Traffic pattern in Deerfield lot will be reversed

In an effort to facilitate traffic flow at the Deerfield School, the Mountainside Board of Education-this-week-announced that, with the opening of School in September, the traffic pattern in the lot will be reversed.

Vehicles will enter the lot from School drive and exit from Field drive; signs have been posted in the area alerting motorists to the change. School buses will also enter through School drive, and exit through Our Lady of Lourdes property. Traffic congestion in the lot has been of concern to the board for some time, and last year the body appointed a lay committee to study the situation. The traffic flow reversal was suggested by the group and unanimously approved by the board last month. The old traffic pattern, in use since 1969, had been adopted on recommendations of the Mountainside Safety Advisory Committee.

Also suggested by the new committee were changes of curbing in the school area, the construction of a connector road between the front and rear of the Deerfield property and the creation of sidewalks along parts of Central avenue and New Providence road. "The other recommendations will require further study," a board spokesman noted, "since the board does not have control over the installation on sidewalks in the borough."

Marching clinic set for Regional Band through Thursday

Jeff Anderson, director of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Bulldog Band, has announced that a four-day marching clinic will be held at the high school Monday to next Thursday. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Band room facilities will be available from 8:15 to 8:45 a.m. and 1:15 to 1:30 p.m. to pick up and return instruments, flags and rifles. Because of the construction in the high school, limited access to the building is

Borough residents claim flood caused by lack of planning

Flood problems in Mountainside were the main topic for discussion for the Borough Council Tuesday night, and many of the 50 local residents who attended the governing body's meeting at the Deerfield School did not go merely to look and listen

During the audience participation segment of the session, several borough homeowners brought individual problems to the council's attention, criticizing engineering work they alleged to be the cause of flooding. A comment heard more than once from the audience was that the Aug. 2 flooding was "an act of man, not an act of God."

Among the more vocal of the protestors were a group of neighbors from Willow lane who claimed that flooding of their homes had never occurred before the borough installed two sanitary sewer lines farther up the mountain on Rolling Rock road several years ago. The lines

Two ordered held for the Grand Jury at Municipal Court

Two Jersey City men, arrested following separate incidents in Mountainside, were ordered held for the Union County Grand Jury after their cases came before Judge Jacob R Bauer at Mountainside Municipal Court Aug.

The defendants are Edward J. Juskiewicz charged with possession of a stolen auto, and Leroy Chatten, accused of possession of a fully loaded .32 caliber revolver. Juskiewicz was arrested Aug. 4, after he crashed the allegedly stolen car into a utility pole on Rt. 22. Chatten was picked up Aug. 8, after police stopped his car on the highway and reportedly spotted the gun in the vehicle.

Besides the indictable offenses, each man faces charges of being an unlicensed driver. Juskiewicz also has been accused of failing to give a good account of himself, and Chatten has a summons for failure to have an insurance card in his possession.

In other court action, Judge Bauer levied a $55 fine against Lorraine Reaves of Piscataway for operating an unregistered vehicle on Rt. 22 and for misuse of license plates. Marylen-S. Raths of Westfield was fined $25 for driving west in the eastbound lanes on the highway, causing an accident.

Operating a motorcycle without a license resulted in a $20 penalty for Wesley E. Snybert of Linden; his summons had been issued on Mill lane. The Allstate Paper Box Co. of Newark was fined $15 for having only one license plate on one of its vans, which had been travelling on Rt. 22. ...Robert W. Dunn of failure to make repairs on a car he was driving on Rt. 22, and for contempt of court. William F. Delaney of New Brunswick was fined $10 for driving a car overdue for inspection on road, and the residents charged the open stream is not wide enough to accommodate water that flows from the sewers when it rains. One woman noted, "On any normal rainy day, my yard is full of water.

OTHER RESIDENTS of the area charged a lack of planning on the part of the borough in having allowed parking lots to be installed over swamps which once existed in the industrial sector of Sheffield street. They claimed flood correction plans that now will require extensive piping could have been solved naturally by a run-off into the marshy land.

A Knollwood road resident who said he has had flooding seven times in 11 years also was among those charging that "poor engineering" was responsible for problems in that area. He noted that there are two four-foot wide parallel pipelines on Old Tote road that empty into two three-foot lines on Deerfield

"During the storm the water spilled out of Deerfield court and against my house," he said. "It's poor engineering to place high-capacity lines upstream with lower capacity pipes below that are unable to carry off the water." He also noted the piping could easily be blocked, "since something that fits into a fourfoot pipe might not go into the three-foot one."

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi said he was sympathetic to the homeowners' problems, and said a study would be conducted to see if the flooding were "something the town caused." Both the mayor and councilmen commented on the difficulty of achieving a borough-wide solution to the problems, noting the expense, running into the millions of dollars even for several short sections of piping, "If only short sections are done, all you do is move the flood around, Ricciardi said.

Councilman Bruce Geiger noted that the Rolling Rock road sewers did provide some aid in the storm by "relieving tremendous erosion" on the side of the mountain

EROSION WAS ALSO the subject brought before the board by a Poplar avenue resident.

Foul odor, pollution caused by solvent dumped in empty lot

A chemical solvent, apparently dumped near a parking lot drainage ditch behind an abandoned factory in Springfield, has been cited as the cause of pollution which produced foul odors in neighboring communities and killed hundreds of fish in the Rahway River last

The river was polluted through Kenilworth, Cranford and Rahway, but a spokesman for the Springfield Health Department said no problems occurred in this township. Most of the fish killed by the sticky colorless solvent, were found in the Kenilworth area; others downstream were stunned, but did not die.

The City of Rahway, which draws drinking water from the stream, switched to Elizabethtown Water Co. lines when the pollution was discovered early Friday morning. Thomas Schimmel, superintendent of the Rahway Water Department, said the pollution was dispersed by Saturday midnight, and the city once again began drawing from the stream.

Schimmel speculated that a tank truck driver for some reason emptied a large amount of the solvent into the vacant Springfield lot located next to 155 Rt. 22 E. It flowed into the ditch, and then into the river at the Kenilworth line When the source of the pollution was traced by Rahway authorities, members of the Springfield Fire Department flushed the drainage ditch with 18,000 gallons of water to dilute any remaining solvent and prevent a recurrance of the problem.

