No action reported by state on planned Rt. 22 intersection

The executive committee of the Citizens to Preserve Mountainside met at the Public Library last week, with the program conducted by Edward Kuebler

Kuebler informed the group that according to the most recent information received, no further action has been taken by the New Jersey State Department of Transportation with respect to the Rt. 22-New Providence road-Mountain avenue Intersection. There has been no further development in this matter since the Transportation Department's concept was (Continued on page 4)

Regional board lists

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Residents were urged to attend the Regional Board of Education meeting and participate in the development of their high schools. Coffee and cake will he served a half-hour before the meeting so citizens may chat with their board representatives. The Regional District is composed of six communities: Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

Propane gas tanks spill on highway as truck overturns; two are injured propane gas overturned on Rt. 22 in Mountainside Monday at noontime, causing approximately 150 tanks of the highly explosive fuel to be scattered across the highway.

Borough police reported that the truck driver and a motorist, whose auto was struck by some four hours. Police said the truck, which is owned by the N.J. Propane Corp. of South Plainfield, was travelling east on Rt. 22 near New Providence road at 11:45 a.m. when the rear wheel assembly broke away.

Choral music workshop will feature composer be sponsored by the Gov. Livingston Regional High School vocal music department, on April 12 and 13, according to the arrangements made by Albert Dorhout, vocal music director.

All vocal music students from the other Union County Regional High Schools will participate in the workshop. Invitations also have been sent to other high schools in the area to be observers as Dr. Berger conducts an open rehearsal of his latest published work, "Yip than and his Daughter," which will be presented in a public concert on the evening of

During the morning, Dr. Berger will discuss the creative process and offer interpretive insights into some of his compositions using choirs from the four schools. In the afternoon

Dorhout indicated that he has felt a need for students to be exposed to composers of today He selected Dr. Berger to participate in the workshop after meeting him at a symposium at Montclair State College.

Dr. Berger's choral and vocal compositions has placed him in the front ranks of American composers, for voice, according to Dorhout. In addition to a number of choral works of motet length, his music includes many songs, shorter choral pieces, a piano concerto and music for the stage.

A climax to the workshop will be the annua! spring vocal concert presented Friday evening when Dr. Berger will conduct the Gov. Livingston chorale, concert choir, soloists, and orchestra in a presentation of his latest work for the stage.

the vehicle lifted into the air, causing him to be thrown away from the steering wheel. The truck then went out of control, flipped over, and finally skidded to a stop just east of the pedestrian footbridge. Stanton said he managed to escape from the vehicle by crawling out an opening in the windshield. A westbound car, driven James M. Mellage of Edison, was hit on the hood and windshield with some of the tanks, which were sent flying through the air

Police said Mellage was hurt in the accident, but said he would see his own doctor. Stanton, taken to Overlook Hospital by the Mountainside Rescue Squad, was treated and released.

Borough police were forced to reroute traffic down New Providence road and Mountain avenue during the four hours it took to clear away the scattered tanks and other debris. Police said representatives of the Propane Corp. aided in the clean-up and removed all the gas containers.

The truck crash was one of four auto accidents reported in the borough during the week, one of which occurred at 9:27 a.m. Monday on Rt. 22 at the Lawrence avenue

Highlander Bands accept invitation to Preakness testival

The Gov. Livingston Regional High School Highlander Bands have accepted an invitation appear at the Preakness Festival in Baltimore on the weekend of May 12-13. The marching competition will take place on Sunday, May 13, in downtown Baltimore.

Some of the top marching bands in the country have accepted invitations to appear at the festival, which takes place one week before the running of the Preakness, one of the Triple Crown thoroughbred races. The winner of the marching competition will be invited back for the Preakness race the following Saturday and will play in the infield of the race track.

