Teachers Association attacks board policies

The executive board of the Mountainside Teachers Association, charging "public attempts" to discredit an MTA statement on 'serious problems threatening quality education" in local schools, this week issued a reaffirmation of its views on this issue. It reads, in full, as follows

"On Oct. 9, 1974, the Mountainside Teachers Association issued a letter to all Mountainside residents alerting them to the serious problems threatening quality education in our schools

"Public attempts have recently been made to discredit the information in this letter. The Mountainside Teachers Association not only reaffirms the validity and accuracy of their statement, but also wishes to point out the following facts:

"Closing Echobrook School eliminated expenses connected with the use of that building for classes. It did not 'eliminate' the children formerly enrolled there, who now attend Beechwood or Deerfield Elementary. Staff reductions mean curtailed educational services for all children.

"Closing Echobrook School does not justify eliminating a reading treacher: In June 1974, Beechwood, Echobrook, and Deerfield Elementary had a combined enrollment of 632 pupils, and two reading teachers. In Nov., 1974. Beechwood and Deerfield Elementary have a combined enrollment of 602 pupils, and one reading teacher.

"Closing Echobrook School does not justify cutting the vocal music program: In 1973-1974, with 632 pupils and two vocal music teachers. one teacher was on a five-day schedule, the second teacher on a two-and-one-half day schedule, for a total of seven-and-one-half days In 1974-1975 with 602 pupils, one vocal music teacher is on a five-day schedule.

"Although a statement has been made that the music program has not been cut, the fact is that music classes in the first and second grades have been reduced by half.

"Closing Echobrook School does not justify eliminating a language arts coordinator; nor does the decline in enrollment of 40 children in the Deerfield Middle School justify the loss of the services of this specialist for the children and staff remaining in the school system.

"The Board of Education paid $2,000 to Metzler Associates for advice on improving

The Mountainside Recreation Commission is accepting registrations for all winter programs as well as several special events.

Boys' and Girls' basketball clinic, for fifth and sixth graders will be held on Saturday mornings beginning Dec. 7 Wrestling and twirling for fourth-eighth graders is also scheduled for Saturday mornings. Boys' and girls' basketball leagues for seventh-12th graders will be held weekday evenings. The registration fee for all of these programs is $2

Registrations are also being accepted for the Dec. 7 family ice skating night at Warinanco. and the "Nutcracker" ballet trip on Dec. 22 The skating night is from 6 to 8, and is for borough residents only. For those who wish bus transportation, there is a fee of $1. Skate rentals are available

The ballet trip is scheduled for Sunday af ternoon, Dec. 22. The registration fee of $4 includes front orchestra seat and bus transportation.

Reservations for these special events and registrations for all programs are accepted at Borough Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. Ice skating reservations may be made by phone. For additional information, readers should call the recreation office at 232-0015

Rosen said his firm has been forced to go to private suppliers to make up for the foodstuffs no longer supplied by the government including all flour and oil seed products, and this will result in increased costs to the Regional Board of Education, "Originally, the pricing charged to the board on the commodities was only a holding charge, and that was much, much, much less than the wholesale prices of the food," he noted Rosen, noting the district has regularly received most of its food supplies from private firms, not from the government, explained "The majority of food in any cafeteria with as varied a menu as that of the Union County district would be purchased from private companies, but you must remember the whole school lunch program is predicated on what is known as the "Type A' lunch

"This lunch, which is subsidized by the state and federal government, must consist of a half pint of milk, any type, at least two ounces of protein-meat, fish, poultry, etc., at least three-quarters of a cup of fruit or vegetables one slice of bread or its equivalent, and one teaspoon of butter."

Last year the subsidy for this was 15.5 cents for each lunch served. This year the payment has been increased to 17 cents, but Rosen noted this would definitely not offset the cost increase facing the board because of the increased use of foods from private companies

The federal government has increased its supply of red meat to schools across the nation but Butz has eliminated flour and oil seed products from the menu. In New Jersey, one of the states which takes the government flour and converts it to baked products, this means that each school system will be paying seven to 10 cents extra for each loaf Until recently, the state government flour and sent it to area processors who converted the flour into finished baked goods. Under the same concept, the state has and linebacker. They have played a large part in the Highlanders' success this year, with a record of 5-2-1 and the championship of the Watchung Conference National tainside school board this week issued a statement noting "dismay" over "the apparent misunderstanding of many citizens about just what is required of a Board of Education.

Her statement, which argues against the presentation of "a united front" by board members and defends an open meeting policy, reads as follows:

"A board is not elected to unanimously agree on everything. Indeed there would be no need for a board if this were so-all that would be required would be for one person to make the decisions. The Mountainside board is faced with having to do all of our business in public because that seems to be the only time when most of the board members seem able to attend. Most people do not realize that, by law, all school board meetings must be public. No decision is legal until it is voted upon at a public

Torborg selected as Indian coach

Jeff Torborg of Mountainside has been chosen by Frank Robinson, newly appointed manager of the Cleveland Indians, as bullpen. coach. Torborg came to terms over the weekend.

The Mountainside athlete has been athletic director at the Wardlaw School since August. He was the leading candidate for the new Princeton University baseball coaching job but informed the school of his decision on Monday.

Torborg, who caught three no-hitters in his 10-year career in the major leagues played with the Los Angeles Dodgers and California Angels, where he was a teammate of Robinson. No-hitters caught by him were thrown by Sandy Koufax, Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer. front at public meetings. This business of a united front is so much of a facade. Anyone who has ever served on any kind of board knows that there is much disagreement and heated discussion among members. There is nothing wrong with this. This is healthy and democratic.

"At the New Jersey School Boards Convention held in Atlantic City recently, Ruth Mancuso, past president of the New Jersey School Boards Association and now a member of the State Board of Education, conducted a forum titled, "The Divided Board." Mrs. Manucso conducted six sessions, two each day, and each session was well attended. Patricia Knodel, Dr. Irvin Krause and I all attended this forum, each at a different session, and heard Mrs. Mancuso state:

"The divided board is not unusual, but rather common throughout the state and, in fact, the entire country. This is healthy! As a result of Watergate, the citizens want to know what is going on. More and more school districts are adhering to the open board meeting policy. There is nothing wrong with board members disagreeing with each other so long as they do (Continued on page 3)

Letters to Editor

This is an open letter to Mr. Adam Evans. I could not let your letter go by without a chance to answer it

I do not consider myself a "free spender My husband works long and hard to earn his salary. What else in this world do we want to spend it on other than our children?

