Pupil registration at Catholic school to start on Monday

Registration for the 1973-74 year at Our Lady of Lourdes School, Mountainside, will be held in the principal's office Monday through next Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. In conjunction with registration, interested parents may visit any class to observe classroom situations next Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30

The September opening will mark the third year that the Catholic elementary school has operated with a lay principal and faculty under the direction of its own board of education. All basic subjects are taught, stressing "child development in an atmosphere which is stable and orderly." The school provides the children of Mountainside and adjacent towns with a foundation of religious, moral and ethical values consistent with a Christian heritage, a spokesman added.

Formal religious education is provided to all eight grades daily by a member of the Order of the Sisters of St. Dominic.

Singer-composer will give program for schoolchildren

The Mountainside PTA this week announced that Ken Medema, singer, pianist and composer, will present his original "Sing a New Song" program today to all Mountainside students, grades K through 8.

Medema has been writing and singing his own songs since 1970 when he began composing material for his work as a music therapist with teenagers. Since then, his music has taken him throughout the United States and Canada. Performances are scheduled in Europe this

Although he is classically trained, with bachelor's and master's degree work done at Michigan State University, he incorporates characteristics of many styles of music, including rock. Medema stated, "I value highly the opportunity to speak to people in terms that are here and now. My music is seldom simply for entertainment ... the message is the thing He has also produced educational materials on tape for blind students and special education classrooms, under the auspices of the Library

Although engaged in fulltime performance. he is a registered music therapist, an officer on the executive committee of the National Association of Music Therapy and most recently served as director of music therapy at Essex County Hospital Center.

15 from Dayton on journalism

Fifteen students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School have just participated in a journalism workshop designed to improve the quality of their school newspaper. Meeting on Feb. 28 in the Springfield Public Library, the pupils analyzed recent issues of the Dayton Journal to illuminate the role of a student newspaper.

Alan Isacson, the assistant to the superintendent for public information of the Union County Regional High Schools and advisor of student publications, prefaced the workshop by noting three dilemmas which confront high school newspapers: a rapid turnover of staff causing instability, the question of whether a school newspaper reflects its student body and the necessity of improved organization and solicitation of advertisements.

Julia Latzer, the Dayton Journal's faculty advisor, aided by editor-in-chief Hedi Levine and contributing editors David Hodes and Susan White, led the staff writers in exercises designed to improve their writing styles. examine specific viewpoints and create fresh article ideas. # Mayor stresses local taxes will rise seven points as budget hearing nears the second in his series of monthly reports to the people of Springfield on municipal governmental activities. The text of his statement follows

AS PROMISED, I would like to make our citizens aware of the activities of the Township Committee during the month of February.

Since February was a short month, one would think that there would be little time available for other meetings than the two regular township meetings and executive sessions. We managed to meet an additional nine times during February.

Our budget has been prepared for a final hearing next Tuesday and a tremendous amount of consideration was given to keep a reasonable tax rate for us taxpayers. Our tax rate for municipal purposes will increase seven points. The bulk of this is due to mandated costs such as increases in Social Security taxes, pension contributions, increased costs in sewage and garbage collection and higher insurance rates. Increases in salaries to township employees, which were kept within the presidential guidelines of 5.5 percent, make up the balance.

Our total overall rate will increase to 13 points due to our contributions to the Regional Board of Education and county taxes. We feel that we have maintained fiscal responsibility with our citizens.

We have received revenue sharing funds from the federal government and these are being used for the major priority requirements of our township such as public safety, flood control and new equipment. These items are more than necessary to serve and fill the needs of our community. We will be purchasing a new fire engine this year from these funds without additional burden on our taxpayers. This will replace a 25-year-old unit, which would reduce our fire insurance rating and therefore in-crease insurance rates. Other funds are being used to purchase new and additional equipment for both the police and fire departments.

In the area of flood control we are working with the Regional Board of Education on a cooperative project on Van Winkle's Brook and, with subsequent State Water Policy Commission approval, we will eliminate another area of flooding.

I. along with Township Committeeman Norman Banner; Walter Kozub, township engineer, and Richard Jeske, our hydraulics consultant, met with the State Water Policy Commission in Trenton and the Regional School board to seek approval on this project in addition to requesting approval for our joint project with the Union County Park Commission in the Washington avenue area

Our Rent Advisory Board met in February and I am happy to report the landlords of Springfield will be only too glad to comply with our rent stabilization ordinance. Our tenants can be assured that this Township Committee will protect their rights according to the

Last, but not least, I called a special township meeting on Feb. 21 to pass a resolution to ap-the traffic light on Hillside and Mountain avenues. We will not rest until this light is a reality and additional pressures are being put on the necessary agencies to accomplish this. We also met with the Springfield Task Force of the Rahway River Coalition to discuss environmental problems that may arise on our proposed flood control projects.

Regional high schools to offer varied one-semester courses

One-semester courses in foreign languages, mathematics and science will be introduced during the 1973-74 school year in all four high schools of the Union County Regional High School District. The movement to one-semester courses began last summer with a total new look in the required four-year English and two-year United States History programs.

Curriculum revision for the next school year was approved by the Regional Board of Education during the February meeting.

Dr. Martin Siegel, Regional director of instruction, stated that "one-semester courses offer flexibility in curriculum offerings, options for student selection, greater emphasis on student success in the learning process and a greater use of teacher specialization Siegel added

"In addition, students who wish to do so are encouraged to accelerate their progress through high school by taking some credits in the summer session or by taking additional required courses in a regular semester

'The summer school program, with more flexibility to offer courses for original credit comes closer to extending the school year into a three-semester year

"Increased curriculum options for students require increased information to students and their parents about alternatives available and guidelines for selection. Guidance coun and teachers provide this information. Each student is counseled about options and selection of appropriate courses and activities for a balanced program, a program which will broaden and intensify his skills, interests and

"Increased curriculum options for students require increased inservice workshop opportunities for teachers. Plans for summer workshops are in progress for business education, career awareness, English, foreign languages, mathematics, science and social studies Curriculum and resource guides will be developed, new textbooks and instructional materials will be reviewed and alternative teaching techniques will be demonstrated.

SUNDAY'S A SERMON

TUNE IN We all know so many people many times ourselves in cluded, who go about a daily routine day in and day out week in and week out, year in and year out -- without much thought about God. Maybe. they even go to church every week, maybe not But somehow, they just aren't tuned in on the wonderful wavelength of God's love.

They worry constantly about money, materialism, keeping up with the Joneses, and how to stay number one in their own self-centered lives. They really don't care about the welfare of their neighbors (although it might be the "cool" thing to fake being socially concerned) And putting other people or groups down is their specialty. To them, life can become a rather hateful cycle.

But the good news is it's easy to get back on the right track. God's there (just as He always has and always will be). All that has to be done is a little fine tuning-picking up the eternal signal that comes in loud and clear when God takes the lead. Why not tune in

Six at high school get mini-grants for research projects

Six students from Gov. Livingston Regional High School have received minigrants to pursue research projects from the Society of Sigma Xi at Newark College of Engineering, according to Joseph L. Martino, the sponsoring chemistry teacher

The grants cover a wide area of research, with John Arthur working on crystal growth and structure and Charles Mount on organic synthesis, the displacement of halogens from Halo nitro aromatic.

Christopher Badgeley is analyzing stocking methods and the effects of barometric pressure and water temperature on trout, and William Benson is attempting to learn how box turtles react to different light frequencies

Sigmz Xi, a national honorary research fraternity, began the minigrant program in 1971 when it awarded nearly $3,000 in small grants to individual high school students who wanted to pursue advanced projects. This year another 100 grants are being distributed to be used for special supplies and equipment not available in most high school laboratories.

While Newark College of Engineering is a state supported institution, the funds for these grants come from private sources including individual faculty and staff members and from business and industry

As part of a tabulation of employee pension and benefits trends reflected in the new budget proposals, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association shows expenditure of $6.5 million for these purposes in 1964. Funds appropriated total $29.8 million in the current year.

Cost of proposed health benefits would be $22.5 million next year, while State financing of non-contributory insurance for employees would be $11.8 million. The former total is $5.5 million higher than allocations for the present fiscal year and more than 11 times the $2 million spent for this purpose in 1964.

