SRO crowd of 150 hears views of board candidates

By KAREN STOLL

It was virtually standing room only at the Beechwood School Monday night, as more than 150 borough citizens packed the auditorium for the annual Board of Education Candidates Night, sponsored by the local PTA.

The session, which ran approximately two hours, included five-minute prepared statements by each of the office seekers—George G. Crane, R. Charles Speth, Gertrude Palmer, Walter Rupp and Orville White—and an audience participation session, most of which was taken up in lengthy arguments over technicalities in the 1974-75 budget, specifically the amount of surplus.

After introductory remarks by the moderator, Margaret Walker of the Westfield League of Women Voters, the candidates presented their statements, in the order in which their names will appear on the Feb. 13 ballot.

First at the podium was Crane, who emphasized the quality of borough education must be maintained "despite ever-increasing contrary pressures," and that this must be accomplished "at the lowest reasonable cost levels, through rational and meaningful fiscal management policies." Crane, who along with Rupp and White, have gained the support of the Mountainside Citizens Committee for Better Education, stressed his candidacy reflected no political aspirations, and noted he owes "no allegiance or favors to any group or faction."

"I believe the strength of our schools emanates mostly from the confidence and trust one has in teachers, administrators and board members, particularly in these times of uncertainty," he continued. "To this end I feel greater public interest and participation in educational and board activities should be solicited and promoted."

Crane stated he supports the proposed budget because it "encompasses foreseeable needs and demands for education, plus taking into account inflation, the fuel crisis and essential plant repairs." He noted it does contain "questionable items, as there are in any attempt to forecast the future accurately," but explained he "doesn't characterize these as license to spend with abandon, because they are simply indicative of the many uncertainties with which the board and administration must deal over the coming year."

Next to speak was an incumbent, Mrs. Palmer, who listed her accomplishments during her first term, and attacked critics whom, she stated, have labeled her "negative, controversial and against education."

"To those critics who say I never vote 'yes' at board meetings," she offered statistics showing, out of 180 roll call votes, she cast "aye" ballots 157 times; "nay" votes 26 times—as opposed to the record of men who, she said, voted "yes" 153 times, "no" 28 times, with two abstentions.

She cited her record of board activities, including being the first Mountainside member to attend an orientation workshop, and her recommendations, among these that committee meetings be opened to the public observers; that all meetings be taped; that Echobrook be kept functioning until the building is condemned by the state for highway construction or enrollment dropped greatly; that the foreign language program be postponed for further study, and that reductions be made in the number of principals and

PRO-BUDGET CANDIDATES for the Mountainside Board of Education study figures that call for a 1.4 per cent increase in the proposed outlay for the 1974-1975 school year. Walter H. Rupp (right) and Orville L. White (left), incumbents seeking reelection, explain details to George G. Crane, a first-time candidate. The three candidates and the budget have been endorsed by the Mountainside Committee for Better Education.

School board president defends '74-75 budget

The proposed 1974-1975 school budget benefits from every sensible cut in spending permitted by lower enrollment and the closing of Echobrook School, according to Grant H. Lennox, president of the Mountainside Board of Education.

Interviewed by members of the Mountainside Committee for Better Education, Lennox detailed the savings, explained why increases in some expenses are "unavoidable," and asserted there is no more leeway for responsible cutbacks in spending.

"The only way to eliminate any more costs is

Knodel: 'My duty to demand proof of graph's source

Patricia Knodel, member of the Mountainside Board of Education, has recently attracted comment from some borough citizens for remarks she made to Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, superintendent of schools, at the board's budget hearing. In order to clarify that matter, and her stand on school bus transportation, Mrs. Knodel this week issued the following statement:

"It has come to my attention that I am being accused of having called the superintendent of schools a 'liar' at the budget hearing on Jan. 16th at Deerfield School. At no time did I call the superintendent this or any other name that evening.

"When the superintendent presented to the board president a graph which reportedly compared the cost per pupil of 11 unidentified school districts in Union County in certain line items of the budget, I objected. There was nothing on this paper to indicate that it had indeed come from the county superintendent—no letterhead, no signature, no date, no names of the 11 districts. When the superintendent responded that we had his word for it, I replied 'Your word is not enough for me. As a representative of the taxpayers of this community, it is my duty to demand proof.'

"Several people have told me that this remark would have been permissible at a caucus meeting, but not in public. On Thursday evening, Jan. 10, the superintendent first presented this graph to the board. There were four board members present. Two approved of the use of this graph; two of us objected. I made the same comment then as I made at the public meeting, but our objections were ignored. Hence, my reason for repeating the remark in public.

"It is ironic that whenever I make a statement, proof is always demanded of me. I feel that on behalf of the taxpayers of Mountainside, I have the right to expect no less of the paid employees of the board.

"The second item I wish to clarify is the Dinner is planned for mayor, council

All residents of Mountainside have been invited to attend the annual mayor and council dinner-dance at the Mountainside Inn on Friday evening, March 1. The dance is held each year to honor outgoing councilmen and give Mountainside residents the opportunity to meet socially with the mayor and borough councilmen.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m. with a prime rib dinner at 8. Music for dancing until 1 a.m. will be provided by the Johnny Jay Band. There will be an open bar.

Tickets are $16 per person and will not be sold at the door. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Frank Formis. Co-chairman is Mrs. Steve Eskoff. Publicity chairman is Mrs. John Trebble.

A spokesman added, "Last year's dance was a success. Therefore, it is suggested you purchase tickets early. Call Kay Formis at 686-3333 for tickets and table reservations. All Mountainsiders are invited to attend."

Regional voting this Tuesday

Mountainside voters will go to the polls Tuesday in the Union County Regional High School District election.

Appearing on the ballot will be the amounts to be raised by taxation for the Regional School Board's 1974-75 budget—current expense, $8,719,861; capital outlay, $131,821—and a special question calling for construction of an auxiliary gym at David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, at a cost of $450,000.

Voters also will cast ballots for a Mountainside representative to the regional board. Incumbent Theodore White is running unopposed.

The polling place for registered voters in all Mountainside districts is the Deerfield School, Central avenue. Polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m.

Endorsement of the school budget has been given by executive boards of both the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School PTA and the Gov. Livingston Regional High School PTA. The Dayton PTA also has endorsed the special question.

accompaniment for a guitar Mass. The pre-Christmas service, held at a Mountainside home, was part of the continuing program for teenagers conducted by the local parish.

Innovative classes, 'communication' emphasized by OLL Confraternity

During the past year Our Lady of Lourdes parish in Mountainside has been actively getting its Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program under way, with innovations being continually offered.

Mrs. Leslie Cooper has been holding classes for high school freshmen on weekday evenings in her home and says she is delighted with the enthusiastic response of students and parents alike.

"Getting away from the day-to-day classroom routine and atmosphere has been an inducement resulting in better communication and cooperation in the student-teacher relationship," she explained.

One program introduced in Mrs. Cooper's home was on drug abuse, given by Det. Sgt. Jerome Rice and Det. Steven Semancik of the Mountainside Police Department. Slides, movies and samples of the various drugs were shown to the teenagers and adults present. This program is also available to schools and to any club or group interested in the subject. "Detectives Rice and Semancik are most

PROFILE-- R. Charles Speth

For the past seven of his 17 years as a local resident, R. Charles Speth has regularly attended the monthly meetings of the Mountainside Board of Education, because of an "interest in the educational procedure." He has usually been an active participant at the sessions, always ready to question or challenge the opinions of individual board members or the actions of the group as a whole. Now he has decided to extend that interest into active candidacy for a three-year term on the body.

"I am firmly committed to the support of good education for Mountainside children," he stated. "I have observed the actions of the board, and if there were, in my opinion, errors in judgement, I sought out answers from sources such as the New Jersey School Boards Association, county superintendent of schools Dr. William West, and other educators in Union County who were available for answers to hypothetical questions."

For the past several weeks, Speth's questioning has been directed primarily to the board's 1974-75 budget, and his conclusion is that it should be rejected by the voters.

"Last year the budget was rejected by voter

Today is deadline for dog licenses

Mountainside dog owners are reminded today is the legal deadline for 1974 dog licenses. Those who have not yet done so have been urged to come to the borough hall, Rt. 22, as soon as possible. Licenses may be obtained weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for a fee of $3.50 per dog.

Under the provisions of the new N.J. Assembly Bill 1474, no license will be issued unless a certification of rabies vaccination, signed by a licensed veterinarian, accompanies the application. However, for 1974, such a certificate, signed only by the owner, will be accepted. The forms will be provided at Borough hall and must be signed in the Service duplication brings YES halt

The Youth Employment Service of Mountainside this week announced it is closing indefinitely because its work is now being duplicated by the regional district high schools.

All calls for job orders, home or business, should now be made through Barbara Ullom, job placement coordinator, who may be contacted through either Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, or Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights.

Mrs. Palmer noted, "At this time, our budget shows a surplus figure of approximately $200,000: $151,075 after deductions of balance appropriated for 1973-74, plus a surplus generated from July 1, 1973 to Dec. 31, 1973, of approximately $50,000. I don't see how we can go to the people and ask them to increase their taxes when we have this money in our budget already," she said.

The next speaker, Walter Rupp, an incumbent seeking his fifth term on the board, drew laughter when he told the audience he had finally written a new speech for the annual program. Citing his experience, particularly his contributions as chairman of the long-range planning committee, as a benefit to the board, he promised to "continue to represent all of the people."

"I believe board members are exceedingly proud of the fact that the quality of education has increased and the percentage of your taxes allocated to local schools has decreased from 51 percent in 1960 to under 40 percent now, in 14 years of gross inflation and soaring salaries," he said. Rupp, who favors the budget, stated "The board has passed along to taxpayers the cost savings from decreased enrollments this year."

Noting, "America needs leaders of integrity and vision now, at all levels of our government and business life," he warned "unless our boards of education can make new, broad policy decisions promptly and wisely, we may lose our local school decision powers."

Another incumbent, Orville White, who also has voted in favor of the budget, emphasized the 1974-75 total contains no "fat." "I feel it is the minimum amount necessary to provide our children with good quality education in this time of rapidly rising costs," he stated. "Many marginal items have been eliminated or reduced and further reductions can only be made at the expense of our children or at the risk of curtailing approved programs for lack of funds."

