Bestowers ready for Sunday party; needy children and adults will benefit

With preparations nearly completed for this Sunday's Bestowers Christmas party, to be held from 3 to 6 p.m at L'Affaire, Rt. 22. Mountainside, the Bestowers have turned their attention to the recipients of their efforts.

The borough group has received over 400 requests for presents for children and elderly. By contacting many local institutions, the Bestowers have identified the children by name and age who are to receive the gift brought by Bestower to the party. And institutionalized men and women and senior citizens who otherwise would not share in this gift-giving time of the year also are known to

The Bestowers began 15 years ago when an orphanage director came to Mountainside and requested Christmas presents for the orphans. Invitations were sent to friends requesting a gift for a particular child. Their generous response of gaily wrapped presents started the annual tradition of the Bestowers.

"Now there are many orphanages and homes for children and also for senior citizens who like the original request, ask for our help during this good-will holiday season," spokesman said. "And the Bestowers still espond. As they better understand the needs of their recipients, the Bestowers after what they do. No longer can selected invitees answer the known need for help. It is too great. It will take everyone in Mountainside to respond adequately to this year's known needs. The Bestowers hope for a large turnout and generous response of Mountainsiders and friends at their party.'

Some comments from last year's recipients were quoted: "You have no idea how very (Continued on page 3)

White won't be candidate for Regional Board seat

Theodore A. White, Mountainside member of the Regional High School District Board of Education, announced at the board meeting Tuesday night that he will not be a candidate for reelection when his term expires this February. Natalie Waldt of Springfield stated following the meeting at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield that she will be a candidate for the fourth three-year

Mrs. Waldt, a former board president, said that she had decided to seek another term "after much deliberation over what we can do about school financing-which is still a riddle in the legislature-and implementing the requirement for 'Thorough and Efficient education.

She added, "I feel that the educational needs of our students are very great, and this is the major reason why I will seek a fourth term. I view board membership as one of the most important functions a person can engage in.

White told the 25 persons at the meeting. "Having given the matter careful and thoughtful consideration. I have decided not to seek reelection as the Mountainside representative. Service on the Regional board is very time-consuming. I do not feel that I can continue to devote the amount of time needed. in my opinion, to adequately carry out the responsibilities of the office and, at the same time, meet commitments to my family and to my employer.

"Facing continued declining enrollment and the advent of 'Thorough and Efficient' education, the board and administration clearly have their work cut out for them in finding means to operate the system efficiently and, at the same time, meet the needs of the students in the district."

White was elected to a two-year unexpired term in 1974 after having been named to replace Dr. Minor C.K. Jones, who had retired from the board. White was commended for his services by Charles Vitale of Kenilworth, board

Rinaldo shrugs off talk of running for governor

Midway through his second term in Congress, Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R.-12th District) has settled down into a heavy but 'challenging' schedule: an 8 a.m.-to-11 p.m. workday in Washington; a round of speaking engagements in his home district every weekend, and "not a single vacation in three years, except for a couple of days around the olidays with my family." It's a schedule he obviously relishes and which, he firmly insists, he hopes to continue into the forseeable future.

The Union Township Republican returns to that point whenever mention of his name comes up, as it periodically does, as a possible gubernatorial candidate or as a possible successor to 71-year-old Senator Clifford Case. Republican, whose current term expires in

In 1977, when New Jersey will elect a governor, "I will probably be doing my congressional job as diligently as I can,"

In 1978, "I will probably be running for Congress again on a ticket with Case as candidate for senator." Case, he added, is "a good friend." And as for 1976, when the present term of Democratic Senator Harrison Williams expires, Rinaldo's only comment is a smiling: "He's another friend.

But if he avoids talk of any political future outside the House of Representatives, Rinaldo does comment in detail on other issues facing his district and the nation.

He reviewed many of these issues in a wideranging interview last week with members of the staff of this newspaper and its sister Suburban Publishing Corp. newspapers in Rinaldo's district.

Among the issues was the ever-present question of the nation's energy crisis.

In 1975, the United States spent $398 million for solar, geothermal, advanced energy systems and physical research; $12.2 million (Continued on page 6)

School music unit in reorganization; discusses goals

After having been inactive for several years. the New Jersey School Music Supervisors Association held a reorganization meeting last month at the Board of Education offices of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 in Springfield. The morning session included music supervisors from 11 districts northern and central New Jersey counties.

Edward F. Brown, cultural arts coordinator of the Regional District and a charter member of the association, stated that the organization seeks to improve the quality of music instruction in New Jersey's schools and, in doing, elevate the status of music education in general.

The association will also act as a forum where music educators can discuss issues and ideas of a mutual concern. The group also plans to cooperate with other organizations in promoting effective public education.

