be the moderator for the evening, which is sponsored by the Mountainside PTA.

The candidates are: for the two three-year terms, Mrs. Patricia Knodel and Dr. Irving Krause, both incumbents; for the two one-year terms, Trudy Palmer, Stephen Rose and an incumbent. Orville White.

The candidates for the Mountainside seat on the Regional High School Board are Mrs. Beaulicta Naas and the Incumbent, Dr. Minor C' K) Jones.

The Regional High School election for can didates and budget is Feb. 6 at the Deerfield Schools and the Mountainside election for candidates and budget is Feb. 13, also at the Wield School. Polls will be open from 2 until pin, on both days.

MUSIC FOR A RAINY DAY - Students in the vocal music department of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will ring doorbells throughout Springfield and Mountainside on Saturday, which has been designated 'Umbrella Day.' Some 40 teenagers will sell men's and women's plastic umbrellas of all types to raise funds for trips and out-of-town concerts by the choral groups at the high school. A spokesman for the Vocal Parents Society said orders for umbrellas to keep in the home, office or car or for gifts can be placed in advance with Mrs. K. L. Sklar at 379-9017. Shown are, from left, Lois Roth, Merrie Williams and Caryn Groder. Prices for the umbrellas range from $2 to $4.50. (Photo by Morey Epstein)

Mountainside Recreation unit reelects Nelson as chairman

The Mountainside Recreation Commission last Thursday evening accepted appointments made by the Borough Council for the commission. Reappointed were Billie Lou Hance, James Foties and Harold Nelson; these members will serve on the commission until Dec. 31: 1977.

A new appointee to the commission is Matthew Powers, to serve until Dec. 31, 1973. Over the past summer, James Kellerk was appointed to fill an unexpired term.

Nelson was reelected chairman of the commission. Nelson has served on the commission since 1966. He resides on Ridge drive with his wife, Terry, and their four children, Beth Ann, Ricky, Mary Jo and Norine. Mrs. Hance has served on the commission since the summer of 1972. Before that time Mrs. Hance was the manager of the girls' softball program, which is a league for girls in grades 5.8. ### Adult schools offer a 10-week course for bird watchers

"For the Birds," a course for amateur bird watchers, will be offered in the spring semester of both the Cranford and Westfield adult schools

The 10-week course, designed to develop the skills of birding, rather than bird watching, is taught by Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer of Cranford, director of institutional research and assistant to the president at Union College. Prof. Swackhamer is also an amateur ornithologist and author of the column, "For the Birds," which appears monthly in some 30 New Jersey newspapers. The Cranford Adult School will offer the course on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.. beginning Feb. 6. In Westfield, the course will be given on Mondays from 7:50 to 8:50 p.m., beginning Monday

Registration for the Cranford Adult School will be held next Thursday, and Monday, Feb. 5, from 7 to 9 p.m., and on opening night if space is available Westfield Adult School registration was held this week

"For the Birds" is not a formal ornithology course," according to Prof. Swackhamer, "but a popular approach to the subject." Topics to be covered include bird migration, navigation, identification, clues to look for in the field, attracting birds to your back yard, evolution of birds, behavior, courtship, territorial protection, seasonal changes and bird photography Prof. Swackhamer also intends to include in the course a section on the Great Salt Marsh and the role of birds in ecology studies. The lectures will be illustrated with slides taken by Prof. Swackhamer and from the film library of Cornell University

Prof. Swackhamer is a member of the American Ornithologists Union, the national Audubon Society, the New Jersey Audubon Society, the North Eastern Bird Banding Association and the Cooper Ornithological Society. He is also a volunteer observer for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the U.S. Department of the Interior

Selection of the EXXON name involved research over a period of more than three years. The world's principal languages were studied to avoid undesirable meanings or connotations, as well as avoiding difficult pronounciations that might bother foreign-born customers.

Environment is given priority by pupils over space flights

Can there ever be an efficient balance among the problems of energy, environment and economics? This question, stated differently, had been floating around the sixth grade classroom at Our Lady of Lourdes School. Mountainside

The idea arose when some of the students began reading about space flights. Peter Rosato, their teacher, asked if they had thought that the money for space exploration was worth

Administration costs have gone up $1,305 to $108,680. This section covers salaries and expenses of the Board of Education office, the superintendent of schools' office, attorney's and auditor's fees, negotiator's fee and election expenses. The largest portion of this total is $83,700 designated for salaries.

Fixed charges total $106,890, up $7,900 from the current figure, and takes in employees' pensions, social security, property and liability insurance, employee benefits and tuition. Board member Thomas Spina, in explaining the charges, said that no additional employe benefits are being negotiated, and none are foreseen during the budget year.

Pupil transportation under contracted services will cost $65,490, a decrease of $2,585. The money provides for taxi and bus transportation for public and private schools and for field trips

Plant maintenance, including repair of grounds and buildings, replacement and repair of equipment, totals $89,600, up $37,870. Board member James Keating said part of the increase was due to a transfer of 2¼ staff members from the custodial to the maintenance section, because of the duties they were performing. Also covered is a $15,000 appropriation for planned repair work on the roofs of the Deerfield and Beechwood schools. --0--0-

ATTENDANCE AND health monies total $35,420, an increase of $5,470 from the current year. The funds cover the attendance office, school psychiatrist, doctor, dentist, nurses and health supplies. Board member Walter Rupp said the increase is due in part to recent legislation ordering that school nurses be paid on the teachers' salary guide.

Student activities, covering coaches and supplies, are budgeted at $6,730, an increase of $1,430. Rupp stated that during the coming school year, an effort would probably be made to widen sports activities for both boys and girls, with plans under consideration to institute either a track or a cross-country program.

Summer school appropriation is listed at $18,000, up $7,500. The figure includes restoration of the summer enrichment program. There has been an increased interest in that area, and Rupp pointed out that parents would also share the costs of such a program. Besides current expenses, the two other major portions of the total budget are capital outlay, $5,200; and debt service, $181,072.

Capital outlay, which represents additions or improvements of sites, buildings and equipment, this year covers piping part of an open ditch at the rear of the Deerfield School. The total is down $10,825 from 1972-73.

Debt service represents the amount of money needed to pay for bonded indebtedness for the fiscal year. It includes the payment of interest at the rate specified on bonds, plus a year's amortization of the principal. In other words, it is a fixed rate representing commitments authorized under previously approved referenda. The 1973-74 total is $181,072, down $5,295

Board revenue totals $1,997,727 and includes the balance appropriated from unexpended revenues of past budgets, local tax levy, state and tuition and miscellaneous revenue. Local taxes account for 87.2 percent of the total.

FOLLOWING PRESENTATION of the budget, the hearing was opened to audience participation, and the majority of questions reflected continuing interest in the Echobrook School situation

One resident asked if the phasing out of three classes there would require additional facilities at other schools, but board president Grant Lennox stated pupils would be fitted into existing classrooms. He said the long-range plan is to eventually retire Echobrook.

If the decision were made to retire it permanently and enrollment then increased, he said, there would have to be a referendum to provide new facilities, but if the school were only temporarily closed, use of it could be reinstituted. Residents continued their criticism of the planned phase-out, pointing out that the school houses not only classrooms, but facilities for a speech therapist, remedial reading teachers, music and art teachers and librarians, as well as the offices of the superintendent of schools.

