Board delays restructuring of Deerfield class schedule

By KAREN ZAUTYK
Institution of a 45-period week at the Deerfield Middle School—a plan introduced by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Levin B. Hanigan at the May Board of Education meeting—will be postponed for at least another year, to give teachers and board members a chance to discuss the proposal more thoroughly, the local school board decided at its monthly session held Tuesday night.

The board voted to refer the plan to the Instructional Council and to request regular reports from that unit on the discussions. Objections to a change from the current schedule, a 40-period week with 45-minute classes, to a 45-period week with 40-minute classes, had reportedly been raised by teachers who noted it represented a change in working conditions and would be subject to negotiations. Dr. Hanigan has said the increase in the number of class periods would afford more time for enrichment programs, tutoring and club activities and would provide some extra instructional sessions. However, it would mean a reduction in lunch hour times.

Dr. Hanigan also reported work has begun on the school bus contracts for 1975-76, and there is a possibility the service will be reduced from five buses to four because of falling enrollment. "Eventually, we may even go to three buses," he said, noting Mountainside now transports 478 public school children, only 166 of whom live two or more miles from school (the distance set by the state for mandatory busing).

Regarding personnel, the board approved 1974-75 contracts for Herbert Brown, Deerfield School principal; William Hummel, Beechwood principal, and Allen Shapiro, Deerfield vice-principal. Their salaries are $23,950, $22,025, and $18,950, respectively.

Hired as a physical education teacher for the next term is Ralph Mast, who holds a bachelor's degree from Springfield College. He has taught physical education for one year in Haddonfield and has had experience working with physically handicapped and emotionally disturbed children. Appointment of a learning disability teacher and fourth grade resource room teacher was tabled at the request of Patricia Knodel, who noted she had been ill and therefore unable to discuss the matter with other board members.

The board authorized payment of $5,950 to Industrial Resurfacing Co., Inc., East Paterson, for roof repair work completed on the Deerfield School. Withheld from the final payment of the original $24,350 contract, was $550; paid instead to Jacobson & Co., Inc. That firm was called in to repair ceiling damage resulting from improper work by Industrial Resurfacing.

Also approved was the institution of a $5 per-game fee for organized groups or organizations who request use of school ballfields. Board president Dr. Irvin Krause noted there has been an increasing number of such requests from groups who do not contribute money for

Blood donations sought June 25

A blood bank sponsored by the Westfield-Mountainside chapter of the American Red Cross will be held at the Presbyterian Parish House, Mountain Avenue, Westfield, on Wednesday, June 25, from 1:45 to 6:45 p.m.

Mrs. Edward W. Love, chairman of the chapter's blood program, stated that the "need for blood can arise in any family. At the present time one out of every 10 hospital patients requires a transfusion. Although the average transfusion is three pints, some patients require far more."

Mrs. Love added, "Donating blood is safe and easy; anyone in good health between the ages of 17 and 65 inclusive may donate the 'gift of life.' Seventeen-year-olds must have signed parental consent forms which are available at the chapter house, 321 Elm St. Readers may call 232-7090 for an appointment or walk in on Wednesday, June 25."

Boosters to hold sale of uniforms

The Mountainside Midget Football Booster Club will conduct its annual uniform purchase and exchange at Deerfield School on Monday evening at 8. The purpose of the meeting is to provide new and experienced participants with the opportunity to sell and swap approved equipment. New equipment can also be ordered.

Registrations will also be accepted at this time. The midget football program is sponsored by the Mountainside Recreation Commission. Three teams will participate in inter-town play beginning on Sept. 28. Additional information on the program and the uniform exchange may be obtained by calling Joseph Owens, 233-1178; George Fischer, 233-5199, or Allan Goldenberg, 233-5287.

4 added to roster of Rescue Squad

The Mountainside Rescue Squad announced this week that it has added four new members to the Squad's roster. But because of a continuing shortage of daytime personnel (7 a.m.-7 p.m.) the Rescue Squad will not be able to respond to non-emergency transportation requests until after 7 p.m. All non-emergency transportation must be requested by the patient's doctor and notice given to the squad captain (via police) 24 hours in advance, if possible.

