Presbyterian Church lists Christmas service schedule

A family Christmas service will be celebrated at the Community Presbyterian Church in Mountainside on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Following the service, Christmas punch and sweets will be served in the assembly room for members of the congregation and their Departments of the Church School will worship by presenting a program to the Holy Family, who will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walck and their infant child. The kindergarten, representing the angelic host, will sing "Away in a Manger." The primary department will sing "The Friendly Beasts." The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Nancy Keller and Laurie Weeks, will sing "The Gift of the Drummer Boy."

Borough is ready to find heating oil for those in need

"The 15 percent federal cutback from last year's supply of home heating fuel oil now makes it necessary for everyone to conserve heat. Action before difficulties are experienced is what emergency preparedness is all about," said Walter Vreeland, Mountainside's Civil Defense and Disaster Control director.

He added that "proper action now can prevent future hardship. Emergency situations could still arise, however, where circumstances have changed since last year.

"To handle such problems, an 'Exceptional Hardship' program has been implemented by the Fuel and Energy Office for New Jersey, using state, county and local levels of your Civil Defense and Disaster Control organization

"If your regular supplier becomes unable to provide essential fuel, Mountainside residents are asked to report the problem to Borough Hall, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., by calling Sally Kempner at 232-5335. For valid hardship cases, Civil Defense will aid by locating, and authorizing release of, available to pay Cranford $41,000 for sewerage flow rights. The emergency appropriation approved by the council brings the total cost for treatment of Mountainside's sewage to $74,853.

The borough, which has had such an agreement since 1951, was budgeted for the $41,000 figure for 1973, "with no adequate provisions made for such an increase," according to the resolution. Provisions for such emergency appropriations will be included in the 1974 budget. COUNCILMAN BRUCE Geiger, in commenting on the rate increase, noted Mountainside's costs cover one million gallons a day

CD to aid in fuel crisis

Borough homeowners who are unable to obtain No. 2 heating fuel because of the current energy crisis are now able to seek aid from the New Jersey Civil Defense, Mountainside Mayor Thomas Ricciardi announced at Tuesday's council session. Geiger explained the council is studying two proposed ordinances promulgated by the Sewerage Authority to regulate and control the use of public sewers, to establish the right of inspection, to regulate industrial waste and to provide a rate schedule for this. Also being studied is the sewage flow, which, according to Geiger, is "very near the limit set by the contract."

RICCIARDI ALSO commented on Cranford's giving only two weeks' notice on the price increase, calling it "poor business policy." He promised a review of the cooperative (Continued on page 4)

AS CHRISTMAS DRAWS NEAR — In the hectic days before Christmas, when one is caught up in the shopping rush and other holiday preparations, it is often easy to lose sight of the true meaning of the holiday — but despite the commercialization, there still are reminders of the meaning. Among them is the nativity scene, such as the one being set up here by Our Lady of Lourdes students. Preparing the crib, which is the focal point of the parochial school's holiday celebrations, are (from left) Lenny Capriglione, James Cleveland, Linda Belenets and Christen Graham.

RUDOLPH AND FRIENDS — Members of Mountainside-Girl Scout Troop 557, which is led by Jean Harnett, show off costumes they made for their Christmas pageant, presented yesterday at the Community Presbyterian Church for Mountainside Senior Citizens. Pictured are Mary Beth Ryan, Amanda Palmer, Maureen French, Jodi Gassaway, Cathy Jensen, Sue Halbsgut, Melina Simmons, Christa Lehmann Ellen Weinstein, Donna Kiely, Roberta Smith, Christine Hartnett and Nadine Halecky. Other-holiday-scout programs included a carol sing by Troop 449 (led by Pat Carvellas), held last week at the Westfield Convalescent Center. Brownie Troop 204 (led by Maryann Hafeken), in addition to baking fruit cakes, will celebrate Christmas by singing carols around the borough tomorrow. Cadet Troop 466 also is planning to carol in the community during the holiday season. (Photo-Graphics)

The Regional High School Board of Education this week strongly assailed as exaggerated and inaccurate an article entitled "Getting High in Mountainside" which apcared last Friday in the New York Times. # New group will support 'high quality' education mendation to board members for their work,

A group of Mountainside residents who support the high educational purposes of our public schools" and who have "an ambition to provide a means for the community to express such support" have announced organization of the Committee for Better Education.

Ruth Spina, chairman of the group's executive committee, listed its goals as "To activate and organize Mountainside residents who support continuation of high quality public education. To actively support passage of reasonable school budgets that responsibly reflect and respond to the needs of our schools.

"To seek out and actively support competent school board candidates. "To function, where deemed possible, as a liaison between the Board of Education and the community, gathering information from the board at the request of individual citizens and trying to represent public opinion to Board of Education members. In a letter to school board president Grant Lennox, the committee noted it also hopes to arouse more active interest in the progress of borough schools on the part of Mountainside families, and to stimulate more people to learn about educational opportunities and problems by attending public board meetings and par-ticipating in the public discussion. In an apparent reference to recent marathon meetings of the school board, including one four-hour session, the committee letter commented, in We believe attendance would be larger if the board could find ways to streamline the meetings and to focus more discussion on the major educational programs and questions that concern you and the school administration. The letter also included words of com-

Yule services

are announced by Holy Cross

The Rev. Joel R. Yoss, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, has announced the schedule for the Christmas weekend services. In preparation for the festival, the Altar Circle is decorating the church windows and doors with candle and wreath arrangements. The sanctuary will also have a display of poinsettias and a chancel Christmas tree decorated with ornaments fashioned into the basic symbols of the Christmas message.

Sunday morning the fourth Advent worship service will be held at 8:30 and celebrated with Holy Communion at 10:45 a.m. The Advent message will be, "Are You Ready?" At 7 on Christmas Eve a traditional candlelight service with the singing of Christmas carols will be held. The children of the Family Growth Hour, directed by Beverley Compher, will present a special nativity pageant. "Do You Hear What I Hear?" will be the meditation delivered by Pastor Yoss. Supplementing the more familiar carols, the adult choir will sing "When Christ Was Born of Mary Free," an English carol. Bette Becker, organist-choir director, will play "Noel Basque' by D.P. Denoit, "To Shepherds As They Watched by Night" by P. Manz as well as A.W. Leopold's "From Heaven Above."

A festival service with Holy Communion will be held Christmas Day at 10 a.m. Pastor Yoss will deliver the Christmas message, "The Right Time." The combined adult and children's choirs, directed by Mrs. Becker, will sing "The Quempas Carol," a Latin hymn from the Middle Ages with flute and organ accompaniment. The children will also sing a 14th Century German carol, "From Heaven Above, Ye Angels All," and the adult choir will sing Praetorius' "Ennatus Est Emmanuel." Evelyn Dickson will sing "There Is a Song in the, Air" by Oley Speaks.