In addition to pension, insurance and health benefits, the Governor has proposed a \$32.5 million salary increase program including a new unused sick leave reimbursement program estimated to cost \$11/2 million. Under this new program, State employees retiring in fiscal 1974 would be reimbursed for earned and unused sick leave at a rate of  $\mathcal{T}_2$  their highest or final daily pay rate.

Beware the Ides of March is what the old saving warns us, and it is as true today as it was in the olden times. The statement originated in the days of the Caesars, when income tax payments were due in mid-March And even though we now have an extra month beyond the fatal day, it doesn't hurt to be on our

'You can bet your boots' -- that's another bromide, and very few people today know its origin. It stems from the reign of King Knut the Bigfooted, and the coin of his realm was known as "boots." The saying, then, was minted for use in local establishments of chance

The expression, "There's a sucker born every minute," on the other hand, was first voiced in the New World - by the Indians of the Pacific Northwest, to be exact. One year the salmon catches were being ravaged by octopuses which grasped hold of the tasty fish with their huge suckers. And as the aboriginal fish merchants relaxed around a potlatch, one pessimistic speaker uttered the classic phrase. By way of contrast, the term "Indian giver"

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Executive director, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

One of the most important pieces of legislation in years, in terms of focusing New Jersey growth into the least destructive channels so that the quality of life of present and future generations can be protected, is quietly awaiting its chance in the Assembly Committee on Air and Water Pollution and Public Health

Introduced last December with minimal public recognition of its sweeping potential, A-1673 addresses itself to something that's been on the public mind a lot lately: The so-called

Specifically, Assembly Speaker Thomas H. Kean (R-Essex), the bill's primary sponsor, intends it to guarantee adequate supplies of electricity for future needs of growing New Jersey while still preserving elements of open space. Preventing thermal pollution, air pollution and the guarding of the state's total environment are insured in this bill by rigidly enforcing exactly where and how new electrical generating facilities and big transmission lines are located-all in accord with a state energy policy.

This would all be under the authority of an "Energy Facilities Planning Commission" which the bill would establish. The heart of the idea is that the commission would require all producers of consumer electricity to project future expansion needs so that they could be coordinated and a clearer picture of total power demands, area by area, could be derived.

The state, through the Department of Environmental Protection, would buy up land deemed best suited to harboring new generating facilities, and would sell the sites to the utilities as they were needed. The state could also lease them. The concept came from Maryland, where such a scheme is already in - and working well

Where's the money coming from to support such an ambitious project? From the people who are and will be using electricity. How will this be accomplished? By charging the consumers three-tenths of a cent extra per kilowatt hour of electricity when they get their light

AND THEREIN LIES one of the most fascinating aspects of the whole idea. People who are keeping an eye on the fate of the bill expect no squawk from the general public about that extra three-tenths of a cent per kilowatt. After all, it would practically take a microscope to detect the difference it makes on the average household electric bill, especially when we realize that such small consumers of electricity pay more per kilowatt hour than the hungry customers like New Jersey's chemical

A lot of people are saying that's one reason why we are having a so-called energy crisis: The more electricity used, the less charged per kilowatt hour. There is a growing sentiment for changing the rate structure to make the bigger users pay more like what is seen as their "fair" share of the cost for the nation's electrical supply. It seems likely that the influential business and industrial interests which would pay more money are not going to favor such a radical idea! Supporters of the Kean bill are watching for a concerted effort by such interests in New Jersey to torpedo it because the bill would charge the same three-tenths of a cent extra per kilowatt for the big user as for the home

I've been referring to the "so-called" energy "crisis." The present flap is about a shortage of oil and gas, but they are energy. In fact, most electricity has to come from burning fossil fuels, and it will remain thus as nuclear power sources keep on meeting heretofore unrecognized safety hurdles. Whether it's oil, gas, coal, electricity or sunshine it's all energy and it just happens that, for many purposes, electricity is more wasteful than direct use of fossil fuels, which is one more reason why the state and nation need comprehensive energy policies;

And the Kean bill represents the first attempt to establish such a policy on energy production and use in this state. It will be interesting to watch and see what happens to this piece of belitsetten. legislation.

Congress is seriously seeking to restore and rehabilitate its Constitutional position as the chief law-making body in the national govern-

The measure of its seriousness-and this is what makes it significant—can be found in a new willingness on the part of most members to reform the institution of Congress, modernize its procedures and improve its effectiveness as part of a general effort to reclaim powers which, critics contend, have either been surrendered to or usurped by the Executive Branch.

So long as this effort remains constructive. relatively non-partisan and responsible, it has to be good for the country.

The founding fathers, I suggest, anticipated just this sort of situation. When they designed the Federal Government to consist of three separate but equal branches-Executive. Legislative and Judicial-they created, intentionally, a "check and balance" system which necessarily entailed some degree of tension and competition among the three branches. They saw this separation of powers as essential to the protection of political freedom, as a bulwark against the concentration of power in any one person or in stitution.

This search for a Constitutional balance, especially between the President and ('ongress, has ebbed and flowed through American history, accounting for many of its momentous episodes as first one and then the other secured a temporarily stronger position. Though the motives have not always been totally selfless, the overriding objective has been to find the kind of relationship between the Capitol and the White House that will satisfy the conflicting demands for action and restraint in meeting the nation's needs.

We have reached, today, a particularly interesting stage in this continuing competition Not only is it more widely recognized than heretofore that the balance of power has shifted

From Better Business Bureau

My husband is interested in getting hair implantation performed. I'm curious as to the number of inquiries the Better Business Bureau receives about this process

CURIOUS

Dear Curious:

We get a lot of calls inquiring about it. Much has been written today on the subject of hair replacement. Some of these processes are performed by doctors, others by technicians who simply attach natural or artificial strands of hair to the scalp. A hair transplant usually transfers hair from the back to the front of your head by a surgical method. A hair implant consists of putting sutures in your scalp, to which hair is then woven in and out like a basting stitch. How effective is the latter? We don't really know. We've heard from people who are completely satisfied with the process. We've heard from others who recounted stories of pain and discomfort. Some think it's the greatest. Others that it's an inconvenience.

If your husband has a problem with thinning hair and is shy about toupees, our advice to him is that he consult your doctor about his problem. Or go to a dermatologist and see what he says about the condition of his hair and scalp and the medical risks involved in the process. Then if he decides he wants to have either a transplant or an implant, he can call us to verify the reputation of the company he wants

Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

I recently turned 21 years of age and want to purchase a stereo unit. What are my rights if I decide to cancel my contract?

Dear Legal:

The rule is that every contract is binding. It binds not only the seller to deliver the goods, but you to pay. So do be fairly certain each time you sign a contract, that you want to, and will live up to your part of the bargain.

But every rule has its exception. So does this

Today, the law allows you to cancel a contract on certain occasions when you change your mind. Here's what you should know about this right.

The cancellation right is embodied in three laws: Federal, state and city.

The federal law says that you can cancel, without any penalty, within three business days. You are entitled to a refund of your down payment. You can cancel by mail or telegram. You should use registered mail, with a return receipt requested. Keep a copy of your notice. This law applies mainly to home improvemen a Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau.

Dear Larrie: My husband keeps telling me that I don't know what I'm talking about. I read recently of a study that was made on how much it costs to drive a car. Just because my husband didn't read this story, he keeps telling me that I don't know what I'm talking about. Do you have the facts on this particular study? CAR STUDY

Dear Study:

You're right, and you do know what you're talking about. News stories describing how much it costs you to drive a car were based upon a study by the Federal Highway Administration, Transportation Department, Washington, D.C. Here's a recap of those

You'll spend about 13.55 cents a mile to drive and maintain a 1973 standard size car for 10 years, or $13,500 for the estimated life of the car. If you have a 1973 compact, you'll spend about 10.8 cents a mile — or close to $11,000 for assing the car for 10 years. If you have a submpact, you can count on spending 9.4 cents a life, or 99,500 for using the subcompact for 10 life. Depreciation is the biggest cost. Other costs are for gasoline, $2,787 (for some 7,500 gallons) $2,146 for maintenance and repairs, Ti sto for insurance, and $1,800 for garaging, Luivie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau mmmiBy Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldomann strongly to the Executive Branch, but it is also generally conceded that the fault, by and large, rests with the Congress.

