The mayor and council are completely in accord with the need to maintain a reasonable surplus for contingency items of educational need, but after an exhaustive review of the Board of Education's financial condition, feel that the surplus already on hand will be sufficient to provide for any unbudgeted educational requirements, without any need to add any further monies to it.

"By cutting only the projected $30,000 additional surplus to be generated in the current school year from the 1973-1974 expense budget, the mayor and council are confident that the Board of Education will be able to maintain all of the programs and activities it has planned for the Mountainside school system. ## Regional board severs pact with food supplier

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education last week abruptly dissolved its contract with the food service contractor operating the cafeterias in all four of its high schools-Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, Gov. Livingston in Berkeley Heights, David Brearley in Kenilworth and A.L. Johnson in Clark.

Natalie Waldt of Springfield, school board

"Recently a dispute arose between the Board of Education and ARA Food Services with respect to their operation of the school cafeterias. Conferences were held between the Board of Education and representatives of ARA in an effort to resolve the matter.

"However, at this date, no resolution has been accomplished. Acting upon the advice of its counsel, the Board of Education has notified ARA that the contract is being terminated, effective Friday, March 9.

"The school district will reassume operation

"Upon the further advice of its counsel, the board has no further comment at this time. A fuller statement of the facts and the controversy will be issued in the near future."

ROBERT A. EVERS, ARA vice-president in charge of the New York-New Jersey area, commented that the dispute revolves around interpretation of the contract ne the school district, on a cost-plus basis.

He said, "The school district is responsible for operating costs and any increase in those costs. Our contention is that ARA has guaranteed the costs at specific levels. After the contract was negotiated, the district included a number of requests for modification, and we complied with them.

"The district now maintains that ARA agreed to be responsible for operating costs that were additional from these changes-(Continued on back page)

45 attend meeting at Deerfield School

By KAREN STOLL

The Mountainside Board of Education, at its meeting Tuesday night in the Deerfield School, voted unanimously to adopt the negotiated salary guide for teachers for the 1973-74 school year. The teachers' agreement for 1974-75 also was approved as the second part of a two-year

The new starting salary is $8,900 for teachers with a baccalaureate degree and ranges to a maximum $15,350 in 16 steps. The previous range was from $8,600 to $14,500. Salaries for teachers with four years of college, plus 30 credits, will start at $9,400 and range to $15,850 The previous scale was $9,100 to $15,000.

Teachers with a master's degree can claim a starting salary of $9,900-up $300 from the current figure-to $16,350 after 17 years, an increase of $850. Six years' training, which is just short of a doctoral degree, brings teachers a starting salary of $10,900 to $17,350. The present figures range from $10,600 to $16,500.

The salary guide also provides for longevity stipends of $300 to teachers with 21 years of service, 15 of which were in Mountainside, and those with 18 years, 12 of which were here.

ABOUT 45 BOROUGH residents were in attendance at the monthly session, which covered a wide range of topics. Board member Patricia Knodel, chairman of the transportation and safety committee, introduced a motion that a letter be sent to the Borough Council requesting three safety measures: placement of a turn-signal traffic light at the intersection of Rt. 22 and New Providence road; laying of sidewalks along at least one side of New Providence road, Summit road, Mountain avenue and Central avenue; and the erection of signs warning motorists in areas where deaf children live.

After some discussion by the board, the motion was tabled until further study could be made, and a caucus meeting on those suggestions was scheduled immediately following the regular session. Mrs. Knodel also suggested that residents seeking approval of the measures, make their feelings known to the council, particularly in the form of letters.

The subject of caucus meetings played a large role in the audience participation portion of the session, with some residents questioning the board policy of keeping the caucuses private. All members in attendance-Walter Rupp and board president Grant Lennox were absent-stated they would be in favor of allowing interested citizens to observe such sessions, provided they did not deal with confidential matters, such as particular personnel or individual children's problems. Although no action was taken at this time, board vice-president James Keating noticed the policy might be changed.

There was a slight controversy over the publication in the recent PTA newsletter of an article by board member Dr. Irvin Krause on the board's budgeted expenditures per student. Mrs. Knodel raised an objection, stating that a year-and-a-half ago she had been "taken to task by the school board for issuing statements in the paper." She said she was told instead to write letters to the editor. She said that although she disagreed with the demand she complied with it, and although she does not object to the rules of the game being (Continued on back page)

Chief Robert Day, "the whole building was on fire when we got there."

Day said one of the tenants in an apartment building to which the garage belonged said he noticed fire coming through a closed door on one end of the structure "and within minutes the entire garage was in flames.

Day said the cause of the fire still is under investigation, but it is thought to have started in a portion where "about two tons of old newspapers" were stored. Day said the cinderblock building had no partitions between the parking stalls and there was a common wooden roof, factors which contributed to the rapid spread of the fire. Day also noted that only one of the stall doors was closed, the one where the papers were stored, 'so there was plenty of ventilation' to feed the Day said the fire was brought under control in about half an hour, but most of the cars were totally destroyed. "Fortunately, as far as we know, no gas tanks ruptured," he noted.

The Springfield Rotary Club will celebrate its 25th anniversary Saturday evening at a dinner dance in the Chanticler Chateau, Stirling road, Warren Township.

Cocktails will be served at 8, and dinner will follow at 9. The guests will be greeted by Mayor William A. Ruocco of Springfield and District Governor William A. Balogh of Watchung.

The local Rotary Club received its charter at ceremonies June 14, 1948, at Baltusrol Golf Club with 17 charter members. The first group of officers consisted of: president, Milton Keshen: vice-president, Harry R. Boughner; secretary, Lewis N. Sandler, and treasurer Charles H. Mayer. Directors were Kenneth E Bandomer, Raymond Bell and Ludwig Stark.

Other charter members included Milton Billet, Keevic Farber, Fred Harms, John Harms, Gordon A. McCall, Jean Marti, Dr. Philip R. Pedinoff, Charles A. Remlinger, Robert H. Roos and Maurice S. Worth.

Guests at the 1948 charter night event included Mayor Wilbur M. Selander and Alfred E. Bowman, president of the Springfield Lions Club. Master of ceremonies was Bo Adderbert of Hillside Rotary, special representative appointed by district Governor Matty Mathewson of Plainfield, to organize the Springfield club. Mathewson, still an active Rotarian, has expressed regrets at not being able to attend the anniversary event since he is vacationing in Florida

Soon after being organized, the first two new members inducted into Springfield Rotary were the late Harry Heath of Best Pencil Company, and Carl Helmers, public accountant and still an active member. They were followed by Benjamin Newswamzer school superintendent, and Ben Chadwick

In December 1948, Grant Lennox, local surveyor and the late William F. Brown, then Regional High School athletic director, joined the club. The last member of seven inductees during the first year was Thomas F. Lyons, esent chairman of the board of director Crestmont Saving and Loan Association.

William Mitreuter, Rotary president, named Seymour Rosenbaum to handle arrangements for the anniversary dinner dance, assisted by Keshen and Remlinger.

was going north on Maple, told them they had proceeded across Morris after getting the green signal, when the other car ran the red light and struck their vehicles.

No injuries were reported in that crash, but six persons were reported hurt in other Springfield accidents during the week. The first occurred at 4:55 p.m. March 5 on Morris avenue near Keeler street. Police said one motorist, Genevieve C. Ernst of 37 Woodcrest cir., Springfield, reported she had stopped for a red light when her car was hit in the rear by one driven by Aloysius C. Berberich of Union Beach. Police said Mrs. Ernst was slightly injured; but said she would be treated by her family doctor.

On March 6 at 9:45 p.m., there was a two-car accident on Rt. 22 at Hillside avenue. Police said Susan Sommers of Summit, a passenger in a car operated by Mark B. Gruszczynski also of Summit, was slightly hurt when his auto hit another driven by M. L. Roer of Scotch Plains

Police reported a three-car crash March 8 at 4:43 p.m. on Meisel avenue near Milltown road They said a car operated by Philip Galiano of Newark hit the rear of another which was halted for a red light. That vehicle, driven by Edwin H. Waldorf of Union, then struck the car in front, operated by Dossie B. Murph of Union.