Although the pollution was not discovered until late in the week, Schimmel noted that "bad odors" from the waterway had been reported in the Kenilworth-Springfield area as early as Aug. 15. He said the dumping may have been deliberate and asked any witnesses to contact local police.

Arts, crafts display open for exhibition at Springfield pool

The patio at the Springfield Municipal Pool was the scene of a display of color in all shapes and forms as the exhibit of playground and swimpool arts and crafts got under way last week. Tie dyed shirts flapped in the breeze, collages and potato prints hung from the walls and papier mache animals, popsicle stick bird houses, clay molds, wood sculptures and seed mosaics were displayed.

Fred and Lena Brown and Betty and Bill Schmidt were recruited as judges. Medals were presented by Andrea Stein and Pat Cook, who under the direction of Ann Lisa, Recreation Department program coordinator, supervised the program this summer.

Camille Natalini won first place for a collage. Sandy Albert placed second for her popsiclestick birdhouse and Richard Spillane took third prize with his tie-dyed shirt.

The Union County Cultural and Heritage Commission, one of whose major functions is the preservation of historic homes in the county, now has a home of its own. The commission's headquarters will be located at Union College's Cranford campus, it was announced this week, by Mrs. Garrett M. Keating of Plainfield, chairman of the group.

The Cultural and Heritage Commission was established in 1971 by the Union County Board of Freeholders. Its nine members have the responsibility of supporting and coordinating cultural activites within the county and of preservinng the county's heritage. The com-mission is also coordinating all bicentennial activites within the county.

"We are extremely pleased that Union College has offered us a home," Mrs. Keating said. "We can think of no more appropriate setting for the Cultural and Heritgage Commission than the center of higher education in for future generations the rich heritage that is Union County's.

Report from Washington

CONGRESS AT/THE HALF-WAY POINT The August Congressional recess, in terms of the production of legislation, represents the best approximation of a halfway mark we have. It's an appropriate occasion, therefore, to review and evaluate the work of the past several months and look ahead to the key issues coming up. Making this assessment from my district office in Union, where I've spent most of my time since the recess began on Aug. 4, may add a useful perspective.

From the very beginning of this first session of the 93rd Congress, two themes have run through most of what we've been doing here: first, the effort to reassert the Constitutional equality of the legislative branch in determining national priorities; and, second, the equally compelling need for Congress to modernize, reform and otherwise equip itself to deal effectively with issues of great significance and complexity.

Applying these standards to our work thus far, I think it would be fair to say the record is mixed. But you, too, should judge for yourself.

Among the highlights of the first half of the first session were:

The compromise forced by a determined Congress setting a definite date (Aug. 15) for the termination of U.S. bombing in Cambodia and all U.S. military action in Indochina - the first time in the history of our involvement in the war in Southeast Asia that Congress acted decisively to end the fighting.

Passage of the Highway Act with its precedent setting provision allowing the use of Highway Trust Fund monies for mass transportation purposes.

House and Senate approval of differing versions of anti-impoundment legislation which establishes a ceiling on Congressional spen ding, requires notification of Congress whenever the President impounds funds appropriated by Congress, and provides a means for Congress to veto such impoundments: the two bills will have to be resolved when Congress returns and the final version faces an almost certain presidential veto.

Similar House-Senate passage of somewhat different War Powers bills which would limit the President's authority to commit U.S. forces, unilaterally, to combat situations abroad legislation which will also have to be resolved when Congress returns.

House defeat of a rather tricky little proposal which I strongly opposed and which would have had the irresponsible effect of allowing Congress to approve pay increases for itself without actually going on record and voting for

Although final action has not yet been completed on most appropriations bills, the record of Congress, especially the House, on spending proposals has been encouraging to date. With few exceptions, appropriations have been held at or near administration requests. Some marginal increases have been voted for domestic programs such as housing and health, but $1.5 billion was cut from the Administration's $22.4 billion request for military procurement bringing that item down to fiscal 1973 levels with an allowance for in-

In the area of public works spending, in-cluding funds for flood control and navigation, Congress did reasonably well by Union County, appropriating a total of $5.5 million which will assure continued progress of flood control studies in the Rahway River basin and the navigation channels serving Port Elizabeth. In the wake of the disastrous floods earlier this month in our area, however, I have again and most strongly - urged the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to assign the highest priority to their flood control activities in Union County, especially along the Rahway River and Green Brook, scene of some of the worst of recent year floods. I am encouraged to believe such a decision will shortly be announced. If this decision is made and if, as a result, the Corps of Engineers determines it can spend effectively more money than has been appropriated, I have pledged to do all in my power to obtain the extra funds through a supplemental appropriations bill. We simply cannot afford any unnecessary delays in getting flood protection facilities constructed and functioning.

Green Brook area, construction of flood protection facilities along the Elizabeth River and at the northern end of the Rahway River, and continued development of important

Congress has been busy on other fronts, too. Minimum wage legislation, raising the wage rate in stages and expanding coverage to several low-income groups, has been passed though it still faces a possible veto. The Law Enforcement Assistance Act has been strengthened and broadened with new emphasis on combatting juvenile delinquency. Public broadcasting has been given a two-year lease and added funds. And action on the controversial Alaskan Oil Pipeline bill has been all but_completed, though the legislation unfortunately weakens the needed environmental

In spite of numerous late-night sessions during the past few months, much of Congress' most vital legislative work remains to be done Fhe-wide-ranging-trade-revision-bill-is-still-incommittee. Tax reform proposals are also under study. Legislation regulating private pension plans, critically important to millions f working people, will soon be coming up for decision. The President's recommendations for comprehensive revisions, in the way the nation's financial institutions are regulated have just been received, and similar recommendations are expected in September covering Federal housing programs.

Other major legislation includes: community development, consumer credit protection, land use controls, aid to education, health programs, export controls, and many others including appropriations, war powers, and impoundment legislation.

Closer to home in terms of Congressional reform, the list is headed by Election Finance Reform legislation, one version of which was recently passed by the Senate. A big push is needed, too, for budget reform proposals which have seemed to lag recently but are absolutely necessary if Congress is serious about controlling spending and determining priorities. Work is progressing, but slowly, on the effort to restructure the jurisdiction and reform the operations of Congressional committees where the detailed work on legislation is ac-

This is, of course, only a partial review and Congressmen and Senators will be returning to Washington on Sept. 5, however, and if others' constituents are being as vocal as you are - and I welcome it – you'll see some action. And you deserve it, because the needs and problems facing the country won't just disappear unnoticed. We've got a big job to do.

demonstrated in the inclusion of a 'Union County Room' in the recently completed Union College Library. The Union County Room will house collections and memorabilia pertaining to the county."

