CYCLING SAFETY Lt. Joseph Mazur of the Mountainside Police Department inspects Jennifer Bradshaw's bicycle during safety program conducted last week at the Beechwood School. After the youngsters' vehicles were checked for proper equipment and condition, they were registered with the department and each child was given a dural license. The borough police, in a continuing effort to prevent cycling mishaps, also sponsors a safety lecture program in the schools.

Safe cycling habits, maintained bikes necessary for accident prevention

Bicycle safety should be a year-round concern, but special attention is focused on safe cycling habits during this season, when more and more youngsters are riding the borough streets, according to local police.

Recently, two cyclists were reported injured in collisions with automobiles in Mountainside, and two weeks ago, in neighboring Springfield, a 10-year-old boy was killed when he apparently hit a stone and was thrown off his bike into the path of an auto on Morris avenue.

The Mountainside Police Department, in an effort to combat such tragedies, has a continuing bicycle safety program in operation, including safety lectures to school children, and periodic inspections of cycles. But, although a safe vehicle is important the attitude and cycling habits of the rider are even more so.

Lt. Joseph A. Mazur of the borough police force, in a statement released this week, noted that there were more bicycles than cars sold in the U.S. last year, and "with the increase in sales, the number of cyclists killed or injured also will increase." Lt. Mazur, who has been lecturing local pupils on safe cycling practices, also noted that the highest death and injury rate among bike riders is in the five to 14-year-old age group.

The local safety officer asked that motorists be especially alert for cyclists, who "have as much right on the roadway as a motor vehicle." But he noted that "many bicycle accidents are caused by riders taking chances and disobeying the bicycle safety rules."

Lt. Mazur cautioned that all cyclists are considered operators of motor vehicles, and are responsible for the safe operation of the vehicles. "A cyclist must obey all traffic signals and signs, must give proper hand

Two are selected 1973 recipients of PTA scholarship

Two Regional High School students have been selected as the recipients of the 1973 Mountainside PTA scholarship awards. These scholarships of $250 each were offered to residents of Mountainside, and the selection was made on the basis of scholastic achievement.

Michael Small received the award at the Jonathan Dayton awards assembly, and Karen Mary Dauria at Gov. Livingston.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Small of 288 Partridge Run. He plans to attend the Rochester Institute of Technology, where he will major in the field of graphic arts. While attending Jonathan Dayton, Michael won a second place tie in a Regional Districtwide, Level 3, math contest. He has presented several special projects in area of graphic arts. He was also selected to the Spanish National Honor Society.

Karen Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dauria of 321 Linda dr. She will begin her

Highlander Pipers victors in Maryland

The Highlander Girl Pipers of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, won the Annandale Trophy, emblematic of first place in Grade IV pipe band competition at the recent Delaware Highland Gathering, Fair Hill, Md.

Two of the Highlander members took additional honors in the contests, according to director Robert Harrison. Pipe Sergeant Janet Hofmann and Pipe Major Sandy Craig won second and third place medals, respectively, in the Amateur Grade II piping events.

The Pipers, students from Berkeley Heights and Mountainside, will next appear in the Grade IV and slow march pipe band contests at the Delaware County Scottish games at Devon, Pa., on Saturday.

Saturday date for recyclables

Residents of Mountainside this week were reminded that there will be a glass and paper collection this Saturday, as there is the third Saturday of every month. It will be held at the Echo Plaza Shopping Center in Springfield between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., rain or shine.

Glass should be sorted by color (clear, green, brown). Metal and plastic must be removed. There is no need to remove paper labels. Newspaper, magazines, junk mail, corrugated cardboard cartons and any other paper will be accepted. Paper should be tied, boxed or bagged.

Scouts of Mountainside Troop 177 and members of the Key Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will be there to help with the recyclables. Questions may be directed to 232-3088.

Board reports Echobrook to continue another year

By KAREN STOLL
Echobrook school will remain open for Mountain Brook youngsters, at least those in grades three through five, next term, it was announced by the Borough Board of Education president Lennox at the body's monthly session Tuesday night. Last month, it was announced that discussions were under way with the New Jersey School for the Deaf, "regarding renting of the facility."
At the board's session however, Lennox read his prepared statement. "The Board of Education has concluded the discussion with the New Jersey School for the Deaf regarding the possible leasing of the Echobrook property and building. It was impossible to obtain an agreement satisfactory to all parties, so the board has decided the Deaf School that we were no longer interested in their proposal. We therefore wish to announce that Echobrook will be continuing the 1973-74 school year for the third, fourth and fifth grades, as previously approved."

There was no discussion by the board following Lennox's statement, and he declined further comment or explanation.

In other action at the session, held at the Beechwood School, the board, after several votes, approved pay raises for the superintendent of schools, Dr. Levin B. Hangan, and the business administrator and board secretary, John McDonough. Hangan, who now is paid $30,490 per year, will receive $31,300. McDonough's salary will go from $17,830 to $18,500.

Contracts also were approved for Gwen McCarthy, director of special services, at $18,020, and Helen Sutter, language arts coordinator, at $17,510.

The hiring of two teachers was approved. William Hug, as an eighth grade science teacher, at a salary of $10,100, and Carol Finkelstein, foreign language instructor, at $8,900. Hug holds a degree in chemistry, has done graduate work in physics, and has four years of teaching experience. Miss Finkelstein, who is qualified to teach both French and Spanish, has done student teaching at the ninth grade level at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Dr. Hangan provided an outline of the foreign language program, which will be implemented for seventh grade students in the fall. Spanish and French will be offered for five 45 minute periods each week. The time is expected to be taken from two library periods, one study hall and one period each of English and math. Hangan noted that this is a tentative arrangement with final plans and full details to be announced at the end of the summer.

Hangan stated it is "highly unlikely" that the courses will be open to eighth graders, but a

High school diplomas to be awarded to 446 Gov. Livingston seniors tonight

Commencement exercises for the 446 members of the Class of 1973 at Gov. Livingston Regional High School will be held tonight at 7 at the high school athletic field, according to Peter Haberstroh, principal.

For the first time the graduating class will include a number of juniors who have completed the requirements for early graduation.

Following a tradition established several years ago, the commencement messages will be delivered by two students chosen in a competition open to the entire senior class. The two chosen by their classmates are Richard Bryan and Joan Savoy.

Exercises will conduct the exercises and present the class to the Board of Education members who will present the diplomas. Dr. C. K. Major Jones represents Mountainside with Edwin Little and Harry L. Newman from Berkeley Heights.

Class President Peter Haberstroh will lead the Pledge of Allegiance and present the class memorial. Other class officers are Carole Oland, Barbara Foster and Jody Gast.

MILITARY BULLDOGS — Frank Zarrello (left), member of the Jonathan Dayton Bulldog Band, displays the new uniform that will be worn by the marching band this autumn. The new style, designed by band director Jeffrey Anderson (center), features a military look — with tunic, sash, high hat and spats. ## High school's Bulldog Band will step out in style this fall

When the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Bulldog Band steps onto the football field next season, there will be more than fancy drillwork to catch the spectators' eyes. Springfield's marching Bulldogs will be decked out in brand new uniforms, designed by band director Jeffrey Anderson.

The jackets traditionally worn by band members will be replaced by a military-type tunic, complete with sash, epaulets and brass buttons. The white shoes now worn will be replaced by black ones and white spats, and a taller hat will adorn the marchers' heads, emphasizing the "military effect." Trousers will be basically the same, but with an orange military stripe down each side.

A school spokesman, who noted the new uniform was part of an attempt to "update" the marching band, explained that the entire band front will be reorganized. A larger rifle squad regiment is planned, and new competition flag silks will be used.

The spokesman stated there are tentative plans for the band to attend a one-week band camp in August "in an effort to present a more professional half-time program in the fall."

New rabies shot to be given in fall

The Mountainside Board of Health has announced that a new vaccine for rabies inoculations will be used this year. This new vaccine will be good for three years.

As in the past, the New Jersey Department of Health is providing the new vaccine and it is expected to be released sometime after Sept. 1.

The annual clinic, usually held in the spring, will not be given until sometime in the fall. The owners of all licensed dogs will be notified of the date for the clinic through the mail.

Ambulance dedication

The Mountainside Rescue Squad will hold a dedication program for its new ambulance Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Rescue Squad building at New Providence road and Rt. 22. All residents of Mountainside are invited to attend.

Candidates cite vote in primary

The recently nominated Democratic candidates for Mountainside borough councilman and tax collector, Frank P. Gagliano, Albert W. D'Amanda and Steven J. Sussko, issued the following statement this week.

"We are pleased by the results of the June 5 primary elections. We are encouraged by the fact that the local Mountainside Democratic party candidates received a greater number of votes than were cast in primaries of previous years. In our collected opinion this is an indication that the people of Mountainside are deeply concerned in issues and are interested in having a viable two-party system in our borough.

"We plan to continue our vigorous campaigning and to bring the issues facing Mountainside in the '70s before the voters so that they can make a sound decision in the November election."

Regional district meets in Springfield Tuesday

There will be a regular adjourned meeting of the Union County Regional High School District on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Kaye Martin Building, Mountain avenue, Springfield.

The Union County Regional High School District is composed of six communities: Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

AWARD WINNERS — The scholarship committee of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, has selected three Mountainside seniors as the recipients of awards offered by the Mountainside Women's Club. The students are (from left) Mary Knodel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Knodel, 250 Knollcrest rd.; Nancy Osahr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osahr, 1312 Stony Brook lane, and Virginia Sproul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sproul, 1422 Woodcrest. Miss Knodel, who received a general education scholarship, plans to major in science at the College of St. Elizabeth's Convent Station. Miss Osahr, awarded the home economics scholarship, plans to teach that subject after studying at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio. Miss Sproul, winner of the Dorothy Seveback Memorial Nurse's Scholarship, will work toward a bachelor of science degree in nursing at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

The fuel crisis encourages man to use all natural elements to conserve heat in winter and air conditioning in summer. The value of trees as a windbreak and sun screen was known in the past, but has become even more important today. Savings up to 22 percent have been recorded on fuel bills and air conditioning's power demands in test studies on homes that use trees as windbreakers and sun screens. We should all take advantage of nature's free gift and let a shield of insulation grow around our homes.

Two women named by Overlook group to work on musical

The appointment of Mrs. Richard C. Currey and Mrs. John K. Christensen as business chairman and production chairman, respectively of the Overlook Musical Theater was announced at a recent meeting of the Overlook Hospital Auxiliary by Mrs. J. Roger Faherty, second vice president.

The Overlook Musical Theater, which marks its 25th anniversary this year, will feature as its production the musical rendition of the old West "Anne Get Your Gun" with music and lyrics by Irving Berlin, book by Herbert and Dorothy Fields. This program will be presented at the Summit High School on Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 1. Overlook Musical Theatre continues to be the major fund raising activity of the Overlook Hospital Auxiliary, having raised over $20,000.00 last year.

Mrs. Currey and Mrs. Christensen said that volunteers are needed in all phases of business and production.

Mrs. Currey stated that the committees under her supervision are: national and local advertising, extra revenue and services, opening night buffet patrons, photography, program public relations, publicity and tickets. Interested volunteers may contact Mrs. Currey at 273-9346.

In the production area, Mrs. Christensen, who can be reached at 364-3814, is responsible for auditions, costumes, lighting, makeup, production design, hospitality, properties, set construction and painting, sound and special effects and wardrobe mistresses.

GET ACQUAINTED DAY Fourth and fifth graders at Springfield's James Caldwell and Edward Walton schools spent a day last week at Walton getting to know each other. The Merry-Go-Rounders, a professional theater troupe, presented the Iroquois legend "On the Turtle's Back." Other activities were planned by individual teachers. Shown in Mary Buckalo's fourth grade making corn muffins and popcorn and churning butter are from left, rear Alan Berliner and John Bellini; front, Arlene Isea, Stephanie Wright and Camille Natalini.

Key Club honors members, parents at 17th annual dinner

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club last week held its 17th annual parent appreciation dinner, recognizing its largest turnout of parents and Key Clubbers yet. A welcome was extended by President Jim Robinson, the opening invocation was by the dinner chairman, John Potomski.

The following members received special awards (fund raising) and Joe Sieber (all around Key Clubber). Recognized for outstanding club service in 1972-73 were Potomski as secretary and Robinson as president.

Acting Dayton Principal Anne Romano, the newly appointed principal, Anthony Fioraliso, Board of Education president, Natalie Walz, past Key Club advisor, August Caprio, and superintendent of schools, Dr. Donald Merachnik, were guests.

Stu Sherman, immediate past lieutenant governor of Division 10, installed David Van Hart as co-advisor for 1973-74. Sherman was also recognized for his service as lieutenant governor.

Dan Gecker, New Jersey district secretary, formally retired the past officers from 72-73, followed by Joel Goldberg's installation of the new officers: Jon Sieler (president), Rich Goldhammer (vice-president), Dave Gollub (treasurer) and Don Hetzel (secretary).

Key Club's monthly Glassin, a service project, was commended by William Doerrler, chairman of Springfield's Save Our Environment Committee.

Thomas Baker, faculty advisor, honored several members, and also the graduating seniors. Baker presented an award by Sherman for a "commendable job this past year." Closing remarks were made by Robinson.

Overlook Hospital names supervisor of speech therapy

Broadening Overlook Hospital's service to patients in need of speech therapy, Kathleen Ward of Tenafly has joined the staff as fulltime speech therapy supervisor and chief speech clinician.

Mrs. Ward is a graduate of Trenton State College where she also earned her M.A. degree. She holds national certification from the American Speech and Hearing Association.

Mrs. Ward served as chief speech pathologist at Hofstra University - Hempstead Speech Clinic where she taught for three years. Mrs. Ward also gained experience at Monmouth Medical Center where she worked with preschoolers, stroke patients and in the home care program.

Special therapy programs are being organized for the summer months for school children and others with speech and hearing problems. Appointments can be made directly through Overlook's speech therapy department.

