Board's four-hour session spans fuel oil to falling tiles

In a marathon session that lasted a little over four hours, the Mountainside Board of Education Tuesday night discussed and acted on a number of topics ranging from measures to conserve fuel oil to a study of a program for gifted children, acceptance of a fact-finder's report in contract negotiations, to falling ceiling liles in classrooms

An audience of about 50 citizens was on hand for the meeting at the Deerfield School, but by the time board president Grant Lennox's gavel signaled adjournment of the session at 12:07 a.m., only a handful remained.

The session began with a report by board secretary John McDonough on the state of fuel supplies for the school system. The board still has been unable to obtain a contract from a fuel supplier, he explained, but the buildings will be kept heated for at least another six weeks since he had negotiated a delivery this week from Dean Oil Co. of Fanwood to fill the schools' oil McDonough said another emergency delivery would be sought when the tanks again got down to the half-full level, and in the meantime he would be in touch with last year's supplier. Wellin Fuel of Jersey City, to see if it will provide fuel. The board has been unable to negotiate a contract with Wellin this year.

If further problems arise, McDonough noted, he would contact federal authorities to put pressure on Wellin. "In theory, since they had a contract to supply us last year, Wellin should have received the same allocation to supply us this year," he explained.

McDonough also said that if the tanks get within the two-week supply level, he could contact an office set up by the State Department of Education. They can guarantee we get an emergency oil supply from the 10 percent reserve all oil distributors must mainlain,'' he said.

Recycling date Saturday only

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly recycling drive Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Echo Plaza Shopping Center along Mountain avenue at the Springfield-Mountainside line. The drive will accept aluminum cans as well as paper, tied in bundles, and glass, which must be sorted and have all metal

The Key Clubbers urged all local residents not to leave material when the recycling center is closed, since the resultant litter has brought a warning from the Board of Health that the center may have to be eliminated

Community Fund draws $$ by mail

Ray McLeod, chairman of the Mountainside Community Fund, stated this week that the early mail returns were "gratifying in both numbers and amounts contributed." He thanked "all who have already mailed in their donations. Each mailing means one less home out of the 2,400 in our community which have to be contacted by our volunteers."

McLeod said that returns by mail would "help immeasurably to reduce the work of volunteers who will be personally contacting all those who have not responded previously by mail. With the every-home canvass coming up, additional volunteers will be needed to assist the chairman representing various areas in Mountainside.

"Request for volunteers and funds will again reflect the true community spirit so necessary for success in a fund drive of this type: 'A Good Place to Live, a Good Place to Give.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Levin B. Hanigan noted a directive had been issued to lock all classroom thermostats at 68 degrees during the day, and at 65 degrees at night, "The custodial staff also has been checking the insulation and operating efficiency of the plant to insure conservation of fuel," he noted.

At Hanigan's suggestion, the board voted to close all borough schools today and tomorrow. the days of the NJEA convention in Atlantic City, an additional measure to save energy

The closing affects teachers and secretaries only, since the children already had been given days off. The decision included the guarantee that the personnel affected would perform the work they had been planning to do

Also in Hanigan's report to the board was a proposal for action on a program designed for "superior, talented or gifted children," those of (Continued on page 8)

Citizen unit to evaluate Dayton educational goals

"A special community committee of 60 Springfield and Mountainside residents will be formed to evaluate educational goals for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School," it was announced by Alan Isacson, the Regional District's assistant to the superintendent for public information. Isacson explained that the Regional Board of Education is interested in obtaining community opinion on the educational directions and current programs of the four Regional high schools. To achieve this information, a special community committee will be set up for each Regional educational center.

The Dayton Regional community committee will be composed of Mountainside and Springfield registered voters who will be selected by a random sampling-every registered voter in Springfield and Mountainside will have an equal chance to be selected for committee membership.

The process should give a true cross-section of the two communities served by Dayton Regional. Persons on the Dayton Regional community committee will reflect the varied ages (18 and older), sex, income, ethnic backgrounds, political tendencies and occupations which characterize the Springfield and Mountainside communities.

"A joint statement was issued this week by the Democratic Party candidates for Mountainside Borough council and tax collector in the recent elections: Frank Gagliano, Albert D'Amanda and Steve Sussko.

"We wish to thank everybody who worked for our candidacy and especially the voters who supported us. Although we were not victorious we are mindful of the fact that 44 percent of the yoters in Mountainside supported our platform. We wish to assure them that their views will continue to be made known to the mayor, borough councilmen and other boards and commissions in the community. In reference to Mayor (Thomas) Ricciardi's published statement made at the GOP victory party, the integrity of the winning candidates remains to be demonstrated by their actions on the coming

"We will do all in our power as 'watchdors' to make sure that the winning candidates and their Republican colleagues carry out their campaign promises to show concern for the taxpayer's dollar and fiscal responsibility.

