Overlook closes

floor--no nurses

Robert E. Heinlein, president and director of Overlook Hospital, announced this week that the hospital has temporarily closed a nursing floor because of a shortage of nursing personnel. The 44-bed medical-surgical unit was shut down Saturday morning after months of recruitment attempts by the hospital.

Heinlein stated that one important obstacle to successful recruiting is the unavailability of reasonably-priced rental housing for nurses. He also said that the closing of this unit comes "at an unfortunate time, since the demand for hospital beds is exceptionally high." The hospital has been operating at approximately 80 percent of its 541-bed capacity, but at 95 percent of medical surgical capacity.

The hospital has been attempting for more than a year to obtain Summit municipal approval for construction of apartments for nursing personnel in the Overlook neighborhood. An application for an 88-unit building was denied last June. A revised application for 51 units is pending.

Citing flooding as one of three major campaign "issues and challenges," he noted that the freeholders are helping some municipalities with the problem but called present programs "insufficient."

"Flooding is not a municipal, county or state problem," he said. "Flooding is a regional problem that calls for complete involvement of federal, state, county and local flood control planning. I do not anticipate any real results until 'people pressure' is applied to those ... who constantly promise but never deliver the necessary aid ..."

Nilsen said other major issues facing the school year in Mountainside" according to Police Chief Edward Mullin. He asked "motorists and parents to be extra careful and alert for children walking to and from school, for bicycle riders and school buses. Parents should set an example, such as reducing speed in a school zone, getting the child off to school on time, instructing the child to walk single file facing traffic and to use crosswalks when crossing the streets. This will assist the school and community in their effort to keep the streets free of child-pedestrian accidents."

Chief Mullin warned the motorists that "to pass a loading or unloading school bus is not only illegal but very dangerous. Many a child was injured, and some seriously, throughout the state due to a motorist failing to see or stop for a school bus. Also, when passing through a school zone when children are going to or leaving school and during recess the speed limit is 25 mph. respect for all traffic laws and school regulations will contribute to the child's

Board approves special insurance on athletes, travel

Students participating in all Regional High School interscholastic athletics, school band activities and cheerleading will receive special insurance coverage adopted by the Board of Education for the 1974-75 school year Coverage includes all games or performances, scrimmages and practices as well as sponsored and supervised travel activities for all team and band members.

This coverage will provide a total benefit of $260,000 per accident. The maximum benefit payable for basic medical expenses as a result of any one accident, is $10,000, and $250,000 is available to cover "in excesss" medical expenses incurred within a three-year period

This insurance coverage will be in excess of the personal or group medical insurance carried by a student or his parents. In other words, the board's insurance company will not duplicate the medical benefits of an in dividual's policy but will pay those medical expenses not covered by a person's insurance

The board's policy will pick up the difference of deductible items, surgery costs, physician visits, hospital care, ambulance and medication, which are not payable by an individual's personal or group policy.

In addition, "in excess" coverage will include dental insurance up to $5,000 for sound teeth and $500 benefit for accidental injury to caps, crowns, braces, bridges or other prosthetic devices

Parents of Regional interscholastic athletes, cheerleaders and band members were asked to read carefully and sign the certificate of insurance before their children actually parlicipate in their respective activities in order to qualify for medical benefits. They were warned not to confuse this medical coverage with the basic student insurance programs endorsed by the Regional board and forwarded to parents for reviewal and voluntary acceptance in early

The Rev. buildings to provide more classroom, office and science laboratory space on its Union campus. College officials expect an enrollment increase of more than 700 students in the day and evening divisions of the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Education and the Graduate School. More than 200 students from Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Latin America-including Cuba-will take courses at Kean College, which changed its name last winter from Newark State College.

This year's freshman class includes more than 1,600 students-a record for the 120-yearold institution of higher learning that surpassed administrative projections for enrollment. College officials were pleasantly surprised this summer with a record enrollment in the sixweek summer session-5,685 students participated in the summer program in 1974, an increase of 1,358 over the 1973 summer session.

The college's $21 million physical development program will be completed by the end of the fall semester. The program includes the construction of three new buildings—science, academic services and administration-and the installation of a new power system for the

The conversion of the power system disrupted the work of staff members at the college for two weeks after summer session ended Aug. 2. The change required the phased shut-down of all buildings on campus, and the planned power disruptions resulted in lack of lighting, air conditioning and operating electrical equipment as college officials prepared for the coming academic year. The new radial power system will provide centralized control of electricity on campus. New electrical cables have been installed in connection with the system. The college is also installing more than 200 arc lamps to provide improved illumination of parking facilities on campus.

The three new buildings will free academic space in existing classroom buildings and consolidate academic departments and staff

The science building provides a much-needed upgrading of laboratory facilities. All science classes will meet in the new structure, which faces Morris avenue.