In conjunction with this event the National Champion Highlanders will sponsor several events to help finance their trip to Baltimore. On April 7 there will be an aluminium drive in Mountainside and Berkeley Heights. All residents of those two towns were asked to get in touch with a local band member or bring their aluminum to the rear entrance of the high school that Saturday morning from 10 until

On Saturday, April 14, the bands will sponsor a gas sale at the Getty Station on the corner of Springfield ave. and Plainfield ave. in Berkeley Heights, Band members will help man the pumps and clean windshields. For further information on the purchase of tickets for the gas sale, readers may contact Harold

Extended hours listed by library

Library hours will be extended on a temporary basis starting Monday, April 2, at the Free Public Library of Mountainside. The library will be open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The library will also offer for circulation framed art reproductions purchased from New York Graphic Society, Ltd. Eight selections are currently available with additional reproductions to be added during the year.

Starting Monday, April 2, adults will be able to borrow, for four weeks, one of the following: Georges Brague's Still Life with Grapes, 1927; Pieter Brueghel's Village Wedding. c. 1560; Canaletto's The Quay of the Piazzetta, c. 1740; Thomas Eakins' Max Schmitt in a Single Scull, 1871: Winslow Homer's Stowing the Sail Bahamas, 1903: Oskar Kokoscha's New York, 1966; Pablo Picasso's Two Harlequins, 1905, or Pierre Auguste Renoir's Gabrielle and Jean because I believe that the school budget could have been reduced by $45,000. This $45,000 could have been taken from the dollar surplus maintained by the Board of Education-a dollar surplus that, in my opinion, is excessive.

In the school year 1972-73, a conservative estimate of $30,000 additional surplus has been projected It is my judgment that additional surplus will fall in the $40,000-$50,000 range.

"Coincidentally, a reduction of $45,000 would bring the amount of money to be raised by taxes for our system back to the level of the current budget—a budget that the voters saw fit to approve and a budget that would not call for any additional tax dollars.

COUNCILMAN VAN BLARCOM made no prepared statement at the session regarding his decision on the budget cut, but when contacted afterward he said he also felt a larger amount could have been cut.

"The basic problem as I saw it was in the cash management of the Board of Education," he said. "I can appreciate the fact that the board has wisely invested what could be considered excess funds, and I can appreciate also that a certain amount could conceivably be needed at any given time to meet unforseen (Continued on page 4)

Three fire officials attended meeting of state's chiefs group

Mountainside Fire Chief Theodore Byk, First Assistant Henry Porter and Deputy Chief Ronald Huter joined more than 200 other fire chiefs at the spring meeting of the New Jersey Fire Chiefs Association last Saturday in Willingboro.

The state association provides a forum for the discussion of problems facing the fire service, particularly from the chiefs' point of view, and also disseminates information regarding developments in fire suppression equipment and consideration of the effects of current legislation.

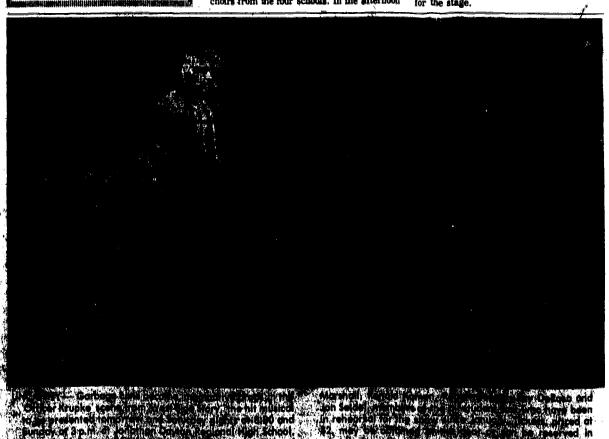

Chief Byk reported, "The morning session took up the business aspects of the organization plus existing legislature governing the fire

"The afternoon program was on arson, arson investigation and the arsonist. The major crime division of the New Jersey State Police presented parts of the program. The duties of the division and the services available to the local fire chiefs were discussed

Students schedule second paper drive

Fifth-grade students and teachers in Mountainside will hold their second newspaper drive Friday, April 6, from 3 to 5 p.m., and Saturday, April 7, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Deerfield Middle School, School drive and Central avenue. Contributors were asked to separate and tie newspapers and magazines.

Money earned from the paper collections will help finance an outdoor education week at Camp Minisink in Stillwater. The third and last drive will be held May 4 and 5.