I am not happy to sit by and watch our board bicker over pennies and dimes and eliminate programs and teachers and principals righ and left. I want a fair budget I can support and an entire board that supports it too!

I realize life is not easy for those on a fixed income. But please be open-minded with regard to your town's children. Someone once cared about your children and hopefully gave them the best education they possibly could We all must insure our future by doing right by the next generation's children. We owe that much to our society

MUSIC PROGRAM In response to "rumors" that the quality of music education has deteriorated in Mountainside schools, the Board of Education public relations chairman went into tortuous, lengthy explanation in last week's Echo. She noted the decision-making responsibilities of Dr. Hanigan. Mrs Julian and other teachers. without once mentioning the board's responsibility

This fact remains: The Board of Education has approved a decrease in music from 7' teaching days last year to five days this year Student enrollment may be down, but certainly not by 33 percent. Just for starters, this teacher decrease means that all first and second graders are taught music 30 minutes per week, instead of Mountainside's traditional one hour per week.

It is imperative that Mountainside voters question many of these board press releases, as well as the wisdom of cutting educational

Wesleys to present program at Community Presbyterian

The United Presbyterian Women of the Community Presbyterian Church of Mountainside will have a Christmas luncheon on Tuesday, Dec. 10, at noon in Fellowship Hall of the church, Deer Path at Meetinghouse lane. Cost of the luncheon is $1.50. Guests will be welcomed, according to a church spokesman

"The Story of Worship from Cave to Cathedral" will be presented by Dr. and Mrs. . Andrew Wesley of Plainfield. Dr. and Mrs. Wesley have been traveling all over the country in their retirement years sharing their 'carefully documented and researched' program of slides and commentary on man's places of worship through the ages.

The Wesleys do not accept a personal fee for their program but when funds are available they suggest that they be made payable to a charity of their designation. This year their honorariums are sent to the American Red Cross disaster relief fund. Their recent tour netted $3,400 for this fund. In the past they have sent their honorariums to the Christian Children's Fund, United Jewish Appeal, The United Nations Children's Fund, Care Inc. Bacone College for Indians, etc

Dr. Wesley is a graduate of Cornell University. He received M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at New York University He has published 45 technical papers and has received some 80 patents Dr. Wesley headed the American Electroplaters' Society as national president and has been a fellow of the American Institute of Chemists. ## Citizens list top Dayton priorities: Reading, writing and communicating

A series of potential educational directions was listed in order of most to least importance for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School last week by a special community committee composed of 38 Springfield and Mountainside

- Selecting among 18 educational goals, the community committee chose "develop skills in reading, writing, speaking and listening" as the Number 1 goal for Dayton Regional with an average score of 4.0 out of a possible 5.0. Second ranked goal selected is "develop a desire for jearning now and in the future," with an average score of 3.7. Third is "gain a general education" (3.5).

The other goals were tanked as follows: 4. Learn how to examine and use information

5. Develop pride in work and a feeling of selfworth (3.3)

6. Develop skills to enter a specific field of

7. Learn how to respect and get along with people who think, dress and act differently

8. Learn to respect and get along with people with whom we work and live (2.4);
9. Develop good character and self-respect

10. Appreciate culture and beauty in the world (2.3):

11. Learn how to be a good citizen (2.2); 12. Gain information needed to make job 13. Learn about and try to understand the changes that take place in the world (2.1); 14. Learn how to be a good manager of money, property and resources (1.8);

15. Practice and understand the ideas of health and safety (1.8); 16. Understand and practice the skills of family living (1.6); 17. Learn how to use leisure time (1.4); 18. Understand and practice democratic ideas and ideals (1.3). The information provided by the community committee will be submitted to the Dayton Regional Student Council, professional staff and PTSA for their review and comments "Residents of Mountainside and Springfield are invited to submit their comments and reviews regarding the ordering of educational directions for Dayton Regional as completed by the community committee," stated Charles litale Jr., president of the Regional Board of Education. Vitale noted that interested persons should send their comments to the Board of Education, Community Committees, 841 Mountain ave., Springfield 07081. The total package of information will then be presented the Board of Education and school administration for their review and examination.

'On behalf of the Board of Education and school administration," stated Vitale, "I wish to express our appreciation for the 151 community committee members who served their respective high schools in the Regional District. It is our intent to continue to seek

Regional District citizens. The Dayton Regional community committee was composed of Mountainside and Springfield residents selected by a random sampling of the voter registration rolls. The Data Processing Center at the Union County Court House carried out the initial selection process.

Initially, 1,000 residents of Mountainside and Springfield were notified that they were selected as potential community committee members. They were asked to return post cards to indicate whether or not they would be able to serve on the Dayton Regional committee.

A total of 101 persons returned cards indicating that, if selected, they were willing to participate. Dr. Neville Robertson of the University of Indiana, who was flown in last year to speak with the Board of Education as an expert on this community committee program, stated that a 60-member committee is the 'maximum manageable number.'' "Trenton to Act on Open Meetings." It said. "A bill requiring that just about every government body in New Jersey must conduct all of its business in a manner that is open to the public is finally about to be considered on the floor of the Assembly later this month

'The measure, which applies to legislative and executive branches of government, with limited, specific exceptions such as personnel matters, had been stalled in committee for 'The new law would affect any meeting that involves discussion or deliberation. Even so called executive sessions would be open to the public and press, with prior public notice of the meeting also required

'Although the measure was co sponsored by more than 70 members of the Assembly most Trenton observers believe that it faces a tough fight in the lower house when and if it comes up for a vote, and another tough battle when it goes to the Senate

'We say it is about time public officials started making decisions that affect then constituents in public

'The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Byron Baer, Bergen County Democrat, has the support of reform-minded organizations across state, and we call upon local Assembly members to work to get the measure voted on and passed.