The reasons are closely related: Congressional reluctance to shed its more antiquated customs and procedures and Congressional reluctance at times to accept responsibility for some hard policy decisions.

The focal point of the struggle, too, has shifted and this accounts in part for a more optimistic outlook toward Congress' ability to reassert its rightful prerogatives. In the '60s and early '70s, Executive-Legislative competition centered largely on foreign and military policy, an arena in which presidential preeminence has some Constitutional sanction. Now, attention centers on the federal budget and Congress' historic role in making policy and establishing priorities.

DEFINING THE ISSUE In its simplest terms, the issue is this: Which branch of government will have the final word in determining how more than a quarter of a trillion dollars shall be raised and spent each

In dealing with this issue, Congress has been its own worst enemy. Its failure, to date, to establish an effective budget control process has been at the bottom of such disputes as the President's power to impound funds voted by Congress and, in some cases, his decision to eliminate, transfer or otherwise alter Congressionally-authorized programs without

Congressional approval. It is difficult to believe-and impossible to justify-that members of Congress vote not on the budget as a whole but on a series of unrelated spending bills. Nor does Congress presently have a systematic means of adjusting federal spending to federal revenues. In brief, without fully comprehending what it was doing with and to the budget, Congress lost control and, inevitably, much of that control has been exercised by the Executive CHANGING ATTITUDES

This is changing, however. Beginning last fall with the unresolved controversy over the President's proposal to set a spending limit of $250 billion, a positive and bipartisan com mitment to an effective budget control mechanism has emerged. Not only have numerous members introduced or endorsed specific proposals or otherwise expressed support for this reform, but two more institutionally promising developments have occurred. The joint House-Senate committee appointed late last year to study methods of budget control recently submitted an interim report. And a new House committee has been established this year to recommend ways of restructuring committees and their jurisdic tions so as to improve the House's ability to control spending and revenue measures

This is also an objective to which my firstterm Republican colleagues and I have pledged ourselves. With the cooperation of Minority Leader Jerry Ford, we organized a five-man subcommittee, of which I am a member, to make recommendations on this subject. And at our first meeting last week I presented an outline of a plan which I believe has considerable merit.

Briefly, my proposal, which I presented to the full House in a floor speech, calls for the establishment of House and Senate budget committees composed of members from the Appropriations and Ways and Means Committees and from three other committees with jurisdiction over large spending programs. Following submission of the President's budget each year and a review of his spending and taxing recommendations by the appropriate committees, the Budget Committee would establish preliminary, non-binding target figures covering total spending for the fiscal year and the amount of revenues to be raised. These target figures would be subject to debate and amendment in both the House and Senate PROSPECTS HOPEFUL

Around mid-year, after the appropriations, tax and major authorization bills had been passed, the Budget Committee would review these figures and recommend final spending and revenue amounts, both an overall amount and figure for individual groups of programs In considering the Budget Committee's recommendations, Congress would first agree on an overall ceiling for spending. Thereafter, if either the House or Senate should increase spending for any program it would be required to subtract an equal amount from other

I believe there are several advantages to this approach. It would assure the integrity of the legislative process by allowing adequate time for all committees and members to be involved and for all points of view to be aired. It would avoid premature judgments and permit consideration of the latest economic data. And it would force Congress to establish its own relative priorities and make its own difficult decisions rather than leaving them to the

There is more, of course, to Congressional reform than this, and I shall deal with other issues in a later newsletter. But control of spending is central. And I am hopeful that we

Regional freshmen finish 9-5 season-best mark in years

The Jonathan Dayton Regional freshman basketball team coached by Arthur Krupp completed its 1973 season with an excellent 9-5 record. The Buildogs finished the season in third place in the Suburban Conference, won by Millburn with 14-0 mark. It was the finest freshman season in some five years at Dayton.

The Bulldogs played two games against each conference opponents and swept four of the two-game sets. Their opponents were Caldwell, Madison, West Orange and New Providence. The freshmen split their two games with Verona, each team winning at home. The other four losses came to Millburn and Summit. Summit placed just ahead of the Bulldogs taking second place in the conference.

The team consisted of Ted Johnson, Joe Graziano, John Graessle, Eric Davis, George Christoff, Scott Grayson, Matt Laurie, Mark Klink, Perry Carnellas, Wayne Halbsgut and Robert Gillard.

With next year's varsity basketball team being almost all seniors, this freshman team will play a very important role in the 1975 and 1976 seasons. Next year most of the players will be on the junior varsity. There, under coach Bill McNeece, they could have a good season, if not a great one.

which provides office training at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, and liberal arts studies at Union College, along with medical or executive specialization will be available to Union County area residents beginning this September.

The two-year program which recently received the approval of the New Jersey Department of Higher Education, leads to an associate in applied science degree conferred by Union College

According to Mrs. Irene Zingale of Westfield, coordinator of the secretarial science program, students will receive training in shorthand, typing, business math and grammar during their freshman years at Union County

During their sophomore year, students have the option of specializing in a medical or executive secretarial program taking science, management, law, speech and liberal arts courses at Union College. The humanities electives may include the social sciences, literature, the fine arts and foreign languages.

Sophomore will also study accounting and continue dictation and transcription training at UCT1. Students who have taken these subjects previously may qualify for advanced placement in the program through special examinations.

The joint Union College UCTI program is unique in that it offers a student a "carrer-ladder" option, Mrs. Zingale said. This option enables a student to elect the one-year or the two-year secretarial science program. A 10week field service experience is part of both programs

Union County Technical Institute has conducted a one-year secretarial program since 1968. These students will be able to switch to the Associate degree program and pick up sophomore courses beginning this September,

According to Mrs. Zingale, the expanded secretarial science program was created in response to requests from industry for bettereducated and highly-qualified secretaries with the ability to handle office responsibilities above and beyond routine procedures. With the increased emphasis upon post-high school education, the secretary with some college promotions, she added. Starting salaries for secretaries with an Associate degree are and you'll probably evoke images of long dreary lectures on an often stodgy subject. But one professor at Newark State College has developed a method of bringing "life" to his courses by illustrating his teaching with an extensive collection of antique tools.

Robert Fridlington, associate professor of history, presides over a survey course and another on the American West — and frequently brings to class the 18th and 19th century implements which were necessities of

"Students learn a great deal more about actual living conditions of early America by seeing the implements of the period and how they were used," Fridlington said. "Today we are all conditioned to seeing housing and other types of building and development done by machines. Seeing the types of tools used in the 18th and 19th centuries clearly demonstrates that every new project demanded skill and long man-hours for completion.

The 43-year-old Cranford resident taught at Drake University in his hometown of Des Moines, Iowa, before coming to Newark State 10 years ago. It was around that time that he also began his collection.

"I never really thought of myself as collecting the tools," he laughed. "I bought a couple of them in antique shops, and then a couple more, and a couple more. It's the sort of thing you get addicted to. I couldn't even guess how many items I now have.

Fridlington explained the implements are representative of varied occupations, from carpenters to blacksmiths to coopers (barrel makers). There are also pieces which fall under the "whatsis" heading. That's a term collectors use when they have no idea what a particular implement is:

"I own several of these things which have no apparent function," he commented. "The reason they're hard to identify is that many tools were handmade, and therefore are individual in design. Others are things which have simply gone out of use. Sometimes it's possible to get an expert who can explain an object, but most are just unidentifiable."

Fridlington finds most of the articles in antique shops, and he's rummaged about in stores throughout New England, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. But there are other places treasures can be found.

"In the warm weather, every weekend is spent going to flea markets. You can find quite a bit there, and I always come home with at least one item," he noted

The professor said that many of the tools the majority made of wood or iron - are aesthetically pleasing. "Most of the tools that were used in the United States were of hand-forged iron," he said, "and if that type of work ever achieved the status of an art outside of Germany - it was here.