At the meeting, discussion centered on inservice programs for music educators, the establishment of music policies, music classscheduling and extra-curricular activities involving music. Brown added that plans were do to mako music a " efficient part of a child's education.

The past two years have been an exciting and gratifying part of my life. I have thoroughly enjoyed serving in the State Assembly and look forward to continuing in public service. Although my reelection effort was not successful, I believe that significant gains for the people of the 22nd District were made during

Through my legislative office, which was open six days per week, my staff and I were able to provide residents with a place to "plug into government." We have provided information on government services and activities and have been able, in many instances, to help individuals cut through bureaucratic red tape in such areas as pensions, unemployment, and food stamps, for example, I believe constituents have a right to expect this level of service from legislators and will demand it from their representatives in the

During my final weeks in office, I shall continue to press for passage of my flood control bills on which I place highest priority. The need remains as urgent as ever. Some of the vital legislation which I introduced in the past two years has not yet become law.

However, several members of the incoming legislature have expressed an interest in reintroducing my bills on public ethics, financial disclosure and in continuing to work to expand the availability of quality child care.

I am optimistic that these issues will continue to receive needed attention. Many major problems cannot be solved in a two-year term of office; I have, however, been able to increase public awareness of the need for action in many of these areas.

During the next two years, New Jersey will continue to face the serious difficulties of unemployment and recession, a need for tax reform and a demand for a government responsive to the needs and concerns of the citizenry. Although I shall not be your assemblywoman during the next term, I shall continue to work on these problems through every available means.

Bestowers

(Continued from page 1) happy your beautiful gifts made our big family. For your toys, clothing, shoes, sneakers, etc., etc., our appreciative hearts say thank you and God bless you." From a volunteer agency: "The gifts were absolutely lovely. We added something new to our regular program in distributing old toys ... we added Santa Claus and gave out the beautifully wrapped gifts. I'm sure our children didn't receive such nice things in their homes. Instead of 'yes, Virginia. there is a Santa Claus,' we can say, 'yes, Lift for Learning, there is a Bestowers' and what a perfect name.

Another response was, "The Bestowers have been kind friends to us. It is so gratifying to know that others care enough to wish to share in our work with the troubled and unfortunate youngsters placed in our care.'

From a county agency: "Our program is designed to help mothers on welfare obtain training and jobs. We help them find and pay for the day care of their children from birth to age 15. You can imagine the difficulty these struggling mothers face during this Christmas season. Maguire seeking GOP assignment to appropriations

Assemblyman-elect William. J. Maguire of District 22 has requested the Appropriations Committee as his first choice for duty assignment in the new legislature. He said the committee's budget-building and review responsibilities are an excellent way to get a 'crash course'' in how state government works and will allow him to take full advantage of his two decades of county and municipal government experience.

"I believe I can make an effective contribution with this assignment," the former Freeholder said. "The 13-member committee will probably increase its minority membership from three to five seats as a result of the recent election, and I have asked Minority Leader Thomas Kean for this assignment.

All 31 Republican Assemblymen have been asked to list their top three committee choices. Maguire's second choice is the agriculture and environment committee because of its concern with solid, wastes management. His third selection is the state government, federal and interstate relations committee, because of his five-year involvement as chairman of Union County's Department of Intergovernmental Affairs, which he created.

"I plan to be a working assemblyman," Maguire added. "I am told that many legislators avoid the appropriations committee because it is extremely time-consuming, but I will welcome the involvement."

Maguire said he is "convinced" government spending and runaway taxation were major factors in his election victory. "I ran on a platform of fiscal responsibility and the elimination of costly government frills," he said. "Assignment to the appropriations committee will allow me to follow through to help assure we get a dollar's worth of services from each tax dollar spent.

Maguire's Assembly district includes Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Berkeley Heights, Mountainside, Rahway, Clark Springfield, Kenilworth and Chatham Town-

The board approved participation by David Brearley football star Jeff Dunn, a senior end at a dinner to honor the state's top 100 players Monday in Edison. The players will be interviewed by 125 college recruiters.

Brearley coaches Robert Taylor and Carl Peterson and players Joseph Christadore and Richard Wills, will also attend.

A maternity leave was approved for Mrs. Marcy Kudirka, a Dayton science teacher, to extend from Jan. 31 to next Sept. 1.

Named to athletic posts at Dayton were John Wasowski, assistant baseball coach, and Nancy Dougherty, Helen Hooper, Ruth Townsend and John Swedish, intramurals coaches, UNANIMOUS FINAL APPROVAL was voted the second reading of two new board policies covering the distribution of printed materials by students and the procedure for compiling and disseminating student records. Details of both policies were published last month.

Student leaders from Dayton and Gov. Livingston commended the board for the policy on printed materials. The Gov. Livingston student said, "I had opposed anything which inhibits the rights of students, and now these rights are protected in this regard. I am leased the board and the students could work together.