The academic services building will provide offices and facilities for the instructional media center, space for counseling services and other offices. The building features movable partitions, which will provide flexibility in the arrangement of offices to accommodate future needs. A college official said many academic service offices were previously scattered throughout the campus with personnel sharing

Four new dormitories which were partially completed and occupied last spring will be completed for the fall semester. About 1,000 students will be accommodated in the units, which are suite residencies. Each suite contains two single bedrooms. The rooms are carpeted and each suite will have a color television set.

In addition, the college is introducing new collateral programs and course options in interior design, environmental studies, geoscience technology, pre-law, marine science, program for the study of the future, subject area specializations in elementary education, qualification for teacher of reading and reading specialist, instructional media, social studies, education and community institutions, student teaching and urban studies internships, and foundations of graduate education, which includes weekend retreats and experimental technologies to develop a

FREE CLINICS

Since many young people involved with drug abuse are dropouts from "straight" society, they often have been unable or unwilling to avail themselves of the regular health services in this country. An alternative has sprung up in the form of "free clinics" that cater to the special needs and sensibilities of dropout

The first of these clinics was opened in 1967 in San Francisco's overcrowded Haight-Ashbury section—a kind of Mecca of the "hippie" movement of the 1960s-where health and sanitary conditions were such that some diseases reached almost epidemic proportions. Drug abuse was a major part of the Haight-Ashbury lifestyle.

The Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic offered, in addition to other medical services. outpatient treatment and a "calm center" for youths experiencing bad trips from LSD or other hallucinogens.

Now there are over 250 free clinics across the country, serving over two million patients per year. The word "free" is more than an economic term: it connotes a conventional labels and value systems applied by the general society to individuals it regards as deviant.

There are several types of free clinics, some started by residents in specific neighborhoods, others organized by unofficial or official groupsincluding mayors' com-mittees, official boards, and drug councils. A few sponsored by city health departments.

Most of the free clinics operate in such places as storefronts, old houses, or church basements, usually in inner-city ghetto areas or near large universities.

Both praise and criticism have been leveled at the free clinics. They certainly are not a final answer to reaching certain segments of our population with quality medical services. But for the present they are providing health services of varying kinds to large numbers of alienated youth and others who might otherwise receive little or none at all

Report from Washington

January 1973; I gave my wholehearted support to a resolution creating a bi-partisan select committee charged with devising a plan to reform an out-moded committee system that has tended to perpetuate the status quo. For 14 months, the committee headed by Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri and Rep. David Martin of Nebraska held hearings and worked on a report to the House

Although it was less than perfect, the Bolling-Martin Committee's report did address itself to the need to re-structure a committee system that has remained essentially the same for more than a quarter of a century. The proposal attempts to concentrate legislation dealing with a specific subject within one committee For example, the report recommended creation of an Energy and Environment Committee, thus removing these fields from the jurisdiction of the 28 committees that now share responsibility for energy and environmental legislation

The Bolling-Martin proposals also would remove jurisdiction for campaign reform from the House Administration Committee and give it to the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct. They also would place sharp curbs on the power of the Ways and Means Committee removing from its purview the authority over trade and the non-tax aspects of health legislation

One of the most encouraging aspects of the Bolling-Martin report was its emphasis on providing adequate staffing for minority members of committees. The report also recommended limiting members to one major committee assignment.

Unfortunately, the House Democratic caucus voted on May 9 not to release the plan for a floor vote without first sending it to a reform study committee chaired by Rep Julia Butler Hansen of Washington

Late in June, Rep. John Anderson of Illinois led an unsuccessful effort to get the House to overrule the Democratic caucus and to send the Bolling-Martin report directly to the Rules Committee This was a parliamentary procedure involving the privileges of the House Speaker Carl Albert overruled Anderson, who then appealed the decision to the House By a 242-163 vote that closely followed party lines, the House upheld the Speaker's ruling

In mid July, the Hansen Committee presented its report to the Democratic caucus The panel's recommendations were drastically different from those of the Bolling-Martin Committee Although the Hansen Committee came down on the side of the status quo in the matter of committee jurisdictions and multicommittee memberships, it did produce at least one suggestion that has a great deal of merit While the Bolling Committee report would have enhanced the powers of the Rules

Committee the Hansen panel would permit standing committee chairmen, under certain circumstances, to go directly to the floor of the House where they could request action on bills that the Rules Committee has bottled up.