Sharing the work of the commission with Mrs. Keating are: Dr. Homer J. Hall of Cranford, Dr. Myra Smith Kearse of Union, Mrs. Joseph Pate of Westfield, Perry W. Leib of Linden, Edward S. Ayers of Clark, Theodore L. Mayhew of Union, Zara Cohen of Elizabeth and William T. Inglish of Westfield. A professional director will soon be hired to assist in the operation of the commission

Among the projects the organization has undertaken have been the sponsorship of the Teen Arts Festival, the publication of "Vantage Points," a map of Union County on which is superimposed drawings of outstanding buildings in the county, and support of an effort to preserve a Revolutionary residence at 132 Pearl st., Elizabeth, The house, according to Mayhew, public relations chairman for the commission, is typical of middle class housing at the time of the Revolution. "Since so many of the homes that have been preserved have been large mansions, many Americans have a distorted view of how early settlers lived. The Pearl street house puts the housing picture in perspective," he explained.

Dear Grateful:

Straight life insurance (also called "ordinary") is one of the most-widely used types of insurance. You pay premiums throughout your lifetime, and the premium remains the same as you grow older because the policy is a mixture of an increasing savings element and a decreasing protection element. This type of insurance builds up a reserve through the years which gives your policy cash or loan values that can be drawn upon, if the need should arise. Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

MOUNTAINSIDE (N.J.) ECHO-Thursday, August 23, 1973-3 New UC program will help veterans continue education

> The Veterans' Education Assistance Program (VEAP) will be launched this fall at Union College's three campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield to meet the special needs of ex-servicemen and women who might want to continue their education.

"VEAP will help facilitate a veteran's entry into higher education," Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, Union College president, explained The program is flexible, allowing a vet to choose what help he needs. Very often, VEAP might just provide the confidence a person needs to return to the classroom after being away several years."

VEAP was designed by veterans and is staffed by veterans who are professional counselors and student assistants at Union College, Dr. Iversen said. The program concentrates on special placement testing, refresher sessions for study skills, peer counseling and tutorial services while the veteran is enrolled full- or part-time in credit courses or programs at Union College.

Through the placement tests, a veteran's interests and potential will be evaluated and he may be directed toward the appropriate courses, Dr. Iversen said. In the study skills sessions, tips on class preparation, studying for tests, writing research papers, and budgeting time will be among the topics covered. The peer counseling will enable a veteran to meet as often as he wants with another veteranstudent who understands his problems firsthand. Tutorial service is available for a veteran having problems with a particular

"The entire VEAP is geared to the in-dividual," Dr. Iversen emphasized. "A veteran can take it all or just what he feels he needs." Dr. Iversen said that Union College developed the tailormade program for veterans because the thought of college might make some of them uneasy about whether they could succeed "Through our statistics and experience, we have found that veterans outperform any other kind of student attending Union College," Dr Iversen stated. "Perhaps because of their maturity and motivation, veterans at Union College do better academically than other students, even if they had a bad educational experience in high school or college before entering the service." About 400 Vietnam-era veterans are presently enrolled at Union College, Dr. Iversen said. Alpha Sigma Mu, the veterans fraternity, coordinates an active program of service and social activities. For the past three years, the presidents of the Student Government Association have been ex-servicemen and veterans serve in major posts in all campus organizations at Union College.

"What this means is that many veterans have recognized the critical need for more education in order to compete in today's world and they have made the adjustment. Many others could do it, too," Dr. Iversen said. "That's why we have VEAP."

Additional information about the new Veterans' Educational Assistance Program may be obtained by contacting the coordinator of veterans affairs at Union College.

was about time he learned what was under the hood of a car. Especially after his wife got stuck with the same car the next day.

Eska, a claims adjustor for the Simmons Co., initially enrolled last spring in a "mini" auto maintenance course at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains. And this summer he and almost all of his classmates enrolled in Engine Tuneup Analysis class at UCTI, which meets for 45 hours of information and "hands on" experience.

Engine Tuneup is considered an "advanced" course in aulo mechanics but that didn't preclude six women from enrolling. They are also veterans of several auto repair courses at Union County Technical Institute.

To understand the extent of Eska's experience with cars or the lack of it, it must be mentioned that he arrived-at the first tuneum class with his own Chevelle approaching 45,000 miles and with the original spark plugs, points, and filters. During the course of the six-week summer class, he did an entire tuneup himself under the supervision of Herman Colodin of Middletown, auto mechanics instructor.

The car had never given me trouble and I only drive it back and forth to work so I didn't worry too much," Eska smiled. "But when I paid $148 for my wife's auto tuneup and then the car stalled anyway because the job wasn't done properly, I did worry. I had to go to a dealer to still get a vacuum advance and then have it installed by an auto mechanics teacher in Union High School because no one else could do Eska has seen quick and satisfactory results during his short term at Union County Technical Institute.

"A few weeks ago I was on the Long Island Expressway and a Chevy was stuck," he recalled. "I stopped and was able to fix the loose connection causing the trouble. The woman driving the car was so happy she wanted to pay me. But I was just glad to know what I was doing and be able to help her."

For Mrs. Stephanie Pytlar and Mrs. Carol Janukowicz, two sisters from Springfield, classes at UCTI are becoming "their night." Both women are enrolled in their third auto mecanics class and plan to take more courses.

'You just get tired of paying high prices for jobs that aren't done right," the two women explained.

William Kulp of Clark, a sheet metal mechanic, is also taking Engine Tuneup because he has two new cars and doesn't trust any local mecanics to go near them. Mrs. Nikki Brown of Colonia, an employee of Bell Telephone, who makes frequent trips to Virginia, finds that knowing how to change fan belts, fix a radiator, and use jumper cables puts both her and her husband's minds at ease vhen she's away.