White also noted he feels responsible "to all the citizens of Mountainside, with no partiality to any group or section of town." He continued: "I strongly feel a board member should be responsive to the desires of the town as a whole, but have the courage to exercise his own best judgment in the face of pressure from special interest groups."

White also discussed problems he feels will face the board in the near future, especially the school funding question, and the state "norm" of education which is expected to be established, and said he would like the board to spend more time on the discussion of improved educational trends and less on "minor administrative details." He also suggested the board utilize more fully citizens' talents in an advisory capacity.

The final speaker was R. Charles Speth, a familiar figure at board sessions for the past seven years, who commented, "I believe I have attended more meetings than some of the board members themselves."

Speth expressed disapproval of the proposed budget, calling it "highly inflated in several areas," and urged its defeat by voters.

"In its place must be substituted a budget that is more realistic and reflects what I call 'fiscal accountability,'" he said, defining that phrase as "reducing or in some cases eliminating certain items ... which waste taxpayers' money and have little educational value." Among these, he said, are administrative costs, which he reported have increased $40,000 in six years even though enrollment has dropped and one school is being closed.

Speth criticized the $126,000 allocation for library books and audio-visual materials, urging that present materials, including those from the phased-out Echobrook School, be used "more efficiently," instead. He also attacked the amount of the school surplus, asking "Why don't we use this massive figure to improve our educational system and reduce next year's tax levy at the same time?"

Speth and Mrs. Palmer's citing of surplus figures led the way for extensive audience questioning on this matter, and resulted in discussion of various sums, which at times became confusing.

PROFILER --R. Charles Speth

"TO MY KNOWLEDGE the board has not communicated its guidelines to the citizens for not practicing the economy requested in budget deficits. As an elected board member, I will seek out these guidelines and go over each item in the budget with the superintendent and board secretary. I believe my experience in running my own business will further help explore the number of built-in expenses in the budget that can be eliminated."

Speth's business background includes 10 years in banking, with the New York Trust Co., and six years in engineering, in the expediting and production fields, with American Typefounders Inc., Elizabeth, and Arthur G. Mc Kee, Union. For the past 18 years, he has been president of Lifetime Aluminum Products Inc., Cranford.

Continuing his discussion of the school budget, he said, "This year the budget does contain grudging reductions in some areas, but nothing like the reductions that are in order, due to the closing of one of the three primary schools and an enrollment decrease projection of 9.9 percent. To my thinking, the $57,320 increase in the current expense part of the budget is completely unjustified. The over-all budget for current expenses could be reduced a minimum of five percent from this year's budget without harming the quality of education."

"The areas in which the school budget should and could be reduced are as follows:

"First-Administration: Costs are up from $73,345 in the 1968-69 budget with 1,320 students to $112,955 in the proposed budget with approximately 1,000 students. This represents an increase of 54 percent in six years with a 25 percent drop in enrollment."

"Second-Library and Audio-visual material: In the last six budgets, $125,676 has been allocated for this item. This year an additional $22,000 is being allocated. This amount should be able to be reduced by at least half, by transferring the books from the phased-out school to the schools remaining in operation."

"Third-Surplus: I disagree with the amount of money maintained in surplus funds, year after year. The surplus as of June 30, 1973, for all categories, amounted to $221,275. Of that, $70,201 was appropriated for the current year's budget. This leaves at present $151,074. From this the board is appropriating only $50,000 questioning on this matter, and resulted in discussion of various sums, which at times became confusing.

(According to Board Secretary John McDonough, whom we contacted later in an effort to clarify the figures, the surplus appropriated for 1974-75 is $50,000; that accumulated from the 1972-73 budget totaled $70,201. He noted a definite surplus figure for the 1973-74 budget could not be given at present, since the books are not audited until July.)

Rupp defended the board's budget surplus appropriations, stating "We have made an effort to return as much as possible to the taxpayers. We have to have some funds available for emergency use. The proposed budget is up only 1.4 percent; if it had increased more, then we could have cut the surplus more."

White echoed his thoughts, adding, "I don't think any sound business—and as far as the school board is concerned, we are operating a $2 million-plus business—can operate without a surplus." Mrs. Palmer retorted: "Yes, but big businesses use private money, not taxpayers' money. They must make a profit; schools don't have to."

Among the few audience questions directed at topics other than the surplus, was one regarding the effect of the new foreign language courses on classes for "basics," such as English and math.

Rupp stated the students "are losing a minimum of class time in English; the board still believes in teaching English," but Speth charged too much class time is being "stolen" for the foreign languages. Rupp said if that were the case, he would be against the program, but he noted that Spanish and German are offered only to those students found proficient in English skills, and only with the approval of students and their parents.

Mrs. Palmer criticized the need for the courses in the seventh and eighth grades, stating testing shows pupils not exposed to languages before high school take only two or three months to reach the level in secondary school of those who have had prior instruction.

"What programs would you candidates offer to assist the administration in improving education?" was the final query of the night. Rupp and Mrs. Palmer both emphasized plans to institute a project aiding gifted children, not only those with high I.Q.s, but also those who show special talent in other areas. Crane compared the level of education in borough schools to the high quality of private facilities, and urged continued cooperative work toward maintaining the "level of excellence."

Speth and White also urged a closer relationship between the board and the administration to accomplish common goals, with White specifically asking administrators to bring new ideas forward.

toward the '74-'75 budget, which will leave $101,074 in the surplus, plus any surplus generated from this current year's budget. For what reason?

"The procedure followed by Westfield, which is appropriating all of the surplus accumulated over the past years to next year's budget, will leave them with a surplus of what will be generated from this year's budget. Westfield's total budget is 5 1/2 times that of Mountainside. If Westfield does not need to maintain a large surplus, why then should Mountainside?"

"I will support only expenditures which have an acknowledged effect on the educational process. I will not support programs of unproven value."

IN CONCLUSION, he stated, "I believe it is about time we stopped thinking of where we have been and look forward to where we are going. To this end I would recommend that the voters reject the budget."

Turning to his feelings about board members' responsibilities, the candidate said he felt their actions "should reflect the community as a whole, rather than any small group or groups." He noted he "would welcome the views, comments and recommendations of the citizens before and after the election." "My observation is that the board owes some consideration to citizens who no longer have children in school, but want to continue good education," he said.

Citing specifically a notice from the school board on its planned discussion of a possible referendum limiting bus transportation—sent home with pupils a few days before the budget hearing—Speth stated:

"I do not believe school children should be messengers for the superintendent or the Board of Education, except for routine school notices. I propose that every article of policy or information be made through an adequate public notice, far enough in advance, to all the citizens, rather than, in some cases, being sent only to homes with school children or published just in the PTA organ."

SPETH, A NATIVE of Bayonne, has been a Union County resident since 1927, having lived in Roselle Park and Cranford before moving to Mountainside. He attended Rhode Island State College and Newark Technical Institute (now Newark College of Engineering), majoring in engineering, with a minor in education.

He is president-elect of the Cranford Rotary Club and a member of the Cranford Chamber of Commerce and was an officer and director of the New Jersey Home Improvement Contractors Association. He has served on the Cranford Recycling Program Committee and the YMCA building fund, and as a solicitor for the United Fund. When his children attended Mountainside schools, he was active in the matter of the bus transportation. It has come to my attention that Mr. (Walter) Rupp, Mrs. (Trudy) Palmer and myself are being accused of trying to eliminate the buses. This simply is not true.

"The board met with a representative of the State Department of Education and the county superintendent of schools re: transportation. We also had received a letter from the state commissioner of education urging us to cut back all busing to the two-mile limit due to the energy crisis. Hence, our reasons for spending so much time on this matter at this time."

"After the meeting, the board asked me for my recommendation. I recommended nothing. I stated that in the three years I have been on the transportation committee, I have had as much flak from people wishing to eliminate busing as I have had from parents wanting illegal bus passes for their children. I feel that I truly do not know what the majority of people want, but I think that the people should be heard from. On Jan. 16 we heard from the people, and the board has its answer once and for all."

"At no time in caucus did the board decide to place this question on the ballot. Rather, the board elected to put the question up for public discussion, before making a determination. It was after the discussion that Mrs. Palmer made a motion, which I seconded, that this question not be placed on the ballot."

"If any taxpayer has any question regarding these two matters, or any other board business, please feel free to call me. I shall be happy to answer any and all questions to the best of my ability."

During the tour, which began Jan. 3, the chorus performed in cathedrals and concert halls in England, France, Belgium, Germany, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

School board president defends '74-'75 budget

(Continued from page 1) next year's enrollment to fall to 1,000 pupils, compared with actual current enrollment of about 1,065 and with the budgeted enrollment for the current year of 1,100.

The proposed 1974-1975 budget envisions two fewer teachers and eliminates the usual contingency allowance for one extra teacher. That permits a total saving of more than $30,000 in budgeted teacher salaries, Lennox said.

The position of assistant principal of the Deerfield Middle School is to be eliminated, for a $13,600 cut in the allowance for principals' salaries. "However, the current assistant principal is to return to teaching; his salary has been added to the allowance for teachers' salaries, replacing the salary of a less-experienced teacher," the committee spokesman explained.

The allowance for texts, library books, audio-visual materials, supplies and related instructional expenses has been reduced by $6,795, or 8.7 percent. Lennox noted, "This is definitely a belt-tightening measure. There is practically no increase in per-child spending for these items. We realize that we haven't allowed for inflation, so that our purchasing power per child actually is reduced."

The average cost of a library book has risen 10 percent in the past year to $5.50 from $4.96. Still, Lennox said, "The library must be kept up to date, and we need new materials to hold and stimulate the kids' active interest in reading."

Lennox cited these other budget reductions: The replacement of instructional equipment, down by $1,820, or almost 25 percent; the purchase of new equipment, down by $2,400, or 21 percent; the budget for the 1974 summer school, down by $8,000, or 44 percent, "because enrollment in 1973 was lower than expected."

Noting payments on the principal and interest of bonds will be lower by $24,945, Lennox said the board doesn't plan any capital spending, in contrast to the current year, when $5,200 is allowed for site work. These costs aren't related to enrollment.

The total budgeted increase in all current expenses, which don't include payments on bonds and for capital spending, is $37,320. Of that, Lennox said, salaries and salary-related costs account for almost 90 percent. He reported the board currently is negotiating with all its major employee groups for pay increases. By deducting the saving from fewer teachers, he said, the board was able to hold down the budgeted increase for total teacher salaries to $34,205, or three percent.