Meeting again on July 17, the House Democratic caucus discussed both plans at length. However, no votes were taken on either one. It seemed clear that the dispute was such that the guestion would have to be decided on the floor of the House itself. Both reports have been sent to the Rules Committee, which has been asked to permit the two competing sets of recommendations to go to the floor under an open rule. Such a rule would permit con sideration of amendments on any aspect of the resolution and in effect make it possible to re write the resolution on the floor

I believe that reform of the committee system is absolutely essential if we are to have the type of open and responsive Congress that the people require. This is why these reforms are so significant. The shape of the committee reform proposal will chart the course for legislation that will be considered in the 94th and subsequent Congresses

I have written to Chairman Ray Madden to urge him and his colleagues on the House Rules Committee to bring committee reform proposals to the floor under an open rule. In this way, we will be able to have a chance at meaningful reform of the archaic committee system by picking the best provisions of both the Bolling and the Hansen Reports. As I have indicated. I generally approve of the committee structure and the committee membership limitation features of the Bolling Report. At the same time, I believe that the Hansen Committee's provisions cutting back the authority of the Rules Committee should be included in the final version

I will continue to push for action on the type of meaningful committee reforms that will contribute to a further restoration of citizens' confidence in government

Unless dramatic action is taken soon it is likely Americans will again be paying more for food this fall and winter. Even so, they will be more fortunate than their counterparts in many parts of the world who will confront a severe scarcity of food stocks at any price.

This is the glum prediction of experts and observers who have analyzed the food shortage problem. While there is no single cause for the expected rise in food prices, the experts uggest a number of contributing factors. To begin with, the rise in the price of oil significantly affected an already inflated price market for cereal and food grains. Modern high yield farming, as in the United States, depends on oil-based or natural gas-based fertilizers. In the poorer countries the higher cost has meant a cut back on their purchases of fertilizer and other petroleum products and consequently a drop in production.

Weather conditions have hadded to the problems in many areas. In our own country drought has damaged the corn, soy bean and sugar beet crops. There is fear that drought also threatens the spring wheat crop. Canada drought has cut back an expected bumper wheat crop. In Mexico it has severely affected the cattle industry. And in the Sahelianregion of Africa and in Ethiopia it threatens the lives of hundreds of thousands of people.

Just the opposite is the case in Bangladesh. Pakistan and India where heavy floods have disrupted the lives of many thousands of people and contributed to a major food crisis.

Unfortunately, even though more bad news comes in daily, the Department of Agriculture has not changed its basic approach. In essence, the Department's program is to let the natural market forces work their will. This means, for agriculture, an erratic market with prices rising and falling, and that is exactly what we are experiencing now. For example, dairy breeder stocks and calves are being slaughtered because the market is now depressed and prices for dairy products have not kept pace with rising costs for feed grains and shipment costs. In a few months there may be a shortage of milk and cheese and a corresponding rise in price. Similarly, unless poultry and pork prices go up under the current system, experts say there is a threat that breeder stocks of chickens and pigs will also be

I think the agriculture market system can and should be improved and stabilized. If we had only to concern ourselves with our own country I would not now be so worried-but we are dependent on a number of factors we cannot control, such as rising foreign demand for foodstuffs, the continued high price of oil, the changes in the value of world currencies, and hunger and starvation threatening many throughout the world.

We need to establish a marketing system for food grains that will control on a rational basis the amount that can be exported, set aside stocks for national emergencies and for emergencies elsewhere in the world, and still give the farmer a fair and dependable price for

I do not approve of rigid export controls from which almost no one benefits imposed when a crisis is fully upon us. We need a rational policy that everyone understands and can depend upon, both consumers and farmers, here at home and abroad. More than that, we need international agreement with other major grain exporting countries—such as Canada, Australia and Argentina—to coordinate policy and assure price stability.

I have proposed and sponsored legislation in the Senate to achieve these goals. In the past these proposals were blocked by powerful lobbies and vested interests. But that is beginning to change. The chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee is now studying this new approach and is pressing for action soon. With affirmative action in the office, the United States will be better able to make a positive contribution to the World Food Conference which will begin this November in

Clearly now is the time for action.

WORTHWHILE EXPERIENCE

Numerous families in Mountainside and Springfield recently opened their homes to foreign students from many lands through the American Field Service bus stop program. Although these students were only with us for five days I would like to comment that this was most marvelous and rewarding experience for my entire family:

Each year the satisfactions received from hosting these students are increased for children, teenagers and adults alike. We, as individuals and as a community, can feel pride in furthering the cause of world peace through understanding and knowledge.

I want to thank the families that made this program possible and hope many more families will join us in the future in this most worthwhile experience

CITIZEN SUPPORT

The summer months have been a busy time for a conscientious group of women of the League of Women Voters of the West(jeld Area which encompasses Westfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Mountainside. The goal of the League, which is to promote informed, active participation of our citizens in government, is implemented by our many local programs.

Our voter services program is well known in community for the candidate sheets distributed at election time, sponsorship of candidates' nights and distribution of registration and election procedures. Do know, though, that we have a slide presentation on education funding, a speakers' bureau, an observer corps which attends all public meetings, that we're doing a study of intercity transportation in Westfield and a planning and zoning study in Scotch Plains, to mention only a few of our local activities?

Hard at work is the finance committee of the League, Early in September many residents of our area are called on by volunteer members. However, we feel that there are many citizens who would like to help the League members continue their fine work locally. Since it is Cantagallo attends impossible to reach everyone, we hope people will voluntarily respond to our request for support.