"I've been having a tuneup done regularly on my car by the same mechanics for two years." said Mrs. Brown, "and when we looked under the hood during class recently, the teacher told me the original plugs and points were still in there. I've been charged for these items all this

Miss Pamela Gallo of Rahway, a sophomore at Ramapo State College, decided to take an auto mechanics course because she didn't want to appear a "helpless female." Her brothers didn't take her seriously until one of them was taking out the starter on his car and asked if he'd get an electric shock. She knew just how to

But the inexperienced are not the only people enrolled at UCTI this summer. Michael Schechner of Elizabeth, regularly enrolled in the mechanical technology program at the Institute, has been working on his own car for

"I'm here for practice," Mike said, "I wanted the transmission course but it wasn't being offered. I figured I wasn't doing anything anyway so I took Engine Tuneup. You can always use more experience." Enio Behrmann of Clark knew a lot of auto theory but had little practical experience. Through several mechanics courses he learned that "hands on" training is what it's all about at UCTI.

"The students always understand better if they're actually doing a job," explained Colodin. "And they're more motivated because they practice on their own cars.'

Wright applauds ICC action halting PATH fare increase

William Wright Jr., Democratic candidate for the State Senate in the 22nd District, this week applauded the recent action of the ICC in halting the fare increase of the PATH com-muter trains and commented on Gov. William T. Cahill's recent plea for federal assistance to save railroads.

Speaking about the PATH fare increase, Wright said, "I feel that the Cahill administration has failed the New Jersey commuter. Gov. Cahill had the opportunity to veto a who noted that the stream in that area has caused increased erosion during the past decade and now threatens to undermine at least one home in the area. She requested potential problems from this erosion be examined, something Ricciardi promised would be done, with a report on the study being presented "before the end of the year."

The illegal practice of some borough citizens of hooking sump pumps to sanitary sewer lines was brought before the governing body by a Charles street man, who reported he had flooding in his basement from those lines only. Ricciardi noted the borough has regulations against the practice, but said they were hard to enforce. He requested citizens to comply with the rules and to pump water outside, not into

Several residents raised questions about federal flood insurance, and a representative of the Continental Insurance Co. was present at the meeting to discuss the policies available.

The agent noted that the federally-subsized program, available from any licensed New Jersey broker or agent, allows homeowners to purchase up to $17,500 coverage on their buildings, and up to $5,000 on contents, under the emergency program initiated for the borough A 15-day waiting period is necessary before damages can be claimed.

The representative noted that, under the conditions of the program, only damages resulting from flooding-defined as "a general innundation of an area"-would be covered. This eliminates losses from water which seeps through walls, comes from backed up sewers, broken pipes, etc.

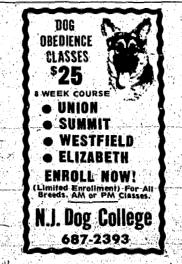

THE BOROUGH ITSELF is expected to apply for some $40,000 worth of federal disaster funds, and council also authorized an $12,000 emergency appropriation to cover work already done in the repair and clean-up operation following the recent storm.

Mayor Ricciardi noted he has been in touch with the Union County Board of Freeholders, but that the county "is inundated with requests for flood control." He also stated any project would have to consider neighboring towns. since work done up stream could have an adverse affect on others downstream.

On the monetary side, Geiger explained that engineers' estimates for correcting problems "just in the main areas of larger streams would be in the neighborhood of $4 million."

Although the flooding discussion took up a major portion of the session, council did consider other topics, Unanimous approval was given an ordinance prohibiting the use of borough tennis courts and the swimming pool by unauthorized persons. Borough Attorney

Wright also lauded the decision to delay the Aug. 14 hearing on the PATH fare increase, calling it a victory for the commuter. The candidate emphasized the importance of affording the public its right to expression in desicions such as these.

Addressing himself to Cahill's plea for federal assistance, Wright asserted that while federal funding is necessary to save New Jersey railroads and others across the nation, Cahill was acting on the "false premise" that the railroads would willingly accept Cahill's consolidation plan if such federal aid were forthcoming.

"The railroads have made no such promise," Wright said. "They have only agreed to hold further meetings to consider limited portions of Cahill's consolidation plan. Revitalizing New Jersey's railroads is necessary if we are to move toward a plan of effective and efficient mass transportation."

Wright further stated that the New Jersey commuter demands effective leadership in the area of improving mass transportation. "The commuter must not be content with the inac-tion and poor leadership that the present administration has consistently demonstrated,"

John Post explained the law was designed to "put more teeth into rules regulating the use of the facilities by non-residents." Those found violating the regulations may now be issued summonses as disorderly persons.

IN OTHER ACTION, council awarded a contract for the removal of snow and ice on borough streets during 1973-74 to Walter Heckel, Inc., who was the only bidder for the The pigeon infestation problem on Woodland avenue, which has created a public health hazard in the area, was again given attention, with the governing body voting unanimously to engage an exterminator, at a cost of $500 to the council, to remove the birds. The contract was awarded to Herman C. Meyer, trading as the Garden State Professional Pigeon Removers and Atlantic Bird Control, Point Pleasant.

Also brought before council was the subject of abortions reportedly being performed at Overlook Hospital, Summit, the hospital serving the borough. Frank DelliSanti, a member of the local Knights of Columbus chapter, acting as a representative of the Union County Right to Life Committee, presented a petition with an estimated 400-500 names of borough residents requesting that the community go on record as besing opposed to the hospital performing the abortions. The council was urged to write a letter to the facility stating that Mayor Ricciardi accepted the petition, but said the council would have to consider the question further before making any statement.

Rinaldo issues five-point plan on flood control

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R.-12) has announced a five-point program for speeding up construction of flood control facilities in Union County which he said could "short-cut traditional obstacles."

"I'll walk the extra mile whenever or wherever it will help," the Union County Congressman declared, "and I'll fight for every nickel—or every million—which is required in order to move these projects ahead if only by a day.'

if only by a day.

Rinaldo spoke last week at a meeting in Clark called by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to discuss alternative plans for flood control on the Robinson's Branch of the Rahway River and the Pumpkin Patch Brook.

"Over the past six or seven years, flooding in the Union County area has grown in frequency; in destructive force, and in cost," he said. "And: until flood control facilities are actually in place, the situation can only grow worse."

His five-point program is designed "to get-every ounce of available energy behind the effort to speed up flood control un Union-County." It includes:

- A decision by the Corps of Engineers to give "the highest priority possible" to flood control needs in Union County;

"'A project-by-project" review with Corps officials to see whether and when and how much added money could be spent effectively by the Corps on local projects this year; --Personal appeals to the President, his Office of Management and Budget, and House and Senate Appropriations Committees for whatever additional funds are needed; -- "Strenuous objection" to any Administration impoundment of flood control-funds for Union County "because past impoundments have had a delaying effect;" -- Opposition to National Water Commission

Recommendations on flood control which 'would cause further delay and impose higher. costs on local communities."