"In this latter regard, we would urge the Republican administration and the new councilmen to give serious consideration to the use of a voter referendum before making substantial expenditures for new municipal

H. Russ Cardoni, Democratic municipal chairman, echoed the sentiments of the candidates and also thanked the voters of Mountainside for their support. He noted that "because of the excellent cooperation of all campaign workers, the Democratic Party was able to win in Districts 7, 8 and 9 and closed the gap in the majority of the remaining seven

Crime index in Mountainside decreased by 3 during 1972

The 1972 crime index for the Borough of Mountainside, according to figures released recently in the annual Uniform Crime Reports for New Jersey, prepared by the office of the state attorney general of the State Police, has decreased from 209 in 1971 to 206.

According to the report, the index includes the total of murders, rapes, robberies, larcenies of $50 and over, atrocious assaults. break and entries and auto thefts. In the 1972 tally for the borough, there were no crimes reported in the first three categories, but the fourth, larceny, had 98. This figure includes 78 thefts of between $50 and $200, and 20 of $200

Three atrocious assaults, all by guns, were counted in Mountainside during 1972, and there was a total of 75 break and entries, including 45 forced entries, 16 with no force and 14 attempted forced entries. Thirty auto thefts were reported during the year.

The crime survey also listed figures of other offenses which are not used to compute the crime index. These include non-atrocious assaults, of which there were seven, and larcenies under $50, where 51 were listed. That brings the larceny total to 149, making it the most frequent crime in the borough in 1972.

The index is used to compute the community's crime rate, which relates the incidence of crime to the resident population. For comparative purposes, all crime rates are based on population units of 100,000, and are calculated by dividing the current population by the crime index. Mountainside, with a 1972 estimated population of 7,545, had a crime rate of 2,730.3, down from the 2,770.0 in 1971.

Elizabethtown Gas cuts power, lights, heat at main office

Use of heat, power and lighting at the Elizabethtown Gas Company main office building in Elizabeth has been reduced as part of the company's effort to conserve energy. Heating thermostats will be lowered to 68 degrees during the day and to 62 at night; lighting will be reduced and the use of power

The building generates all its power requirements; a "total energy" system uses natural gas turbines to generate electricity. The savings in gas will amount to 50,000 cubic feet a day, enough to heat two average-size nomes for an entire winter month. John Kean, president of Elizabethtown Gas, said the energy situation is serious enough to require everyone's full cooperation. The exterior Christmas lighting on the building, which in the past years drew compliments from many residents, will be discontinued and night lighting in the building will be curtailed except in those departments which operate 24 hours a day.

One of the eight-story building's two elevators will be shut daily from 5:05 to 8 a.m. 'It is also possible that if we have a period of extremely cold weather the company will find it necessary to conserve its own gas usage to the point where all elevator service will be temporarily discontinued and a brown-out condition will be imposed on all lighting so we can use the gas saved for our customers' needs," Kean declared.

Other facilities in the company's service area will also take "all practical measures" to conserve energy, Kean said. "We are doing everything we can to find additional supplies of gas to meet our customers' needs."

It's Herean oven that cleans itself!

Oven eleaning--or happily, the opportunity to eliminate it-is now a reality. Ovens that cope with their own cleaning are modern answers for all who hate cleaning greasy, splattered ovens. Range manufacturers listened well to consumers when they developed a way to erase this dismal chore. A continuous cleaning oven has a specially treated porcelain enamel coating on the oven surfaces. The oven soil is gradually reduced during normal baking or roasting operations. A separate cleaning eycle is not required since the action takes place simultaneously with normal oven use which saves on time and fuel. A continuous cleaning oven system will handle most spills automatically. Some spots deposited at the end of a cooking period may still be visible when the food is removed, however, they will gradually disappear in subsequent oven use. Used according to directions, the oven will be kept presentably clean at all times. Certain types of cooking. like much roasting of fatty foods, can deposit soil faster than it can be cleaned. Heavy spillovers and splatters should be wiped up as soon as possible after the oven is cool. You will quickly agree this beats the old rub and scrub routine. When oven cleaning is this easy, we can return to the joy of preparing all kinds

Visiting Nurse unit gets accreditation from national group

The Visiting Nurse and Health Services announced this week that it has received a accreditation from the National League for Nursing, Inc., a service which is co-sponsored by the American Public Health Association. "This is a voluntary evaluation," said Mrs. James C. Kellogg 3rd, president of the Visiting Nurse board of directors. "We applied for it to demonstrate that all our various services meet national standards for quality care."

To earn national accreditation, the agency made a long series of appraisals of all its services, which include nursing care, physical and speech therapy, nutrition and mental-health counseling. Also surveyed were all other phases of operation: management, organization, finances and community relations. A report was submitted to the National League's community nursing service committee in March.