Four persons were reported hurt in a two-car accident Friday at 12:10 a.m. on Rt. 22 near Brown avenue. Police said Lena Gresham of Newark had pulled out of Brown avenue and was attempting to go into the Rt. 22 turnaround when her car was struck by a westbound vehicle, operated by Leonard H. ## A lesson they can bank on Students tour National State

The National State Bank in Springfield overflowed recently with first graders from Joanne Silverstein's class at James Caldwell School. In an interview later with the news writing group of fourth and fifth graderws, the children related their impressions.

Art Vail, manager of the bank, welcomed the children and conducted them on a tour of the bank to show how a bank works. The class had already learned that the bank keeps money and in window and then the vault, where they saw safe deposit boxes used to store valuables.

The children were told the huge vault door weighs four tons and that when the vault doors are locked at night a timer is set for the next morning. The vault cannot be opened before then. A particular point of interest to them was the fact that if anyone should be locked in the vault, he could press a button to get air and a chocolate bar. To the children the vault looked almost as large as a classroom

Another fact the children discovered was that the bank lets people borrow money for different reasons. They learned that the bank helped the town of Springfield build the library

The first graders ended their visit on a sweet note They were given a box of lollipops as a remembrance of an interesting morning.

Marathon swim slated

Sponsors cards are available now at the Summit YWCA and through loca schools for the 24-hour swim marathon April 6 and 7, 6 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. The "plunge for funds" and the aliday health fair April 7 are open to everyone from tots to senior citizens

Funds raised by the plunge will benefit the YWCA by helping to support the preven tive health fair, provide funds for scholarships and equipment in an effort to enrich and expand the associations' ser vices to the entire community.

Swimmers were requested to initiate an agreement with friends, family and YWCA members by offering to swim a certain number of lengths for a designated fee. Participants over 8 years of age may complete up to 200 lengths.

The handicapped children participating in the American Red Cross classes at the YWCA may swim on Saturday morning, 9:30 to 10 and children 3 to 7 may swim a maximum of 5 widths Saturday morning, 10 to 10:30. Parents and friends have been invited to watch.

Anyone wishing to volunteer as a sponsor or a pool supervisor was requested to contact Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick, chairman of Plunge for Funds, at 273-3949, or the YWCA health director, JoAnn Schmidt at 273-4242.

Rev. Murray to be senior minister at church in Westfield

The Rev. Wilmont J. Murray has accepted a call from the congregation of the First Baptist Church of Westfield to become its senior minister, succeeding the Rev. William K. Cober. Mr. Murray begins his pastorate in Westfield today and his family will join him at the end of the current school term

Mr. Murray has been senior minister of the Fairview Baptist Church in Fairview Park, Ohlo, since 1965. Before that he served parishes in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

A native of New England, Mr. Murray is a graduate of Tufts University where he received bachelor or arts degree in English literature in 1950. He is also a graduate of Andover Newton Theological School from which he received the master of divinity degree in parish ministry in 1954. His wife, a contralto soloist, is also a graduate of the seminary, having received the master of religious education degree. She is director of Christian education at St. Paul's Community Church (United Church of Christ) located in the inner city of Cleveland.

The Murrays are the parents of three children. Christine is a junior at Kalamazoo College in Michigan. Leland completes his high school studies in June, 1973. He is co-captain of the Fairview Park High School swimming team. Meredith, the younger daughter, is a high school freshman also interested in athletics.

Mr. Murray has taken leadership roles in fair housing, in financial drives for health funds, and served on the board of a nursing association. He has also been active in ecumenical affairs, having served as chairman of the radio-television committee for a local council of churches. He was a board member of a state council of churches whiletserving as president of the Protestant Service Organization, a support group for prison chaplains. He recently served as a consultant to the Ohio Funeral Directors Association to provide more adequate post-funeral coun-

Raymond J. Hauser of Elizabeth paid a total of $190 for disregarding a traffic signal at the intersection of Rt. 22 and New Providence road, for driving an unregistered vehicle, and driving while on the revoked list. A total of $120 was paid by Richard Carter of Plainfield for being an unlicensed driver, using other plates on his auto, operating an unregistered vehicle, driving without registration in his possession, and for contempt of court. Carter's traffic summonses also had been issued on Rt. 22.

Among the other motor vehicle cases heard were three for speeding. Herbert B. Vatter of Westfield received a $35 fine for doing 60 mph in a 35-mile zone on New Providence road. Irene V. Rousseau of Summit and Richard L. Slatnick of West Orange both were charged with exceeding the 40-mile limit on Summit road Miss Rousseau paid $25 for driving 55 mph. Slatnick paid $20 for 50 mph.

Driving on Summit lane while his faculties were impaired by alcohol was the charge against John H. Schenk of Berkeley Heights, who was given a $65 fine and had his driver's license revoked for six months

Thomas P. O'Connor of Englewood paid $15 for failure to have current inspection on the auto he was driving on Rt. 22. A total of $25 was paid by Renee L. Williams of East Orange for failure to have her car reinspected and for contempt of court. Her sommons also had been issued on Rt. 22.

Patrick A. Noce of Springfield was fined $30 for careless driving resulting in an accident on Summit road. A $10 fine was levied against Thomas J. Zatonski of Clark for driving on a lawn area in Watchung Reservation

In other court action, a $65 fine was given to Jeffrey Montanaro of Jersey City, who pleaded guilty to possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. He was found innocent of charges that he had used or was under the influence of the drug. Montanaro had been arrested Feb. 19 in the Watchung Reservation by Union County Park Police.

John F. Gates Jr. of Jersey City, who was arrested at the same time, faces charges of unlawful possession of a handgun. At the municipal court session, his defense counsel waived preliminary hearing, and the case was sent to the Union County Grand Jury.

Letters To Editor

BIRTH RATES DOWN

I am pleased to see that birth rates in the United States are still dropping, as shown in a New York Times article of Friday, March 2. If the United States is to have any influence on world population growth, the problem must first be solved here at home.

However, I feel the headlines are misleading and have been in other articles on population. They do not give the true picture of our future growth rates. First we must maintain this present low level for 70 years to stabilize our population.

Birth rates tend to follow a roller coaster line after a drop in births or a baby bust there follows a rise in births or baby boom. We have an ever-increasing base of people of childbear ing age and the largest single age group according to the 1970 census is 15 years old now.

There are many women in the U.S. who have no access to birth control and family planning services. Planned Parenthood has an enormous job to provide information and clinic services to those who are not receiving them

The veto of the Family Planning bill by our president has made this job difficult, if not possible. Planned Parenthood and related agencies deserve the support of all citizens who have a concern for the future. They deserve more federal support instead of the cutback in funds which we are now witnessing,

Law change cited by Social Security on student payments

Students who get monthly Social Security payments may now receive checks for a time after their 22nd birthday, according to Ralph W. Jones, Social Security district manager in

Under a change in the law, an undergraduate student can continue to get Social Security payments through the end of the semester or quarter in which he reaches 22, Jones said

If the student's school does not use the semester or quarter system, payments can continue until he completes the course he is taking or two months after he reaches 22. whichever comes first

"The change means students will no longer face the problem of having their benefits stop in the middle of a school term." Jones said

About 590,000 students are now receiving monthly checks because a parent insured under Social Security retired, became disabled or died. Checks for dependent children normally stop at age 18 but payments continue to 22 for young people who are in school full time and remain unmarried

Under previous law, Social Security payments stopped when the student reached 22

Bill would prohibit cemetery charges at veterans' graves

A bill introduced in the New Jersey Legislature by Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn, a Union County Republican, would prohibit cemetery companies from charging for the surface area of a base for a marker or a headstone provided by the government for the grave of a U.S. serviceman who died in service or of a veteran who had received an honorable Assemblyman Kiehn said that cemetery companies at present are permitted to levy such a charge. He added that he believes no such charge should be made when the grave is that of a man who gave his life for his country "or who served honorably in the armed forces.

The Union County legislator declared that it was not fair to have a veteran's family receive a bill for a gravesite area after the veteran who died in his country's service or who had offered his life in the nation's defense, was Veterans' organizations should indicate to members of the Legislature that the bill. Assembly No. 2028, has their support and that they wish to have it passed, Kiehn said. He noted that the bill has been referred to the Assembly's Commerce, Industry and Professions Committee.

The provisions of the bill, in addition to pertaining to charges for graves of servicemen and veterans who are buried in a cemetery. also pertain to charges for surface areas covered by memorials to servicemen whose bodies have not been recovered or who were buried at sea

Kiehn reported that the bill has been studied by funeral directors who have expressed approval of its provisions

Rosenberg named firm vice-president

Jerome Rosenberg of Springfield has been appointed vice-president of Intercontinental-National Agency of Cherry Hill, a subsidiary of the Intercontinental Life Insurance Company.