High school papers were represented at national meeting

Among the hundreds of high school newspapers represented at the 49th convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University on March 15-17, were the four student newspapers of the Union County

Each of the four Regional high schools sent four newspaper staff representatives and a faculty advisor to attend this student press convention. The program consisted of workshops and seminars which concentrated on varied aspects of student publications.

In addition, this gathering of high school journalists and faculty advisors provided an exchange of ideas and techniques between student newspaper staffs throughout the United States, according to a Regional spokesman

The keynote speaker was Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts. The senator's address had an unusual twist whereby he asked youngsters in the audience their positions on several societal problems rather than the usual question and answer period spotlighting the speaker. The attending Regional journalists had mixed reactions concerning the Massachusetts legislator's speech

Hedi Levine, editor of the Dayton Journal of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, felt Kennedy's address was very rewarding and posed some very important

The David Brearley Regional High School editor of the Bear Print, Joe Anthes, stated that the senator's speech was for political gain rather than for a serious examination of modern journalism

Others who spoke during the workshops included William LaForce, photography editor of the Baltimore Sun; David Alpern, general editor of Newsweek; Judith Crist, film critic of New York Magazine, and Peter Mellones, assistant manager of the New York Times.

The Dayton Journal of Dayton Regional and the Highlander of the Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights received record place ratings. The newspapers from the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth are still on the judges' table because of late delivery tended the annual meeting of the Association of Mathematics Teachers of New Jersey or Saturday at the David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth.

The primary focus of the meeting was on the individualization of mathematics instruction on all three levels of education: elementary, junior high and high school.

The program began with a general business meeting presided over by Henry Peterson, president of the association

Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools of the Union County Regional High School District, greeted the educators on behalf of the Board of Education and the Regional District. The Regional coordinator of mathematics, Joseph Sott, was commended for his efforts in arranging the annual meeting of the state's mathematics faculty

Stressing the importance of the development and re-evaluation of mathematics instruction in public education was Dr. Vincent Acquaviva, consultant in mathematics for the New Jersey Department of Education

The program's keynote speaker was Dr. Henry O. Pollack of Bell Laboratories, who addressed himself to the question, "What Do You Mean By Applications of Mathematics?"

Thomas Baker, faculty advisor to the club, stated that the students raised $180 to adopt a poor child to demonstrate the need for greater social and humane awareness.

According to information furnished by Save the Children Federation, Fernando "is a conscientious student. He is very capable and stands up for his rights and ideas. Although he is a little shy, he has many friends at school."

The Colombian boy comes from a family of 14. His father owns a two-acre farm where he plants potatoes. Only one crop is harvested

Early bus route to end this week

Tremination this week of the experimental early-morning school bus transportation program for Union County Regional High School students in Springfield and Clark was announced by Stephan Marcinak, Board of Education chairman of the transportation

"As planned," stated Marcinak, "the experimental early morning bus program which began in January will terminate operation on March 31 so that the transportation committee can examine the value of this project."

Marcinak noted that the committee realizes that the early-morning hour of 7:05 affected the number of students who utilized this special bus service. The intent of this transportation program was to provide bus service during the inclement winter weather to students who live less than two miles from school

"The transportation committee will now begin to thoroughly examine all aspects of the early-morning bus program to decide whether or not it should be continued next year, Marcinak stated.

"I frankly think they have too much cash." he continued, "and some significant portion of the board's excess cash should be plowed back into the budget to be used for those purposes for which the taxpayers were taxed, that is educational purposes.

The question of the council's action played a part in the audience participation portion of last week's council meeting, with borough residents questioning why a larger portion was not eliminated from the proposed total

MAYOR THOMAS RICCIARDI defended the governing body's decision, stating, believe what the council did was absolutely right; they reduced the amount to be raised by taxes." He noted that the council has no legal right to touch any other area of the budget

Discussing the desire for a larger cut. Ric ciardi noted that the council, when first faced with the budget, was also presented with the idea of cutting "a huge, unrealistic amount say $150,000," thereby referring the final decision to the county superintendent of "Fortunately, cooler heads prevailed," he stated, "and the council did the

Councilman Louis Parent explained that in light of the budget approved last year by the voters, and considering certain mandated increases, such as contracted salaries, fuel costs, employee compensation and tuition for special students, the council placed its review in the areas of current expenditure and surplus.