In June, league representatives visited the agency to verify the information submitted and really need so much patience because just when you're ready to give up, a child will respond to you. All of a sudden, something clicks, and you know what you've been doing has worked." Ferrere feels that the love given to the patients at Children's Specialized by the staff is "half the therapy." He said, "These children need a lot of love and care. They need someone

A love for children brought Jack Ferrere out of retirement and has created a second career for him at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

Since Ferrere is the only man, aside from the doctors, that many of the children see on a daily basis, he has become a sort of father substitute for many of them.

"With the older boys, I talk sports all the time," he explained. "It's good for them to have a man to throw a ball around with and talk about the latest games. All children look for a father image, and maybe that's what attracts them to me." He added, "I can't help feeling that every child belongs to me.' Although Ferrere knows each patient's name and always has a question for them about their interests, he takes a humble attitude toward his work. "I don't do anything special," he said. "After so many years of life, you sometimes get to feel you've done a lot of good, but when you see how much love these children need and how much more needs to be given, you realize you haven't done anything at all.

Happiness was getting dressed up and going out with THE girl or guy of your life. Things haven't really changed over the past 50 years except that young people today plan their futures a bit more carefully than their counterparts in the 20's. As the cross-country season eranks to a close, Springfield senior Kathi Spielholz also runs with Dayton's varsity squad the only girl on the 24-"man" squad. At 4-10 and 92 pounds, she is in excellent shape to endure the long distance running which constitutes cross country.

Kathi started running as a sophomore, inspired by the desire to discover how much endurance she really had. Having joined the team last year, she built herself up for the 212 mile run. Kathi believes she ran better last year, placing behind the fifth ատատատաան By Margo Krasnoffա She runs four miles in the man of the other team, while this year she finishes after three-quarters of the contestants.

She attributes this to the lengthening of the course to three miles, which she usually covers in less than 20 minutes;

her best time was 17:30. She runs faster against girls than against boys, because, she said, "it's more humiliating to lose against a girl than against a boy."

Kathi is sensitive to the abuse showered upon her because she is a female and a runner. In away meets, officials direct her to male locker rooms and when she proudly states that she is a girl, they stare with disbelief. Kathi resents this treatment and would like to see people accepted as individuals.

Rejecting the dogma of Women's Lib, she said, "Each person should be free to determine his actions and be respected for his decisions and not be ostracized because he does not conform with what people expect from him."

Kathi finds equal treatment from her coach, Martin Taglienti, and admires him for considering her an equal member of his team. Kathi works out as vigorously as the others and wants to run the best she can, for personal satisfaction and to add to a team victory.

She regards herself as an equal of her twin brother, Alan, soccer team captain. Her involvement in running has improved their relation as they practice together.

His success in soccer prompted her to excel in athletics; Kathi pursued running as a sport in which she could prove herself as an individual.

Although running can be lonely, Kathi enjoys it as a physical workout, a way to sweat out her frustrations. A sincere and dedicated athlete. she psyches herself up to confront the men who oppose her and those who compete

Booters finish at 5-9-1; prospects for '74 bright

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School occer team finished its 1973 schedule with a -9-1 record — a great improvement over last ear's 2-13 performance. Prospects for next season are bright since almost half the varsity will return.

The Bulldogs, coached by John Esposito, beat Madison and West Orange twice each, New Providence once. Dayton twice shut out Madison, 2-0, with Sam Wright and Norm Schindler sharing the goaltending duties.

3 karate students receive promotion

Three area karate students have received promotions from the Isshin Kempo Association of Summit. Daniel Marianino of 300 Milltown rd., Springfield, was promoted to the grade of first degree black belt. He became a student at the school in September 1972.

Dayton beat West Orange 5-1 at home and 2-1 on the road and won at New Providence, 2-1.

The Bulldogs leading scorer was Paul Cristo, with seven goals. Co-captain Al Spielholz led the squad with eight assists.

BY BILL WILD

The Elizabeth SC Lancers chalked up two victories this past weekend. On Friday night they defeated FC Hoboken, 5-1, at the indoor tournament in Paterson. The Lancers have been playing in the Schaefer Indoor Tournament the past few years and have been doing well in it. Most of the clubs in the tourney are from the Paterson area and the Schaefer League, but sprinkled with a few clubs from the German-American Football Association to make it interesting. The tournament will continue tomorrow night at 7:30 and you will see every team in the loop play one game.

Elizabeth SC turned a 3-1 deficit into a 6-4 victory on Sunday in an exhibition game the highly improved New York Ukrainians It looked as if the Ukes were going to run away with the match until the Elizabeth forward line started to click. Outside left Ed Jijon shot two goals and set up two more. Mario Gonzales played his normal strong defensive game and veteran Norbert Vollmer directed the midfield play.

