'Next step' in courts,

Noting that the matter had twice been sent back to the Board of Adjustment by Superior Court Judge Cuddie E. Davidson, the council detailed its reasons for the denial in a 15-page It criticized the proposed apartments: as not a permitted use in the residential zone, as covering more than the permitted percentage of the land area, as having inadequate driveway and parking space, as providing inadequate buffer areas along the property lines, as not supported by qualified expert witnesses, as based on inaccurate cost factors of housing in the area, as presenting problems for access of fire trucks, as adding to already heavy traffic, as possibly aggravating flood problems, as possibly overloading the sanitary

THE RESOLUTION said that the development would "increase congestion at the intersection in question, be difficult to secure from fire under certain conditions, increase a flooding problem at the intersection, provide inadequate light and air, overcrowd the land and unduly concentrate 21 families upon 1.3

Krause forecasts future dangers of education in resignation address

Dr. Irvin R. Krause, president of the Mountainside Board of Education who last week resigned from that post because of a change in employment to a job out of state, read at his final board meeting a lengthy statement warning of potential threats to community control of the school system. His remarks, in full, are as follows:

and some guilt that I ask this board to accept my resignation as president and board member. I have a sense of personal loss and sadness because I derived an inner personal satisfaction from my, work with the talented, dedicated people of the Mountainside school system and the Board of Education. And I cannot help but feel guilty that I will not see to the completion of many of the tasks that I set before myself when I assumed the presidency of the board. I am even somewhat ashamed at taken at the meeting.

The meetings will be publicized through notices posted on the front and rear doors of the board's offices, with copies being sent to the Mountainside Echo, the Courier News and the Elizabeth Journal and filed with the borough

A mailing list will be established to send the annual schedule of meetings, revisions to that schedule and notices of any additional sessions, but not including detailed agendas. Individuals wishing to be on the list should apply in writing; an annual fee of $12 will be charged. The fee will be waived for newspapers providing adequate coverage of the notices.

Routes offered as alternatives to Rt. 78 link

Several alternate routes could be used in combination to eliminate the need for a Rt. 78 link through the Watchung Reservation from Springfield to Berkeley Heights, according to a letter sent by several Springfield and Summit environmental group leaders to N. J. Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner.

The superhighway is in use from Berkeley Heights west to the Delaware River, and portions of the road are being opened east to Newark Airport. Protests over possible ecological effects led to the withdrawal of a previous plan for the Watchung Reservation sector, and a number of alternatives are under study to determine cost, engineering feasibility and environmental impact. A decision is ex-so-called "no build" proposal, which has urged that Rt. 78 traffic utilize any of several other existing or potential highways to bridge the Watchung Reservation gap.

The environmental groups this week declared, "We believe that other routes in the area, used in combination, can serve as bypass routes to accommodate the projected I-78 volume. Although it is not likely that any one of these by-pass routes could separately accommodate all the additional traffic from I-78, the Department of Transportation (DOT) should evaluate the ability of these bypass (Continued on page 3)

Maguire bill calls for $30,000 cut in DEP's budget

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-22) said he will file legislation this week that would reduce the state's budget appropriation for the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) "by exactly $30,000." He said he takes the action in response to what he called "the overwhelming public outcry" against the creation of a $30,000 job in the DEP as a political payoff.

'I realize, of course, that my bill will be mostly symbolic." the new Republican assemblyman said. "I do not delude myself into believing it will ever be signed into law. But it does express the attitude of a great many people who were frustrated and appalled at the creation of the post."

Maguire said his motivation is not so much the appointee, former Assemblywoman Betty Wilson, as it is the "gross insensitivity" of Gov. Brendan T. Byrne. "The appointment was announced on the same day the governor asked the legislative leadership for a 10 percent income tax surcharge and almost in the same breath that he asked his cabinet heads to slash payrolls by 5 percent. The whole thing rekindles the credibility problem that has plagued the Administration for two years," he added

Maguire said it would be a different matter if the post already existed and had to be filled to meet the essential public interest. "But this job has been 'created' and the only 'essential' appears to be the governor's desire to take care of a political supporter.'

Maguire said he would seek bipartisan support for his bill. "The outcry against the appointment has certainly been nonpartisan, governor that speaks for taxpayers all across the state."

McDonough lists bills for creation of river flood unit

River flood control authorities have been introduced in the State Senate by Sen. Peter J. McDonough (R-22) of Plainfield with co-sponsorship by Sen. John Lynch (D-17) of Middlesex County. The bills contain major changes from similar legislation that died in the State Senate last year.

McDonough said the effect of the legislation would be to create authorities empowered to operate and maintain flood control facilities with the cost of construction borne by the state and federal governments.

"We have removed the major reasons for municipal and county resistance that plagued the similar legislation last year," McDonough said. "For example, my bills specifically deny the authorites the power to float bonds to pay construction costs. This will save the participating communities over $239 million for the Green Brook facilities alone."

McDonough said the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has plans to seek a congressional appropriation for the Green Brook facilities and that a great deal of work is already under way on the Rahway River project.

A second major change restores the "home rule" concept regarding the appointment of authority members. Under the old legislation, six of the nine members would be appointed by the governor. "Under my bills, all nine authority members would be appointed locally by the county Board of Freeholders. The governor would only become involved if any county failed to make its appointments within

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 18 and I feel like I am being destroyed inside. Last year I was in a terrible car accident in which two persons were killed. I was driving one of the cars. It was partly my fault and partly his fault but I keep blaming myself all the time. I live in a small town and every time a person looks at me, he or she is calling me a murderer from inside. Then at the last of the year I dislocated my foot and ruined my college vacation. Now the people are trying to sue me. My love life is completely dull and one big zero. Every time I ask a girl for a date she says no. Then when I do get a girl to go out with me I do everything wrong. What should I do?"