Ricciardi expressed concern about the voter rejection of the budget, stating, "The Board of Education can accomplish nothing if its budget is continually defeated. I hope we haven't set a precedent."

Parent expanded on that statement, noting that the council "does not want the Board of Education to have a free rein, but rather that the citizens develop a rapport with the board in order to see that their aims are carried out.

Ricciardi again noted council's limits in dealing with the board, citing complaints that school superintendent Dr. Levin B. Haingan receives too a high a salary. "Be realistic," he admonished audience members. "Tell me what I can do to cut their administrative costs."

Some residents responded with cries of "Fire him (Hanigan)," but Ricciardi reiterated that the mayor does not have any authority in that area. "I can't fire him. I can't lower his salary. and I can't lower the salaries of principals." he

Ricciardi said it's up to the citizens to go before the board with their complaints. "I only wish you could get them (the board members) to act in a more unified direction," he stated

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

Advocates of strengthened property tax administration in New Jersey were encouraged recently when several bills to improve assessment and appeals procedures began to move through the legislature.

They comprised a small segment of some 60 measures included in the original tax reform package inspired by the New Jersey Tax Policy Committee. These were left at the wayside when the first annual session of the 1972-73 state legislature refused to enact the controversial state income tax last year.

Despite failure of the overall tax package desirability of action on the property tax ad ministration problem was widely recognized The New Jersey Taxpayers Association in its 1973 program called for enactment legislation improving administration of the Ecumenical series teatures educator

"God, Man's Trustee" is the title of a talk to be given at the Little Flower Auditorium, 110 Roosevelt ave., Berkeley Heights, Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. by Dr. C. Williard Heckel, moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, and dean emeritus of the Rutgers University Law School.

Dr. Heckel is one of six speakers in the ecumenical lecture series ("Faith Alive" Community Alive?") being sponsored this year by the Protestant and Roman Catholic chur ches of Berkeley Heights.

Refreshments and discussion will follow the lecture. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For further information, readers may call 464property tax under which nearly $21/2 billion was levied last year on more than $65 billion of property to support local governments.

Breaking the tax reform log jam, the General Assembly at its first session following winter recess (March 19) approved seven bills designed to modernize property tax administration. The measures were forwarded to the state senate.

Chief among these was a bill (A.1289) creating a full-time, five-judge tax appeals court to replace the present part-time Division of Tax Appeals. It was estimated that initial cost of the new court would be about double the $296,000 appropriation for the Division of Tax Appeals this year.

Companion bills would clear the way for consideration of cases by the tax appeals court, establish standard procedures for county boards of taxation and set qualifications for certain of their members and permit utilization of sales data as official evidence in appeals by

Sayles optimistic on Setco's future

Thomas D. Sayles Jr., president of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., told a recent meeting of stockholders that he was "most encouraged" by the bank's results in the first two months of the year

Speaking at the institution's annual meeting held in the main office in Summit, Sayles said 'While I'm not making an exact forecast, based on the results of the first two months, we are most encouraged."

The banker also reported that "early indications are that Setco's withdrawal from the Federal Reserve Bank system is producing the improvements anticipated. The board. after thorough review and analysis, approved the withdrawal which became effective Jan. 17, 1973." Sayles told the stockholders that "this action now allows us to more profitably utilize our cash items in addition to certain improved operating systems."

As a result of the change, the senior regulatory agency of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co. will be the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. along with the New Jersey Department of Banking. Setco deposits will continue to be insured by the FDIC.