"We can't refuse to give pay increases in these inflationary times," Lennox commented. "For example, the annual increases in the superintendent's salary for at least the past three years haven't been any more than the annual increases in the cost of living."

The budget allows for a $15,100 or 48.5 percent jump in the cost of fuel oil for heating, and for a $5,200 or 21.5 percent increase in spending for the repair of buildings, largely for 20-year-old school roofs, Lennox said.

He also explained fixed charges, over which the board has no control, will be up by $10,530, or about 10 percent. These expenses include such items as pension, insurance and social security payments.

Lennox called on all residents "who want to maintain a superior school system" to go to the polls Feb. 13 and vote for the budget.

One motorist hurt in Bristol mishap

One motorist was injured in a two-car crash at the intersection of Sheffield street and Bristol road Jan. 22. Mountainside police reported.

According to police, Howard W. Hall of Springfield was making a right turn from Bristol onto Sheffield when his auto collided with a northbound van, operated by Robert C. Todd of New City, N.Y. Police said Todd, 25, complained of a headache following the 7:20 p.m. mishap and was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Mountainside Rescue Squad.

During the holidays, a home guitar Mass was celebrated at the Cooper home by the Rev. James Benedetto, CCD moderator for Our Lady of Lourdes parish. The service was followed by a Christmas party. A few weeks before, Father Jim, as he is known to the children, had arranged a tour for the CCD group of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, its baptistry, sanctuary and altar.

GOOD WIRING IMPORTANT Good wiring prevents "electrical starvation" of appliances. Starved appliances have definite symptoms. The motor driven appliances may heat up excessively or turn sluggishly while the heating appliance may heat slowly. Providing enough circuits, properly fused, will help solve the problem. Remember that a 115 volt circuit wired with No. 12 wire will safely carry about 2,000 watts. This circuit should be protected by a fuse or circuit breaker not larger than 20 amperes.

Separate circuits for fixed equipment such as washer, dryer, range, water heater, freezer, room heaters, dish-washers and room air conditioners will lessen the chance of overloaded circuits.

A residential wiring system that has been installed more than 10 years without additions is likely to need updating. It is also possible that a new wiring system has become overloaded if major additions in electrical equipment have been made.

SPACE PROBLEM — At the David Brearley Regional High School students on the girls' side of a divided gymnasium are forced to combine two classes into one large class even to execute an activity such as basic calisthenics. Of the four regional high schools, David Brearley is the only building with one gymnasium. With a strong emphasis upon addition of girls' interscholastic athletic programs, increasing adult school enrollments and expanding of community recreation activities, the demand for gymnasium space at David Brearley is extremely high. Voters of the six regional district communities will be asked to fund an additional gymnasium for the Brearley School, to correct this inadequate space problem, in Tuesday's election.

Voters will decide Tuesday on second gym for Brearley

In Tuesday's election voters of the Regional High School District will be asked in a special question to provide the David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, with a second gymnasium at a cost of $450,000.

A student wrestler dragging a mat through the halls, four physical education classes sharing one gymnasium at the same time and two physically handicapped teenagers exercising by tossing a ball in the hallway, are all daily examples of the need for additional gymnasium space at Brearley Regional.

Joseph Malt, principal of Brearley Regional, stated that "we have many instructional and after school activities competing for limited gymnasium space. As a result, some of the activities are moved to the cafeteria, corridors or rescheduled for the late afternoon or evening."

Of the four Regional High Schools, David Brearley is the only building with one gymnasium. Malt noted that over 65 per cent of the boys and girls at Brearley Regional participate in interscholastic and intramural programs. In addition, the communities of Kenilworth and Garwood greatly depend on the school for adequate recreational facilities for its teens and adults.

In the original construction referendum of 1970, plans included a second gymnasium for the David Brearley Regional High School. However, the defeat of this referendum caused the cutting of the necessary facility from the building program approved by voters.

The gym which serves the David Brearley Regional student body and communities measures 105 feet x 110 feet or 11,550 square feet. A special partition divides the gymnasium in half to permit boys and girls to use the facility at the same time. Malt explained that "this space is considerably less than the floor area of each of the three other regional high schools, and not sufficient for existing student need."

The new addition would provide a gym 50 feet by 80 feet or 8,500 square feet, boys and girls locker rooms, a storage area and corridors.

Present gym facilities make group and individualized instruction difficult in physical education classes. In order to provide adequate space for large group activities, teachers have had to combine their classes.

The educational programs for the physically handicapped have been affected by inadequate gym space. Currently, the adaptive physical education program is conducted in a regular classroom where a low ceiling, small area, and floor composition limits many activities and exercises for these students.

With a strong emphasis upon addition of girls' interscholastic athletic programs, increasing adult school enrollments and expanding of community recreation activities, the demand for gymnasium space at David Brearley Regional High School is extremely high.

DAYTON DISPATCH

By Margo Krasnoff

Lunch is a 23-minute period at Dayton. Afforded several options, students may bring their lunches or purchase them at the cafeteria. Recent construction enlarged the cafeteria; students can also eat outside. Everyone must remain on campus, although the Student Council open lunch proposal seeks to change this policy. Students may choose their own tables and sit with their friends.

Although previously run by the Regional Board of Education, the cafeteria is now managed by the J. C. Corporation. Two weeks ago the service committee chairman of the Student Council distributed a cafeteria survey to all of Dayton's students.

In cooperation with the J. C. Corporation, Jackie Benjamin and Drew Shulman, council secretary and treasurer, conducted this survey to determine which foods are preferred by the students and to discover if change is desired. The Student Council has not yet finished tallying its results.

Rita Landis, the manager of the cafeteria, says that in order of popularity the favorite hot lunches are spaghetti, hamburger, frankfurter, baked chicken, hot turkey sandwich, chow mein, baked manicotti with sausage patties, barbecue beef on bun, hot roast beef sandwich and oven-baked haddock.

For 50 cents a student receives the main meat course mentioned above, with a container of milk, a choice of canned fruit or juice, a serving of vegetable and one of starch. Tossed salad and cole slaw can replace either the starch, the vegetable or both. Yellow plates consisting of just the main course cost 35 cents.

Of the 40 cent sandwiches, prepared on white bread or on hard rolls, all are equally popular, says Mrs. Landis. The selection, varied daily, includes tuna fish, boiled ham, peanut butter and jelly, chicken salad, ham salad, American cheese, egg salad, salami, bologna and cheese. Submarine sandwiches cost 45 cents.

The third item on the survey gave students the opportunity to suggest additional desserts that they might enjoy. Ever since chocolate chip cookies, 162,000 of which were bought last year, were not sold this year, students have expressed a desire for reinstating them.

The cafeteria offers three homemade oatmeal cookies for 15 cents. Mrs. Landis said that if it becomes profitable, homemade chocolate chip cookies might be baked.

Regarding their desire to have Hostess cakes and Old London snacks, Mrs. Landis noted that students can already choose from four different kinds of ice cream sandwiches, brown cows, fudgesicles and creamicles, homemade cakes and pies, jello and pudding.

It is the J. C. Corporation which decides whether to change the dessert menu or

Choral workshop planned at Jonathan Dayton Regional

Students in the vocal music department of Jonathan Dayton High School are busy in many activities. All of the students in the department will be participating in a regional choral conducting workshop at Gov. Livingston Regional High School today.

The vocal departments from all the regional schools will join together today for a "teach-in" by four guest conductors from New Jersey high schools and colleges. The schools will perform for each other during the afternoon session. The evening session, to be held at 8:15 p.m. will be a free concert open to the public. Tickets are available at the door.

Approximately 20 Jonathan Dayton High School students selected from the concert choir and chorale have been honored by being requested to sing in the Opera Theatre of New Jersey production of "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, on Feb. 10, 7 p.m., in Symphony Hall, Newark; and again on Feb. 13, at 8 p.m. in Trenton in the War Memorial Auditorium. Grace Bumbry, Richard Tucker, and Antonia Kitsopoulos will lead the cast conducted by Alfredo Sillipigni. Tickets are available at $12, $10, $9, $7, and $5. Further information may be obtained by calling 624-7745.

The Choral Parents Society, a group dedicated to supporting the aims of the vocal department, will meet in the newly built music room for a room warming and business meeting next Thursday, at 8 p.m. Plans for their major fund raising events will be discussed.

Church continues education course

Mini-courses, part of an adult education program sponsored by the Christian education committee, will continue on Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Springfield Presbyterian Church Parish House, 37 Church Mall.

One segment, entitled "Great Christians in Modern Times," will feature a discussion of Pearl Buck, author of "The Good Earth," "The Child That Never Grew," "All Men Are Brothers" and "The Fighting Angel," among others. This discussion group will be led by Dr. Henry Bovenkerk, visiting minister at the Westfield Presbyterian Church and formerly a missionary in Japan.

The second section will feature a discussion of "Parables and People Today," led by Mrs. Richard Bunnell of the local congregation.

Arrangements for the courses, which will include an informal coffee hour, have been under the direction of Elder Pearl Hyers.

A native of Germany, he came to the United States in 1926 and lived in Irvington before moving to Union 34 years ago. He was a member of Evangel Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Anderson Schiller; a son, Herbert A. Jr. of Springfield; a daughter, Mrs. Elmer Geiger of Clark; a brother, Fritz Schiller of Union Beach; a sister in Germany and eight grandchildren.

The McCracken Funeral Home, 1500 Morris ave., Union, completed the funeral arrangements.

Horner taking part in Congressional Seminar for 1974

Neil Horner, of 1575 Brookside rd., Mountainside, who is a junior at the Wardlaw Country Day School, Edison, has been chosen to participate in the 1974 Congressional Seminar in Washington, D.C.

The Washington Workshops Foundation, a nonprofit, nonpartisan association founded in 1967, will conduct eight, one-week seminars during 1974 in cooperation with Mount Vernon College, where the students are housed. The seminars provide intensive study of American government for selected high school students from across the nation and abroad.

Participants travel to Capitol Hill where they confer with government leaders. In dialogue sessions with members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices and cabinet members, the students receive commentary on the operation of the government of the United States and in turn submit their questions and comments concerning government activities.