This Sunday is position day and Elizabeth SC, which is in first place in the Southern Division, will meet the second-place team in the Northern Division. Inter and the Greek-Americans are tied for first place in the Northern Division but Inter has a much better goal average, so I think it will be the Elizabeth Lancers vs. the Greek-Americans this Sunday at 2:30 at the Grove,

The senior team was not the only Lancer team that won two games over the weekend. The mighty midgets shut out Oceanside, L.I., in an away game on Saturday. On Sunday this same team downed the Wyckoff Allstars, 8-1, Someone once said, "The best defense is a good offense." This is true with the mighty midgets.

The Lancer's goalie figured in only three plays in the combined Saturday and Sunday games. We had one frozen boy at our house on Sunday night after the game. My son Chris now has one scoreless tie and four shutouts to his credit, with hardly any balls coming his way.

Unionite John O'Donnell and his coaching staff should be commended for this record. These boys play on a regulation field and they had to be in good shape to play two games such as the ones they just did.

Harriers defeat Verona; finish

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team last week won a dual meet against Verona, 28-31, and finished ninth in the state sectionals. To compete in the state finals, Dayton would have had to finish in the top five,

The victory over Verona boosted Dayton's dual-meet record to 13-5. Skip Moore, Dayton's highest finisher against Verona, came in second. The Bulldogs' Tom Moore finished fifth, Joe Campanelli sixth, Tom Lovett seventh, and Bill Bjorstad eighth to provide the margin of victory.

Bjorstad was the Bulldogs' top finisher in the sectionals, coming in 35th. Skip Moore placed 37th and Campanelli 54th; Lovett and Jeff Goldstein finished in the sixties.

Coach Martin Taglienti noted his disappointment in the Bulldogs' showing in the sectionals as well as in their dual meet record. Both could have been better, but injuries to key runners kept the team at less than full strength all year.

The indoor track season will start in a few weeks. The tentative schedule includes five dual meets, the county relays, a state relays and the Group II championship meet with the

Freshman booters complete season with 5-5-2 mark

The 1973 Jonathan Dayton Regional High School freshman soccer team finished with a 5 5-2 record under coach John Swedish. The victories came against New Providence (1-0 and 4-0), Caldwell (3-1) and Verona (1-0 and 2-1). Verona, the league leader in the frosh loop, lost only to Dayton.

Summit and West Orange held Dayton to 0-0 ties; the defeats came at the hands of Millburn (4-1 and 2-10, West Orange (1-0 on a penalty kick), Caldwell (2-1) and Summit (3-0),

The Bulldog defense—anchored by goalie Sid Kaufman, fullbacks Matt Ross, Glenn Ames and Stuart Manoff, and halfbacks John King. Alan Layton, Gerry Toepher, Brian Wasko and Rich Kaplan—shut out the opposition five times while allowing 14 goals.

The offensive unit scored 14 goals. Barry Steel had five, Ed McCane four; Rich Kaplan (who played offense and defense) three, and Gerry Toepher and Mike Sternbach one each.

Last year's freshman booters posted a 5-4-3 record under coach Swedish.

THE PIZZA BOWL soccer contest held Saturday between the Golden Days and Blue Knights ended in a 1-1 tie. The game was a reward for the fine effort and record of the

Widom, Pepe, Scoppettuollo 9th in sectional lead Dayton's 24-14 victory

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team snapped a four-game losing streak last Saturday in explosive fashion, defeating New Providence, 24-14, at Meisel Field. The victory put Dayton at the .500 mark for the season with a 4-4 overall record, 2-4 in the Suburban Conference. A victory in the Thanksgiving Day game at West Orange would give Dayton its first winning season in many

Despite the relatively close final score Dayton was easily the better team on the field, marching to a 24-0 lead after three quarters. Carmen Scoppettuollo, in his first start at quarterback, engineered a scoring drive in the first period. Using the running of Bruce Heide, Gavin Widom and Bill Palazzi, Dayton moved steadily down the field The big play was a 30-yard sweep of left end by Widom, whose two-yard touchdown run marked the first time since the third game of the season that Dayton scored before its opposition.

Dayton almost had two touchdowns in the second period but one was called back. Scoppetuollo passed to Palazzi in the end zone but an official called the play back due to an infraction at the line of scrimmage.

Several plays later, Joe Pepe kicked a 23-yard field goal.

Hurricanes enter final week on top of DIPPER standings

The Blue Hurricanes stormed into un-disputed first place in the American League early morning Dayton Intramural Program Physical Education Recreation basketball program by defeating the Green Grants, 50-28. and the White Fangs, 44-39, in the sixth week of DIPPER play last week.