Dr. Jay W. Fidler, who served as clinic medical director for 512 years, was honored. He is now medical director of the Elizabeth General Hospital Mental Health Center

His contribution to the clinic was lauded by Rev. Granberg, who cited the growth in services and in the quality of services by the clinic during his tenure

A report was made on a research project conducted by volunteers under the direction of Dr. Fidler. It consisted of following up on 200 patients treated at the clinic to determine their reaction to their treatment. The report was made by the volunteers who did the research. Mrs. Judy Jamison of Summit, Mrs. Daphne Loft of Westfield and Mrs. Susan Osgood of Warren

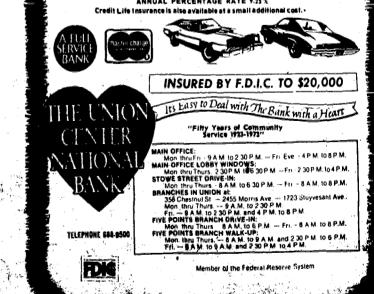

He noted the opening of the new Community Mental Health Center in Elizabeth General Hospital, a new office in Summit and a satellite office in Rahway, the latter in cooperation with the Visiting Nurse Association. New sources of funding are being approached since these expansion moves have been at the initiative of the communities using these three offices

American Indians lecturing at college Rutgers prof hopes to end stereotyped image

"Disabusing students of their stereotypical ideas about the American Indian" is what anthropology professor Mark Dornstreich is trying to do in a course at Rutgers University' Livingston College

Entitled "Indians of North America," the course "provides a forum for Indian people to come and educate whites" Dornstreich explains, adding that he leaves his guests free to discuss themselves, their culture, history or relationship to white society "in whatever way they deem appropriate

One recent lecturer, Alfonso Ortiz, a Pueblo who is himself teaching anthropology at Princeton, provided a three-hour discussion of his people the Tewa-his family and his philosophy Explaining how he can reconcile his acceptance of the tribal belief that it is round, he pointed out that "their world, a plain bounded at its four corners by mountains, is flat Why should I not accept that?"

Most of these students have probably never met an Indian person before," Dornstreich says. "How could we justify giving a course about the American Indian without the par ticipation of these people. It would be like pretending that Indian people do not exist. Besides, we have a great deal to learn from these people, both about them and about our-

Although new to the campus scene, the course has attracted an enrollment of almost 100 students, most of them from Livingston College but some from Rutgers and Douglass as well. Dornstreich looks forward to the day when the course will be one of several in a concentration on American Indian studies available at New Jersey's State University. Several other Livingston College faculty members and graduate students already are working and teaching in the area of Indian studies. There is a focus on such subjects as American Indian oral tradition, the work of contemporary Indian craftspeople, and

One of the first things the students learn, to the surprise of many, is that not only was there tremendous cultural diversity among traditional Indian societies, there being more

"We attempt to invited them to present their tribal past and provide that," Dornstreich says.

Speakers also have discussed other matters of concern to them: philosophy, medicine, history, education, legal matters, anthropological and social change, often expressing different points of view

Contrary to expectations, it has not been difficult to get Indian participants, "perhaps because we pay them fairly for their efforts." Dornstreich says. Many of those coming have also expressed the opinion that it is about time they had a hand in the education of whites about Indian life, he noted

Pharmacists seek permission to give blood pressure test

Describing hypertension in the U.S. as a $5 billion problem, the New Jersey Journal of Pharmacy in its current edition proposes the use of pharmacists to record blood pressure as contribution toward the success of an all-out creening program

Col Jacob Eisen of Mountainside, Chairman of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association's therapeutics committee, in his scientific developments column in the Journal reports that the Health, Education and Welfare Department has launched a program to identify all hypertensives.

"But," he said, "if every hypertensive in the country were identified and told to seek treatmewnt tomorrow morning, the patients would clog the streets and highways, not to vention physicians' offices," continued Eisen

Relatively inexpensive drug treatment is available for control of much hypertension Even the most conservative estimates of patient numbers and daily costs, however, suggest the yearly bill would total over $5 billion A recent American Heart Association meeting in Dallas, Texas, had a five man panel discuss the subject. They said that the medical and social costs of hypertension are so great that a program against it is worth the cost and struggle The incidence of blood pressure is particularly high abong blacks and women The panel recommended a nationwide screening program, probably financed by the federal government, to identify hypertensives; sample workup procedure that would speed both the identification and the treatment of patients, an increase in physician awareness of the magnitude of the problem; and the use of paraprofessionals, nurses and technicians for many of the identification and patient follow-up Discodures

We have long recognized the gravity of this problem and urged that pharmacists should be permitted legally to take blood pressure,

Shakespeare Festival opens 11-week season on June 26

The 1973 New Jersey Shakespeare Festival amorous adventures and such well-known season was announced this week by artistic director Paul Barry.