The professional staff in Overlook's speech therapy department includes another fulltime speech clinician in addition to Mrs. Ward, as well as a parttime speech therapist. In addition a parttime audiologist will soon be added, making available full audiometric testing.

Testimonial held for Dr. Stahuber

About 45 persons attended a dinner last Tuesday night in honor of Dr. Fred Stahuber of Mountainside, superintendent of Union County schools.

Dr. Stahuber, a teacher and administrator in the Union school system for 33 years, is leaving his post in September to join the staff of Johnson State College at Johnson, Vt., as head of the education department.

The testimonial dinner held at the Town and Campus restaurant in Union, presentations were made to him by representatives of a dozen educational, municipal and civic organizations.

Stuart Lutz earns degree in 3 years

Stuart H. Lutz of 346 Raccoon hollow, Mountainside, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lutz, was graduated June 6 from the University of Baltimore. He received his B.A. degree in social science. He completed college in three years.

Lutz served as vice-president of his senior class, sports editor of the student press newspaper and associate editor of the Reporter, the university's yearbook. He was also a member of the student senate.

On May 14 the University of Baltimore honored Lutz at its annual awards banquet with a gold key for outstanding contributions to the university. At that time, he was initiated into Alpha Sigma Omicron, the honorary student activities fraternity.

DR. JOSEPH R. CAR

J.R. Car awarded degree in medicine

Joseph R. Car received a doctor of medicine degree at the recent 149th annual commencement exercises at Jefferson Medical College of the Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia.

Dr. Car will serve his internship at St. Joseph Hospital, Chicago, Ill., an affiliated hospital with Loyola University Stritch School of Medicine. He plans a career in internal medicine and hematology-oncology.

While at Jefferson, he was a member of the Alpha Kappa Kappa National Medical Fraternity, and a member of the Doctor's Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia.

Dr. Car is a graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School. He received his B.A. degree in biology from Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Car, 1474 Woodacres dr., Mountainside.

REFRESHER COURSE Bea Brown of Springfield is back on the job after completing an eight week course of Overlook Hospital Summit for registered nurses who have taken time out to raise their families.

RN: Relearn Nursing 14 finish refresher course

Fourteen women, all out of nursing many years, have just completed an eight week RN refresher course at Overlook Hospital. Their response to being back on the nursing job is "to be as thrilled as when we first received our nursing degrees," according to a hospital spokesman.

One member of the refresher RN class was Bea Brown of 22 Redwood rd., Springfield, a former nurse-anesthetist and graduate of Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Brown returned to nursing after raising her family. Her husband, David W. Brown Sr., is distribution standards engineer with the Public Service Gas Company, a member of the Springfield Recreation Committee and a former member of the Board of Education.

She has shared her husband's interests in his posts as chairman of the U.S. Olympic Committee for the state and assistant swim coach for the Summit YMCA, as well as his role as an official for AAC track and field meets.

The Brown family includes Dave Jr., a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, president of the Springfield Teen Council and a member of the Summit YMCA swim team, and daughter Lisa, a dean's list student at the University of Delaware who was recently recommended for a teaching fellowship in "Oral Interpretations of English Literature."

The Browns last year traveled to Europe where they attended the Munich Olympics and toured England, France, Austria and Germany. This occasion was a follow up to an earlier trip for the '68 Mexican Olympics.

With this family activity behind her, Mrs. Brown commented, "I was so pleased to see notice of the refresher course in the Springfield Leader and am delighted with the course. Overlook is a forward-moving hospital, offering so much to the community. After being a nurse anesthetist it is delightful to work with patients who are 'awake'."

Mrs. Brown pointed out that Overlook's patients are very interested in the refresher course, "especially the men. All have said they think it is a great thing for us to come back into the profession. The patients give us moral support."

Most of the refresher nurse classmates confessed that they were apprehensive about returning to nursing after many years away, some wondering if they had the physical stamina.

To a woman, they agreed that the course, under Overlook's inservice education instructor, Ann Temple, RN, had brought them confidently up-to-date.

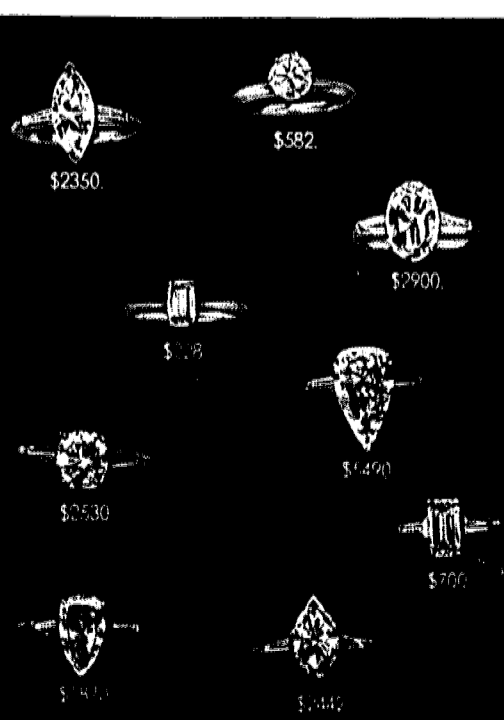

Many of the re-careerists will work two or three days a week, depending on their family responsibilities. Others are working evening shifts or weekends, when it is most difficult to staff the hospital.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

WHEN TO WORSHIP?
Worshipping God should take place in each of our lives longer than for one hour on a Sunday morning. God is all around us, every minute, every second of the day, no matter where we are — He is there.

God gives us the weeks and the months and the years. Shouldn't we give Him more than a few moments a week or a month? We should thank God for the simple and small things of life, the everyday events. We should praise Him for the beauty and bounty he has supplied for us. For God is great and we claim to be His people. We need God and we must admit that without him there are few things of any worth that we can do.

God asks so little of us, and yet He gives us so much. His love and mercy never ends and He never tires of us and our evil ways. Let us thank God more often.

second teacher could be hired the following year to provide instruction on that level.

He explained the seventh grade level was chosen on the theory students could benefit more from the program if they had it for two years, and board member Dr. Irvin Krause said this had been the recommendation of a foreign language expert of the State Department of Education

Approval was given to both the Camp Minisink Outdoor Education program and the Union County Outdoor Center (Deserted Village) trip. The first, for fifth graders, is tentatively scheduled for the fall; no date has been set for the latter program, designed for fourth graders.

On a motion by Patricia Knodel, the board voted unanimously to make arrangements for a "Meet Your Legislators" session to be held at the October meeting. All Union County legislators, including Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo, will be invited to take part.

Mrs. Knodel also requested that a letter of protest be sent by the board to federal authorities regarding the cut-off of funds for the Educational Services Commission's summer classes for handicapped children. These had been conducted at Children's Specialized Hospital. Her request was unanimously approved.

Safe cycling

signals when stopping and turning, must ride on the right side of the road, with traffic, and must have the bicycle in good mechanical condition at all times.

"When riding at night, cyclists must have a white light on the front or the bike, and a red light or red reflector on the rear - one that can be seen for 500 feet. The operator of the bicycle also should wear light colored clothes, such as orange, white or yellow, so he can be seen more clearly."

Other tips for cyclists for avoiding accidents are as follows:

Keep well back from moving cars; they may stop suddenly.

Walk your bicycle when crossing busy streets and intersections.

Be alert for pedestrians who may step from between parked cars.

When making left turns, drive straight across the street close to the right curb.

Be on the lookout for doors of parked cars which may open onto the street.

Avoid driving too fast downhill or on rough or slippery roads.

Cross railroad tracks fairly straight across to avoid skidding.

Yield right of way to pedestrians.

Do not carry passengers on your bike.

Ride single file, close to the right side of the road roadway, and make no sudden change of course.

The cyclists should also check the condition of the bike's equipment before riding:

Bell or horn, which is required and must be audible for at least 100 feet, should be working.

Handle-bar grips should be tight.

Light should be clean, and batteries working.

Tires should be properly inflated.

The chain should have a slack of 1/2 to 3/4 inches.

Pedals should spin freely, and brakes be in proper working condition.

Rear reflector should be clean, uncracked.

The cyclist should check that the saddle clampbolt, mudguard, handlebar and other bolts are tight, and that the wheel rims are undented; spokes in good condition.

Lt. Mazur noted that any cyclist wishing to have his vehicle inspected may make arrangements with the police department, Monday to Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Inspected bikes will be registered with the local department, and each will be given a decal "license" as part of an anti-theft effort.

"There have been a rash of bicycle thefts recently," he noted. "Owners are advised to chain and lock their bicycles when they are parked. This is especially necessary if you own a 10-speed."

studies at Newark State College in September. She has chosen to major in special education. As a student at Gov. Livingston, Miss Dauria achieved membership in the National Honor Society. She has served as a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, the Pep Club, and the Ski Club. In the ninth grade she was a member of the French Club, and the following year she served as its president. She also assisted in the year book layout.

"Both of these students have demonstrated a sense of responsibility in their personal lives, as well as in their studies," according to a PTA spokesman.

MATTHEW BISTIS

ELLEN HART

Music group presents awards to two students

The Mountainside Music Association presented its annual awards at the 13th annual recognition assembly at Gov. Livingston Regional High School on June 7. The recipients selected by the scholarship committee of the high school were Ellen Hart of 379 Summit rd. and Matthew Bistis of 1415 Birch Hill rd.

The presentations were made by Henry Ziobro, president of MMA.

Ellen's musical activities have included participation in the Gov. Livingston Chorale, Concert Choir, Madrigals, the Central Jersey Chorus and for two years the New Jersey All State Chorus. A voice student of Mary Pannullo of Mountainside and a piano student of Walter Legawiec, also of Mountainside, Ellen will enter Ohio Wesleyan University in the fall as a student of music composition.

On Sunday evening one of her original compositions written for four-part harmony was performed in a recital at Gov. Livingston. Her other activities have included presidency of the high school German Club, presidency of the N. J. Federation of Students of German and study at Heidelberg, Germany, with the American Institute of Foreign Study.

Matt's interest in drama began at the beginning of his junior year at Gov. Livingston, when he was in "Kingdom of the Tiger" for Children's Theater. Following that, he was Mr. Bergen in "Dark of the Moon," Josef in "The Great Sebastian," Wally Womper in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and a parent in "Dagmar."

He has taken courses at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and is in rehearsal for "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." Matt's other activities include the Student Council and service as photography editor of the school newspaper Highlander. Matt plans to work for a year before entering college, and will be active in theater during that period.

Local voters pick representatives to county committees

In addition to choosing candidates for borough council and county and state offices, last week's primary saw Mountainside voters casting ballots for representatives to the Republican and Democratic County Committees.

Borough voting for GOP committee members was as follows:

- District 1 - Edward Gibadlo, 92; Ruth Gibadlo, 94
- District 2 - Frank G. Harrison, 93; Helen O. Hoffert, 91
- District 3 - T. Ellis Peak Jr., 117; Florence Parent, 7. (Mrs. Parent's name was not on the ballot, she was chosen by virtue of write-in votes.)
- District 4 - William O. Van Blarcom, 131; Marguerite Linck, 127
- District 5 - Robert A. Ruggiero, 106; Maria A. Malone, 101
- District 6 - Matthew C. Bistis, 93; Virginia Hafeken, 95
- District 7 - Gilbert E. Pittenger, 82; Constance M. Kuffer, 83

FOR OUTDOOR COOKERY
Supplies of all meats are not expected to increase much during the summer months and shopping for lower cost items will continue to be a challenge.

But, if you are aware of all the meats that can be deliciously prepared outdoors and take advantage of weekly supermarket specials, you can have an enjoyable barbecuing season within the average family budget.

Steaks, chops, franks and hamburgers will always be popular outdoor fare, but there are many other meats to choose. Some of these cuts are bought mostly by the pound, but are good buys on a cost-per-serving basis.

For the grill try marinated chuck steak, sausage patties, ham steaks or slices.

Dixieland show opens Arts Festival

Echo Lake Park is site for evening programs

The Smith Street Society with a Dixieland and sing-along program will open the 1973 Summer Arts Festival series of the Union County Park Commission on Wednesday evening, June 27, in Echo Lake Park, Mountainside and Westfield.

This succeeding Wednesday program will begin at 8:30 p.m. and run until about 10 p.m. All of the festival programs are scheduled to be presented on the lawn in the lower pavilion area of Echo Lake Park, and all of the programs are free.

The Smith Street Society show is designed to bring back the "good old days" with the sounds of banjos, the tuba, the tailgate trombone and a cast of characters utilizing sirens, horns and other devices.

In case of inclement weather, this show will be moved to the Westfield Senior High School the same evening. The public can call a special Park Commission "events" telephone, 352-8410, which will give recorded information in case of bad weather or change of the location of this and succeeding programs.

The public has been urged to attend the festival shows. This series will comprise the most diversified and entertaining groups of programs ever offered in the Union County Park System, a spokesman said.

He suggested that families bring blankets or lawn chairs for informal enjoyment of the programs on the lawn, and noted the area in Echo Lake Park has been improved with the Arts Festival activity in mind.

The same lawn area will be the setting for the second program in the series, the presentation of "The Comedy of Errors" by the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival of Woodbridge. This will take place Monday through Thursday, July 9 to 12, with the next two nights held open as rain dates in case of postponements.

The entire series of festival programs will be announced shortly by the Park Commission.

Registration open for summer study at Union College

In person registration for more than 40 credit and non-credit courses being offered at Union College's three campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield in the 1973 summer session will be conducted at the Cranford Campus only, it was announced by Dr. Bernard Solon, director.

Those wishing to register in person must report next Thursday between 6 and 9 p.m. to the Campus Center in Cranford, Dr. Solon said. Mail registrations will be accepted until tomorrow.

The 1973 Summer Session will open on Monday, June 25, during day and evening hours at the Cranford Campus, and in the evening at Elizabeth and Plainfield. Classes meet Mondays through Thursdays.