Morey Epstein, president of the Dayton Student Council, commented, "The policy on printed material is very good. This can spur student interest in public affairs and in school

The policy sets up guidelines for material to be posted on bulletin board or distributed in the schools. Administrators will exercise no prior censorship but can remove unacceptable material, and students will be able to appeal their decisions

Several adult and student members of the audience questioned a portion of the new report card which lists absences from specific classes with no differentiation between illnesses or authorized absences and unauthorized cuts.

Anthony Fiordaliso, Dayton principal, commented. "This item alerts parents and students to the number of times each student misses a specific class. It permits the student to decide if he should skip a field trip or reschedule a guidance conference, for example, when he or she has missed too many sessions of a specific class."

The next board meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 6, at A.L. Johnson Regional in

Dreary Thanksgiving tie fitting finale for gridders, but future looks brighter

On a rainy, dreary Thanksgiving Day, the 1975 Dayton Football team ended its season with an appropriate scoreless tie at West Orange. The game, which seemed to exemplify the season, was played on a field of mud. The Bulldogs defense once again was forced to play a majority of the time as the Dayton attack seemed hampered by the rain and mud.

The defense was led by six seniors who were playing their final game in a Dayton uniform-Jim Rice, Mike Flood, Jack Flood, Vic Vitale, Vin Mirabella and Joe Graziano, Each showed the individual desire and effort that was needed to continuously halt the West Orange attack.

Rice, who has been the finest Dayton lineman this season, made a number of tackles and did not allow a run through his side. Rice also harassed the quarterback, making it difficult for him to complete a pass. Rice will be hard to replace since he also provided Dayton with the leadership needed on its line.

Co-captain Mike Flood, who had an exceptional year, helped the defense, while Mirabella displayed talent and ability in his first year in the football program. Joe Graziano, a quarterback, was forced also to play defense because of injuries. He aided in the development of an excellent linebacking unit, with Flood and Mirabella. Sophomores Jack Hirshberg and Don Shusardi also filled in as linebackers for the Bulldogs, showing promise for the future.

The other co-captain, Jack Flood, played another fine game. His leadership and spirited defensive play will be missed by next year. Flood has been the focal point of the defense all season.

Vitale finished the year in style as he picked off a key pass that ended a West Orange threat, playing one of his finer games in this finale.

Carmine Apicella, Brian McNanny and Steve Pepe, three juniors, have two years of varsity experience to help them lead next year's defense. Steve Merklebach played a tough game on the line for Dayton.

The Dayton defense, on the whole, had a very inconsistent year, many times showing its inexperience. However, they overcame the lack of experience in the final game.

THE DAYTON ATTACK, based upon a hardnosed running game by Mike Flood and Brandon Gambee combined with accurate passing from Graziano, was hampered by its inability to move the ball on rainy days and ground. Unfortunately, this season proved to be the rainiest in over six years. Both running and passing were unable to produce the points needed for a victory.

Coach Dave Oliver, frustrated by the lack of movement last Thursday, tried for the big play early in the third quarter, when he made a change in quarterbacks, as Bryant Burke took over the reins. Graziano moved over as a running back and attempted a halfback option. Unfortunately the play failed to develop.

The only Dayton threat came with 2:37 left to play, when Joe Graziano handed the ball to Mike Flood on consecutive plays in which Flood was able to move the ball from the 45 to the West Orange 15. Then, as it has happened throughout the season, a miscue in the Dayton

Coach Oliver stated that he felt his team, which was forced to play four squads that entered playoff competition, probably had one of the toughest schedules around. "The Dayton team can be proud of the fine efforts and cohesiveness shown throughout the season.'

Coach Oliver expressed thanks to all of the fans who supported the football program, and who on Thanksgiving Day came out in full force. He also expressed a very special thanks to the cheerleaders for their "fine, enthusiastic and loyal support throughout the season,'

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

At its Nov. 17 agenda session, the Union County Board of Freeholders informally turned down a proposal which deserves unanimous That proposal, offered by Freeholder Sinnott (R. Summit), was to consider appointing a citizens' advisory committee to participate in designing and writing the first Union County Administrative Code

The Administrative Code will be the cornerstone of our newly chartered form of county government. It should embody the wishes of the electorate together with the views of the freeholders, the county attorney and the county administrator. An official citizens' committee would help the freeholders while serving the public's needs as well. It would augment the value of public hearings on the code, not detract from or interfere with such bearings as some freeholders suggested.

The committee should be small, with members of the general citizenry, labor organizations, business, the municipal governing bodies, the former County Charter Commission, the League of Women Voters of Union County or such other people who express

The committee should be established immediately, should be present for all discussions of the code by the freeholders, ask questions and make comments. All of this can be done in a nonobstructive way.