Any person who lives or works in Mountainside and is over the age of 17, was urged to join the Rescue Squad. For further information, readers may contact: Bill Brandt, 232-7887; Bob Vigilanti, 233-5463, or Maureen Zawislak, 233-0965.

Rescue Squad reports on service during May

The Mountainside Rescue Squad answered a total of 29 calls during the month of May, among them nine for heart attack-oxygen emergencies, eight emergency transportations, six regular transportations, six accidents, two call-backs, two stand-bys and four miscellaneous.

Squad members spent a total of 170 hours on call. To date this year, hours on call have amounted to 741 1/2; there have been 181 calls, and the squad equipment has travelled 2,181 miles.

Last Saturday, the Orioles beat the Doves in a playoff game to determine the 1975 champs of the Mountainside Girls' Softball League. The season officially ended with both teams tied for first place with 10-2 records.

Park commission nursery gives Mother Nature a nudge

By BOB LIBKIND

Mother Nature can make a tree or a flower, but she can't do it on order. That's the job of the Watchung Nursery operated by the Union County Park Commission, which for more than 40 years has supplied trees, bushes and flowers for the green preserves and formal gardens throughout the county.

At one time, the nursery boasted 40,000 trees and shrubs, providing most of the plant life needed for additions to the park commission's natural displays. Although commercially grown seedlings have become economically competitive with its own nursery-grown botanical specimens, the park commission continues to operate the nursery to grow trees, plants and flowers not normally available from profit-making nurseries.

The man whose skilled hands care for the young plants at the Watchung Nursery is John Stewart. Before coming to the park commission six years ago, he was employed in his native South Africa as a nurseryman at the prime minister's residence. He tended the gardens and greenhouses for former PMs Gen. Herzog, Gen. Jan Smuts and Dr. Malan.

Stewart, a small, wiry man with sun wrinkles engraved on his well-tanned face, spent more than 12 years at the official residence, Groteschuur.

"I was born with flowers in my eyes," he said with an Afrikaner accent. His place of birth was just 400 yards from Capetown's lavish botanical gardens, Kirstenhof.

"I've never done anything else but care for flowers," said Stewart, who later recalled he also did some boxing in South Africa.

Stewart works to his heart's content in the nursery, greenhouse, cold frames and potting room. This season he potted 3,000 chrysanthemums for the park commission's displays. For each plant he took cuttings from cold frames, raised at the nursery, potted them indoors and coaxed them into blooming. Once in bloom the plants were transferred to the parks. He does the same for the other annuals scattered in the county's parks.

Although Stewart had plenty of experience in South Africa, he has not neglected keeping up on modern horticultural methods. Stewart attended courses at Cook College, the agriculture school at Rutgers University, to learn the newest techniques.

The park commission employs 16 persons to care for its plants at the Watchung Nursery and another four or five workers in its forestry division, all under the supervision of William Anderson, chief of forestry and horticulture, to guide the development of trees. Another nurseryman, Ed Eskeson, is charged with supervising the recently-acquired Acadia Arboretum in Scotch Plains. This botanical facility, formerly known as the First Mountain Arboretum, was donated to the park commission last year. However, all plants grown at Acadia Arboretum remain there as part of the permanent display.

The greenhouse at Watchung Nursery was built five years ago to replace the previous structure destroyed by fire. The field nursery has about 16 sections, each one acre in area, for the propagation of trees. Cold frames next to the greenhouse-potted room complex are used for smaller plants. The nursery is located near the Trailside Nature and Science Center in the reservation.

Most of the trees and shrubs in the Watchung Nursery are native to the Watchung Reservation of Union County. But visitors will also find varieties from other parts of the country—or other continents—because they are also needed in the park commission's horticultural displays and forestry groves.

Warinanco Park (Roselle-Elizabeth) Watchung Reservation (Mountainside) and Cedar Brook Park (Plainfield) are where the work of the nurserymen can be seen to full advantage. At Cedar Brook a Shakespeare Garden is maintained, with about 40 plants mentioned in the Bard's works on display. The Shakespeare Garden was established in 1927, the 363rd anniversary of Shakespeare's birth, at the suggestion of the Plainfield Shakespeare Club. Among the varieties in the garden are English hawthorns, firethorns, roses (Damascus, York and Lancaster) English yew, flowering crab, mulberry, holly, ivy and thyme. The formal garden was designed by Olmstead Brothers, an internationally-recognized landscape architecture firm responsible for the creation of New York City's Central Park and other landmark parks. The firm also designed Warinanco Park and other gardens for the Union County Park Commission.