At past meetings, citizens had discussed the possibility of voting against the budget as a means of protesting the Echobrook issue, but at the budget hearing, board member Krause spoke against such ideas.

He stressed the "flexibility" of the proposed budget, stating the three teachers who are to be dropped do not necessarily have to come from Echobrook. He also explained the additional teacher does not necessarily have to instruct foreign languages, and a contingency teacher is provided for.

ideas; the one in the spotlight at present is the board's study of the Echobrook School and its possible phaseout

'We are at present strangled by increased taxes forced on us by the expansion program the Regional Board of Education put forth in 1971. I would be very reluctant to advocate closing that school (Echobrook) and disposing of it, and then having to go to the public to ask for other facilities. I don't think the taxpayers would tolerate it," she said. Mrs. Knodel cited the PTA survey which showed the kindergarten population would rise in September 1974.

DISCUSSING ARGUMENTS that Echobrook's class sizes are too small, the candidate said, "I'm not upset over small class sizes in kindergarten through third grade. The function of an elementary district is to teach the 3 Rs and anyone who knows something about education will tell you the most important thing is to have small classes in the first three grades, when the children are learning to read. The two most important factors for quality education are excellent teachers and small classes. Mrs. Knodel also commented on the interest of the citizens who have come before the board to question the Echobrook situation. "Having been a member of a citizens' committee which appealed to the Regional board three years ago, I feel many citizens are sincere, and information which they present to the board should be given very careful consideration There are times when citizens' committees are correct and the board is wrong, or when such a formation it did not possess." Mrs. Knodel stated she decided to run for reelection "because I'm enjoying the job. I've learned a great deal, but I don't feel I've learned all there is to know about being a school board member. I'd be the first to admit I don't know all the answers, but I am extremely interested in finding them." Mrs. Knodel is the former Patricia Conway of Union. She and her husband John reside at 250 Knollcreat rd. They have eight children : Mary, 17, a senior at Gov. Livingston; John Jr., 16, a junior there; Joseph, 15, a sophomore; Liz, 14, an eighth-grader at the Deerfield School; James, 13, a seventh-grader ; Patrick, 11, in the sixth grade; Paul, 7, in the second grade at Deerfield, and William, 6, a first-grader there.

Mrs. Knodel received a bachelor of arts degree in biology, physical sciences and elementary education from Caldwell College, and also majored in elementary education at Montclair State College. She has taught at St. Paul's School, Irvington, in the public school system of Edison Township, and for three years in the Mountainside school system.

Representatives at heritage meeting

Mrs. Pat Hannigan and Mrs. Matthew Powers, were liaison representatives from Mountainside attending a recent meeting of the Union County Cultural and Heritage Commission at Union College, Cranford.

The commission is coordinating activities for the national bicentennial celebration in 1976. Individual sessions covered goals in communities, historical projects and municipal preparations.

Mrs. Garrett M. Keating, chairman of the Commission, spoke on programs now underway in the fields of art and architecture. She said, a cultural-heritage directory of Union County will be published, while in the planning stages is an architectural directory.

Mrs. Joseph Pate, commissioner for the bicentennial, said a brochure would appear this spring and list all historical landmarks open to the public She mentioned, as one of the group's goals, the acquisition of uniform site markers.

a problem all communities face," he said. But he reiterated that entering enrollment will probably go back up "and alleviate the situation somewhat." Krause does, however, see a more serious problem on the horizon: "a two-horned dilemma, the first horn of which is the fact that state is now under judicial order to equalize the money spent per student for education throughout the state.

"In communities like Mountainside," he said, "we stand to lose either in money available per student, which is reflected in quality education for students, or by increased taxes. It also means there will be much less municipal control over the school system. The state will usurp the local board's prerogatives.

"The other horn of the dilemma is that in small municipalities such as Mountainside we reall equipped to deal with some problems. particularly the rising cost of teachers. Small communities find it difficult to bargain collectively with teachers and have to rely on the teachers' sense of professionalism and respect for the community. We do have that in Mountainside, and we rely on the teachers in order not to be confronted with inordinate salary demands.

Krause pointed out the largest part of the school budget and tax outlay goes toward salaries, but he also noted that he considers Mountainside to have "a warm relationship with its teachers, because of the sincerity of the # Family Safety Messages!

January 1, 1973 was the first day that 18 to 20-year-old cifizens could legally purchase and consume alcholic beverages in New Jersey: this began a new era of responsible driving for approximately 480,000 young adults.

PROBLEM

Alcohol is the most important human factor known to be causally related to severe injury. Under certain conditions, one drink may affect a driver's judgment, may interfere with his or her normal alertness, especially the inexperienced driver or inexperienced drinker. Such a driver may become overconfident, careless, more likely to take chances -running through a red light, passing on a curb, speeding; alcohol can also make it more difficult to escape from a crashed vehicle or obscure a diagnosis and impede emergency medical treatment.

The problem was first identified in 1904, and was first shown to be serious in 1924. Since then, every competent investigation has demonstrated that the immoderate use of alcohol is the largest factor in highway crashes, especially the most violent. In fact, alcohol has been found to be the largest single factor leading to fatal crashes, and to a high percentage of the more numerous non-fatal crashes

RESULTS OF THE ABUSE OF ALCOHOL

The United States Department of Transportation in a report to Congress on alcohol and highway safety, indicated that the use of the drug, alcohol, by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 25,000 deaths and at least 800,000 crashes each year. Especially tragic is the fact that so much of the loss of lives, limbs and property damage involves completely innocent parties.

Highway Safety and the Drinking Driver . . . A Public Health Problem

ing, although shown to have adverse effects, is not the source of most of the problem, but its exact role is at present unknown because of insufficient research.

WHO IS THE PROBLEM

The social drinker, in the past, has been labeled as the major problem in the drinking driver problem. More recent studies indicate that the major proportion of drinking drivers in-volved in crashes, especially severe to fatal crashes, have a high blood alcohol level. This does not mean that the "social drinker" is not involved in drinking driver crashes, but does indicate that the "drunken driver" is the biggest single problem on our streets and highways even though social drinkers vastly outnumber the heavy drinkers.

Nevertheless, whether he is a problem drinker, an inexperienced drinker, a social drinker, or just an occasional drinker, a driver must be aware of what alcohol does to him when he chooses to drink

Most people have the idea that a few drinks will not affect their driving ability. This is a mistake. Drinkers themselves are never the best ones to judge their own ability after a few drinks. The scientific fact is that the critical judgment of a driver and his ability to react quickly in emergencies can be impaired after only a few drinks.

HOW TO TELL WHAT YOUR BLOOD ALCOHOL LEVEL IS AFTER DRINKING

ALCOHOL IS A DEPRESSANT

Some people have the mistaken notion that a drink gives a lift or stimulates the drinker, thus making him or her a better driver. Alcohol does not stimulate, it depresses. It depresses the central nervous system and removes inhibitions and social restraints. This is the so-called lift which gives the impression of stimulation.

Contrary to popular belief coffee or other stimulants will not overcome the effects of alcohol; only time and body processes will accomplish this end.