The League of Women Voters is calling for a reversal of the rejection of Freeholder Sinnott's proposal. If you agree, please call the freeholders' office or write Freeholder Chairman Harold Seymour, County Courthouse, Elizabeth.

TIME TO TUNE IN

At the October meeting of the Mountainside Board of Education, a motion to authorize participation of the seventh graders in the Metropolitan Opera "Look-In" was tabled after Mrs. Cromarty raised objections to providing support for out-of-state groups when similar offerings were available from New Jersey cultural units. It was requested that Dr. Lois Harrison submit a report on the pros and cons

At the November meeting of the board, it was stated that Dr. Harrison recommended the Metropolitan Opera offering. Unfortunately, the time period to notify the Metropolitan had passed and tickets were no longer available. The board would now try to secure someone else's cancelled reservations. No other substitute program is available.

I invite Mrs. Cromarty, the Board of Education, and all citizens of Mountainside to watch CBS (Channel 2) on Saturday at 5 p.m. for a repeat telecast of the "Look-In," as presented earlier this year, to see what the children will miss. Where in New Jersey do we have a student cultural program with performers such as Beverly Sills or Robert Merrill, the MC magic and know-how of Danny Kaye, or even a theater with the history of the Metropolitan Opera?

I commend Mrs. Cromarty on her speech where she expressed her comments and suggestions, but such comments and suggestions that are made to undo plans being formalized should be made early enough so that they can be investigated. I also cannot comprehend why the Board of Education would let one option go before the second one

ZONING 'BOMBSHELL'

I wish to comment on the mayor's recent statement as published in the Echo that he is disturbed by the apathy on the part of the citizens in not attending Borough Council meetings. People do not attend because, other than normal business, the only information voluntarily made public is that which tends to keep their Republican group in power.

As an example I cite the recent "bombshell" ontained in the recent public notices of the Echo. The Superior Court of Union County ordered the Zoning Board to grant a variance to Chatham Realty to construct a 21-unit town house complex on U.S. Rt. 22 and New Providence road. As I see it, our single family residential zoning ordinance has been broken

The Zoning Board acted on Nov. 10, yet no public press release from Mayor or Council appeared in the Echo of Nov. 20 which reported proceedings of the Borough Council meeting held on Nov. 18. I can only conclude by this inaction that every effort is being made to 'keep it quiet.

Because of the significant impact this court decision will have on the future composition of Mountainside, mayor and council have an elected obligation to issue a full public statement of what actually transpired in the courts and the alternatives available in ap pealing the decision to a higher court

BACK-TO-SCHOOL NIGHT

I did not know that the Mountainside Teachers Association had a grievance with the Mountainside parents as well as the Board of Education.

A previous back-to-school night was can celled by the Board of Education because the teachers refused to participate. Later an MTA representative said repeatedly at a public board meeting that they wanted back-to-school night postponed, not cancelled. It was recently rescheduled for Nov. 20. The parents were there, but most of the teachers were not

This was not a meeting with the Board of Education whom they are at impasse with, but a meeting with parents who are anxious to know what is being taught, how it is taught and how each teacher arrives at grades. In order to help our children, we must have some idea of what is expected of them, and it is easier for a teacher to explain this to a group rather than to each individual parent.

Parents vote for school budgets and work to get them passed. Why couldn't the teachers, who are supposed to be professionals, come out and discuss their curriculum with us?

We have been assured by both sides that our children are not suffering because of their differences. Is this true?

While waiting for a tennis court at Echobrook I've found players from Union and Westfield. The people from Union saw the lights from Rt. 22. The people from Westfield came over because Westfield turned off their lights. Another person had a permit but was not a resident of Mountainside

In order to find out how easily a permit could be obtained I went to the Borough Hall, asked for a tennis permit and gave the name "Nor man Nipnoil." The question they asked me was. "Do I also want one for my wife?"

Can you imagine getting permits that easily? The point is we may not need new courts or Habite perhaps we need the courts policed GEORGE A. STUMMER

For 1976, the House approved appropriations of $96 million for solar energy research, $33.4 million for geothermal research. $25.8 million for conservation research and development and $1.6 billion for nuclear energy develop-

"With this type of spending, I hope that in 15 years we will be self-sufficient," Rinaldo said. But in the meantime, he said, the energy legislation debate centers on "the key point" of deregulation of oil controls. Deregulation will mean higher prices, though "no one can predict with certainty how much higher;" it may also mean more energy, he said

Last month there was more exploration for oil in the United States than ever before, he pointed out. However, he said. "I would like to see America self-sufficient with alternate sources of supply

There's no easy answer to the energy problem, the congressman pointed out.