"The Mountainside Board of Education, in an effort to keep its constituents interested and informed, began having open meetings almost one and one-half years ago. It believes that when the community realizes that this is not destructive, but rather constructive, it will dispel the misgivings of many

Impact on schools of surplus foods cutback awaited

made available to school systems bread, pizza. soft pretzels, hamburger patties and meal loaf mayonnaise, macaroni, canned soups and torkey roll. The cutback in government surplus Hour and other non-meat items means a drastic reduction, and in some cases, elimination, of processed foods

ACCORDING TO Col. Ellsworth Reiss. coordinator of the state's food distribution astem - a lot of our processing is being out out because of the lack of prioris and oils

Reiss said the U.S. Department of Agriculture is trying to get out of the business of supplying commodities to schools by offering cash payments instead. The schools would rather have the surplus food, the cost of purchasing the items on the open market is greater than the additional coets provided by the government he ad

COL. REISS BLAMES Secretary of Agriculture Butz for the problem. Butz has open market authority - said the state official. It there are no surplus stocks in an item market for domestic programs, including school lunches. But he refuses to use this authority

Officials of the Department of Agriculture disagree with Col. Reiss. They say the schools are receiving more than they ever did, even though flour and oil seed products are being climinated

'We're budgeting $295 million for com modities and $120 million in either commodities or each in our program," according to Edward K Hekman, administrator of the Food and Nutrition Service, the Department of Agriculture agency which supervises the program

Last year we supplied schools and in stitutions with $60 million in red meat. This year it's $125 million " said Hekman from his Washington, D.C., office "We did what Congress told us to do put emphasis on high protein meat and dairy products. If we're going to give food to the schools, we're better off donating red meat than flour, which is easy to buy and readily available." Hekman contends that if the Department of Agriculture is sup plying more meat to the schools, the schools won't have to purchase as much meat locally

Charles Turnquist, deputy administrator for commodity operations in the Department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (the agency which acquires some of the commodities for the school lunch program), said the federal government has taken advantage of low beef prices and spent its money there rather than for flour and vegetable oil

"There has never been a law specifying what commodities the Department has to supply the schools," said Turnquist. "All we're required to supply are commodities in a dollar amount as legislated by Congress."

Turnquist said school officials should look at what they are receiving "in terms of total dollars. Sure, the mix of commodities we supply them is different this year from what it was last year-but that which we supply they don't have to buy. If our mix of commodities changes, they buy a different mix from local suppliers. They're getting the same dollar value from us."

Turnquist suggested that the central acquisition of foods by the Department of Agriculture, either through farm price support purchases or in the open market, may not be the most economical method of getting food into the schools. "Nobody has demonstrated we can acquire food more economically than local schools systems," he said. "Administration and transportation costs must be considered.

The Department of Agriculture official said a straight cash payment system to school districts might be preferable to commodity shipments. "Let the schools acquire what they want when they want it; this might be less expensive than central acquisition.

ROBERT FREILER, food distribution director for the Northeast region of the Food and Nutrition Service, said New Jersey is one of the states which processes flour and other the cutback in flour and oil, he said. New Jersey will be hurt. But, he added, the government will be providing an increased supply of high-protein items. Recent Department of Agriculture purchases have included $100 million in ground beef. "We've also made purchases of chicken, turkey, canned fruits and vegetables, canned cranberry sauce, peanul granules and canned pork.

Col. Reiss of the state food distribution system, who had 29 years of experience in logistics and food purchasing for the military before joining the New Jersey Department of Agriculture four years ago, would like to see Congress approve legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Sen Joseph Biden Jr. of Delaware. The legislation. a rider to the foreign aid bill, would force the Department of Agriculture to provide food for S. school children before it can be shipped

Steven Bryen, legislative assistant to Case. said the Department of Agriculture "traditionally" supplied flour and vegetable oil to schools "whether or not there is a surplus. The refusal of Butz to purchase these items on the open market means the individual school systems must find their own suppliers and pay higher prices than in the past, said Bryen. Col. Reiss, who is president of the Nor theastern Food Distribution Association and co-chairman of the National Food Distribution Association, said the views of Butz on meeting school lunch needs are quite different from the views of Congress.

"Congress looks at the traditional level as meaning the continued supply of commodities received in the past-meats, poultry, flour, oils, Butz, however, sees the traditional level in money terms, regardless of items," said Col

The state official has "never seen any problem in obtaining food like today. We're getting high protein items as specified by issued for the current school year. This is the first time in 20 or 25 years we haven't gotten flour or oil, yet under Public Law 280 Butz is shipping grains all over the world. Some of it is rightly going to nations which are starving, but some of this is going to countries for political or military reasons.

"The school lunch program," he said, "is the backbone of the nation to come. I don't object to feeding the hungry, but our domestic programs should come first

Col. Reiss said the Department of Agriculture's recent decisions will force schools and institutions "to buy food on the open market at higher prices-they'll get either less quantity or lower quality with less nutritional value."

He estimated that New Jersey school systems and institutions save as much as $750,000 on bread alone each year by participating in the state processing system. In the past, said Col. Reiss, schools were supplied with flour at $11 to $13.40 per 100 pounds. "Some districts are now paying $17.50 per hundredweight," said Col. Reiss.

"A few months ago Washington told us we'd get all the butter we'd need. To date they haven't purchased one pound for schools," said Col. Reiss. "The Department of Agriculture put bids out for 1,000 carloads of butter. When the bids came back, no supplier offered the requested amount, so the government didn't buy. Butz should have purchased whatever butter he could. But he refused to use his authority. So far there has been no butter for even margarine.

Christmas Seals reminder issued to area residents

"Mail your holiday cards and breathe easy with Christmas Seals" is the message from your mailman and the Central New Jersey Lung Association

The "mail early" signal is the U.S. Postal Service's seasonal appeal to the public to help lighten the heavy load of holiday mail. The "breathe easy" part is the Central New Jersey Lung Association's way of reminding you that by using Christmas Seals on your holiday mail you will be helping millions of Americans suffering from lung disease to breathe easier

The Association, formerly the TB-RD group, serves Union, Hudson and Monmouth counties Vitold Lukaitis of Cranford, chairman of the county drive, said that 1974 Christmas Seal letters have been or are being delivered to homes and businesses by local postmen. He urged everyone to support the campaign and to return their donations as soon as possible. "This is the association's only appeal for support," Lukaitis said, "and the funds raised will be used to assist hospitals develop and expand their lung disease services, to provide home care services for lung patients; to support medical and paramedical education and training in lung disease and to carry out community service, air conservation and public health education programs."