"The American implements reflect the society's pragmatic attitudes. Foreign items are sometimes very decorative; those found here were designed to be very functional - but they were beautifully designed." That artistic quality is probably one reason antique tools are becoming increasingly nopular as "Americana" decorator items. Bu Fridlington still sees their major importance as tools to learning about early U.S. society. "These things illustrate the problems people had at the time," he said. "One can really see how much more difficult life was in an earlier era - and how many things we take for

CP Center warns of cut in federal aid

"Proposed changes in federal regulations governing Title IV-A funds will cause many local agencies to either drastically curtail services or possibly shut down completely, Oscar Friedensohn, executive director of the Union County Cerebral Palsy Center, Cranford, said this week. He added that the Cerebral Palsy Center, which does receive Title IV-A monies, will be forced to cut back its progr in many vital areas. "The Department of Friedensohn said: Health, Education and Welfare last month announced that private money would no longer be acceptable as matching funds in day care programs. All funds would be required to come from public monies. In Union County alone, some $233,093 in private funds is presently used to generate $649,719 for day care programs.

"Of even greater importance, many families would be eliminated from participating in the programs by lowering the current eligible income level from $9,840 to approximately $5,184 for a family of 4."

'Never Too Late' theme for week on higher education

"It's Never TooLate" is the message the Union County Council of Parent Teachers Associations will bring to residents of Union County when it sponsors its second annual Union County Higher Education Week from April 8 through 13.

This salute to the three institutions serving the higher education needs of Union County Newark State College, Union; Union College with campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains-PTA Council President Mrs. Lillian Tandul of Linden said. is intended to draw public attention to the many educational avenues that are open to young people and adults in Union County.

"It's really never too late to learn and the opportunities available to Union County residents run the gamut from credit courses and degree programs to technical and career upgrading courses, to enrichment courses in all interest areas," she said.

The Union County Council of PTAs sponsored its first Higher Education Week last year. It was the first such event ever to be sponsored by

With several hundred people taking that opportunity to visit college campuses in Union County and discovering for themselves what is there for them, the PTA decided that Higher Education Week deserved to be repeated, Mrs Tandul said.

In explaining the PTA's interest in higher education, she added, "Post high school education is as necessary today as a high school diploma was a few years ago and in its goal to work for the best possible and most complete education for our children the PTA must be concerned with higher education.

In observance of Higher Education Week, a program of special events is planned at Newark State College, Union College and Union County Technical Institute, All County residents will be invited to participate, Mrs

Centennial theme for hospital benefit by Ice Funorama

The Centennial Celebration of the Hospital Center at Orange is providing the major theme for this year's Funorama on Ice show to be held April 14-15 at South Mountain Arena in West

The show, which is presented annually for the benefit of the Hospital Center, will feature its cast of some 150 skaters in a series of ice scenes drawn from the past. A Currier and Ives scene, costumes depicting old-fashioned candy treats and a giant cake surrounded by a Centennial party-on-ice will be part of the 100th anniversary theme.

The Hospital Center at Orange is a 400-bed medical complex comprising two hospital units: Orange Memorial Hospital, founded in 1873 - a general, short-term hospital; and New Jeraey Orthopaedic Hospital, a specialty hospital founded in 1908.

Orange Memorial Hospital began in 1873 as a dispensary, located in a Lincoln avenue firehouse donated by the City of Orange. Today, it annually admits more than 10,000 patients, treats nearly 20,000 emergency cases and handles almost a like number of out-patients visits in 42 clinics. It also has extensive teaching and training programs.

Funorama on Ice is just one of several events scheduled to celebrate the Hospital Center's Centennial. Others include a Cafe Chantant March 30, an Employee Recognition Tea on April 12, a Centennial Dinner May 17, a Barbeque Sept. 15, and a Holly Boutique Nov. 30.

Funorama on Ice is produced by the Essex Skating Club of New Jersey, Inc., and is sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating

The Saturday, April 14 show starts at 8:15 p.m. The show on April 15 begins at 7 p.m. Tickets may be obtained through the

LEY TRUDINA HOWARD

Fifth In a Series ST. MAARTEN VISITED The island of St. Maarten-St. Martin is fortunate. It has two capitals, two cultures, two owners, and two delightful cuisines. The 17 square miles that constitute the island are shared by both the Dutch and the French. The French have the larger share, and in going from Philipsburg, the capital of St. Maarten on the Dutch side, to Marigot, the capital of St. Martin on the French side, you pass a panorama of soft valleys, colorful vegetation, green hills, old unused plantations, sudden vistas of green and blue colored waters in white sandy coves-and it will take only about 20 minutes to make the trip.

No barriers are at the borderline between the two countries, only friendly "welcome" signs. Friendliness between the two sides and inhabitants of the island seems to be the name of the game. Dutch and French is spoken but everyone speaks English, some mit quite ze

The island was divided to its present form in a quaint manner, according to the tale told on the island. In 1648, the story says, a walking contest between a Dutchman and a Frenchman decided how much of the island would go to

Both men were placed back to back and began walking around the island. Where they would next meet again, would determine where the border would be. As the tale goes, the Dutchman drank beer when he got thirsty and it made him loggy so he fell asleep for a bit. The Frenchman drank wine and was inspired to walk more energetically. That is why, they say, the French have the bigger half and the Dutch the lesser. Nevertheles, the Dutch as least ended up with the better half, at least for those times. Their half contained the great salt pond and for many years it kept the Dutch side wealthier than the French side. It is now no longer being used in the same manner, and is slowly being drained and filled to make room for other money makers such as apartments, hotels, con diminiums and such. The Dutch side also now is the location of the airport.

IN ARRIVING BY SHIP, the Dutch side is also used. The harbor, however, is not deep enough for large ships to tie up to the dock and they must weigh anchor away out in the bay. A tender, therefore, rides the passengers back and forth to land. The little motor boats take about ten minutes from ship to shore, and several continually go back and forth so there is not much waiting time, so it is all rather fun and no problem.

Once you arrive at the dock and step onto terra firma, the first thing you run into going straight ahead, is the post office. It is seemingly just about the biggest building in town, and that isn't very big. It is on Front you are on Back street. And there you have it. That's the width of Philipsburg. But if you go to the right of the post office, you will have about six or seven or eight blocks worth of shops, offices, houses and gardens, etc., and if you go left, you will have about three or four of the same. But that's about it!

Nonetheless the shopping is delicious and everyone is so hospitable. I was in search of some hard-to-find Curacao liqueur from Curação, and went into a little liquor store. It was rather busy so I began searching for the bottle myself. I finally wound up at one end of the shop and two men, one white, one black, asked if they could help me. Nodding enthusiastically, for I could not findit, they set to work and found it in a minute. When I asked enthusiastically, for I could not find it, they set to work and found it in a minute. When I asked how much I owed them, they smilingly told me they didn't know, they didn't own the shop. THEY were customers!

Then there is the rest of the island to see and enjoy. Out on Simson Bay near town, is a modern, jet-sized airport and circling the bay are luxurious housing developments, con-diminiums and a golf course. Dutch cleanliness is apparent everywhere and some beachfront hotels, both outside and inside Philipsburg, are also delightful in accommodations. Many have smart supper clubs and casinos and magnificent beaches.

St. Maarten-Martin apparently is still a very "in" place to go and hotel reservations need to be made so far in advance it is unbelievable. At the Little Bay Hotel, for instance, we were told (in November) that is was filled until June! So, if you want to enjoy this comely dual paradise, do as the old advertisement says:

Peer Counseling Center Veterans aid veterans at UC

the armed forces, have volunteered their services and created a Peer Counseling Center for veterane, headquartered at the college's Cranford campus. Questions of an academic personal, employment, or miscellaneous nature can be directed to the four student counselors who will give their contemporaries a firsthand report on how to seek help

Louis Klein of 120 W. Jersey st., Linden, chief coordinator of the student volunteers, explained the Peer Counseling Center can help currently enrolled veteran-students make the transition from military to the academic life Veterans not enrolled in any education programs can talk with a peer to help deter mine a course for their own future, he added

"The veterans at Union College and elsewhere can talk to college and employment counselors but often a vet just needs reassurance from a buddy who was in the same situation as he is," Klein said. "That is the purpose of the Peer Counseling Center."
"Whether a veteran is having trouble budgeting study time, getting along with a prof. filing financial aid forms, or mastering a subject, the Peer Counseling Center can help him," Klein continued. "He can just come in to rap with us if he wants and he can come to us if he wants to meet some friends who share his same interests and concerns."