The students also spend much time observing the workings of the national government first-hand, as they attend sessions of the House and Senate, as well as committee hearings, and meet individually with their own Congressmen and Senators.

Each evening, special events are scheduled, such as embassy receptions and federal agency policy briefings. Also, the seminar students often are invited to White House receptions held for visiting heads of state. A final dance and special buffet dinner round out each session.

Each seminar features the student-run "Sense of the Seminar" session at which students present resolutions on national priority issues using Congressional research sources as background. In this mock congressional session, debate follows the rules of the House of Representatives and an officer of the House presides.

The national advisory council of the Washington Workshops Foundation includes many members of Congress and education leaders from across the nation. The seminars have recently received the Americanism Award of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

Further information on the program is available from the Washington Workshops Foundation, 1111 Munsey Bldg., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20004; telephone: (202) 638-4357.

The trio allegedly broke into the restaurant last Sept. 3, but were apprehended outside by local patrolmen Herman Hafeken and John Garrett.

Plans announced for final ski trip, league meeting

The featured speaker for the evening is Jeff Torborg of the St. Louis Cardinals. Boys aged eight to 15 who attend the meeting must be accompanied by a parent.

Memorial books placed in library

Several memorial books have been placed in the Free Public Library of Mountainside in memory of Mrs. Anna Bruckhaus.

"The Complete Guide to Garden Flowers," edited by Herbert Askwith, was given by Mrs. Lena Bruckhaus and family of Germany. This is an encyclopedia of garden planning with 1,000 color photographs.

"Exotica Third, a Pictorial Cyclopaedia of Exotic Plants," by Alfred Byrd Graf, is a two-volume set of comprehensive pictorial records of ornamental plants from the Tropics and near Tropic regions. This set was given by Gerhard Bruckhaus of Germany.

"The Gardener's Bug Book" by Cynthia Westcott was given by Mrs. Anna Luven and the Hilbertz family of Germany. This book is a definitive handbook of garden pests and their control.

The garden department of the Mountainside Woman's Club has also placed a book in the library in memory of Mrs. Bruckhaus: "A History of Flower Arrangement," by Julia S. Berrill, consisting mainly of reproductions of paintings, engravings, tapestries and illuminated manuscripts, traces the use of flowers in vases from ancient Egypt to the present day.

These memorial books will be on display at the Public Library through Friday, Feb. 15.

2 fined $115 each for stealing kinkajou, fox from Trailside

Joseph F. Pulaski 3rd. of Fords and Steve McGrath of Edison both of whom "did steal one kinkajou and one fox (value less than $200) from the Trailside Museum, Mountainside," were among the defendants appearing before Judge Jacob R. Bauer at the Jan. 23 session of Mountainside Municipal Court.

Pulaski and McGrath, who were fined $115 each, stole the animals on Oct. 15. Pulaski was arrested by Union County Park Police on Jan. 10; McGrath, on Jan. 14.

A court spokesman said the two claimed they took the creatures because they did not like to see animals caged. They were kept as pets, but the kinkajou, "a slender nocturnal arboreal carnivorous mammal that is about three feet long with a long prehensile tail, large lustrous eyes and soft woolly yellowish brown fur" was reported turned loose after it bit someone. The fox was recovered and returned to the museum.

Pulaski and McGrath were fined an additional $115 each for the malicious damage at the museum.

In other court action, Charles Hazlit Jr. of New Providence paid a $65 fine and was placed on six months probation for using or being under the influence of marijuana. Nancy Menta of Colonia, who pleaded guilty to marijuana possession, was fined $10 court costs and also was placed on six months probation. Ms. Menta's record could be expunged if she maintains good behavior. Motor vehicle cases included one involving the Steiny Trucking Co. of Astoria, N.Y., which was fined a total of $65 for three offenses on Rt. 22: Operating a tractor-trailer with only one license plate, failure to have registration in possession and having invalid registration.

Ricky Johns of Philadelphia forfeited $50 bail for two offenses, for operating a truck with no rear stoplights and for soliciting without a permit. His summonses had been issued on Meeting House Lane. Also forfeiting $50 bail was Robert J. Johnson Jr. of Newark, charged with driving on Rt. 22 without registration.

Allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a car on Rt. 22 brought a $30 penalty to Bruce T. Osborne of East Orange. Donald W. Rich of West Millington paid $25 for passing on the shoulder of the highway.

Anne Sierenberg of Millburn was fined $15 for failure to have her auto inspected. Herbert W. Castor 2nd of Rahway paid $15 for using an expired driver's license. Both had received their summonses on Rt. 22.

Michael J. Cooper of 1378 Chapel Hill, Mountainside, was given a $20 fine for speeding 49 mph in a 40-mile zone on New Providence road. Ernesto T. Vetuschi of Summit paid $20 for careless driving on Summit lane.

Letters to Editor

HEART ATTACK

The term "heart attack" is a misnomer—the heart does not attack the man; he attacks his heart.

These attacks are often carried on for years without the owner of the muscle being aware of it, for the heart, unlike the tooth, gives no warning until it is on its last legs.

The chief enemies of the heart are worry, anxiety and overwork; the first two are the children of fear. Give your heart a square deal and it is likely to give you one.

The person who has heart trouble must learn to live within the limitations of his condition. This, more than anything else will determine how comfortably, how useful and probably how long he will live. Each person should be guarded by his physician's advice in this respect, but, in general, the person with a heart condition should slow down, slow up, cut down, rest, not over-indulge, be moderate, careful, keep rechecking with his doctor.

In other words, maintain a serious and optimistic outlook on life, accept the situation and adjust to it cheerfully.

NUI & Elizabethtown Bring You More Gas!

In early December, the Federal Power Commission issued a precedent-setting decision which will have a beneficial effect for all customers of Elizabethtown Gas.

Basically, this ruling authorizes the Transcontinental Pipe Line Company to transport to New Jersey natural gas discovered in the Southwest by our sister company, National Exploration, (Elizabethtown and National Exploration are subsidiaries of National Utilities & Industries.)

The quantity of gas is limited to making up that volume which Transcontinental, our largest supplier, curtails us. This decision, in effect, assures all of our firm customers an adequate supply for this winter. Additionally, we may be able to make some sales to new customers, subject to Public Utility Commission approval.

*NUI (National Utilities & Industries) grew out of Elizabethtown Gas in 1969, as a parent company. In addition to Elizabethtown Gas and National Exploration, NUI has several other wholly-owned complementary subsidiaries.

It also may be possible for us to provide emergency assistance to other gas companies in New Jersey, thus preventing hardships for other residents of our State should severe cold weather occur.

This long-awaited and hard-sought-for approval is a positive example of the leadership and effort made by Elizabethtown Gas, through National Utilities & Industries, to help solve the natural gas shortage. Other major projects are underway and you will be kept informed of all significant progress.

Although the FPC decision is a major breakthrough for all of us, it does not mean the shortage is over. Please continue to conserve natural gas—it's Pure Energy!

Pepe sets Regional record, first to top 1,000 in career

By CLIFF ROSS,
The Jonathan Dayton Bulldogs defeated New Providence Friday night, 56-48, as senior Joe Pepe became the first Dayton player to score 1,000 varsity points. Pepe's 16 points gave him a total of 1010. Tomorrow night, Dayton will be on the road to play Suburban Conference leader Summit, returning home next Tuesday to meet Caldwell.

In addition to being the first 1000-point scorer in Dayton's history, Pepe has the distinction of having scored in each of the four seasons he spent on the varsity. As a freshman, with limited action, he scored nine points. Pepe started in his sophomore year and tallied 389 points. He followed with 379 in his junior year. Pepe currently has 235 points for the season, averaging better than 18 points per game while making an incredible 61 per cent of his field goal attempts and 75 per cent from the free throw line. Pepe was named All-Suburban Conference in his sophomore and junior years and was named to the second team area squad. Before the start of the current season, Frank Buccell was closest to the 1000-point mark with 954 in two years of varsity play. The Bulldogs scored the first basket against New Providence and never trailed. Dayton's largest lead of the period (17-6) came when Pepe sank a field goal for his 1,000th point. Three minutes later, the period ended with the Bulldogs in front, 19-10. New Providence got tougher in the second period and, combined with a drop in Dayton shooting, cut the halftime margin to 28-24. Defense made the difference in the game for the Bulldogs in the third period as an 8-point run gave them an insurmountable 40-28 lead. Pepe had four points, Ken Conte two and Gavin Widom 2 in the decisive run. Howie Drew finished with 14 points, Conte 10, Bill Palazzi and Widom eight each and Ted Johnson and Steve Brumer two apiece, coming off the bench. Kevin Hurley led New Providence with 19. Neither team shot particularly well but Dayton had made 45 per cent of its shots, the visitors only 34 per cent. Conte led the Bulldogs off the boards with seven rebounds. Coach Ray Yanchus named Drew "defensive player of the week" and Steve Brumer "substitute of the week."

Earlier this season, the Bulldogs defeated Summit, 73-59, in Springfield -- the Hilltoppers' only Conference defeat. Summit will definitely be tougher at home and the Bulldogs also have a new player to contend with. Bob Kimbro, brought up from the junior varsity, has played tough defense and stabilized the Summit offense. He replaced Kevin Mahoney in the starting lineup.

Palazzi powers Bulldog 5 over Verona, 59-57

A stubborn Verona squad surprised Dayton Regional with its shooting and defensive skills but the Bulldogs held on for a 59-57 victory Tuesday afternoon at Verona. Verona took a quick 8-4 lead in the opening period to put a scare into the Bulldogs (10-3). Dayton recovered, however, by the end of the quarter, starting the second period behind by four, 20-16. Before intermission, however, the Dayton offense roared, collected 22 points to Verona's 11 for a 38-31 lead. Dayton continued to maintain superiority in the third quarter, adding two points to the margin for a 52-43 lead. Verona chopped that edge, however, early in the fourth quarter, trimming it to 56-53 before Gavin Widom was fouled. After Widom connected on one of two free throws, Verona scored to make it 57-55. But when Dayton took the ball Joe Pepe was fouled in the act of shooting and made good on two throws for a 59-55 lead. With 10 seconds left on the clock the Bulldogs allowed Verona to take the ball downcourt for the final basket...and a Dayton victory. Verona played a surprisingly rugged defensive game but Bill Palazzi consistently broke through, taking scoring honors with 19 points. High man for Verona was Sam Batista, a substitute, who scored 14 coming off the bench. Other Dayton scorers: Ken Conte, 16; Howard Drew, 10; Pepe, 8; Widom, 5; Steve Brumer, 1. Conte and Pepe snared eight rebounds apiece, giving Dayton the edge in carroms, 24-19.