Cedar Brook also features an iris garden, daffodil plantation, peony garden and dogwood collection, all listed in the standard guide to horticultural displays, "Arboretums and Botanical Gardens of North America," by Dr. Donald Wyman.

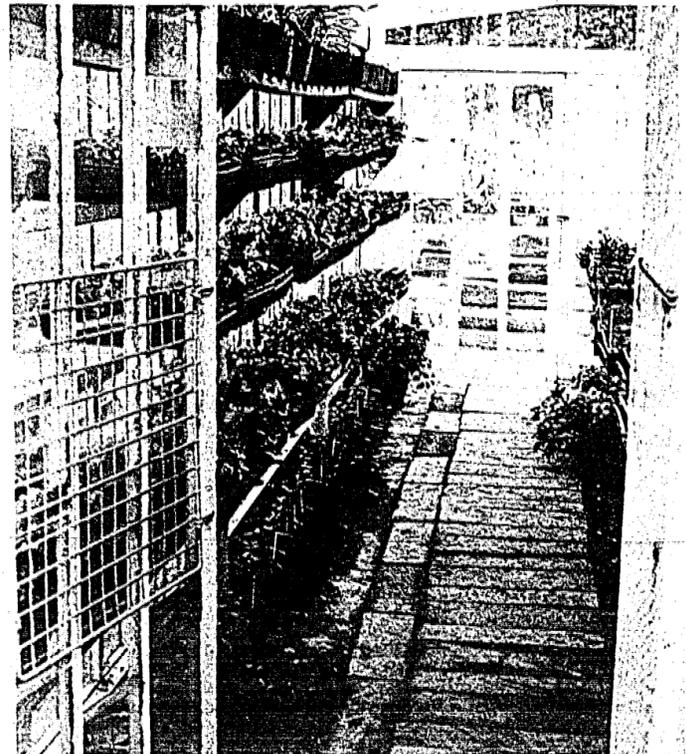

Dogwoods always delight the casual stroller through the Watchung Reservation. Thousands of native dogwood trees are in the reservation and there is a "Dogwood Drive" in Cedar Brook Park.

Warinanco Park boasts the Henry S. Chatfield Memorial Garden, named after one of the original park commissioners. In the spring, 14,000 tulips provide bright colors near the park's main entrance. After the tulips have faded they are replaced by nearly 100 beds of annual flowers to provide color throughout the summer and fall. Annual plantings feature petunias, zinnias, cleosia, asters, cleome, cosmos, dianthus and daisies. The formal garden is enclosed by a dense taxus hedge.

The Azalea Garden at Warinanco was constructed and planted 20 years ago according to a design by Olmstead Brothers. The original planting of 26 species and clonal varieties has been increased to nearly 50. Like the annuals, many of the bushes were nurtured at the Watchung Nursery. Color range of the Azalea Garden includes white, light pink to deep red and purple. The blooming period usually extends from early April to the first two weeks in June, depending on the weather.

Another horticultural delight of the park commission is the rhododendron display in the "Loop" area of the Watchung Reservation, containing more than 1,000 plants representing 150 varieties.

An herb garden is part of the displays at the Trailside Nature and Science Center. Included are many old-fashioned herbs: apple mint, balm, borage, coltsfoot, costmary, dill, fennel, feverfew, horseradish, hyssop, lavender, Oswego-tea, peppermint, rue, sage, spearmint, thyme and woodruff. A sundial is located in the center of the herb garden.

GREENHOUSE at Watchung Nursery of Union County Park Commission is filled with a wide variety of annuals. Nurserymen raise the plants from seeds or seedlings and later supervise their transplants to the commission's various parks throughout the county. (Photo by Bob Libkind)

Comments sought on plans to widen Parkway section

Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner is asking citizens for their comments on a proposal to widen and modernize the 13-mile state-owned section of the Garder, State Parkway in Union and Middlesex counties. The deadline for comments is July 7.