The Peer Counseling Center was formed at Union College with the assistance of the Office of Veterans' Affairs of Union College and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains under the directorship of Ralph England of Elizabeth. The Peer Counseling Center will share an office with the Office of Veterans'

Alcoholism subject for public session of county PTA unit

"Alcoholism and Teenage Drinking" will be the topic of a public session for the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations on Tuesday morning.

Thomas W. Long, juvenile protection chairman, announced that the group will meet in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, Dr. William West, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The meeting will be in the board room at 300 North ave., Westfield.

Speakers will be Mrs. Teresa McGeary. Union County director of the National Council on Alcoholism; Charles W., Alcoholic Anonymous member; and a teenage Alcoholic Anonymous member. A film, "To Your Health," will be shown

Long stated, "The problems of alcoholism. although muted in comparison to numerous other crisis situations of today's world, continues to increase in leaps and bounds with very few effective programs.

He continued, "There is a tendency on the part of many adults to rationalize when comparing the relative seriousness of alcoholism versus drug abuse. Yet, experts inform us of the commensurate negative attitude that prevails in both problem areas. What is being done? What can be done? What is planned? These and many more questions will be part of the discussion at the meeting.

The public is invited to attend

Leads announced for Oscar Wilde production at UC

Mark Mangan of 412 Harrison ave., and Angelo Santoro of 705 Pine st., both of Roselle, have won the leads in a production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," being staged by the Union College Dramatic Society in late March.

Santoro and Mangan will play the roles of Jack and Algernon, two young men seeking the hands of two young ladies in spite of 19th century English aristocratic social obstacles. Both young men face an additional obstacletheir loves only favor men with the name of

The plan of Jack and Algernon to overcome this handicap forms the basis for Wilde's award-winning comedy-satire Mangan and Santoro, both graduates of Roselle Catholic High School and sophomores at Union College, are veterans of the Dramatic Society. Mangan has played leads in Harold Pinter's "The Homecoming," and Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" This is Santoro's first starring role.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is being directed by Prof. Donald Julian of North Plainfield, drama and speech instructor at Union College. It will be staged on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, March 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center theatre at Union College's Cranford campus. A 3 p.m. matinee performance is also scheduled

Also appearing in the play is Michael Santoro of 705 Pine st., Roselle.

OUR SWIM CLU OUR SUMMER CLUB

the same money that buys you membership in your swim club may very likely buy you something nicer: membership in our summer club. Sun Valley,

Many people think of Sun Valley as the Rolls Royce of seasonal clubs, it is. But, like a Rolls Royce, it's both practical and luxurious at the same time.

The practical side is the cost: Certainly less than you'd spend on an average two-week family

The luxurious side is Sun Valley itself. It sprawls across 75-acres of superb landscape, dotted with trees, contemporary architecture and every facility you could possibly want.

There are five sparkling pools, including an Olympic-size pool. Nine all-weather tennis courts.

A tennis clinic. Basketball. Volley ball. Paddle tennis. Softball. A recreational program that's rich, varied, "with it". There are dance parties, Excellent dining facilities. Spacious cabanas and dressing rooms.

For your children we have wide-ranging activities in our unique day camp. And, as you would expect, we have skilled counselors to guide them and watch over them.

Your swim club versus our summer club. Yours is, good. Ours is better. Yet it costs no more. Come visit us any day, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and see. Or call or write for our illustrated brochure.

Invitations are sent to schools

Public, parochial and private schools in New Jersey have been invited to send pupils to the spring series of Young People's Concerts to be presented without charge at the Garden State

Arts Center, Holmdel. The invitations have been extended by the commissioners of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Arts Center on the Garden State Parkway and administers the Garden State Arts Center Cultural Fund, sponsor of the free program.

Commissioner Joseph C. Irwin said this week reservation forms have been mailed to the principals of all grammar, junior high and high schools in the state. Applications for tickets, he stressed, must be made through the principals and will be accommodated on a first-come. first-served basis.

Thirty-two performances are on the free May-June calendar for school children and will be presented by talented professional groups which have established reputations for providing entertainment for young people. Irwin said. The groups include the Prince Street Players Ltd. of New York, the Performing Arts Repertory Theater Foundation Inc. of New York, the Peforming Arts Foundation Inc. of International House, New

Mrs. Dewart gets job as head teacher for UCP day care

Mrs. Elaine Dewart, wife of Springfield's Methodist minister James Dewart, was promoted to head teacher in the Union County Cerebral Palsy Center's day care program Her position was created urder a day care grant received from the N.J. Dept. of Institutions and Agencies and Bureau of Children's Services for the purpose of expanding educational and therapy programs for pre-school children. The UCP Center is located at 216 Holly st., Cranford.

Mrs. Dewart previously served as a teacher in the CP Center's developmental class. She holds a B.A. in psychology from Drew University and an M.A. from Newark State College in early childhood education. She has studied at Fordham U. School of Social Work, worked at this profession and also holds a certificate in shorthand and typing. Her extensive experience with young children includes a position as director and head teacher in the Play School Cooperative Nursery School. Colonia, A member of the N.J. Association for the Education of Young Children, Mrs. Dewart is also deeply involved in many community and church programs. An accomplished musician, Mrs. Dewart has also taught piano.

In her new position, Mrs. Dewart will supervise the CP Center's day care program, which includes two developmental classes, Nu-Day Nursery School and the CODEP Class. As such she coordinates not only the educational program but also the youngsters' speech and physical therapy along with the much-needed volunteer assistance. Mrs. Dewart views the developmental class as a new concept in early learning. Young children progress directly from the CP Center's infant program to this class. Age is determined by both chronological and developmental levels-her youngest student is 1 year 10 months; her oldest is 4. The purpose of the CODEP program is to evaluate children and help place them in the proper educational setting. Nu-Day is a nursery school composed of equal numbers of handicapped and non-handicapped youngsters. While Mrs. Dewart's approach to her new position is both flexible and creative, her motivating force is a deep concern for the children enrolled in the CP Center's day care program.

The Rev. and Mrs. Dewart live in Springfield and are the parents of three children ranging in age from 13 to 21.

The Prince Street Players will return to the Arts Center with a musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" Monday through Friday, May 14-18. The show, recommended for grades 1 through 4, will be offered twice daily.It's a spirited telling of the familiar tale about the adventurous youth, the giant and the goose that lavs golden eggs.

The Performing Arts Repertory will stage "Young Abe Lincoln," a musical recom-mended for grades 5 through 8, twice daily Monday through Friday, May 21-25. This company presented "Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys" at the Arts Center last

The International House group will offer 'Around the World in 60 Minutes' twice a day Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 29-31 This music-and-dance production is recommended for grades 5 through 12. It illustrates how well man communicates through the performing arts. The foundation involved provides opportunities for talented students from many countries to express the ways in which music and dance have contributed to their natural cultures.

The Up With People troupe will present two concerts daily Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 6-8 This internationally famed group will offer programs combining original, inspiring music and lyrics designed for grades 5 through 12

The performances will start at 10:30 a.m. and 12/30 p.m., with each program to last an hour

Welk and golf to aid Arts Center's fund for charity shows

Gov. William T. Cahill this week announced two fund-raising events to benefit the Garden State Arts Center Fund, which last year provided free shows for 400,000 New Jersey school children, disadvantaged youth, senior citizens, disabled veterans and the blind.

The Governor said the first event will be a gala opening night benefit performance on Saturday, June 9, featuring TV musical personality Lawrence Welk and his cast. The performance will be preceded by a catered buffet dinner inside a large tent which will be erected on the Arts Center grounds. The tickets will be priced at $50, $75 and $100. The opening night "gala" last year featured Bob Hope and Duke Ellington.

The new event this year, Governor Cahill said, will be a pro-amateur-celebrity golf tournament to be held on Aug. 29 at the new course of the Playboy Club in Great Gorge, McAfee. The tournament will be conducted by the New Jersey Professional Golfers Association as a regular tour event. It will be called the "Garden State Arts Center Fund Approximately 50 of the State's top golf professionals are expected to compete for prize money totaling $20,000, and 150 amateurs and celebrities will vie for other prizes. The tour-nament will be followed that evening with a cocktail party and dinner. The chairman of the golf tournament is John Balluardo, golf pro at the Hopewell Valley Country Club, Hopewell.