COMBINING THE ARTS — Two segments of the arts were represented last Friday evening at the Tomasulo Art Gallery on Union College's Cranford Campus. The occasion was the formal opening of an exhibition of paintings by Julian and Cynthia Rockmore of Mountainside, at left. The string quartet providing the music was composed of Carolle-ann Craigie Mochernuk, pianist; Paul Appello, violinist; George Benson, cellist, all pictured above, and Luba Schnable, violinist, who was not present when photo was taken. The Rockmore exhibit will be at the art gallery through Jan. 17.

Organ selections by J.S. Bach, A. Whyton and J.C. Daquin will complete the musical offerings for the Christmas service. The public is invited to attend these worship services at Holy Cross. An important part of the celebration of Christmas this year has been the sending of gifts by the children and Women's Fellowship of Holy Cross to the Navajo Evangelical Lutheran Mission in Arizona. Members of the women's fellowship have also made up individual Christmas devotional booklets for distribution to patients at Runnells Hospital,

Berkeley Heights.

Secretary chapter will meet on Jan. 2

The Summit Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will hold its first meeting of 1974 on Jan. 2 at the William Pitt in Chatham.

Harold Frowery, a special services representative for Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey, will be the guest speaker. He will present a demonstration on "Energy Crisis." Frowery was educated in the Hillside school system. After serving four years in the Navy, he began his career in Newark in 1961. As a representative of Public Service, he has traveled extensively throughout New Jersey presenting a variety of programs concerning the electric and gas industries to civic and educational groups.

All secretaries have been invited. Readers may call Marion Romanzcuk at 743-6000, Ext. 394, for reservations and further information. Dayton choir to sing for shoppers tonight to being U.S. tour

The Traditional Jazz Band was put together seven years ago by Tito Martino, Brazil's most famous jazz clarinetist. The seven musicians play the clarinet or alto saxophone, trombone, cornet, banjo, bass, piano and washboard. They are dedicated to the New Orleans born music whose roots go back to George Lewis and his New Orleans Stompers.

Although all the musicians have office jobs, they play three nights each week on television and in clubs in Sao Paulo.

The band is appearing in the U.S. for the first time on a tour partly sponsored by the U.S. Consulate in Sao Paulo, which has used the Band's music in information programs. After the groups debut in Summit, they will continue to Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Chicago and New Orleans

New Orleans.

Tickets for the concert are $3 general admission, $2 student and senior citizen. For mail orders, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with a check made out to the Summit Junior Fortnightly Club, to Mrs. Paul Brocchini, 79 Valley View ave., Summit, 07901.

German Club joins Cultural Institute's holiday celebration

The Christmas season was ushered in last Friday when Jonathan Dayton Regional High's German Club celebrated the holiday event at the Goethe House, German Cultural Institute, on 1014 Fifth ave., New York.

Fifty-two members, chaperones and club advisor Erika Fisher participated in the program, which featured traditional German Christmas songs, foods, games and, of course, the appearance of St. Nikolaus (Doug DeLeonard) and Kneckt Rupprecht (Rene Schneider) reading the Christmas Book, which was produced by Marc Bloom, Mary Dewey, Al Filreis, Brenda Speer and Lori Wipfler, and doling out the rewards and punishments according to the dictates of the book.

Dan Gecker is president, Nayna Sheth vice-president, Lori Wipfler secretary and Cary Levitt treasurer of the club.

SOCIAL SEMINAR
A new term is seeping into usage in communities throughout the country. The term is "social seminar."
What in the world is a "social seminar?" This may be the question if your community or state hasn't experienced the social seminar

In brief, the social seminar is an important new resource for drug abuse education. Its full title is "The Social Seminaar: Drugs, Education, and Society."

The National Institute of Mental Health and the Office of Education, two agencies of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, have cooperatively developed the social seminar and are actively supporting its spreading use.

The program—which can be used by any community because of its flexibility—is designed for:

Educators: teachers, administrators, trainers, schoolnurses, psychologists, counselors, and others.
 Community agencies and leaders in many fields.

Special components of the program, such as films for special use, can be used with students (secondary and college), parents (PTA's and religious organizations), and civic, political, fraternal and similar groups.

The core of the social seminar consists of a multimedia package including films, discussion guides, learning and teaching materials, a programmed text covering factual and pharmacological drug in-

Christmas story from the Bible will be narrated by Stella Winter's sixth grade class.

A carol reading of "Christ's Mass" will be performed by the Youth Fellowship. The reading is a contemporary statement of the twelfth century Coventry service, which the Senior Choir of the church will present at the traditional candlelight service to be held Monday at 11 p.m. in the sanctuary. At that time, luminaries will be placed in the Garden and the choirs will participate in a service of carols and essons. Both services will be augmented by a brass quartet and special music.

At 7 p.m. on Christmas Eve, the Confirmation Class will lead candlelight service for families with younger children. Kristen Peterson will accompany the carol singing, and Malcolm and Scott Talcott will play Christmas carols on the trumpet and French horn. Head usher for the service will be Robert Hain; assisted by Jeffrey Borchert, Donald Jeka, Russell Laustsen and Richard Mays.

LUNCHEON BILL At last Tuesday's Board of Education meeting Mrs. Trudy Palmer and Mrs. Patricia Knodel refused to give approval for the payment of the November bills because there was an item on the bill list for a lunch at the Springfield Steak House for Dr. Hanigan and his guest. This guest was (according to Dr. Hanigan) a prospective candidate for the Board of Education, and Dr. Hanigan said he was within his rights to charge this expense to the taxpayers because the man wanted information about the board and could find no other time to meet with him.

Now, this man happens to be in the real estate business in town, and I would imagine he could budget his time to visit the Board of Education office to seek any information he might need. Mrs. Palmer noted that unless Dr. Hanigan's contract specificially gave authority to incur expenses of this type, this expenditure

As a taypayer I resent this waste of my tax money in question, but I know Dr. Hanigan is paid a generous salary ($31,300) plus a generous expense account. There is no reason for him to spend money this way.

Perhaps there is a lot more being spent that is not seen on the surface. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Knodel appear to be the only two board members interested in saving the taxpayers

School board filing deadline Jan. 4; regulations issued to cover elections

A summary of regulations covering the Mountainside Board of Education elections, to be held Feb. 13, was issued this week by John McDonough, school board secretary.

McDonough noted that persons who wish to tile nominating petitions as candidates for the three three-year terms which are open must file by 4 p.m., Friday, Jan. 4. Although borough schools will be closed from Dec. 24 through Jan. 4, the secretary stated he would be in his office bers of the school community: students, teachers, administrators and parents. Letters of clarification and rebuttal were being prepared by several members of each facet of the Jonathan Dayton Regional educational community. "Fiordaliso also met with representatives of the Springfield and Mountainside police departments to discover how accurately the article pertained to the high school. They stated that the article was a gross exaggeration. However, as expected by school officials, the policemen noted that a very small minority of students use drugs on an extended basis. Fiordaliso thanked the police for their professional perception of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School environment and made tentative plans to coordinate drug educational programs for students and staff members.