AND THE SAME is true for the twin evils of inflation and recession" as the nation faces the question of how to stimulate the economy and oduce unemployment

"I voted for the last tax rebate and will probably vote for the next one," Rinaldo said 'But with all the money we're pumping into the economy, we're also stimulating inflation. Before the brakes can be put on, "People will have to learn to make personal sacrifices to cut government spending

It's a difficult lesson, he noted. In the most recent opinion poll he sent to residents of his district, one question dealt with a proposal for establishment of a $60 million federal consumer protection agency. Despite the price tag. 49 percent of those responding said they are in favor of such an agency, 42 percent said they are opposed, and nine percent are undecided

Turning from inflation to international affairs. Rinaldo, a member of the House sub committee on the Panama Canal, recalled the four days he spent in Panama when his com mittee held hearings on the future of the canal

Panama, he pointed out, seeks a new treaty under which it would take over the American Canal Zone immediately and eventually take over operation of the canal itself-at present, it does not have the technical expertise to operate

But the canal is "extremely important" to the defense of the United States. Rinaldo said. At this point in time it would be a bad move on the part of the United States to negotiate

The Senate would not approve any such new treaty, Rinaldo said. The House would not approve a new land deal, and most Americans are "strongly opposed" to any change, he added.

Thus it would be "a mistake" to continue negotiations on the canal since it would only raise Panamanian hopes, he noted.

AS A MEMBER of the subcommittee on the merchant marine, fisheries and wildlife, Rinaldo also has wrestled with the problem of how far off shore national sovereignty ex-

"It was the Third World nations that stopped the last law of the sea conference from reaching agreement," he said. If no agreement can be reached, he predicted, Congress will pass a 200-mile limit.

The Third World nations also are now in effect running the United Nations, he noted. He called the recent UN action in adopting a resolution that labels Zionism as racism "the most despicable I ever heard of.'

But if the United States has had setbacks with the Third World nations, it has a plus in Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Rinaldo

Kissinger "may have made some mistakes," the congressman said, "but overall he is a very valuable asset to the Ford Administration and to the country as a whole.'

The secretary has worked "very diligently and very hard" to keep the Middle East from erupting into war, Rinaldo said. "He was the only man who was able to garner the respect of most of the principals involved."

Speaking of another member of the Ford Administration, he took note of Secretary of Commerce Rogers Morton's refusal to make public the names of businesses which have adhered to Arab demands to boycott Israel

'Secretary Morton obtained that information from the business firms under a pledge of confidentiality," Rinaldo said. Calling the arguments about whether or not the names should be released "highly legalistic," he added: "In my opinion, the question should be resolved in the courts, not in Congress.

TURNING BACK to questions dealing directly with New Jersey, Rinaldo commented that the proposed redistricting of congressional districts in the state is "the governor's ball

"My contention all along has been that we shouldn't redistrict until after the 1980 census, he said, adding that the New Jersey delegation in Congress agrees with that point of view.

His own 12th District comes within one percent of being completely balanced to

But Rinaldo, who himself has won resounding majorities in Democratic as well Republican districts, noted that more and more Americans avoid voting strict party lines. People are not as concerned with parties as with candidates," he said.

Voters must, however, realize that it is still important for them to be "actively involved" in political parties in order to help select the best possible candidates, he added

Next year's presidential election won't be predicted.

At present, the polls show President Ford leading everyone, Rinaldo noted, predicting that the President will receive the Republican nomination on the first ballot.

Ronald Reagan, even with his formal announcement that he is a candidate, "has no real organization in New Jersey and no visible support in the state or in the Northeast."

AS FOR THE QUESTION of what Rinaldo's position would be if Reagan did win the GOP nomination: "He won't get it and I won't even speculate on it."

There is enough for Rinaldo to do without

His average work day begins about 8 in the morning, usually at a breakfast meeting with some group visiting Washington-including "some that I never knew existed."

By 9 he's in his office, going over the day's schedule with his staff, and at 9:30 committee meetings start. Rinaldo is on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees as well as on the subcommittees on investigastion, consumer protection and finance, Panama Canal and merchant marine, fisheries and wildlife. ST. JOHN'S CHURCH (PART II)

Elizabethtown is a most agreeable place one can John's) is an organ...(December 9, 1776).

On the surface Elizabethtown may have appeared in this light to many soldiers and travelers passing through, but this was as far from the truth as one could get when describing the mood and feeling of the people. Because of divided loyalties father was pitted against son...neighbor against neighbor..parishioner against parishioner...and one-time close left. It continued to carry the stigma of being the King's church, and its fortunes continued on the downgrade. The church, used for quartering and storage and even as a stable, firewood, the horses of British cavalrymen were quartered in the graveyard, the tombstones were used to make fireplaces or tables. Most of the interior of the church was torn out. Even

During this period, the trials of St. John's and its people were severe. "For many years," said Dr. John C. Rudd, Rector of St. John's from 1805 to 1826, "no servant of the altar uttered the language of the Liturgy; no exposition of the terms of salvation was heard from the pulpit; no consecrated bread was broken at the altar; no cup of blessing was offered to the people." It was indeed "the times that tried men's souls." For many years no services were held and its people were 1775, the congregation dwindled. In 1779 or 1780, members of the parish began to meet in private homes. This they continued to do until the war ended. Then St. John's was repaired and, for some time, was the only church in Elizabethtown.