The project would add a fourth lane in each direction between Rt. 1 in Woodbridge and Rt. 82 (Morris Avenue) in Union within the existing right-of-way. No acquisition of property is required and there will be no additional ramps and interchanges.

The plans for this $30 million project are complete and construction could begin immediately upon receipt of approval by the Federal Highway Administration.

Comments should be sent to John J. Kessler Jr., division engineer, Federal Highway Administration, 25 Scotch rd., Trenton 06618.

Besides widening and resurfacing, the project includes installation of concrete center barrier, modernization of existing guiderail, installation of additional guiderail, chain link fencing, improved lighting and signs and landscaping.

Information on the proposed widening may be obtained by writing or calling Clifford A. Ellis, Supervising Engineer, N.J. Department of Transportation, 1035 Parkway ave., Trenton 08625, (609-292-8424).

2 private schools to merge in 1976

The trustees of The Hartridge School, Plainfield, and the Wardlaw Country Day School, Edison and Plainfield, voted to merge the two schools beginning in the fall of 1976. Hartridge, a girls' school, was founded in 1903, while Wardlaw, a school for boys, was founded in 1882.

In a statement, the boards of the schools agreed that a coeducational independent school for students in grades kindergarten through 12 will be able to offer improved educational opportunities for all its students. "With approximately 550 students, the merged school will be strengthened by its larger, combined faculty and the larger and broader curriculum to be offered," the statement added.

Both schools enroll students from 22 towns in Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties. Plans call for a combined lower school to be located on the Plainfield avenue campus now used by Hartridge. The upper school will be on the Inman avenue, Edison, campus, now used by Wardlaw.

Recruiter notes test requirement

Any young man between the ages of 16-21 who is interested in applying for membership in the Naval Academy class entering in July 1976, should take the American College Testing Program (ACT) or College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) tests. The Navy recruiter in Elizabeth said this week. Test results are required for admission to the Naval Academy, he noted.

To become a member of the Academy's Class of 1980, high school juniors should write their congressmen to request a nomination to Annapolis. All applicants must obtain a social security number prior to taking their physical examinations for the Academy and include this number as identification in the letters to their congressmen.

Information on the different types of nominations and for answers to questions about admission are available from the Director of Candidate Guidance, U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. 21402. Immediate information may be obtained from Edward M. Kruk, EN1, USN, the Navy recruiter for this area, at 272 N. Broad st., Elizabeth, phone 351-2655.

State to 'improve' Rt. 1 in Elizabeth

The commissioner said, "Our goal is to enhance the appearance and improve the safety of state highways and public transportation facilities located in the older population centers in the state, as well as in the rural and suburban areas. Similar improvements are planned for Paterson, Newark, Jersey City, Trenton and Camden."

He commended officials of Elizabeth for their initiative and cooperation in supporting improvements to U.S. Route 1 & 9.

Bids will be received for landscaping and other improvements on three miles of Route 1 & 9 from McClellan street to Bayway Circle. The contract includes planting shade trees along the highway, planting shrubs in the center median and converting existing bus stop areas into attractive bus-waiting facilities.

PUC authorizes $47 million hike

Jersey Central Power & Light Company, an operating subsidiary of General Public Utilities Corporation, received notice this week of action by the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners authorizing the company to increase its rates $47.3 million on an annual basis, including the interim annual increase of $23.6 million which has been in effect since June 1974.

The additional $23.7 million rate increase will be effective before the end of June. In order to dampen the rate of increase in peak load, the order granting the increase provides for a differential between summer and winter rates.

Shepard Barnhoff, president of JCPL, said that even with the increase, electricity still remains a relatively small item in family budgets "and is still a very good buy in these inflation-ridden times."

(BOUDINOT MANSION)
1273 East Jersey St., Elizabeth

Boxwood Hall, 1273 East Jersey St., Elizabeth, was erected about 1740 when this city was known as Elizabeth Town. Originally it was a home of the Boudinot family. There was an annex to the front door to the east which was burned from which it derived its name.