The final rounds of play will be held this In other games, White Fangs posted a 62-35

The Hurricanes (9-2) clinched first place by edging the Fangs in a closely contested game behind the scoring of Andy Herkalo (14), Brian McNanny (9), Carmen Appicella (7), Brian Burke (7), and Peter Jacques (7). #### Rinaldo applauds increased benefits for social security

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12 Dist.-N.J.) yesterday hailed action by the House Ways and Means Committee that will pave the way for an 11 percent increase in Social Security benefits over the next eight months.

The House panel last week voted to raise benefits seven percent in April and another four percent in July.

"Although I had hoped that this type of increase would be made available immediately because of the urgent: need for such a boost, am pleased that the Ways and Means Committee has taken some positive action to ease the cost of living crunch being felt by our senior citizens," Rinaldo said. The Union County Republican noted that an earlier Ways and Means Committee proposal would have held off the increase until July, when benefits would have gone up by 10 per-cent. "However, the cost of living has been rising so rapidly that the committee members recognized that it would be unfair to force social security recipients to wait until July for some relief," Rinaldo explained. The Senate Finance Committee has already approved a seven percent benefit increase effective immediately. Rinaldo has also sponsored legislation to put the seven percent boost into effect right away.

Last June, Congress approved a 5.9 percent boost in payments that would become effective next July. Since then, the rising cost of living has prompted Rinalclo and a number of other congressmen to press for faster im-plementation of the increase in benefits.

The Union County Congressman noted that ne had worked extensively with members of the Ways and Means Committee in pushing for an fort, and I never heard 'America' sung with audience participation and slides."

'Livability' called key point in selecting a leisure home

communities are discovering that success in this type of venture depends upon a subtle ingredient that may not have figured in their original plans. It's the quality of "livability" that some of these new communities have and others

"Livability is difficult to define," according to Lou and John Larsen, developers of Big Bass Lake in the Poconos. "It depends partly on the aesthetics of the community, on scenic surroundings, neat homes and well-kept roads. It depends to some extent on the location of the community in an area with good shopping, social services and public recreational facilities nearby. It's affected by the quality of private recreational facilities on the property itself." But most of all, the Larsens believe, livability springs from the character of the people who choose the community as the site for their second or leisure home.

To illustrate what they mean, the developers note that social activity has already become one of the important attractions at Big Bass Lake-on an equal footing at least with fishing and boating on the lake, swimming in the indoor pool. enjoying the Big Bass ski slopes and woodland trails. and so on. The Halloween party_in the Big Bass Recreation Center drew some 200 enthusiastic guestshomes and homesites and prospective owners-to enjoy the games, and refreshentertainment ments. compatible homesite owners. and it turns out that we have. These are people who enjoy each other's company-who know i by to have fun together-and I think that may be the most important test for a community of this type. No matter how well equipped a leisure-oriented community may be, it's a dreary place in the long run if you can't make new friends The Larsens given attention to many details in their effort to add to the livability of Big Bass Lake. During the summer they resurfaced the miles of internal hardtop roads so that all of them are now like new. They're starting to complete the road network into parts of the community where homesites are just now going on sale. They expect to break ground this winter for an additional recreational complex that will have its own clubhouse, tennis courts. outdoor swimming pool, and

And they continue selling homesites in the way in which they believe is largely responsible for the very agreeable kind of people who have become owners at Big Bass. That sales approach is very low key-friendly in the extreme and no pressure. "We don't want anybody to buy here unless he's sure he's going to like living here," the every visitor to take his time friendly in looking the place over-to compare what we have with what's offered at other communities in the area or anywehre else."

Sportsmen who enjoy hunting for big or small game are prominent among visitors to Big Bass during the fall. The season is on right now for grouse, pheasant, quail and wild turkey. The season for deer will open on Nov. 26, and then the advantages of having a leisure home in the Poconos will really be pointed up." This is one of the greatest deer bunting areas on the continent, and during the season he demand for loding exceeds the supply," according to the Larsens, Skiers are happy to note that the T-bar ski lift and ski slopes at Big Bass are being carefully checked over in anticipation of the first snowfall-which, incidentally, is likely to occur here earlier than in surrounding areas. since Big Bass is near the highest point in the Poconos.

"To a skier, snow becomes of the synonyms for livability, along about Christmas," Lou Larsen says. From New Jersey and New York and other areas to the east, the route to Big Bass Lake usually takes in Interstate 80, now fully completed. In Pennsylvania, the turnoff from 80 is onto Interstate 380 (formerly 81E) to exit 3: From there it's less than two miles 507 to the Big Bass Welcome Center.

Of the 23 artists represented, Frederic Remington and Charles M. Russell dominate the collection. Even as a boy growing up in New York state, Remington dreamed of the West. After not quite two years of art school at Yale; he set off on a career that was to make him one of the foremost artists of the Western scene

Among the Remington sculptures are his first, the famous "Bronco Buster," and one of the last, "The Trooper," copyrighted in 1909, the year of his death. This example is one of the handful of original castings. One of the rarest of the Remington bronzes is "The Wicked Pony," said to have been based on an incident the artist himself witnessed on a ranch, in which the rider was killed.