"With respect to the New York Times. Fiordaliso stated that 'although the New York

In other business, council voted to accept the application by Jade Fountain of Mountainside, Inc., to transfer its liquor license to Steak and Ale Restaurants of America, Inc. According to board attorney John Post, the Jade Fountain's property on Rt. 22, which has been vacant for several years, is being sold to Steak and Ale. The area is now zoned for residential use, but under the conditions of the resolution, the transferee must proceed with application for a zoning variance to build a restaurant.

Council voted approval to a resolution allowing 18-year-olds to serve as members of the Volunteer Fire Department, in acceptance of the ruling by the state afterness general on the lowering of the age of majority from 21 to 18. At the session, they also approved the appointment to the department of Ernest S. Kuffer, 19, of 1264 Virginia ave.

RECREATION COMMISSIONER William Cullen, in his report to council, noted that Sue Winans of Outlook drive, Mountainside, had been selected over seven other applicants for the post of borough recreation director, being vacated Dec, 31 by Nancy Pollack. Ms. Winans, 27, holds bachelor and master of arts degrees from the University of Wisconsin. She has been a playground supervisor in the department's summer program for the past three years, an instructor in the girls soccer and basketball programs, and a supervisor of extracurricular sports in the Mountainside school system.

Seven borough residents, including Det. Jerry Rice of the local police force, were on hand for the session in the Beechwood School. Rice had been asked to attend to answer any questions that might be raised about an article printed in the New York Times Friday about drug use by students in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

SPEAKING AT A board meeting Tuesday night at Dayton, Natalie Waldt, board president, declined any further comment. She stated that the board would launch an intensive investigation of the article and its charges of marijuana use in the schools

Sonya Dorsky of Springfield disclosed at the meeting that she will run for an additional term as a board member in the school election on Feb. 5. Theodore White of Mountainside had previously stated that he will also be a candidate on Feb. 5.

In other business, the board formally implemented a directive by the State Department of Education to extend the Christmas vacation for three school days, until Jan. 7, to reduce fuel consumption in the present energy crisis.

Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools, commented that the board may have to make up the three days lost, but that any evaluation will have to wait until early spring when the number of closings because of snow will be known.

He said that possible solutions might be a shortening of the Easter vacation or an extension of the school year into June. Merachnik stressed, however, that the board must await instructions from Trenton. He noted that the required minimum of 180 school days is set by the state leadership, which also has the power

(1) Candidate must be a citizen and resident of the territory contained in the district for at least two years. (2) Candidate shall have been a resident of the school district for at least two years immediately preceding his appointment or election to the Board of Education. (3) He shall be able to read and write.

(4) He shall not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with or claim against

(5) He must be 48 years of age to qualify for

TO BE ELIGIBLE to vote in the borough school elections, a person must be a U.S. citizen, at least 18 years of age, a resident of New Jersey for at least six months and of Union County for at least 40 days before the date of the election-and he also must have registered to vote. Registration deadline is Jan. 4.

"If you are not already on the permanent registry lists, you may register at the office of the Mountainside borough clerk or at the office of the County Board of Elections, 53-55 Rahway ave., Elizabeth," McDonough noted. The office hours of the municipal clerk are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the hours of the Board of Elections are 9 i.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. McDonough is not able to register voters.

Persons who have changed their addresses must notify the municipal clerk or the Board of Elections at least 40 days prior to the election. This may be done by mail.

"The law regarding school elections provides that the candidate may act as a challenger and may appoint also one challenger for each municipal election district included within each polling district." McDonough explained. Alternate challengers also may be appointed, since Mountainside polls are scheduled to be open for more than four hours (2-9 p.m.).

The appointment of challengers must be made in writing by the candidate, who must specify the names and addresses of the challengers and the polling districts for which they are appointed. These appointments must be filed with McDonough no later than 4 p.m.,

"No person may be appointed challenger who is not a legal voter of the district and no challenger shall serve in any polling place other than that to which he is appointed," the law states. After the board secretary certifies appointed challengers, this certification is submitted by the challengers to the election officials of the polling district to which they are Persons desiring to be appointed challengers of public questions should contact McDonough. The position of the candidates' names on the school election ballot or voting machine will be determined by a drawing to be conducted by McDonough at 8 p.m., Jan. 7. Any legal voter of the district may witness the drawing.

Tots writing to Santa by registered reindeer express

By KAREN STOLL

Has the credibility gap spread as far as the North Pole?

It would seem that way from this year's batch of Christmas mail sent to us by Santaonly after he made out his list and checked it twice, of course. Many of the children writing to St. Nick this season are demanding a more personal contact.

For instance, the team of David and Brian began their note by asking "What is your telephone number?" They requested only a marble maze and a pencil quill, but probably will have more to say when they make contact by phone. Their parents also will have more to say when they get the N.J. Bell bill.

Susan, a style-conscious young lady who requested shoes, a "brefcase," a "pants alfit," two rings and three new dresses, sent her list to Mr. St. N. Claus, North Pole, Arctic Ocean. The back of the envelope contained the following directive: "P.S. Write back-or one of your

Kari, who apparently has some inside information on the state of things in Santa's workshop, began her letter by stating, "I hope your elfs are feeling better." She requested 17 items, including a sewing machine. refrigerator, a set of table and chairs "and other things," adding at the end—"And call me up. This is my phone number..."

OTHER YOUNGSTERS had other orders. Among them was one child who stated, "I was good all year around. It is time to pack your bag. And get your reindeers lined up. NOW I WILL TELL YOU what I want." The letter, unsigned, included spaces for 15 items, but the writer ran out of ideas at No. 12, which was a request for something called a tootaloop.

Scott, an avid believer in the mass media, sent the following carefully-printed letter: "Dear Santa. Everybody in my school thinks that there is no such thing as Santa but I think they are wrong. I think there is a Santa because in Santa. Santa please write an answer.' 'Santa," states Janet in her letter, "I am happy to be writing to you again. Please get me a lot of toys." She lists several starred items "he ones I realy want," which include trains, "a big stuffed dog real tall," and "a TV small a real one." There's also a P.S.-"Give my dog and my family lots of gifts."

Steven, who knows the value of flattery, tells Santa, "You are one of the nicest men in the world." He then assures St. Nick he is not asking for many toys this year because he feels he has enough. What he does want, however, is complete New York Rangers goalie's uniform, Number 1, size 12, with all the equipment.

"For Christmas I would like models," writes Luca. "All kinds of models. Dinosaur models, car models and racing car models, monster models, motorised boats, rocket models, airplane models and some paints too." A postscript wishes the model maker "a Jolly Jolly Christmas.'

AN UNSIGNED note, written in obvious haste, states: "Dear Santa. I'already wrote. But I saw something I really wanted bad. Please send this. ORGAN, P.S. Please send it, I always wanted this. I hope I have been good."

Howard, who must be a friend of Luca's, writes: "Please give me three models and 20 wacky packages. I have been pretty good." Sports toys are among the most popular items on the children's lists this year-for both girls and boys-and chief among the requests is something called electric football. Santa and his elves will have to work overtime to fill those orders-and many others.