After the conclusion of peace, the wardens and vestrymen wrote to Dr. Chandler in England asking him to return for the purpose of resuming his duties as rector. This he agreed to do. When he arrived back in Elizabethtown in 1785, after an absence of 10 years, there were some local residents who wanted to put him on a boat and send him back to England. However, cooler heads prevailed and he was allowed to remain. By this time he was getting old and his health had so deteriorated that he was seldom able to perform any of his official duties. Services were usually conducted by his supply clergymen. In 1790, 5 years after his return, he died at the age

Elizabethtown, in the year 1776, may have given the appearance of being "a most agreeable place one can imagine" as written by a Hessian Chaplain during his stay in the city. Philipp Waldeck of the Third Waldeck Regiment of Hessians wrote in the diary he kept of the Revolution as imagine, comfortable for trade, as one can sail to the middle of the city in sloops. The layout of the city is widely spread; the houses, which are very nice, are built far apart and large vegetable gardens and fruit orchards lie between...the city has two churches, a large one of wood, and a smaller one of baked red stones. Both churches have only one bell; in the small one (St.

During this period about one-half of St. John's congregation took the middle-of-the-road policy hoping the war would soon come to an end, and they could return to the business of every day living. One-quarter were loyal to King George and onequarter were ardent patriots who served the cause of freedom well and faithfully such as Colonel Edward Thomas, who fought under General George Washington. He raised and equipped the Elizabethtown militia. General Matthias Williamson who took part in the Battle of Elizabethtown and Jonathan Hampton, who more than anyone else, was responsible for getting supplies through to the Continental Army, Also Lt. Col. William DeHart, Lt. Edmund Thomas, Capt. John Richards and Lt. Maurice DeHart. These men were just a few of the members of St. John's who held no high regard for Dr. Chandler's prayers for the King of England.

William Steinfield, vicepresident of U.S. Home of N.J. "It provides a unique touch of year-round springtime which receives comment prospective buvers.

In addition, the Dogwood may be purchased with one or two bedrooms and a new model is being completed with two baths. In all, there are hree floor plan variations and five exterior elevations with orices starting at $33,990.

"The secret of the success of Freenbriar is the same as the success of this particular model," says Steinfield model," says Steinfield "Every phase of the com munity is the result of careful planning and research. We made a careful study of the human needs of the mature family and used this information in planning homes and the many amenities of the total community.'

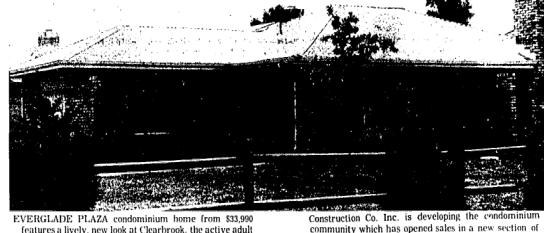

The validity of the U.S. Home research is found in the community's population figures. There are almost ,500 residents enjoying the benefits of this singular seashore residential vironment, he said.

"Everything is arranged to provide all of the comforts and imenities of modern living,' says Steinfield, "from the dependable General Electric appliances and efficient lectric baseboard heating to wall-to-wall carpeting and oversize garage and storage

Each family has automatic membership in the Greenbriar Association, which provides important services and facilities for residents. While they enjoy the traditional tax advantages of private ownership, mempership in the association frees residents from the problems of exterior maintenance. Snow removal, lawn care and outside painting are 'among the services provided. There is also a community bus service that takes residents to area shopping malls and cultural centers

Recreation at Greenbrian includes a large community

Aside from the many on-site attractions, Greenbriar is also convenient to the major metropolitan areas, while well removed from urban congestion. Wide age range at Summerhill

People of varied ages and backgrounds are choosing the financial advantages and convenient location of Summerhill Village, East Brunswick's only condominium. Young marrieds as well as retired couples are realizing tax savings at the end of the year plus the opportunity to accumulate equity.

Approximately 70 percent of residents' monthly payments covers mortgage interest and taxes, constituting a deductible tax item and representing an actual tax savings. With each monthly payment, the balance of the mortgage decreases simultaneously as the equity builds and the profit potential rises.