3 CLEP centers at Montclair State

Adults who are considering returning to college and who want to learn about the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) and other college-related opportunities can now go to one of three college-readiness counseling centers established by the the Montclair State College Office of Special and Experimental Programs.

According to Dr. George King, Montclair's assistant to the president for program development, the college-readiness counseling service was developed in response to rising interest among persons beyond the usual college age in beginning or completing college

"Many of these persons have significant college-equivalent knowledge," he siad, "and we want to help them to demonstrate this and to translate it into college credits, thereby reducing the time required to earn a degree.

Committee formed to protest fund cuts in nursing schools

Major cutbacks in federal funds for colleges of nursing across the country and the impact of such cuts on college programs have motivated the organization of a committee at the Rutgers College of Nursing in Newark, according to committee member Mrs. Barbara Kiernan, an instructor at the schoool. The group will inform students, faculty and the general public how general health care will decline if the President's proposed budgetary cuts in the Division of Health are effected, she added.

The committee, chaired by Miss Marguerite Manning, dean of student affairs for the college, first met a week ago. Mrs. Kiernan "the committee discovered that all but a few students were unaware of the proposed cuts, and they, to even a lesser degree, understood the new budget's implications

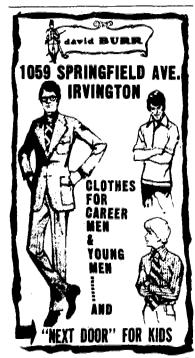

Under President Nixon's proposed budget, Mrs. Kiernan noted that the following programs would suffer: research, trainee aid, scholarships, construction, recruitment, seed grants and special project grants.

"The fact is that under the proposed budget," Mrs. Kiernan said, "all support for nursing research and research training that has previously been funded by the Division of Nursing through the Department of Health, will be abruptly cut off."
"Scholarships for nursing students," she added, "are to be cut from the current $19.5 million to $11 million, with no increase in student loans. This would mean that students would have to drop out of undergraduate programs where scholarships have been helping to support them, and ultimately would affect the graduate programs, as well

"Additionally," she said, "faculty who are now being supported on research and National Institute of Mental Health funds would likely be let go, and their research abandoned."

Mrs. Kiernan said the committee will attempt to mobilize a letter-writing campaign directed to members of Congress

Surplus at Blue Cross; more coverage ordered

State Insurance Commissioner Richard C. McDonough has ordered the Hospital Service Plan of New Jersey (Blue Cross) to substantially broaden its protection to thousands of individuals it previously had refused to cover and to provide full protection to many thousands who are limited in their coverage by physical conditions.

McDonough acted in the face of a Blue Cross report that the end of 1972 showed it with an unexpected" $8.7 million surplus. In testimony presented to the commissioner on a rate increase petition last November, the Plan had predicted a year-end deficit.

McDonough's actions will most benefit New Jersey residents for whom Blue Cross coverage has been unavailable or restricted - those whose applications for hospitalization insurance have been refused and those who have been granted only partial coverage.

McDonough ordered Blue Cross to schedule an "open enrollment" period in which it would be required to accept as subscribers persons whom it had rejected in the past because of sickle cell anemia, mental disorders and bleeding ulcers. Blue Cross was ordered to submit its plan for open enrollment by May 1. At the same time, the commissioner ordered such disabilities as heart disease, diabetes, the elimination of "riders" for a number of other impairments. A "rider" means that the subscriber has general coverage but it will not apply for the specific disorder. Some of the conditions for which he ordered riders removed are: hernia, hemorrhoids, varicose veins, eye problems, gastritis, ulcers, broken bones female problems and back problems.

The elimation of riders will take effect July 1 and will cover all policies that have been in effect for a year or more.

The commissioner also expressed "deep concern" with the sharp variation between Blue Cross' projections in November and the actual results at the end of the year. He informed Duane E. Dear Pat and Marilyn

Dear Pat and Marilyn

I'm a 16-year-old girl who needs some help. My parents won't allow me even a tiny bit of freedom. They refuse to let,

For example, I must account for every minute I'm away from home. My mother insists on selecting all of my clothes. I am never allowed to make the final decision. Yesterday we went shopping and I saw a beautiful red skirt. My mother insisted I buy blue. She said everyone would remember something red and therefore blue would be more suitable. I wanted two-tone shoes. I had to settle for a pair of brown ones.

To be fair, I must admit that my mother has excellent taste, but I want to be myself. I've never created a problem for my parents and don't intend to but I need a little freedom

Your mother should give you more independence. Sit down with your mother and your father (he may help) and have a talk. If this doesn't ease the situation, enlist the aid of a third party. A 16-year-old girl should be allowed to select her own clothing and make some of her own decisions. Too much mothering can resmothering.

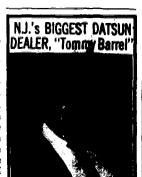

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I am 12 years old and have been secretly seeing J.C. who is 17. My mother doesn't know about this as I always tell her that I am visiting a girl friend

The reason my mother doesn't like J.C. is that he smokes and some of his friends are a little on the tough side. I have had some problems with J.C. The main one is that he wants to make all the time. If I don't do as he requests, he sulks. How can I

Beth Shalom pupils take part in recent 'Shabbaton' weekend

Shabbat on the weekend of Feb. 16 and 17 at the school. The boys and girls were part of the fifth through eighth grades. The Shabbaton was in preparation for three months.

Adult advisors were Mordechai Shlank, principal; and Alan Kalinsky, one of the school's teachers. The Student Council created the idea of the Shabbaton last December to begin planning events. The council consists of Ken Kirshenbaum, president, and Bennett Berson and Ron Kirsch, vice-presidents.

Some of the important aspects learned by the students were the "feel" of a Shabbat and the observation of special customs. The Shabbaton started on the Friday evening (Feb. 16) with services. Dinner followed. The students had some free time before joining the adult ser-

Rabbi Elvin I Kose presented a brief sermon, and the council's president explained the meaning of the weekend to the parents Following services, the children sang and participated in Israeli dances until midnight

The following morning. Shabbath services followed a breakfast. Prior to lunch, the children played chess, checkers and other games. Luncheon was served followed by "teach in" in which they discussed the meaning of the Sabbath. The students participated in a Hebrew Bowl equivalent to a quiz show (on Jewish topics)

At sundown, the children

'Clearwater' needs '73 crew

No previous experience in sailing is necessary; the "Clearwater" is rigged differently from a modern yacht. However, applicants are asked to state their experience on the water, as well as in ecology or Hudson history, in carpentry and other skills, and are asked their enthusiasms for meeting and talking with people, and for day-to-day elbow grease work.

For those under sixteen, there is still work available in helping to clean the river. All members of the sloop organization are asked to contribute volunteer time in boat maintenance in fundraising, publicity, etc.

Readers interested in volunteer activities ashore or afloat, are asked to write to: Volunteer Coordinator, Hudson River Sloop Restoration, Box 25, Cold Spring, N.Y. 10516.

Since there are usually many more applicants for crew than the sloop has room for first choice goes to those who have proven themselves dependable volunteers ashore," a spokesman said. "Outside of this, the crews are selected so as to get as great a variety as possible. The job of saving the world's environment is going to require the cooperation of all the peoples of the world."

Cornell, Penn enter last week tied for Ivy League lead

Cornell and Pennsylvania both posted victories in the Ivy League last Saturday afternoon and will move into the final week of the regular basketball season deadlocked for first place. Columbia was dropped from a first-place tie in an upset by Dartmouth. Harvard also won last Saturday

Dartmouth played one of its finest games and dropped Columbia, 36 to 33. Late in the final period, Teddy Parker and Kenny Fingerhut pulled off steals on two consecutive plays and turned them into driving buckets, putting Dartmouth ahead, 34 to 31. Kenny Feld hit a jumper for Columbia to narrow the margin, but

Rockets, Raiders gain semi-finals in Sandmeier playoffs

The Rockets and the Raiders advanced in basketball playoffs at the Sandmeier School Saturday afternoon. The Rockets acored a 26-17 victory over the Cometa, while the Raiders sent the Jets to the sidelines, 29-19.