For instance, how could be disappoint little Mary, who asked only for yellow "gownts?" Joseph, who asserts his love for Santa and promises to listen to his 'mammy' and daddy, has a lengthy list including a power toothbrush and Miami "Dolphing" pajamas for himself and size 71/2 blue slippers for his father. But also requested are a backhoe, "elevating sgrapher," magic casting "McMorng" set and western harness boot.

"I am a good boy," begins one unsigned ath a good boy, begins one disigned etter. The writer indicates his desire for "things that you walk on, shoes like BoPa" and a "chugy cho cho." "And for Brian, please bring a soft car," he concludes. It is not in-dicated whether the last request is for a stuffed toy or is a gift for an older brother who has dented too many fenders.

Another unsigned note has among its items a 'puff puff bask" and "boopies." This writer also apparently intends to launch his own battle against the evil forces of the world, since he asks Santa to send him Batman, Robin, the Lone Ranger, Tonto, Superman, Spiderman and Aquaman.

WE'VE ALL HEARD of Santa Claus, St. Nick and Kris Kringle-but one child has discovered another alias for the jolly old gent in the red suit. David addressed his letter and envelope to "Santacia." Among his requests-"a pottery, a paint and a birdy bird." Not a birdy bird, but a hairy canary is chief among the gifts requested by Joey, who also indicates his desire for a "Boby hull hockey set and one of those airplains that has a remote women's lib movement, notes after her listing of five baby dolls and their accessories that she Barbara plays it safe by starting her letter with a thank you for the gifts received last year Her 1973 note lists 10 items, including a camera and easette projector, "and anything else you want to surprise me with,'

Billy, who notes he is 8 years old, has big ambitions for the new year. His list of "toys" features requests for skis, a bow and arrow, a telescope, a chess set and a pool table. "Ke" (that's all it said) wants several common items, such as a train set and games, but also asks for a pink horse and a garbage

Someone who calls himself (herself) ISSP made up a list composed entirely of the following: play family village, play family farm, play family circus train, play family camper, play family school bus, play family house and play family merry go round.

OTHER YOUNGSTERS were content simply to send greetings, without listing toys. Among these was Kimberly, who wrote the following cryptic message in large block letters: "Hope you and Mrs. Santa and your elves." Rosa sent a hand-drawn, full-page portrait of St. Nick, complete with cotton hair and beard.

Looking over all the letters, it's obvious racing car sets maintain their attraction for the boys; Dawn and Barbie dolls, for the girls. That doll duo-never affected by the shrinking dollar-has apparently acquired a new set of playthings: a camper, carousel, boat, beach house, beauty parlor and jet plane.

There also seems to be a trend among the children to craftiness-as in arts and crafts, that is. Many requested paint sets, pottery wheels and other creative devices.

Area residents concerned about the completion of long-awaited Rt. 78 might do well to talk to neighborhood youngsters. For some reason, a large number of the letter writers requested construction equipment, including cement mixers, loaders, graders, cranes, trucks and steam rollers. Perhaps they can be recruited to do some volunteer work for the

One boy, however, will not be available. Along with his lengthy list of building equipment, he asked for his own construction site.

'Best seller' on energy

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce is doing more than just turning down the heat and shutting off the lights to help conserve energy in this era of critical

lcy roads blamed for 3 mishaps

Icy roads, which accompanied the season's first snowstorm, were cited as contributing circumstances in three chain-collisions which occurred within one hour Sunday afternoon, Mountainside police reported. All drivers involved escaped

The first mishap, a four-car accident, was reported at 2:40 p.m. on Summit road near High Point road. Police said Helene S. Henry of New Providence had halted her auto before proceeding downhill on the snow-covered pavement. Her car was struck in the rear by an auto operated by Barbara Bickel of Westfield, which was hit by one by John F. Saracen of Avenel which was hit by one operated by John W. Hamilton of Chatham. Police said the drivers claimed they skidded on the icy road and were unable to stop.

According to police, skidding also caused an accident att 3:20 p.m. on Rt. 22 West near Central avenue, in which the operator of a small foreign car escaped unscratched after his auto was hit from behind by a tractor-trailer truck. Police said the motorist, Tadeusz J. Zamorski of Somerville, first slid into a halted auto, operated by Alex Velden, also of Somerville, The truck, driven by Joseph Toomin of Philadelphia, then skidded into Zamorski's car.

At 3:50 p.m., a three-car crash was reported in the eastbound lanes of Rt 22 near the Echo rest area. Police said: one motorist, Nancy A Kaniuk of Irvington, brought her car to a stop when it began to skid, but it was hit from behind by an auto operated by Jeffrey Mellin of Plainfield. Mellin's car was in turn rammed by one driven by Lizabeth S. Poulsen of West hockey and basketball. One can kick the soccer ball between the goal posts for one point. Without use of hands, one can convert a ground ball into an aerial ball.

This is quite a trick, best performed by Carol Stefany, who grasps the ball between her ankles and then raises her legs in a hop to catch the ball in her hands. Another method is used by Janice Mikulicz, who extends a leg so that the Besides presenting gifts to the residents, the borough girls will also provide a Christmas tree for the home.

Projects are displayed; awards given to Cubs

Dens 3, 4 and 5 of Springfield Cub Pack 172 met at the James Caldwell School recently for a program highlighting a theme of "Genius and Creativity." All dens participated in a display of projects constructed of basic materials, including paper and scraps. Typical finished displays included a space city, a paper train and cabin. Den 5 presented magic tricks.

A report by the treasurer indicated a successful fundraising effort by the pack via candy sales.

The following awards were made by Cubmaster Harvey Schramm: Matthew Kuperstein, Wolf: Brian Lenhart, Golden Arrow; Peter Hertzlinger, Traveler and Citizen; Jay Schneider, Citizen; Steve Halpin, Artist and Forester, Bruce Katzens, Forester.

The program concluded with a display of Kung Fu, a Chinese art of self defense, by A.P. Raio, owner of a Kung Fu school in Springfield, and some of his students.

The ball is now considered to be aerial; the girls can run with it but face the danger of being touched by the opposition. One way to avoid being tagged is to throw the ball to another member of one's team who can try to run with it.

One can also aerial dribble, throwing the ball up in the air while running and trying to catch it as one passes the enemy. It's difficult, but if one runs over the end line with the ball, it's two points.

If the opposition gets its hands on the ball, then it is played as a jump ball, as in basketball. The position of players and the field rules are patterned after hockey.

The excitement of the game comes from its action; the chances are better if the ball is in the air so the players try to wrestle the ball from each other while trying to get it into the air for themselves.

Referee Jane Grayson prevents fights from starting.

Mrs. Conley can be heard shouting, "Kick the ball and not each other ... please," across the field, although no injuries have been sustained.

The only damage has been to sweat pants which bear the result when the field has been muddy and players are apt to go down. Liz Simpson wins the most muddy player award for her flying tactics.