UNDERSIZE STORM SEWERS This is the time this year that Mountain avenue (a county road) had to be blocked off at Mountain View drive to New Providence road by the police because of flooding.

Westfield has closed the drain at the Mountainside-Westfield town line and diverted the water to an inadequate storm sewer at Terrace place. Mountainside has diverted more surface water to Mountain avenue from Standish avenue and Mountain View, plus the business properties on Sherwood parkway.

The county has realigned the water right, of way from Mountain avenue and Sherwood parkway to a storm sewer that is inadequate, up Sherwood parkway and across to Terrace place, that is too small.

Now the best suggestion would be to redirect another larger and deeper storm sewer down Mountain avenue to Echo Lake. and relieve the flooding of all of this property. the streets and basements on Mountain avenue. from the C. J. Bank to the New Providence road

Cookout concludes visit by European teachers

A backyard cookout, a trip to the shore and a tour of a local elementary school were among the experiences recorded recently by 11 European teachers visiting this area under the auspices of the New Jersey Chapter of the American Host Program.

American Host is a person-to-person project which brings teachers from the free nations of Europe to spend a month in the United States as guests of American families, "The object is simple to enable these teacahers to gain a realistic and truthful understanding of our

Westfield Y sets Sept. 3 for sign-up; 'system' changed

A new system of four 10-week terms annually replaces Westfield YMCA's old three 13-week term system as the Y's fall term opens for registration Tuesday, Sept. 3. The Y's eightweek summer term remains the same.

Classes, designed to help fight inflation by curbing home repair costs, to help families handle the important job of values and character-building, and to develop creative and artistic outlets for youngsters, are highlighted in the program.

Fall term classes begin Sept 9 Mountainside residents are eligible to enroll.

More than 100 classes in swimming, gymnastics, judo and karate, trampoline and tumbling, soccer, football, tennis, fencing, weightlifting, fitness and competitive aquatics will also be offered for people of all ages.

New this year is a home maintenance class which "promises to be popular just for the money it saves in electrical and plumbing repairs," said program director Jack Leitch 'Home repairs without a costly repair person will be the curriculum of the course

A Family Focus class "zeroes in on the critical problems families face in these troubled days, as centers of values and character-building and microcosoms of the world around us. We'll teach how to handle complex problems of parent and child behavior," said Leitch.

A Creative Pottery class for youngsters ages 8 to 13 is designed to build artistic outlets through learning handbuilding techniques and glazing. It highlights a child development program for youngsters ages 7 through 13 which includes chess, carpentry, videotape adventures, guitar and model building.
The 10-week term system was initiated principally to put us on the same schedule as the YWCA, with whom we share the building.' explained general director William R. "This makes it easier for us to program-and less confusing for mothers who are enrolling their children in the Y's programs and have to come several times to register. Those wishing to enroll in classes must

"Equally important, the American hosts discover through their guests, other countries people and traditions.

The foreign visitors spent eight days in this area. They included Reiner DeJong of the Netherlands, Klara Gerretsen of the Netherlands and Paulette Cirode of France, who stayed in Mountainside with Mr. and Mrs. Marton DeVos, Mr. and Mrs. David Radding and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swersky, respectively Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sklar of Springfield played host to Gisela Rybakowski of West

The visitors followed the usual daily schedules of the families, and participated in several activities planned by the American Host Program. Among these was the barbeque party- a rare treat for most Europeans-held at a Berkeley Heights home.

"Spending a day at the beach at Deal was another "first" for many of the teachers." the program spokesman said, noting, "Except for the southern portions of Europe, the water is too cold to bathe in." An evening at Bowcraft Playland, Scotch Plains, was another unusual happening for them, since the closest thing most of the teachers had seen resembling the playland is the European carnival, which visits small towns only once a year or so.

"It's like being a child all over again," DeJong commented. "It's so much fun having these things available to do whenever you want

Also scheduled was a morning tour of Mountainside's Deerfield School, which, the spokesman said, "brought many comments of praise and comparison. Most of the teachers were surprised at the amount of audio-visual equipment available to the children." The tour was conducted by Lois Radding, an art teacher at Deerfield.

The teachers took part in a tour of Overlook Hospital, Summit, and had the opportunity to see local talent perform at a concert at Gov Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights—a program attended by nearly 300

"The American Host Program is the only one of its kind for elementary and secondary school teachers," the spokesman said. "And though endorsed by members of Congress and government agencies, it obtains no funds whatsoever from our government. Funded through the non-profit American Host Foundation, the program is made possible by contributions from individuals, industry and the visiting teachers themselves, who pay a major portion of the costs. The result is an independent program, unencumbered by politics, policy or control, other than that of the par ticipants.'

The New Jersey Chapter of the program is the only one currently active. In addition to the summer guests, the chapter hosts different groups during the year, for a day or a weekend. These "visitors" are foreigners living and working in New York who do not have the opportunity to visit American homes; foreign students who attend universities in this area. and, sometimes, visiting dignitaries. All of the guests are required to speak English, so there is no language barrier between them and the host families

Persons interested in joining the program, or in obtaining more information, may call Mr. or Mrs. Philip Adams, 464-3164, or Mr. or Mrs Martin DeVos, 232-2605.