The Rockets will meet the Pirates this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. while the Raiders will attempt to move into the finals in a 2:30 game

The Rockets rolled over the Comets as Damon Clark poured in 12 points to lead all scorers. Clark also played tough defense and was very strong off the boards. Tony Parker hit six points and played well at both ends of the court. Jim Craner gave the Rockets a solid game; he hit four points and pulled in many key rebounds. Dave Wasserman was the top playmaker for the Rockets and also had a bucket in the game. Ken Shulman also scored for the Rockets. Steve Kaisch turned in a solid

The Comets were led by Onzillo Pulliam, who scored 10 points, turned in a good play-making game and was very strong on defense. Paul D'Andrea played well for the Comets. Paul scored four points and was impressive on the fast break attack. Jat Bruder played solid defense and hit a bucket. Dave Lerner and Agaples Kyritsis also scored.

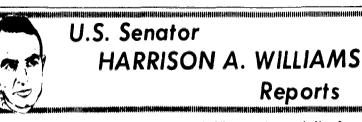

The Raiders are proving to be the hot club in the league. They made in four straight with their opening round playoff victory. The Raiders built up a big lead in the game and were able to withstand a final-period rally by the Jets. Roy Zitomer poured in 14 points to lead all scorers for the afternoon. Roy was also the top playmaker for the Raiders for a top allround performance. Jeff Engelhardt and Ira Tauber each hit five points and both boys also were strong off the boards and contributed solid defense to the team effort. Scott Cosentino hit three points while Jay Soled added a free

The Jets had a big final period to narrow the final count. Jimmy Blabolii and Adan Bain paced the attack and the rally. Each boy finished with six points. Todd Vogt and Andy Volpe were also impressive. Todd hit four points and played strong defense, while Andy scored three points and rebounded strongly.

Fingerhut iced the game with a pair of free throws with five seconds remaining Teddy Parker led the Dartmouth scoring with 13 points. Parker helped under the boards with many rebounds. Bob Conte played his finest game for Dartmouth as he contributed nine points and was their top rebounder at both ends of the court. Kenny Fingerhut hit eight points. Steve Schlein was a four-point scorer for the Dartmouth team, while John Kelly added a big bucket in the second period.

The Columbia offense was balanced as Rick

Legislators to meet county teachers at dinner tomorrow

State and national legislators as well as leaders in education will be on hand to discuss mutual interests with teachers in Union County at a legislators' dinner tomorrow in the Galloping Hill Inn Caterers, Union.

Invitations have gone out to all local teachers associations to send representatives to meet with the legislators, according to Ralph J Amato, dinner chairman.

Heading the legislators who have accepted invitations are U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams and Matthew J. Rinaldo, newly-elected congressman from the 12th District. Both are hopeful that the press of business will not prevent their attending. State Senators Francis X. McDermott and Jerome M. Epstein have been invited

Assembly acceptances have been received from Joseph J. Higgins, Alexander J. Menza, Louis Bassano, Herbert Kiehn and Arthur A. Manner

Three representatives from the New Jersey Education Association are expected. Secretary treasurer Paul Dimitriadis will represent the officers and Executive Director Dr. Fredrick L. Hipp and Dolores F. Corona, associate director for organizational management, will represent the staff. Union County UniServ field representatives Ann Whitford and Ron Harvey will also be in attendance.

The committee working on the dinner includes Carl Landolfi, Pauline Pagoulatos, Fred Johnson, Ed Muzik, Ellen Davis and Ann

Impecunious named

part of the recreation area in New Jersey, on Rt. 36 knows how massive the traffic tie-ups can be. Furthermore, supplementing these roads with mass transit will substantially reduce the amount of pollution in the area.

During the consideration of this bill by the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs last year, provisions were wisely included for improving and expanding the means of access to the area. Specifically, the legislation authorized the Secretary of the Interior to make every effort to provide public access by mass transit and water transportation. These provisions would minimize the impact of automotive transit on the area and increase the opportunities for access by the large populations of the nearby urban areas

In addition, this legislation authorized and directed the Secretary of Transportation to assist the Secretary of the Interior in developing a plan for a water-based rapid transit demonstration project. A total of $30 million was authorized for transportation developments. Most regrettably, however, these vital provisions of the Senate-passed bill were deleted in the final Gateway legislation.

I am very concerned that access to the recreation area remains difficult or impossible for many of the citizens that this area was intended to benefit. Mass transit is essential if the noble goals of this legislation are to be met. The bill I have introduced is identical to the provisions included in the original Senatepassed Gateway bill, which I had the honor of co-sponsoring. It would in fact provide this mass transit and additionally it would provide an exciting demonstration project of waterbased transportation. This latter provision is especially applicable in this case because each section of the recreation area is accessible by water transportation.

By passing the Gateway bill, we endorsed the principle of taking the parks to the people and providing those Americans who live in difficult and even harsh urban environments with open spaces and exciting recreation areas.

I have reintroduced this legislation because I am convinced that the same wisdom which resulted in Senate support of the identical provision last year prevails and that this provision is essential to maximize the enjoyment of the area for all the neighboring

Pistons nip Celtics in Caldwell playoff; Bullets win, 29-10

The Caldwell Small-Fry League playoffs opened last Saturday at the Caldwell School and the Bullets and the Pistons moved into the semifinal round. The Bullets played very well and scored an impressive 29-10 victory over the Lakers. The Pistons were forced down to the wire with the Celtics before scoring a 20-19

The Bullets will meet the Knicks Saturday at 30 p.m. The Pistons will take the court at 2:30 against the league-champion Billikens. Mike Silver and Billy Condon led the Bullets' solid team victory over the Lakers. Mike and Billy each had eight points and both played excellent ball at both ends of the court. Dale Stearns was the top rebounder for the Bullets. Sale also hit a bucket in the game. John Gambrino played brilliant defense and contributed six points. Jerry Balbolil scored four points for the Bullets: Erwin Liss added a free

The Lakers were paced by Mike Riccio. Mike tallied five points, helped in the rebounding and was the top defensive player. Mike will be moving into State League play next year. Bill Chesley scored two points and helped with the rebounding. Ray Rapuano scored three points for the Lakers.

The Pistons averted a stunning upset by the Celtics. The Pistons were perfect from the free throw line in the final period of the game and this was decisive. Barry Sherman, John Levine and Don Meixner all hit clutch foul shots in the final session to pull out the victory. John Levine finished as top scorer for the Pistons with eight points. John was also the best rebounder. Barry Sherman scored seven points for the Pistons and had a good floor game. Don Meixner scored five points for the Pistons.

The Celtics were led by Todd Leonard and Craig Clickenger. Todd scored eight points and was the top play-maker for the Celts. Craig scored four points in the game and was a terror off the boards. Craig also played solid defense. Ed Drummond scored four points on two opening-period buckets. Pete Prete had three coming back. Johnny Kronert spearheaded the attack with 13 points and played strong defense. Wayne Boettcher pulled in some rebounds and scored six points. Tommy D'Andrea, in the Princeton backcourt, added four points as did Dave Falcone. Other scorers for Princeton were Jay Liss, Brian Holmes and Mike Carroll Cornell turned a tight game into a 41 to 34 victory over Yale. Three consecutive buckets by Greg Moroze late in the final period gave Cornell its seventh victory. Moroze, with his best game of the season, finished with 10 points Kevin Mitchell topped the scoring for Cornell as he poured in 12 points and his rebounding and defense were impressive. Kevin Doty of Cornell helped with rebounding and contributed seven points. Pete Episcopo and Skip Liguori both hit six points.

Yale played a strong game against Cornell and is rounding into shape for its playoff push Rich Johns of Yale kept Yale in the game during the final period by drilling in five consecutive shots from long range. Johns finished with 12 points, tops for his team. Steve Pepe hit for 11 points as he connected three times from the floor and hit five free throws. Joe Ragucci scored nine points for Yale and played strong defense. Pete Jacques contributed to the Y Pete Jacques contributed to the Yale scoring. while Frank Zahn and Neil Meisel played strong floor games.

Harvard played one of its best games and crushed Brown, 38 to 24. Tommy Graziano sparkled with 20 points, his best single point production of the season. Eddie Graziano also turned in a strong game for Harvard and contributed mine points. Willie Wilburn hit five points and was Harvard's top rebounder. Mike Sternbach and Kevin Walker both hit the scoring column

Brown had Bob Pine with five points, Jimmy Siegal with four, Jimmy Stadler tops with eix points. Stadler hit a bucket and added four foul shots to the offense. Stadler also battled off the boards. Bob Gilbert scored four points while Jeff Bernstein, Dave Ironson and Rich Minster also contributed to the Brown attack.

