Road flooded out in '73 reopening at park tomorrow

Traffic is once again expected to roll through Echo Lake Park in Mountainside tomorrow—more than two years after the park road was closed because of flood damage in the Aug. 2, 1973, storm.

A spokesman for the Union County Park Commission last week announced the Friday reopening date—depending on no further delays in the reconstruction work. A dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony also are planned, but no details were available at press time.

The $973,000 repair project on three bridges and two dams, washed out in the 1973 storm, began in March of this year. The completion date originally was scheduled for July 31, but the Park Commission spokesman noted that storms during July caused set-backs in the work.

The bridges and a small dam have been completely rebuilt. Work on one larger dam is expected to continue through September, but this will not affect traffic. Clean-up, including

Regional students complain about grading, curriculum

By ABNER GOLD

Complaints, criticisms and comments by students regarding curriculum, grading and attendance policies occupied more than half of a 2½-hour meeting of the Regional High School District Board of Education Tuesday night at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. Young people from Gov. Livingston and from Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield appeared to constitute more than half of the audience of some 50 persons.

David Hoffman of Mountainside, a student at Dayton, called for a return to more traditional courses rather than the many electives offered. He criticized such courses as sociology, psychology, the literature of sports, women in literature and the adolescent in literature.

"Many of these courses should be studied in college," he said. "A high school graduate should know more about the basics of U.S. history and American literature."

John Conlin, board vice-president, who presided, noted that many of the electives are designed "to supplement and not replace" basic fields of study. Stressing the value of courses dealing with human relations, he said, "Unless we do a great deal more about this area, we are all headed for serious trouble."

Dr. Martin Siegel, the district's director of instruction, said that American literature is studied in depth in sophomore English courses and that state law requires two years of U.S. history.

Siegel and several board members stated that Regional students have done "very well" in College Board and other achievement tests since introduction of the varied elective courses. Conlin also said that many of the new courses are designed for students who will not go on to college.

A number of the students opposed portions of the newly approved grading system, which went into effect this week. A number objected to the fact that the system is uniform for all four high schools. Others opposed re-introduction of final examinations, particularly for seniors.

BOARD MEMBER Theodore White of Mountainside, declared, "One result of administration efforts to compromise on a uniform approach for all schools has been to correct minor inequities in the old separate systems. We now have a much fairer method of calculating class rank, one which tries to consider all variables. And we do hear what you're saying."

Other students assailed the new attendance regulations as unduly harsh. They cited the regulation that a student who cuts a class must spend twice that much time in detention.

A parent from Mountainside asked whether there had been "any input from recent graduates" into curriculum planning. Dr.

Thieves remove glass from door

Burglars who broke into a Springfield store last week did not go the usual route of jimmying open a door or window—they removed an entire pane of plate glass from a sliding door and then walked out with the shop's cash register. Township police said the register, valued at $500, and containing an undetermined amount of cash and checks, was stolen from Modern Lighting, 615 Morris ave., sometime between Friday night and Saturday morning. The thieves reportedly cut a 3x5 foot sheet of glass from a rear door to gain entry, and then covered up their work with boards.

Epstein reports on candidacy for student council president

Morey Epstein, whose election as Student Council president at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, was nullified this summer by the superintendent of schools, this week announced that he is a candidate for the office again in a new election scheduled for Sept. 12.

He declared: "There will be two elections held at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School this year for the office of Student Council president. The first election, held June 13, saw me the victor by a margin of 15 votes. It was not until six days later that the parents of Andrew Armour, the candidate who opposed me, filed a grievance with Anthony J. Fiordaliso, principal of Dayton.

"In their grievance, the Armours charged that certain 'irregularities' had taken place during the voting, i.e., that some students were voting more than once and that seniors, ineligible to vote, had obtained ballots and were participating in the voting.

"Mr. Fiordaliso made a thorough investigation of the charges and found no facts whatsoever to substantiate the Armours' grievance. Having found no substance to the grievance, Mr. Fiordaliso denied it.