Bus schedules block change in starting times for schools

Concern of the potential hazard of Union County Regional High School students walking to school or a bus stop in the early morning darkness prompted the administration to investigate the possibility of starting school later each morning until March 1. Although the four regional high school principals stated that a later starting time would not significantly affect educational programs, four out of five bus companies contracted by the District said that they would be unable to change the current transportation schedules. Since the bus companies serving regional schools also transport students of other school systems, a change in one bus schedule would necessitate a change in the schedules of many schools.

The complexity of the use of contracted bus services by more than one school system was shown by the responses below as to whether the bus company would be able to pick up Regional students at a later time.

1. Kent Bus Co., Berkeley Heights students to Gov. Livingston: Yes, can pick up later.

Brunner Bus Co., Berkeley Heights students to Gov. Livingston: No, unless Scotch Plains changes time, cannot alter schedule.

Melni Bus Co., Mountainside students to Gov. Livingston: No, unless Chatham Borough also changes time.

Stockholm Bus Co., Mountainside students to Jonathan Dayton: No, unless Scotch Plains and St. James School change time, and they can find additional drivers.

5. Terzella Bus Co., Clark students to Arthur L. Johnson and Garwood students to David Brearley: No, unless Woodbridge Township and Scotch Plains change times of school.

A spokesman added, "The impossibility of changing bus schedules during this school year in the Regional District mandates that the present and closing times of the Regional high schools will remain in effect. Efforts have and will continue to be made to encourage students and parents to use safety procedures during the period of early morning darkness."

Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools, stated that "despite the difficulty this year, the administration will pursue a later closing for the 1974-75 school year."

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Have you ever made a list, in order of importance, of what you consider to be the "good things" of life? If you are like most people, your list will look more like a "want" list—a new car and home, air conditioning, a luxurious vacation, and lots of luxuries. The world sure has changed from yesterday. But the world is ever changing. We hear a lot these days about the shape the world is in. It is still round, but many say it's old and "square" ways are no longer in style. The problem here is that many of us have become so casual about change and progress that we have forgotten about many of the simple, important things. We lament the fact that the world isn't the way it used to be—but we don't wonder why, or give much thought to what can be done about it.

The world surely turns and it also changes. What each of us should do is make a list of the good things we can work to save and to bring about for the years ahead.

Mrs. Nash is named to head Assemblywoman Wilson staff

Assemblywoman Betty Wilson has appointed Arlene Nash of Mountainside as her legislative aide and chief of staff and Grace Hagedorn of Berkeley Heights as legislative aide in charge of research.

"My legislative aides will be working closely with me in all aspects of my job," said Mrs. Wilson. "They will have specific duties both in Trenton and in my district office."

Man takes truck, hits parked cars on Meisel avenue

An East Orange man, who allegedly took a truck from the Henry P. Townsend Moving & Storage Co., Westfield, without that firm's consent, crashed the vehicle into five parked cars on Meisel avenue, Springfield, Jan. 24. Township police reported.

The motorist, Rufus Manley, 46, who faces a complaint in Westfield for taking the truck, was charged in Springfield with careless driving and driving while his license was revoked.

Police said Manley, who was traveling north on Meisel near Milltown road at 8:45 p.m., told them the accident happened when he swerved to avoid a car backing out of a driveway. Manley suffered a leg injury and was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

Two other persons were reported hurt in auto accidents on Jan. 24. The first mishap occurred at 3:05 p.m. in front of 121 S. Springfield ave., when Anthony Franchini of Newark, reportedly trying to avoid an oncoming vehicle, smashed the van he was driving into a tree.

Franchini, 37, suffered a shoulder injury and a lacerated knee. He was taken for treatment at Overlook by the First Aid Squad.

At 9:12 p.m., Katherine Szybel of Union was injured in a similar accident at the intersection of Milltown road and Laurel drive. Police said Ms. Szybel, traveling west on Milltown, stated she tried to avoid an oncoming car in her lane, and crashed into a parked auto.

Ms. Szybel, suffering a lacerated nose, was reportedly taken to Overlook by a friend.

Peggy A. Mocko gets B.A. degree

LEWISBURG, Pa.—Peggy A. Mocko of Mountainside, N.J., is among 40 men and women who were awarded bachelor's degrees by Bucknell University at the conclusion of the first semester of the current academic year. A 1970 graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Miss Mocko majored in English and religion and received the bachelor of arts degree.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Mocko, 111 Saddle Brook rd., Mountainside, she served as editor of the Different Drummer, a campus newspaper, and was active on the staff of WVBU, the student radio station.

All mid-year graduates, including 21 master's degree recipients, will be invited to take part in commencement exercises in June.

Miss Petry returns from study in Russia

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—Wendy Petry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner B. Petry of Mountainside, N.J., has returned from a month of study in the Soviet Union as part of her course program at Muhlenberg College.

Miss Petry, a sophomore at Muhlenberg, was one of 24 students participating in the program, which was led by associate professor of Russian Dr. Arvids Ziedonis.

Mrs. Nash will coordinate the efforts of Mrs. Wilson's staff. "Arlene will also follow up on the progress of legislation that has been introduced in the Assembly," said Mrs. Wilson. "Arlene is familiar with the workings of the legislature, having worked for several years as a legislative agent for the League of Women Voters in Trenton. I know her experience will prove invaluable to me."

"It is imperative that bills introduced into the legislature be thoroughly researched and carefully worded so that new laws solve problems instead of creating them," she continued. "That is why I am delighted that Mrs. Hagedorn will be responsible for research and bill drafting. Grace has proven her abilities in this area many times. She has been an alternate member of the Planning Board of Berkeley Heights and served as a liaison to the Environmental Commission."

Assemblywoman Wilson also appointed Susan Arndt of Berkeley Heights as administrative aide and press secretary. "Susan will be responsible for managing my district office," explained Mrs. Wilson. "She will see to it that anyone who contacts my office is given prompt and responsive attention. Susan will also keep the news media informed of all my activities, in keeping with my pledge to open the processes of government to public scrutiny."

Mrs. Wilson noted that to be effective any legislator must be backed up by a reliable staff. "This is particularly true in view of my extra responsibilities as majority whip and vice-chairperson of the Assembly Committee on Institutions, Health and Welfare. To serve my constituents as thoroughly as I intend, I need the assistance of qualified people in many areas. My constituents and I are fortunate that I have been able to enlist the services of such competent people," concluded Mrs. Wilson.

Engravers a help in deterring thefts

Making use of free electric engravers to identify valuables and deter thefts was given as a reminder this week.

"Two years ago the Westfield Board of Realtors launched a safety program by providing electric engravers to the Westfield and Mountainside police departments which local residents may borrow," said Barbara Davidson, chairman, Make America Better Committee, Westfield Board of Realtors.

She added, "They may then etch identifying numbers on all valuables and the identification is impossible to remove. In the event of theft, items can be readily identified by the police."

"It is our hope," Mrs. Davidson stated, "that our residents will take advantage of this free service to deter thefts in both home and office. If you are a resident of Mountainside or Westfield, call your police department and ask to borrow an engraver. Also provided are green identifying stickers for your doors warning would-be thieves that all valuable items are marked, automatically discouraging illegal entry."

Scout leader post to Mrs. Wingard

Mountainside Girl Scout leaders announced that Mrs. Janet Wingard has accepted the position of community association chairman for Mountainside. Mrs. Wingard has been active in scouting for several years both as a leader and a consultant.

Plans were also made for the community encampment which is scheduled for the weekend of April 26 at Camp Lou Henry Hoover, and for several special activities to take place during Girl Scout Week, March 10 to 18.

Pot luck supper to be held Feb. 8, MMA announces

The Mountainside Music Association will hold its annual pot luck supper on Friday, Feb. 8 at 7 P.M. at Deerfield School's all-purpose room. Carol Schon, chairman, announced that "members and children will provide the musical entertainment for the evening, whose lighthearted theme will be 'Music Is The Food of Love'." For more information, Ms. Schon can be called at 233-0430.

A discussion of the MMA's bi-annual musical extravaganza, scheduled May 3 and 4 at Deerfield School, also is planned. Tryouts will be held the first week of March. "This is an opportunity for the entire community to participate in a shared fun experience," Ms. Schon said.

Proceeds will go toward the need of the music departments of the Mountainside schools. Last MMA donated a sound system addition to Deerfield, provided $100 worth of opera records to the library, $50 to the Helen Pino fund, $50 to the Jonathan Dayton Chorale and continued support of its foster child, Rosie Chee.

Lecture series on 'Israeli Digs'

Dr. Robert Bull, professor of church history, Drew University Theological School and Graduate School, will lecture on "Israeli Digs" at a series of three Sunday brunches at Temple Emanu-El, 756 E. Broad st., Westfield.

These programs, offered by Adult Education of the Temple in conjunction with the Men's Club, Sisterhood and B'nai B'rith, will be open to the public at 11 a.m. on Feb. 3, 10 and 24. Dr. Bull will discuss "Modern Techniques in Archeology." Cost of the brunch and lecture is $1.50 or $3 for the series.

Gerazim, where he uncovered a Jewish temple of the Samaritans modelled after the second Jerusalem Temple, and at the Galilee, where he excavated a First Century synagogue. He is returning next summer to Caesarea as director of excavations for the Israeli government. His previous digs at Caesarea uncovered the original harbor and Roman vaults of the Herod period. Professor Bull has written and travelled extensively and is an authority in his field.

Pocono development opens new recreational center

Members of various news media from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware were guests on Jan. 14 of the developers of Tanglwood Pocono Properties, whose facilities include a major ski area, a championship 18-hole golf course, a marina, private beach, motor lodge, heliport, and hundreds of acres of home sites and lake property. The occasion for this visit was the completion of the Tanglwood Clubhouse and Recreational Center.

Located at the crossroads of the ninth and 18th greens of the Tanglwood Golf Course, this building was designed by the Phillips and Russell Architectural Partnership to serve as a golf clubhouse, a year-round community center, and as a vantage point for the final hole of Tanglwood's golf course.