A full stomach tends to slow the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the blood stream, but it doesn't keep the alcohol from reaching the brain. It only delays it.

ENTER ALCOHOL

When alcohol enters the stomach in the form of a beverage. it is absorbed through the walls of the small intestine into the blood stream. The blood carries the alcohol to all parts of the body which contain water, including the brain. In the brain, alcohol first depresses the area of higher functions, which includes judgment, social restraint, etc. Next, it attacks the simple motor functions, reaction time and vision. Balance, coordination and sensory perception are the next faculties to be impaired.

HOW DOES IT ACT?

There are several physiological factors which affect the absorption of alcohol into the blood stream; amount of food in the stomach, type of food, type of alcoholic beverage, body weight, drinking habits. None of these factors will keep the alcohol from reaching the brain-although they may slow down or speed up absorption time.

The most important factors contributing to alcoholic influence are the amount of alcohol absorbed into the blood through the stomach. Thus, the alcohol in liquor diluted with water is absorbed most slowly, the alcohol in liquor diluted with soda is absorbed somewhat faster, and the alcohol in straight liquor is absorbed fastest of all

. The flavor of the liquor does not affect the drinker. It's the alcohol content that affects him. Each liquor has a differ-ent flavor because each is made from different ingredients Whiskey is made from grain such as corn, barley, rye, vodka from corn, other cereals, and potatoes, rum from molasses, gin from alcohol flavored with juniper berries

· Switching, or mixing, won't make you drunker because the degree of drunkenness is determined by the total amount of alcohol your blood absorbs, not by the flavor of the beverage However, for some people switching is, more likely to cause nausea and vomiting, possibly be cause of the different flavorings and mixers used.

WHY PEOPLE REACT DIFFERENTLY TO ALCOHOL

BODY WEIGHT: A 180-pound person has more blood and other fluids in his body than does a 120-pound person. Thus, the same amount of alcohol will be more diluted in the heavier person's blood stream, and should not affect him as soon or as strongly as it will affect the 120-pound person.

BODY CHEMISTRY: Every person has special conditions within his own body, and many researchers believe that a person's internal functioning may affect his reactions to alcohol Some people can drink a great deal of alcohol and seem to remain quite sober. There are others who react with nausea and vomiting when drinking even small amounts of alcohol

PSYCHOLOGICAL FACTORS

SITUATION: A businessman, having dinner with a friend, may feel slightly high after one drin with his boss the next night, one drink may not seem to affect him at all; he is keeping a tighter grip on his behavior. In the same way, a high school boy may find that one beer makes him noisy and boisterous when he is horsing around with other boys at a friend's house-but he can suddenly quiet down when the friend's parents come home.

In New Jersey every year, thousands of drivers are arrested by police officers for driving under the influence of alcohol. These drivers lose their license and possibly their jobs and educational opportunities.

Consumption of alcohol has been human indulgence since the beginning of history and yet we find that many people including drivers are unaware of its affects on the human body and mind.

Hopefully we are entering what may be called the "realistic public action program" era of coping with the drinking driver. There is emerging a more accurate picture of the substantial role played by alcohol in traffic safety and particularly in fatal crashes

The Department of Transportation's research report indicates that many adults use the highways at least occasionally after drinking. However, the scientific evidence is that the problem is primarily one of persons, predominantly men, who have been drinking heavily, to an extent rare among drivers and pedestrians not involved in crashes.

"Alcoholics and other problem drinkers, who constitute a small minority of the general population, account for a large part of the overall problem. Their involvement in highway crashes and violations after drinking heavily is one of the many traffic derivatives of their deviacy and pathological behavior in society as a whole, and to be dealt with properly must be approached in the larger context.

Fatal and other crashes of teenagers and young adults also requently involve hazardous amounts of alcohol. Adults the use alcohol immoderately, but not identified as problem Inhibits by the research to date, are also frequently involved. A the basis of considerative scientific evidence, light prime

It is true that even a very intoxicated person can perform the mechanical functions of driving. He can start the car, get it going and steer it (all badly), but the important point is that he doesn't have the judgment and the reflexes to do these things safely.

and the amount of time allowed for the elimination of this alcohol. The human body works to change alcohol into food and/or to pass it out of the body, but it can do so only at a relatively slow rate.

HOW MANY DRINKS?

To be safe and sure, none, if you are soon to drive your auto-mobile. This does not mean that you cannot have a drink with your dinner and an hour later get behind the wheel of your car. In that one hour most of the alcohol will have been eliminated.

The more alcohol there is in the blood, the longer you must wait until you can drive safely. Figure one hour for each bottle of beer or each ounce of whiskey.

WHEN IS THE DANGEROUS TIME OF DAY

Crashes involving alcohol occur anytime of day. However they are more likely to occur during late atternoon, evening and mignight hours, especially on Saturday evening and early Sunday morning.

FACTS ABOUT ALCOHOL

• Alcohol is a special type of drug; it affects the nervous system after it reaches the brain.

Straight-liquor reaches the brain faster because it is absorbed into the blood stream faster than liquor which is difuted

But when liquor is diluted, what you use as a mixer has an influence on absorption of the alcohol. The carbonation in soda or ginger ale will speed the passage of the alcohol a had all t

MOOD: A person's emotions can affect drinking behavia When he is at ease, he is likely to stop after he feels the real laxing effect of one drink. But at another time when he tense or angry, he may feel pressured to continue drinking ATTITUDES: How a person feels about using alcohol des pends to a degree of ideas he absorbed while growing up For instance, if his parents served drinks when friends dropped in, he may look on drinking as an occasional activity, tied in with socializing, and to be used in moderation. Someone else, who often heard adults speak of "needing a drink" in times of trouble, might look on drinking as a neces-sity whenever he is faced with a serious problem.

DRINKING EXPERIENCE: The person who is used to alcohol recognizes when it is beginning to interfere with his judg-ment and coordination. Certain reactions wern him, when to stop drinking; and he has learned certain ways to control his behavior.

The inexperienced drinker does not have a clear picture of how he reacts to alcohol; nor has he learned to control his reactions. In fact, since he is expecting the alcohol to go to his head, he may purposely behave with less control. Also, he is unsure of when to stop, so he may drink more than he can handle. ×.

this week that earnings for the year ended Dec 31, 1972, were $101.2 million or $2.44 a common share, compared to $110.6 million or $3 a share in 1971. The average number of shares outstanding in 1972 was 41,540,922 as against 36,876,008 in 1971.

The decrease in earnings for the year was due to a variety of factors, including increased state gross receipts taxes, labor costs, interest charges, and one of the company's base load generating units was inoperative for virtually all of 1972

Revenues were up, but expenses rose at an even faster rate during 1972. Revenues amounted to $970.9 million last year, as against $885.5 million in 1971. Total operating expenses, however, rose from $707.0 million in 1971 to $792.5 million in 1972

Kilowatt hours sales of electricity in 1972 increase 4.4 percent and therm sales of gas increased 3.5 percent over 1971

PSE&G reported earnings improved during the last quarter of 1972 compared to the same period in 1971 Earnings available for common stock for the three months ended Dec 31, 1972, amounted to 67 cents a share as compared with 55 cents per share in the last guarter of 1971 Revenues for the last quarter of 1972 totaled $254.6 million as against $220.7 million in the last guarter of 1971. ### NJEA conference to feature innovative teaching methods to

To acquaint teachers and parents with effective new practices in classroom instruction the New Jersey Education Association will conduct a "good ideas" conference Saturday. Mar. 3, at Monmouth College.