"The grievance was then appealed to Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools for the Regional District. Dr. Merachnik conducted his own investigation based on Mr. Fiordaliso's initial inquiry and discovered, as did Mr. Fiordaliso, that there was 'talk of voting irregularities' amongst students and faculty."

"After conferring with three teachers involved in the alleged 'irregularities,' and, in Dr. Merachnik's own words, 'despite the absence of facts,' he has decided to hold another election for the office of Student Council president shortly after school begins in September.

"Although in the Armours' original grievance, the matter in question was the election procedures and not the outcome, Dr. Merachnik is holding a second election Sept. 12 instead of waiting until next year's Student Council elections to implement the new voting procedures."

Township to lose sales tax revenue

Springfield, which was told by the State Division of Local Finance to include $55,019 in anticipated sales tax revenue in its 1975 budget, won't be getting that money, according to legislative experts in Trenton.

Since 1968, the state has taken 10 percent of its gross sales tax receipts and distributed it among the municipalities on a population formula. So far this session, the legislature has failed to adopt the enabling legislation for the sales tax return, and there appears little likelihood that it will do so before the session ends. The state, which has already cut back on its own spending, is seeking to hold onto all the revenues it can, according to sources within the legislature and the Division of Local Finance.

GOP candidates rip Byrne, Dems' 'lack of credibility'

"The total lack of credibility of the Byrne administration and of the Democratic legislative leadership" will be the primary issue in the Assembly campaign this year, according to the District 22 Republican hopefuls—William J. Maguire and Donald T. DiFrancesco. They said their own campaign will outline "positive alternatives to restore public confidence in government and to end the lackluster performance in the state assembly."

"We all recall the enormous voter mandate given Gov. Brendan T. Byrne and the long coattails which swept the Democratic Party into the legislature with overwhelming majorities in both houses," Maguire and DiFrancesco said. "We have also seen countless examples of misdirection, misdeeds and mistakes that have been the order of the day in Trenton for two years."

"We reject the secret Democratic caucuses that have made a mockery of the governor's 'government under glass' claims. We reject the obsession with an income tax that denied consideration of other alternatives and nearly ground state government to a halt. We reject the punitive budget cuts that simply shift massive new costs to the property taxpayers. Finally, we reject the ultra-liberal philosophy that bigger and bigger government is necessarily better and better," they added.

"We think we can do better," Maguire said. "We will only support a new broad based tax if its revenues are dedicated to education and if it guarantees a dollar-for-dollar reduction in the property tax. We will work to reverse this administration's weakening of the State Commission on Investigations. We will limit the power of the state agencies that inhibit industrial growth."

Maguire and DiFrancesco said they are beginning their campaign for election as "underdogs." "Our opponents have all the advantages of incumbency," they noted.

"Assemblyperson Wilson, as majority whip, has received a great deal of press exposure as the assembly's champion of the Byrne administration program. Our position is that the governor's program, as promoted by the assembly leadership, has not been good representation in our district. We pledge a forthright and tireless campaign."

"In many ways, we expect the election to be a referendum on the Byrne administration policies and the leadership shown in the legislature, and we hope to earn voter support by demonstrating alternatives that will better represent the people of our district."

Donald Marachnik, superintendent of schools, disclosed that he had sent questionnaires to students a year after graduation for several years, but that he was disappointed in the poor response after two follow-up messages: less than a third of the total.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board accepted the resignations of John Apgar, athletic director at David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth; William Ballenski, industrial arts teacher at Gov. Livingston, and H. Loring Banfield, assistant adult school director at Dayton.

Roman K. Sobon of Newark was hired as an English teacher at Dayton at a salary of $9,600. Board member Sonya Dorsky of Springfield, who had strongly criticized many appointments in past years, commended the quality of new staff members in recent months. She noted that Sobon is an honors graduate of Rutgers University in Newark and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society.

Manuel Pereira was named to replace Banfield.

Dr. Merachnik disclosed that, by state regulation, all students must file medical reports listing their immunizations. He stressed the importance of prompt compliance.