The building provides approximately 15,000 square feet of enclosed space, with an additional 15,000 square feet of open decks and terraced areas. It features indoor-outdoor swimming pool facilities, teen age recreation center, golf pro shop and locker areas. There are also several multi-purpose rooms, dining and bar facilities with many lounging and relaxation areas. The site chosen for the clubhouse fronts on Lake Tanglwood, a man-made lake of approximately 35 acres. The natural environment has been protected according to the stringent conservation requirements established by the Tanglwood Properties developers.

This building marks the fulfillment of every promise for facility availability which the developers have made to their homese purchasers.

The public is welcome to visit Tanglwood, located on Rt. 507, between Newfoundland and Hawley, Pa., on Lake Wallenpaupack. It can easily be reached from Interstate Rt. 80 to Rt. 380 North to Rt. 507 North to Tanglwood. For additional information, call (717) 226-9500 or 226-9444.

NEW HOMEBUYING PROGRAM PROCLAIMED REVOLUTIONARY!

Kaufman and Broad guarantees to buy back your home; or make your home payments-if you can't!

NEW JERSEY — Kaufman and Broad, America's largest multi-national housing producer, backed by a net worth exceeding $175,000,000, isn't talking about its space in the American economy. It's proving it with a choice of either of two revolutionary guarantees to its homebuyers. These guarantees give buyers enough confidence to take advantage of current home values. Industry predictions are that material shortages, production cutbacks, and rising costs will occur this year and are expected to inflate prices of new homes as much as 8% and possibly up to 14%.

THIS OFFER IS GOOD FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY!

We guarantee to buy-back your home—for any reason—for the original sales price of the home* during the first 18 months you live in your home. All you have to do is live in the home for at least six months, giving us 30 days notice, and have kept the house in reasonable repair. This guarantee minimizes your risk in buying the new home you need now. The only charge we make is a customary resale fee of only 5% (which is less than the normal 6%)—THERE ARE NO HIDDEN CHARGES OR DEDUCTIONS!

We guarantee to make your home payments for you during the first two (2) years, while you live in your new Kaufman and Broad home if the principal wage earner is laid-off for sixty days and remains unemployed through no fault of his own. Should you face such a severe financial crisis (and we hope you don't), Kaufman and Broad will ease the burden by making your home payments (principal, interest, real estate taxes and insurance) for you—this is not a loan nor does it extend the life of your mortgage.

Task Force is reducing accidents on Parkway

"The Special Task Force of unmarked State Police cars on the Garden State Parkway is definitely having an effect on reducing accidents and ridding the Parkway of dangerous drivers," State Police Captain Joseph S. Szoja, commander of Troop E, New Jersey State Police which patrols the Garden State Parkway, said this week.

Szoja said that in 1972 there were 19 deaths in the heavily traveled section of the Parkway from 101 to Westfield. The Special Task Force came into being in June of that year. In 1973, the first full year the task force was in operation, that same area was the scene of 11 deaths or a decrease of 42 percent. "We have no doubt," said Szoja, "that this is a direct result of the task force."

Commissioner Sylvester C. Smith Jr. of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said, "The Special Task Force achieves its goals in two ways. One is, of course, the actual arrests of reckless drivers which immediately removes this individual from the road. Second, and just as important, is the fact that it acts as a deterrent as Parkway patrons know the State Police are using unmarked cars and are therefore more conscious of obeying the law."

Smith added "it's human nature for an individual to take liberties if he doesn't see a trooper, but if that same person realizes that any car on the Parkway might contain a trooper, then there's more awareness of the dangers of speeding and drunken driving and consequently more adherence to the speed limit."

Smith said, "Thanks to publicity given to the force by the news media the word is out that the Task Force is in operation and consequently word has gotten around that it's not a good idea to speed or drink and drive on the Garden State Parkway."

The Special Task Force utilizes a variety of types of cars from jaunty sport vehicles to family sedans. The cars are traded in periodically so that the task force is continuously changing its appearance.

Smith said, "We're not out to run up an arrest record or frighten the average motorist. As a matter of fact, our purpose is to let the law-abiding driver know that the Garden State Parkway is indeed a safe place to drive. We're proud of our ranking as the Country's safest major toll road, and the task force is helping us to constantly improve that safety record."

Statistics released by the Parkway State Police for the Task Force since its inception are: total summonses for speeding, 3,099 and total summonses for drunken driving, 213. Additionally, the Task Force, though not actively engaged in regular policework, recovered seven stolen vehicles and made other arrests for offenses ranging from possession of narcotics to apprehension of juvenile runaways.

Captain Szoja said, "It is not impossible to visualize a day when this type of effective enforcement against dangerous drivers will produce a safety record of less than one vehicle death per 100 million miles of vehicle travel."

which will be maintained and even improved on. That's something no major roadway has ever accomplished, but it is definitely within the realm of possibility for the Garden State Parkway."

FLOWER LOVERS — I. K. Christensen of Wood-Ridge, president of the 1974 New Jersey Flower & Garden Show, welcomes Martha Black of Sparta, the new queen of the show. The 18-year-old freshman at Centenary College will reign over the largest show of its kind in the Metropolitan area, from Saturday, March 9, through Sunday, March 17, in the Morristown National Guard Armory.

Her 'secret' for happiness Flower queen loves posies

"Anybody who wants to make me happy can give me flowers."

That's the way the 18-year-old Martha Black of Sparta feels about enjoying life with the living beauty of the garden. And that's one of many reasons why she has been selected as Miss New Jersey Flower and Garden Show for 1974.

The lovely brunette will preside at this year's show, the largest exhibition of its kind in the metropolitan area, when it's held from Saturday, March 9, through Sunday, March 17, at the Morristown National Guard Armory.

Martha is a self-confessed flower lover. "My favorite flowers have to do with the season or the occasion," she says. "Narrowing them down to a few, I like wild flowers, daisies, daffodils, ferns, roses and gardenias best."

The new Flower and Garden Show queen also loves holly bushes ("my favorite shrub, as is Christmas my favorite season") and flowering cherry blossom trees.

Martha, a freshman at Centenary College, is the daughter of Mrs. Edith S. Black of Sparta. An art major, she received three scholarships — from the local Rotary Club, a state scholarship, and one from the college itself. She intends to continue her education at Tobe-Coburn or the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York, as preparation for a career as a designer.

Martha has been a deacon at the Sparta Presbyterian Church for the past two years and feels her strong belief in God has helped her meet everyday challenges.

A finalist in several recent beauty contests, Martha says: "Would you believe — I used to be shy? But I've learned you can't be introverted when you're a contestant and now I'm looking forward to the Flower & Garden Show and to the close contact with people I'll be able to enjoy there. God's masterpieces have been man, for his knowledge, and flowers, for their beauty. It will be marvelous to combine them in this one opportunity and I can't wait for that first sign of spring."

Navy Reserve unit assumes duties at N.Y. command post

Officers from the Military Sealift Command and Naval Control of Shipping Organization units of the Elizabeth Naval Reserve Center have been assigned to operate the New York Office of the Navy's Military Sealift Command on weekends.

Civilian and military ships employed by the Navy for logistics in the Atlantic and Eastern Pacific are controlled from the Brooklyn Command Center of the Military Sealift Command. Communications with these ships and the command duty officers are maintained 24-hours a day. According to Commander James V. Carr, commanding officer of Military Sealift Division 3-4 headquartered in the Elizabeth Reserve Center, his officers are thoroughly prepared for their duties as a result of their unit training program.

Under a new Navy policy providing for reservists to work parttime for active Navy units on purely military duties which do not conflict with civilian employment and which provide training for mobilization, manpower-short naval activities have been able to acquire experienced officers and men to augment their active duty personnel.

The members of Naval Control of Shipping Organization Division 3-4, also located at the Elizabeth Naval Reserve Center, received their briefing for Military Sealift Command watch officers on Jan. 3. This will add another 20 officers to the 2 officers already being supplied by the center to the M.S.C. Headquarters. These officers are primarily responsible for the organization and operation of merchant ship convoys. They will add their extensive background in naval operations to the command and control of the Navy's logistics fleet.

"Actually," said Commander Lee Clark, USNR-R, "it is just like running a shipping line. The duty officers will be dealing with emergency situations since most of the routine business is handled during the week. Our officer group is ideally suited for this because their training is partly concerned with these same emergencies when they occur in convoy situations."

As a result of these increased responsibilities and need for reserve manpower, both of the Elizabeth divisions expect to add both officer and enlisted personnel in the near future. Applications by interested and qualified junior officers and enlisted personnel are being sought by both units.

A FEMININE LOOK ... AT THE WORLD ... AND THINGS

by TRUDINA HOWARD
THE TALE OF THE
GOLDEN BUDDHA
Twelfth In a Series

If a little perturbation sets in nowadays when you think of gold, or gold bricks, or gold anything—there is a Buddha in Bangkok that will absolutely throw you.

It is called the Golden Buddha, a sweet little—little?—item ten feet high and weighing 5½ tons of 80 percent pure gold.

Some item, aye? Yet for 600 years people looked at it and thought it was worthless. Not possible you say? Aha. It was possible. Here is why.

In long past history when invaders went in and out of countries threatening the lives and possessions of all in their path, it was the custom for the ruler or king of the country to give orders to hide or disguise everything of value.

And so it was that some 600 years ago when invaders threatened the old capital of Thailand (not at Bangkok then) the king ordered the customary safeguards. The great gold Buddha, cast in 1238 and adored for 150 years, was ordered to be covered with plaster of Paris, dirtied, muddied, scratched, aged and left carelessly in a corner.

The guise worked. The golden one was passed over as being worthless, and with the "enemy" remaining in the land, in time it was forgotten. Those who knew the secret died without telling. It remained there, respected as a religious article, but considered to be of no monetary value.

Hundreds of years later when the capital was moved to Bangkok, the Buddha statue was taken along simply because of its religious aspect. It was placed on the bank of the river Chao Phraya, on the Thonburi side of Bangkok, and left there under the open skies, where again it sat in grubby detachment. People passed, bowed, prayed perhaps, and moved on, never knowing.