Consumers' Corner NEW "SPUN-LACE" FABRIC

A new, nonwoven, warm weather fabric has been created through a "spun-lace" process. Individual fibers are entangled into the fabric without the use of looms, knitting machinery or adhesives. It's the friction between the fibers that holds a fabric together. This "spun-lace" creation combines features of both woven and knit materials. It does not curl and cut edges do not fray.

The fabric can be drycleaned or washed. It dries quickly and has a high degree of softness and drapability. It may be printed or dyed.

'Spun-lace" can be used to create beach coverups, tablecloths, curtains, jackets, blouses, skirts and dresses. But pattern styles that are loose or gathered are bestthey won't strain the fabric.

Handle it as you would lace: When making a dress or jacket, fully underline the fabric. To keep raw edges from showing through, make French seams.

Purchasing agent concern of GOP

Union County Freeholders Matthew Nilsen and Rose Marie Sinnott and their running mate, Westfield attorney Robert Doherty, this week called upon the board to immediately begin preparation of job specifications for a professional county purchasing agent. The post has been vacant since the death of Frank Dann months ago.

"Just as we have endorsed the recommendations of the Optional Study Commission to bring professionalism to county government we endorse the concept of a professional purchasing executive for the business of county government." the candidates said. "With our county budget approaching $50 million, the post should be filled on a competitive, non-partisan basis by a qualified professional to help assure the maximum use of the tax dollar." the candidates concluded.

Dems back state in bid for Pingry

Union County Democratic Freeholder candidates John D. Mollozzi of Roselle Park. Walter E. Boright of Scotch Plains and William J. McCloud of Elizabeth, this week hailed the announcement that the state is considering the purchase of the Pingry school and property for use as a school for handicapped youngsters.

"Since the county first began talking about purchasing the Pingry complex for expanded county offices we have been on record as against such an acquisisition. Pingry must be maintained as an educational facility: that is the most conductive utilization for it since it is more in tune with the residential characteristics of the surrounding neighborhood," they said.

Mollozzi, Boright and McCloud also pointed out that funds for its acquisition by the state are available through a previously voter-approved bond issue. "Should the county wish to purchase it, however, it would be an enormous additional burden on the already beleagured

STATE'S BONDED DEBT CLIMBED IN FISCAL 1974

New Jersey's issued and outstanding serial bonded debt totaled more than $1.265 billion as of July 2, representing an increase of nearly $117 million, or more than 10 percent above the amount a year earlier. The debt has increased over $1 billion since 1964. State debt is one of the least publicized aspects of New Jersey State finances. Data concerning the subject are absent from any widely-distributed State publication pointed out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

To provide citizens detailed information New Jersey's general obligation debt, NJTA has prepared its annual table on the State's bonded indebtedness. Debt fact highlights indicate:

Bonds issued during fiscal 1974, $150,000,000; Bonds retired during fiscal 1974, $33,075,000; Net increase in gross debt over 1973. $116,935,000; Bonds authorized and unissued. $408,500,000; State General Obligation Debt July-2, 1974, $1,265,425,000.

Last November, voters endorsed a $25 severely handicapped children. Before fall, the Legislature may decide to place one or more of the following bond proposals on the November ballot: Green Acres, $200 million; Highway, $200 million; Vietnam Veterans Education, $50

The higher the debt, the more costly the debt service-annual payments of principal and interest on the bonds. Debt service will cost more than $100 million in fiscal 1974-75.

To Publicity Chairmen:

The cost of everything is going up, but electricity is still a bargain.

Prices of the products you see here have increased from 100% to over 350% since 1946. With very few exceptions, most other goods and services have registered sizable Electricity is one of those exceptions. From 1946 to 1969, your electric rate remained relatively constant. In fact, there were even reductions, the most recent being made in 1969.

But since that time the nation has become engulfed in spiraling inflation. Costs have been soaring ever since at an increasing rate.

Caught up in this inflationary tidal wave, PSE&G was forced to ask for an increase in 1970. Our first in ten years. Since then there have been others. Recent jumps in fuel prices are pushing average electricity costs for all customers to a point about 60% more than in 1946. Still, compared with the cost increase of most other goods and services, electric rates are still a Electricity has improved our standard of living. Although electric rates have been climbing, let's not forget that our standard of living has been climbing, too. Compare what electricity is doing for you today with what it did in the 1940's and 1950's.

Just look around your home. How many electrical appliances do you have to take the drudgery out of home tasks . . . appliances such as washers, dryers, dishwashers, vacuum cleaners, and power tools? How about TV's? More than two and a half million TV sets are on PSE&G lines. Nearly half are color. And color TV requires more electricity than black and white.