The board approved a schedule for the Dayton girls' tennis team this fall. The team will practice three days a week on Springfield municipal courts and a fourth day at Gov. Livingston. Plans to construct courts at Dayton have yet to be approved.

Teacher Karen Rusin will be paid $308 as tennis supervisor and driver, and abus for the trip to Gov. Livingston each week will cost $400.

Another vote approved a band competition at David Brearley on Sunday, Nov. 9. There will be separate competitions for bands with more and less than 75 members. The program will be sponsored by the Brearley Band Boosters Association.

The bill for the project was paid by the Park Commission, which was later reimbursed by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration. In addition, $1,730 in federal disaster aid funds were transferred from the borough to the Park Commission for reconstruction of a portion of a sanitary sewer line, broken when one of the bridges collapsed.

State must offer bond issues acceptable to voters -- Wilson

"The state legislature has a responsibility to devise well-thought-out, reasonable bond issues which will be acceptable to the voters," Assemblywoman Betty Wilson said this week.

Mrs. Wilson cited a public opinion survey recently conducted by a central N.J. congressional representative which she said demonstrated that New Jersey voters prefer government public works programs as a means of combating unemployment. "People recognize government's responsibility to create jobs through such public works programs," Assemblywoman Wilson said. "This is preferable to merely extending unemployment benefits."

"However, the voters will not unquestioningly accept huge bond issues," Mrs. Wilson continued. "In the past, bond issues have been repeatedly defeated because the voters did not accept their size and priorities. The public is demanding economy and new direction."

"Bond issues which are defeated at the polls do not create jobs," she emphasized. "We in the legislature must present the public with bond issues which we can reasonably expect the public to accept."

Mrs. Wilson has announced her support for proposed bond issues to finance housing, repair of institutions and construction of sewer plants. "Expenditures of dollars in these areas create more jobs than expenditures in other areas of construction," she said. "These bond issues would finance much needed projects while creating a large number of new jobs."

The assemblywoman has criticized Gov. Brendan T. Byrne's proposed highway bond issue as "unacceptable in its present form. The voters will never approve a bond issue of that size to build more highways," she said. Mrs. Wilson called for modifications in scope and emphasis. "I believe a properly oriented transportation bond issue would be approved by the voters," she concluded.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I am 13. My boyfriend and I like to talk on the phone in the evenings. Within 15 minutes of talking my mother or father will come in and tell me to get off the phone. We like to talk for thirty minutes or so before hanging up, but my parents don't see this. They think he's just a friend and that I shouldn't have anything to do with boys (besides friends).

We don't play on the phone. We talk about things you can't talk about at school. I don't see anything wrong with talking as long as no one wants the phone and there is nothing else for me to do. How can I get my parents off my back?

OUR REPLY: It's quite simple, really. Communicate with your parents. Get clear on how long it's ok for you to talk on the phone. Be certain you all understand what the rules are. Then, obey the rules.

Accept things the way they are. There is no way to change them unless you do that. If your folks say you can talk 15 minutes then you get off the phone after 15 minutes. Once you show you're responsible enough to obey the rules, they'll recognize it and perhaps the rules will change.

Finally, there's plenty else to do in this world besides talk on the phone—get off it!

ESP to be topic of Foothill Club meeting on Sept. 11

The Foothill Club of Mountaineers will hold its first meeting of the fall season next Thursday, Sept. 11, at the Tower Steak House, Rt. 22, Mountaineers. The program, to be presented by The Rev. Thylma Van Wert, will be "ESP-You and Me."

Mrs. Van Wert founded and is president of Spires Inc. This is a society for psychic illumination through religion, education and science. She has also helped to organize the Chapel of the Divine Light, which meets in Springfield. She has been in this work for six years and is a clairvoyant and transmedium. She will speak on the subject of "healing" but is not a "healer," a spokesman added. She is a mother and grandmother and a graduate of Newark State (Kean) College, where she majored in music. She taught music for 18 years.

Mrs. Van Wert teaches parapsychology and has adult classes in the Union County Regional High Schools. She stresses in her teaching that "people should have fun, gain knowledge and have no fear." She will cover ESP—its motivation, development and use.