Ephraim Weiniger, president of the intercontinental Life Company, of which the Intercontinental Life Insurance Company is the major division, said, "As the manager of Intercontinental's Cherry Hill office, Rosenberg is now in charge of recruiting and training salesmen in the Delaware Valley area including southern New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware." Rosenberg joined Intercontinental in 1971 when the company acquired the First National Health Agency, of which Rosenberg was a leading producer of accident and health insurance. He had been associated with First National since 1962.

A graduate of the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Fla., Rosenberg lives at 539 Ashwood road, Springfield, with his wife, Lois, and their two children, Michael and Jeffrey.

to be held Tuesday evening, April 3, at Short Hills Caterers. According to Jack Stifelman, chairman of the event, leaders of the Jewish community and civic dignitaries are expected to join in the tribute.

He added: "Young Israel of Springfield is largely the fulfillment of a dream cherished by Dr. Strulowitz, since his moving to Springfield, of bringing a modern Orthodox synagogue to the community. Throughout the years he met with leaders of several Newark synagogues in an attempt to encourage their relocation to Springfield.

"During the course of the latest of these meetings, an initial group of 14 Springfield families interested in a modern Orthodox synagogue gathered in Dr. Strulowitz's home. This group was quickly expanded into a large number of families who decided to form their own synagogue immediately while still seeking to encourage the relocation to Springfield of an older established Newark synagogue.

When the budding congregation was faced with the need for a location to conduct Sabbath and holiday services after successful High Holy Day services at the Florence Gaudineer School, Dr. and Mrs. Strulowitz offered their home for that purpose and the congregation worshipped there from September 1971 to May 1972."

Dr. Strulowitz, a graduate of the Southern College of Optometry, conducts an optometric practice in Irvington. He is a past president of the Union County Optometric Society and served five years as a member of the board of trustees of the state association.

He is the overall chairman of Springfield's Israel 25th anniversary committee which is arranging a weekend observance of that event May 4 to 6. He has served on the religious affairs committee of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, and as liaison with the religious school. He served as chairman of the youth committee of the Newark Chassidic Center and was honored by that group for his work with

IIII From N.J. Taxpayers Association IIII展 FREEHOLDER SALARY

BILL IS QUESTIONED

Salary increases ranging from $2,000 to $9,000 each would be made available on a permissive basis to the state's 133 freeholders in the various counties under terms of a bill which is part way through the Legislature.

The measure (Senate Bill 963, as amended) could raise maximum salaries permitted Boards of Freeholders in the 21 counties by an aggregate of more than $750,000. The measure has been passed by the State Senate and was listed for General Assembly consideration when the Legislature recessed until March 19.

Legislators were urged to postpone action on the bill as "premature, unnecessary and unreasonable" in a letter by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. This pointed out that such action is particularly inopportune this year since the Legislature earlier enacted the County Optional Charter Act which permits voters to restructure their county governments to eliminate administrative duties of the freeholders. Further, all the counties are not at the maximum permitted under existing law

Contending the proposal bears little relationship to present or future responsibilities of the freeholders in the 21 counties, to county populations, budgets or cost of living change since the last salary change, the Association's letter questioned various aspects of the new law and cited oddities resulting from State legislation setting county freeholder salary ranges.

A detailed tabulation prepared by NJTA shows that in Essex County, the nine freeholders received $12,000 in 1972. The present permissive maximum is $12,000. Under the pending legislation the maximum salary range could go to $17,000. If the freeholders acted to raise their salaries to the maximum, the aggregate cost increase to the county would be $45,500, including extra pay for the freeholder director.

In Union County the nine freeholders received $9,000 in 1972. The present permissive maximum is $9,000. Under the pending legislation the maximum salary range could go to $15,000. If the freeholders acted to raise their salaries to the maximum, the aggregate cost increase to the county would be $54,500, including extra pay for the freeholder director.

Students of the fifth year class at Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield will conduct Sabbath services tomorrow evening with the help of Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, spiritual leader of the congregation. Students of the fourth year class will render songs directed by Cantor Farid Dardashti in observance of Purim.

The megillah (the story of Esther), which is the traditional service for Purim, will be read on Saturday evening, with students of the confirmation classes taking part. All congregants and the entire Hebrew School will be a part of this service, which starts at 7 p.m. After the reading of the megillah, a film called "Hand In Hand" will be shown, telling of the friendship that springs up between an 8year-old Jewish girl and an 8-year-old Catholic boy, until it is invaded and marred by religious prejudice, according to a temple spokesman.

N.J. systems of trails proposed by Sierra Club

The establishment of a system of scenic hiking trails in New Jersey has been suggested by the State Chapter of the Sierra Club.

Speaking at a Conference on Trails sponsored by the New Jersey Bureau of Parks, Walter Wells of Summit, vice-chairman of the Sierra chapter, recommended that New Jersey adopt a Scenic Trails Act which would provide hiking trails and protect them against over use and misuse. Similar legislation has also been proposed in Pennsylvania.

Wells, speaking as the official representative of the New Jersey Sierra Club, pointed out that the fragility of trails is often not adequately recognized. He said no one really knows the exact impact of various forms of trail usage or what usage will cause serious or irrecoverable damage to a particular trail. In commenting on the use of such off-road vehicles as snowmobiles and trail bikes. Wells made several arguments for regulating their

"There has been much abuse of both public and private property and amenities by the operators of off-road vehicles," he said. "A lack of self-regulation by the industry and the operators may be responsible, in large measure, for much strong feeling regarding the use of these units or even their existence.

Quoting national Sierra Club policy relating to off-road vehicles, Wells said, "The operation of all off-road vehicles should be presumed to be detrimental to all areas and, accordingly, should be prohibited on all public lands unless proven otherwise by competent impartial investigators. Further, their use should be permitted only off roads in areas and on facilities expressly designated and constructed for their use where their use will cause a determinable and acceptable level of environmental damage.

produces a report on waste disposal

New Jersey community leaders who fear they are about to be buried in tons of unwanted and undisposable garbage are being offered some help by the Sierra Club.

The New Jersey Chapter of the Sierra Club is offering an 11-page report on solid waste management which analyzes how citizens, groups and municipalities can cope with what it describes as "inefficient, inadequate, poorly organized and poorly regulated local efforts to deal with an increasingly large solid waste problem."

The Sierra report, written by chapter con servation chairman Diane Graves and South Jersey Group conservation chairman Susanna Waterman, both of Princeton, notes that existing landfill sites are generally unsanitary and that most incinerators are unable to cope with stiff state standards.

The Sierra report incorporates a study by Ian Walker, executive director of the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association, as an example of careful documentation of un sanitary conditions at two dumps.

The report lists a variety of actions citizens groups can take, lists bills now in the legislature relating to solid waste and gives a brief bibliography of existing studies.

It advocates regional planning as the most sensible long-range answer to the problem of solid waste management.

A copy of the report can be secured for $1 by writing to the New Jersey Chapter of the Sierra Club, 360 Nassau st., Princeton, N.J. 08540, or by phoning (609) 324-3141.

This fact alone indicates that the off-road vehicle, even if operated responsibly, cannot be accommodated within limited park lands, he argued. Wells also questioned whether, in this period of impending fuel shortage, state policy should encourage the use of any "energyintensive" form of recreation. Wells also suggested that development of recreational areas could destroy their uniqueness. He warned that even maintenance and development of trails, unless done with great care, could destroy their value, and said that both litter and noise were harmful to the serenity a good trail should create.

Wells described trails as irreplaceable and  $\boldsymbol{a}$ part of the wilderness heritage that must be preserved for tomorrow's children. "One can onsume the out-of-doors, or one can savor it, he said, "but one cannot do both."

As a proposal for the future, he suggested that a Hikers' Weekend be declared. On this annual date, access to certain state parks would be limited to walkers and bicyclists; roads leading to the parks would be blocked off to all but those on foot or using non-motorized

Girl Scouts: A Changing Image

- * Remember when you thought of Girl Scouts as cookie sellers? Today they paint a different picture because we are more aware.
- ★ Times change and so do goals. Though they continue to help the aged, handicapped...Girl Scouts now work to stop pollution, too.
- ★ Interrelationships with the world and people around them has been a learning experience. Being a friend to all has earned them respect from everyone, everywhere.