Charles Russell went to Montana when he was only 16, became a cowhand and later a "cowboy-artist;" Russell painted the life of the hunter and trapper, the muleskinner. prospector, and bullwhacker, even the rustler and gambler. In his paintings of Indians, he saw history from the Indians' point of view, as

"Prairie Pirates" and "Buffalo Hunt" show. Charles Schreyvogel, sometimes named as the third member of the "triumvirate" with Remington and Russell, is also represented in the Gund collection, along with such others as Albert Bierstadt, Edward Borein, William Leigh, Will James, Frank Johnson and Ernes Tonk. These men were participants in the life of the West, and what they portrayed in their art were observed facts rather than an idealization of subject. The result of their wanderings is a remarkable record of frontier life and the people who were part of it.

George Gund began his collection in 1929 and added to it until his death in 1966. The exhibition was organized by his family to fulfill George Gund's desire to see his collection of American Western art assembled together for viewing by a wide public. A catalogue is available.

The exhibition will be on view Tuesdays through Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Sundays from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Admission is free.

CARE starts drive to obtain food for nutrition program

NEW YORK Some 7,000,000 children across the world have had to be dropped from CARE's child-nutrition programs, because of reductions in U.S. Food for Peace commodities allocated to private American agencies for humanitarian use overseas.

To continue daily supplementary feedings for 20,000,000 persons almost all children during the coming year, and to provide emergency tood aid for 6,000,000 refugees and disaster victims, the 1973 holiday-season CARE Food Crusade seeks to raise $7,300,000, Frank L.

Goffio, executive director, announced.
"Painful decisions have had to be made to drop large groups of preschool- and schoolchildren in countries where bunger and malnutrition are the biggest killers of the young, and cause permanent physical and mental damage in millions who survive,'

'CARE is hopeful Food for Peace cuts may be restored in the months ahead. Meanwhile, we must appeal to the public to respond generously, so that our most crucial programs can be maintained.

While U.S. agricultural donations are the mainstay of the programs, CARE also buys other foods to match local needs. Host governments help too, by contributing distribution costs according to their abilities. Public contributions cover the remaining delivery and purchase costs. Checks may be sent to: CARE Food Crusade, 660 First Avc., New York, N.Y. 10016, or any regional office.

Its placement record is excellent, according to its director. Peter Enander, with over 90 percent getting programming jobs at an average salary over $8,600.

The Chubb Institute is accredited by the Accrediting Commission of the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, approved by the State Department of Education, and approved for veterans training. The school also is recognized by the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority as an eligible institution under the State

Scouts launch program of energy conservation

Acting immediately on President Nixon's request to the nation to conserve energy, the Boy Scouts of America have announced a massive nationwide program involving its 6.5 million membership.

"The BSA's energy conservation program, which has been in the planning stages for many months, will be in the hands of our 450 councils throughout the country by Dec. 1," Chief Scout Executive Alden G. Barber declared at National Scout headquarters in North Brun-

"It is a complete program that we hope will have the support of the nation's energy in-dustry and manufacturers of paper, metals and glass," he said. In addition, he said the program would be tied in directly with the reclamation and recyleing of paper, metals and

Barber said that Scouts throughout the nation were geared up to tackle the energy crisis because of their direct involvement and firsthand experience with Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources), the BSA's ongoing conservation and environmental program initiated four years ago. The program will spell out scores of ideas for action programs for Scouts to initiate and lists 15 specific ways that energy can be conserved. many of them explained by President Nixon in his nationwide television address

Cub Scouts, Scouts and Explorers will be encouraged to lead energy saving efforts in their homes. Projects Scouts can do include lowering thermostats three degrees, thereby saving 10 percent on fuel bills. They can change the wattage of light bulbs in nonreading areas. turn off lights and appliances not being used and survey clothes washers, dryers and dishwashers to see if they are being run with full Older Explorers who drive are being asked to drive more slowly, to avoid jackrabbit starts and to check pollution control equipment Younger Cub Scouts and Scouts are being encouraged to use their bikes or car pools for going to school and Scout meetings.

Cub Scout packs, Scout troops and Explorer units will also launch huge recycling campaigns for paper, aluminum, glass and steel "The BSA can do much to help ease the nation's energy crisis," Barber asserted, "By getting our story direct to youth and adult members, and through them to relatives family and friends, we can reach a very substantial segment of the American people."

Barber explained. "Our Project SOAR program is designed to do just that."

School programs will be previewed on Jerseyvision

Instructional television programs being considered for New Jersey Public Broad casting's 1974-1975 schedule will be previewed next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday on Channels 50 and 58.

The programs, distributed by the Eastern Educational Television Network, cover subjects ranging from music to biology, from calculus to environmental education.