A buffet luncheon card party and fashion show by B. Altman is planned for Sept. 24th at 11:30 at the Short Hills Mall. The price per person is $5, and tickets are now on sale. Readers may call the chairman, Mrs. Karl Heinze, 232-2006, or Mrs. Joseph Papik, 232-1043, for reservations.

Newcomers Club's meeting will have Bicentennial flavor

"Yankee Doodle Dandy," a program with a Bicentennial flavor, will be presented by Betty Pate to the Mountaineers Newcomers Club and guests at a Sept. 12 luncheon at the Mountaineers Inn.

Mrs. Pate, chairman of the Bicentennial Cultural and Heritage Commission for Union County and of the Westfield Bicentennial celebration, will give the Newcomers a preview of "Homes in Westfield." This three-day celebration designed to help participants understand history better will take place Oct. 3-5.

It will include a house and home tour, luncheon and fashion show, a film premiere and other events dealing with Westfield. "As Mountaineers was once a part of Westfield, this program should be of particular interest to the Newcomers," pointed out Harlan Shropshire, the day chairman.

Patty Robinson, chairman of the group's annual champagne party, announced that plans are in the final phase. The party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Klueber on Prospect Avenue and is open to members and their guests. The evening will feature sparkling champagne and hors d'oeuvres prepared by the members of the committee. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Robinson at 5 High Point Dr., Mountaineers.

Gerry Regenye, membership chairman, welcomed new members to the club over the course of the summer vacation. They are Sandra Keirns, June Kuczera, Harlene Tancere, Mimi Tannenbaum, Ellen O'Hara and Ree Coymen. A membership coffee is planned for late September, and all those interested in joining Newcomers were invited to come.

Dorene Sefack, president, announced that the nominating committee has selected a slate of officers to be presented to the group for voting at the September meeting.

The Auxiliary members invited readers to contact them prior to delivery. Under limited circumstances some pickups may be arranged by calling the Spaulding office at 232-2282. However, large appliances, bedding, men's clothing and stuffed furniture cannot be accepted.

A spokesperson said that "6,000 New Jersey children are waiting for permanent parents. They are the older, disabled, minority heritage or sibling groups of children who have been passed by."

"Spaulding for Children has been in the forefront in bringing these children to the conscious attention of potential parents who had limited their adoption vision to the perfect infant. Now expanded concepts are coming into play."

"A child of 12, or a child with a disability, or a child who's been ignored because of his racial background is no less a child. And Spaulding has proven that if an adult's desire is to be a parent, a child is waiting."

BUYING WISELY

From Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, Inc.

Dear Larrie:
I'm in need of a television set, not only for my own entertainment, but mainly for my children. Unfortunately, I find I'm unable to buy one at this time. My wife has told me of a company she heard advertising over the radio about low rental fees for television sets. In fact, this company said that if the rental fee is made for a specified period of time, the renter will own the television at a much lower price as compared to the retail price of the TV. Do you think a company would honestly be offering such a steal of a deal?
HOPING

Dear Hoping:
The consumer who is induced to rent a television or stereo by deceptive advertising that implies that the rental price is low as compared to the retail price of the product, often pays a higher inflated fee, as well as repair and other highly inflated rental price; and either has his set repossessed as the result of a delinquent payment, or cannot enforce the verbal contract assurance that the set will belong to him after the full price has been paid.
Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

Dear Larrie:
I bought a bedroom set for my daughter. When I asked the salesman for a copy of the contract, he refused to give me a copy. He said there's no need for me to have one. This is the first time something like this has happened to me and I'm very upset about it. Am I entitled to a copy of any contract that I sign?
UPSET

Dear Upset:
As a matter of legal right, no, but morally yes, and most reputable concerns will give you a copy. You should make it a point to keep a copy of what you sign, for it is effective evidence as to what you and the other party agreed to do. In conditional sales, state laws generally require the seller to give the contract.