Rinaldo said, "What it all comes down to is money and determination. If we care about people, if we understand the suffering which has been brought to so many people and the death and destruction that has been caused by one flood after another, then we can and will generate the determination.

'The money might be harder to find. But find it we will—because in every way it's a sound and necessary investment. Every year's delay in any one of these flood control projects means more millions of dollars in higher costs and more millions in heavier losses. Common sense as well as compassion dictate that we move as far and as fast as we can."

Rinaldo issues five-point plan on flood control

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R.-12) has announced a five-point program for speeding up construction of flood control facilities in Union County which he said could "short-cut traditional obstacles."

'I'll walk the extra mile whenever or wherever it will help," the Union County Congressman declared, "and I'll fight for every nickel-or every million-which is required in order to move these projects ahead if only by a day.

Rinaldo spoke last week at a meeting in Clark called by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to discuss alternative plans for flood control on the Robinson's Branch of the Rahway River and the Pumpkin Patch Brook.

"Over the past six or seven years, flooding in the Union County area has grown in frequency, in destructive force, and in cost," he said. "And until flood control facilities are actually in place, the situation can only grow worse."

His five-point program is designed "to get every ounce of available energy behind the effort to speed up flood control un Union County." It includes:

and Senate Appropriations Committees for whatever additional funds are needed; - "Strenuous objection"

Administration impoundment of flood control funds for Union County "because past impoundments have had a delaying effect; - Opposition to National Water Commission

Recommendations on flood control which "would cause further delay and impose higher costs on local communities.

Rinaldo said, "What it all comes down to is money and determination. If we care about people, if we understand the suffering which has been brought to so many people and the death and destruction that has been caused by one flood after another, then we can and will generate the determination.

The money might be harder to find. But find it we will—because in every way it's a sound and necessary investment. The board of directors of The National State Bank, Elizabeth, has declared a cash dividend on the capital stock of 17 cents per share. The payment will be made on Sept. 17, to all stockholders of record Aug. 31.

STUDENT LOUNGE — Conversion of the former Union College library into a quiet student lounge at the Cranford campus marked the completion of a $5 million building program. The lounge, comfortably furnished for student reading or relaxation, includes private faculty and counseling offices as well. The building program also included construction of a $3 million Library, $1.5 million Humanities Building, and a 300-car parking lot adjacent to the Sperry Observatory.

"These weaknesses have been clearly evident in history classes," Dr. Robert Markoff, dean of arts, stated, adding, "The attrition rate has been alarming." He anticipates that HAP will not only reduce the number of failures, but will also help "D" and "C" evidents to the property of the control of the cont "C" students to improve their grades.

While HAP is designed primarily to help students improve those skills required to do well in a Western Civilization course, it is also expected to help students improve overall study skills.

Emphasis will be identifying major themes and historical concepts, reading and underlining textbooks, taking notes, correlating class lectures with the text, writing an historical essay and taking an objective test.

HAP will be a voluntary program and will be conducted at the three Union College campuses, in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield. croups of students will meet weekly with a Western Civilization instructor. No more than 25 students will be assigned to each group. Union College's role as the academic arm of Union County's Comprehensive Community College System has resulted in a student body

A History Assistance Program (HAP) will be covering a wide range of abilities and academic preparation, according to Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president.

'Serving the needs of all of our students." he said, "requires new and imaginative teaching techniques. The HAP program is one such technique. We anticipate that other innovations will be instituted to assist students to achieve their maximum potential, whether they be 'C' students or 'A' students."

UC turns library into a student lounge

Phase III of Union College's building program was completed this week with the opening of the new student lounge in the Nomahegan Building on the Cranford campus. Conversion of the former library into a quiet student lounge, faculty offices and Counseling Center marked the final step in the two-year building program, which included construction of the $3 million library, $1.5 million Humanities Building and 300-car parking lot adjacent to the Sperry Observatory.

'Nanook of North,' film on Eskimos, at Trailside Sunday

"Nanook of The North," filmed in the Hudson Bay Territory, will be shown at The Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center in the Watchung Reservation on Sunday.

The communal life of Eskimos and their struggle for existence are portrayed by this motion picture about Nanook, a hunter. The film will be presented at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

Also at Trailside, on Monday through Thursday, at 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, Trailside director, will present half-hour nature talks for children on "The Canada

A program, "The Big Bang," taking up various theories on the origin of the universe, is listed at the Trailside Planetarium on Sunday at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. It will be repeated on Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

As the Planetarium seats only 35 persons, tickets issued at the Trailside office are on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under eight years of age are not admitted.

Trailside program information is provided on 8410, which is available 24 hours a day.

The student lounge is fully air-conditioned, carpeted and furnished with upholstered chairs and sofas and modern side tables. It will provide a quiet area for students to relax between classes.

The project included construction of a 51,170 square-foot library and a Humanities Building of 26,000 square feet. The library provides space for more than 100,000 volumes and seating for more than 450 students. The building also includes an art gallery, a Union County Room, a board meeting room, an audio center, seminar rooms and study areas for faculty to do graduate work.

The classroom building, which has been named the Humanities Building, contains 17 classrooms, two lecture halls, faculty offices, seminar rooms and an audio-visual center.

Construction of the two buildings marks the completion of Phase II and III of Union College's five-stage master plan for the 50-acre Cranford campus. An expansion of the Campus Center and a community services building are the fourth and fifth components of the plan.

The 300-car parking lot has alleviated a previous parking shortage.

The library opened in the spring and work on the air-conditioned Humanities Building was completed during the summer. All of the new facilities will be ready for the opening of the 1973-74 academic year on Friday, Sept. 7.

Arts Festival will close with concert programs

The last two programs of the Union County Park Commission's Summer Arts Festival series will be held during the coming week at Echo Lake Park, Mountainside.

On Monday, at 8,30 p.m., the "Sweet Adelines" will be featured in concert, and on Wednesday, at 8:30 p.m., the Ocean County

String Band will present a program of music. Both shows will be held in the lower pavilion area of the park. Entrance to the area is from Mill road and Springfield avenue only, since bridges in the park were destroyed in the Aug. 2 storm. Spectators should bring lawn chairs or blankets for seating.