Girl Scouting: Challenge Without Fear of Failure

Girl Scouts inspires members to the highest ideals of conduct, character and service so they can grow to be happy and resourceful citizens. You can count on a Girl Scout... learning, working, living ... to build a better community. So Happy Birthday Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, Seniors and Girl Scout Leaders! Happy. That's what you've made it, because of all your community achievements. For the good you've accomplished in civic projects--befriending the aged, volunteering in hospitals, anti-pollution campaigns, and much more...we thank you. A Girl Scout is: "a friend to all..."

The Governor's View

By Gov. William T. Cabill

Just about everybody loves to columnia birthdays, whether our own, our relatives' er our friends'. They are happy occasions that leave us with fond memories

The United States is going to have a birthday soon - a most important one. The year 1976 will be the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence commemorating that historic moment when the collection of in British cononies on the East Coast of the North American continent decided they weren't being treated fairly by the mother country and therefore they would establish a country of their own.

As we are all aware, that event has had an enormously profound effect on the entire world

The nation is preparing now to celebrate the bi-centennial of its founding, and as one of the 13 Original states in that incredibly successful experiment in modern democracy, we in New Jersey should be in the forefront of the ob-

I believe, however, that the celebration should be far more than just speeches and parades. I think it should take the form of projects which will have lasting benefits to our own and to future generations. And, it should be a celebration in which we all share.

An important step in implementing this direction was taken earlier this month when I

Scout start drive for funds needed for operating budget

The annual Colonial Scout District sustaining membership enrollment drive will start this week. In announcing the yearly campaign for Watchung Area Council operating funds, District Chairman William H. Coles of Westfield stated that during the next few weeks more than 100 scout parents in Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Westfield, Garwood and Mountainside will contact scouting families and friends in the district's primary appeal for money to continue the scout council's program for the coming year.

Each district in the council conducts similar drive at this time. While the council benefits from united funds and other sources, the announcement noted, it depends on the sustaining membership enrollment for nearly half of its operating budget. The council is the service center for all the scout units in the district it encompasses, and it provides the general leadership, guidance and administration of the programs on which troop activities and advancement in scouting are

"The district goal of $13,900 is realistic," Coles said, "as our objective is to solicit the help of all the families of the more than 2,500 scouts in the district, as well as others. We have to rely on their assistance for our activities." General chairman of family enrollment is Fred C. Laspe of Scotch Plains. Byron Dimmick is Mountainside chairman.

aigned two bills dealing with the bicentennial One establishes a 22-member Bicentennial Celebration Commission to coordinate and direct the state's celebration; the second directs the New Jersey Historical Commission to participate in the planning and to direct its historical aspects.

The Commission will determine objectives schedule events, plan special public works, authorize commemorative souvenirs, promote and coordinate observance activities of other agencies of the state, and assist and coordinate programs developed by countles, municipalities, bi-centennial agencies and civic, veteran, historical and other

I think it is obvious from this listing that we expect everyone in every part of the state to have an opportunity to participate in the

There is a plan for one particular focal point for the state's observance, however, and that is in the development of Liberty Park. It would be located at the gateway to America on the lower Hudson County shoreline, just about a quarter of a mile behind the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island (now Liberty Island). It was in this location that, for many decades, millions of Europeans arrived in this country seeking a better life for themselves and their children. In the 19th Century it was a thriving waterfront commercial center served by rail lines and the Morns Canal. Today it is a wasteland that is an ill-suited backdrop for the Statue of Liberty with its message of hope.

This uncless, debris-laden landscape would be replaced with an urban state park of international significance, developed to serve the state and the immediate community with facilities offering both beauty and utility. Several plans are now under consideration for the development of this 500-acre site with its two miles of water frontage. These could include marine facilities, international pavilions, amphitheater, botanical gardens and ecological center.

One of the most significant and lasting facilities proposed is for a 'Golden Hands' area devoted to the exposition and exchange of crafts and ideas from all over the world. It would be an international institute for the safe keeping of those trades and crafts brought to America by the immigrants. It would be designed to permit visitors to observe the artisans and craftsmen at work, and it would be an international gathering place for skills both unique and familiar where techniques would be developed and preserved for passing on to succeeding generations. Our appreciation for these skills would be symbolized in a 'golden

U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) has urged that officials of flood-prone com munities in New Jersey which are not yet in the Federal flood insurance program, submit their applications as soon as

"In order for individuals and businessmen to purchase low-cost insurance against flooding through the National Flood Insurance Program, their communities must be enrolled," Williams said.

"More than 1.584 communities throughout the country are already enrolled, and more than 153,000 policies are in effect," he continued. "But, there are many other com-munities which are flood-prone and could qualify for the program that are not yet enrolled. The Spring flood season is fast ap proaching, and I would urge officials in any community prone to flooding which has not yet enrolled in the program to do so as soon as

Encouraging initial meeting held by county unit on aging

Freeholder Walter E. Ulrich, chairman, Department of Public Affairs and General Welfare, Union County Board of Freeholders, announced that the newly-formed County Advisory Committee on Aging's initial meeting last week indicated that the group's efforts would be "fruitful." The meeting was attended by key people representing labor and industry, public and private social agencies and the semor citizens

The purpose of the committee is to review all those problems affecting the older Americans. to study ways and means of bringing about viable solutions and preparing recommendations for consideration by the Freeholders, he said.

The committee will review all of the problems relating to aging - such as health, housing, recreation, etc., but he noted that it was felt that efforts should be directed on a priority basis.

Ulrich stated that Peter M. Shields, executive director of the Union County Office on Aging, reported on the various activities and functions of his office. The committee discussed several problem areas and appointments were made. Raymond O'Day, an officer of the Union County Senior Citizens Council, was appointed as chairman of the Transportation Subcommittee: Ralph Jones, district manager of Social Security, was appointed chairman of the pre retirement Counselling Subcommittee: Louis Giacona housing consultant, was appointed as chairman of the Housing Subcommittee, and Paul Gelb. director of the Meals-on-Wheels, Inc., of Elizabeth, was appointed as chairman of the Utilization of Services Subcommittee.

Ulrich said the committee felt transportation was one of the major problems facing the senior citizens and will be given priority conversion of Philipsburg and seems smaller.

Sixth In a Series

ST. MAARTEN-MARTIN CONCLUDED In driving to Marigot on the French side of the island of St. Martin-St. Maarten, from Philipsburg on the Dutch side, a stop is usually made at a high point along the road from which a beautiful view of the bays and waterfront of Philipsburg and area can be seen. The French side, which is St. Martin, has some nice bay front hotels, also some very expensive motel like ones, some 18th century French Colonial styled ones, a championship golf course, and you can practice your French speaking and eating there; but Marigot is rather a seedy

The tour to Marigot is usually done in a private car with a driver who is either from the Dutch side or the French side, it doesn't seem to matter. You wind through the enchanting countryside, and after arriving near Marigot, a stop is made at the waterfront Le Grand St. Martin Hotel where you get a drink that's pink on a verandah overlooking the bay. You can walk around and explore of course, and when all of you are quite finished, the driver takes you to town (Marigot) for shopping if you so desire, or simply returns by another route to Philipsburg.

It is a morning tour and by the time it is over. it is time for lunch. Most tourists generally take

No TRUDINA HOWARD the tender back to the ship and have lunch on board, but I chose to stay in town and see what the natives had to offer. And it was the delight of the day

At first it was rather hard to find a restaurant for the simple reason that most of them are in hotels, and Front street, Philipsburg, doesn't even have many hotels, let alone many of anything (except shops).

I must have walked about four blocks to the right of that post office mentioned in the previous column (which is almost all there is of that side of town) when I quite naturally became a bit discouraged. But suddenly in one little building nearby there was a sign that said "St. Maarten Tourist Office." It seemed to be a good answer to the problem, so I went in

"Yes." they said, I was in the right direction for a restaurant, and in a few more feet I would reach two. One would be with an Italian name and cuisine, and one would be native with a native cuisine. The native one was "The West Indian Tavern," and that is where I went

Not only was the food good, the seating joyful, but the house itself was interesting. It was the oldest building on the island and once was a synagogue. The building itself was only one room big with a sort of bar at one end and some tables in the rest; but I sat outside on an open (meaning no screens) verandah in the garden at the rear of the house. Chickens were scratching in the soil under the bougainvillaea bushes and birds were flying among the trees and flowers.