Free publication lists cancer facts

The American Cancer Society's annual booklet, "Cancer Facts and Figures 75," is now available free upon request.

Ted Stoepel, chairman of the public information committee of the Union County Unit, said this week "Cancer Facts and Figures is the society's most widely used publication; it offers basic data on the disease, statistical data by site, and even contains a section of the leading cancer sites for 1975. The publication points out that cancer ranked second highest in the cause of death in this country in 1971, only being exceeded by heart disease; the female lung cancer death rate has doubled in the past 10 years and there will be an estimated 21,000 new cases of leukemia in 1975 with 15,000 deaths; leukemia constitutes ap proximately half the deaths of American children between ages 3-14, where cancer is the leading disease—death cause.

"I strongly urge all Union County residents to contact the Union County Unit office of the American Cancer Society at 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, 354-7373, for their free copy of Cancer Facts and Figures '75," Stoepel said.

Union Catholic High School in Scotch Plains is among the first in the state to begin work toward "Bicentennial status" from the New Jersey Historical Society. The school's student history club, known as the Jerseymen and sponsored by the Historical Society, will participate in the Bicentennial program by completing projects in four fields relating to state and local history, conservation and community service.

The Union Catholic Jerseymen plan a variety of activities, from visits to Revolutionary-era sites to the development of a biography of the Kean family of Elizabeth, according to their faculty advisor John Feeney.

The group will also participate in statewide Jerseymen activities, including a State History Fair, regional conferences on historical or topical subjects, a Landmarks Search and the annual re-enactment of the 1776 New Jersey Provincial Congress.

An unusual contribution Stuffed animals used as prizes

The Union County Chapter of the March of Dimes has unexpectedly found itself with some animals on its hands-but they're stuffed and were used as prizes in fund-raising special

The stuffed animals were the gift of Mrs. Jill Mauriello of Union Township, a newcomer to the United States who makes them in her spare time. Mrs. Mauriello was born in Wales and moved to England when she was 10. A dancer and model in England, she married John Mauriello of Union Township while he was attending medical school in Europe. The Mauriellos left Europe 18 months ago.

The mother of a son 14 months old and a daughter three months old, Mrs. Mauriello has much to keep her occupied but she still finds time to paint, sew and make the stuffed animals she contributed to the March of Dimes.

The Mauriellos currently reside on Morris avenue but will be moving into a new home this winter. Mauriello also will be busy-he will start his internship in St. Barnabas Hospital.

The stuffed animals were accepted by Mrs Genevieve Pascale DiVenuto, chairman of the March of Dimes Chapter. DiVenuto, who is also a member of the board of directors of the American Red Cross and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Eastern Union County, used Jill's animals for fund-raising efforts on behalf of American Red Cross and Chamber projects.

"I am grateful to Jill for donating these lovely gifts," said Mrs. DiVenuto. "I appreciate the time, effort and talent that goes into making them. They have been responsible for very successful fund-raising efforts on behalf of several charities.

Seton professor returns from Rome

Dr. Manley attends international food parley

For a Seton Hall University professor participation in the recent World Food Conference in Rome, which he considers "the most significant world conference ever held," offered a chance to practice what he teaches.

Dr. Robert Manley is a member of the Department of Government at Seton Hall. His current teaching duties include a new course on "International Public Policy," which studies such global issues as the food problem as well as the nature and processes of developing and implementing policy to deal with such problems. Among the topics considered in the course are world level conferences on specific problem-areas means for developing plans.

"The food conference provided an opportunity for seeing how the new style of international diplomacy and policy-making operates," said Dr. Manley, "and also for observing the role of non-governmental organizations in such conferences." In other conferences, he noted, the work of these outside

UNDERSTANDING DRUG ABUSE

Robert L. DuPont M.D., Director National Institute on Drug Abuse

Can a person who uses drugs give them up and still get "high?" Can someone who never experiments with drugs acquire full self-awareness and satisfaction in some other activity-one that is not destructive and defeating?

For an increasing number of people, the answer is yes; there are wholesome alter natives to drugs.

People use drugs for a number of reasons. Among them are curiosity, "going along with the crowd, boredom, frustration and hopelessness.

Many of our young people try drugs in a misguided at-tempt to fill voids they feel in their lives. Much of life today apparently fails to provide opportunities for the kind of experiences that nourish human beings, challenge their capacities and give them the satisfaction of growth and achievement.

Alternatives can fill those

In its broadest sense, an alternative is another, option available for guiding behavior and meeting personal needs. In drug prevention, alternatives have come to have a positive connotation. The term denotes those kinds of activities, experiences, and pursuits that are gratifying and fulfilling-and that fill the volds some youths mistakenly try to fill through drug use.

Alternatives now being explored range from hearty physical activity to quiet contemplation, from an intensely personal experience to highly integrated group acust a few of t

 Karate, and other Asian martial arts;

- Group-run glass and paper recycling centers; Transcendental meditation: - Mountain climbing and rugged camping;

— Ceramic and other art

workshops; Community clean-up programs; - Communal farming. Foremost among the several Federal efforts to develop the alternatives approach has been the Alternative Pursuits project, which focused on stimulating community teams to invent and launch activities that could be regarded as alternatives to drugs.

Now the project has been complemented with a resource book from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, a part of the Alcohol Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

The resource book is available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, at $2.60 a copy. Interested persons should ask for it by title and stock number: Alternative Pursuits for America's 3rd Century, SN 1724-00333.

Coughs, sneezes and winter breezes Avoid close quarters, get rest, snowflakes, sleigh rides, slush and slippery highways dance in our heads. Also, sickness.

How do you distinguish the signs of a cold from those that may indicate something possibly more serious, like pneumonia? How can you protect yourself from colds, the flu and other ailments of the season?

As regards protection, Dr. David J. Gocke professor of medicine and chief of the division of infectious diseases at the Rutgers Medical School of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Piscataway, suggests adequate rest and avoiding places where people are packed closely together. In close quarters, a cough or sneeze can spread a disease quickly.