In 1772 it was purchased by Elias Boudinot, American patriot and statesman, who occupied it as a residence with his wife Hannah Stockton Boudinot (sister of Richard Stockton of "MADRID" in Princeton) and their daughter Susan. Mr. Boudinot resided in Newark where he had an office and practiced law. He took an active part in the Revolutionary War by serving as Commissary of prisoners being charged with the custody of the holders of the Continental Army who were prisoners in the British, providing them with medicine, food and clothing. He held the highest office in America's pre-constitutional government, as president of the Continental Congress in that capacity he signed the Treaty of Peace with Great Britain at the close of the Revolutionary War.

On January 27, 1781 the body of the Reverend James Caldwell, the fighting patriot who was killed originally by a bullet in the forehead at the battle of Red Bank, was buried in the basement of Boxwood Hall and he was the first to be buried in the crypt. The crypt was constructed shortly after the death of the patriot. Mr. Boudinot's body was buried in the crypt. The crypt was constructed shortly after the death of the patriot.

On April 25, 1789 General George Washington occupied Boxwood Hall on his way to New York for his inauguration as the first President of the United States. Mr. Boudinot had been selected by Congress to serve as Chairman of the Committee on the part of the General of Washington from Philadelphia to New York for the event. It was indeed fitting that Mr. Boudinot should be the first to occupy the place where General Washington and the members of the Continental Congress had their headquarters prior to an escape from Elizabeth Town for New York.

In 1793 Elias Boudinot, having completed his term as Commissioner from New Jersey, was appointed Superintendent of the United States Mint at Philadelphia. He and Boudinot's son, General John B. Boudinot, a signer of the Constitution, and James B. Boudinot, New Jersey, Mr. Boudinot's son, in this latter house until the year 1820. James Boudinot was the last to occupy the place until 1820. Later it was used as an office for the United States by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Boxwood Hall, throughout the years, has been used as a residence of the Boudinot family. It was destroyed by fire on December 27, 1879. It was destroyed by fire on December 27, 1879. It was destroyed by fire on December 27, 1879.

Pine Ridge has 5 models of 'stable' homes to show

"I wish someone would come up with a word, other than 'mobile' to describe our homes. I think 'stable' makes more sense!"

The speaker is Joyce

Guerin, sales manager of Pine Ridge at Crestwood, the adult community of manufactured homes on Route 530, Whiting, Ocean County.

"Certainly, the manufactured homes that have already been bought here and established on permanent sites in Pine Ridge cannot be properly described as 'mobile,'" she continued, "except in the sense that they were shipped here from their factories in one—sometimes two—pieces."

"Upon arrival here, they are assembled by our own building crews, installed on permanent concrete footings, equipped with on-site foundation trim, and connected to underground utilities. Since this community was first established, we have yet to have a single home move out, despite the fact that several have been sold by their original owners to new buyers who moved right in to the same site."

"Both seller and buyer gain advantage from these transactions. When we do have homes for re-sale, they usually are offered at prices which are lower than the currently prevailing price in the manufactured home industry. This, in spite of the fact that these previously-owned homes are fully equipped with all appliances, and are often fully furnished and improved by their original owners with additional landscaping and interior appointments."

The trade in previously-owned homes was cited as further evidence that the modern manufactured-home community has matured into a desirable residential entity.

Residents pay $100 to $115 a month—depending on model—which includes all those services and utilities.

With occupancy of its first section of 229 homes nearly completed, Pine Ridge has opened a second section to include an additional 253, and has broken ground for a second clubhouse to serve the needs of the new residents.

Five model homes, priced from $14,950 to $21,450, are currently being shown. Price of each home includes wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies, GE refrigerator-freezer, GE range, concrete patio, utility-garden shed. The model area and exhibit center is open Monday through Saturday, 9 to 5. It is closed Sunday. It is reached via Garden State Parkway, Exit 80, then west on Rt. 530.

Residents at Villages keep jobs

A survey of a leading adult community complex in the Garden State reveals more than half of the residents still are employed, despite the state of the economy and a trend toward early retirement.

In a poll taken among the more than 500 families who reside at the Villages, an adult condominium community for persons 52 and over in the Adelphia section of Howell Township, it was disclosed that 52 percent of the residents work, many traveling to New York City.