The Monday night program will be given by the "Lazy-Daisies" octette of the Madison Hill Chapter of the "Sweet Adelines." Their 'barbershop'' style singing has been featured in numerous performances in Union County and vicinity.

The Wednesday evening program will mark the repeat appearance of the Ocean County String Band, which was well received last year at the Summer Arts Festival. This band will bring to Echo Lake its Mummers' parade type of music, including "sing-along" tunes. The band, organized more than a dozen years ago in Island Heights, has grown to 77 members. The band has performed thoughout the Middle Atlantic states.

Rain date for each of the programs is the following night.

A Park Commission "events" telephone, 352-8410, will have up-to-date information on the programs for those in doubt as to whether weather conditions will permit the performances.

Union College will hold adult orientation tonight program for adults will be conducted at Union College this evening at 7 o'clock at the Sperry Observatory on the Cranford campus.

"Many adults would like to take college level courses or begin work on a college degree but are unsure of their ability succeed in a classroom after being away from school for a number of years. George P. Lynes, director of admissions, said in an-nouncing the "for adults adults only" program.

"Most of these fears," he continued, "can be allayed by an understanding of what is actually needed to succeed in college. And that's what this program is designed to do."

The college orientation program will include general information on educational opportunities available, admissions procedures, aptitude and interest tests on request and counseling.

Union College is a two-year institution serving as the academic arm of Union County's comprehensive community college system. In college orientation this role the college recognizes a commitment to serve the higher education needs of all residents at all age levels of the County, Dr. Kenneth W

Iversen, president, said.
Union College's concern for the county's population is also expressed in a new program to be offered for the first time in the fall. "Liberal Studies: Exploring Science and the Arts" is open only to adults who have been out of school for at least four years. It is designed to provide a broad spectrum of liberal studies, so that students may sample a variety of academic areas or concentrate in a single field No placement tests or Sat scores are required for ad-mission to the program.

Union College has also announced a new policy providing for free tuition for Il senior citizens. Adults interested in college level programs in any area and who have questions about how best to pursue these courses are invited to attend college orientation program. The program will be informal and refreshments

Bottom, Pa., is a former school teacher having started in a one-room country school in Lenox Township. Several years later she entered Bloomsburg Normal School, now Bloomsburg College, completed a three-year course and graduated in 1907.

After graduation she began teaching three grades in Uniondale, Pa., and later came to Springfield, which at that time had a population of 1,000; James Caldwell School was the only

In 1915, after teaching three years in Springfield, she married Herbert Chisholm, a widower with three children. In 1918 she and her husband moved to Pennsylvania and did not return to Springfield until 1943. The couple had two sons and two daughters.

Chisholm served as custodian for the Springfield Methodist Church until his death in 1957. Because Grandma had worked along with her husband she stayed on at the church as cleaning woman-a position that she still en-

Cantor will return to Young Israel for Holy Day services

Cantor Orrin Persky of Jerusalem has been engaged again this year to chant the principal High Holy Day services at Young Israel of Springfield, Sept. 26-28 and Oct. 5 and 6, it was announced by Dr. Leonard Strulowitz, president of the congregation. The services will be held at the Florence Gaudineer School S. Springfield ave. at Shunpike road. They will be conducted by Rabbi Israel E. Turner with English interpretation and readings and congregation participationg.

Cantor Persky, a native of Brooklyn, is a graduate of the Yeshivah of Flatbush and studied music in his home community for many years. He continued his musical and general education at Yale University from which he was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree.

He is continuing his studies at the Yeshivah of Diaspora, at the Hebrew University Law School, and the Rubin Academy of Music, all in Jerusalem. While at Yale, he sang a lead role in an opera produced by the Yale Symphony orchestra. He was a member of the Yale Whiffenpoofs, Class of 1970, and is believed to be the only member of that group to sing at all its concerts wearing a yarmelke.

He is a member and soloist of the Kol Israel Radio Chorus, the Israel Zamir Chorale, and the Rubin Academy of Music Chorale. He has sung a lead role in an opera produced by the Rubin Academy. He taught Hebrew music in Woodbridge, Connecticut, while attending Yale and serves as conductor of the choir at a girls' high school in Jerusalem.

All services of the congregation other than those for the High Holy Days are conducted at its synagogue, 339 Mountain ave., corner Shunpike road. Meetings and other activities are also held at the Mountain ave. address.

Daily morning minyan services are held weekdays at 7:15 a.m., Sundays at 8 and Saturdays at 9:30. Afternoon and evening services are held daily shortly before sundown.

The jobless rates for Vietnam era veterans 20 to 29 years of age and 30 to 34 years were 5.6 percent and 1.5 percent, respectively, both essentially unchanged from June, reports the U.S.-Labor Department. This marked the eleventh consecutive month that the unemployment rates for these veterans have not differed materially from those for nonveterans of the same ages.

However, for the youngest veterans - those 20 to 24 years of age — the unemployment rate declined to 8.4 percent in July, about the same as the levels prevailing this spring. The young veterans' rate remained somewhat higher than that of their nonveteran counterparts.

3 projects under way

Three construction projects currently under way in West Caldwell are adding 65,000 square feet of new office and industrial space to the suburban Essex community All three projects are slated for Nov. 1 completion and are being constructed by Murray Construction Co., Inc., Springfield.

A 25,000-square-foot building will provide Eltee Pulsitron with office, design, demonstration and manufacturing facilities. The company_is_a_producer_of_ electrical discharge machines used in mold and die manufacturing and in the -of machining exotic materials.

Pella Products, is gaining 15,487 square feet of warehouse space. The firm assembles, markets and distributed Pella windows

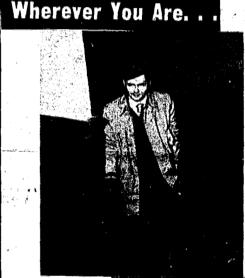

The third project is a 24,467square-foot speculation building that Murray Construction is erecting for rental purposes. Maurice M. Weill, president, said that the building has been designed primarily as an officemanufacturing-warehouse

All three facilities were designed by Rotwein & Blake, Associated Architects, Union.

Once viewed as an outsider, today the builder has become a vital link in the chain of community and civic affairs, and is often among the most concerned participants in

According to Henry Mayer, president of the Mayer Corp., one of New Jersey's largest residential builders and community developers, the change has come about because "both builder and municipality have begun to recognize that the problems inherent with creating orderly growth while simultaneously attempting to fill record housing demand require a new era of cooperation and understanding.