Credit courses offered at Union College paralleled those at four-year colleges and universities and include a full range of liberal arts, business, science, and mathematics programs. Non-credit courses in English, mathematics, and science will be conducted for those who need a refresher or who lack the background to enroll in college-level programs.

Union College's summer session is open to all currently enrolled students at colleges across the country, to recent high school graduates and those who will begin their senior year in September, and those adults and young people interested in taking courses for their own enrichment.

Tuition is $14 per credit hour for residents of Union County and $30 for all other New Jersey residents.

Alexian appoints laymen to board

Alexian Brothers Hospital announced the appointment of laymen to its board of trustees, including W. Emlen Roosevelt, president of the National State Bank, Elizabeth, who was elected chairman.

According to Brother Ronald Ruberg, president, this marks the first time in the 80-year history of the Elizabeth hospital that laymen have been named to the board.

He said Alexian Brothers now has a more diversified representation and allows the hospital to take further advantage of the expertise of the business community.

In addition to Roosevelt, others named are: James P. Phelan, vice-president of manufacturing of The Thomas & Betts Co., Elizabeth, elected vice-president; Dr. Samuel Hoch, senior attending physician at Alexian Brothers, and J. Peter Certo, hospital administrator, elected as executive vice-president of the board.

Park Commission in 46th summer of playground program

Monday, June 25 is the opening date for four playgrounds supervised by the Union County Park Commission, beginning the 46th season of this program.

Municipal supervision will be provided at several other county park locations, and the Park Commission has other playgrounds which are available without supervision.

The Park Commission supervised areas are at Unami Park, Garwood, Kawameeh Park, Union and the Warnanco Park Playground 1 in Elizabeth, and Playground 2 in Roselle. They will have directed play activity for children 5 to 15 years of age from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. A playground director will be present on Saturdays and Sundays as well as weekdays at Warnanco 1. A wide variety of activities and events is planned for the four playgrounds, and each playground will participate in the New Jersey Playground Olympics and the Union County Relays.

Municipal supervision will be provided at Park Commission playgrounds at Mattano Park, Elizabeth, Squier Island and Madison avenue, Rahway, Mohawk drive, Cranford, Washington avenue and Meisel avenue, Springfield, Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield, Liberty avenue in the Salem Section, Hillside, and Wheeler Park, Linden.

Playgrounds in county parks without supervision of activities are located in Echo Lake Park, Westfield and Mountainside, the Watchung Reservation, Rahway River Park, Rahway, and Nomahegan Park, Cranford.

Murphy 200 Club speaker; expanded benefits approved

A capacity crowd at the recent fifth annual luncheon of the 200 Club of Union County heard guest speaker Patrick Murphy stress integrity in the policeman as the only answer to corruption. In his address the gathering, held at the Tower Steak House, Mountainside, should give more aid and recognition to police departments.

Murphy is the president of the National Police Foundation in Washington, D.C., having resigned as New York City Police Commissioner on May 7. He was introduced by Colonel David Kelly, superintendent of the N.J. State Police, Union County Prosecutor.

'New strategies' workshop topic

"New Strategies for New Times" is the theme of a 3-day joint summer workshop being attended by administrators from Union College and Union County Technical Institute at Cape Cod Community College in Cape Cod, Mass. The workshop started yesterday and continues today and tomorrow.

The workshop is being sponsored by the New England Junior College Council and the Junior College Council of the Middle Atlantic States.

Heading the delegation from Union County's community college system are Dr. Kenneth W. Iverson, president of Union College, and Dr. George H. Baxel, president of Union County Technical Institute.

Also from Union College are Prof. Elmer Wolf, dean, Roy Smith, vice president-college relations, Alfred H. Wilson, vice president-finance, Dr. Frank Dwe, dean of educational services, Dr. Robert Markoff, dean of arts, and Prof. George Zirnle, chairman of the faculty and a member of the English Department.

Representing Union County Technical Institute along with Dr. Baxel are Joshua Chow, vice president-finance, and Victor Morella, administrative assistant to the president.

Program at Drew started for women

Starting in the fall, Drew University, Madison, will offer a new program at the Madison campus tailored to the needs of local area women who would like to resume college studies interrupted by marriage, motherhood, or other circumstances.

Formulated by Dr. John McCall, Drew's new dean of continuing education, and approved by the undergraduate faculty at its year-end meeting, "Continuing Education for Women" (CEW) is designed for women who have been out of college four years or longer and who are at least 24 years of age.

The features of CEW reflect in large part McCall's conversations during his first year at Drew with many of the 30 women from Drew's immediate geographic area presently enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts, with women enrolled in the other two schools at Drew, and with still others who have expressed an interest in continuing their studies at the University.

CP position to Varanelli

Andrew Varanelli Jr. of Cranford has been elected president of the United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County. Varanelli, who had been vice-president, will continue as chairman of the league's development fund for a new CP facility.

Other officers of the CP League include Carl W. Kirk, immediate past president; Mrs. J. Edward Shillingburg, executive vice-president; John V. Meade, vice-president for development; Donald A. Ware, vice-president for vocational rehabilitation programs, and Mrs. Seymour Meakin of Union, secretary.

Varanelli is director of the computer center at Pace University, New York. The Varanellis are parents of two boys, one afflicted with cerebral palsy. As a result of his son's condition, he became involved with the CP League and served as the first president of the CP Center's Parents Group.

People 65 and older who did not qualify before for Medicare hospital insurance coverage will be able to get this protection starting July 1 by paying a monthly premium, according to Ralph W. Jones, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

Initially, the premium will be $33 a month for Medicare hospital insurance protection. The premium may be increased later as hospital costs rise.

"People buying hospital insurance under this new provision also will be required to enroll for medical insurance coverage," Jones said. The basic premium for medical insurance is now $5.80 a month. The government pays an equal amount.

50 YEARS OF COMMUNITY SERVICE

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States; about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

you can kick the Habit.

As You Approach Q Day

Many stress withdrawal as the decisive factor in giving up cigarettes. For them the sense that they can manage their own lives is of great importance. They may challenge themselves and, with an effort of will, they break the cigarette habit.

Thus some psychologists describe stopping cigarettes as an exercise in self-mastery, one that introduces a new dimension of self-control.

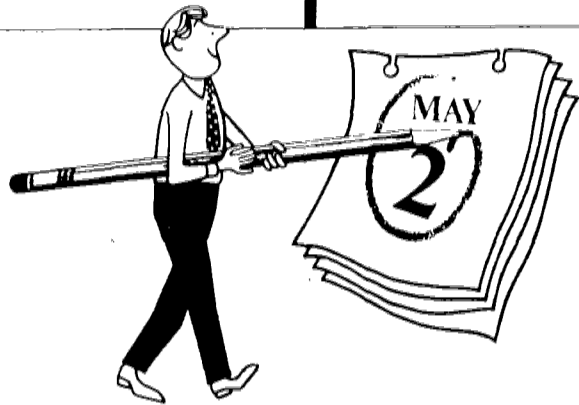

Once often successful in many aspects of living, find that willpower does not help them in giving up cigarettes. They try to stop; they do not, and they feel only over their weakness.

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail in their first and second, even their fifth attempts, and then finally succeed. Those whose will fails in breaking the habit are not weak but different. Their approach must be less through determination and more through relearning new behavior with patience and perseverance.

Self-suggestion when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes, can be useful.

One health educator remarked recently, "Nothing succeeds like willpower and a little blood on the sputum."

To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error. The ex-smoker should not believe that he is giving up an object of value, however dependent he may be on it. If he begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings, they may well become more severe, and indeed unendurable. He must recognize that he is teaching himself a more positive, more constructive, more rewarding behavior.

Try Cutting Down...

An important first step in the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers is to set the date for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and, as it approaches, to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, or week by week.

A good system is to decide only to smoke once an hour, or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 clock, 11 and 12, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, etc. And then to extend the non-smoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours.

You may decide to halve the cigarettes you smoke week by week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each cigarette?

In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities, if you have one pocket in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to fumble for it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand. Is it your custom to rest the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side.

Make it a real effort to get a cigarette. Wrap your package in several sheets of paper or place it in a tightly covered box. If you leave your change at home you won't be able to use a cigarette machine.

Shift from cigarettes you like to an unpopular brand.

Before you light up, ask yourself, "Do I really want this cigarette or am I just acting out of empty habit?"

A smoker may find an unlighted cigarette in the mouth is helpful. Others enjoy handling and playing with a cigarette.

Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned—learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help in breaking into your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking behavior.

? QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?
Yes, for some, no, for others. If you are a really "addicted" smoker, psychologists favor the sudden, decisive break.
For some, gradual withdrawal is less painful and entirely satisfactory.
Some cigarette smokers shift to pipes and cigars. There is of course some risk of mouth cancer from these but over all mortality of cigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than among nonsmokers, if the smoke is not inhaled.

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic?
If there is a clinic or program in your community, you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such efforts.
Sharing your withdrawal experiences with others and working with them on a common problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make it considerably easier in various ways to stop cigarette smoking.
However, remember, no clinic can provide a sure result. In this matter you must be both patient and physician.

Shall I Make A Big Thing Of Q-Day?
Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which Q-Day, quitting day, is singled out as the important, decisive day in their personal lives, that indeed it is.
Others who have known for a long time that

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a useful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record on a scale like that below.

In your gradual withdrawal you may decide to eliminate those daily cigarettes that you find are rated 1, 2 or 3 on the scale, i.e., ones you want least.

Or you may wish to give up first the cigarettes you like most. In any case keeping a smoking log will give you information about yourself make you more aware of what your smoking habits are.

You may find that you are largely a social smoker, that smoking makes you feel closer to others, more welcome at a party, that you seem to have more friends. A cigarette may play a surprisingly large part in your picture of your self as a mature and successful man.

How do you convince yourself that people like and respect you for more important reasons than for your cigarette? Try pointing out a cigarette and see.

PLUS AND MINUS

Write down carefully, after some thought, in one column the reasons why you smoke and in another all the reasons why you should give up cigarettes.

As you turn this exercise over in your mind, new material will occur to you, for one or the other column. Thoughtful concentration on your reasons for giving up cigarettes is important in changing your behavior.

SCORE CARD

Some cigarettes are more important to you than others. This score card will show you how much you smoke during each hour and how much you want each cigarette on a scale of 1 (low need) to 7 (high need). A check mark opposite 2 indicates a low need.

In the cigarette check opposite 5 indicates a rather strong need. The hours on the chart are from 6 A.M. to 1 A.M. In rating yourself on this scale of 1 to 7, you can see which cigarettes are most needed and decide which ones to eliminate.

Approaches in Giving up Cigarette Smoking

1. List the reasons for and against smoking.
2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and nicotine cigarette.
3. Chart your smoking habits for at least two weeks; how many cigarettes, when, the most and least important.
4. Repeat each night, at least ten times, one of your reasons for not smoking cigarettes.
5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes, the most or the least desired.

cigarettes are bad for them and that sooner or later they will stop, wake up one morning and say to themselves, "This is it. No more cigarettes."

What motivates them? An obvious, an anti-smoking commercial on television, a magazine article, a letter brought home from school by a child, a worried look from their son, being fed up with a repeated cough. There are many possible stimulants to stop but almost always beneath the casual seeming but bold decision, are months, often years of thought and worry.

What If I Fail To Make It?
Don't be discouraged. Many thousands who finally stopped did so only after several attempts.
Some people prefer to stop for just one day at a time. They promise themselves 24 hours of freedom from cigarettes and when the day is over they make a commitment to themselves for one more day. And another. And another. At the end of any 24-hour period they can go back to cigarettes without betraying themselves, but they usually do not.

Is Smoking A Real Addiction?
This depends on your definition of words. In any case smokers obviously can become very strongly dependent on cigarettes.
However, the discomfort that most feel at giving up cigarettes is not like the painful withdrawal symptoms that drug addicts report.
Giving up cigarettes is much closer to the discomfort and irritation produced by dieting than to the agony of stopping a drug. As so many know, dieting in an effort to lose fifteen or twenty pounds can be a most uncomfortable experience—but when you have done it, you have a fine feeling.

How About Ashtrays?
One's first thought asks, do you leave a box of whiskeys near an alcoholics? Their recommendation is to get rid of cigarettes, ashtrays anything that might remind a smoker of his former habit.
Another school of thought take a different view and even suggest carrying cigarettes to demonstrate to yourself that you can resist temptation. Choose for yourself.

Shall I Tell Others Of My Decision?
Some do, some don't. Some find that the wider they spread the news of their decision the easier it is for them to make it stick. Others regard not smoking as their own personal business and keep it almost entirely to themselves. Will you strengthen your decision if your wife and friends know that you have committed yourself?

Will I Gain Weight?
Many do. Loss is a substitute for cigarettes for many people. And your appetite may be fresher and stronger.
During the first few weeks of giving up cigarettes, some psychologists recommend pampering yourself, eating well, drinking well, enjoying those things that are pleasant and fulfilling.
Some people, those to whom self-mastery is vital, get rewards out of controlling their wish for fattening food at the same time that they are kicking the urge for cigarettes.
Again it depends upon the person and his approach.

How About Hypnosis?
Its helpfulness in stopping smoking is not accepted. Why not discuss the matter with a physician if you are interested?

Shall I See My Physician? YES

However, the problem is yours, not his, and he may not feel that he can be helpful. On the other hand he may be able to give you sympathetic support and may prescribe medication. He can be helpful, also, in suggesting a diet which will prevent you from gaining 400 much weight.

Physicians as a profession have been leaders in acting on the risks of cigarette smoking. The Public Health Service estimates that 100,000 physicians (half of the physicians who once were cigarette smokers) have kicked the habit. A California study shows that only 21.4 percent of all physicians in the state are cigarette smokers now.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Surely one reason is that the cigarette industry spends about $100,000,000 a year in promoting the habit and in challenging the habit that scientists have produced that point to the dangers of the habit.