Each team has five forwards, offensive players whose objective is to score, three halfbacks who assume both offensive and defensive duties, primarily backing up the forwards and protecting the two fullbacks, who protect the goal.

The goalic has special privileges; she can pick up the ball with her hands anywhere on the field; she can punt the ball to clear it away from the goalposts she is trying to defend, and she can throw it. Holly Quinton well fulfills these requirements.

Other participants are Janice Blum, Lisa Blumenthal, Chris Cusamona, Elva Cardinale, Doreen D'Auria, Joanne D'Amato, Jessica

Evans, Bonnie Farber, Norma Huber, Laurie Jacobs, Margo Krasnoff, Caren Ogintz, Melanie Owens, Karen Poulos, Debbie Panish, Debbie Reich, Maria Scoppettuolo, Allison Smith and

The boys will all be 10 and under and will out on a good show for the Garden fans. The tournament is expected to be over at 3 p.m.

The Elizabeth SC had its traditional Christmas party for the children of its mem-bers last Sunday and thanks to the mighty midgets we had a few more laughs this year. Put a team of 18 boys in one corner of the room and you get a lot of noise.

When Santa came the fun began. After all, Santa is for kids, not for soccer players, but when he handed out the gifts they were there for theirs. After listening to several children sing "Jingle Bells," they decided to sing their own song. "Jingle Bells, Batman smells, Robin " rang out from the back corner of the hall. This is when four mothers and two fathers jumped up and told their sons, that was not a Christmas song they were singing.

Varsity Club names Vohden Dayton 'Athlete of the '40s'

Ray Vohden was named the Varsity Club's choice for "Athlete of the 1940s" for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's inaugural Hall of Fame Award. The presentation to Vohden, a Vietnam POW for almost nine years, will take place on Saturday, Dec. 22, during the halftime of the Varsity-Alumni basketball game which will highlight the club's "Super Alumni Night."

The program will get under way with the Springfield Minutemen, coached by Scott Donington, meeting Art Krupp's freshmen. The second contest will match Bill McNeece's junior varsity against a Varsity Club five.

Vohden, a 1948 graduate of Dayton, par-ticipated in football, wrestling, track and baseball. In football, he was a member of Bill Brown's championship 1947 outfit which lost its opener, then won the next eight games. The year before the team had won its first eight but lost the finale. Vohden played left halfback on offense and deep secondary on defense.
As a Bulldog wrestler, Vohden was undefeated in his junior and senior years at 157 pounds. He was a pole vaulter in track and placed second in the state meet in 1946. In baseball, he played shortstop and second base for two season

Ray entered Rutgers University and was a member of the varsity football team for three vears. He played fullback on offense and halfback on defense. In wrestling, he lost only two dual matches in three years. He was unbeaten in his junior campaign. Ray placed fourth in Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament in 1951 and second the following year. He finished fourth in the Nationals in 1952. Ray also competed in the pole vault during the track season.

Upon graduation from Rutgers in 1952, Vohden entered Naval Air Cadet training in Pensacola, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Texas. He was commissioned as a naval pilot and assigned to carrier duty. "It is now more important than ever that motor vehicles be properly maintained, and one very good way to save gas is to follow through with the suggestions you receive when you pass through the state's automobile inspection stations," Richard J. Sullivan, commissioner of the State Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) said this

"We estimate that more than 15 million gallons of gasoline will be saved in the first year of mandatory inspection, starting Feb. 1, just from the proper tuning of autos that fail. By 1975, we expect this saving to go as high as 50 million gallons," he said. At the inspection station, everyone receives a small pamphlet, and those whose cars flunk the pollution test because of poorly maintained engines also get the safety examination rejection card, a returnable post card and, beginning Feb. 1, a list of service stations and new car dealers in the area who have state approved exhaust testing equipment. The flunkers' cards are punched indicating failure to meet carbon monoxide, hydrocarbon or smoke standards.

"The inspection system is a good indicator of proper or improper maintenance of the vehicle," Sullivan said. "Excessive carbon monoxide emissions mean poor carburction; probably indicating a poor fuel-air mixture. A high hydrocarbon reading often means a spark plug is misfiring. (In this sense, hydrocarbons are unburned gasoline.) Too much smoke is a sign of a worn engine, probably resulting in oil leaking past the valves or piston rings. The inspection is in fact a kind of diagnosis that tells where your main problems are and why your car may be low on performance and fuel economy.

Sullivan said, "Allowing excessive hydrocarbons to go out the tailpipe is simply pouring your precious gasoline out into the air. It costs you money, adds to the fuel shortage and makes the air dirty.

Compliance with the state standards is now voluntary, but will become mandatory Feb. 1. when Chapter 15 of the New Jersey Air Pollution Control Code (Control and Prohibition of Air Pollution from Light-Duty Gasoline-Fuel Motor Vehicles) becomes effective. Sullivan pointed out that as the pollution inspection standards become more stringent, on July 1, 1974, and July 1, 1975, the detection and diagnosis of poor car main-tenance will become even sharper and of greater service to more car owners.

Sullivan said also that the exhaust gas inspection does not require the installation of any add-on emission control devices. A reasonably well-maintained automobile engine will pass

Approximately 1,200 New Jersey service stations and new car dealers have stateapproved emissions testing equipment. To help the public recognize these stations and dealers, DEP is mailing out large identifying posters. About 900 of these posters have already been

The department has also prepared and printed a bumper sticker with the legend, "Save Gas, 50 mph Max." The Division of Civil Defense has agreed to distribute the stickers to all operators of state cars, to all state em ployees and to county and municipal govern ments for their vehicles. DEP also will make special mailings suggesting that others use the sticker and print their own.

Sullivan said DEP and the Division of Motor Vehicles are working hand-in-hand on these programs, in a joint effort to tie the inspection system and the service industry more closely together, not only to achieve cleaner air but also to conserve gasoline.

Derivation of name

Sapporo, capital of the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido and site of the recent Winter Olympic Games, derives its name from the Ainu, the light-skinned, round-eyed people who lived on the island before the Japanese arrived. GOVERNORS ISLAND, N.Y.-The Port Authority's Trans-Hudson (PATH) rail com-muter system between New Jersey and New York via tunnels under the Hudson River has received a U.S. Department of Transportation award for being "one of the most modern and reliable public transportation services in the Under Secretary of Transportation John W. Barnum presented the award at a Governors Island dinner to PATH's deputy general manager, Morton Downey, representing the system's vice-president and general manager, Louis J. Gambaccini, PATH, which now carries some 145,000 passengers daily, was chosen for the award by the Field Coordination Group, an alliance of federal Department of Transportation agencies in the area.

PATH was formed in September 1962 when the Port Authority acquired the old Hudson and Manhattan Railroad. The system connects by rail the cities of Newark, Harrison, Jersey City and Hoboken with New York City. Since then, more than $200 million in federal and state money has gone into PATH, the figure includes acquisition and modernization funds. The development program has been a joint federal-state venture with PATH being a major participant in the department's Urban Mass Transportation Administration's assistance program.