Dear Larrie:
I don't understand why I am being charged a fee by the employment agency, that helped me find a job I had. I lost my job through no fault of my own, and am now faced with paying a fee. Do I have to pay this fee?
NO FAULT

Dear No:
According to the law, if a job applicant accepts employment and reports for work and your employment is terminated without the fault of the employee, the fee charged should not exceed 10 percent of your gross earnings. In no case, however, can it be higher than the amount you would have paid had you remained on the job.

Obscene callers need an audience Telephone company tells how to stop them

If you're the victim of persistent obscene, harassing or abusive calls, New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. can help put a stop to them.

The first step is to call your local telephone business office, which will put you in touch with a specially trained service representative at one of New Jersey Bell's seven annoyance call bureaus.

William McKinlay, Elizabeth community relations manager, said, "Most complaints simply disappear. Either the calls stop or they're found to have a harmless origin. They frequently turn out to be the result of neighborhood disputes or even just misdialled numbers. The misdialler was just too embarrassed to say anything before hanging up. No harm is meant by misdiallers, but it can be very disturbing to someone answering the phone."

"People who make abusive, annoying and obscene calls have a problem and they need an audience. Don't give them one. Use the phone on your terms—not the caller's. If there's no answer when you pick up the phone or the caller makes an obscene remark, hang up without saying anything. That just may discourage an annoyance caller. Make the caller identify himself immediately or hang up. "But if the calls continue, call your local business office for help. The number is listed in the front of the telephone directory on page two."

An annoyance call specialist will contact you and try to establish a pattern that might indicate where the calls are coming from. You will be encouraged to listen for any telltale background noises.

In some cases, you might be asked to log the time and day of each call. A log helps pinpoint calling patterns—such as teenage pranksters making calls after school. Or a love-struck teenager calling a boy or girlfriend but too embarrassed to talk to the parent.

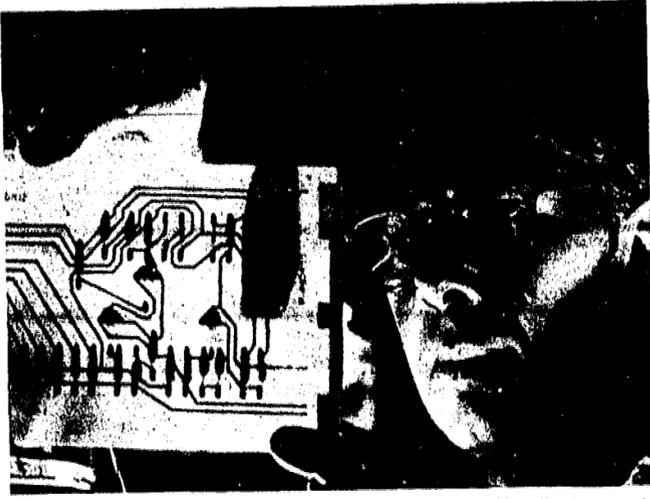

If the problem continues, the telephone company will in many cases begin line identification. Special equipment placed in the central office is used to track down the calling number.

As the name implies, line identification equipment identifies the line the calls are being made from. At no time does anyone listen in on any conversations, nor does New Jersey Bell identify the caller. Once the phone company knows where the calls are coming from, the matter is turned over to local police. It's their job to identify and arrest the caller, and it's up to the customer to sign a complaint.

When the case comes to court, a New Jersey Bell witness will testify to the accuracy of equipment used to identify the line the calls came from.

Line identification won't work every time, but in many cases it is successful in identifying the calling number and in helping police catch annoyance callers.

In the first six months of 1975, more than 120 persons were convicted of making obscene, annoying or harassing telephone calls. It is a serious crime, with a maximum penalty of up to $500 fine and/or six months' imprisonment.

ELECTRONIC TRAP—Ralph Estelle, a switchman in New Jersey Bell's Belleville central office, checks a circuit pack that will be used to identify the line from which annoyance calls are being placed.