Closer cooperation, Mayer says, has in turn led to greater awareness of the builder's part of the multi-faceted needs of the community at large, and more specifically, those needs involving youth.

Using the Mayer Corp. as an example, Mayer observes that the typical building organization provides substantial economic support for local activities each year, and equally important time commitments to major civic affairs-particularly those concerned with youth ac-

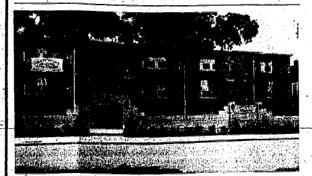

For the 'official state scholarship pageant to select Miss New Jersey for the Miss America Pageant, the Mayer Corp. was one of the two largest scholarship fund contributors. A total of $2,000 was donated by Mayer, which will provide for one $500 scholarship and 15 $100 scholarships to runners-up non-finalists. This pageant has, in recent years, contributed more than $6,000,000 in scholarship funds to worthy New Jersey students for higher and specialized education.

In the very recent past, Mayer has made sizable contributions to such youth activity groups as the Pop Warner Football League, the local bowling leagues (Mayer sponsors a team) and to such special events as a local Memorial Day Bike Parade sponsored by a local Homeowners Association.

Henry D. Mayer, whose Corporation is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Development Corporation of America. points out that "many of the contributions which building organizations such as ours make to local governments are often overlooked.'

For example, Mayer Corp. planning recognizes the growing municipal need for school sites and these sites are incorporated into each residential community master plan and donated to the municipality.

RECORDmended -BLUE MINK (MCA RECORDS 332). The five selections on the LP include: "Randy," "Another Withoug You Day," "By the Devil I Was Tempted," ("Harlem," and "Harmony"

Blue Mink was formed in 1969 at a recording session at Morgan studios in London.

Says drummer, Barry Morgan: "Alan Parker, Herbie Flowers, Roger Coulhan and myself had known each other for ages. We kept being booked together as session men to form the rhythm section on various recording projects. At one such session, we started talking about the possibilities of forming a group for this sole purpose and realized that it could be very advantageous to all concerned to book musicians who'd had extensive ex-perience of playing together in this way for this type of work. I didn't really known if our original intention would materialize into anything more, and I didn't think we wanted to get out on the road to play engagements, but when someone suggested we record an album, we all jumped at the chance.

'So we started laying down several tracks for possible inclusion on the LP-it was nothing spectacular and it was soon very apparent that no matter how good the music was, we weren't going to set the world on fire simply because we lacked the necessary vocal power. Anyway, we decided to ask Roger Cook and Madeline Bell to help us out with selected vocal tracks, and before we knew what was happening, Blue Mink was formed. And we've really progressed

From the group's first complete recording session, Blue Mink recorded a song called "Melting Pot", written by Rober Cook, which took the British Hit Parade by storm and eventually reached the number two slot in the

"The success of 'Melting Pot' determined us to stay together", says bassman Herbie Flowers. "I don't know what would have happened had the record failed to register, but even then we weren't really committed to the band. We just came together for the odd record.

"However, after we'd scored again with 'Good Morning Freedom', 'Our World', 'Banner Man' — which again reached number two in the British Top Ten—and 'Stay with Me, I realized that we had all the potential to become a 'monster' group. Yet we were still so badly organized and that potential wasn't being directed in the right way, that something just had to be done! We needed to pull the whole group together and decide which way to go. 'So I called the group together and

'Scarecrow,' 'Rage' offered on Elmora Theater screen

Gene Hackman, who won the Academy Award for best actor ("The French Con-nection") and Al Pacino, Oscar-nominee ("The Goldfather") portray two drifters crossing the country to find a happier life in "Scarecrow," Warner Brothers' film release, which arrived at the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth, yesterday. The associate feature is 'Rage," starring George C.

Hackman plays Max, the tough brawler who follows the dream of one day owning his own car wash place, and as he starts on his strange cruise across America, he is accompanied by another drifter

GENE HACKMAN called Lion (Pacino). The pair and comedic misadventures go from California to Reno and Denver to Detroit, hoping to find a fresh life. The journey is by freight train, open trucks and just walking.

Jerry Schatzberg directed "Scarecrow," from original screenplay written by Garry Michael White, who won the Samuel Goldwyn

'No, No, Nanette, 'Midsummer' set for Mill's season

Frank Carrington, producer at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, has announced the opening of the fall season. He has reported that subscriptions are now being accepted.
"No, No, Nanette," hit Broadway musical revival by Otto Harbach and Vincent Youngman, will open on Tuesday, Sept. 18. The show, which features such songs as "Tea For Two," "I Want to be Happy," and the title song, will be on stage for eight weeks until Nov 11 Performances for the production, which will be directed by John Lowe, who is Ruby Keeler's son (she originated the role on Broadway in the recent revival), will be on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 5 and 9:30 p.m., Thursday matinee at 2 and Sunday evening at 7:30.

The second in a two-play fall season will be the Paper Mill's production of the William Shakespeare comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will open on Wednesday, Nov. 14 and will run for four weeks until Dec. 9. Carrington plans to direct the play himself.

He also has announced that "because of its appeal to children," the Paper Mill's schedule "Dream" will be Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.; Sunday at 7:30 p.m., Thursday matinee at 2 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday matinees at 3.

Adventure dramas screened at Park

The Park Theater in Roselle Park is showing a double feature this week: "The Neptune Factor" and "When the Legends Die."

"The Neptune Factor," a 20th Century-Fox motion picture release, stars Ernest Borgnine and Ben Gazzara, and concerns an ocean laboratory which disappears into the depths of the North Atlantic after an undersea earthquake. A rescue crew is sent to look for it. The picture, in color, was directed by Daniel

Jerry Lewis, Barbara Eden headline Arts Center show

Multi-talented Jerry Lewis and Barbara Eden are appearing on the Garden State Arts Center stage tonight through Saturday. For Jerry, it is his first home-state public appearance in many years. For Barbara, it is her first ever in New Jersey.

Lewis comes back to New Jersey far more famous and versatile than when he headed to Hollywood as a comedian and sidekick of singer Dean Martin, whom he met as a youngster in the Atlantic City entertainment whirl. After attaining fame as a funnyman, Jerry went on to win cheers as an all-around performer, with a serious side to augment his talents as a comedian.