Organized by NJEA's instruction division, the conference will give about 80 teachers and college professors the chance to demonstrate successful creative projects to educators and to the public. It will be the second such conference NJEA has staged at the West Long Branch campus.

"We invite parents to attend the conference. to see how teachers throughout New Jersey are putting innovative ideas into practice," said Dr. Leo Hilton, professor of education at William Paterson College and chairman of NJEA's instruction committee. "It's also a chance for students and teachers to exchange ideas on new instructional projects."

Many of the teachers invited to demonstrate their "good ideas" are award winners in New Jersey's Teacher Innovations Program-"minigrants" of up to $1,000 to fund imaginative instructional experiments. The minigrant program, established by the 1968 Legislature at NJEA's request, is supervised by the N-J. State Department of Education.

The demonstrators also include contributors to the "good ideas" columns of the NJEA Review, the association's monthly journal, and "Speaking of Schools," NJEA's publicservice radio program produced in cooperation Teachers

Some of the "good ideas" concern the basic conclusion subjects, including demonstrations of math lunch. games, writing skills, and "funny phonics." The gamut ranges from the teaching of rocketry to helping children to develop positive self-concepts

Business courses offered by ICBO to Save fuel--and money--by following these hints minority applicants

Malcolm L. Corrin, executive director of the Interracial Council For Business Opportunity (ICBO) of New Jersey, this week announced the spring semester courses that comprise the ICBO business education and management training program will again be held at the Rutgers Newark campus.

The courses will start the week of Feb. 26. and are free. Since these courses are always over-subscribed, minority group members who are interested should apply at once. Four courses will be presented: Record Keeping, bookkeeping, and two courses in business management. Each course is presented one night per week for a ten-week period, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Certificates are given to those students who complete the requirements

Applicants can enroll by mail or by telephone by contacting Bernard H Saperstein, education director, at the ICBO office, 24 Commerce st , Newark, or by calling (201) 622-4771

The record-keeping course will include single entry bookkeeping, inventory records, pay-roll, bank checking account reconciliations, ventory control, petty cash, and related matters

Bookkeeping will discuss accounts, balance sheets, income statements, trial balance, and other elements of theory and practice.

Business Management I discusses such questions as 'Do I belong in Business?, business pitfalls, location, mark-up, leases, how to buy, how to sell, fraud protection, franchising, etc.

Business Management II gets into the areas of borrowing money to expand a business, net worth, advertising, business law, insurance, credit, investing, the stock market, business vocabulary, and more sophisticated aspects of entrepreneurship.

ICBO is a voluntary, non-profit organization created by the Urban League and the American Jewish Congress to assist black and Spanish speaking people as well as other minorities to organize and operate their own businesses Through the use of volunteers from the business and professional sectors, applicants are given free one-to-one counseling in their specific business areas. In order to furthur the chances of success in the business world of the new entrepreneur and to better acquaint him with the managerial responsibilities involved, ICBO has developed its management training program which has been acknowledged by representatives of the Ford Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation to be among the best in the United States

"Extended cold weather, abetted by heavy snow and ice storms curtailing deliveries, have caused fuel shortages in various parts of the country,' said J. Morgan Van Hise, acting director of State Civil Defense-Disaster Control

"Experts have advised us that although New Jersey is in no immediate danger of a fuel shortage this winter," he said, "it would be prudent for householders to follow conservative measures to trim heating costs.

The following suggestions are from the New Jersey Petroleum Council and other sources:

- Try not to jiggle your thermostat; this won't make your heating system more efficient as some people believe. In winter, try to keep the normal thermostat setting no higher than 72 degrees - once you pass this point, your heating costs and energy consumption rise significantly. Close off heat in rooms not in use If you're going to be away for the weekend, lower the thermostat about five degrees; if you plan a winter vacation for longer periods of time, lower the thermostat to 55 degrees.

If you have an oil furnace, burners should be adjusted at least once a year to prevent wasted fuel

Install additional insulation where possible both overhead and inside walls. Is your attic insulated? If not, you may be spending money to heat or cool outdoors.

Install storm windows or cover the outside of windows with plastic available in most hardware stores

Use weather stripping or caulk around all windows and doors. Sealing off cracks and openings around windows and doors can save you from 10 to 30 percent of your annual heating and cooling costs.

- Make sure that furnace filters are clean, they may need to be replaced. Dirty filters cause poor distribution of heat, waste fuel and will shorten the life of your heating equipment. Change filters at least once each heating

Don't place objects in front of heating registers; your heating system will have to work harder to keep you comfortable.

Close fireplace dampers when fireplace is not in use that there are no obstructions in cold air returns and hot air runs.

- If you have decorative radiator covers, be sure they're not trapping heat. If your radiators are near cold walls, a sheet of aluminum or aluminum foil between the wall and the radiator will reflect heat back into the room that otherwise would have been lost. Thin coatings of dust on radiators or baseboard units act as insulation and waste heat-dust or vacuum these surfaces frequently

- Try to use major appliances - washer, dryer, dishwasher - only once a day. Avoid peak demand hours between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. - Never let a faucet drip. One drop a second can waste 700 gallons of water a year - and if it's hot water, you're wasting fuel as well as money