Arts Center lists Grecian Festival

Manos Hadjidakis, called the "master of Greek melody" who wrote the score for the movie, "Never on Sunday," will headline the second Grecian Arts Festival at the Garden State Arts Center on Saturday, Sept. 30. The festival will begin at 11 a.m. with a program on the mall and the main stage show is scheduled in the amphitheater at 3 p.m.

Chairman of the festival John Tsakiris said that along with Hadjidakis, who has done scores for theater, concerts, ballets and films, performers will include the Trio Bel Canto, singer Aris San, the St. George Olympians Drum and Bugle Corps of Springfield, Mass., and the duo, Neo Kyma.

The series of heritage festivals help to raise financial support for the Arts Center Cultural Fund.

Similar laws exist in all 50 states and it's a federal offense to place such calls across state lines.

While there is usually no need to go directly to the police about annoyance calls, they should be contacted immediately if a threatening call is received. Threatening calls can be a serious matter and that's a job for the police. Because the police have no authority to order line identification, it's important that the customer then contact the phone company.

But no matter what kind of annoying call you receive, the best advice is to use the telephone on your terms—and hang up on any annoying callers.

Three programs added by college

The College of Saint Elizabeth at Convent Station is expanding its Continuing Education Program by including a teacher certification program, an associate media specialist program and a co-educational program.

The college said that it is expanding the courses so that more persons will be able to work toward a degree or study for their own enrichment. The teacher certification program is offered in day and evening sessions in specific fields of kindergarten through 12. For those who have already earned a bachelor of science degree and now wish to qualify as certified teachers in the areas of nursery, early childhood and special education, the college is offering a special certification program.

The teacher-librarian course meets the standards for an associate media specialist and is offered in the evening session. Co-educational programs are in reading improvement, parent psychology, sculpture, painting, printmaking, consumer economics, diet therapy and the Women's World.

Further information is available from Sister Mary Kathleen, director of continuing education, at 539-1600, ext. 217.

VFW Auxiliaries promoting renewal of American Spirit

Mrs. Helen Murphy of Stockton road, Union, has urged the public to join in the renewal and rededication of the "American Spirit" during the Bicentennial year. Mrs. Murphy, past president of the National VFW Auxiliary, along with the new president, Mrs. Glenn Grossman of Chicago, is promoting nationwide programs being conducted by VFW auxiliaries in the 6,782 units throughout the country.

Mrs. Grossman said that the auxiliary members have given during the past year more than 14 million hours of service and $15,463,433 in contributed dollars. "Over and over again, throughout our 200-year history, the spirit of all our times," Mrs. Grossman said. "Now new crisis face our nation: energy, pollution, unemployment, inflation, the rising tide of crime, drug addiction and our relationships with other nations. At no time has the American Spirit been needed more."

Mrs. Murphy stressed that the real greatness of America is "in the spirit of her people." She added, "We hope that every citizen will get the American spirit. The voice of the people of America must ring out and...rekindle faith and confidence in America and in ourselves. There can be no more powerful weapon for apathy, disunity and crises."

DISC 'N DATA

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of The LP's, COME GET TO THIS: by Nancy Wilson (CAPITOL, ST-11386). This is Nancy's latest album, and it's a vocal goodie. Selections include: "Come Get To This" (the title number), "All My Love Comes Down," "Don't Let Me Be Lonely Tonight," "If I Ever Lose This Heaven," "Happy Tears," "Houdini of the Midnight Hour," "This Time Last Summer," "He Called Me Baby," "Like a Circle Never Stops" and "Boogeyin' All the Way."

In August of 1959, Nancy got another break. She was asked to replace a singer who had an accident and couldn't appear at a New York CLUB. By the time the gig was over the following April, her manager had brought demo disks she'd made to Capital, and she was signed to a long term contract. Shortly thereafter, her first recording, "Guess Who I Saw Today," was released. It was a smash.

GENE HACKMAN

Show bills film sequel

"French Connection II," starring Gene Hackman, in a continuation of his Academy Award-winning portrayal of hard-hitting New York cop Popeye Doyle, opened yesterday at the Lost Picture Show, Union.