The residences at Summerhill Village start at $26,990, with down payments as low as $2,700 for qualified buyers. The apartments feature living and dining rooms, color-coordinated baths and two entrances Second floor units include balconies overlooking courtyards. All are equipped with individual room controlled heat and air conditioning. kitchen with self-defrosting refrigerator-freezer, yenti-lating bood over the range, cabinets and lots of counter space.

The 68-unit condominiums: offer variety in exterior, design. Buildings are set back and shrubbed, and feature rolling lawns.

The model is open from noon until 6 p.m. every day except Tuesdays. To reach Sum-merbill Village take the New Jersey Turnpike to Exit 9. Then take Rt. 18 East about 215 miles to the Cranbury overpass. Turn right to Cranbury road and Sammerhill Village.

Miss Gene dances on Broadway

TERRY GENE Terry Jean Weisburger, 21, Mountainside, professionally known as Terry Gene, is appearing on Broadway at the Ninskoff Theater in the stage musical,

"Hello, Dolly!" Terry Gene, daughter of Mrs. Yvette Cohen, director of the Yvette Dance Studio. Cranford, received her theatrical training at the studio. She was one of five girl dancers chosen from hundreds who auditioned for the show last May. The company starring Pearl Bailey and Billy Daniels, began its tour in Pittsburgh, then went on to Montreal, Chicago, Dallas, San Diego, Los Angeles. Boston and will close after a six-week run in Washington, D.C. The limited Broadway engagement will end Dec. 21.

Since her graduation from Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, in 1972, Terry Gene danced in professional productions including including 'Carbaret,'' "My Fair Lady,' "Annie Get Your Gun." "No. No. Nanette" and "Anything

Model train show 'first' Solar energy to run railroad

In what is believed to be a "first," the Pacific Southern Railway, the largest model railroad in New Jersey, will demonstrate the use of solar energy to power a railroad as a part of the club's 12th annual model railroad exhibition.

Robert F. Latham, chairman of the club, said, "I realize that ours is only a model railroad- not the real thing-but if we can successfully apply solar energy to railroading so can Penn Central and Amtrak." The special demonstration track will be powered by 24 silicon solar cells which, in bright sunshine, can develop up to 18 volts at 0.5 amperes-more than enough to drive a typical model

PSEG cites drop in '75 earnings; total sales dipped

Public Service Electric and Gas Company has reported that carnings for the 10 months ended Oct. 31, 1975, were $101,900,000 ($1.88 an average share) compared with $101,400,000 ($1.96 a share) on 2,300,000 fewer average shares in the 1974 period.

The disappointing earnings were attributed by Robert I. Smith, president, principally to a severe decline in electric and gas industrial sales volumes and, reflecting facilities placed in service last year higher depreciation charges and reduced allowance for funds during construction credits. Higher interest costs and taxes, in addition to increased gas supply costs, part of which will be subject to recovery from gas customers in the remaining months of the year through adjustment clauses, were also significant and contributing

Although total kilowatthour sales of electricity in the first ten months of 1975 were 3 percent below the same period last year, residential and commercial sales of electricity were up 1 percent and 4 percent, respectively: industrial sales, however, were off 11 percent. Similarly, the decline in total therm sales of gas, down 6 percent in the 10-month period, was the result of a 24 percent drop in industrial sales, reflecting curtailments of sales to interruptible customers due to supply shortages.

Improvised play opens tomorrow

TYLL, an entertainment with music, will have its premiere tomorrow at the George Street Playhouse, a professional, non-profit theater in New Brunswick.

Based on the "Merry Pranks of Tyll Eulenspiegel," a series of German folk tales, TYLL follows the adventures of a roguish vagabond through Medieval Europe. The script was written by the actors during the rehearsal period. Starting with only the narrative of the tales, the ensemble developed the structure and drama of TYLL through improvisation.

TYLL will play on Friday and Saturday nights at 8 and Sundays at 7:30 through Dec. 27. Additional performances are scheduled Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 20 at 3. Tickets for TYLL may be reserved by phone at 246-7717 or pur-chased at the box office, 414 George st., New Brunswick. Ample parking is available nearby.

Yule tree farms convenient, popular Area families cutting more than costs now

Timmmberr! cries the eight-year-old as his seven-foot Christmas tree falls to earth with a soft thud. He gleefully bounces around the tree as the rest of the family watches. An outing in the country for mom, dad and the kids in search of their perfect natural Christmas tree is an annual activity that is rapidly gaining in popularity throughout the Garden State - at choose-and-cut Christmas tree growers' farms.

New Jersey, even though it is the most densely populated state and is near two great metropolitan areas, has Christmas tree farms within an hour's drive of a great many families. Your family will enjoy a day together, helping to select your tree, and you will be assured of a fresh tree that will stand and look in your home as it does in the field.