A schedule of all programs to be telecast during Preview Week, program descriptions and evaluation forms will be sent to all elementary and secondary school audio visual directors throughout the state. The directors have been asked to distribute the information to the teachers and students.

"Our purpose in offering a preview of new programs is to involve the educational community in the decision-making process of in-structional programming for New Jersey classrooms," says Mrs. Mary Jane Phillips, classrooms," says Mrs. Mary Jane Phillips, director of Educational Services, New Jersey Public Broadcasting.

"We are asking that teachers, administrators, principals and students watch the programs and react to them. The information we receive from these people will help us to determine which new programs will be in-cluded in our instructional program schedule for the next school year."

Fuel retailers must get new ceiling price cards

Because of recent changes in the Cost of Living Council's Phase IV petroleum regulations, all gasoline and diesel fuel retailers in New Jersey must obtain new ceiling price stickers for every pump or grade of petroleum sold, E.H. Klinsman, district director of Internal Revenue, announced this

The new stickers must be posted on pumps by 11:59 p.m. next Wednesday. New stickers and instruction-computation forms may be picked up at any New Jersey IRS office. Stickers and instructions will also be available at selected offices of the U.S. Postal Service. In this area they may be obtained from the IRS office at 970 Broad st, in Newark

Written requests for stickers should be sent to ESP, P.O. Box 940, Newark, 07101, and they should specify number needed. Written requests cannot be handled by local IRS offices or by post offices.

The new stickers should be posted on every pump in a prominent position where they can easily be seen by a customer. The old sticker should then be removed. If more than one grade of gas is sold from a pump, a separate sticker must be posted for each grade. Stickers must contain the new ceiling price and the minimum octane of the gasoline

DISC 'N

By MILT HAMMER IIIIIIIIIII

RECORDmended...ASK ME WHAT I AM (MERCURY SRM-1-693); by Burt Reynolds.

Well, we all know Burt Reynolds is a fine

Quite simply he can. And the album, "Ask Me

What I Am," is a very special one indeed.

Several of the top songwriters in Nashville talked with Burt a few months ago about his life and his philosophies. The writers, including such stalwarts as Bobby Goldsboro, Red Lane and Dick Feller, then split up and wrote eight of the 11 songs on Reynold's LP album. The other three songs (written without Burt in mind)

were chosen because they fit his life and ideals.

Some of the titles pretty much sum up the content of the songs: "Childhood '49," "A Room For A Boy Never Used," "You Can't Always Sing A Happy Song," and "I Didn't

include: "Slow John Fairburn," "The First

One That I Lay With," "Till I Get It Right," "She's Taken A Gentle Lover," "You Can't Always Sing A Happy Song," "Ask Me What I Am." "There's A Slight Misunderstanding

Between God And Man," and "I Like Having

The album was recorded in Nashville, using some of the finest local musicians-Reggie

Young on guitar, Buddy Emmons on organ and

One problem in recording the album was Burt finding time in his schedule to do it. In fact, upon completing "Ask Me What I Am," he immediately left for Georgia to begin filming his next movie. "The Longest Yard."

What to do if you're involved in an auto accident

If you're one of the more than four million persons licensed by New Jersey to drive on the traffic-jammed highways and by ways of this country, the chances of your being involved in in auto accident in the next four or five years

Sational accident figures show that in 1972 29.1 million drivers were involved in 24.8 million accidents. Because there were 118.2 million licensed drivers that year, one driver in four-may have been involved in a crash.

What should you do in the aftermath of an accident-a sudden and frequently traumatic event when emotions run high?

The most valuable preparation for such emergencies, the Insurance Information

HARD OF HEARING RESIDENTS OFFERED FREE BOOKLET

U.S. Government Publication Available At No Charge

WILMINGTON, DEL. - A free United States Government booklet entitled "Hearing Loss - Hope Through Research," is now available to persons suffering a hearing loss.

Published by the U.S. Dept. of Public Health, Education and Welfare for use by the hard-of-hearing, the booklet covers such facts as inherited deafness, discovering early trouble, selecting a hearing aid, noise damaging and adults's hearing, and the main types of hearing loss.

Free copies of the booklet are available by writing to "Government Booklet, Independence Mall, Suite 65, 1601 Concore Pike, Wilmington, Delaware, 19803.

Institute says as for every driver to understand fully and memorize these primary responsibilities: Stop Identify yourself. Aid any injured person.

Failure to perform these duties at the scene of an accident carries severe legal penaltics. The Institute notés drivers involved in accidents where a person is hurt must come to a stop, provide identification and offer to assist the injured, or under the Uniform Vehicle Code face a fine of $100 to $5,000 and-or 30 days to one year in jail. Most states require a convicted person's license to be revoked. Being "involved in an accident" has little to do with causing it, the Institute points out. You are "involved" if your vehicle comes into contact with another vehicle, pedestrian or object, or if you cause or contribute to a crash by another driver even though there is no physical contact with your vehicle.