In the 20th Century-Fox release, directed by John Frankenheimer, stellar roles are played by Fernando Rey, Bernard Fresson, Jean-Pierre Castaldi, Charles Millot and Cathleen Nesbitt.

This picture finds Hackman on the streets of Marseilles, France, on leave from the New York force, to sever the "connection" for good.

GOLFER'S DREAM—Overlooking the championship golf course at Panther Valley in Allamuchy is Temperance Hall—offering a pro shop, locker rooms, Swedish saunas, billiard and card rooms, dining room, bar and lounge. Other recreational facilities at the community include two Olympic-size swimming pools and tennis courts.

ARCHITECTURAL VARIETY highlights the apartments at Panther Valley in Allamuchy, which rent from $200 to $375 a month, including utilities. The planned residential community, located about an hour's drive from Newark Airport, also features one-family homes, townhouses, a shopping mall, motel, country club, cabana and the Allamuchy Lodge.

Joseph Dolan, sales director, said many of the sales were through referrals by Holiday City residents.

"After a couple has settled in, they usually invite friends to visit. Very often their friends soon become neighbors after they see what Holiday City has to offer."

In addition to seven home styles, all having two bedrooms, the community offers a clubhouse with rooms for hobbies, cards, billiards and meetings, as well as a hall for movies, dancing and theater productions. An onsite swimming pool, bocci and shuffleboard courts also are available for residents' use.

All seven models have wall-to-wall carpeting, enclosed porch or den, custom kitchen cabinets, wall and ceiling insulation, aluminum siding and attic storage included in the base cost. Home prices begin at $24,790.

Dolan noted the type of ownership is a very important consideration. "Holiday City homes are not condominiums or cooperatives. They are sold under a 'fee simple' arrangement. This means that the buyer completely owns the home and the grounds," he said.

Dolan added that lawn mowing, snow removal from driveways and other services are provided at a cost of no more than $16 per month.

Holiday City at Berkeley is located on Rt. 37 West, five minutes from the center of Toms River.

Panther Valley provides new community concept

One of the newer concepts in real estate development is the planned residential community—and the newest comprehensive planned residential community in northern New Jersey is Panther Valley in Allamuchy.

While the community is owned by the Travelers Insurance Company in Hartford, Conn., its development and management is entrusted to Mathews-Phillips, Inc., headquartered in Pittsburgh.

The combined talents of the land planners, engineers, building and landscape architects have been utilized in creating Panther Valley.

A wildlife consultant was retained at the outset to help maintain the ecological balance in the 1,500 acres comprising Panther Valley. Private security gates guard the entrances. The streets are privately maintained and patrolled by a round-the-clock security force. All the utilities are installed underground.

A sewer and water company has been established to service the needs of the community. A master antenna system also has been set up. Panther Valley offers a variety of housing styles ranging from Southern Colonial to Californian contemporaries. Eighty single-family residences are completed in Village I, where homes are valued between $85,000 and $135,000.

Overlooking the 18th fairway of the championship golf course are the townhouses, priced from $110,000 to $115,000.

Village II consists of 159 apartments. Monthly rentals, including utilities, range from $200 to $575.

The newest section of approximately 90 acres, Village III, will accommodate 64 detached single-family homes and 204 townhouses. The one-family homes include both three- and four-bedroom models and sell in the $75-$85,000 price range. The townhouses include two- and three-bedroom models with dens and family rooms and sell in the $55-$65,000 price range.

The community includes a shopping mall and motel, with architecture suggestive of a New England town—brick walkways, tree-lined malls, natural gas lanterns.

Much of the community is planned around the award-winning 18-hole championship golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones. The focal point of this golf complex is Temperance Hall. This facility includes a pro shop, locker rooms, Swedish saunas, billiard room, card room, dining room, bar and lounge.

Overlooking the 18th green is the Country Club—formerly a private mansion. Many of the suites have been converted into dining rooms and lounges for entertaining guests.

The cabana, situated above the golf course, provides a nucleus for the two Olympic swimming pools and the tennis courts.