Another reason is that something in cigarettes, probably nicotine, is habit forming. Smokers become dependent rather rapidly.

Cigarette smoking is essentially a 20th century habit, encouraged by a war, by brilliant advertising, and by the development of remarkably efficient automatic machinery that produces those millions of round, firmly packed cigarettes.

It is only within the last 15 years that we have learned, through research promoted by the American Cancer Society, that this personal and socially accepted habit is extremely dangerous. Cigarette smoking is deeply embedded in our life—agriculture, industry, government, the communications media, all have a stake in it. It is still widely accepted, even though proven to be a most certain hazard to health.

Because promotion is important in maintaining the habit's popularity, the Society believes all cigarette advertising in all media should be terminated. We hope that this goal will be achieved voluntarily and that governmental action won't be necessary.

6. Secure a supply of substitutes: mints, gum, an inhaler, ginger root, etc.
7. Out on Q Day—try the different substitutes as the wish to smoke recurs—enlist your wife or a friend in a busy series of events, coming well going to the movies or theater, exercise and many long walks, moderate drinking.
8. If you are depressed, see your physician and discuss your symptoms.
9. Keep reminding yourself again and again of the shocking risks in cigarette smoking.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed, if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that—if you are a heavy smoker—your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that 100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

Dr. Silvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows:

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking;
here the smoker may hardly be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it made him feel good, or feel better, but in fact it does neither. He may once have regarded smoking as an important sign of status. But now smoking is automatic. The habitual smoker who wants to give up must first become aware of when he is smoking. Knowledge of the pattern of his smoking is a first step towards change.

Positive Affect Smoking;
here smoking seems to serve as a stimulant that produces exciting pleasure, or is used as a relaxant, to heighten enjoyment, as at the end of a meal. Here a youngster demonstrates his manhood or his defiance of his parents. This smoker may enjoy most the handling of a cigarette or the sense and sight of smoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to make an effort, they may find giving up cigarettes relatively painless.

Negative Affect Smoking;
this is sedative smoking, using the habit to reduce feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust or any combination of them. This person may not smoke at all when things go well, on vacation, or at a party, but under tension, when things go badly, at the office or at home, he reaches for a cigarette. These smokers give up often, but when the heat and pressure of the day hit them, when there's a challenge, they find it very hard to resist a cigarette. A strong substitute, like nibbling ginger root may be useful.

Addictive Smoking;
the smoker is always aware when he is not smoking. The lack of a cigarette builds need, desire, and discomfort at not smoking. With this increasing need is the expectation that a cigarette will reduce discomfort—and the cigarette does give relief—for a moment. Pleasure at smoking is real, just as the buildup of discomfort at not smoking is real, sometimes rapid and intolerable. The enjoyment of the cigarette, however, is very brief, and may be disappointing—but the suffering for lack of even slight relief is considerable.

For this smoker, tapering off doesn't seem to work; the only solution is to quit cold. Once you have been through the intense pain of breaking your psychological addiction, you are unlikely to start smoking again. The experience of giving up has been too uncomfortable—and too memorable for you to risk having to go through it again.

Some such smokers have found it useful to increase during the week before Q Day the number of cigarettes smoked, to go from two packs to four packs, to force themselves to smoke so that their bodies will be in actual revolt against the double dose of tar and nicotine.

For information on a Smoker's Self-Testing Kit (four questionnaires, etc.), to help one to understand personal reasons for and ways of smoking) write to the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, United States Public Health Service, 4040 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Va., 22203.

'Bonnie' brightens zoo Calf on display at Turtle Back

'Bonnie' born into Turtle Back Zoo's growing herd of Scottish Highland Cattle was the youngest animal on display when the zoo opened several weeks ago.

Now wearing a long haired, shaggy coat that resembles the color of an Irish Setter, Bonnie was born March 1.

The parents, John and Maureen were donated to the zoo by Mr and Mrs William Y. Dear and numbered among the original zoo residents when it opened 10 years ago. John and Maureen have produced seven calves in these 10 years.

Bonnie is just one of the nearly 300 animals that can be found at Turtle Back Zoo, which is now celebrating its 10th anniversary year. The zoo, a facility of the Essex County Park Commission, is located at 560 Northfield ave., West Orange.

Scottish Highland Cattle are considered to be domestic animals. The shaggy haired beasts are from the Highlands of Scotland and are used to working in the rugged, mountainous, rocky farms that are found there.

Because of their ready adaptability to steep, rocky situations, Scottish Highland Cattle have been brought to this country to work the high, mountainous farms in the Northeast.

Bonnie, one of the youngest members of the present generation of Scottish Highland Cattle, actually traces her ancestry back to much more primitive days.

Scottish Highland Cattle are believed to be one of the two forms of domestic cattle that are closest in resemblance to the ancestor of all domestic cattle, the Auroch.

"They are one of the closest relatives to this primitive breed and they have been altered less by domestication," said Richard Ryan, director of Turtle Back Zoo.

"In fact, there were some zoo's in this country that were actually exhibiting Scottish Highland Cattle as Aurochs as late as the 1940's," Ryan added.

Scottish Highland Cattle are just one of the many domestic animals that can be found at Turtle Back Zoo, which, with 275 species of animals on display, is the largest facility of its type in New Jersey.

Patent Institute to be held in fall

Metropolitan area scientists and businessmen will have an opportunity to learn of the latest developments in patent law at the 1973 Patent Institute to be held Saturday, Oct. 13, in a day-long presentation at FDU's Florham-Madison campus.

The Institute, sponsored by FDU's Samuel J. Silberman College of Business Administration, in cooperation with the New Jersey Patent Law Association and the New Jersey Bar Association's Patent, Trademark, Copyright Law and Unfair Competition Section, is under the direction of Associate Professor Joseph L. Tramutola, Jr.

The intensive program is designed to provide participants with specialized background information on patent law, its problems and solutions," commented Tramutola. "Numerous recent developments in patent law, including procedures and practices, will be highlighted," he added.

Authorities in patent law and procedure from local and national companies will conduct the lectures, seminars and group discussions.

Further information and applications may be obtained by contacting Professor Tramutola in the College of Business Administration, FDU, 285 Madison Avenue, Madison, New Jersey 07940, or, by phoning him at 377-4700, extensions 248, 249.

NSC announces area recipients of honor scholarships

Colonial life exhibit topic at museum

An exhibition of historical, decorative and functional objects relating to life in 18th century New Jersey during the period from 1738 to 1776 opened on Saturday, at the New Jersey State Museum, W. State St., Trenton. Designated "A Royal Province," the exhibition will continue through Sept. 9.

"A Royal Province," focusing primarily on the lifestyle of the state's English colonists, is the second in a series of State Museum exhibitions tracing New Jersey's cultural heritage and history. The first ("From Lenape Territory to Royal Province"), in 1971, covered the period from 1600 to 1750 and examined the confrontation of Indian, Dutch, Swedish and English cultures that devolved into the way of life adopted by following generations.

The approximately 80 objects in the 1738-76 exhibition, each tagged with a notation of its historical significance, where known, include furniture, paintings, maps, documents and silverware. Some are from the museum's own collections but the majority are on loan from private collectors, institutions and organizations that include the New Jersey Historical Society, the Newark Museum, the New Jersey State Library, and Princeton and Rutgers Universities.

Suzanne Corlette, curator of cultural history and archeology and coordinator of the exhibition, characterizes it as "representative of the period of educational awakening when Princeton University, the Medical Society of New Jersey and other long-standing focal points for learning were founded." On June 6, 1904 Philadelphia's campaign against the outrageous prices of food eggs, 17 cents a dozen, chickens, 40 cents each.

Workshop is a 'first'

A two-semester-hour college credit course in environmental science—the first to be offered by any college or university in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America—will be conducted this summer by County College of Morris, it was announced this week.

The course, Environmental Science Workshop, SCI 111, will augment the fourth session from Aug. 12 to 24 of the scheduled Schiff Ecology Workshop and will be conducted at the Schiff Scout Reservation, the national education center of the Boy Scouts of America at Mendham.

The college workshop will be conducted by members of the college faculty, and the participants will make field trips to neighboring areas to study different ecosystems. Laboratory sessions will be conducted on the college campus.

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

Ants are unwelcome guests at any picnic. But even more unwelcome is the case of poison ivy he may get from the outing. NIH's National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) estimates that some 100 million Americans are allergic to poison ivy, oak and sumac and, if exposed, will develop the familiar itching skin, rash or blisters.

Urushiol, a substance in the sticky sap of all three plants, is the villain, according to the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Biologics. Direct contact with urushiol, even if not with the plant, is all that is needed to develop an allergic reaction.

An unsuspecting victim may be indirectly exposed to urushiol on the fur of household pets. Garden tools, clothing and smoke from burning plants may also be carriers. Dead leaves or roots contain traces of urushiol and are also potentially dangerous.

Skin reactions vary with the sensitivity of the individual and the extent of exposure. Contrary to popular belief, urushiol still on the skin — rather than scratching the rash or blisters — causes spreading.

Scratching, however, may open the skin to secondary infection which can lead to scarring or worse. A drying lotion will help relieve the itching. If symptoms are severe, a physician should be consulted.

If you happen to contact these plants, wash the exposed skin immediately with soap to remove the urushiol. Clothing or garden tools which have contacted the sap should also be washed thoroughly.

The best preventive is learning to identify the plants and thus avoid contact. Some people think they are allergic to only one of the three plants. Studies indicate that this is probably not true since the urushiol of all three are closely related.

Research is progressing on other ways to prevent reactions to these plants. Supported by federal funds, scientists at Columbia University found that the urushiol of poison ivy consists of four chemical compounds, called catechols. Of these, two make up more than 80 percent of the urushiol.

Federal scientists recently reported that these two are also the most likely to cause an allergic reaction. By using these catechols, scientists hope to improve the effectiveness of poison ivy treatments.

Power Cut Schedule

Suppose we lose the Energy Race?

Our quality of life would take a giant step backwards.

Living standards and energy are bound together. It's been that way since the beginning of time when primitive man's only energy was his muscle, and survival his only goal. It wasn't until he discovered new sources of power (the wheel, wind, fire, water, coal, oil, natural gas) that he achieved economic well-being, a better quality of life, and the leisure time to enjoy it.

Now our way of life is being threatened by an impending energy shortage brought about by the opposition to nuclear energy plants. Further delays in their construction would open us to catastrophic dangers.

Without nuclear energy, brownouts and blackouts are a certainty in the near future. Electricity will have to be rationed. Power cuts will bring with them great discomforts. We'll breathe dirtier air without clean nuclear energy to provide the electricity. Our streams and lakes will stay polluted without the power to run new sewage facilities. With insufficient electricity to build new homes and cities there will be overcrowding everywhere. There will be no new industries to create job opportunities. Unemployment will reach new highs. Our food and fresh-water supply will also be affected.

President Nixon's scientific advisor, Dr. Lee

DuBridge, summed it up this way: "Without energy, our whole civilization in this country as we know it just comes to a halt."

We are a country that lives on energy. And by the end of the century we will require some 2 billion kilowatts of capacity to generate the power needed to maintain our high standard of living. It is our obligation to the future to provide that energy, but we can't do it without nuclear plants. And we can't build them in time without your support.

If you want to maintain your standard of living and improve that of the less fortunate, speak out for nuclear energy. You will be heard, and we will win the energy race. We must.

Time To Spare
By GERALD ANDREWS, Retirement Advisor

It's a good idea to sit down and estimate the regular income you will have after retirement, and to review your financial holdings to see if they are in the form best suited for your retired status.

Estimate the regular amounts you will receive when you retire. This includes payments from your retirement system, social security benefits, pensions or veterans' benefits, and other annuities. In estimating, add income you will have from other sources, such as interest from savings accounts and bonds, dividends from stock, and rents from real estate investments. If you plan to work or pursue a hobby that will bring in money, include these sources of income in your budget.

If you own your house, it is probably your biggest single asset. However, the amount tied up in your house may be out of line with your retirement income. If it is, consider selling your house and buying a less expensive one. The difference could be put into income-producing investments.

Lutheran Church lists Bible classes during summer

The 16th annual Vacation Bible School will be held at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, beginning on Monday. The first session will run through June 22, Monday through Friday, from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. Children aged 3-6 may enroll.

The second session of Vacation Bible School will run from July 30 through Aug. 3 also from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. daily, for children 7 through 12.

Vacation Bible School at Holy Cross will include Bible lessons, projects, singing, recreation and refreshments. Enrollment is open to all children between the ages of 3 through 12. Registration forms are available at the church office or from the superintendents. Applicants were asked to return them to the church as soon as possible.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Carlomusto, 277-3935, for session I, or Mrs. Stephen Beno, 376-1719, for session II.

Art center registering
for summer

The Summer Art Center has opened registration for its summer program. The center has added several new instructors.

The summer classes, held at the new air-conditioned building, will begin on Monday, June 25, and run through Friday, Aug. 3, after which the center will take its summer holiday.

Classes are available for children of 7 through adulthood, and range from morning through evening schedules.

Children's classes are available in sculpture, clay modeling, mixed media, drawing and painting.

For adults the selection is greater: portraiture, watercolor, sculpture, non-loom sculpture, painting and drawing, life drawing or painting with a live model, collography, printmaking and silk screening.

New to the summer curriculum are the rug weaving, ceramics and jewelry courses. There are several photography courses available, using the new equipment at the center. Four new Bessler enlargers have been installed.

The landscape painting class will meet out-of-doors, weather permitting. And for those not anxious to stay inside with the air-conditioning, there is the outdoor sketching class for teens and adults.

Teens may take part in the rug weaving and sketching classes, and there are painting classes restricted to teenagers.

Workshops are for those who want to learn but fear their summer plans may interfere with an every-week class schedule. With an open studio, no instruction, a simple studio fee, these workshops allow them to pursue their own interests.