In a world full of grownups and exposure to their friends and classmates, children have a special problem, Dr. Grocke said, because they are more susceptible to catching cold than are adults but they can withstand such illness better because they are basically in Letter

Dr. Gocke said that a new strain of virus know as the Port Chalmers flu would likely show up in various parts of New Jersey this

"Some people will probably catch it," he said, "because it is different from the types of flu usually experienced in the New Jersey area, and the body needs exposure to a disease to build up defenses against it. However, the possibility of an epidemic along the lines of the Hong Kong flu outbreak in 1968 is highly

How can the flu be distinguished from a cold? The difference is one of severity, Dr. Gocke said. Flu is usually accompanied by a high fever and may attack the lungs, while a cold is often localized in the nose and throat.

Flu shots are not the answer to winter's maladies for everyone, according to the CMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School professor.

"The average person with reasonable good himself and need not be vaccinated," he said.

Those who should have shots, he added, are those with chronic ailments or other conditions that weaken the body's resistance and make it more susceptible to virus infections and pneumonia. These people include, among others, pregnant women, diabetic patients and those with heart and lung ailments.

People who are allergic to eggs should not have flu shots, because the vaccine is prepared in eggs. Dr. Gocke warned.

What about home remedies, like honey and egg yokes? Can they do more harm than "Most home remedies are not dangerous in themselves," Dr. Gocke said. "What is dangerous is for a patient to neglect to seek medical attention and keep on using home remedies when it is clear that he has more than just a cold.'

Turning down the thermostat to save on today's high heating bills is not regarded as harmful either.

"Don't worry about the effect that lower home temperatures will have on your health," Dr. Gocke said. "A few degrees' difference in temperature won't harm anybody. In England they keep their homes a few degrees colder than we do here, and their incidence of flu, colds and pneumonia is no greater than ours.

Dungan endorses decriminalization of 'pot' possession

New Jersey's Chancellor of Higher Education, Ralph A. Dungan, has joined a growing list of experts who endorse the New Jersey Drug Commission recommendation to decriminalize possession of small amounts of marijuana

In a memorandum to Attorney General William F. Hyland, Chancellor Dungan explained he felt 'a personal commitment toward supporting appropriate legislation dealing with  $oldsymbol{\mathsf{problem}}$  since, in all probability (based  $oldsymbol{\omega}$ findings of the National Commissions, over 10 percent of New Jersey's college students have een at one time, or are now in violation of the existing state statute

State Sen, Alexander J., Menza, D. Umon, who chairs the Drug Commission, has already proposed legislation based on the commission recommendation on marijuana

Dungan said be was in full support of the Menza recommendation on marijuana because these are based on discouragement rather than punishment for adult use and possession of marijuana in private.

Menza's bill calls for decriminalization of issession of one ounce or less of marijuana This would be considered a nuisance offense subject to a $50 time that could be payable without a court appearance similar procedure for a non-moving traffic violation

despite temporary oversupply has cut production in the face of manufacturing slowdowns, which indicate fewer items will be

Paper recycling termed vital for Resource Recovery has urged the public to demonstrate "short-term patience during a temporary oversupply of used paper because of the long-term necessity to foster the recycling ethic

David F Moore said, "It is ironic that, with all indicators emphasizing a need for recycling which will grow throughout the foresecable tuture, there is a temporary full in demand for used paper which with madequal) un-derstanding, can do great harm to the recycling movement

Moore is executive director of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, Morristown and a co-founder of the ad hoc Committee for Resource Recovery The committee is a coalition of environmentalists, industries with recycling interests, agencies of government and private citizens. Its purpose is to foster resource recovery, or recycling, as the most advantageous answer to solid waste disposal problems, and as an important factor in achieving national energy independence

The current sag in demand for recyclable paper is due to a combination of factors stemming from worldwide economic responses to inflation and accompanying business slowdowns, Moore said

"One of the basic barometers of business conditions is the paperboard industry, and it packaged in paperboard

"At the same time, the loss of spending power has cut deeply into housing and building construction, with decreasing demands for building and insulating materials. Since paperboard and many construction materials are the biggest users of recyclable paper, the two main markets for it are temporarily aversupplied." Moore said.

'Breakfast' sugar alone rises by $500,000 for hospitals

Sugar for the breakfast coffee of hospitalized patients in this state alone will cost $500,000 more this year than last.

And, with recent jumps in the wholesale price of sugar, the cost of sweetening that breakfast beverage could increase by more than $1

A spokesman for New Jersey Hospital Association (NJHA) said that "packetscosting 2.7 cents each last November now cost seven cents apiece. That figure may well in crease to as much as 14 cents for a single halfounce packet.

In terms of actual costs, it is estimated that sugar -- just for breakfast coffee, tea or Sanka cost approximately $309,000 last year. That same item -- if bought in a similar quantity this vear -- will cost at least $800,895 and as much as

A study has shown that adult hospital patients other than those in intensive or cardiac care units will request one of three hot beverages with every meal - not just breakfast - some 85 percent of the time

Defense is name of game Driving class open to public

The New Jersey Association of Independent Insurance Agents this week announced that it will conduct a public-service defensive driving instruction program for New Jersey morotists. The program is designed to help reduce New Jersey's 1,400 annual auto fatalities, cut down on accidents and motor vehicle violations and thereby result in insurance savings for the "Basically, the instruction course gives the driver the alertness and skills to get out of the other guy's way," explained James A. Byrne of Wildwood, associate president. The announcement was made at the group's 81st annual midyear convention at the Cherry Hill Inn.

The Motor Club of America has contributed $5,000 toward the funding of the project, according to Irwin Diamond of Union, project chairman.

Diamond said 16 association members, to date, have become qualified instructors. They were trained by the New Jersey Safety Council Defensive driver training is mandatory in many areas for ambulance drivers and police and firemen.

According to the Safety Council student workbook, defensive driving means "driving so as to prevent accidents in spite of the actions of others or the presence of adverse driving conditions. As a defensive driver, you'll learn to 'give' a little - to tailor your driving behavior to the unexpected actions of other drivers and pedestrians, to the unpredictable and ever-changing factors of light, weather, road and traffic conditions, to the mechanical condition of your vehicle, and even to how you

The course focuses on how to avoid collisions and instills safer driving attitudes and habits. It is a non-profit venture; however, there will be a $6 charge for books and other classroom materials when offered starting Jan 1. The class locations will be announced later

If you're going to gripe about the quality of the air you breathe, at least take your cigarette (and your foot)out of your mouth first.