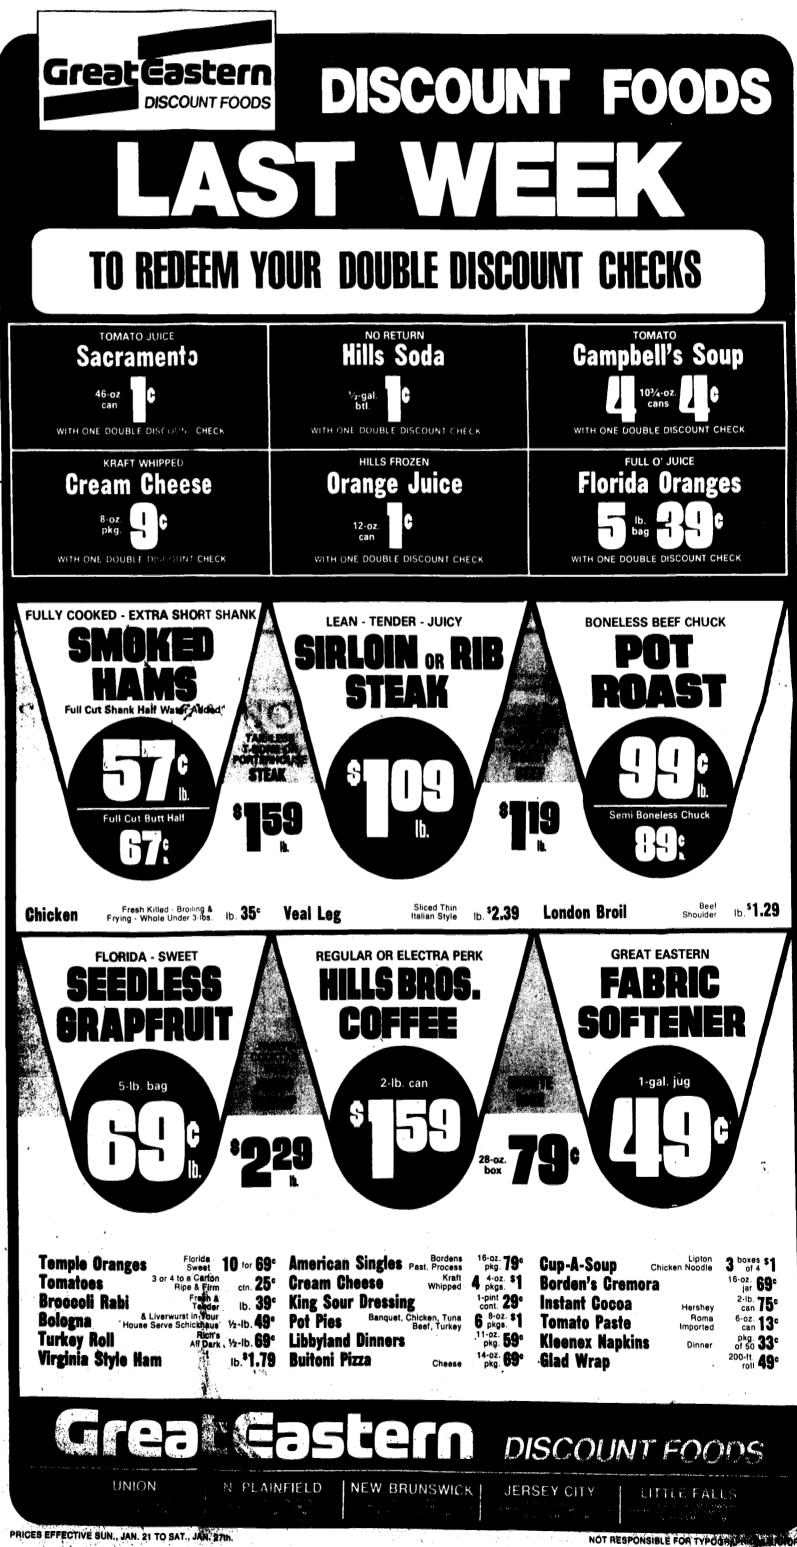

Turn off electric lights and other appliances when not in use.

- Defrost your refrigerator regularly, and periodically check the door gaskets for wear. - Defrost foods before cooking to save fuel in cooking them, and try to take everything for a meal out of the refrigerator at once - the less you open the door, the less energy it uses. If you use aluminum foil in your oven make sure it is not blocking circulation from vents or you'll lose heat. It's a bad idea to place foil directly under a pan; heat is deflected away from the pan. It's a better idea to place slightly larger pan - or a piece of foil - on the next lower shelf to catch spills Clean your dishwasher screen often. Built

Daugherty to visit museum exhibition

James H. Daugherty, one of the pioneers of American abstract painting, will be present at the Montclair Art Museum Sunday for the public opening of the retrospective exhibition of his work. At 3 p.m., a short film on Daugherty's life will be shown. Following that, Daugherty will hold an informal discussion of his work with Henry Reed, a close personal friend and a Daugherty collector. The public is invited to attend the program.

The retrospective exhibition of some 30 paintings dating from 1914 to the present focuses on the artist's easel paintings. Daugherty also has been a muralist and an illustrator of children's books

Public rating of Cahill's performance down slightly, Eagleton poll indicates

Public rating of the performance of Governor Cahill has dropped slightly in the past three months, according to the Eagleton Institute's New Jersey Poll. The Fifth New Jersey Poll was conducted between Jan. 5 and 10, with a statewide random sample of 1225 persons 18 and older interviewed over the telephone.

Persons interviewed were asked how good a job they thought Cahill was doing overall. Those responding "excellent" or "good" were 39 percent of the current sample; in the poll

`Miss Glamour' to be selected

Rho Theta Tau sorority of Newark State College, Union, will sponsor the annual "Miss Glamour" contest on Saturday, Feb. 10, as part of a nationwide series of competitions established by Glamour Magazine.

Nine participants have been nominated by campus organizations to participate in this year's competition. Each contestant will model two different ensembles, one of a casual nature and the other a semi-formal. Each contestant will deliver a 10-minute speech on her interpretation of the factors involved in the 'Total Image of a College Woman.'

Judges for the contest will be drawn from college and community leaders. The three moderators of this year's contest are: Gail Protinsky, the current Miss Newark State College; Mary Ann Paskey, the 1972 Miss Glamour contest winner, and Connie Aloupis, president of Rho Theta Tau sorority conducted last October 42 percent gave similar October 1971 Cahill was rated responses. In the current survey, 40 percent said Cahill was doing "only fair" and 12 percent "poor." The remainder of the sample (7 percent in January and 5 percent in October)

The nine contestants in this year's competition are: Barbra Churchill of Somerville, Noreen Downey of Elizabeth, Elizabeth Marie Sauer of Mountainside, Leslie Binetti of Roselle, Susan Avila of Union, Patricia Turturro of Irvington, Ellen Davis of Roselle, Debbie Caruso of Newark and Nancy Jo Golaski of Irvington.

had no opinion. Public rating of the performance of the state legislature also dropped slightly. The current New Jersey Poll shows 28 percent giving the legislature an "excellent" or "good" rating; in the Octobber poll, 30 percent rated the legislature "excellent" or "good." In the current poll, 40 percent of the sample gives the legislature an "only fair" rating, compared to 39 percent in October, and 9 percent say "poor" compared to 10 percent in October. The remainder of the sample (23 percent in January and 20 percent in October) had no opinion

Public evaluation of Cahill has dropped gradually since the first New Jersey Poll in October 1971. Evaluations of Cahill were highest in that first poll, when 44 percent gave Cahill an "excellent" or "good" rating. In February 1972 this rating dropped to 40 percent, in May 1972 to 39 percent; it went back up to 42 percent in October 1972 and dropped down to 39 percent in January 1973. Cahill's 'fair'' rating has hovered around 39 percent to 41 percent throughout the period of the poll. The percentage rating Cahill "poor" has varied from 10 percent in October 1971 to 15 percent in February and May 1972.

The more-or-less consistent evaluation of Cahill from 1971 to the present is deceptive because the basis of Cahill's support has apparently changed fairly dramatically. In "excellent" or "good" by 40 percent of the liberals; but now he is rated similarly by only 39 percent of the conservatives, a drop of 11 points.

In the current poll, respondents were asked if their opinion of Cahill had changed in the last two years. Of the Democrats, 14 percent reported a change in their opinion for the better and 11 percent for the worse, with 69 reporting no change and 6 percent indicating no opinion. Democrats thus rate Cahill somewhat more faborably now than two years ago. Of the Republicans 9 percent reported a change in their opinion for the better and 19 percent for the worse, with 67 percent reporting no change and 5 percent indicating no opinion. Republicans thus rate Cahill less faborably now than two years ago.