An involved driver's first duty is to stop immediately—as close to the scene as possible but without unnecessarily obstructing traffic. Park on the shoulder and pull clear of any intersections, the Institute says. Not only is it unlawful for a movable vehicle to be left in the roadway, it is also inconsiderate and dangerous. Motorists should be careful, however, to note where the vehicles were at the point of impact for subsequent reference in preparing accident reports.

Identifying yourself is extremely important in all types of motor vehicle accidentswhether the accident involves other drivers or unattended property such as parked cars.

In an accident involving other drivers, you must supply all injured and involved persons and or investigating police officers with your name, address, vehicle registration number and driver's license number. In an accident involving unattended property you are required either to locate the owner and give him the same information or attach a note containing this information to the property and immediately notify the police.

Never leave the scene of an accident without identifying yourself in some way. If you go to call for an ambulance or the police, Institute recommends you leave some identification behind to avoid any possible misunderstanding of your intentions Prompt medical attention can mean the difference between life and death to many auto accident victims. It therefore is not only the legal but also the moral duty of a driver in who needs or requests medical treatment This requires making arrangements transporting the person to a hospital or doctor. Usually, you simply call for an ambulance, volved in an accident to aid an injured person

if his injuries are minor or a telephone is a long way off, it may be preferable to drive him yourself. As a general rule, however, you should not attempt to move an unconscious or seriously hurt person.

Drivers involved in accidents resulting in death or injury must notify the police by the quickest means of communication, usually the elephone. In such cases or where property damage exceeds $100, drivers normally are required to file within five or to days written ceident reports to the appropriate agencies in he state where the accident occurred. Apart from these legal requirements, the Institute also advises contacting your insurance agent or representative as soon as is reasonably possible. His phone number usually oppears on your policy identification card, which you must carry with you when driving.

Because insurance policies often specify requirements for oral or written notice of accidents, your agent is a valuable assistant in preparing these reports and preventing any undue delay in informing the insurance company of the incident. Be sure to give the agent the exact details of the accident, including the names and addresses of all involved drivers, injured persons and witnesses.

The New Jersey Historical Society's student Jerseymen, together with young history buffs from Pennsylvania and New York, will focus on Revolutionary War acitvities in the Morristown area at a two day conference Nov. 30-Dec. 1 at the Governor Morris

The National Live Stock and Meat Board, a trade association representing meat processors, wholesalers and retailers, is coordinating a new program for standardizing meat names. Standard names should reduce shopper confusion and help consumers make wiser, more economical decisions at the meat counter. The standardization program focuses on three fronts:

-- The meat industry has reduced names for various cuts of beef, pork, veal and lamb sold in U.S. food stores from more than 1,000 names to about 300. - The industry has replaced fanciful, strictly regional or potentially misleading names with names having specific information for consumers. - Participating food stores of-sale information to explain

When the program goes into effect, your supermarket- if it goes along with the national program- will label each package of meat with the species of meat (beef, pork, yeal, lamb), the wholesale or primary cut (chuck or loin, for example) the common name for the standardized retail cut and perhaps the store's own special or fanciful name.

For an idea of how this standardizing program will work, take the example of the beef rib eye steak. "Beef" is the primal cut telling you which animal the meat comes from. "Rib" is the primary cut telling you where on the animal the meat comes from. and "eye steak" is the common name for the stan dardized retail cut.

Since there are some meat names that have become accepted through localized tradition or that have been customized for individual store or chain identity, some retailers will continue to use fanciful names for cuts, but these names will be on separate labels.

USDA litts ban on bird importing

Commercial birds may now be brought into the country, but under new quarantine regulations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced,

The agency's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said that such birds must first be certified as healthy by a veterinarian of the exporting nation and then must be examined by a federal veterinarian upon arrival in this country. A quarantine of at least 30 days is required under the new in facilities operated by the importer During this period, they will undergo further testing by USDA veterinarians for exotic Newcastle and other infectuous poultry diseases.

Birds found to be unhealthy will either have to be returned to the exporting nation or destroyed by the importer.

Quarantine facilities must be located near one of the U.S. ports-of-entry approved by USDA for bird imports. They are Boston, New York, Miami. New Orleans. Honolulu, Seattle, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Ysidro, Calif., El Paso and Brownsville,

In addition, the facility must be approved by USDA on meeting the construction, operation and maintenance requirements spelled out in the new regulations.

The ban, which was lifted Oct. 29, had been in effect since August, 1972 in an effort to keep Newcastle disease from entering the country and infecting U.S. poultry.

Poultry and personally owned pet birds are already import regulations.

The new regulation and standards were published in the Federal Register Oct. 30.