When you think of the stuff that makes air dirty. you think of auto exhaust, diesel engines, incinerators; right?

. They contain some pretty bad dirt-makers like: Particulates (minute solids suspended in air); hydrocarbons; carbon monoxide.

But the cigarette smoke you inhale contains more of this stuff than auto exhaust, diesel engines and incinerators combined. And that's straight into your lungs.

So you see, smoking is dumb enough.

First 2 buildings nearly sold out at Clearbrook

Only 36 units remain to complete sellout of the two initial three-story buildings at Clearbrook, the planned 3, 00home adult condominium community off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike in Monroe Township, and first occupants will be moving in by the end of November. The two buildings have a total of 54 units which have introductory prices from $18,990 to $28 990. The three-story units range from studio apartments to one-bedroom, one bath and two-bedrooms, two-baths.

The three-story structures, with elevators, which Aaron Cross Construction Co., Inc. is building, with views toward the recentlyopened nine-hole golf course, has prompted the developer to plan three additional buildings for Section 7. The new buildings will also ring the golf course

Units now available are in Section 4 of the condominium community which offers a variety of architectural designs for prospective purchasers 48 years of age and older. Plaza homes are priced from $28,990 to $38,990 and along with the three-story units, include central air conditioning, storm windows and screens, exhaust hood and garbage disposal unit.

Most of the homes at Clearbrook, now occupied by more than 700 people, are built singly, or two to four together. attached by a common wall or garage and clustered around a landscaped entry court and surrounded by open park-like areas. They range in size from one bedroom, one bath to two bedroom, a study and two-heavily wooded area of the 560-acre complex, feature bright new colors and the generous use of brick on the exteriors

Some homes still are available in earlier opened sections and can be purchased at slightly lower prices than in Section 4

After purchase of a home there is presently a monthly service charge of $61.11 which includes 24-hour security guard and staff nurses, all outside painting and maintenance of building, landscaping service, snow removal, fire and extended scaping coverage on building, a clubhouse and its facilities, swimming pool, golf at a nominal fee on the complex's own course, sewerage, trash collection and 10-channel cable television

A focal point of Clearbrook is the 25,000-square-foot size swimming pool and areas billiards; ceramics, sculpturing, a sewing center, and a 60 by 30 multi-purpose room with two fully equipped kitchens. There are lockers saunas, pro shop, fireplace. offices, snack bar, all-purpose room, library, post office and many other amenities.

The clubhouse houses a medicap center, staffed by registered nurses on call 24 ours, seven days a week Recently a public commuter bus run has been established between Clearbrook and New York, which is 50 minutes away.

A number of residents from Philadelphia and New York have relocated to Clearbrook because it is mid-way between. Conveniently located, the adult complex is 12 miles from the cultural center of Princeton or 20 miles from

Adult community makes ownership easy, accessible

attractive prices and equally appealing apartment-homes, more than 600 families have already become part of Cheesequake Village, Prel Corp's adult community in Middlesex County. The wellestablished advantages of the community were recently

We have a full-sized, single, detached 2-bedroom home FULL-PRICED $14,450! We easier than ever.

One of the things Prel's researchers learned was that no one likes that old shockday, better known as "closing, when title passes and certain extra costs are often passed on to the buyer. "Closing costs, mounting to $485, are now included for buyers at Cheesequake Village," says the spokesman.

In addition, Prel is absorbing all monthly maintenance fees for the entire first year. This means that apartment-owners will only pay real estate taxes and mortgage interest during that period. And under the condominium plan, these costs are deductible on annual income tax returns.

Another problem ironed out by the Prel researchers concerns the frequent difficulty of timing the sale of one property while moving into another. "Many families moving into Cheesquake Village," says the spokesman, "are leaving homes which have become too large now that the children are grown.' To meet this particular situation. Cheesequake Village is accepting contracts which are contingent on the sale of the buyer's current home. "This lets buyers take prices," says the snokesman Even if they can't move in immediately, the plan offers important protection against future price increase and loesn't put the buyer under pressure to sell his current home below its real value.

Cheesquake Village is close enough to the metropolitan area so that residents may keep in touch with friends and relatives. But it is worlds away from urban congestion. Situated near the entrance to Cheesquake State Park in Madison Township, it is only minutes from Matawan. The nearby Garden State Parkway provides easy access to South or North Jersey and the major business centers of New York. Yet Cheesquake Village reflects an atmosphere of rural charm. Despite inflationary pressures. Cheesquake Village is planned to meet the needs of middle-income families. Prices for apartment-homes begin at $19,990 and include features and community amenities usually found in much more expensive developments. Homes include central airconditioning, decorator bathrooms, up-to-the-minute kitchens. Recreation facilities range from the always popular swimming pool to shuffleboard courts and an attractive social center.

"In today's market," says the Prel spokesman, "it would be difficult to find comparable housing at such a reasonable

TURNTABLE TREAT - POWERFUL PEOPLE: By Gino Vannelli (A&M Sp-3630) "I have never tried to categorize my music because I always wanted it to be something different...something that couldn't really be described on paper without actually listening to Canadian singer-songwriter Gino Vannelli has always been an individualist. After playing a few nightclubs in Montreal, Vannelli sent a rough tape, mixed in his own home studio, to A&M, just to see what would happen.

A&M producer Lou Mancuso liked wnat he had heard and asked Herb Alpert to listen to the tape. After the first four bars, Herb wanted to

"I feel that Gino's music is original, distinctive and very, very musical and that's just what I look for in an artist."

A warm friendship soon followed, culminating not only in a recording contract with A&M, but also a producer for the album Herb Alpert. After many weeks in the studio Herb and Gino emerged with a fresh and distinctive debut album, "Crazy Life."