The luncheon consisted of a ham and cheese sandwich on rye bread and a glass of wine, but the special thing about it was that the bread was home-made and the cheese was SHREDDED and piled about an inch high on the open faced sandwich.

There was but one other tourist there. All the other people (ha! there were only six tables on the entire verandah) were both black and white natives. Despite the non-screens, no insects were about. There was no air-conditioning anywhere in the place, either, just the lovely soft breeze flowing around us. It was a

ONE OF THE THINGS that had been recommended for us to see was the stained glass window of Peter Stuyvesant at the Little Bay Hotel's bar just outside Philipsburg. The Honorable Mr. Stuyvesant, by the way, was the first governor of the Netherland Antilles (the Dutch West Indies at the time) and lost a leg in battle in the islands. The window, reportedly, was one of THE things to see on the island. Well, the Little Bay Hotel is a good way out of Philipsburg, so a taxi must be taken. All

So we take our little tender back to the ship to dress, get back on the tender to get back to land, find a taxi to get to the hotel, and then try to find someone to get us to the stained glass window. No one knows where it is. No one has even heard of it. Finally we say, "it is in the bar. Where is the bar?" "Oh," we are told, "the bar only opens at six."

It is now five.

So we go sit on the gorgeous beach and watch the gorgeous sunset. And it IS all gorgeous. Then we aim again for the bar. We get to it. But no window! Where is it????

This time there is a very knowledgable looking man at the desk in the lobby, so we sashay up to him and ask HIM. Very offhandedly he tells us the bar was newly redecorated and the window simply did not fit, so the owner of the hotel took it and put it in his

National survey ranks Drew among top private institutions

A just-released national rating of colleges and universities lists Drew and Princeton universities as the only two New Jersey schools among the country's top 75 privately supported institutions

The rating, published by College Rater, Inc., of Allentown, Pa., ranks Drew 40th in its national listing of nearly 500 private colleges and universities, several steps upward from the institution's 46th placement in the lastpublished Rater in 1967

Based on rankings for all 785 schools surveyed (both publically and privately supported), Drew rates a 47th place nationally.

Included in the factors studied by College Rater, which ranks schools according to certain measurable criteria but does not claim to evaluate the academic excellence of the entire program, are the admissions standards of surveyed institutions; the number of recipients of Rhodes, Danforth, and National Science

Other New Jersey schools included in the listing of 470 private institutions are, in order of their ranking, Stevens, Upsala, Fairleigh Dickinson, St. Peter's, Seton Hall, Georgian Court, Rider, Monmouth, and Caldwell

Among the state colleges, Rutgers placed 11th nationally (one place above its 1967 ranking) and Douglass ranks 17th among the 81 public and private women's colleges ta jump from its previous 25th place ranking)

In the highly competitive rating of Middle Atlantic states (New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania) the Rater placed Drew 12th of 25 schools, ahead of such institutions as New York University, Lehigh, Franklin and Marshall, Vassar, Dickinson, Barnard, and Bucknell

According to the survey, Harvard, Yale California Institute of Technology, Chicago University, MIT, Princeton, and Dartmouth ranked in order as the top schools in the country. Immediately following Drew in the ratings were NYU, Grinnell, Kalamazoo, Notre Dame (Ind), Earlham, and Lehigh, with Lawrence, Middlebury, Bates, Tufts Allegheny, and Wooster also in the 45th to 75th

Case tells council of tenants' charges

WASHINGTON-In a telegram to Cost of Living Director Dr. John T. Dunlop, Senator Clifford P. Case R-N.J. said he has provided the council with "hundreds of complaints" from tenants in his state. Senator Case's telegram was in response to a request by the Cost of Living Council that he provide the council with a list of landlords who have raised rents exorbitantly in New Jersey.

Senator Case said such information should be available from the Internal Revenue Service but cautioned that the IRS has been told by some landlords, "You have no legal right to inspect our books.

Case again urged the council to place a flat percentage ceiling on apartment rents, retroactive to Jan. 11, 1973. The senator has introduced rent control legislation which will be considered this week by the Banking. Housing and Urban Affairs Committee.

Suppose we lose the Energy Race?

What happened in England could happen here. The newspaper clippings above are from the London Times during the power crisis in February, 1972. The nation was on the brink of disaster because of the miners' strike. Power restrictions became so vital to survival that those who did not follow them were subject to impris-

Our energy crisis in the United States is of a different making. But if it is not solved - if we do not build our nuclear energy plants in time - the results of a serious power shortage would be the same.

industries would have to cut back production. Some would collapse completely. Millions would lose their jobs. Lives might be endangered in hospitals. Food and water supplies would be threatened. Our whole way of life would cease

For an idea of what life would be like should we lose the energy race, try not flicking on a light switch just one day. Don't use anything electrical. That means no air conditioning. No radio or television. No clothes washer or dryer. No dishwasher. No toaster or iron. No vacuum cleaner. No cooking range or oven. No refrigerator. And when you lie down to sleep that night, imagine putting up with periodic power cuts and restrictions the rest of your life.

In New Jersey, we were fortunate in having had enough energy reserve to get us through last summer. Perhaps we may have enough energy reserve this year, too. So why are we talking about an energy crisis now?

Where electricity is concerned, tomorrow is now! It takes 8 to 10 years to build a nuclear generating station. Delays have already put us far behind schedule. If there are further setbacks, we are in grave danger of losing the energy race.

So you won't be sorry later, speak out for nuclear energy today. With your support we will conquer the challenge of our expanding economy and population, and safeguard our way of

Sweet corn crops in state may face a wilting disease

This winter's mild weather has brought some bad news to Garden State sweet corn growers. A plant disease known as sweet corn wilt becomes troublesome in a growing season following a winter in which temperatures do not dip low enough to kill the infection.

Chances of a serious outbreak are greater because wilt was unusually severe last year. John K. Springer, plant pathologist on the staff of the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, is alerting growers to their prospects. Dr. Springer is stationed at the college's South Jersey Research and Development Center near Bridgeton.

James A. Carr, advisory agricultural meteorologist at Rutgers, explains how the forecast works: "Plant pathologists found a direct correlation between the sum of the average temperatures in December, January, and February, and the severity of the disease during the following season. When the sum for these months equals 100, the disease severity would be about average.

"However, this winter the sum of the temperatures for the period was 108 at Seabrook in Cumberland County, and also as far north as the Experiment Station in New Brunswick," he

N.J. Bell report cites services

"Significant service improvements," a record construction program, and "increased customer satisfaction with telephone service' are discussed in the annual report of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., which was released this week by Robert W. Kleinert, company

In the report Kleinert said New Jersey Bell spent $314,600,000 for new construction last year bringing the company's total plant investment at the end of the year to $2.6 billion.

Kleinert said the construction program was 'a key to service improvements which, in turn, led to a significant drop in customer complaints. There was marked improvement in service, capitalizing on the groundwork laid by previous years' large construction programs," Kleinert said Kleinert stressed that "no job can be accomplished by technology alone. The greatest contributions to this company's successes are those made by the more than 31,000 New Jersey Bell men and women. Above all, it was their commitment and dedication to service that made 1972 a year of remarkable achievement

Shelly Winters in 'Marigolds' run

"The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," or just "Marigolds" for short, will open at the Paper Mill for a threeweek run on Tuesday, continuing until April 8. Starring Shelley Winters, the all-woman play is about an acid-tongued mother and her two daughters.

Divorced, dowdy and damaged by many disappointments, the mother (played by Shelley Winters) pours a constant stream of fury and sarcasm-liberally laced with biting humor-on her two teenagers whom she con siders one of her worst afflictions.

"Mary, Mary," starring Betsy Palmer, will play at the Paper Mill through March 18. Tickets at the box office, 376-4343.

'Fiddler' fiddles to enjoyment of every audience

By BEA SMITH

You don't have to be Jewish to enjoy and appreciate "Fiddler On the Roof," audiences of every nationality and religious affiliations proved this old adage when the production had its long-running Broadway smash hit.

Now movie audiences (of every nationality and religious affiliations) are finding the motion picture version a source of delight. The big Broadway production is even bigger on the theater screens -- particularly on the local screen at the Jerry Lewis Cinema in Five Points, Union Center

Norman Jewison, directed of the United Artists motion picture release, has faithfully transformed the stage play into a superb musical film. He has, in fact, given Fiddler" an extravance not offered in the playand getting carried away in this fashion may be one big flaw in the movie.