Will rates continue to go up? Rates go up mainly to keep pace with rising costs, environmental requirements, and the need for more generating capacity. The days of cheap energy are over now, and it will cost you more to use electricity and gas in the future. We don't like it any more than you do.

Cheesequake Village off Exit 120 of the Garden State Parkway underlines the care with which Prel Corporation selected the site for this distinctive adult community Its gracious, condominium lifestyle is now being shared by many families.

"The concepts of retirement have changed significantly in recent years," says a Prel spokesman. "Mature families often want the social companionship of people their own age. They want to maintain their usual standards of comfort and convenience, but without the responsibilities that generally attend private

"That's why our condominium community is so attractive." Cheesequake Village offers comfortable, well-planned townhomes in a congenial environment. The maintenance chores, such as snow removal, grass cutting and outside painting, are all handled by professionals for a modest monthly fee."

According to the spokesman, location is as important as the many other advantages of the community. Retired couples enjoy the country surroundings and the absence of city crowding and tension. At the same time, the Garden State Parkway provides easy access to business and cultural centers to the north or south.

"Price is another factor." he explains. "With units ranging from $19,990 to $25,990, they're easily within the budget of the middleincome family."

The condominium also provides important financial benefits. Since residents actually own their own townhomes, they may take the traditional deductions at tax time. Credit for real estate taxes and mortgage interest DEBUT ALBUM -- Nino Tempo, wno made some hit records with his sister, April Stevens, has recorded his first album with 5th Ave. Sax, "Come See Me Round Midnight.

TURNTABLE TREAT - COME SEE ME 'ROUND MIDNIGHT: 'y Nino Tempo & 5th Ave. Sax (A&M SP 3629) Selections include: "Come See Me Round Midnight," "High On The Music," "Sister James," "Gettin Off," and "Last Cut-Side 2"

Although Nino Tempo wasn't born in a trunk. he was something of a show-biz prodigy. He sang before he could crawl. After singing conscientiously as a toddler. Nino made his first public appearance at six, sang with Benny Goodman at seven and with the Glenn Miller Orchestra at eight. When the LoTempio family moved from Niagara Falls (Nino's birthplace) to Los Angeles, Nino learned to play clarinet. and he was soon adept at the various reed in struments, piano, harmonica and guitar, Meanwhile, Mrs. LoTempio was taking her son around to the movie studios, and Nino became a child actor, appearing in "The Story of G.I. "The Glenn Miller Story

After graduating from Hollywood High where young musician-actors traditionally enroll, Nino went to L.A. City College where he majored in music. Out of college, Nino gained his reputation as a jazz saxophonist with such groups as the Maynard Ferguson Orchestra and the Lighthouse All Stars. At the same time. he was playing on the pop sessions of famed produced Phil Spector

But it was with his sister, April Stevens, that Nino made his deepest impression on the pop audience. In the days immediately preceding the advent of the Beatles, Nino and April went right to number one with their provocative rendition of "Deep Purple." That classic Grammy-winning single launched the pair on a successful career

After signing with A&M in 1973, April and Nino decided to record singly as well as together; Nino's chart success with his instrumental singles, "Sister James" and "Roll It," prompted the recording of this, his debut

Meadowbrook will highlight "An Evening of Song," starring Lainie Kazan. Pat Paulsen will open in "Harvey," the Pulitzer prize-winning play by Mary Chase, Oct. 2. The stage comedy will be performed Wednesdays through Sundays to Nov. 3. The cocktail lounge opens at 6 p.m., and dinner is served from 6:30 p.m.

Pictorial essay on TV

A visual essay of South Jersey including harvest, Indian summer, the rustic beauty of the Pine Barrens and the Victorian ginger bread of Cape May will be explored during "South Jersey Sketchbook," next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 50 and 58.

Streisand starred in double feature at Plaza, Linden

Barbra Streisand is doubly-starred at the New Plaza Theater, Linden, this week in a double feature, "For Pete's Sake" and "The Owl and the Pussycat." Both pictures are rated

In "For Pete's Sake," Miss Strelsand plays a woman named "Henry," who is married to a young cab-driver (Michael Sarrazin). The cabble has unusual financial wees because his wife gets herself so involved in loan sharks, a prostitution setup, gangsters who want to rub out an associate, politicians, police, sewers. subways and even a stampede of rustled cat tle-in Brooklyn

Molly Picon is featured as that of a demure Brooklyn madam who finds "gentlemen callers" for day-lighting housewives in need of

Also featured re Estelle Parsons .nd William Redfield. The Columbia Picture in color was produced by Martin Erlichman and Stanley Shapiro (Shapiro also collaborated on the script with Maurice Richlin). Peter Yates directed.

George Segal co-stars with Miss Streisand in "The Owl and the Pussycat," another comedy film photographed in color.