Among persons who classify themselves as liberals, 14 percent say Cahill is better than two years ago while 12 percent rate him worse Among conservatives, 9 percent rate the Governor as better and 17 percent say he is worse. Thus, the governor seems to be gaining slightly among liberals and losing more markedly among conservatives. Data from previous New Jersey Polls show that the turning point for conservative feeling about Cahill was between October 1971 and February 1972, the time when the tax reform package received great public attention. In October 1971 only 7 percent of the state's conservatives rated ('ahill's performance "poor" but by February 1972 the "poor" rating jumped to 25 percent. In May 1972 Cahill's "poor" rating among conservatives was 15 percent in October 1972 it was down to 8 percent, but in January 1973 it has risen to 14 percent. Cahill's "poor" rating among liberals has remained constant at 12 percent throughout the period. The Fifth New Jersey Poll was conducted by

Dear Larrie After eight months, the transmission job by

Dealer ..... on my car failed. I took the car to a gas station for repairs. They say Dealer's transmission job was an abortion! They charged me $175 for repairs, have given me a guarantee for six months, but have left me to settle my beef with Dealer ----- I want to be rembursed for defective work. TAKEN

Dear Taken:

We'd like to point out that the gas service station has given you a six-month guarantee on their job whereas Dealer's job actually lasted eight months. Unless the gas station will give you a statement that Dealer's job is an abortion, and tell you how and why, you don't have a leg to stand on insofar as getting rembursed is concerned. We've found that disparity of views between repair services is the rule rather than the exception, and you'll find that few, if any, repair services who criticize their competitors will put themselves on the line and give their professional evaluation of repairs in writing to help the consumer who may want to make a case of it. Sorry we can't help you with this one

Dear Larrie I'm tired of getting mail 1 never asked for. especially prurient mail. I've got kids in the house and I'm sometimes reluctant to send them out for the mail, as heaven alone knows ,what will be in it. Anything I can do about this? DISGUSTED

Four Distinitely! Since May of last year, the Foldar Service has made it possible for individuals to get off mailing lists for sexuallyoriented mail by simply filing an application with the Post Office. Mailers are then informed to take these persons off their mailing lists. If they don't comply within 30 days, they are subject to both civil and criminal penalties (66 mailers to date are under investigation for this very thing). The Postal Service says that the list of recorded names of objecting individuals is now up to 605,710 names. Sorry you didn't find out about this procedure sooner. It would have spared you a lot of aggravation.

Dear Larrie:

A tune-up on my old 1962 car would last at least 12,000 miles; now on my '70 car, supposedly a more advanced product, I'm getting upped with a tune-up every six of thousand miles. Any time I corner my dealer he says: "That's the way they build them these days.' Personally, I think he's tuning up my car more than he needs to. What's your opinion? CORNERED

Researcher out to bug gypsy moths

Insects' own virus sought to eliminate them

People aren't the only ones who have to worry about viruses this winter. Gypsy moths do too In fact, these forest-killing insects might have reason to be alarmed. While they winter on New Jersey tree trunks in the egg stage, a young Rutgers researcher is busy experimenting with a way to unleash a virus all gypsy moths are born with, but that doesn't usually make them sick.

The researcher is Mrs. Sally Padhi, a graduate student in the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science's Department of Biochemistry and Microbio

The gypsy moth virus she is studying is a latent one. Most gypsy moths live out their lives, eating their way through forests and shade trees, without even knowing they've got it. But occasionally there's a real epidemic, and then the gypsy moths die like flies.

To trigger such an epidemic is an environmentalist's dream. It would mean getting rid of an insect pest that stripped the leaves from more than 200,000 woodland acres in New Jersey alone last summer. And it would mean using the gypsy moths' own built-in virus to do it

In nature, Mrs. Padhi explains, the virus becomes active only when the leaf-eating caterpillars are terribly crowded. Then a few of them start to get sick

"For some reason, when they get sick they clumb to the top of the tree they're in," Mrs. Padhi says, "even when they're dead, their bodies still cling there, in an inverted V. The active virus spreads to the other larvae below and they get sick too.

"Unfortunately, this natural form of population control doesn't begin to operate until the caterpillars are so numerous, and so far along in the larval stage, that they've already played havoc in a forest or residential area," she added

So Mrs. Padhi is looking for another way, besides crowding, to trigger the latent virus Her work, which ties in with studies on biological controls conducted in the department over the past 10 years, is reported in the college quarterly, "Re Search.

Isolating the virus in the laboratory hasn't been too difficult. The way you do that, Mrs. Padhi explains, is to grind up diseased dead larvae with water in an ordinary kitchen-type electric blender. The virus and the material that protects it settle out at the bottom, and can then be further purified.

But raising live gypsy moths to experiment with is more of a problem.

'Something about life in a laboratory, it seems, makes the virus act up in much the same way as it does in a very overcrowded tree. What that something is may be a clue to producing gypsy moth epidemics in nature, the Butgers researcher believes," Mrs. Padhi continued. "It could be their diet."

Gypsy moths in nature have definite preferences in the leaves they eat, Mrs. Padhi explains. They like oaks best, but if they can't have their pick, they will make do with many other broad-leaved trees, and even evergreens. Since overcrowded gypsy moths can't be choosy, it may be that the leaves they like least have some ingredient that brings the virus into

Mrs. Padhi hopes to find out if that's true by experimenting with the diet of her laboratory larvae.

BUGS WITH A BUG --- To find out why gypsy moths sometimes make themselves sick, Rutgers graduate student Mrs. Sally Padhi prepares to grind up diseased larvae in an electric blender. She is isolating a latent virus normally carried by these insects, which may some day lead to a natural control for them.

eggs she's using were gathered last fall, and have now spent the minimum three months in cold storage before the young larvae can begin to grow

"They have to have an artificial diet -- either that, or we have to grow oak trees in the greenhouse for them!" Mrs. Padhi says. "I did try feeding them oak leaves last summer, but picked leaves soon lose some moisture, and once they get limp, the larvae stop eating them

So instead, they'll be fed various combina tions of a standard insect diet, made up of wheat germ, fats, minerals, vitamins and a sugar source

"Hopefully, some ingredient will be a key that unlocks the puzzle of the latent virus in laboratory gypsy moths -- and may, in the future, open the way to a natural control for their cousins in the trees," Mrs. Padhi concludes

Washed-up barrels could be a danger to coast residents

GOVERNORS ISLAND, N.Y. - Coastal residents should be wary of any large tightly sealed 55-gallon containers they find along the shorelines - the barrels may contain highly toxic fumes or may explode if ignited.

The warning, issued by the U.S. Coast Guard at Governors Island, was prompted by a report from the Dupont Co., in Wilmington, Del. owner of the containers, that they were lost from a ship at sea during heavy weather last month some 300 miles off the mid-Atlantic coast

Dupont said 36 containers were lost, all of which are empty but still hold the vapors of tetra-ethyl lead, a motor fuel anti-knock compound. The vapors are poisonous if taken internally and are a severe irritant to the skin and eyes.

Anyone who does come in contact with these vapors should immediately wash the skin with kerosene and then with soap and water. If the eyes are affected, they should be flushed with plenty of water for at least 15 minutes. Clothing should be removed and destroyed.