It's all very fine indeed, when the big production numbers come alive in marvelous color and special sound effects, particularly with such gems as the title song, "A Fiddler On the Roof," "Sunrise, Sunset," "If I Were A Rich Man," "Do You Love Me?" and many, many more that reach in and pluck your heart out It's an absolute joy to audiences of every faith. But the intimate moments, as a result, cannot be toned down, in such an extravagant production (which even has an intermission) They cannot truly capture the heart-rending moments originally brought forth in the Tevya Sholom Aleichem. The stage managed to capture these scenes effectively due to its confinement and limitations. It loses great deal, however, in the film tran-

Nevertheless, "Fiddler" still manages to retain its status as the best show in town. Topol, an Israeli actor, and a splendid one-that, appears rather young for the part, despite the beard. His Israeli accent pushes through the Russian one on more than one or two noticeable occasions. He has a strong, resonant voice, however and this rather makes up for what other qualities he may lack. Perhaps it is the fault of his youth that refuses to convey the true humility of Tevya, the poor milk farmer who resides in his beloved village in Russia at the turn of the century.

His struggle with poverty, three marriageable daughters (and two promising younger ones), the force of a pogrom are all shown with such realism, that members in the audiences may remember with nostalgia, stories told to them while seated on their parents' or grandparents' knees of their own struggles in small European villages. One of the outstanding scenes (and there are many) in the the picture-a real show stopper-is the dream sequence involving Tevya, his wife, and their "dead" ancestors. This. readers, comes off a great deal better on screen than on stage. It makes the scariest of scary Halloween nights seem like a stroll through the park on a mild autumn evening

N.J. Ballet Company to open repertory season on April 11

The New Jersey Ballet Company, Paper Mill Playhouse's resident company, will open the state's first major ballet repertory season April 11-15 with a benefit gala on Tuesday, April 10, Ten works including classical, jazz, and rock ballets with three premieres will be presented. Leading guest artists appearing during the week will be internationally-famous Edward Villella, New Jersey Ballet's artistic advisor, and Giorgio Tozzi, Metropolitan Opera star in a special cameo appearance. Tozzi is also a member of New Jersey Ballet's advisory board.

Other leading artists include Allegra Kent and Johnna Kirkland of the New York City Ballet: Paul Sutherland, Denise Jackson and George Montalbano of the City Center Joffrey Ballet, and Helyn Douglas of the American Ballet Theatre Company.

Highlights of the week will be the three premieres: "Chopin Concerto," "Triad" and an exciting jazz-rock ballet with accompaniment by a new young group called the "Jackdaws." All three will be presented at the Benefit April 10 and again during the week.

Villella will appear on April 10, 11, 13 and 15; Tozzi, April 10, 12 and 14. Tozzi will be the singing principal in "Shenandoah," a classical pas de deux choreographed by Villella. The other leading artists and company of 30 will appear on all programs. For tickets and in formation call 376-4343 or 677-1045.

Park-at-Berkeley to begin its sales in weekend event

grand opening in New Jersey this weekend with the introduction to the public of the Park-at-Berkeley, laid out for 74 distinctive homes on Scott road in the woodlands of Berkeley Township.

Developers Martin Newman and Melvin Konwiser are presenting it as a followup to their single-family home successes last year at Lake's Edge in Howell Township. Plains of Piscataway, and New England Village in Lakewood-all of which rolled up selling records.

Both men are well-known in New Jersey's land acquisition, home construction and real estate industries, and since the formation of their company-Greater American Communities-have become one of the largest independent builders in the state.

Konwiser has a reputation for building quality singlefamily homes, and his trademarks are the use of spacious lots, floor plans that take fullest advantage of available space, maintenancefree materials, and customquality craftsmanship in finishing details.

Newman is recognized as an expert in land packaging. His expertise in acquiring building sites at favorable cost is a substantial factor in the modest pricing of Greater American Communities The building team describes their homes at the Park-at-Berkeley as unusually styled with an exceptional amount of living space and the number of custom features they offer. Five basic models are available, including: the Maple ranch at $28,990, a twobedroom home recreation room; the Willow ranch at $29,990, with a 32-foot master bedroom: the Elm. two-story colonial at $35,990 with three bedrooms; the Oak III Colonial at $31,990, with three bedrooms and recreation room; the Oak IV, two-story colonial at $36,650 with four bedrooms and oneand-a-half baths.

Financing through Franklin Capital Corporation will provide conventional mortgages with down payments as have city sewers, paved low as 10 per cent.

Because first impressions are lasting. And your first impression will be too good to be true.

First of all, the site is ideal. You're right next door to historic Princeton - the town with a past that keeps in touch with the present. With live theatre, First-run movies. Concerts. Recitals. Lectures. We guarantee you won't be bored. Still, you're minutes away from large, modern s shopping centers. And a school system that's touted to be among the best in the state. An elementary school is adjacent to the site. And a parochial school is 5 minutes away by car.

Commuting's easy, too. Via Routes I, 130, 27 and ..., the New Jersey Turnpike. Express buses and Penn-Central trains run frequently.

Now, let's get down to the nitty gritty. Your, home. You don't want it to look like everyone else's. 'o Here, it doesn't. Because there are five models to choose from - all designed by George Rieder, a man of vision and experience. The designs are new and he relies on the newest innovations in building materials and features maintenance-free exteriors. Every home is quality constructed throughout. With the luxury features you demand.

Dishwasher. Built-in range and oven. Cathedral ceilings in every living room. Baths with vanities. 5 bedrooms - if you need them. Covered decks and porches. Fully landscaped lots. It's worth looking at.

P.S. About that lake. It's yours and your neighbor's. Enjoy it. You probably won't be able to get away every weekend this summer.

SHERWOOD FOREST

A Private Four Season Community in the Pocono Mountains....

Sherwood Forest is more than a beautiful, secluded community of private homesites. It's cool, tall trees,. Fresh clean air. Swift trout streams and placid lakes. Horse trails winding through woodland beauty. And pure, white snow for winter fun.

Sherwood Forest is indeed unique. Once the private estate of one of America's wealthlest art collectors, Sherwood Forest started with more full facilities than most ever reach! His castle-like home is your clubhouse. And there are stables for horseback riding ... a ski lodge with a breathtaking view ... and a variety of craft shops, where European artists once worked on restoring masterpieces.

1st section at Clearbrook almost gone; half of 2d sold

The Aaron Cross Construction Company, Inc., in less than a year, has proven that people will beat a path to your door if you have the right product. Its product Clearbrook, a planned 3,200house adult condominium complex off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike in Monroe Township.

Aaron Cross packaged the product in an ecologicallyoriented plan: a golf course and lake area cover more than 55 acres and 28 acres are devoted to a green border strip around the entire recreationally-oriented community. Trees and natural surroundings were preserved as much as possible to further enhance the community.

Obviously impressed with the program of providing country club living for couples over 48, buyers have come from Pennsylvania and New York as well as all points in New Jersey to purchase more than $3 million worth of homes. The first section of 103 is almost sold out and sales for more than half of the second section have been recorded. Prices range from $24,990.

Clearbrook's first of two clubhouses is now nearing completion and will include a swimming pool, shuffleboard areas. Inside there will be provisions for billiards, meeting room and hobby rooms for wood-working, ceramics, sewing, art and sculpture. There will also be well-appointed lockers. showers, and sauna facilities. as well as planned recreation and entertainment. 'We have shown a concern for the land and have developed a master plan for the sprawling 559 acres, and many of the people who have purchased here have told us how impressed they have been," said Richard Turan. sales director.

"About half of the people living here now purchased their homes on their second visit. They visited Clearbrook, did some comparative shopping and returned to buy one of our models. Most of the men are still working, and a number of wives work as well, so they are looking for vibrant, alive communities."

Clearbrook is a tax ratable for Monroe Township without being a drain on its resources. Since it is a private community, all its streets are maintained. All permanent residents are 48 or over and donot affect the school systems. Monthly maintenance charges of about $62 include its own 24hour security guard, all outside painting and main-tenance of building, landscaping, snow removal, fire and extended coverage, minibus service, clubbouse and facilities, water, sewerage, trash collection, and 19-channel cable television. The demand on municipal services consequently is minimal.