BYRON JANIS - American pianist will give his first performance at Kean College of New Jersey, Union, Saturday evening, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m., as part of a four-concert series sponsored by the music department in conjunction with the College Center Board, the office of the dean of students and the co-curricular planning committee. Proceeds will campus scholarship funds. Janis has appeared with major symphony orchestres throughout the

"Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness. His is the greatest of all." —THOMAS CARLYLE

> Labor, said a wise man, preserves us from three great evils...weariness, vice and want. It also serves as an excellent measure of strength and prosperity ...especially when a nation's people are independent and proud of earning a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. Today, we take time from our daily jobs to pay our grateful tribute to the American ethic that dignifies honest labor and knows that work is love made visible.

School post, EPA calls water quality 'excellent'

WASHINGTON-The Federal Environ mental Protection Agency has reaffirmed the "excellent quality" of ocean water on the New Jersey and Long Island shores, Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-NJ) said this

The reassurances came in a letter to Williams from Gerald M. Hansler, regional administrator for EPA in New York City. Hansler was responding to a letter Williams had sent expressing concern over renewed reports of sludge drifting from the dumping site 12 miles off Sandy Hook toward beach areas. "I am pleased to see that the EPA is apparently keeping close tabs on this situation. and I am very glad to have this reassurance about the quality of water at our beach areas, Williams said. Hansler also reiterated EPA's plan to move the dumping site further offshore by 1976 and to

There has been somewhat of a crisis recently in several townships along the New Jersey shore, where all important recreation-associated businesses—marinas in particular have been suffering from equipment damage from a small boring animal known as shipworm. This issue has further embroiled the power industry in litigation with citizen groups Around Oyster Creek and Foreked River. marina owners, beset over the last year or so with crumbling timbers, feel they are losing their docks to a local nuclear power plant. This plant discharges heated water, after use, into local waters. facility to cool its turbines during the nower generation cycle is often returned as much as 19-23 degrees fahrenheit warmer than when it was brought into the plant at the intakes. In the Forked River case, citizens feel an economic hardship has been visited on them by the Lacey Township plant. Where timbers used to last as long as 20 years, owners say they now have a life as short as six months. Owners contend that increased water temperatures have nurtured the reproductive behavior of the damaging organisms to the extent that there has been an enormous increase in their presence. Rightly, or wrongly, they attribute this directly to the

Sufficient research has been done to indicate that discharges from both fossil fuel and nuclear facilities located in coastal zones have caused dramatic ecological changes due to direct temperature effects, temperature and nitrogen embolism, chemical releases and oxygen-associated problems. The recent situation in New Jersey, then, is but a slightly varied continuation in a larger historical fabric of problems with power plant technology

Sometimes it seems our leaders continue to minimize technology's effect on nature even in the face of serious precedents. Man cannot patronize principles related to the growth and reporduction of organisms. Words and plans have little value when placed next to action Our stewardship of the planet's resources requires us to seek alternatives, through research, to much of our present technology As long as the populations grow, as long as the cities expand, as long as citizens without electric frypans and hand hair blowers are made to feel deprived through advertizing and subtle culture molding by mercenaries, so will the legacy we pass to our children be bereft of values which will give them a meaningful perspective.

The marina owners of the Jersey coast do not have the financial capacity to continually replace their basic tools. Some estimate that the annual cost of replacement of shipwormdamaged dock timber would be upward of $50,000 a year. This is an outrageous burden to the small business man and an intolerable threat to the well-being of the community depending on their trade.

Once again, it is clear that hindsight becomes double and triple the cost of foresight and good design-looking at the environment in totalityis not a waste of time or money, as some suggest in the rush to build, but is both practical and fiscally wise in the long run.

Medical program makes lung grant

The American Lung Association of New Jersey has been awarded a $60,000 grant from the New Jersey Regional Medical Program, it was announced this week by Mrs. Harry M Finlaw, president of the board of directors of the New Jersey Christmas Seal Association These funds will be used by the local affiliated lung association for home care programs for chronic obstructive lung disease nationts. The Lung Association previously received a $40,000 grant from the Regional Medical Program to assist in the development of this home care project.

By counselling the patient and by teaching him about proper methods of breathing, the care and maintenance of his breathing equipment, and the precautions to take against infection, we hope to reduce the high hospital readmission rate of patients with lung diseases," said Mrs. Finlaw. "We also hope to lengthen the time between admissions and shorten the hospital stay by providing adequate orientation to care in the home for both the patient and his family."