Andy Herkalo's big afternoon just about put a lock on the scoring championship of the Ivy League. With one game remaining, he is leading all scorers with 151 points. Kenny Fingerhut of Dartmouth is in second place with 118 season points. Rick Weber of Columbia is a strong challenger for the number two spot with 110 points. Princeton's Johnny Kronert holds fourth place with 101 season points, while Kevin Doty of Cornell is fifth with 98 points.

The remaining boys in the top 10 scoring positions are: Kevin Mitchell (Cornell), 96: Tommy Graziano (Harvard), 95; Teddy Parker (Dartmouth), 86; Steve Pepe (Yale), 85 and Carmen Apicella (Pennsylvania) 69.

Scarborough envisions Oakley Hill as a continuation of the construction ideal which has made him widely known in Southern New Jersey where he has previously built. These ideals, including the desire to create an entire community while adhering to "customized residence" and insuring that each component adds to a classic Colonial community, have gained Scarborough many awards. Life magazine hailed his Barclay Farm community in Cherry Hill as one of the finest new residential areas in the United States. McCalls conferred its award for original design on a Scarborough home and American Home magazine selected Scarborough-built residences as "the best home for the money" in the East, on two occasions Practical Builder presented him with its design Leadership Award and Cherry Hill Township presented Scarborough with its first outstanding business

Poconos offered a triple attraction for the crowds at the recent opening of the leisure home community's new Recreation Center and Ski Lounge. With an assist from the weatherman, the slopes outside the Center gave skiers some of the best sport of the season on a blanket of newly-fallen snow. Other guests took advantage of the new heated swimming pool and sauna bath. And those who just preferred to relax enjoyed cocktails and snacks around the fireplace in the luxurious balconied lounge. The architects, builders and bankers who had helped to make the new facilities possible were there to see the project in swinging operation, climaxing months of construction and several years of planning.

Happiest men on the scene were probably the developers of Big Bass Lake, Lou and John Larsen. "I never saw anything take off so fast," Lou said. "It's as if we pushed a button and the place just exploded."

Symbolic of the indoor outdoor range of recreations now available at Rig Rass Lake were the youngsters who of the swimming pool to wave to buddies and parents on skis just outside the windows. Busiest members of the staff were the attendants at the new T-bar lift, who made sure that the skiers got properly set for a safe ride up the hill.

Prospective buyers of home sites at Big Bass were able to see they'd be getting a lot more than just a piece of land for their money. "Having a part of this action, on a private preserve where you're one of several modern concepts for teaching the basic subjects. The first grade operates in an informal atmosphere in which the teacher concentrates on individualized instruction. In the upper seven grades the basic curriculum is taught in the traditional manner with the exception of reading, in which the child's progress is geared to his capability science, and social studies are depart mentalized in the upper three grades. Physical education is stressed in the curriculum; classes are scheduled for all eight grades.

The Mountainside Board of Education has cooperated with OLL to provide shared-time classes for seventh and eighth graders in woodworking, home economics and typing, Remedial reading and social services are available to all children who need them.

Our Lady of Lourdes School has set aside one large room which is used solely as a learning center. In one section, students receive in dividualized instruction by means of audio edulpment. This room also houses the library and an array of audio-visual equipment to supplement classroom instruction

A varied program of extracurricular activities is offered. These include sports, music, stage and a school newspaper. This year, for the first time, a yearbook will be published.

A spokesman added, "Our Lady of Lourdes School has a vital spirit. This is characterized by the Home and School Association, an organization in which parents and teachers work together for the collective benefit of the children. OLL School is here to stay and will be a continuing factor in the Mountainside educational outlook.

OBITUARIES

SHOMO - On March 4, Charles, of North Beach Haven, formerly of Mountainside.

Chaplaincy service is 14 years old at Overlook, fulfilling a `sacred task'

basic tenet of the Rev. Roy Ogborne, first chaplain at Overlook Hospital in Summit. Now, 14 years since the inception of the chaplainev service, that task is still being carried out, thanks to a number of area clergymen, their congregations, and a group of dedicated volunteer workers

"The Overlook service is one of the most comprehensive offered at any hospital in the country," a hospital spokesman noted. There are three official chaplains at the facility: The Rev. Randolph L. Jones, director of the service, who ministers to members of the Protestant faith, and who also oversees the general operations of the chaplains' office; the Rev. Robert E. Babulski, whose work is financially supported by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Newark; and Rabbi William Horn of the Jewish Community Center, Summit, who works in cooperation with six or seven other area Rabbis.

In addition, 40 to 50 volunteers are on hand to man the office and perform much of the "leg work involved in its operations. Every Friday, a number of these volunteers survey the entire facility, providing information on chaplaincy services to each patient. On Saturday and Sunday, volunteers come to the hospital to help set up for the services and to transport patients to the Overlook chapel.

Chaplain Jones characterized his office's work as basically facilitating the clergy's visits to patients, keeping lines of communication open and being aware of the spiritual needs of each patient, as far as possible. Where the patient has no attachment to any particular church, but there is an obvious need for care over and meets that need, an Overlook spokesman explained

The office provides for interdenominational services and Catholic Masses in the hospital chapel and arranges bedside communions for those patients unable to attend Mass. Formal Jewish services are not held on a regular basis, but for the last two years, a Seder dinner has been presented by the Jewish community, and a Hanukah display set up in the chapel.

Secretary-treasurer of the chaplaincy ser vice is Clarissa G. Coddington, an Overlook Women's Auxiliary member who coordinates the Auxiliary's work in the office. Mrs. Coddington has been associated with the service since its inception.

Also on the volunteer staff are Margaret Belcher, Alice Reig, Delmah Sears, Pearl Hyers and Emma York, who regularly help out in the office. Readers interested in working with the program are invited to call Emily Joest, Head of Volunteer Services at Overlook

'The volunteers are extremely conscientious and try to cover for each other when a substitute is needed, so that necessary personnel is available to make these services possible," the Overlook spokesman said. "Help is always needed, and the chaplains would be most anxious to expand the scope of these services if the additional supportive personnel were on

"Overlook is proud of its chaplaincy service, and hopes its example of ministering to the sick will inspire other hospitals in the area to in stitute similar programs in their service to the communities.

Churches to hold lecture-discussion series during Lent

"Faith Alive! Community Alive?" will be the theme of a series of six lecture-discussions during this Lenten season in Berkeley Heights. A committee of clergy and lay people from Diamond Hill Methodist Church, Little Flower Roman Catholic Church, Union Village Methodist Church and Westminster Presbyterian Church are sponsoring this series, which will be held in the Little Flower auditorium, 110 Roosevelt ave., Berkeley Heights, beginning next Tuesday and con tinuing on successive Tuesdays through April 17. The lectures will begin at 8:15 p.m., followed by refreshments and discussion sessions

The speakers include Catholic and Protestant educators and clergy. The series begins with the Rev. Anthony Padovano, Darlington Seminary; followed by the Rev. Bernard Basset of London, England; the Rev. Nancy Forsber g. Union Congregational Church: Dr Willard Heckel, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church; Dr. Eugene Stockwell of the National Council of Churches and the Rev James Di Giacomo of Fordham University.

The sponsors added, "If you're concerned with the generation gap, if you're concerned with your identity in changing society, if you want to involve yourself as a neighbor and a concerned citizen in your community, this interfaith lecture series will provide new perspectives for 'your tomorrow'."

Time To Spare By GERALD ANDREWS - Retirement Adviser

Retirement during 1973 will signal the beginning of a new life style for many Americans Thousands of them will start this new phase of life in new homes.

Retiring after a long working career cer tainly does not mean that a man or woman is "over the hill" as a home buyer. In fact, it is being solidly disproved by thousands of the 65and-older crowd. In 1972 alone about 2.5 percent of all new homes and approximately 3 percent of existing homes sold were purchased by those over 65. The number has been moving up steadily for the past several years

During 1973, retired Americans are expecting to buy nearly 3 percent of all new dwellings sold and approximately 3 5 percent of the older homes. The 65-or-older home buyer is generally an