The following is a brief description of the most popular species of native-grown

Colorado blue spruce -- short, harsh, green to silvery blue needles, very good keeper indoors White spruce - shorter green needles with silvery tinge, moderately good keeper.

Norway spruce- dark green, short needles, moderately good keeper. Scotch pine- medium length green to blue-green needles, very good keeper. White pine-long, soft, green to blue-green needles, soft branches, good keeper.

Douglas fir- soft, green to blue-green needles, graceful branching, very good keeper Balsam, Fraser & Concolor firs - soft, light to medium toned green needles, good keepers. but are not readily available.

The New Jersey Farm Forestry and Christmas Tree Growers' Association, which has conducted a tree marketing survey since 1966, notes that families' choices and tastes seem to be changing. In 1966 the percentage of

TV commentator to address group

Jerome Wilson, co-host of WNET-TV's "Dateline New Jersey," will discuss "The Government and the Media" next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Prospect Presbyterian Church. His talk is sponsored by the Maplewood-South Orange American Issues Forum.

Wilson is familiar with both sides of his topic Before becoming political editor for WCBS-TV he served as an assistant to the Manhattan borough president and a New York State Senator (1962-66). While in government he was responsible for a number of reforms in matrimonial and divorce laws and the enactment of the rent-strike law in New York.

The broadcast journalist, who is also an attorney in New York City, resides in Teaneck. As co-host of "Dateline New Jersey" Wilson said he "seeks to present a balanced view of the issues, cultural matters and personalities that interest and affect the residents of this state.'

His articles on law and the media have appeared in the New York Times, New York . Magazine, Juris Doctor, the Nation and the American Bar Association Journal.

Kammerer is elected

Robert C. Kammerer, managing director of the North Jersey Blood Center, was elected secretary of the American Association of Blood Banks' board of directors for a two-year term this month at the association's national convention in Chicago

Christmas trees sold at the farms were spruce 66 percent, pine 20 percent, fir 13 percent, other 1 percent. In 1974 the percentages were: spruce 38 percent, pine 43 percent, fir 19 percent. Scotch pine became a favorite in the early 1960s and more recently white pine is growing in popularity, along with Colorado blue spruce and Douglas fir

New Jersey growers will have more than 150,000 Christmas trees ready for sale this year. Many families are buying dug trees for the Christmas season After Christmas the tree is planted in the yard as an ornamental. Prices of cut or dug trees will vary from farm to farm and also will depend on the species selected

To get a tree of your choice, it is advisable to select and tag your tree now and cut it about a week before Christmas. If you do not know where to go for a real natural tree, check with your county agent, area forester; for a list of Christmas tree growers in New Jersey, readers may write to: Mrs Melvina Tindall, Publications Distribution Center, Dept. J, Dudley Road, Cook College, P.O. Box 231, New Brunswick,

Why not spend a day with your family, and choose and cut your own Christmas tree? You may even get a tree with a bird's nest in it at no extra cost

Regional auditions to be held by New Jersey State Opera

The first regional auditions awards program of the New Jersey State Opera has been scheduled for early in 1976, with winners to receive scholarship awards and possibly a contract with the State Opera.

Six regional auditions will be held in January and February. In April, regional winners will compete in the finals at Symphony Hall, Newark, for first, second and third prizes of $1000, $500 and $250. Final winners will be

Christmas concert

The Felician Community Chorale will present a Christmas concert in the Felician College auditorium, Lodi, Thursday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend the evenning of song, dance and instrumental music. Following the concert, refreshments will be served in the college cafeteria presented at a concert with orchestra at Symphony Hall on April 25. Deadline for applications is Jan. 1.

The awards program is sponsored by Friends of the New Jersey State Opera. In announcing the competition, Mrs. William A. Cromarty, chairman of Friends of the Opera and of the regional auditions, said that singers between the ages of 22 and 34 are eligible to participate if they are college graduates or the equivalent and are ready to enter the professional theater.

"Our purpose is to discover and encourage young artists and widen their career opportunities here in their own region without making it necessary for them to go abroad for professional on-stage experience," said Mrs. Cromarty. She pointed out that audition sites include five colleges and universities.

Mrs. Cromarty announced the following auditions schedule: Tuesday, Jan. 20, Douglass College, New Brunswick; Sunday, Jan. 25, Glassboro State College, Glassboro; Sunday, Feb. 15, Robert Treat Hotel, Crystal Room, Newark: Tuesday, Feb. 17. Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck; Sunday, Feb. 22. Westminster Choir College, Princeton: Sunday, Feb. 29, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison.

Judges will include State Opera's artistic director and conductor, Alfredo Silipigni; a well-known voice teacher; a member of the faculty of the host college, and a member of the local sponsoring organization

Information and applications are available from the New Jersey State Opera, 50 Park pl., Room 1033, Newark 07102

Howard appoints vice-presidents