Hovbit Inc., developer of the planned 671-home community, believes the high percentage is attributable to two factors—the average age of the more than 1,000 people residing there being under 60, and the location of the Villages, on Rt. 9, within walking distance of public transportation to North Jersey and New York City. Many other adult communities in the state reportedly have a much higher average age level.

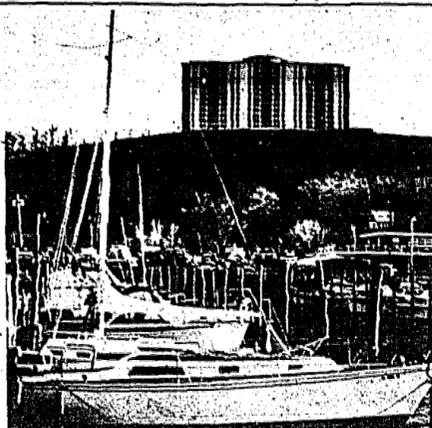

Vahak Hovnanian, president of Hovbit, pointed out that a number of couples approaching the retirement age opt for an adult community home at a younger age to make the transition easier and to take the pressure off the pocketbook.

"Many people do not want to reach age 65 and all of a sudden just turn off their work life like a faucet," he said. "So many are now buying into adult communities when they're 52 and over and commuting to work. They establish roots in the adult community and make a slow transition to a recreation-oriented and self-focused life rather than a work-focused life. A great many continue to work beyond 65, both fulltime and part time."

It is revealing that almost 70 percent of the families now at the Villages owned their own home before moving there. The Villages offers single family attached homes from $28,500 to $36,500 on a condominium basis.

Multi-recreational features owned by the residents include a swimming pool, shuffleboard courts, a 13,500-square-foot clubhouse, spring fed Lake Se'Van where they can fish and boat, and a pitch and putt golf course.

Sales are being completed in the final 100-home Bordeaux section. The Villages has five other sections which are already completed on the rolling hillside off Wycoff road and Rt. 9 about five miles south of the Freehold Raceway.

ROOMS WITH A VIEW—Eastpointe, newly-opened high-rise condominium in the Highlands overlooks fishing and boating facilities in Sandy Hook Bay, Sandy Hook State Park, the Atlantic Ocean and New York Harbor. The 14-story complex, formerly known as 'Top of the East,' has been purchased by a real estate subsidiary of the General Electric Credit Corp., and is offering apartments in the $35,500 to $71,000 price range.

'$1 million view' feature of GE's Highlands condo

General Electric Credit Corp. has formally opened "Eastpointe," its high-rise condominium on the Highlands overlooking the Atlantic Ocean, Sandy Hook and New York Harbor.

The 14-story, 166-unit complex, identified during its building as "Top of the East," was purchased from the builder by a real estate subsidiary of General Electric Credit Corp. in mid-April.

GECC is the wholly-owned subsidiary of General Electric Co. The new condominium is located on the highest point on the Atlantic seaboard, near the spot where twin lighthouses once guided clipper ships into New York harbor.

Michael S. Blum, GE Credit's eastern real estate manager, noted the company will stress a "gimmick-free" approach in its sales campaign. "We decided that we are going to take the 'con' out of condominium sales," Blum said. "We have a condominium that is so unusual it doesn't need any gimmicks. We think condominiums have gotten an undeservedly bad name with that type of hucksterism. Particularly with the present and potential tax advantages, the condo has got to be one of the best deals available in housing."

"Eastpointe has enough built-in advantages to make sales gimmicks unnecessary. A big selling 'plus' at Eastpointe is that the building is completed, so purchasers don't have to buy from architects' drawings."

He listed as built-in features: valet parking; 24-hour uniformed doorman; heated, Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis, private "penthouse club," exercise and game room; saunas; security system; GE kitchens, balconies and laundry space in every apartment.

"There are many condominiums that offer good, honest management and many of the above advantages," Blum said. "We have one absolute exclusive. The view of the Atlantic, Sandy Hook (an unspoiled park area), and New York Harbor—far enough away to be beautiful, but not far enough to be inaccessible."

Charles P. Knoeller of Brick Township has been named sales manager for the Eastpointe project.