The season will open Tuesday, June 26 and play 11 weeks through Sunday, Sept. 9 (oneweek longer than last year). Five productions will be presented in rotating repertory by this professional (Actor's Equity) repertory company on the campus of Drew University, Madison

Opening June 26 will be Shakespeare's last tragedy, "Coriolanus," a powerful study of pride in a professional soldier's inability to adjust to peace.

June 30 will be the second opening: Arthur Kopit's comedy, "Oh Dad, Poor Dad (Mama's Hung You In The Closet and I'm Feelin' So 'Tennessee Williams will be represented by "Summer & Smoke," opening July 5

Poor water quality shuts 5,426 acres of shellfish areas

Poor water quality caused by pollution has brought about the closing of 5,426 acres of shellfish waters along the state's coastal back bays and in the Delaware Bay, according to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (DEP)

DEP's Shellfish Control Section said that. effective yesterday, harvesting of shellfish will be under restrictive regulation in five areas along the coast. Since 146 acres of shellfish waters have been approved for seasonal use, the net loss is 5,280 acres. This loss more than doubles last year's closing of 2,490 acres.

William Eisele, supervisor of shellfish control, said "Careful sampling was done in each area and a growing pollution problem is definitely to blame for the closing. Continual development in some areas is causing an overtaxing of sewage treatment whose discharges enter these back bay areas. In other areas, existing septic tank systems are responsible for the growing pollution."

Eisele said the changes in each case have occured during a one year period with samplings making it possible to follow the change in water quality

'Choices for '76' looks at transportation policy: Which way do we turn?

series, a one-hour film on "Transportation-Master or Servant " will be shown 24 times on various television stations this weekend Narrator for the transportation film is Kevin

Nine questions on transportation policy issues affecting the tri-state Urban Region will be asked of the viewers, who will find ballots available in newspapers, local banks and libraries. The questions relate to more or less public transportation, extent of operating subsidies for public transportation and the amount of additional expressways that should be constructed in the Region The film will show how the Region is going in conflicting directions at the same time Demanding more public transportation and less highway construction but locating jobs. services and housing in such a way that they can be served only by auto. The principal purpose of the transportation "town meeting" will be to confront this dilemma.

The choice is, on the one hand, large centers at densities averaging at least 10 units to the acre, or, on the other hand, larger plots farther from centers of activity, with more highways more cars, longer car trips and continued

Arts Center lists performers for '73

The Garden State Arts Center's 1973 summer season will present Bob Hope, Glen Campbell, Donna Fargo, Johnny Cash, the Carpenters, Henry Mancini, Joel Grey and the musical "No, No Nanette" in the popular subscription series, and the National Symphony, Russian Dance Gala, the Pittsburg Symphony, the Little Angels of Korea, Richard Tucker and Licia Albanese in the classical series.

In the classical series, Richard Tucker and Licia Albanese will be featured in the opera "La Boheme". The National Symphony will perform on three nights-first with Everett Lee conducting and John Ogden as guest pianist, the second with Imre Pallo conducting and soprano Rose Marie Freni as soloist, and the third with Leon Fleisher conducting.

The center is located at Telegraph Hill State Park on the Garden State Parkway

Skaters to the rescue

The Philadelphia Skating Club and Humane Society is the oldest ice skating club in the States. Formed in 1849 as the Philadelphia Skating Club, it changed its name in 1861 when members began patrolling the Schuylkill River with coils of rope to rescue skaters who fell through the ice.

decline of public transportation

A second issue is paying for public transportation Transit costs inevitably will continue to go up faster than the cost of living generally. Should subsidies keep this rise at the rate of the cost of living rise generally, or cut it even to the point of free rides? If public transportation fares are to be subsidized, who should pay the motorist (out of tolls and the highway trust fund), the locality or county, or the state and region?