According to PATH statistics, the system

now carries more than 70 percent of all the passengers who enter New York City by rail from New Jersey. The system operates more than 1,100 trains during the week and some 340 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, During 1972, the statistics said, the system achieved an overall on-time performance record of 95.8 percent.

The department attributed a largemeasure of PATH's success to its attention to "human elements." Cars are air-conditioned and the needs of the system's users are considered heavily by PATH's administrative body in policy decision, a PATH spokesman noted.

State gets Sussex land Acreage to remain unspoiled

Goyn Reinhardt and his wife Ruth, have been thanked by Gov. William T. Cahill for giving 240 wooded acres in Montague Township to the New Jersey Natural Lands Trust for preservation in its natural state.

in a brief ceremony recently at High Point State Park, Assembly Speaker Thomas H. a member of the Trust, read a letter from the govenor thanking the Rheinhardts for "their generous gift to the people of New Jersey" and for "their concern with saving open space in this rapidly growing county of

The unspoiled wilderness area adjacent to the park, near the New Jersey-New York-Pennsylvania border, reaches an elevation of 1,150 feet at its highest point atop the Kittatinny mountain range. The terrain slopes gently down to a cleared valley traversed by Mill Brook, a small tributary of the Delaware River, then takes a sharp climb 700 feet up a steep wooded slope to the northwest.

Rheinhardt, whose family had owned the property since 1840, was forced to give it up after a county reassessment last year raised its appraised value from $32,000 to $200,000 Although he had moved to nearby Port Jervis. N.Y., 31 years ago, he had kept his land in its untouched condition. Occasionally he-took firewood from its woods to heat the stove in his radio repair shop in town.

Now retired and unable to pay a $4,500 yearly tax bill, yet unwilling to see his land fall prey to the developer's buildozer, he began looking for a private non-profit organization to which he could donate it. Because of New Jersey's lack of a law bestowing tax-exempt status on property held for park purposes by such institutions, no group he approached could afford to accept his offer. A solution presented itself last March, when legislation was enacted to improve the lot of the five-year-old Natural Lands Trust. It had been created to acquire and maintain open space in its natural condition, but was handicapped since its inception by lack of funds and nonexistence of the state government positions from which two of its members were to be endowed with a $95,000 appropriation, the Trust took title to Rheinhardt's land on Sept. 28.

The Trust pays no property taxes and can override municipal landuse decisions on land it controls. It protects gifts of property from outside encroachment and offers its donors flexible terms; e.g., Rheinhardt has been granted the right to hike and gather firewood on the land.

Also present at the ceremony were representatives of the Sierra Club Foundation and the New Jersey Division of Parks and Forestry, which will cooperate with the Natural Lands Trust in managing and admionistering the property.

Parochial schools seek fuel priority

The New Jersey Council of Catholic School Superintendents said this week that the 650 Catholic elementary and secondary schools throughout New Jersey would "participate fully in the effort to conserve fuel and energy during the current crisis.

"At the same time, however," the superintendents said, "state and federal officials overseeing fuel allocation formulas and plans should continue to consider education as one of the top priorities within our society. "While recognizing the necessity of insuring proper supplies of fuel to health facilities, public safety organizations and industry," the superintendents said, "it is necessary that education remain in the category of vital institutions when considering fuel deployment."

Newspaper award given to Suburban by Cancer Society

The Suburban Publishing Company, publisher of this newspaper and seven others in Inion and Essex counties, has been awarded the George E. Stringfellow Communications Award by the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society

The award is presented for "meritorious contribution" by a newspaper to cancer control activities. The presentation was made by Mrs. Jean Geiger, chairman of the public information committee of the division, to Les Malamut, representing Suburban Publishing. Company.

Stringfellow was the first president of the New Jersey Division. As an executive of Thomas A, Edison Industries, he strongly adhered to the belief that "communications In pursuit of this objective, he founded in 1949

STRICTLY PERSONAL

By Pat and Marilyn Davis (Copley News Service IIII)

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
My husband's brother has been living with us for six months. He is an able-bodied young man, 24 years old, who refuses to work. He claims to have a degree from college. I know he did attend for four years but has never done anything except work on a cruise ship. He is always saying how he loves to travel so I guess he did like that one

Whenever I suggest to my husband that he kick this bum out, he gets very upset and says he can't treat his own brother this way. I'm tired of washing, ironing and cooking for this guy. What can I do?

You'll be doing yourself and your brother-in-law a favor if you tell him to do what he enjoys—pack his bags and travel.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

In a recent column, a mother was going to visit in a city where her daughter lived and shared an apartment with a young man. The mother was wondering how to introduce this young man to her friends. Well, her problem is small compared to mine. She just visits in the city where her daughter is. I live in the same house with my mother and her friend. Just how am I supposed to introduce this man to people?

A few weeks ago the gang came by for pizza after bowling and I could feel my face getting red when I introduced them to Joe (not his real name). To be fair I must say that Joe is great. He is nice to my friends, wonderful to my mother and I am always encouraged to bring my friends to the house for parties or refreshments. In fact, they all like Joe very much. But I feel that everyone knows my mother is living with this man and not married.

Embarrassed

Dear Embarrassed: You do not owe an ex-planation to your friends. They probably don't know. and certainly don't care, whether your mother is legally married or not. Simply introduce Joe and let it go at

Health package is proposed for Newark's poor

An admittedly revolutionary, pre-paid health-care plan for Newark's working poor that could serve as a model for the nation has been received by the state, which is expected to seek federal aid for a 27-month pilot project to cost an estimated $56-million.

Details of the plan, which could eventually embrace the entire population of the city and most of the city's health services, were disclosed on the heels of the announcement that the Nixon Administration would soon reveal a new national health insurance scheme Submission of the plan-formally known as the Newark Comprehnsive Health Services Plan and informally described as Medicaid Waiver because it requires relaxing certain Medicaid eligibility rules—capped a sometimes controversial 14-month effort. The final work was accomplished by a staff headed by acting project director Richard L. Durbin. who was on loan from the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.

"We have presented a prevention-oriented system, rather a crisis-oriented one," Durbin "And for the first time, the system is designed for a whole city, and a major city, at

Among other things, the plan would substitute yearly per-capita payments for the prevailing fee-for-service system of health care and would make it possible for every resident of Newark to participate, either through public support or his own contribution, depending on family size and income.

"The "primary provider"—possibly, a hospital, or a group of physicians joined in a socalled foundation-would retain control of patient management and direct the provision of all comprehensive services for patients. Monetary incentives would be provided to provide this care on an ambulatory basis.

DISC 'N DATA By MILT HAMMER HUMHHUMH

thereby reducing the cost of expensive inpatient hospital treatment

Provision is made for mental, dental, home health and other services, and for a "peer review" system to enforce quality care standards.