"Prices for these one- and two-bedroom condominiums range from $35,500 to $71,000," Knoeller said. "These are the lowest prices at which many of these units have been offered. Persons purchasing

'No gimmick' rule cited by builder of lake community

Richard Norman, president of the firm which is developing Arrowhead Lakes in the Poconos, believes in the "no gimmick" approach to the sale of homesites.

"Perhaps because Arrowhead Lakes is one of the older, more established communities it is in a position to sell itself," said Norman, who is president of All-American Realty Co. of Hackensack. Arrowhead Lakes was started 10 years ago.

"Our experience is that many people are turned off by some of the gimmicks used to encourage people to visit the property. Consequently we tried a different approach, and the response has indicated that at Arrowhead Lakes, at least, people who wouldn't drive up for a free set of pots and pans would come up just to look around and make up their own minds."

"Some people just don't like to be pushed, and it is to these people that we have been directing our advertising and promotional efforts."

These efforts include offering prospective home site buyers the opportunity to "try out" an existing vacation home at Arrowhead Lakes for a weekend—and for a fee. A couple pays $25, with an additional charge of $7.50 for each child, for full weekend's use of a chalet.

Families can use all of the facilities at Arrowhead Lakes, including the lakes, pool, tennis courts, clubhouse, playgrounds and boats. The four-season private community comprises some 2,000 acres surrounding two lakes.

"The people who already own homes and homesites at Arrowhead are our best salesmen," Norman said, "and we just let prospective buyers make up their own minds."

Many of the boys are involved in the recreational teams which play in Springfield and Mountaintide. The basic idea behind freshman baseball is to instruct the boys in the skills of baseball. The boys are learning to play in a league where the competition is extremely tough. Many of them show good potential and they will eventually be able to help the varsity baseball team."

The Dodgers rapped out 14 hits, including a home run, double and single by Michele Gan, as they scored in every inning but the fourth. Lori Steinberg, with a triple and single, and Maria Friari and Jill Gelayder, with two hits apiece, also aided the Dodger cause, as did Sherry Keenan, with a double, and Carol Wolfson, Nancy Carpenter, Sharon Rothspan, and Sari Begleiter, each with singles. Meanwhile, the Padres were limited to seven hits by the combined pitching of Gan and Carpenter. Ellen Harnel and Adele Doerrier collected two each. Debbie Vogt, Lynda Marrantonio and

In the seventh, Kevin Coyle singled and later scored St. James' second run.

Kirschner and Cederquist shared the second base duties for Springfield and made several outstanding defensive plays between them. Also, centerfielder Kevin Engelhardt took a base hit away from John Haws in the second inning when he forced the lead runner at second on an alert return to the infield of a ball that had dropped in front of him.

The St. James roster included: Joe Polcastro, Peter Pepe, Bob Waryn, Ed Johnson, Tony Creelli, Mike Casale, Kevin Coyle, John Ricciardi, John Haws, Ed McGrady, Mike Meixner and Paul Wisniewski.

"Even though the record was only 9-9, the boys have all learned a great deal about the game. They have learned more about themselves and what they are capable of doing. Some of the boys will be moving up to the varsity next year. Even though many people feel that winning is the main thing, the boys have all enjoyed themselves and learned a tremendous amount," he said.

This is also the first year that the Junior Varsity participated in the Union County Tournament.

of the season the squad played conference matches, six of which were against three of the top teams in the state.

Also, the coach stated that a few individuals finished the season with strong performances. Jess Greenstein, called "Vegematic" by his team members because of his amazing slice he puts on the tennis ball, finished the year with strong showings at the first singles position. In the county tournament, he upset Eric Rast of Rahway in the opening round, and lost to Doug Robinson of Westfield, the eventual champion, in the second round of competition. Also in his final dual meet of the season, Jess lost to Peter Laxott of Summit, 6-3, 7-6, a big improvement over his two previous 6-0, 6-0 losses.

The coach said the surprise of the season was the second doubles team of Junior Joel Allen and sophomore Dan Schlesinger, who finished with a 17-3 record. Chuck Hobbs, the captain of the 1975 squad, ended the year 9-9 with a 500 record at the first singles slot. Third singles player Scott Meyerson and the first doubles team of David Garner and Donn Fishbein were also noted for their outstanding play during the long season. Other members of the team who saw action included Rich Simon, Peter Hess, and Paul Naftali.