It remained so for over 200 years more. Then, in the early 50's, Bangkok began to grow. The property along the river began to be desirable. The day came when the land by the Buddha was purchased too, and the Buddha, they said, had to go. Take it away, the buyers commanded. Hah! If they only knew! To the rescue came the monks of the Wat Trai Mit. They were willing to take the poor thing. It was a Buddha of religious significance to them and they offered to house it.

So! One great day in 1953, the Buddha was prepared for transportation—and as they moved it—the thing of clay turned into pure gold. A miracle. A bundle!

Anyway, it was one move too many for that plaster of Paris. (Although I'd say that 600 years old was a pretty good batch of plaster.) But it cracked as they moved along. At first the workmen thought they were seeing gold leaf over stone, but the more they poked, the more gold they found.

I tell you, we may say "there's gold in them thar hills," but in Bangkok there's gold all over the place. Gold Buddhas, gold altars, gold temples, gold bells, gold leaf domes, gold leaf doors, gold clothes, gold, gold, gold. Even gold-trimmed monkey men. "Monkey men" may not be quite the proper names for the giant man-bodied, animal-faced, figures that abound in some palace and temple gardens, but that is what they are nicknamed. Standing about 15 to 20 feet tall and shimmering in vivid colors and gold leaf, the "guardians" as they are rightfully called, are spectacular. They are almost cute, too, and a joy to photograph. Between the temples and the monkey men, "it was enough," said one of our co-travelers, "to make a camera bug shudder."

BUT TO RETURN to the Golden Buddha. Believe it or not, the story did not end even with its return to glory. It had still another adventure and almost got lost entirely.

Unheard of in Thailand is the attempted robbery of any religious item. But a Eurasian and his gang did try to steal the golden one when news of its great value became known. They had a simple plan and a simple disguise. Since every man in Thailand must serve a certain time as a monk, no one suspects new

ONE OF THE CUTE, but also spectacular Guardsmen, sometimes called "monkeymen," that are prominent in the gardens of the temples and palaces of Bangkok. This one stands guard in the Temple of the Dawn.

45 are graduated in second class at Edison College

Thomas A. Edison College, New Jersey's "college without classrooms," has graduated a second class of 45 students, bringing the total of Edison alumni to more than 100.

The 45 students who completed their Edison degree requirements did so by transferring credit for courses taken at other colleges or by passing examinations. Many of the 45 also received Edison College credits for training they received in the Armed Forces.

Of the graduates, 29 are from New Jersey and the remainder from 12 other states and the District of Columbia. Two graduates each come from Pennsylvania, Connecticut, California and Georgia. Some are active duty servicemen whose regular changes of duty station may have hampered completion of residence requirements at traditional colleges. Edison College has no residence requirement. Anyone who is interested in receiving a college degree for credits earned elsewhere or in taking examinations for college credit is invited to write Thomas A. Edison College, 1750 N. Olden ave., Trenton, 08638.

faces as they come and go at any of the temples, so the thieves disguised themselves as monks.

Our Eurasian villain, however, not only had a yen for the Golden Buddha—he also had a yen for a certain shady lady in a certain shady lane and went to see her regularly—in his monk's disguise.

Now, during a hitch as a monk, a Thai is not supposed to do such things or have such yens. It is a matter of honor and religion. The Eurasian, dressed in monk's robes, was found in her rooms one romantic night. The Thais were outraged. He was put to death in an ancient, and rather untidy, to say the least, Thai ceremony.

So the Golden Buddha was saved and now sits in golden splendor again, in a sacred place again, adored or admired or both, not only by its followers, but by all who see it.

Even thieves. Let's see... at $130 an ounce, and there are 16 ounces in a pound and he is 5½ tons ... Oh yes, it could perturb you quite a bit.

DOT asks drivers to report potholes on state highways

The N.J. Department of Transportation this week asked New Jersey motorists to help eliminate dangerous potholes from State highways by reporting their locations to the department.

The citizen "pothole patrol" will supplement the regular daily battle of the Department's maintenance crews to fill potholes and patch road surfaces throughout the winter months.

Reports of potholes on the state highway system should be made by telephone to the regional office between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The number to call is 648-2278. Calls between 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m. and on weekends should be made to the department's security office in Trenton, 609-292-3472.

Pothole reports should be as specific as possible as to highway route number and location. Information on the nearest milepost, intersection or prominent landmark will be helpful in identifying the pothole.

Information received by the Department will be used in scheduling repairs to be made by maintenance crews and every effort will be made to respond to the reports as quickly as possible.

The seasonal pothole problem occurs at this time of year because of temperature changes below and above the freezing point. A pothole develops when moisture below the pavement expands with the drop of temperature below freezing. When a thaw occurs, a small cavity is created under the pavement as the subbase recedes. The weight of passing vehicles crushes the pavement into the cavity and a pothole begins to develop.

Contractors urge Turnpike project

The New Jersey Heavy and Highway Construction Industry Advancement Fund (CIAF) says that failure to build the Toms River extension of the New Jersey Turnpike as scheduled would deal a serious blow to the employment picture in the state for years to come.

CIAF executive director Arthur R. Trautmann said that if construction of the Toms River Expressway is sidetracked, a possibility raised by objections from Governor-elect Brendan Byrne, "the state will lose some 15,000 man years of employment."

"And that's not only in the construction industry," Trautmann explained. "It has been estimated that building of the Turnpike spur will require some 5,000 man years of direct on-site construction work. But an additional 10,000 man years of employment will be generated by off-site activities, such as steel fabrication, and by the need for local services along the right-of-way for such things as equipment maintenance and the furnishing of all sorts of supplies."

PSE&G reports on 1973 earnings

Earnings available for common stock of Public Service Electric and Gas Co. for the year, ended Dec. 31, 1973, exclusive of a non-recurring credit to income, were $100,722,000 or $2.20 an average share, the company has reported. This is compared with $95,086,000 and $2.29 on nine percent fewer average shares for the year 1972.

The company, in October 1973, effective Jan. 1, 1973, changed its method of accounting to record revenues and fuel costs based on service rendered, rather than on the basis of service billed, to provide a better matching of costs and revenues. The cumulative effect of the change, with respect to estimated unbilled revenues for periods prior to Jan. 1, 1973, recorded in October 1973 as a non-recurring credit to income, amounted to $18,540,000 and is not included in 1973 earnings reported above.

Jersey certified hog cholera-free

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced this week that New Jersey and North Carolina have qualified as the nation's 48th and 49th hog cholera-free states. This leaves only Texas and Puerto Rico as areas considered not free of the disease.

Hog cholera is a highly infectious viral disease that is usually fatal to swine but affects no other animals or humans.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said the two states qualified as "hog cholera free" by carrying out rigorous measures to find, confine and stamp out the disease.

Williams bill gives endangered animal federal protection

U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N.J.) said this week a newly-enacted federal law which he sponsored offers "new hope" for protection and preservation of animals threatened with extinction.

Williams, in a report to readers of New Jersey weekly newspapers, said he was "very pleased and gratified" that the Endangered Species bill which he introduced in the Senate early last year is now law. The measure was given final approval near the end of the Congressional session last month, and has since been signed into law by the President.

"This law makes it a federal crime, for the first time, to kill endangered or threatened species of wildlife," Williams explained. "Although previous law required the Secretary of the Interior to maintain lists of fish and wildlife which are endangered, there was no provision for federal enforcement authority. Under the new law, however, species listed as endangered or threatened with extinction will be specifically protected."

Currently, Williams noted, 109 species and subspecies are designated as endangered in the United States; the worldwide total is around 1,000.

"Every living thing has its unique role in the ecosystem and whenever the delicate balance of nature is disturbed, the entire system suffers a disintegration," Williams said. "It is time that we took meaningful steps to insure that we no longer allow the eradication from our environment of irreplaceable forms of life."

The new law also directs the Smithsonian Institution to conduct a study to determine what forms of plant life may be endangered and what steps should be taken to safeguard them.

Chamber sets up Trenton 'hotline'

An information service covering state governmental developments of interest to business and industry has been established by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

Trenton "Hotline," State Chamber president Donald H. Scott said, will be provided by telephone from the chamber's governmental relations office in Trenton.

Chamber members who dial a special number will hear a recorded report highlighting the latest legislative session, listings of bills affecting business that are slated for legislative action, bills that have been signed—or vetoed—by the governor, new bills that will affect business, up-coming administrative regulatory and legislative public hearings, etc., Scott explained.

He said the new service has been established to provide chamber members with fast news on state governmental developments. For example, the digest of actions of business interest will be on the "hotline" a few minutes after the conclusion of each legislative session.

JWV post cited for membership

The Elin-Unger Post 273 Jewish War Veterans has received the Blue Ribbon Award for its record performance in membership retention and increase for the third consecutive year.

The award is presented by the National Organization JWV. The Elin-Unger Post, the second largest JWV post in New Jersey, is the only one in the state which received the awards.

The post meets on the fourth Sunday of the month at the VFW Hall, 56 Chestnut st., Irvington. Interested veterans are urged to join.

Working on the membership drive are Jack Schechter, Norman Sperber, Sol Friedenberg and Martin Kaufman, all of Hillside.

Milk prices rise one cent a quart

Minimum retail milk prices in New Jersey will rise one cent a quart tomorrow, according to Woodson W. Moffett Jr., director, Division of Dairy Industry, New Jersey Department of Agriculture.

The new prices will be 37½ cents a quart, 70 cents a half gallon, and $1.34 a gallon.

The higher prices continue to reflect increased prices to dairy farmers caused by exceedingly high feed costs and sharply reduced production of milk on farms, Moffett said.

CWV memorial Mass to honor hero priest

The Catholic War Veterans, Department of New Jersey, and its Ladies Auxiliary will hold their annual Father Washington Memorial Mass on Sunday at noon at St. Stephen's R.C. Church, Washington and Kearny Avenues, Kearny. Mass Celebrant will be the Rev. Msgr. Aloysius S. Carney, State CWV Chaplain.

CWV and Auxiliary Units will assemble with their colors at 11:30 a.m. outside the church on Washington Avenue and march into the church as a massed unit. The yearly event honors the memory of the soldier-priest, Father Washington, who went down with the torpedoed troopship Dorchester, after giving his life jacket to a soldier. He received the Distinguished Service Cross, posthumously.

State adds pollution test to MV inspection list

Chapter 15 of the New Jersey Air Pollution Control Code, which requires all registered vehicles subject to inspection by the Division of Motor Vehicles to comply with emission standards on carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons, becomes effective tomorrow.