"Each homeowher pays taxes to the local township of some 947 to 972 monthly." Turan explains, "Of beares, they can deduct all taxes and interest payments from their Homes are offered on wooded half-acre and larger lots in an area which has city sewers and water and includes underground telephone and electric lines. Located in one of the highest areas in Morris County, Nestling Pines West has a 30-acre segment set aside by the developers for future recreation.

The new colonial model offers numerous features. Among these are a paneled recreation room, kitchen with slide-in one-piece oven-range, custom wood cabinets and an island setting off the kitchen from a breekfast area. There also are storms and acreeus with the hotire, insulated sliding-class doors leading out to the yard from to the yard from the recreation room, an is by 13 master bedroom with beth with stall shower, and tubehower, and a lavatory and lauther, on the first floor.

MANAGEMENT TRAINEES

How did McDonald's sales increase 1500% in 10 years?

The answer is simple. It's the people we hire for management. We're looking for businessmen that can handle people and make maximum profit. We're looking for people who don't went to stand still; that want to move up and move up fash. They either move up or move out. There is no room for stagnation in McDonald's. All our managers have to be promotable and be in the position to take on more and more responsibilities. This is the McConald's success formula. If you have two years of college and 2 years business experience, and you want to join us, then call us today for an interview appointment.

A great day for the Irish (and Scots)

Sons of the Shillelagh schedule annual Feis kings of Ireland, the name of one, King Enochy (popularly called Ollamh Fodhla and pronounced Ollay Fola), survives, for it was he who established Feis Teamhrach for the

Patrick's Day, but what do they do the other 364 days of the year? When the parades and celebrations are over, many Irishmen and Irish-Americans can be found involved in the Irish cause and Irish culture on a year-round

Among those who work throughout the year for Irish culture are the members of the Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh. The Friendly Sons, some 350 strong, are not adverse to St. Patrick's Day activities and they'll be found on March 17 marching up Fifth Avenue in New York City's big parade, accompanied by their own pipe and drum band. Afterwards, they'll celebrate at their annual dinner-dance at the Bel-Air Manor Seven Arches Restaurant in Perth Amboy

But, however special St. Patrick's Day maybe, the Friendly Sons find themselves actively involved in social, cultural and charitable affairs on many special occasions throughout the year. The largest of these affairs is the annual Irish-Scottish Feis, sponsored each year by the Old Bridge based club, which has a members from towns throughout the state

This year, the Friendly Sons will hold their third annual Feis on Father's Day, Sunday, June 17, at Freehold Raceway. The Feis will get underway at 10 a.m. Those who wish may attend a Mass to be said at 9 a.m. at the Raceway, Monsignor Thomas Dentici, head of Family Life in the Trenton Diocese, will of

So successful was the club's first Feis, with some 22,000 people from this state, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Delaware, Connecticut and Canada attending, that the Friendly Sons decided to make it an annual affair. Last year, they added a ceilidhe band competition, and this year they plan on adding ballad singing, both by individuals and

There'll be the Irish and Scottish dancers with their reels, jigs, horn-pipes and Highland dancing, as well as Irish and Scottish piper hands from throughout the northeastern part of the country Other cultural events will include art, speech and drama competitions. For the sports-minded, there'll be Gaelic football and soccer, hurling, caber tosses, sheaf and stone tosses, tugs-of-war and Highland wrestling Refreshments will be available

Bill Nolan, chairman of the 1973 Feis committee, noted that many hours are put in by club members planning a Feis, but said, "It is all worthwhile when you consider that you are helping to keep tradition alive...that you are giving our young people a little of their Celtic heritage of which they have so much reason to

The Feis is an ancient tradition with the Irish, going back to a thousand years before the birth of Christ. The first was held on the Hill of Tara (called "Teamhair na Rìogh": The Royal Acropolis), the religious, political and cultural capital of Ireland at that time. The hill is located in County Meath, 25 miles from Dublin. While little is known of some of the early

Stories about laws and policies which were enacted at the seven day Fels. about its competitions, lavish food and entertainment, were carried to all corners of Ireland by bards and minatrels. The seven day Feiseanna (the plural of Feis) continued until the Twelfth Century when they were sup-

In spite of British suppression and the threat of imprisonment for those caught singing songs forbidden by English law, the Feis managed to survive. Many of these same songs will be sung at the Friendly Sons' Feis. Traditional music of the Irish, along with their custom of the Feis, was brought to America during the famine in the Nineteenth Century when great numbers of the Irish had to leave their native land.

The first Feis in this country was held about 1856 and others were held periodically up to 1932 when the United Irish Counties Association of New York decided to make it an annual event. Today, Feiseanna are held annually in such cities as San Francisco, Detroit, Pitts burgh, New York, Hartford, Cleveland and the immediate area becomes the heart of Barbara Lopez' vocal range!Quite simply, she's an atom smasher, the crack of lighting and thunder inside the rain. Benefits against the war, any war, on behalf of the vanishing American Indian. Chicano or Mother Nature always attract Brownstone Because they are that faithful to the Everyday in every way, and brick mortared to brick builds Brownstone. In fact, in just doing what comes naturally to a group of unpretending people trying to make it better and better, six years have passed. In August, 1966, a folk group going electric changed their name and direction, despite a strong following in every local college worth playing and even a few that weren't, from Fair Befall to what is now firmly Brownstone, a very basic rock'n'roll band.

"Our music's our love made visible," says Steve Selberg, "and audible!" When Steve, for example, isn't writing, arranging, singing, playing bass-he's also a double-reed veteran of 11 years on oboe and englishhorn-he's building sound equipment for the group. But everybody in and around Brownstone is like that, because besides being a good rock'n'roll band, Brownstone is definitely a lifestyle.

It's constantly amazing, after all is said, that a voice so dedicated to dynamism lives inside the quiet Mayan temple of Barbara Lopez Perhaps it's that she's part Mexican and part Navajo by way of Galveston, Texas. But, say what is a voice like that doing inside a noiseless woman like you, Barbara? Who, except maybe those really into their music, will ever realize there's something moving in there, growing and gathering inside this most solid of

2 at Newark State get geology Ph.D.s

Two members of the faculty of the Department of Earth and Planetary Environments, Newark State College at Union, have been awarded Ph.D. degrees in geology.

Associate Professor Donald B. Krall earned his doctorate from Rutgers University. His dissertation topic concerned "Pleistocene Glacial History in Central New York State.' Dr. Krall is a geology graduate of Franklin and degrees from Syracuse University. He has been faculty member at Newark State since 1966.

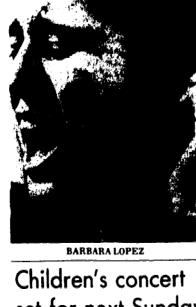

Dr. Richard L. Kroll received his PH.D. in geology from Syracuse University this month. He is a graduate of Trinity College (Ct.) and has a master's degree in geology from the University of Massachusetts. Dr. Kroll's doctoral research concerned the origin of bedrock in Southwestern Connecticut, rocks believed to be up to 600 million years old. Dr. Kroll, an armed forces veteran, has been a member of the college faculty since 1971. He teaches courses in mineralogy and petrology.

Dear Put and Marilyn

I have just purchased a new car. In fact, it is the first new car I have ever owned I have always been in a position where I felt I had to buy second-hand-cars. This one is a real beauty and cost a for tune however I can afford it

Nevertheless, there is one thing that is marring my happiness. I have been dating a girl, who is also a real beauty, but she smokes. And I do not want my new ash trays full of cigarettes, my new car smelling like smoke, perhaps even a burnt place in the upholstery, and I don't emov tobacco spilled on the floor and seats

How can I let this girl know how I feel without being rude

Dear W (

If you don't want your ear to smell like you bought it at a fire sale you'll have to tell your girl not to smoke in your new car. Lagree that smoking is a dangerous habit, but you can't reform this young lady To smoke or not to smoke is her decision

If you follow the above advice, and tell this girl not to smoke in your car, you may lose her. Unflattering as it may be, your girl might rather smoke than ride in the new beautiful car

Dear Pat and Marilyn

Alice is forever trying to fix me up with a blind date. Now, I do not like blind dates, and I especially do not like—the young men Alice selects for me They are never, but never, my type. She must dig them up from under a rock How can I convice her to spend her energy on something more constructive

By the way, she is married and I am not She'll ask me over for dinner and then produce another Tom. Dick or Harry Blind dates are often a surprise to all. Tell Alice you do not want to meet Tom. Dick or Harry, but don't be surprised if she produces Ted, Don or Harvey. It is almost impossible to discourage a determined matchmaker!