On Sundays, the only scheduled offering will be an open studio with a live model - a repeat from Tuesday night's schedule.

Registration for classes can be done through the mail or at the Summit Art Center, in its new building, 68 Elm st. Registration will close on June 20. For the new brochure or further information, call the Art Center, 273-9121, or Virginia Collins, class coordinator, 379-2430.

The fund sponsors a number of events throughout the year, with all monies used directly for research, without any expenditures for office or campaign expenses. Mrs. Leibner's husband is a vice-president of the chapter.

Thought for food

When mixing ground beef with other ingredients for meat loaf, be ever so gentle. Combine the mixture thoroughly yet lightly to insure a light texture and juiciness. In shaping the loaf, press lightly or pat rather than packing solidly or spanking.

Freezing beef offers an opportunity to take advantage of specials at the market. Cooking these frozen beef assets is easy. Beef can be defrosted in the refrigerator prior to cooking or during the cooking time. Defrosted roasts require the same time as fresh cuts, while frozen roasts need one third to one-half more time to attain the degree of doneness desired. The extra time required for broiling frozen steaks varies with the surface area of the cut, the thickness and the broiling temperature. Thick frozen steaks should be placed farther from the heat so they won't brown too much on the outside before done inside.

Hospital air bath fights infection

Alexian Brothers gets innovative isolators

One of the most innovative pieces of equipment to protect against infection especially where burn cases are involved has been installed at Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth.

Two totally self-contained vertical flow patient isolators as they are called, are now in operation, according to J. Peter Certo, administrator.

The isolator is designed literally to provide the patient with an air bath that cleanses the enclosed atmosphere of the isolator of 99.9 percent of all contaminants.

The isolator is perhaps the most sophisticated type of equipment available that mechanically protects the infection prone or contagious patient," Certo said. "In most cases, hospitals generally set aside an isolation area. We can now ensure maximum protection for both the affected patient and the staff."

A patient room has been renovated to accommodate the two isolators which are designed to fit in the space normally used for a patient bed.

Another important feature of the isolator, according to Certo, is that it can be relocated whenever necessary and be rebuilt around the patient. The concept is an outgrowth of the space program, he said.

Sterile air generated through an overhead bank of filters provides a vertical air bath that cleans the enclosed atmosphere. Infectious bacteria emanating from the patient are removed as the air flows vertically over the bed.

In addition, Certo said, by maintaining a negative pressure within the curtained enclosure, contaminants cannot escape to infect the staff or adjacent patients.

Also, a horizontal slit in each of the optically clear vinyl side curtains affords convenient access to the patient by doctors and nurses.

Certo noted that because of this easy accessibility to the patient, no departure from normal nursing procedures is required. He said exterior monitoring gauges provide hospital personnel with instant readings on filter condition and enclosure pressure.

"The purchase of the isolators is in line with our plans to expand patient services. The use of the equipment to treat burn cases where the control of infection plays such a critical role, gives Alexian Brothers an added advantage," Certo added.

"This equipment affords facilities for patients in this area who previously had to be sent to New York or Philadelphia," Certo said. "In an industrial area where burn cases can occur, Alexian Brothers will provide a needed service."

The equipment was purchased from Weber Technical Products of Grand Rapids, Mich.

LNG committees to study safety

Special subcommittees to plan increased safe guards for the storage, transportation and handling of liquefied natural gas in New Jersey have been appointed to the advisory committee of the Governor's LNG Study Commission.

The advisory committee, which met recently to organize, is reviewing existing statutory regulations governing the LNG industry, the extent of authority designated to state agencies, and the possible need to regulate other flammables in New Jersey to protect the general public.

Roknald M. Heymann, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, is chairman of the study committee, which recently was appointed by Governor William T. Cahill.

Governor Cahill directed that the group pay particular attention to the present techniques which are used in the LNG industry, and equal attention to the safety of workers and the safety of the public. The ultimate purpose of the committee is to make legislative recommendations for changes or additions to present State regulations and laws with respect to sites, type of construction, size and density of hazardous materials.

INNOVATIVE EQUIPMENT — Robert Volero, L.P.N. of North Plainfield, and Joan Gesualdo, R.N. of Roselle, check readings on self-contained patient isolator at Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth. The isolator literally provides the infection-prone or contagious patient with an air bath that eliminates close to 100 percent of all contaminants from the curtained enclosure.

Menza bares financial status, lists net worth at $129,491

Assemblyman Alexander J. Menza, who is seeking election to the State Senate in November, this week disclosed his financial status.

Menza listed his total assets as $141,820 and his liabilities as $12,328.32, giving him a personal net worth of $129,491.68.

He gave the following breakdown:

Real Estate, including his home in Hillside and a house in Hunterdon County	$95,000
Stock	$5,000
Bank account	$14,000
Insurance equity & pension equity	$4,820
Personal property in law office	$10,000
Other personal property (approx.)	$13,000
His liabilities are a mortgage of $12,328.32 on his home in Hillside.

Menza also listed his average income for the last three years as $37,290.

Menza stated that he plans to borrow from a bank to help finance his campaign.

Menza said he will list the names of all contributors and the amounts contributed, even though the New Campaign Disclosure Law requires only the listing of names of persons who have contributed $100 or more. Menza stated that he will not accept any contributions from persons who will not consent to their names being listed.

"I hope," Menza stated, "that other candidates, Republican and Democrat alike, will follow suit to live up to the spirit, as well as the letter, of the law."

"We are certainly witnessing this year," he went on, "how the use and misuse of campaign money can lead to corruption and a loss of public confidence in our government. Watergate and our own scandals here in New Jersey show the wisdom of full disclosure by all candidates of their personal assets and their contributions."

Bloomfield C. lists summer courses

Students will be making films, discussing minority groups and race relations, acting, speaking Spanish, surveying biological principles, exploring adolescent development and studying Roman Historians at the Bloomfield College five-week day summer session, June 25 - July 30. Classes meet Monday through Friday from 9-10:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.

All Bloomfield College summer session courses carry full undergraduate credit. A student may take a maximum of two courses in a five-week session.

Further information about the summer sessions may be obtained from the director of summer sessions, Bloomfield College, or by calling 748-9000, ext. 277.

UC grads given a challenge: Make most of your talents

A challenge to make the most of their talents was issued to the graduates of Union College Saturday by Dr. Nathan Weiss, president of Newark State College and principal speaker at Union College's 39th anniversary commencement exercises.

"Be all that you are capable of becoming, and in so becoming our society becomes a little closer to being all that it can be," he told the 284 graduates on the Cranford Campus Mall. "Think 'unthinkable' thoughts," he said, "learn to explore all the options and possibilities that confront us in a complex and rapidly changing world."

Future graduates and students will have many opportunities for personal growth because Union College, Newark State College, Seton Hall University and Union County Technical Institute "have begun to think 'unthinkable' thoughts," Dr. Weiss told the graduates.

The creation of the Consortium of East Jersey, which comprises the four institutions of higher education, he said, will permit planning for new programs for all the students and the maximizing of resources in the true spirit of collegiality.

Dr. Weiss, who is chairman of the Consortium, commended the faculty and

K. of C. aide cites success of council program for aging

Raymond D. O'Brien, state deputy of the New Jersey Knights of Columbus, said this week that year-end evaluation of the new Knights of Columbus Program on Aging shows the program to be highly successful.

"Reports from more than 200 councils throughout the state shows that more than 30 percent of the councils participated in some form of aging activity for the benefit of senior citizens," said O'Brien.

This program, initiated by O'Brien, was started last July under the chairmanship of Peter M. Shields, executive director of the Union County Office on Aging.

The principal activity of the various participating councils was to open their council chambers as meeting places for the local senior citizen clubs. The councils gave special senior citizen dinners and parties, made visits to hospitals and nursing homes, and provided bus trips and other events for the entertainment and comfort of the older people.

"We are very pleased with this first year effort in the area of aging," said O'Brien, "and expect it will be a continuing activity of the N.J. Knights of Columbus."

Rinaldo asks ICC to oppose shutdown of Lehigh Valley

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th Dist.-N.J.) has called upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to oppose the application by the Lehigh Valley Railroad for permission to cease operations.

The Lehigh Valley has a freight line serving several communities in Union County and Rinaldo said the termination of this service would have a severely adverse effect on the economy of the area.

ICC representatives appeared in Federal court in Philadelphia last Thursday and Friday asking a one-year extension of the termination date sought by the carrier.

Noting that the Lehigh Valley was one of seven railroads in the northeast corridor that are in or near bankruptcy, Rinaldo said Congress needs the additional year to come up with a legislative solution to problems faced by the lines.

"It is obvious that railroads in the northeast need a reorganization plan that will permit them to operate solvently," Rinaldo asserted. "We must produce a permanent solution to a long standing problem."

He said the recent prolonged work stoppage on the Port Authority Trans-Hudson tubes "only served to underscore the problems faced in keeping commuter and freight lines operating. There are no easy answers, but we must do our very best to reach equitable solutions that will provide both commuters and businessmen with the uninterrupted service they need and deserve."

Women no longer have to be at the mercy of their cars.

Ever since you were a girl, you were taught that women cope with mechanical problems by going to pieces over them. With your help, we're going to prove that's nonsense.

We're holding a free, two-hour Grease and Glamour Clinic, where women can learn how to handle a car's most common mechanical problems. And we'd like you to be there.

We'll show you how to change a tire. How to check the oil and battery. When and how to replace fuses, windshield wipers, and fan belts. How to tell when your car needs repairs or a tune-up. What to do if the car won't start. Even how to have it towed, if all else fails.

You don't have to be one of our customers. You don't even have to be a Volkswagen owner. Just a licensed driver and a woman. There's a limited number of places, so call up and reserve yours now.

A woman's problems with cars aren't biological; they're only educational.

FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union Junior College

When the last Sunday of the month rolls around I know it's time to sit down at the typewriter and write "For the Birds" for the following month. Usually about six or eight hours of research have preceded the putting down on paper of the facts of the case.

Ideas for columns come from a multitude of sources. Occasionally someone writes a letter from some part of the state and poses a question that marks for a good column. Other times it's a chance remark passed in the A & P by one of our local birders. Sometimes a program on TV triggers a thought.

Recently one of the librarians here at Union College brought me a box of pamphlets and other papers on birds that someone had donated to the library. Would it be good enough to go through it, discard what was of no use to anyone and inventory the remainder? For two months the box has cluttered up my office floor. The other day I finally took the top two or three items out and looked at them. One of the pieces concerned the behavior of laughing gulls. I've spent many hours in the salt marsh studying these handsome birds so I put the paper in my briefcase and took it home for further study.

As I read it, I thought back to Tanager's classic study of the herring gull and more recent book on the meanings of the movements of the lesser black backed gull. This would make a good column I thought and talked the idea over with my severest critic, my wife. "You mean that gulls have 'body language' too?" she commented. "Did you ever read the book on that subject by Julius Fast?"

My wife is a librarian. So I took the book out of the College Library and read it. It offered a perfect lead into a discussion of gulls but this morning's New York Times changed my mind. They featured much more newsworthy item and so I put the gulls on the shelf for next month to tell about the rare bird alert now as close as your telephone.

Birders in New Jersey can now hook into the "Metropolitan Rare Bird Alert System." Simply by dialing 212-432-6523 they can hear a taped report on whatever rare species have been spotted in the area recently and where there is a change of seeing them.

When I read that the service was sponsored by the Linnæan Society of New York and the National Audubon Society I feared the sightings would concern little of New Jersey. However, when I finally got through, the first several times I dialed the number the line was busy. I heard about bar tailed and Hudsonian gadwall seen near Somers Point, New Jersey. With each sighting went along the directions on how to reach the spot where the rarity was last seen. The message lasted three or four minutes and was packed with so much information. I had trouble digesting it all.

The father of the idea was Thomas Davis of Woodhaven, Queens, a New York Telephone Company technician and long time birder. He collates the information, edits it and narrates the tapes. Messages are changed about once a week, more frequently during migration. At the end of the tape are the numbers to call if you spot a rare avian visitor.

AFRICAN WIRELESS — The Iya-ilu, or "talking drum" of the Yoruba people in Dahomey, can transmit messages in words. Its four tones, with inflections, are controlled by constricting or relaxing the twine bindings which tighten or loosen the drumheads, as demonstrated by Prof. Lloyd McNeill of Rutgers University's Livingston College Department of Arts and Music.

A roving ambassador McNeill filming documentary

Lloyd McNeill is listed as Assistant Professor of music and art in the Livingston College catalogue of Rutgers University, but he is much more than that—he is a roving ambassador of international good will.

McNeill's special strength in this respect lies in his rare blending of black American culture with a broad knowledge and keen appreciation of his African heritage.

"Each culture has much to gain from the other," he insists, "termining it a 'serious mistake for black Americans to reject the values of their American culture."

"Should we throw away our watches, our cars, our electric appliances, our clarinets and trombones just because they are products of the West?"

With recollections still vivid of last winter's tour of Nigeria, Dahomey, the Ivory Coast, Togo and Senegal, McNeill is looking forward to a tour of Haiti this summer where he hopes to make another section of a documentary film on the transition of black music from Africa to the "New World."

Imported when the slave trade was flourishing, Latin American blacks have developed a culture and life-style which differs markedly from that of their North American counterparts.

McNeill attributes much of this difference to the different approach to black slaves by the Latin Catholics from that which prevailed among the slaveowners of British-Protestant ancestry in this country.

"The Latin Catholics, mostly peoples of the Mediterranean, had long been accustomed to dealing with blacks," he says. "They regarded them as fellow human beings and left them largely free to follow their own lifestyle."

"The settlers descended from Northern European stock, on the other hand, considered the black slaves as sub-human but useful tools."

McNeill's visit to West Africa last winter was sponsored by the U. S. State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Interestingly, it was promoted by a representative of the Institute of African Studies of the University of Ife, Nigeria, who had been impressed by his work while visiting this country under the auspices of the Ford Foundation.