All vehicles tested at New Jersey's 68 state-operated inspection lanes will be required to comply. By keeping vehicles in good condition, every owner will have a part in helping to clean the air, save precious gasoline and enjoy better vehicle performance.

New Jersey has the highest motor vehicle and road density in the nation and cars, buses and trucks combined are the greatest source of air pollution. The state inspection system is expected, through the exhaust tests, to result in a substantial reduction in emissions.

The program will have its greatest effect in the downtown congested areas of towns and cities where it is expected that up to 24 percent of the carbon monoxide will be removed.

The Bureau of Air Pollution Control in the Department of Environmental Protection estimates that almost 9 out of 10 cars will pass inspection for pollution. The bureau recommends tune-ups for greater assurance in passing.

No add-on devices will be required. Bureau personnel have noted that many people have the erroneous notion that they will have to buy some kind of anti-pollution device and install it on their cars. This is not the case. The 1966 law is based on the principle that proper maintenance of the vehicle will keep exhaust emissions down to a reasonable level, and the regulation reflects this principle.

William A. Munroe, chief of the bureau, said "There is a real energy deficiency that for years to come will affect the way we live. We will just have to face up to it. Two ways to help are to drive fewer miles and make sure that every mile we travel down the road we are making maximum use of the fuel in our gas tanks. It's wasteful and expensive for any of us to leave a trail of unburned gasoline behind us everywhere we go. We can avoid this by maintaining our cars in efficient operating condition. The hydrocarbon test at the inspection station is in reality measuring wasted fuel passing out the tailpipe. Reducing this pollutant will result in a more efficiently operated engine."

The inspection station exhaust test takes only 30 seconds.

The state Clean Air Council has endorsed the beginning of mandatory pollution inspection without further delay.

The bureau's detailed information indicates that there are at present enough service stations, new car dealers and diagnostic facilities with state-approved testing equipment to handle the testing and maintenance work needed to bring into compliance practically all the cars that fail the test. Of the 6,800 such facilities in New Jersey, 875 have the approved equipment. Munroe said if every rejected vehicle went to one of these stations for maintenance, the workload on each of these stations would be less than two tune-ups per day. He pointed out that some cars are virtually beyond repair and shouldn't be on the highway anyway. These cars will usually be rejected for smoke emissions as they have been in the past.

Examiners of the Division of Motor Vehicles will hand out lists of repair facilities having approved testers. The lists will include the

Fine Arts Quartet will appear at Y

The Fine Arts Quartet will appear at the Y-M-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey, 760 Northfield Ave., West Orange, on Sunday, Feb. 10, with Samuel Baron, flutist, as guest soloist. The concert is open to the public.

For eight years, the quartet was heard Sunday mornings on the American Broadcasting Company network. It has been a regular guest on the Today Show, appeared on the Bell Telephone program, NBC Recital Hall, and has made videotaped programs on chamber music for the National Educational Television network.

A preview talk, given by the artists, will begin at 7 p.m. The concert will follow at 7:50. Tickets are on sale at the Y or may be purchased prior to the concert, if available. There are special rates for students. More information may be obtained by calling 736-3200, ext. 34.

Editor will speak to Traffic Club

William W. Robinson, editor of "Yachting Magazine," will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Traffic Club of Newark on Monday at the Town & Campus, Morris Avenue, Union.

The meeting has been designated as "Freight Forwarder's Night" and the chairman is David Rathgeber of Universal Carloading Corp., Newark. Cocktails and dinner will precede the business meeting, which will start at 8 p.m.

Aesthetic realism topic for seminar Sunday

An Aesthetic Realism seminar will be held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Martone of South Orange beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The seminar will be conducted by Miriam Mondlin, Faith Kestenbaum Stern and John Stern, Aesthetic Realism consultants, and representatives of the Terrain Gallery, New York. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Martone, 762-3318, or the Terrain Gallery, 212-777-4490. Contribution is $3.

name, address and telephone number of the facilities to enable motorists to shop around if they wish. All 875 stations have been supplied posters to put in their windows with the department's emblem (a bird over a wave in a circle signifying the earth) to help motorists find stations with approved equipment.

According to the bureau, most reliable stations can accomplish the engine tune-up that's necessary in most cases. A motorist who has just paid for a thorough testing and tune-up is entitled to effective service. The exhaust test he will receive at the inspection station when he returns will, in effect, verify the effectiveness of the vehicle repair job he has gotten. If his car fails re-inspection and he doesn't get satisfaction from his service station, he may invoke the consumer protection laws of the state.

Munroe said, "A fact little known by our citizens is that effective training programs in servicing vehicles for pollution has been underway for nearly a year. The Department of Education, in cooperation with gasoline retailers and instrument companies, has conducted training courses for some 4,000 mechanics. This program, in cooperation with this department, will be expanded substantially in the coming months."

"Atlantic Richfield (ARCO) has offered free pollution testing in a significant percentage of its New Jersey stations for almost a year and has trained its mechanics for this service. For months, EXXON has trained over 250 mechanics all over the state in a program designed especially for its New Jersey stations and personnel."

Over four million cars have been tested for pollution in the inspection lanes during the past year. Data secured on these cars from the Division of Motor Vehicles and recorded and analyzed by the Department of Environmental Protection show that between 85 and 90 percent of all cars can be expected to pass the pollution test.

Jersey provide that 1967 and earlier model vehicles should emit not more than ten percent carbon monoxide and 1600 parts per million (ppm) of hydrocarbons. For 1968 and 1969 vehicles, eight percent carbon monoxide and 800 ppm hydrocarbons, and 1970 through 1974, six percent carbon monoxide and 600 ppm hydrocarbons.

New Jersey is the only state in the country with state-operated safety inspection stations and the first state to require the pollution test of all registered motor vehicles. These measures are designed to provide cleaner air for the citizens of New Jersey.

Hot line to Legislature

Free information available

New Jersey Senate President Frank J. Dodd and Assembly Speaker S. Howard Woodson Jr. this week announced the start of a new legislative information service for Garden State citizens.

Called LISN (Legislative Information Service Number), the new system will permit New Jerseyans to call their questions—free of toll charges—to the legislative chambers in Trenton from anywhere in the state. Answers will be telephoned back to the callers, while requests for copies of bills and other printed matter will be filled by return mail. To request information or material, all a caller need do is dial 800-792-8630, the special toll-free number installed by New Jersey Bell as the new "LISN-LINE."

"This service is an example," said Dodd, "of our determination to listen and respond to the people of this state. We're here acting in their behalf. If they have questions about the kind of job we're doing, we want it to be as easy as possible for them to ask those questions."

Woodson agreed, adding: "This legislature is operating under an open, nothing-to-hide philosophy. The people have every right to information about all bills being considered, committee meetings, public hearings or district representation. And they shouldn't have to write long letters or fill out complicated forms to get that information. That's why we set up the 'LISN-LINE'."

The Senate and Assembly are jointly sponsoring the new information service. Actual operation of the system is under the direction of the Legislative Services Agency.

"LISN-LINE" gives us a fine opportunity," research director Samuel A. Alito said, "to provide our citizens with the material they need to be well-informed. LISN calls will be accepted Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. In addition, this service will be available at all hours when either house of the legislature is in session."

Algeria gives PS conditional okay for importing gas

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. said this week that a contract which will bring large amounts of liquefied natural gas into New Jersey had been conditionally approved by the Algerian government.

The contract, which was also conditionally approved by the U. S. Federal Power Commission Dec. 28, calls for delivery of 4.4 trillion cubic feet of gas to be delivered over a 22-year period beginning in the winter of 1976-77. Participants are Easogas LNG Inc., a joint venture of PSE&G and Algonquin Gas Transmission Co., and Sonatrach, the government-owned oil and gas agency of Algeria. The Federal Power Commission said its approval was subject to further study of other considerations, including safety and environmental issues. Hearings are currently being conducted on these issues by the FPC in Washington.

The Algerian government said its approval was subject to modifications in the pricing provisions and indicated that conditions set by the FPC must not make it difficult for Sonatrach to carry out its contract.

Sixty-five percent of the gas will come to New Jersey. PSE&G will get 45 percent of the total for its own system. Twenty percent will be divided equally among three other New Jersey gas utilities—Elizabethtown Gas Co., New Jersey Natural Gas Co., and South Jersey Gas Co. The remaining 35 percent will be distributed in New England by the Algonquin company.

Speakers to cover Jersey's legacy at historical meeting

"New Jersey's Past Today" will be the theme for the 13th annual Professional Conference of the New Jersey Historical Society on Saturday, Feb. 2, at the society's headquarters in Newark.

The all-day conference will present illustrated talks and discussion groups concerned with New Jersey's historic houses, villages, and changing architectural styles.

A total of nine speakers, each telling some aspect of the state's historic legacy, will present their topics during the morning and early afternoon sessions.

"The Changing Face of American Architecture in New Jersey" will be discussed by Constance M. Greiff, author of "Princeton Architecture" and editor of "Lost America." Sibyl M. Groff will speak on the subject of her book, "New Jersey's Historic Houses."

Talks on seven historic enclaves in the state will be presented by authorities on each. These sites are Allaire-Batsos Villages, Cape May Victorian Village, Greenwich, Peters Valley, Paterson S.U.M. District, Speedwell Village and Waterloo Village.

In an afternoon session, discussion groups will deal with "collecting and Producing 3-D History," with James Sears, chairman of social studies at Peddie School as chairman;

"Historic Preservation: Its Multi-Disciplinary Aspects," with Anne E. Voss, coordinator, school and academic media services of the State Library, as chairman; and "Visiting Historic Sites: Creating a Maximum Experience," chaired by Joan C. Hull, assistant director of the New Jersey Historical Society.

Presiding at the conference will be Robert M. Lunn, director of the society. It will open at 9:45 a.m., following a 9:15 coffee hour and review of exhibits at the recently renovated Society headquarters at 230 Broadway. In addition to the Luncheon, there will be a late afternoon reception in honor of the speakers.

Co-sponsors of the annual event are the New Jersey Association of Independent Schools, the New Jersey Historical Commission, the New Jersey Library Association, the New Jersey School Media Association, the New Jersey Department of Education and The State Library.

Registrations will be limited. Information may be obtained through the Society headquarters.