Dupont said the containers are painted gray and bear a yellow warning label. They are also marked "TEL" on one end, standing for tetra ethyl lead. The containers are durable and could stay affoat for as long as two years. Coast Guard officials added that currents could take the containers into the New England shores or veer them away from the U.S. toward Ireland, the British Isles, Europe or Scandanavia.

Anyone spotting these containers should not open them or attempt salvage. They should call Dupont collect at (302) 774-7500, a 24-hour service, or wire the company collect. A Dupont spokesman said the company would arrange to remove the containers.

Medical review course held at Saint Barnabas

More than 150 graduates of foreign medical colleges including a number of Americans -- hav e completed three-months' com prehensive medical review course at Saint Barnabas Medical Center under direction of Dr. Abdol H. Islami, attending surgeon and director of the Department of Medical Education at the Livingston institution.

The course, inaugurated 14 years ago by Dr. Islami, is designed to assist graduates of foreign medical schools who wish to take the American Qualification Examination given by the Education Council for Foreign Medical Graduates before they can practice in the United States. The course is a highly concentrated program of lectures covering all clinical and pre-clinical subjects. Two such courses are held each year at Saint Barnabas: another is held at the

"Butterflies' taken from a true story

The idea for the story of "Butterflies Are Free," concerning a blind young man, who attempts to break away from his rich. demineering mother, and make it on his own in a shabby one-room Greenwich Village apartment, was drawn from a real life story. It was reportedly told that a blind young man, who was asked to report to his draft board for in-duction, was unable to convince the draft board that he was blind. As a result, the draft board rated bim 1-A, and the story made the newspapers

"Carnal Knowledge," starring Ann-Margret, Jack Nicholson, Arthur Garfunkel and Candice Bergen, opened yesterday on a double bill with "Goodbye Columbus," at the Jerry Lewis Cinema, Five Points, Union.

The picture "Carnel Knowledge," which gives a lacerating portrait of sexual emptiness among American males, is told through a mixture of humor and pathos in frank and candid dialogue and pictures. It has a story line that follows two men from college through alleged maturity. Photographed in color, the picture was directed by Mike Nichols. "Goodbye Columbus," film adaptation of

Ormont continues with `Emigrants'

"The Emigrants," a Swedish-made remarkably honest movie about American history, starring Liv Ullmann and Max Von Sydon, continues for another week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

The film, directed by Jan Troell, concerns a small group of Swedish farmers, unhappy in their life in the old country, embark on a terrible voyage across the Atlantic.

The film provides a viewer with the spirit and dream of the new settler, and how they attempt to build a new life in Minnesota. Von Sydon portrays a farmer, worn out by old-country disappointments, who looks to a dream of new land and his own soil.

Miss Ullmann plays the beautiful wife of a farmer, who is aware of the fact that her beauty will be marred by toil in the new land, and whose fear of pregnancies becomes a threat to her happiness.

The picture was derived from one of Vilhelm Moberg's novels. A sequel has been promised

Percussion musica to feature concert at Newark State

The Newark State College-at-Union Percussion Ensemble, conducted by faculty member Paul Price, will present a program of percussion music at the Newark State Theater for the Performing Arts, Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 8 p.m

The feature work of the concert will be "Haiku Seasons," by the American composer Gardner Reed. Sixteen poems written by Japanese poets will be read by students Gretchen Kraft, Judi Benjamin, Donald Blaska and Gary Hellwig. They will be accompanied by percussion and by faculty member William Feldman on the plano-celesta; Kevin Tolly, mandolin: and Rosalie Platt, also a member of the music faculty, on harp. Other works which will be performed include: Edward Varese's "Ionization" written in 1931 and scored for 42 percussion instruments, including plano, celesta and two fire sirens; James Drew's "Metal Concert," for quartet; and Michael Colgrass' "Three Brothers," written in 1951 while the author was studying under Price at the University of Illinois, written for nine players.

Price is recognized as a pioneer in the field of percussion music. This year marks the 28th anniversary of his conducting percussion music. He has presented over 300 new per

Pharmacists urge Congress to include drugs in Medicare

The board of trustees of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association has appproved a plan aimed at bringing drugs under Medicare 'as a solution to price problems."

Effective Feb. 1, petitions will appear on the counters of member pharmacies directed to Congress calling for legislation that will relieve the elderly from medication costs. It was ex plained by Nicholas Giannotto, chairman of the board, that such a bill passed the Senate last year but was stalled in the House of Representatives.

'An almost unanimous approval by the cople should result in enactment and relieve the bind in which so many senior citizens find themselves," Giannotto said in announcing the trustees' action.

Alluding to Gov. Cahill's reference to the cost of medication in his message to the Legislature, Giannotto said:

The real problem in drug prices is that the elderly often require a high usage to sustain life; studies show the cost to people in that age category, who can afford it least, is twice to three times the average family cost

"Yet it is precisely those people who need the services provided by community pharmacies They need more accurate directions for proper and complete usage; they need improved packaging to prevent deterioration when drugs are stored under less than ideal conditions, as in most homes; they need records kept of their medication to guard against reactions and harmful interaction of different drugs.

These services, and many others, are a factor in drug pricing and constitute a problem that can be met by inclusion of drugs in Medicare.

Giannotto said the trustees unanimously expressed disagreement with the indication given by Gov. Cahill in his recent message that advertisement of prescription drugs will reduce costs, and revealed that a meeting has been requested with the Governor to discuss the matter.

"Far from cutting prices, advertising in creases them, as evidenced by many federal studies," the chairman said.

"After all, prices must reflect advertising expenses, which are considerable. Even more serious, the bombardment of the public by promotional advertising encourages purchase of drugs in excessive quantities which can be dangerous and at the least is wasteful.

"A major cause of hospital admissions is drug misuse, costing the public hundreds of millions of dollars every year and producing social ills of incalculable damage, traceable in part to advertising pressure put on people.

Jerseymen plan day at High Point

High schoolers from all over New Jersey will be bringing sleds, ice skates and warm smiles to High Point State Park on Saturday The event is the annual Winter Holiday of the Jerseymen, student history club contingent of the New Jersey Historical Society. The day's program will include time for winter sports, hiking in the park's 11,000 acres. and sightseeing from the 1,802-foot elevation. from which point beautiful views of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania may be

The Jerseymen Club of Butler High School will chef a frontier-style cook-out while other groups will keep the bonfire going or put finishing touches on snow sculptures dotting Lake Marica's shores

To warm up after the outdoor activity, the Jerseymen groups will present an afternoon show called "Pantomimes in History" at the park's main lodge. Groups will choose an event in American history and translate it into a mini-drama without words The audience will be asked to guess the event that is being enacted while a panel of Jerseymen judges selects the best pantomimes.

Jobs for engineers

Nearly 20 000 unemployed engineers, scientist and technicians registered with the Manpower Administration have found new jobs Federal assistance. This was complished through the Technology Mobilization and Reemployment Program, a special nationwide effort announced by the Labor Department early in 1971 to help provide people laid off from defense and aerospace employment Women Undergraduate Engineering Students," produced by the Society of Women Engineers (SWE), a national professional organization, Newark College of Engineering was noted to have 81 undergraduate coeds pursuing engineering career training. The only other schools in the country with larger enrollments are Michigan State University with 90 coeds in engineering, and the University of Michigan, with 82.