In the Ife Festival, his performance on the flute drew a rave review in the Weekly Journal of the American Cultural Center in Cotonou, Dahomey.

McNeill is hopeful that the State Department may make him a grant in partial support of his visit to Haiti.

"Travel allowances are hard to come by," he says, "but once you are there, the Department is often glad to give some financial assistance."

A native of Washington, D.C., McNeill received his A.B. degree from Morehouse College in Atlanta and a Master of Fine Arts degree at Howard University. He has also studied at l'Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris.

He joined the Rutgers University faculty at Livingston College in 1969, the year it opened. Previously he had taught at Dartmouth College and Howard University; from 1965-66, he was artist-in-residence at Spelman College in Atlanta.

His art works have been exhibited on a number of American college campuses, at the Washington Gallery of Modern Art, the Corcoran Gallery and the Maison des Jeunes, Paris.

Blood tests for seniors

Freeholder Walter E. Ulrich, chairman of the Department of Public Affairs and General Welfare, Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, has announced the addition of blood pressure testing to the new preventative health service for older people at the Senior Citizens Clinic at John E. Rannels Hospital, Berkeley Heights.

Glaucoma, diabetic and Pap tests are also being given, as well as flu shots in season. Senior citizens 60 and over may take advantage of this free health service by calling 322-7240 between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., asking for the Out-patient Clinic, and requesting an appointment at their convenience. This service is being given every Friday morning from 9 a.m. to noon.

Rinaldo slates July 7 exams for appointment to academies

WASHINGTON, D.C. Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th Dist.) announced this week that competitive Civil Service examinations will be conducted on Saturday, July 7, for candidates residing in the 12th Congressional District who seek appointments to the U.S. Military, Air Force or Merchant Marine Academies in classes entering in 1974.

At the present time, he said, the 12th District is entitled to one appointment to the Military Academy at West Point, three to the Naval Academy at Annapolis and three to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. Candidates may also compete for 10 appointments to the Merchant Marine Academy allotted to New Jersey on a statewide basis.

For most 12th District residents, the examinations will be held in Plainfield, at a site to be announced later. For the convenience of candidates, the examination may also be taken in Elizabeth, special arrangements can be made for candidates who will be in other parts of the country or abroad at examination time.

A make-up examination will be held on Saturday, Aug. 11, for those candidates who cannot report for the July examination.

The purpose of the examination, Congressman Rinaldo explained, is to provide an objective testing method to aid Congressmen and Senators in the selection of appointees to the four academies. All candidates are required to take the Civil Service examination.

The 12th Congressional District, represented by Rinaldo, includes all of Union County except Hillside, Winfield and Linden.

Rep. Rinaldo suggested that interested high school students and other young men not yet 21 who reside in the district submit applications to his Washington office as soon as possible.

Under Rep. Rinaldo's fully-competitive merit system of making appointments, the candidates with the highest grades on the Civil Service examination are nominated to compete further for appointments to the academy of their choice on the following basis: 10 for each available appointment to the Military, Air Force and Naval Academies and 10 for the Merchant Marine Academy.

The nominees are then required to take the academy's own entrance and physical examinations.

Summer 'high spots' due Public can scan skies at UC

What can literally be described as "high spots" of the summer are available without charge each Friday evening at the William Miller Sperry Observatory on Union College's 30-acre Cranford Campus. These are the public viewings that are offered at the sky scanning installation beginning dusk, weather permitting.

Prof. Patrick J. White, director of the observatory, says that the general public can utilize the telescopes and other astronomical equipment. Members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., the organization that operates the observatory in cooperation with the college, will be on hand to assist in familiarizing the visitors with the use of the instruments and explain the many astronomical objects of interest.

The Sperry Observatory conducts Friday evening public observations throughout the year. During the fall, winter and spring, however, the installation is closed on the third Friday of each month at which time the regular meetings of AAI are held. The organization does not meet during the summer, so every Friday evening in June, July and August belongs to the public. The lone exception is Friday, Aug. 31, at which time the observatory will be closed for the Labor Day weekend.

400 take exams at Walk-In Center

Union College's Walk-In General Education Development Test Center, at the Plainfield Campus, opened the door to high school certification for almost 400 people during the months of April and May, according to Christian A. Hanns, director of the GED Center.

Three hundred seventy-one people took the six-part GED exam at Union College during the two months, Hanns said. Of this group, 234 were tested in English and 137 received the Spanish version of the exam.

Hanns said that 21 of the 183 people who passed the exam have submitted applications to Union College.

Hanns referred 322 persons to adult learning centers during April and May for further preparation in reading, writing or arithmetic.

THE DEVONSHIRE townhouse is one of nine model homes at Coventry Square off Kennedy boulevard in Lakewood. The three-bedroom townhouse, priced from $25,990, is available in either Tudor or colonial exterior styling. Other homes are priced from $21,990.

Landscaping adds privacy to High Point condominium

A homeowner can have the comfortable feeling of privacy in a well designed condominium home sharing overall community facilities with neighbors—or he can have almost no privacy in a single family home on an individual lot, depending on the original planning that went into design of a community.

The beauty of an individualized home at economy prices and assurance of continued economy in daily living are important factors to the purchaser of a condominium home in a truly well-planned community. High Point at Lakewood, where homes start from $17,990, has been considered one of the most beautifully landscaped residential communities of the New Jersey Shore. The careful design combines privacy and space in the individual condominium home, with landscaped grounds and walkways within the community that bring residents together for social activities at club and swimming pool or at many of the outdoor sitting areas that add quiet "nooks" of privacy among the classic red brick buildings. Each home is designed with private entrance, many leading from an individual

A vacation home for average folks

A year-round vacation home in a beautiful wooded area is no longer the exclusive domain of the rich but can be available to the average wage earner who dreams of getting away from it all with his friends and family.

This concept is basic to the development of Hickory Hills, the four season vacation community in White Haven, Pa., on Route 940, 2 1/2 miles left of exit 40 of Interstate Route 80.

Hickory Hills developers believe that ownership of recreational real estate should not be denied to average, hard working people who are participating responsibly in the economy, and should be made available to the everyday kind of people who respect their incomes and consequently put their money to work for them in the best possible fashion. According to Jesse Sonnenborn, Hickory Hills sales manager, there are many communities which offer beautiful wooded lots, but where building restrictions are such that it is impossible to build a home for less than $15,000 to $20,000.

At Hickory Hills, we offer an Alpine Chalet with two levels, three piece bath and foundation for $7,185, including the cost of the lot. Water, utilities and sewerage are extra.

In order to preserve the natural beauty and contour of the lake, Hickory Hills developers have no lakefront home sites, so that all residents can have equal enjoyment of their private, crystal-clear lake. Other facilities exclusively for Hickory Hills residents include a private lifeguarded swimming pool, children's play area, basketball and shuffleboard facilities, baseball field, a permanent, year-round community building with automatic laundry facilities, and in new sections, the luxury of central sanitary sewers (not septic).

Hickory Hills is located approximately 2 1/2 hours from North Jersey, New York City and Philadelphia. Nearby to the community are many Pocono Mountain retreats, including Hickory Run State Park (5 miles away), Camelback ski area (28 miles away), and Big Boulder and Jack Frost ski areas, making Hickory Hills a true four-season vacation community. Sales office is open seven days a week except Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. For directions and additional information, interested persons may call toll-free at 800-233-8133 from New Jersey and 717-839-7910 from the Philadelphia area.

Homesites are offered in Poconos

For those who desire year-round vacation living or just weekends away from the hustle and bustle of city or suburban living, Green Valley Estates abounds in recreational and everyday living facilities.

Included are a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis court, playground, nature trails, waterfall, shale roads, central water system and electricity. All facilities are completed and ready to be enjoyed in the Poconos by Green Valley property owners this summer. For those who prefer swimming in a lake or lake sports, Lake Wallenpaupack, Pennsylvania's biggest, is just three miles away with 54 miles of shorelines. Home sites can be bought at Green Valley Estates for $2,895. For a basic year-round home, prices start at $4,800. The Green Valley Estates office is located at Harwood Building, Scarsdale, N.Y. 10583.

Briarwood: The ex-urbanites call it home.

Grand Opening!

And for good reason! It's an ideal site, so steeped in history it gives you goosebumps to think about it. The surrounding countryside is rural and picturesque. Undisturbed by highways, it blocks your view of the Delaware Bay.

Yet Briarwood is not a remote pastoral retreat. It's tucked into today. Close to New Hope and Lambertville for browsing and antiqueing. Nearby Flemington for up-to-the minute buys on glassware and furs.

But those are all fun things. And we don't want you to fall in love with the neighborhood until you're also fully sure your home and your community live up to your needs and expectations.

We're almost sure you'll say "yes" to both. Your house—and you have your choice of a rambling ranch or three stately colonial styles—is everything you want it to be.

With wall-to-wall carpeting. Vinyl tile floor in your kitchen and dinette. Ceramic tile bath. Parqueted entry rooms. And the newest kitchen equipment imaginable.

Your community. Ewing Township. Right in the heart of Mercer County. With its excellent schools, facilities. And up-to-date shopping centers minutes away by car. A community golf course is right across the street, too.

Commuting's easy, too. You're just next door to Trenton, Camden, Philadelphia. And a little more than an hour away from Newark and New York. Trains and buses run frequently.

In the heart of Ewing Township

Foxcroft, new residential community, reports early sales top $1.5 million

Foxcroft, a new residential community being built by

Kaufman and Broad in Marlton, reports sales in excess of $1.5 million since the grand opening a few weeks ago.

Four model homes—a spacious bi-level, two deluxe ranches and a traditional colonial, are priced from $34,990 to $39,990. Conventional mortgages are available with a minimum of $1,750 at five percent down.

Homes feature many innovative design concepts, as cathedral ceilings, garden patios, and floor to ceiling fireplaces surrounded by unique conversation pits. All homes have large rooms and plenty of storage area.

The Abbey, priced at $34,990, is an impressive three bedroom L-shaped ranch featuring a large living room with optional conversation pit and fireplace, spacious family room with convenient access to the rear yard by way of sliding glass doors, California kitchen equipped with decorator styled oven and range, handy utility-mud room, formal dining room or den, luxurious bath to complement the master bedroom suite and side facing garage.

Situated across Cherry Hill, Foxcroft accents dramatic California architecture at prices considerably lower than neighboring communities. Ernest A. Serena, president of Kaufman and Broad's New Jersey Division, described the location as a "superb AAA residential area with remarkable conveniences." Located off Exit 4 of the New Jersey Turnpike, the community is within minutes of three of the largest shopping malls in the country (Cherry Hill Mall, Echelon Mall and Moorestown Mall), is minutes away from excellent schools for all age levels, and is less than 30 minutes from Philadelphia's vast recreational and cultural opportunities via the Lindenwold Hi-Speed Line, the first fully automated rail transportation system in the country.

Foxcroft is Kaufman and Broad's ninth residential housing community in New Jersey. Kaufman and Broad is the nation's largest publicly-owned company engaged in the production of on-site housing. Common shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Kaufman and Broad currently has 75 housing developments under way in 52 cities in Northern California, Southern California, Illinois, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Canada, France and Germany.

To reach Foxcroft from the metropolitan New York-New Jersey area, take the New Jersey Turnpike south to Exit 4, then route 73 south to route 70, then 70 east two miles past Marlton Circle to Foxcroft.

Ranch, 3 Colonial designs are offered at Briarwood

combo real estate Leona 36 medital ranch, 36 777 Briarwood, on Nursery road, Ewing Township, opened the first section of 112 homes last weekend. The new community offers a selection of four custom models priced from $46,990.

Located just off Interstate Route 95, the tract lies near Route 1 and Route 31 and offers easy access to the metropolitan centers of New York and Philadelphia as well as to nearby shopping centers in Trenton, Princeton, New Hope, Pennsylvania and Flemington. Briarwood is only minutes from historical Washington Crossing State Park. A community golf course is directly opposite the site. Schools and houses of worship are in the immediate vicinity.

Each Briarwood home includes such extras as wall-to-wall carpeting, vinyl tile floors in kitchen and dinette, ceramic tile baths and color-matched kitchen appliances including undercounter dishwasher, built in oven and range top. The homes are adaptable for central air conditioning and fireplaces, both optional.

Briarwood offers three colonial designs and a ranch model. The Washington is a 64-foot colonial home with four bedrooms and 2½ baths in all. The master bedroom suite includes a dressing room with vanity bar and full shower bath. The tiny appointed kitchen adjoins a large breakfast room. The home also features a formal dining room, 24-foot living room, panelled recreation room, laundry and mud room, entry foyer, two-car garage and full basement.

The Lafayette is a 58-foot colonial with four bedrooms

27-foot living room, formal dining room, large "eat-in" kitchen and panelled Early American room. There is also a full basement and two-car garage.

The Delaware is a three-bedroom colonial style home with 1½ baths. It offers a 20-foot living room, formal dining room, roomy kitchen-dinette, panelled family room, large garage and full basement.

The three-bedroom ranch model, called the Pennington, has 2½ baths. The entry foyer highlights a vaulted ceiling and the living room measures a full 20 feet. There is a large panelled family room in addition to a separate dinette adjoining the kitchen. The home also features a laundry room and a two-car garage.

Exclusive agent for Briarwood is Weinroth Realty of Trenton.

Condominium site looks out on river

A "real estate success story" is being written on the cliffs of the Palisades at the new Parker Imperial, a 30-story high rise condominium apartment building being erected at 7855 Boulevard East, North Bergen, according to Hank Sopher, president of J.I. Sopher & Co. Inc., the building's selling agent.

He said that 80 apartments were reserved at the Parker Imperial within three days of the beginning of its sales program.