A popular place for the victors

At Bridge's Burger Express at 586 Morris ave. in Springfield was a favorite stopping-off place for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School athletes this spring as a result of the Burger Express policy of awarding free "Big Broilers" and sodas to all Dayton athletes who participated in winning contests in track, baseball, tennis and golf.

Athletic Director Michael L. Iannelli was responsible for passing out the free tickets to each Dayton varsity coach and the players who were victorious in athletic contests each week. The tickets were given to all players who participated in winning events. Coach Martin A. Taglienti's track squad amassed the greatest number of free "Big Broilers" and cokes as they tallied nearly 20 victories.

Heide takes third place in all-group discus toss

Last week at the 1975 all-group championship meet held at Rutgers Stadium, Dayton's Bruce Heide finished third in the discus throw and fourth in the shotput event.

Coach Taglienti noted that it was a very long season full of a great deal of successes, but Bruce just ran into a sub-par performance. "Throughout the entire season, Bruce performed his best and he never had done breakdown all year. It was the first time he lost all year to New Jersey athletes in the shotput and the discus throws. It was unfortunate that this occurred in a championship meet," Coach Taglienti commented.

On June 21, Heide will compete for Dayton Regional for the last time at an international meet in Chicago. He will also be accompanied by Coach Taglienti. In September, Heide will

The Norms had a tough battle with the Blue Bashers before they eked out a 3-1 victory with Paul Krystow racking up a three-goal hat trick for the Norms while Tom Grimm scored the Bashers' goal.

A sudden death overtime driving layup by Rollie Marionni enabled the Green Kaps to advance to the basketball finals by squeaking past fired-up Silver Cisco, 46-44. Rich Minster had a one-on-one foul shot in sudden death overtime but he missed the foul and Bob Kozub rebounded the ball and threw downcourt to Marionni for the winning basket. # USDA to inspect intrastate poultry, meat processors

The inspection of meat and poultry plants operating in intrastate commerce in New Jersey will be assigned to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) effective July 1, it has been announced.

The action, which is being taken by USDA at the request of New Jersey officials, will affect approximately 200 meat and poultry processing plants which sell their products solely within the state.

Under provisions of the Federal Meat Inspection Act and the Poultry Products Inspection Act, USDA is required to assume responsibility for inspecting intrastate meat and poultry plants in states which are unable or unwilling to conduct an inspection program equal to the federal program.

New Jersey's meat inspection program was certified equal to the federal program on Oct. 30, 1970, and its poultry inspection program was certified equal on Oct. 22, 1971. However, officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) explained that due to the state's inability to continue adequate funding of the state programs...

As part of the certification, USDA also will assume responsibility for certain regulatory, record-keeping and other compliance requirements which have been conducted by the state under a cooperative agreement.

Sinatra to appear in two programs

Francis Albert Sinatra will be coming home. New Jersey's Frank Sinatra will appear at the Garden State Arts Center on Aug. 22 and 23 in two special benefit performances, according to New Jersey Highway Authority Chairman Salvatore A. Bontempo. In making the announcement, the commissioner said that the Garden State Arts Center Cultural Fund, which provides free daytime entertainment for deserving New Jerseyans, will in part be the recipient of proceeds from the event. "We've had some great stars at the Arts Center in the past," stated the chairman, "but Frank Sinatra is more than a star; he's a living legend and the excitement he generates isn't equalled by anyone else, anywhere. We are delighted that we've been able to make arrangements for Mr. Sinatra to appear." Bontempo explained that since the Cultural Fund will be a beneficiary of the Sinatra appearance, and since at normal prices the Center couldn't afford Sinatra, there would be a higher price for tickets.

College isn't the only place to continue your education.

You may not join the Army to get a college education, but it may end up that way. Last year alone, 90,000 young men and women earned college credits while serving in the Army. And the Army paid up to 75% of the tuition. And now, through the Army's newest educational program, Project Ahead, you can enlist in the Army and start college at the same time. For more information, see your local Army Representative. You'll find the address in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting." Or call 800-523-5000 toll free. In Pa., call 800-362-5696.