As a singer, Jerry has produced several albums under the Decca label. As national chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, he has endeared himself to many for his annual fund-raising telethon.

Like Lewis, Barbara Eden has proved she is a talented, versatile entertainer. While

Classes on tapes offered to students by Essex college

William A. Curran, an Essex County resident with family responsibilities and a conscientious employee of United Airlines, is beginning a college education at home.

Curran is the first of many students who will benefit from Essex County College's recentlyinitiated Independent Study Program designed specifically for the self-motivated individual who seeks either job advancement or self-improvement for college credit.

The program is aimed at those students, who for various reasons, cannot attend college classes. The courses are developed and taught by ECC faculty through the use of cassette recorders. Students also utilize a "media kit" comprised of a study guide manual including a list of required texts, materials and assignments, and 10 to 12 cassette tapes acquired upon course registration.

A student may register for an independent study course at any time. During the six months in which a student has to complete a course, he is offered complete flexibility as to study schedule and work habits. Each assignment, after completion, is mailed to the instructor for evaluation. Assignments are promptly corrected and returned along with corrections, comments and answers to any questions submitted

At the present time, a student cannot obtain an associate degree through the Independent Study Program alone. Nevertheless, credits acquired through independent study can be applied towards a degree. Those enrolled in the program may register for a maximum of six credits per semester.

Charles Lovallo, coordinator of the Independent Study Program, notes that "correspondence between student and instructor will be maintained by appointments and or other viable means. The program is totally flexible in that if students find it necessary to meet more frequently, seminar classes can be organized to discuss any problems the coursework may present."

Most independent study courses require a final examination which is requested by the student after he has satisfactorily completed the course assignments as indicated in the study guide manual. Examinations are administered at Essex County College, as well as at other locations throughout the county.

Gypsy moth damage up but population levels off

Leaf feeding damage caused by the gypsy moth increased again this spring, according to a recently completed aerial defolitation survey conducted by John D. Kegg, entomologist with the New Jersey Department of Agriculture. Forested acres attacked by the gypsy moth caterpillars increased from 226,140 acres last year to 254,865 acres at present, or a net increase of 13 percent. This is the smallest net increase in defoliation levels since the pest started damaging New Jersey woodlands in the

This indicates that the gypsy moth population may be leveling off as a result of the Depart-ment's utilization of biological and chemical control agents. Kegg said: "although total acreage is up, the woodlands sustaining 60 to 100 percent defoliation have dropped sharply. Last year 104,775 acres were severely defoliated whereas this year severe defoliation dropped to 58,545 acres. This represents a net decrease in severe defoliation levels of 44

Kegg further said that "the significance o this decrease is that trees severely defoliated are the ones most vulnerable to loss whereas trees with light or moderate damage can usually recover with minimal adverse effects. This year moderate (30 to 60 percent) damage occurred on 140,580 acres and light (less than 30 percent) occurred on 55,740 acres. With the present biological and chemical control agents available today, there is no hope of eradicating the gypsy moth from New Jersey. However, if the Department can reduce the intensity of attack by using natural enemies of the pest and, at the same time, protect our most valued residential and recreational woodlands by utilizing chemical sprays judiciously, we may eventually be able to tolerate this foreign in-

An unfortunate consequence of the whole gypsy moth problem is that many municipalities fail to heed Department warnings of imminent spring invasions of caterpillars as forecasted from the winter egg mass surveys and many residential communities which are qualified for State and Federal assistance go unprotected. Last spring 51 of the 143 municipalities threatened with defoliation decided to participate in the 1973 gypsy moth

New northbound lanes open for Pike users in Middlesex

Three new northbound lanes have been opened as part of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority's $125.5-million construction program to widen the toll road from six to 12 lanes between Middlesex County Interchanges 10 in Edison and 9 in New Brunswick.

The original northbound lanes, built in 1951, were closed last week and traffic switched over to a new three-lane stretch between the Raritan

River and Interchange 10. Similar changes in the flow of traffic in both directions through the East Brunswick portion of the program took place in June, with a similar changeover of southbound traffic through the Edison area set for later this

The next phase calls for resurfacing the older lanes north of the Raritan River and lowering by an average of nine feet the original roadway between Lawrence Brook and the Rte. 18 bridge in East Brunswick.

On completion of the widening this fall, motorists will be able to travel an uninterrupted 25-mile stretch of 12-lanes from East Brunswick to Newark, where the Turnpike divides into separate six-lane easterly and westerly alignments through the Hackensack

Bank

At First National State Bank the red carpet is out for Very Important People We're especially partial to capable secretaries and we show our regard in a dozen different ways . . . a handsome salary and a chance to earn more in higher positions, interesting assignments, grand people to work with. Won't you let us treat you like the VIP you are?

Savings and Commercial Tellers—is your experience adding up to the career you deserve? If you're doubtful about your chances to move ahead, consider what we have to offer. An excellent salary and a wide horizon for future growth. You're a VERY IMPORTANT PERSON is our reckoning and we view your career with us in that light.

Housewives, retirees-you're high on our list of VIPs. If you can spare some time for us as a part-time teller or clerktypist, you can pick you own hours. Some openings are in offices that may be minutes from your house. Try us. Your earnings will be excellent. Our benefits are on a VIP scale, too-weeks-long vacations,

Area hospital expands service to out-patients

Memorial General Hospital, Union, added a new dimension to its community service this week by expanding its out-patient services to all area physicians.

"Extensive additions of highly-sophisticated automated equipment in our ancillary service areas has enabled us to expand out-patient services to the community by making them available to all area physicians," said Murray J. Rubin, executive director of Memorial General.

A directory of out-patient services is being mailed to all licensed physicians in the com-munities serviced by the hospital. These include all communities in Union County and the Essex County municipalities of Maplewood, Millburn and Irvington.

Drew trustees selected

Charles Sayre, the senior minister of the Haddonfield United Methodist Church, and Edward Campbell, a senior economist at the Bankers Trust Co., New York, have been elected to Drew University's board of trustees by their fellow alumni

"By expanding out-patient services," Rubin "the hospital becomes even more an integral part of the health care picture for allresidents of the communities it serves. All area physicians will now have the opportunity to make immediate and convenient use of the various out-patient services available at Memorial Géneral."