Gino and his brother Joe (who is the pianis) in Gino's group) jointly produced Powerful People, Vannelli's new second album, Powerful People contains a bracing blend of musical styles, most prominently bossa nova, Latin inflected rock, love ballads, and a Forties influenced big-bad sound. Backed by a tight sextet featuring exotic percussion, dual keyboards, and dual synthesizers. Vannelli works his way through such fast-paced numbers as the title track, "Jack Miraculous," and "People Gotta Move," and such luminous ballads as "Lady" and "Felicia." Vannelli and company are at their brassiest during "Song of a New York Gun" and at their most plaintive throughout "Poor Happy Jimmy" (a tribute to

Jayvee football squad finishes with 1-7 mark

The Jonathan Dayton junior varsity football team under the direction of coaches Bob Kozub and Bill Kindler suffered through a losing season, compiling a 1-7 log. The team defeated Millburn, 22-6, for its only victory.

Though the team was handily beaten by Summit, all other games were tight defensive battles. The basic problem all year was the lack of a potent offensive attack. The coaches

New mat coaches havé obvious talk: cut 48-meet slide

By GARY SHERMAN First-year head Coach Rick Iacono and firstyear assistant coach Steve Cohen are trying to change the way of the past of the Jonathan Davton Regional High School wrestling team from a losing squad to a winner.

The grapplers start this season with a 48meet losing streak, since their last dual meet victory in 1969. Last year's squad posted a 0-13 record under the coaching of Robert Meyer The 1974-75 team opens with a dual meet at Roselle Park on Friday, Dec. 13. The junior varsity match starts at 6:30 p.m., followed by the varsity contest at 8. Coach Iacono, who wrestled for Bound Brook High School and attended West Liberty State College in West Virginia, said "We anticipate the finest season ever of the past six years because of an excellent attitude among the team members and the new wrestling rogram." He further commented that th people of Springfield and Mountainside" should come out to support our efforts." . This year's assistant coach, Steve Cohen, attended Lakewood High School and graduated from Springfield College in Massachusetts.

The leading wrestlers returning from last year's team include juniors Billy Francis (101 lbs.) and Ricky Neifeld (123). Seniors are Tony Francis (108), Harold Manner (129 or 136), Dave Kessler (136), and Mitch Kotler (158). Top freshman prospects include Dan Solazzi, Ricky Speizer, Kevin Lalor, John Rice, #### attribute this to the fact that many of the key offensive players, including running backs Ted Parker, Branden Gambee and Mark Tryon, quarterback Brian Burke and lineman Joe Ragucci, spent more than a third of the season on the varsity filling in for injured players.

The offensive line consisted of centers Bob McGurdy, who missed a majority of the season because of an arm injury and Bob Pine, guards Ragucci, Kevin Lamb, who according to the coaches should be an asset to the varsity next year, Keith Owens and Rick Debbie and tackles Bob Conte and Mark Miller. Both Conte and Miller have good size and did a fine job this year.

In the backfield were quarterbacks Burke and Steve Pepe, who did a "good job under the circumstances filling in upon short notice" also doubling as a defensive back, wingbacks Carmine Apicella and Mike Kane, fullbacks Gambee and Eric Walker and tailbacks Parker and Tryon.

Doing the pass-catching and adding some blocking help were tight ends Brian Belliveau and Chris Clunie and split end Jim Stadler, the team's leading receiver.

Defensively the team used a 6-2 alignment (six linemen and two linebackers), occasionally employing a 5-2 with the use of a monster back.

The line was comprised of ends Vic Vitale Andy Herkalo, Steve Merkelback, who came along steadily during the season becoming more aggressive and using his size to his advantage, Tom King and tackles Dave Lewis. Bill Van Buskirk, Lamb, Bob Ventura and Alvin Walker with help from Conte and Miller. Handling the linebacking chores were Frank Van Vitale, Randy Wissel Ragucci.In the deep secondary were Kevin Stewart, monster and kickoff return man, Pepe, Apicella, Andy Nash, Jeff Pittenger and Larry Grant.

Though the squad was made up of 30 players, the coaches were particularly impressed with the enthusiasm exhibited by the sophomore members. "Our record was not good, but I feel much learning took place. I think many of these jayvee players are going to develop into fine ballplayers to help our varsity," said Coach

Babe Pushman gets 'Fame' nod as best in '30s

Lester (Babe) Pushman has been named "athlete of the decade" for the 1930s by the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Varsity Club. The athletes organization has selected Babe to be inducted into the Dayton Hall of Fame on Dec. 21. He will join John Bunnell (1940s), Gerard Sachsel (1950s) and Charles Roll (1960s) at the presentation.

Pushman is an original Garwood resident who played basketball at Westfield High School in the 1930s before the opening of Dayton Regional. He was recruited to come to Regional after leaving high school, as many others did at Les engaged in two sports, football and basketball, under former Dayton Coach Bill Brown. In football, he was the tailback or running back in the single wing attack. He also called plays from that position. Les recalls that the "Bulldogs were pretty tough in those days but they could never beat Rahway, the former traditional Thanksgiving Day rival."

Les was a member of Coach Bill Brown's Union County championship team, which was dominated by Garwood residents.

After leaving Regional, Les moved to Albright College in Reading, Pa. He played football for three years at the Pennsylvania institution again operating at the tailback slot in the single wing. He also played in the defensive secondary as a 60-minute performer. During World War II. Les moved to Muhlenberg College as a Marine Corps officer candidate and completed one phase of his education there. Later he returned to Albright to complete his original degree requirements. Les served as a captain in the Marine Corps in the South Pacific Theater and was discharged in 1946.

In 1951, he was recalled to active duty during the Korean conflict, and he served in Korea

At college Les was also on the first Albright College golf team and was a successful match

Today, he is employed by the Thomas Publishing Company as the New Jersey district manager for an industrial advertising director. He is married to the former Mary Ann Innocenti of Kenilworth and resides in Short

Elks will sponsor free throw contest

Lou Gizzi Jr., of the Springfield Elks Lodge. has announced the opening round of the Elks national "hoop shoot" free throw contest will be held at the Edward Walton and Thelma Sandmeier Schools on Dec. 7 at 10 a.m.

Gizzi, who was appointed contest chairman by the group's exalted ruler, Earle Orleman, has invited all boys and girls from Springfield between the ages of 8 and 13 to enter the contest. The event will be broken into three brackets boys and girls 8 and 9 years of age. boys and girls 10 and 11 years of age, and boys and girls 12 and 13 years old. All girls will meet at the Walton school, along with the 8 and 9-year-old boys. All other boys will meet at the Sandmeier School.