To make sure that those most in need of health care are not frozen out of the system, the plan provides for higher payments for those risk of illness is higher. Thus, the "capitation" for a young enrollee would be significantly lower than for an elderly person.

Board of Realtors urges passage of credit legislation

Fast Congressional action on an emergency eredit bill which would represent a "massive commitment" to housing by the federal government was urged this week by the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors.

Robert E. Scott Jr., president of the group, stated: "Although we welcome our New Jersey legislature's long overdue action authorizing the state commissioner of banking to raise the maximum interest rates on conventional home loans from eight percent to a maximum of 9.5. percent, this solves only one portion of the home mortgage problem.

"We must now redouble our efforts to improve the other half of the problem, the supply of mortgage money."

The federal emergency credit legislation favored by the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors was recently introduced in the Senate by Sen. John Sparkmen (D.-Ala.), chairman of the Senate Housing Subcommittee, and Sen. John Tower of Texas, the committee's ranking Republican member.

Scott explained, "This measure would enhance the ability of thrift institutions to attract depositors. It would permit federal insurance on 100 percent of state, county and municipal government deposits, as well as increase federal deposit insurance from $20,000 to $50,000

"It would also liberalize lending powers of home financing institutions by removing unnecessary restrictions on construction loans and by permitting larger loans on single family

"For example," Scott continued, "it would make FHA-insured loans a more viable financing technique in New Jersey's more costly housing market by increasing the maximum insurable loan amount from $33,000 to $45,000 and liberalizing the down payments." According to the Elizabeth real estate executive, these steps are essential to complete the job started by the New Jersey legislature. "As a result of its failure to lift the prohibition against discounts, popularly referred to as points, the legislature condenined New Jersey to an isolation from the national secondary mortgage markets. FHA and VA mortgage loans, however, are exempt from the ban on points and, therefore, can be discounted for sale in the national secondary

Secretary picked by charter group

Mrs. Henrietta Froehlich, former executive director of the Union County Heart Association, has been named administrative secretary to the Union County Optional Charter Study Commission. Mrs. Froehlich served with the Heart Association from 1952 to 1973.

Mrs. Joan Palin of Linden has accepted a commission invitation to participate at its meetings. Mrs. Palin was a losing candidate for the commission but polled the highest number of votes for a loser. If a vacancy occurs, she will fill it.

Allan Olsen of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs attended last week's meeting and will serve as liaison between the charter commission and the state. Edward H. Trush of Cranford was appointed assistant counsel without compensation.

The commission tabled a proposed budget until the next meeting when county officials and consultants will appear to give presentations as to costs

Realtors celebrate 21st year of MLS at Yule dinner party

More than 250 Realtors and guests helped the Union County Multiple Listing Service celebrate its 21st anniversary this week at the organization's annual Christmas dinner dance at the Mountainside Inn.

The local multiple listing group was founded in 1952 with 35 members. It now has a record membership of 144 real estate firms employing more than 500 people.

Represented at MLS's annual festivities were real estate firms which comprise the membership of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, the Rahway Board of Realtors and the Cranford Board of Realtors.

Dudley E. Painter Jr., Rahway Realtor recently reelected to his second term as presiding officer of the MLS organization, welcomed those in attendance, Honored guests included representatives of the various state and local Realtor boards, plus public officials from many of the communities served by the MLS member real estate firms. In commenting on the continued growth of the Union County Multiple Listing Service,

"The increasing public awareness that the fastest, most effective way to buy or sell property is to deal with a member of our Multiple Listing Service has resulted from the excellent cooperation provided by our members, plus the dedication of all our officers, board members, committees and office staff.'

A single Union County comprehensive community college Christmas card, listing donors to both funds, will be published in the Serving with Painter as MLS officers for the oming year will be: vice-president, Gilbert E. Howland Jr., Cranford; secretary, Daniel Colangelo, Clark, and treasurer, Robert J. Glacken, Elizabeth.

The Union County Multiple Listing Service serves as an information bureau and sales catalyst for real estate firms located in Clark, Cranford, Elizabeth, Hillside, Garwood, Linden, Rahway, Roselle, Roselle Park and Union, plus other neighboring Middlesex and Essex communities.

Directing activities at the MLS central headquarters, 328 Morris Ave., Elizabeth, is Helen Bogard, executive secretary.

The full-time staff distributes pictures and listing information to all member firms. Adaily bulletin keeps each office up-to-date on homes which have been sold, withdrawn or changed in price

Put education under tree College offers gift certificates Holiday shoppers who have run out of gift metal art through-welding and maintena

ideas are getting an assist from Union College, Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains.

The two institutions, which are serving the community college needs of Union County, are offering gift certificates for credit and non-credit courses.

The gift idea is an outgrowth of a request from a young woman last Christmas that she be permitted to buy a course in English literature for her mother.

Union College places no restrictions on adults who want to take courses as part-time, non-matriculated students, according to Mrs. Patricia Wustfoff, assistant director of admissions, which simplifies the purchase of a course as a gift. A similar policy applies at Union County Technical Institute.

Union College offers some 200 college-credit courses paralleling the first two-years in fouryear colleges and universities. These include courses in the sciences, literature, history, fine arts, political science, foreign languages, psychology and sociology.

For the convenience of adults who are not always able to meet the traditional college schedule of two to three classes a week in a given subject, the college has also instituted a Weekday and Weekend College, permitting adults to attend a single three-hour class on a weekday or a Saturday morning, Courses of-fered in the spring semester include American Literature, Appreciation of Art, Introduction to Drama, American National Government, Child Psychology, Principles of Accounting, Introduction to Computer Science, Contemporary Literature, Introduction to Western Civilization and Psychology of Personality.

Union College also offers a number of noncredit remedial and enrichment courses. These range from English for Speakers of Other Languages to remedial math to the Traditional Painting of Head and Hands.

Seven studio art courses will be offered beginning in March. In addition to the painting of head and hands, these will include painting, drawing, watercolor, portrait painting, creative stitchery and art for teenagers.

The technical institute also offers a Saturday morning program of courses for homeowners. These include: minor auto body repair, outboard motor maintenance and repair, practical house plumbing, party and buffet cooking,

The proposed Plainfield Corridor Service Project, an extension of the PATH system, from Newark Penn Station to Plainfield via Elizabeth, includes the construction of a completely new fail line on and along side of the Penn Central right-of-way between Penn Station, Newark, and Elizabeth, the construction of a new PATH station at McClellan Street, Newark to serve Newark, and Elizabeth, alriport, basic system and structural improvements along the Central Railroad of New Jersey right-ofway between Elizabeth and Plainfield, station construction along the right-of-way at Elizabeth, Roselie-Roselle Park,
Cranford, Westfield-Garwood, Fanwood-Scotch Plains and Plainfield, purchase of 44 new rapid transit vehicles, and the purchase of additional equipment items required for this Project.
The estimated gross project cost of $221,510,000 will be financed in part by an 80 per cent Federal grant under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, the remainder to be provided by a local contribution of the Port Authority Trans-Hudson Corporation, through funds of The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, and as necessary by a financial advance from the State of New Jersey.
As a result of the acquisition of Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, and as necessary by a financial advance from the State of New Jersey.