Seton Hall official calls job prospects for students 'good'

Job prospects for Seton Hall University students this year are "good and getting bet-ter." Stanley Strand, director of placement, explained the optimism.

"Last year, companies would call us and say 'we might take one.' This year, they're taking more than one."

According to the College Placement Council this is the first year of intensive college recruiting since 1969-70. Job offers at bachelor's level have increased by 46 percent nationally since last year. Job offers for students holding master's degrees have increased by 8 percent and doctoral students are receiving 23 percent more offers than they did Accounting, banking and finance, marketing and administrative positions are the fields receiving the most job offers at Seton Hall "Accounting is very good," said Strand, "We should have no trouble placing all of our accounting majors this year.

Salaries for Seton Hall graduates have also gone up. A graduate with a B. A. degree has an average starting salary ranging from $8,500 to $11,500. Strand said that Seton Hall candidates for CPA accounting jobs are receiving minimum offers of $10,000 annually.

Job prospects for minority groups and military people are also good. Seton Hall alumni also return to the placement office in search for different jobs

The Y Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Seymour Rubinstein will appear 🗵 its first concert at the Maurice Levin Theater & the YM-YWHA of Essex County Saturday. April 7 at 8 p.m.

The orchestra, the culmination of several years of planning, grew out of an Orchestra Workshop sponsored and inaugurated by the Music Education Committee of the Y. It was formed in October 1972 to meet increasing demands by serious but non-professional musicians for an ensemble of this type to provide a common meeting ground for the good amateur musician as well as for talented young musicians who want to pursue a career in music. Information about auditioning for the orchestra may be obtained by calling 736-3200.

Presently consisting of 44 musicians, the group rehearses every Sunday morning at the Y from 10 to noon, Trumpet and percussion players are especially needed.

the year 2000. The region includes New York City and 26 surrounding counties stretching from Trenton, New Jesey, to New Haven, Connecticut. Three years earlier, the Association projected a 30 million population by the advent of the new century

Both of these earlier projections foresaw no end to growth. The current projection anticipates a region of nearly 25 million in 2000 and an end to its population growth by 2020 at about 27 million. Plan projection.)

Using Census Bureau data, Regional Plan forecasts that the nation and the region will eventually see and end to population growth. Because of unique trends, the New York region will achieve zero population growth two decades earlier than the nation.

Because the fertility rate is volatile, a range of possible population levels is projected. If the fertility rate continues to drop a the recent rate of decline, the region's population would stop growing by 1985 with 22 million persons, the Association calculated. That's the low projection. Since the 1957-60 period, when fertility rates for this century peaked at an average of 3.7 children per family, as reported last month by the National Center for Health Statistics.

On the other hand a return to the nearly three-child family characteristic of the mid- to late '60s would result in a total of 28 million people in the region in 2000 and continued growth beyond 2020. That is the Association's high projection.

Three conditions suggest that the nation's fertility rate will not turn sharply upward again, but rather settle at a replacement level of 2.1 children per family: (1) interviews showing young women both prefer and plan families which average aproximately two children; (2) the widening availability of contraception devices and information and abortion, legalized by recent court decisions and (3) the fact that historic trends in both Europe and the United States fit current birth rates and do not fit the short-term 'baby boom

Hovnanian, a veteran of almost two decades of construction and a half dozen years in building condominiums, selected Abe Charnack as business administrator and director of activities at his 52-and-over condominium community The Villages, an awardwinning 671-family complex in Howell Township

'When you're talking about a condominium you're talking about scores of years of being involved in development and management, not just two of three as in a rental project," explains Hovnanian "When you develop a condominium, you're involved in the most intricate of operations over longer expanses of time.'

Charnack says The Villages is aimed at providing maintenance-free living for pur chasers in a recreationoriented setting. under construction for planned May opening at Mountain Lake Estates, in the Poconos at Bushkill, Pa., according to JJ Fiume, president Plans call for the vacation home community to have five pools

In addition, more than 100 houses are in various stages of completion and projections are that the firm's home building division. Pocono Home Developers, will have completed 250 houses by the end of the year. Fiume said

Five basic models are on display at the property, but Fiume emphasized that purchasers may order modifications to suite their needs. Prices for homes delivered in shell form, all exclusive of land, are $6,195 for the Rockhaven; $6,995 for the Sea Castle; $6,195 for the Lucerne; $5,495 for the Thunder Bird, and $6,095 for the Falcon.