"Frankly, we try to encourage more women into engineering because it offers a sound, lifelong career opportunity for them." says NCE's L. Bryce Andersen, dean of engineering "And with the great variety of undergraduate programs we now have, we expect a substantial increase in women students Andersen notes that in addition to the five degree programs NCE offers in the traditional engineering fields, New Jersey's largest technological institution also has degree programs in engineering science, in computer science, in technology and in industrial administration.

"Several of these engineering-related career paths have proven themselves to be of par ticular interest to young women," Andersen says "As an example, computer science provides the opportunity for strong professional responsibility and, of course, the opportunity for good earning power."

The SWE report is based on statistics gathered from 153 major engineering in-stitutions. Only a dozen of these schools reported having more than 50 coeds enrolled in engineering programs

Women undergraduates at Newark College of Engineering are not new, they've been around for more than 75 years. The first woman to enroll at the college was Margaret Bryce, a Passaic school teacher, who enrolled for a special course in 1897

Having coeds on campus has been a regular thing since the early 1930's when the first woman earned her degree at NCE; in the past 10 years as many as 15 young women have entered as freshmen each year.

graduate programs, in its Division of Technology and in other special programs Altogether, the women on the NCE campus total more than 100

Some women are also enrolled in NCE's

Printmaking show slated

The Newark State College at Union's College Center Board will sponsor an exhibition of works from the Atelier 3 printmaking studio featuring the works of Roslyn Rose. Judy Targan and Fran Willner, in the Little Gallery College Center Building, March 1 to 29.

Atelier 3 will consist of etengravings chings. serigraphs and relief prints Each artist does her own creating. editioning at the Maplewood studii

Rose Roslyn primarily with etchings on paper and serigraphs on plastic Judy Targan creates collographs and linocuts which depend on the sensitive use of color. Fran Willner prints both on fabric and paper. The three artists are embers of Artist Equity and the National Association of Women Artists.

Atelier 3 is not a school in the traditional sense, there are no teachers and no students. Rather, it is a studio where printmaking knowledge is shared and exchanged among qualified printmakers. All three of the artists have a long list of exhibition credits and awards, including awards from the National Association of Women Artists

Now you can get insurance to cover losses from extorion

In New York City, it was a bank vice-president. In Cleveland, it was a young teller in a savings and loan association. In Los Angeles, it was a clerk in a brokerage house For all three, the experiences were the same All were victims of extortion-a crime that is bilking America's banks and financial institutions of millions of dollars yearly according to the Insurance Information Institute, New York

Once the strong-armed specialty of organized crime, extortion is a terror tactic now being used or at least tried by even small time thugs and criminal neophytes to make a fast cash haul, says the Institute

Whether used by big-timers or beginners, the Institute notes, the modus operandi is the same Threats of physical harm to an executive or an employe or members of their families unless money or negotiable securities are surrendered

And however frightening the thought, says the Institute, the threat of extortion is a fact or business life that those entrusted with money or securities must live with and guard against One safeguard getting more and more attention from the financial community is extortion insurance-available as a rider tinancial institution bonds

Post-Korean veterans advised of GI rule A crucial date for most post- $298, and they receive $18 for

Korean veterans who haven't started using their GI Bill education benefits is May 31, 1974

That's the date their benefits expire, and Veterans Administration officials pointed out this week that unless they begin training soon, they could lose part or all of their benefits.

The deadline reminder applies to post-Korean veterans discharged from military service between Jan 31. 1955, and June 1, 1966. Benefits for these veterans were not authorized until enactment of the current GI Bill on June 1, 1966; thus, they must complete training within eight years of release or by the May 31, 1974 deadline, whichever is later

The deadline does not apply to veterans interested in flight training, apprenticeship and on job and farm cooperative training. These particular veterans have until Aug. 30, 1975, or eight years after discharge, whichever is later. to complete training. This is because these training programs were not available until October, 1967, officials

More than two million veterans are expected to train under the GI Bill during the fiscal current year Enrollment in October totaled 1.2 million, 17 percent higher than October a year ago. Officials feel recent increases in training allowances will encourage more persons to enter VA training programs, and enable many already training to continue their programs.

New rates start at $-220 monthly for single trainees going to school full time under the GI Bill. Those with one dependent get $261 monthly; those with two dependents

Simply stated, says the Institute the extortion rider provides coverage for loss through the surrender of property away from an office of the insured as a result of a threat of physical harm to a director of the insured, or an employe, or a relative of either who is or allegedly is, being held captive

It stipulates that prior to surrender of the property, however, the insured has notified or attempted to notify the FBI, local law enforcement authorities and an officer of the insured, other than the director or employ threatened, concerning the threat

Prior to the development of the extortion rider, the Institute explains, there was some question whether financial institution bonds were broad enough to cover such losses away from the premises. The rider however removes the uncertainty about such coverage The limit of liability and any deduction amount in the rider are the same as those in other coverages of the insured's financial institution bonds

Ask for 'Ad Taker' and she will help you with a Result-Getter Want Ad. UC expects 3,700 for spring classes starting tomorrow

The spring semester will open tomorrow at Union College's three campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield. Prof. Elmer Wolf, dean of the college, said full-time and part-time students who attend day classes will begin their studies tomorrow, while evening students will begin their semester on Monday evening.

Approximately 3,700 full- and part-time students are expected to enroll for classes this spring, said Dean Wolf. A limited number of freshmen will also begin their college careers. he added. These students might include recently discharged military veterans, high school graduates who postponed college en-trance, and adults who were unable to study regularly because of home or job responsibilities

More than 100 college credit courses in eleven curriculums will be offered at Union College this spring, said Dean Wolf. Students attending Union College may elect programs in liberal arts, education, urban studies, business administration, engineering, biological sciences, physical science, environmental engineering, law enforcement, environmental sciences, and nursing, all of which lead to an Associate degree.

Classes are in session from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. each weekday at the Cranford, Elizabeth, and Plainfield campuses.

Retailers made responsible to buyer under Bassano bill

Assemblyman C. Louis Bassano (9B Union) has introduced legislation that would make retail sellers directly responsible to buyers for honoring service contracts and warranties.

The Union Republican said that the purpose of his bill is to save the buyer from having to "travel from here to eternity" in order to have a television, radio, phonograph or other appliances repaired that are under warranty or guarantee. Bassano maintained that the warranty or guarantee is part of the purchase agreement and that the seller of the merchandise must be made responsible for the repair or service to the product.

"Inconvenience," he said, "should not be borne by the purchaser of the product. It is up to the seller of the product to have the item repaired or serviced to the customer's satisfaction.

Other features of the bill provide that the purchaser of the product, if not satisfied either by servicing or replacement, may, after 90 days, file a complaint with the Division of Consumer Affairs. The Division of Consumer Affairs shall hold a hearing on the complaint and if the retail seller is found guilty of violating this act he will be assessed a penalty and shall also be required to make a full cash refund to the buyer for the merchandise in #### question. Bassano said, "this legislation will protect a buyer from having to deal with an independent service company to get what is rightfully his. If the merchandise fails while under warranty, it is either fixed by the seller or you get your money back. No hassle, no arguments. It is simple as that, and that is the way it should