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My girl wears false eyelashes, mascara, eye liner and eve shadow. How can I convince her to leave off some of this makeup? She looks cheap and I find this embarrassing

The "in" look is the natural approach, Obviously, your girl hasn't discovered this fact as yet. Why not tell her like it is? No girl should try to hide behind her cosmetics.

The beauty fashion of today is honest. Never before has the look of real life been so perfectly captured with the newest kinds of makeups. Suggest that your girl face beauty—naturally— and try some of the new eye liner gloss by Max Factor

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I have a recipe for beef stroganoff which is delicious It is a combination of several recipes and I enjoy serving this dish when I have a large group. It is so easy and convenient with no last minute Several friends have asked for this recipe but I have always been able to tactfully avoid giving them the recipe. However, last week, I was really cornered. I simply had to say, "Sorry, but it is my secret." I know this woman was not happy; but if I give this recipe to her, it will no longer be my speciality. Was I

planned at outdoor Westfield Y center

"Let's go fly a kite!"

That's the invitation Westfield YMCA Y-Indian Guides and Y-Indian Princesses have been issued for a kite-flying day March 31 at the new YMCA-YWCA Four Seasons Outdoor Center - and the entire community was invited to go along for the fun.

Buses will transport the first and second grade braves and princesses and their fathers to the center, leaving the YMCA at 9 a.m. Youngsters will bring along their own kites -box, regular, homemade or purchased - and begin flying them at 10:30 a.m. Children and their parents were asked to bring along picnic lunches. Buses will return at 2:80 p.m. following the picnic

Tibetan kite fighting will also be demonstrated. In Tibetan "battles," kite string is covered with glue, and crushed glass. The object is to cut the other fellow's kite down. 'Our new outdoor center is just perfect for kite flying," said the Y's program director. Jack Leitch. "We've got loads of rolling hills and a constant wind to provide assistance for the new kite flyer. Veteran kitists will be on hand to aid

Kite-flying program MMA to hold square dance at Deerfield next Saturday

The Mountainside Music Association, at its not luck supper last week reviewed last-minute arrangements being made for the community square dance by Nancy Serio and her committee. The "hoedown" will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 24, at the Deerfield School gym and will feature a singing caller with country band, a "turkey shoot" and homebaked cakes to be won in a "cakewalk." Tickets ($2.50) may be obtained from any member or at the door. The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Chorale, a recipient of an MMA donation to help with expenses for the group's recent Mexican tour, presented a musical thank-you to the MMA at last week's dinner through a short concert under the direction of Edward Shiley, and previews of Dayton's spring show, "West Side Story, Lois Harrison, Mountainside school music coordinator, reported that rehearsals for 'Oliver," to be presented by Deerfield eighth graders, are going well. The production, to be presented April 6, is supported by the MMA, financially and through volunteers doing choreography, costumes and staging.

Marilyn Hart, ticket chairman, announced that the community trip to see "Jesus Christ, Superstar" is almost sold out; only 13 tickets are still available. The evening ended with a group sing under the leadership of Jeanne Wilhelms and Evelyn Guinta.

Dear Larrie Is there such a thing as a sub-let clause in leasing an apartment? I'll tell you why. Public Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance was introduced, read and approved by the Board of Health of the Borough of Mountainside at a meeting held March 12, 1973 and that said Board will further consider the same for final approval on the 9th day of April 1973 at 7:00 p.m. at the Borough Hall, Route 22, Mountainside, N.J. at which time and place any person will be given an opportunity to be heard concerning same.

Dear Hunting:

Yes, there is such a thing as a sub-let clause. We suggest you bargain for a sub-let clause (if this is not included in the regular lease) so that you will be able to rent the apartment to someone else if you wish to move out before your lease is up.

Once you are satisfied with the lease, you may want to have it read not only by your own lawyer, but by someone familiar with real estate law. Complaints received by the Better Business Bureau indicate that tenants are not fully aware of clauses in their lease--renewal, somebody else to do the job. Many flood vehicles are submerged above the body line which means that water entered the engine, transmission, brake system, electrical system and other components.

We recommend that consumers who aren't prepared to take the gamble should buy a new car the conventional way. Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

Dear Larrie:

Please tell me whether I'm right or wrong, as my family doesn't believe me. I read in help wanted columns of what they call Temporary Employment Agencies, who are interested in employing people of all ages (and that to me means a person who is of retirement age, too). I'm 65 years of age and collecting Social Security benefits, but I haven't worked for 20 years. Can I work at reduced schedule so as not to disrupt my benefits?

Dear Retired:

Yes, you're right. Temporary Employment Agencies employ many thousands of retired employees who work two weeks a month or several days a week to control their income so as to still collect their Social Security.

Experience has proven to temporary personnel agencies that the mature retiree is often the best worker, due to her reliability and dependability.

primarily in salary for employees. ARA maintains that increased operating costs are their responsibility.

The food service executive added. "The original budget estimates for ARA were varied at the request of the district to the tune of $30,000 for the current school year. Increases in food costs, which have gone up 22 percent in the last three months, are the responsibility of the district." He noted that the total contract was originally estimated at about $315,000 for one

Evers continued, "We have requested all school board members to hold an executive meeting with us. If we don't work out the problems, we'll end up in the courts."

ARA has contracts this year with some 30 New Jersey school districts. Its national operation, involving schools, colleges, hospitals and industrial plants, comes to more than $800 million annually.

THE REGIONAL SCHOOL board will hold a regular adjourned meeting on Tuesday, at 8 p.m in the cafeteria at Dayton Regional in Springfield.

The Regional District is composed of six communities: Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

The Regional board officially approved the operation of summer schools this summer, at Gov Livingston in Berkeley Heights and Brearley Regional in Kenilworth, during its regular monthly meeting last week at Brearley

There will be no summer school at Johnson Regional in Clark and Dayton Regional in Springfield because of extensive building alterations going on as part of the building expansion program.

Peter Lanzi was hired as a business office assistant to work under the direction of Harold Burdge, assistant board secretary. His particular function will be in the areas of purchasing, paying bills, accounting, filing state and federal categorical aid reports and general supervision over the purchasing and bookkeeping operations of this school district.

Forrest Bartlett and Daniel Kopcha, Gov. Livingston band directors, will participate as judges in the 1973 Festival of States national band competition in St. Petersburg, Fla. Last year the Gov. Livingston Highlander Band won the Governor's Cup at this festival, and now the cup must be returned to the next winner of this competition.

An exchange concert between the Brearley Regional band and the Medford, Mass., High School band was approved. The Brearley band will travel to Massachusetts on April 13-15 and the Medford band will perform in Kenilworth

The Gov. Livingston sophomore class received approval to conduct a magazine drive in Mountainside and Berkeley Heights on May 3-16. The proceeds from this activity will help finance next year's junior-senior prom and be used for senior scholarships in 1974-75.

Approval was given to the Brearley Band Boosters to hold a candy sale in late March in Garwood and Kenilworth. The funds raised by this activity will be used to defray the cost of April's exchange concert.

and custodial personnel in the local school

The board also noted that despite placement of legal advertisements, only one bid had been submitted for refuse collection, that by the Mountainside Disposal Co. for $2,000. Board secretary John McDonough noted that the advertisements had been placed in two papers, offers were sent to 11 companies and representatives of two other companies picked up copies in person. Action on the bid was tabled until Mrs. Knodel could attend the April 2 meeting of the Union County Educational Services Commission and discuss the possibility of cooperation with other school districts in arranging collection at lower cost Although the board made no formal statement regarding the Borough Council's decision to alice $30,000 from the defeated school budget, members interviewed following the meeting, did make personal statements regarding the action:

Orville White: "I think the council was very fair, and I extend my whole-hearted support. I feel the opuncil tried to understand the board's position on the budget."

Gertrude Palmer: "I think it's a shume the council saw fit not to regard the mandate of the people by making only a token cut. I feel perhaps the reason was they felt cutting more would result in the cutting of enrichment programs.

Irvin Krause: "The council was under a public mandate to make some cut. They looked over the budget very carefully and made a reasonable cut, without putting our educational program in jeopardy."

Patricia Knodel: "I don't approve of the action. I think the council shortchanged the taxpavers of Mountainside, and a much larger cut could have been made.

James Keating: "After holding lengthy discussions about the budget, the council exercised responsibility and did the right