The winner in each age bracket will move into the district match. The cutoff date for ages in each age bracket is April 1, 1975.

Oliver hopes to establish the running game early and then go to the air to put points on the score board

The starting offensive linear will be center Jerry Ragonese, guarde Jim Rice and Bob Potomski and tackles Gary Presslaff and Bruce Heide

The backfield will include quarterback Joe Graziano, fullback Mike Flood, tailback Mark Tryon Ted Parker of Joe Natiello, who made his initial appearance of the season in the last game against New Providence and who has not received the "100 percent green light from the doctor" concerning his shoulder injury and wingback Carmen Scoppettuolo, the feam's leading receiver. Coach Oliver has considered this year a 'valuable learning experience." He has been disappointed in the offense because of its mability to sustain an attack, while the defense has not played up to its potential. The coach attributes this to the injuries sustained by such key players as Graziano, Schwarte, Natiello Nardone, Mirto and lineman Glen Arnold, who has not played at all this season because of a severe knee injury. The defense has also been on the field much too long because of the of fense's ineffectiveness. No matter what hap pens Coach Oliver will be preparing for next year and already feels the squad will be much improved, with many of the younger players having received valuable varsity experience this year.

The victories came against West Orange, 22-0, Millburn, 6-0, and New Providence, 22-6. The ties were defensive battles-scores of 0-0 against Caldwell and 14-14 against Roselle, when the Bulldogs came back, losing, 14-0, at blocking help besides Doty was John Ferry. Ferry finished the season as the team's most improved player and according to Coach lacono deserves special attention because of his fine prospects of being an asset to the varsity in the future.

Handling the pass-catching and adding some

Defensively the line usually consisted of nose guard Rice, tackles Baskin and Peter Rosomondo and ends Doty, Ferry and Dan Solazzi. Brian Dowd and Craig Kempner spelled these players.

The rotating linebackers were Bohrod, Lusardi, Liguori and Mike Simmons with help from Chris Kanakis. Flood, Fingerhut, Kevin Laylor and Rich Lofredo handled the deep secondary, while Neal Meisel and Robert Esposito were in reserve

Iacono said that Rice, Lusardi, Doty, Liguori and Hirshberg will be assets to the varsity next year either as starters or key reserves.

The coach was pleased with the season overall but feels the team's basic weakness was a lack of depth and enthusiasm. He was disappointed that many of the players left the team during the season, most likely due to lack of interest. Next year Iacono hopes to have a larger team so that he can employ a twoplatoon system. This system consists of a separate offensive and defensive unit. "Of course, our basic goal next year is to achieve

Mountainside trio led college to 9-1-1 record in soccer

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. - Ron Steel, Kurt ohns and Fred Vitollo, all of Mountainside. J., were members of this year's West Virginia Wesleyan College soccer team which posted a 9-1-1 record, the best mark in the history of the school.

Steel scored 13 goals in 1974 and was selected to the all-conference team of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference for the third consecutive year. He is now the all-time leader in goals scored with 49. Steel was an All-South performer in 1973.

Mohns, a junior fullback, had another outstanding year. He was also selected to the allconference team for the third time. Mohns was an All-South selection in 1972.

Vitollo, a freshman fullback, had an outstanding freshman year. He had several outstanding games and with continued improvement he will be an all-conference performer in future seasons, the coaches said.

Wesleyan placed second to national powerhouse Davis and Elkins College in the WVIAC. Because of the team's success, George Klebez, in his fourth year as head coach, was selected District 28 soccer coach of the year

The Bobcats' lone loss came from Davis and Elkins, 5-0, while Washington and Lee tied the Orange and Black, 2-2. Victories were registered over Central Connecticut, Towson State, West Liberty State, West Virginia Tech, Fairmont State, Bethany, Ohio University, Morris Harvey and, powerful Alderson-

Boaters can now get licenses at all motor vehicle agencies

Starting Dec. 1. New Jersey boaters will be able to register their craft and secure motor-boat operator's licenses with the same ease and convenience as they register their motor vehicles, Environmental Protection Commissioner David J. Bardin and Motor Vehicle Director John A. Waddington announced this

They said this will be accomplished by transferring the registration and licensing functions from the five divisions of Marine Services field offices to the 55 Motor Vehicle agencies located throughout the state. Owners and operators will still receive their registration and operator license renewal forms through the mail and have the choice of the forms. The agencies are open five days and one night per week.

Bardin and Waddington said that for the past year and a half, the Motor Vehicle Division has been handling two-thirds of the motorboat registration and operator license renewals.

The Division has computers to handle these functions. Approximately 120,000 hoat registrations and 65,000 operator licenses are issued annually

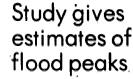

Both Waddington and Bardin agreed that this new arrangement will provide much greater service and convenience to New Jersey

Even though the Division of Motor Vehicles is assuming the function of issuing registrations and licenses, both items will still be issued in the name of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and all funds received will accrue to the recreational boating fund to be used for the benefit of the boating public in New

Estimated flood peaks predicted for New Jersey's rivers and streams because of existing and anticipated urbanization and growth of suburbs is the subject of a report completed by the U.S. Geological Survey recently for use of the state Department of Environmental Protection

The DEP's Division of Water Resources requested and also funded in part the preparation of this report for use in its statewide program of flood plain management, according to Environmental Commissioner David J Bardin.

"In order to delineate a floodway or evaluate alternative land-use plans that will be adequate for 25 to 30 years, it becomes necessary to estimate the increase in flood peaks likely to be caused by urbanization development," said Bardin. "For this reason the U.S. Geological Survey report becomes important to us for application in regional flood analysis."

The publication "Magnitude and Frequency of Floods in New Jersey with Effects of Urbanization" (Special Report 38) is also being viewed as valuable to urban and regional local zoning boards of adjustment, environmentalists and others concerned with urban growth and changing land use.

Copies of the report are available free for official use government representatives by written request to the U.S. Geological Survey, P.O. Box 1238, Trenton, 08607. It is available to others at $3 a copy from the Topography, Department of Environmental Protection, P.O. Box. 2809, Trenton, 08625.