As in all real estate success stories, much credit must be given to the Parker Imperial's location, Sopher said. He pointed out that most of the building's apartments have panoramic views of the Hudson River and the New York skyline. On a more practical level, the building is only 15 minutes to mid-Manhattan Buses to the midtown Port Authority Bus Terminal stop at the door.

Apartments at the Parker Imperial range in size from one-bedroom to three-bedroom — three bath suites. Kitchens feature double door refrigerators and continuous cleaning ovens. Heating and air-conditioning can be individually controlled to afford each room in an apartment in individual comfortable climate.

The building contains recreational facilities including an outdoor swimming pool, health club, sauna baths.

'Heartbreak Kid' opens tomorrow at Fox, Maplewood

"The Heartbreak Kid," 20th Century-Fox's motion picture comedy, which takes a piercing look at the great human pastime of losing interest after the conquest and chasing the next challenge, arrives tomorrow at the Meadowbrook Theater in Maplewood, and the Fox Theater, Route 22, Union.

"Sleuth," starring Laurence Olivier and Michael Caine, and directed by Joseph Mankiewicz, will end its run today at both theaters.

In "The Heartbreak Kid," Charles Grodin plays the manic young man, who drops his bride on their Miami Beach honeymoon to pursue a new love.

Neil Simon, Broadway, television and movie script writer, wrote the screenplay. The picture also stars Jeannie Berlin, Cybill Shepherd and Eddie Albert.

Photographed in color, "The Heartbreak Kid" was directed by Elaine May.

'Hammer' offered on Union screen

"Hammer of God," a violent story of an honest boxer who is up against a mob re-cycled to fit black-action movie scenes, arrived yesterday at the Union Theater, Union Center. The picture, which highlights beatings, killings, ring work and chases, has Fred Williamson and Vonetta McGee in leading roles. It was photographed in color and directed by Bruce Clark.

Jazz Society to offer FDU open-air concert

Two traditional jazz bands will be featured at the New Jersey Jazz Society's open-air summer concert Sunday, June 24, on the Fairleigh Dickinson University campus in Madison from 3 to 7 p.m.

Alternating sessions will be by the Great Swamp Jazz Band and the Jazz Society Stompers, both organizations of professional musicians heard regularly at jazz spots throughout the area.

Goodlistening. ATLANTIS (VERTIGO VEL. 1016) Selections include: "Get Up," "Big Brother," "Rock 'n Roll Preacher," "Maybe It's Useless," "Let's Get On The Road Again," "Living At The End Of Time," "Words Of Love." "Let's

Inga Rumpf, lead singer with Atlantis, has surprised some music critics. In 1967, two top critics speculated on how long her voice would last. One critic said two years, the other said three. Six years have passed and Inga has won that bet hands down.

Atlantis is made up of 26-year-old Inga, who writes much of the material as well as sings, Jean-Jacques Kravetz, keyboards; Frank Diez, guitar; Curt Cross, drums and percussion and Karl Heinz Sebott, bass.

Four of the five members recently won first places in a readers poll in Musik Express Magazine (the German Rolling Stone) on their respective instruments. The only member who didn't win was the drummer. He finished third. Atlantis was also voted the No. 1 German band All this before its LP was released on the continent.

What makes Atlantis an unusual German rock group is that it really rocks. A term, "Deutschock," has been applied to several German bands because of their extensive electronic extravaganzas. Even if it exhausts all obtainable technical possibilities, Atlantis is solid rock.

The LP was recorded in London Studios on Portobello Road in London, situated in the cellar of a former church. Guest musicians include Traffic's Reebop and Jean Toussaint, formerly of Juicy Lucy and now with Cal Stevens.

"Watergate Blues," one of the first recorded songs concerning the national controversy, has been released on the Mercury label, as the flip side of Tom T. Hall's pop single "Spokane Motel Blues" (73394).

Part of the lyrics read: "There was Han dleman and Gray and Mitchell and Dean Whole lot of folks shakin' in the White House scene. They patched up the cracks but the dam broke loose Watergate was all you could read in the news Dickie said, 'It's news to me'."

Lemmon is star of Elmora movie

The Elmora Theater in Elizabeth is offering a double feature this week "Save the Tiger" and "Fear Is the Key."

"Save the Tiger" stars Jack Lemmon and Jack Gilford, and concerns a Los Angeles dress manufacturer who spends a day wrestling with the past which pops up in flashbacks and memories. The picture was made in color and directed by John Avildsen.

"Fear Is the Key," a movie thriller in color, involving a vengeance trail of undercover and underwater men against a villainous salvage operation in Louisiana, has Barry Newman and Suzy Kendall in starring roles. In color, the picture was directed by Michael Tuchner.

Star has 4 roles in 'Twigs' at Mill

Sada Thompson, who plays four roles in "Twigs," current stage comedy at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, received a standing ovation from her opening night audience last Wednesday, June 6.

Miss Thompson portrays four different women in four different kitchens. There are "Ma," "Emily," "Celia" and Dorothy," all non-stop talkers, and they range from the youngest daughter to "Ma," who is 80 years old.

Joe Ponzacki, Mark Dawson, MacIntyre Dixon, Jack, Murdoch, Walter Kalvin, Herbert Nelson and Ned Farster play the men in the lives of the four women.

"Twigs" will play until July 1 at the Paper Mill Playhouse. Performances are given on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 5 and 9:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the Paper Mill Playhouse box office (376-4343).

Dance studio to cite 20th season in fall

The Yvette Dance Studio, 118 Walnut ave., Cranford, will celebrate its 20th season of teaching dance in September. Registration for new students for fall enrollment will take place Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"This early registration will avoid additional burden on mothers during the back to school season and will provide for more efficient class scheduling," a spokesman announced.

Miss Yvette is an officer of the N.J. Dance Theatre Guild, Inc., a non profit organization, dedicated to raising the standards of dance education in New Jersey communities. She also is a member of Dance Masters and Dance Educators of America.

Former students are currently appearing on Broadway, summer stock, industrial shows and in movies.

'Tiger' at Cinemette

The Cinemette in Union opened its single bill yesterday with "Save the Tiger." The movie, which stars Jack Lemmon and Jack Gilford, was filmed in color and directed by John Avildsen.

BARBRA STREISAND 'Sandbox' at Cinema

"Up the Sandbox," starring Barbra Streisand, which opened yesterday at the Jerry Lewis Cinema, Five Points, Union, was made by Miss Streisand's own independent company, Barwood Films.

Irvin Kershner directed the film from a screenplay by Paul Zindel, who derived the film story from Anne Richardson Rippe's first novel.

Miss Streisand plays a young contemporary Manhattan housewife, and her husband is portrayed by David Seby, New York stage actor. Together they are seen as a result of her soaring imaginations in several bizarre and funny confrontations.

The picture, in Technicolor, was photographed in Hollywood, New York and Kenya in Africa.

EARLY COPY Publicity Chairmen are urged to observe the Friday deadline for other than spot news. Include your name, address and phone number.

A gentleman sitting at the Club Diana cocktail lounge saw a beautiful lady sitting alongside of him. She was dressed very pretty, wearing a light sweater and she was endowed with an ample bosom. The gentleman could not take his eyes off of her.

Edna noticed a four letter word "Edna" written on one side of her bosom.

So he very politely said to her, "Very beautiful, what do you call the other one?"

Even if your name has more than four letters, Diana is beautiful and has had 27 years of experience serving the public. Ranziquis are our business.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

By Pat and Marilyn Davis

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
I have this boyfriend and I really like him. I've met his mother and father and they are great. The only problem is my parents Jack and I have dated for six months but every time he comes to pick me up my father puts him through the third degree. Where are you going? Who will be there? Do you have enough gas in your car? By the way, when did you have the brakes relined? Have you had a ticket for speeding lately?

The cinch came last week when we were to drive about 30 miles to a party. Mom and Dad have friends in the town where the party was to be held. When Jack arrived, my father calmly said, "We are driving down with you. I don't want two teenagers on the road at night." With that, we all got into the car and away we went.

Jack was not too happy and I'll lose him if my parents keep up their surveillance. We get in on time and try to follow the rules. What can I say? We are both 17.

Dear Cindy:

Tell Mom and Dad that Jack is on your "most wanted" list and to please give up the interrogation before each date. If you follow the house rules, Mom and Dad should relax their.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I work in a large office and have a problem. I am attracted to my boss. He is about 39 and looks 29. He is the kind of person everyone likes.

Don't give me the advice that this attraction is on-sided because I happen to know it isn't. He likes me and has said so. I know if I gave him a chance I could have something going. The only thing is he is married and has two children. I don't want to become involved in a hopeless affair. What should I do?

Age 21

Dear 21:

Your boss may be 39, looks 29 but acts 19. You might get something going, but you would probably be surprised how determined you boss would be to remain safely married. Resign and find a new job. You are too young to waste your time.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I have been living with John for a year. We are both over 21 and have considered that this was strictly our business. My parents eventually discovered our arrangement and have been very vocal about their disapproval. John's parents feel that we are wrong and that someone is bound to be hurt.

We just don't feel that a person should have to sign a piece of paper to make it legal. Should we decide to separate, all we have to do is walk out. The divorce rate is at an all-time high and I don't want to be a statistic. I want John to be with me because he wants to be not because he has to.

How can I convince everyone that what we are doing is right for us? I haven't seen much to recommend marriage. Have you?

C.F.

Dear C.F.:

I must agree that the divorce rate is spiraling, but I do not agree that you have discovered the solution. If there is little to recommend marriage, then there is even less to recommend living together. Until someone comes up with a better answer, we'll have to stick with marriage. Living together without marrying is like chasing without catching.

If you have a question, write: Pat and Marilyn Davis, Copy News Service, in care of this newspaper.

Summer program for speech therapy starting on June 25

An intensive six-week summer speech program for children and adults is being offered by the Mount Carmel Guild Hearing and Speech Department starting Monday, June 25, through Friday, August 3.

One-hour morning and afternoon sessions, Monday through Friday, will take place at the Guild's Diagnostic center, 17 Mulberry st., Newark, and its Hearing and Speech Therapy Centers in South Orange, Cranford and Jersey City. The Cranford and Jersey City sessions were added to this year's program because of the increased demand indicated by last year's program.

An initial diagnostic evaluation will be given to all persons applying for the program. Based on this information, persons who in the judgement of the Guild's staff can most benefit from therapy will be placed in the program.

Participants will receive both group and individual instruction. Emphasis will be placed upon general speech improvement in addition to specific speech and language therapy. Parents will be invited to attend weekly group sessions in order to participate, along with the children, in the therapeutic process.

At the end of the six-week program recommendations will be made as to the need for continued services. For full details write or call Rev. Msgr. John P. Hourihan, executive director Hearing and Speech Diagnostic Center or Mrs. Carol Iden, supervisor, School Services, Mount Carmel Guild Summer Speech Program, 17 Mulberry st., Newark 07102, phone 623-466 ext. 129. Applications should be made on or before June 20.

Consortium lists reading program

The School Consortium of New Jersey will offer a diagnostic and developmental reading program at Newark Academy, Livingston, this summer. The program, offered through the Independent Educational Services Program, Princeton, is open to students in grades 5-10 in two summer sessions.

Session I runs from June 25 - July 13. Session II from July 16 - Aug. 3. Each session operates from 9:30 noon five days a week, the cost per three-week session is $150.

Thursday, June 14, 1973

The program includes reading comprehension, inferential reading, vocabulary building, reading rate program, development of motivational attitudes and study skills in specific disciplines. I.E.S. reading programs are used in many independent schools and are noted for improving reading through developing relationships to specific skills in specific academic disciplines.

150 miles per gallon in family car?

A few 'minor' adjustments should do the trick

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Would you like to get up to 150 miles per gallon out of your car? Impossible? Not so, say scientists and automotive technicians of BP Oil Corp.

But, it requires a few alterations to your car plus some rather unusual driving techniques.

Basically, here's how it's been done:

The first trend to follow is only a one-inch hose around each tire and inflate them to 110 pounds per square inch pressure.

Use SAE 10 motor oil in the engine, transmission and wheel bearings.

Increase the engine compression ratio to 10 to 1 and adjust the spark advance for maximum power.

Remove the fan belt to eliminate the power needed for the water pump, generator and cooling fan.

Then, using high gear, accelerate at wide open throttle from 5 to 20 miles-per-hour, turn off the engine, disengage the clutch, and coast. When the car slows to five miles-per-hour, turn on the ignition, engage the clutch, restart the engine, and accelerate to 20 miles-per-hour again. Keep repeating this procedure.

In an oil industry experiment in 1949, a 1947 car using the described modifications and driving techniques actually recorded 149.95 miles-per-gallon. The modifications permitted an increase to 54 miles-per-gallon from a basic 28 miles-per-gallon.

The unorthodox driving techniques jumped the per-gallon mileage to the 149.95 mark.

In another experiment in 1952, a 1924 model car achieved 168.5 miles per gallon in an economy test run using "special modifications of driving techniques."

Of course, these were very unorthodox operating conditions. However, they serve to point up the extreme importance of driving habits to gasoline economy.

The Environmental Protection Agency recently tested 364 domestic and foreign cars for gasoline consumption. Tiny Japanese-made cars fared best with one recording 28.7 miles-per-gallon. Big, powerful, top-of-the-line Detroit-built cars tested fell in a range of 9.2 to 7.6 miles-per-gallon.

Fuel conservation is becoming the watchword with the energy crisis making an impact on the public in the form of allocations, spot rationing of gasoline, and the very real threat of brownouts and blackouts in the utility industry.

BP Oil Corp. and other energy companies are studying and acting on ways to squeeze more gasoline from a barrel of oil. Refineries are now being expanded (BP has a $100 million modernization program underway at its Marcus Hook, Pa. refinery), sites are being sought for new refineries and some companies are allocating available fuels on an across-the-board basis to assure fair and equitable treatment of all classes of energy users.

Reduced consumption by wiser use of energies could lower demand levels. The federal government is being asked to ease restrictions on the use of certain fuels and soften strict codes on auto emissions to gain time in the race against the energy crisis.