Fiume also is selling lots and homes at the company's newest community, Pocono Mountain Water Forest Dingmans Ferry, Pa.

Arrangements were made for the $235,000 loan for Associates, Lauber which plans to double the size of an existing 12,000-squarefoot building on Lodi street in Hackensack to be used as a warehouse and the renovating of a second building as an office facility.

NEW HOUSING CONCEPTS — The first section of townhouse-style condominiums at Holly Lake Park, Little Egg Harbor, are arranged in clusters of five or six homes. rather then being scattered individually, in order to preserve its natural element for enjoyment of all residents says Iaria Bros, builders of Holly Lake Park.

Ecology planning is seen in Holly Lake Park units

Joseph P. Iaria, president of Iaria Brothers Builders and Developers of Bayville, and Roy Germanotta, land use planner and ecologist, will begin development of "one of the most well-planned. ecologically concerned communities on the east coast, Holly Lake Park," according to Joseph Iaria.

It's a "living example of man's technological ability to work in harmony with nature while supplying luxuriously appointed and much needed housing for persons of all ages

Germanotta echoed Iaria's statement, noting that "Holly Lake Park was designed and is being built to include a residential environment, natural, rustic, and aesthetically sound, with progressive construction techniques for housing 20th century man with his freedom

The community, designed to include 140 condominium apartment homes in the first section, is being built on 150 acres of upland property

6 models in luxury complex

Model units for the luxury apartment-townhouse complex at Hidden Lake, the planned unit residential community in North Brunswick, are expected to be ready for public showing in late April and early May. Occupancies will begin shortly

The apartment townhouse segment will join model homes now on display at Hidden Lake and "will help create for the area a total community," says Kaplan and Sons Construction Co. of Highland Park, which is developing the total community on Aaron and Cozzens Lanes just off Routes 1 and 27.

The apartment-townhouse segment will offer a new concept in apartmenttownhouse living The units will have such luxury features as fireplaces and step-down living rooms, and will rent from the upper$200 price range to $500 per month, explains Kaplan and Sons.

Six models will be on display with rentals handled through Jacobson, Goldfarb and Tanzman Co of Perth Amboy.

"Hidden Lake is regarded as one of Middlesex County's finest residential subdivisions. The community will have 300 homes and 600 apartments in an area which is directly opposite the 2,000-acre state park, part of the Six Mile Run Reservoir, and on the banks of the Six Mile Run Stream. In addition to this natural preserve of wooded land, Hidden Lake will also have its own 54-acre lake and park surrounded by the homes,"

According to the Agriculture Department. three ounces of meat is equal to one serving I sing this figure, you can compare meat costs by dividing the price per pound of various cuts by the number of serving at will provide once the waste (fat and bone) is removed

In addition to these shopping guides, there are other steps you can take to save money on meats

Experiment with meat grades. Using need as an example, you can choose from three retail cuts prime, choice or good, Although not as tender as prime or choice. the good grade with proper cooking can result in a tasty and nutritious meal Along this same line, learn the different cuts of meat and how to identify them.

—Cut some the the meat yourself. Even if you're not a butcher's, wife, it there are several kinds of meat that lend themselves to easy cutting. A good example is round. It contains three natural sections: Top round makes a good roast, bottom round a pot roast and eye round a tender steak.

-Read up on new ways to prepare meat and the ideas in planning meals. (Agriculture Department publishes several booklets that could help you, including: Family Food Budgeting (15 cents), Money-Saving Main Dishes (30 cents), Your Money's Worth in Foods (25 cents), Beef and Veal in Family Meals (20 cents) also lamb and poultry (20 cents each) and the How to Buy series (20 cents each) on beef and roasts, beef steaks, (each booklet contains meat charts on the different cuts).