As a result of the acquisition of land parcels required for the project, it is estimated that one "family" and approximately 30 businesses will be displaced by the Project, Persons, businesses and non-profit or ganizations displaced as a result of this Project will be afforded rights as required by the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970.

No significant adverse environmental impact is anticipated as a result of the Project, Should the Urban Mass Transportation Administration prepare a formal statement of the environmental impacts of the Project, the availability of such statement from UMTA will be made known in the same manner as the notice of hearing. This Project is in conformance with comprehensive land us and transportation planning in the New Jersey-New York metropolitan area and, in accordance with Cifice of Management and Budget Circular A-95, the project is currently under review by the Tri-State Regional Commission, the designated A-95 and 204 Clearinghouse.

PATH will make every reasonable effort to ensure that the elderly and handicapped will be able to use the Plaintield Corridor Service.

On and after the date of this notice and for the entire period prior to the hearings, PATH will make available for public inspection its preliminary grant application.

make available for public inspection its preliminary grant application, a copy of a draft environmental impact analysis of the Project, and the regional transit development program, at the following times and locations:

Alaska jobseekers warned of chances: unemployment high

WASHINGTON - Don't go to Alaska looking for work on the pipeline unless you have been promised a job, Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan has warned jobseekers.

There are virtually no jobs available: the unemployment rate there is double the national figure, and it is already 30 degrees below zero at some points along the pipeline route the Secretary said.

Hopeful workers have been going to Alaska in growing numbers over the past few months since it became apparent that a pipeline would be constructed. Although President Nixon signed the bill two weeks ago, construction is not expected to begin until mid-1974 at the Brennan said the influx of people without jobs has caused unemployment insurance claims to climb 30 percent over the last 60 days and welfare rolls to expand rapidly. Alaska has about 14,000 unemployed -- 10 percent of the labor force -- and the number is climbing.

Fairbanks, where many of the construction and support services for the pipeline are expected to be based, more than 2,000 persons, about 11 percent of the labor force, are expected to receive unemployment com-pensation in the season.

Brennan cautioned that for people with no promised job and little money, Alaska is an

Upsala to enlarge board of trustees, widening support

The board of trustees of Upsala College, East range, has approved a charter revision for the 80-year-old college, expanding the board's membership from 24 to 29 and creating a wider ase of support.

The new trustees will come from fields of business and professions and public life and will add to Lutheran church, alumni and general representation now on the board.

Dr. Carl Fjellman, president of Upsala, said while the new provisions continue to reflect the historic ties of Upsala to the Lutheran Church in America, they also follow the general trend in higher education to strengthen academic independence and to open new possibilities to meet the escalating financial needs of high quality colleges.

Upsala is supported by the New Jersey and New England Synods of the Lutheran Church in America. The new charter lists the college as an independent, church-related college. The former documents described Upsala as a college that was supported and controlled by the Lutheran Church in America. The two synods accepted the charter revisions at their conventions last-spring-and-have pledged continued financial and other support to the college.

Trustee membership will continue to include six from each of the two synods, half clergymen and the other half laymen, the two synod presidents as ex-officio members, at least six alumni, three of whom are nominated by the alumni association, the president of the college and the rest members at large.

Realtors, police sponsor contest

Municipal police chiefs throughout New Jersey are participating in a public service campaign to assist homeowners in the protection of their property.

Albert Rubin, outgoing president of the 10,000-member New Jersey Association of Realtor Boards (NJARB), told some 3,500 delegates to the group's annual convention at Atlantic City that police chiefs in each of the Garden State's 567 municipalities have been invited to enter-the-competition, "Crime Prevention for Homeowners." It is being cosponsored by NJARB and the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police.

According to Rubin, the entries will describe the measures taken by local police departments to protect homes against burglars, thieves, vandals, unlicensed door-to-door peddlers and others. Winning essays will be published and distributed to the public Entries will also include recommendations from each police chief to homeowners for the protection of property during vacations and other periods of absence.

Rubin said a winning entry will be selected from each of the State's 21 counties and a Statewide grand prize winner will be chosen from among the county winners.

body, it is important to apply the right treatment immediately.

Dr. A. Louis Southern and Dr. Sanford Sall at New York Medical College are searching for a way to determine if a patient is responsive to hormone treatment, which is the most effective therapy in about one-third of cancer patients. They hope to develop a simple test to detecthormone-responsive patients, so that the proper therapy can be administered earlier, thus helping to save more lives and saving time, distress and unnecessary expense for patients who do not respond to hormones

The work of the two physicians is being funded in part by a group of about 400 women who live in the Newark area. They recently donated $10,000 to New York Medical College as part of the Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial Award for Cancer Research, given annually for the past 25 years to those judged most worthy to receive it.

This year the group, led by its president, Suzanne Greenberg of Springfield, plans to raise $40,000 through raffles, dances, a bowling evening and other fund-raising activities. The money will be split equally among four cancer research projects, including th one conducted by Southern and Sall.

The investigations committee of the group, headed this year by Rhoda Goodman of Union, and her two committee members, Harriet Sklar of Livingston and Pat Derham of Maplewood, solicits grant applications from medical schools across the country. A medical advisory committee consisting of 10 physicians evaluate the applications and rank them in order of merit. The awards are then determined by a vote of the members.

Check toys for safety, says CPSC

Right or Wrong" A child is safe with any plaything since it's only a toy Right?

Wrong: U.S. Product Safety Commission injury figures, projections of data collected from 119 National Electronic Injury Surveillance System (NEISS) hospitals, indicate that in fiscal year 1973 nearly 515,000 injuries associated with toys. tricycles and bicycles were treated in hospital emergency

NEISS data do not include injuries treated at home, in doctors' offices, health centers, school health facilities or after direct hospital ad-

The U.S. CPSC, an independent federal agency created by Congress to reduce the number of injuries to consumers from consumer products, has banned 1,500 hazardous toys.

Manufacturers prohibited from making a banned toy unless they correct hazardous Retailers, too, are forbidden to sell a banned toy under penalty of law.

Concerned adults can help the commission protect children by purchasing toys that fit the child's age and abilities and by informing the commission of toys they believe are hazardous. Also remember that a youngster may get his hands on complex toys bought for older brothers and sisters.

Even a carefully chosen toy. however, may be dangerous. Adults should keep an eye on a child at play. Teach children proper use of toys. Finally, be on the alert for broken or rusted toys that could become

Ice cream at Rutgers

January will be a big month for ice cream and other foods at Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

The yearly ice cream short course will be offered by Cook College Jan. 14-24 with the first Rutgers Dairy and Food Industry Conference set for Jan. 25. The composition of milk ingredients and equipment used in the making of ice cream, and preparation of the ice cream mix are among the course's topics, according to Dr. Joseph G. Leeder, professor of food science at Cook College.