Civil War pageantry at Waterloo History reenacted on Labor Day weekend

Civil War skirmishes, marching drills and artillery demonstrations are just part of the pageantry to take place Labor Day weekend at historic Waterloo Village, near

One hour away from New York City, there is a wealth of antiquity within the Village throughout the year But Labor Day visitors created history sponsored by the First New Jersey Light Artillery, Battery B. Clark's Rattery

Acting as the metropolitan host team. Clark's Battery has invited 27 teams from East of the Mississippi to break camp at Waterloo beginning tomorrow. During the Civil War, the original Clark's Battery was recruited from Hudson, Bergen, Essex and Sussex Counties

Changes in closing rule recommended by NJAR

(NJAR) is recommending to Congress several changes in closing cost regulations designed to reduce home buyers' misunderstandings and confusion, and to possibly reduce closing costs

'Closing on the home of its choice should be a happy event for a family. Instead, many find costs included that were not anticipated said Sidney H. Koorse, president of NJAR "Closing statements are prepared through escrow or the lender, but buyers become angry with all that is involved in the closing, including the Realtor," he added

Koorse listed suggestions being presented to Congress during its consideration of possible closing cost legislation

"All settlement costs should be disclosed to the buyer at the time commitments are made for obtaining a loan. At the same time, information booklets should be distributed by the lender that fully explain costs involved in the

This early disclosure would eliminate problems created by last-minute unforseen details. The buyer in N.J. would have days in advance of closing to acquaint himself with these costs, or seek better terms from other lenders and closing-cost services," Koorse explained. "This would encourage competition and possibly lead to lower costs," he added

Allow the Department of Housing and t'rban Development to construct' several model statements ones which take into account regional variations in state laws, differing business practices and market conditions

"We believe that a single settlement statement that took these variations into ac count would be too long and involved and merely add to the buyer's confusion." Koorse

2 The settlement statement should be a substitute for the truth-in-lending statement. "Overall, Realtor experience with truth-inlending statements has been that the disclosures have created more confusion than they eliminate. They contain only some of the costs involved in transactions, making it necessary to present a second set of figures, Koorse noted. "Any further action in this area

Hearing Tests Set For Elizabeth

Free electronic hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service offices on Monday and Tuesday.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the office listed below to perform

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year. If there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aids or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the latest methods of hearing correction. The free hearing tests will be given at Beltone, 11 Broad St., Elizabeth on Monday and Tuesday. If you can't get there on Monday or Tuesday call 353-7686 and disclosure procedure," he added

3 Eliminate the federal regulation of maximum interest rates on FHA and VA guaranteed mortgages, and allow them to fluctuate with other market rates

The association feels this would greatly lessen the need of lenders to charge discount points, the difference between interest on these loans and prevailing higher rates being charged other borrowers

Payment of discount points is one of the most expensive and by far the most troublesome item in the settlement procedure Allowing those interest rates to fluctuate would increase availability of funds for mort gages in N.J. during times of tight money. We feel it also would decrease the ultimate cost of the transaction to both buyer and seller." Koorse said

"In addition, it would greatly diminish a major cause of disappointment and dissatisfaction during the settlement process."

Seton Hall ready for registration in evening division

Seton Hall University College, the evening division, will conduct registration for the fall semester Tuesday through Sept. 7 on the South Orange campus. Although primarily a night educational operation, University College also offers classes in the late afternoon and on Saturdays, according to Miriam O'Donnell, executive dean.

Miss O'Donnell anticipates one of the highest enrollments in the division in recent years. "Many of our students are employed during the day." she said, "and they understand the value of a college degree. In many cases tuition fees are paid for by their employers and successful completion of courses result in job promotions.

"We are also attracting more houswives who are making plans for the day they can return to the job market," she continued

Traffic, weather data given

Motorists now are able to dial the letters P-A-R-K-W-A-Y to get up-to-the-minute reports on Garden State Parkway road and traffic con-

Commissioner John B. Townsend of the New Jersey-Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, announced this week that a new telephone answering service for the entire 173 mile roadway went into effect last week

The service was set up in the Parkway Communications Center at the Authority Administration Building in Woodbridge Dispatchers in the Center are in constant radio communication with State Troopers on patrol State Police barracks and other installations all along the Parkway, and get quick data on how traffic is moving and conditions which might affect travel, Commissioner Townsend

Dispatchers will alter recorded taped messages periodically or as conditions dictate so that callers of P-A-R-K-W-A-Y will be advised of the traffic flow, tieups, ice or snow conditions, fog, heavy rain, flooding or other unusual situations

The Authority decided to initiate the service because of the fremendous increase in the number of vehicles on the road," Commissioner Townsend said. "This will be yearround service that should be helpful to Parkway patrons no matter what the time of day or year. We decided on making it a 12-month-a year service because it's good for the motorist to know what's ahead whatever the season."

New 3-D slides teach chemistry

A new dimension has been added to college chemistry by Gregory V. Nelson, 30, an associate professor at Drew University,

He has produced a set of 400 3-D slides in color, illustrating just about every chemical concept in which an understanding of structure is basic to a grasp of the concept itself. Just published by C.V. Mosby of St. Louis, the slides will be on view all next week in Atlantic City at the annual meeting of the American Chemical

Until now, cardboard and "Tinker-Toy" models have been used widely for instructional purposes. Though they still have their place, Nelson's slides are far less bulky, far more comprehensive and flexible. They show structure to everyone from the same point of view-the camera's. Confusion is minimized because every student, sees exactly the same thing, no matter where situated, in or out of the