Near the first tee is Allamuchy Lodge, designed to accommodate everything from a small party to a wedding reception.

Panther Valley is located on the eastern edge of Warren County, and is within an hour's drive of Newark Airport and midtown Manhattan. Regularly-scheduled bus service provides for easy commutation. To reach the community, drive west on Interstate 80 to Rt. 517 exit. Turn left (south) 1/2 of a mile to entrance on the right.

State Fair Bavarian Day listed

The tempo of old Europe will set the mood for the Bavarian Day celebration to be held Friday, Sept. 19, at the New Jersey State Fair, Rt. 33, near Trenton. More than 100 musicians and dancers will perform for the thousands of visitors expected at the fair that day, according to John W. Berish, chairman of the event.

"The day's free grandstand entertainment will include the 45-member Komstanz Carnival Band from the Komstanz Lake area of Germany," Berish said. The band has been a traditional part of the celebrations of the mountain areas of Germany for many decades.

Other entertainment will include the Maenner and Damen choir plus the Dunobel Schwab dancers wearing traditional Bavarian costumes such as those worn during beerfest celebrations in Germany. Berish added that other free entertainment will include the Tony Walthers Band and the Windjammers musical group.

"In addition there will be a German pavilion displaying samples of costumes, foods and other items used by the mountain people in the Bavarian section of Germany," said Berish.

The New Jersey State Fair will open Friday, Sept. 12 and run through Sunday, Sept. 21.

SCHNITZED APPLES are ready for the boiling pots. Apple butter making will be featured at the 11th annual Pennsylvania Dutch Farm Festival at the Kempton (Pa.) Farm Museum, Sept. 6 and 7. Kempton is located in the rolling farmland hills of upper Berks County.

Drew dean steps down

Dr. Pieter deJong, dean of the Theological School at Drew University, Madison, since 1972, has resigned his position to return to full-time teaching in the school.

New bill would ensure civil rights for retarded

A comprehensive bill of civil rights for the mentally retarded in New Jersey, including voting and the rights of habilitation, is being readied for possible introduction in the State Senate next month.

The bill, which would have greatest immediate effect on institutionalized retarded persons, is the product of nearly a year of study and preparation by the staff of Sen. Alexander J. Menza (D-Union), with the advice and counsel of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children and the State Division of Mental Retardation.

Writing of the new legislation was specifically prompted early in 1975 when another bill, concerning the mentally ill, was near enactment. That bill, which became law last May, amended out all reference to mental retardation from a 1965 law that had combined the two handicaps. Since that time, administrative orders have filled in that "legal gap." The proposed law would establish an all-inclusive right to education and training for all the mentally retarded, from ages five through 20.

It would specifically establish a "right to habilitation," which, in general definition, means the mandatory provision of programs and services that would enable a mentally retarded individual to acquire and maintain life skills—education, vocational training, adult education, and the like. Particularly for the retarded in institutions, the law would require an individual "habilitation plan," to assure maximum development according to the judged mental and physical tools of the person.

A category of fundamental civil rights would delineate the issues of voting, licenses, permits and other privileges.

Also considered is the establishment of an advocacy committee for the civil rights of the mentally retarded—a committee, basically under state control, that would combine public and private persons who would weigh new policies, react to violations of the law or charged violations, participate in hearings and appeals, and generally watchdog implementation of the law.

Directed especially toward the protection of the institutionalized retarded, separate features of the bill would:

- regulate the use of physical restraint and isolation, as disciplinary and protective measures.
- prohibit mistreatment and establish an investigatory procedure.

—disallow the use of electro-shock therapy, psychosurgery or sterilization without the express consent of the retarded person, his parents or his guardian.

—prevent, to the best possible extent, unnecessary or excessive medication.

The New Jersey Association for Retarded Children has participated in the planning process of the new legislation since January, when the need for a separate measure was acknowledged.

NJARC's staff and governmental affairs committee helped review model legislation from other states and drew on the Association's independent stockpile of experience, together with that of the National Association for Retarded Citizens.