The crux of the immediate problem is that demand for fuels is running close to nine per cent higher this year over last with industry and government leaders saying repeatedly the nation can handle only a five to six per cent increase.

The public can help by using public transportation where possible, forming car pools, improving driving habits and by limiting the use of luxury appliances and accessories.

FDU plans institute explaining patent law

Metropolitan area scientists and businessmen will have an opportunity to learn of the latest developments in patent law at the 1973 Patent Institute to be held Saturday, Oct. 13, in a day-long presentation at FDU's Florham Madison campus (New Jersey).

The institute, sponsored by FDU's Samuel J. Silverman College of Business Administration, in cooperation with the New Jersey Patent Law Association and the new Jersey Bar Association's Patent, Trademark, Copyright Law and Unfair Competition Section, is under the direction of Associate Professor Joseph L. Tramutola Jr.

NCE offers high schoolers course in use of computers

High school students skilled in mathematics have an opportunity to learn the use of computers for problem solving and earn college credit at the same time when school resumes in the fall.

Newark College of Engineering is offering the special course, Advanced Placement in Computer Programming, Saturday mornings in the NCE Computer Center.

The Victoria Foundation is supporting the program, which is tuition free. Travel allowances are also available to students who demonstrate economic need.

Dr. George Moshos, chairman of NCE's Computer Science Department and the director of the advanced placement program, said two separate 16-week classes will be selected, one for the fall semester and another for the spring semester.

Emphasis is on individual assignments once the students learn the basic fundamentals of programming and the Fortran language. Faculty supervision, tutoring and consultation assist the students.

Students also will participate in team design projects. Urban, suburban, public and private third and fourth year students are eligible. They may apply through their guidance office or may write to Dr. Moshos at Newark College of Engineering for applications.

Turnpike appoints community liaison

The New Jersey Turnpike Authority has announced that Raymond B. Dasch, former supervisor of community relations for the State Department of Transportation, has been employed by the Authority to provide similar services during the construction of the Toms River Extension.

William J. Flanagan, executive director, said Dasch, who joined the authority early in May, has been given the responsibility of establishing a responsive communications network between the authority and residential, business and governmental communities located along the path of the Toms River Extension. He also will work with groups which have special interests in the preservation and development of the environment.

Flanagan added that Dasch, through experience in developing and operating a high way community relations program for the New Jersey Department of Transportation can recognize problems generated by engineering and construction and help resolve them.

Publicity Chairmen are urged to observe the Friday deadline for other than spot news. Include your name, address and phone number.

Japanese methods for piano at clinic

Herbert Golub, chairman of the music department, Newark State College at Union, has announced a week-long program of clinics teaching the Suzuki String and Piano methods, July 9-13. The Suzuki method is known for its success in teaching young children.

According to Golub, "the clinics should be of special interest and importance to musicians and music teachers, and it is the first time such a series will be devoted to the philosophy and teaching methods of Shinichi Suzuki in New Jersey."

The week-long series of five sessions will be conducted by William and Constance Starr, visiting faculty members from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Mr. and Mrs. Starr spent 13 months in Japan studying with Suzuki, and have conducted workshops throughout the nation on this method of instruction. William Starr's program at the University of Tennessee now enrolls over 100 young children playing string instruments.

The Newark State clinic will be held from 12:30 p.m. - 5:30 p.m. daily. Starr will conduct the string clinic and Mrs. Starr will conduct a piano clinic.

Either workshop is available for two undergraduate credits at a fee of $70 or for two graduate credits at a fee of $95.

Advance applications are advised and may be obtained by contacting the Music Department, Newark State College at Union, telephone 527-2107.

College lists stock plays this summer

W. Scott MacConnell, executive director of Summerfun Two, the summer stock company at Montclair State College, has announced the schedule of plays for the season.

"Play It Again, Sam" by Woody Allen will be presented Tuesday, June 26, through Saturday, June 30. It will be followed by "Sherlock Holmes," July 3 through 7, "Never Too Late," July 10 through 14, "The Killing of Sister George," July 17 through 21, "Cactus Flower," July 24 through 28 and "The Miracle Worker," July 31 through Aug. 4.

Summerfun Two is Montclair State College's second venture into summer stock. It is a permanent company of actors and technicians, all of whom are graduate and undergraduate students seeking training experience and academic credits in lieu of salaries.

All productions will be presented in the air conditioned Memorial Auditorium at Montclair State College, Valley road, Upper Montclair. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $1.25 for students, $2 for senior citizens, $2.50 for the public. Also available are season subscriptions and theatre party or benefit performance arrangements for reduced rates. For reservations or further information call 746-9120.

Patten to head list of guests at annual Irish, Scot games

Congressman Edward J. Patten (D-15) heads a list of public officials who have signified their intention to attend the third annual Irish Feis and Scottish Games to be held on Father's Day, June 17, at the Freehold Raceway, Freehold.

"Take Your Father to the Feis" is the theme of the games, sponsored annually by the Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh, Old Bridge.

Approximately 25,000 persons are expected to attend the affair between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. to see the step and Highland dancers, the céilidh bands, the Irish Ballad singers and the pipe bands as well as the art exhibits and the field events.

Bill Nolan, Feis chairman, said the Feis "will be put on rain or shine." He said arrangements have been made so that the dancers, singers and bands can perform under cover.

Pat Kirwan, who is in charge of the dancers, said that 1,600 entries have been received to date and that the total number could exceed 2,000. Entries have been received from Irish and Scottish dancers from Canada, Cleveland, Akron, Boston, Philadelphia and other parts of Pennsylvania, New York City and New York State, Maryland, Delaware, Connecticut and New Jersey.

New Jersey Sen. Francis X. McDermott of Union County, who will be attending the Feis for the third time, will introduce the guests Jack Williams, past president of the Friendly Sons, will serve as master of ceremonies for the dedication ceremony and James Lynch, president, will give the welcome on behalf of the club.

There will be food and drink available at the Feis, including fish and chips, hot dogs and hamburgers and pizzas.

'Sing' slated Wednesday

The next in a series of 12 Summer Sings, informal choral readings sponsored by the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation, will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the County College of Morris Student Center, Center Grove road and Rt. 10, Dover. The work to be sung on this evening will be Bach's "St. John Passion."

David Randolph, conductor of the Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra, will conduct the sing, the piano accompanist will be Michael May. The sing is open to all who would like to participate or observe. There are no auditions or other special requirements, and the music is furnished. The charge is $2 per person, payable at the door.

Further information can be obtained by calling the office of the Masterwork Foundation at 201-538-1860 weekdays between 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

SIMPLE FACT: CHRYSLER AIRTEMP AIR CONDITIONERS OFFER MORE!

MORE MODELS, SIZES, QUALITY AND DEPENDABILITY THAN ANY OTHER AIR CONDITIONERS WE SELL.

We won't try and kid you...an air conditioner is a major purchase...major in terms of expense...major in terms of what you expect in the way of dependability and performance. The way we look at it, with a purchase of that magnitude in mind, look at the best before you buy. The best, in our book? Chrysler Airtemp! We honestly feel that Chrysler Airtemp air conditioners can offer today's concerned consumer more for their money. More in terms of selection...so you get precisely the model and size that suits your needs best. More in terms of performance...models that are whisper-quiet, or models that pack the kind of performance that can keep really big areas comfortably cool, even when the temperature soars. More in terms of lasting dependability...the kind of dependability that keeps on cooling, year after blistering year. The kind of built-in quality that, over the years has set the standard that other makers try and live up to. Perhaps the best indication of Chrysler Airtemp air conditioner's superiority is their warranty...5 Years on All Parts. You have to be pretty sure of what goes into one of these fine air conditioners, before you'll back them like that. See the full line of Chrysler Airtemp air conditioners at any of the 148 BBD Appliance Centers. 5000 to 33,000 BTU's in a choice of four handsomely styled series. SOME OF THE GREAT PIONEERS in rhythm and blues are reunited for a special session on the Homewood series June 23 at 9 p.m. on UHF Channels 50 and 58 of the New Jersey public TV network. Featured performers on "The Barrelhouse" are (top photo, left-right) Wilton Fedder, bass; Johnny Otis, vibes; Shuggie Otis (Johnny's son), guitar; Melvin Moore, trumpet; Gene Connors, trombone; Preston Love, baritone sax. (Bottom photo, left) Esther Phillips, and (bottom photo right) Big Joe Turner singing "Shake, Rattle and Roll."

Delayed tax refund may be expedited, according to IRS

New Jersey taxpayers expecting refunds from Federal income tax returns filed more than 10 weeks ago can now have their refunds expedited. If they have not received refunds or explanations for their delay, they may file duplicate returns which will be processed immediately.

In announcing this expedite procedure, Elmer H. Klinsman, IRS District director, emphasized that duplicate returns must be complete with copies of all W-2 forms and supporting schedules attached. Clearly legible photo copies may be used but they must have original signatures. Photo copied signatures are not allowed.

Returns filed must be marked DUPLICATE in heavy black letters across the top front of the return. They should be mailed directly to the Internal Revenue Service, 1040 Waverly Ave., Holtville, New York 11799.

Taxpayers who have moved or changed their addresses since mailing their returns should call or visit their nearest IRS office before filing duplicate returns.

More than two million refunds totalling over $75 million have already been mailed to New Jersey taxpayers.

Star Auto Stores pick Venet for advertising

NEW YORK — Star Auto Stores, a chain of 19 stores retailing auto parts and accessories throughout northern and central New Jersey, has appointed Venet Advertising Agency, New Jersey and New York offices, for its advertising.

Large space newspaper ads are scheduled to appear weekly. Venet has created a new look for Star's ads featuring the theme "Star Power" plus "Hitch your car to a Star!"

Later in the year, a radio campaign is planned using stations throughout the New Jersey market.

Owners of campers, trailers, should be alert to gas danger

Will your family take to the open road this summer in a camper or recreational vehicle? The ads and salesmen will extol all the luxury and convenience features, but purchasers also need to know the safety measures that can mean the difference between joy and tragedy for their families.

One thing these luxury campers, trailers and self-contained recreational vehicles have in common is the use of liquefied petroleum gas (L.P. gas). It will cook meals, heat and light the home on wheels, even cool food. But, the danger of leaking gas, easily followed by fire or explosion, means campers must be on their toes every time the vehicle is used.

This warning comes from the Bureau of Community Environment Management, part of HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration. In following a few simple precautions, keep in mind that the L.P. gas vapors are heavier than air and, in case of leaks, will settle to the bottom of the vehicles or tank compartment.

Some safety measures are taken during the manufacture — vents, air intakes and exhausts are built in, but it's up to you to see that they stay unobstructed. In addition, the gas itself has an odor added for detection purposes, but there is the possibility that one can become accustomed to a persisting small leak and not notice it.

Road vibrations, which can gradually work fittings loose, make the danger of leaking gas vapors an ever present possibility.

At the beginning of each season, have the entire system checked, preferably by an L.P. gas dealer. Then, before each trip, check the equipment and fuel line connections, make sure the tank is secure, check tires, brakes, trailer hitch, signal and brake lights. At gas stops, make quick checks, giving attention to make sure wind coming through vents has not blown out pilot lights. Make sure also that the tank itself is securely fastened, a loose tank will move about, thus increasing the possibility of loose connections or broken fuel line. If the trailer is whipping or not tracking, move weight forward in the vehicle. After arriving at your destination, again check the fittings, but don't tighten them so much that pipe threads become damaged. Air out the vehicle and make sure there is adequate ventilation before lighting stove or furnace. Keep an eye on the color of the flame, a yellow flame is a signal to adjust the equipment. Make sure all control knobs are in the off position when not in use. If you suspect L.P. gas has leaked into your camper, do not strike a match. Get everyone out. Turn off gas at tank.

State gas consumption is up; tips on conserving fuel listed

Total gasoline consumption for both highway and non-highway uses in New Jersey amounted to 3,188,965,000 gallons in 1972, according to the New Jersey Petroleum Council.

Leonard H. Ruppert, executive director, noted that the figure represented an 8.8 per cent increase over the previous year. This compared with a 6.5 per cent rise nationwide. In 1971, the state's gasoline consumption amounted to 2,929,831,000 gallons.

In view of the growing shortage caused by the increased demand for gasoline, the Petroleum Council has suggested some ways the motorist might save on consumption.

Keep your car's engine well-tuned, with special attention to fuel and air filters, plugs and points, and emission control devices.

See that gasoline attendants do not fill your fuel tank to the neck. Fuel can overflow while the car is in motion, or parked on an incline, and fuel can expand and overflow in hot weather.

See that your tires are properly inflated, this saves on tire wear as well as fuel consumption.

Drive at moderate speeds; avoid "jackrabbit" starts. Anticipate traffic situations to avoid quick stop-and-go action in your driving. Accelerate gradually and avoid "floorboarding" your accelerator to achieve cruising speed.

Don't idle your engine for long periods while parked.

Whenever possible, use car pools or mass transit for commuting from outlying areas to offices and plants.

Fund-raising dance set by area singles group

An "Oldies But Goodies Dance," sponsored by Dunams of New Jersey, will be held Wednesday, June 20, from 8 p.m. to midnight at Dodd's Crest, Eagle Rock avenue, West Orange. Music will be provided by Psyche.

Dance chairman Gilda Koltenuk of Irvington noted that singles from 21 to 40 are welcome to attend. Contribution is $4 per person, with all proceeds going to the Jewish National Fund.

African cooking show

"Express Yourself," will show viewers how to prepare African dishes in a program June 15 at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 50 and 58. Theodore Ganges, gourmet from Princeton, will help program host Dee Howard White to cook foods from Africa.

Viet vets get job help

The State employment services placed more than 263,000 Vietnam-era veterans in permanent civilian jobs during the first eight months of fiscal year 1973. More than 50,000 Vietnam-era veterans were hired for Federal jobs during the same period, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.