OUR REPLY: Stop feeling so sorry for yourself for starters. Act your age. We couldn't send you a care-package, so we'll try just a little advice. Don't carry the guilt of your accident around as a crutch for everything that seems to be going wrong in your life. Learn from your mistakes. Don't assume what other people are calling you. Ask them what they're thinking. You might be surprised. And how do you know you're doing everything wrong on your dates? If you know you're doing the wrong thing, that means you know what the right thing is-so do

"My first area of deep concern is 'Whose school system is this?' This is your school system-not the president's, not any board member's, not the teachers', not even Commissioner Burke's or Governor Byrne's. But paranoid as it might seem, someone is always trying to take control of this school system away from you. We board members may act hastily and seemingly covertly to encroach on your rights; the superintendent may at some

Rt. 78

The alternates proposed are: -- Upgrading of Rt. 22;

-A combination of Rt. 78, Rt. 287 and Rt. 24; -A combination of Rt. 78, Rt. 287 and Rt. 80; -A combination of Rt. 78, Rt. 287 and Rt. 95

(N. J. Turnpike). Concerning Rt. 22, the letter stated, "It appears that the DOT has rejected this route as not being feasible in preliminary studies. However, this conclusion was based on the assumption that Rt. 22 would have to be entirely reconstructed, to accommodate all I-78 traffic, resulting in job displacement, great expense ($218 million) and the temporary interruption of traffic flow. "The DOT has publicly admitted that Rt. 22 is in need of improvement and there are future plans to upgrade this highway. We suggest that Rt. 22 with these so-called future improvements could carry a portion of the I-78 traffic, perhaps as much as 30 percent, without adverse effects. These improvements are obviously necessary now for safety purposes regardless of I-78."

IN DISCUSSING the Rt. 24 bypass, to the north through the Morristown area, the letter declared, "This bypass should also be able to accommodate part of the I-78 flow, say 30 percent, without major changes in existing plans for N. J. 24. What is the capacity of this route and what share of I-78 traffic volume could it accept with improvements that would be acceptable to the area?

Specifically what improvements would be necessary (and at what cost) to accommodate 10 percent, 30 percent and 50 percent of the I-78

'It should be noted that the section of N. J. 24 between Chatham and Morristown is still being evaluated, and changes may be made at this time without major cost or disruption of existing traffic patterns. Also, this alternative represents less than 15 minutes extra travel Concerning use of Rt. 80, still further north, the letter stated, "I-78 traffic may use I-80 to enter the New York metropolitan area or have access to New York City via the George Washington Bridge. What would be the percentage of I-78 traffic using I-80 if the Watchung link were not completed: 10 percent, 30 per-

Concerning use of Rt. 95 (Turnpike) to the south of Rt. 78, the letter commented, "At the moment, this bypass is handling most of the through traffic, particularly truck traffic, that would be using I-78 if it were completed. This alternate is only about eight miles longer in distance than the proposed I-78 route, and thus by itself this bypass represents a feasible and prudent alternative at least for the present.

"In the future, will this alternate route be able to take 10 percent, 30 percent or 50 percent of I-78 traffic without major improvements? If not, what will be the necessary improvements and their cost?

The letter added: "Within recent years, the public has become more aware and concerned about the adverse effects of poorly conceived and designed highways. Of particular concern to us is the deleterious effects on the surrounding communities and the environment. Federally enacted environmental legislation has given the citizen the opportunity to have a voice in major decisions affecting our environment and the future quality of life in our region.

"The energy crisis is already upon us and will profoundly affect our modes of transportation in the near future. This fact compels us and, we hope, the DOT to reevaluate highway projects that are justified by projected traffic increases for future decades, recognizing that interstate construction in itself contributes to just such traffic increases which are clearly undesirable in light of the energy crisis. "We believe it is critical that any projections of traffic growth allow for these energy considerations as well as decreasing population growth rate and other growth limiting factors. For example, it seems clear to us that mass transportation must play a much more dominant role in the next decade or two. "In light of these facts, we are particularly concerned that the unnecessary completion of I-78 will irrevocably destroy the Watchung Reservation and deprive future generations of the only remaining natural woodland in Union County. Signers of the letter included Marcia Forchairman of the Springfield Environmental Commission; Joyce Garry, president of Impact 78 — Springfield Association, and the heads of Impact 78 - Summit Association, KEEP of Summit, Citizens for a Residential Community (Summit), Watchung Nature Club, Summit Nature Club, Loantaka Group of the Sierra Club and Friends of the Earth.

time exercise your prerogative; teachers and the State of New Jersey may threaten your proprietorship of your school system.

Now, there is a direct safeguard built into this scheme to protect your ownership rights. Simply, you elect board members, who have a superintendent, and they in turn hire the staff of principals, teachers and support personnel. In this scheme, you, the owners of the school system, are at the top of the hierarchy.

'The continuing price you must pay for the liberty and right to own a school system is 'eternal vigilance'. You have to watch, question, and safeguard all matters of concern to the schools. Without your constancy of interest and active participation, your ownership rights will gradually be eroded and eventually disappear.

"All right. It's your school system-but what of it? Where's the threat? Unfortunately, there are two menances to your ownership and local control. These two circumvent the built-in safeguards that were wisely provided and have operated in your behalf over the years.

'The most predictable of the two threats to your ownership of your school system comes from the State of New Jersey through its Department of Education. The state has increasingly encroached upon your right to run your schools. The latest and most virulent evidence of state usurpation of your ownerhsip of the Mountainside school system is the unilateral imposition of 'Budget Caps.'' These 'Caps' as you know, limit the amount of money that you are permitted to spend to educate your children. While it may be argued by some that it's about time there was a limit on school spending, the limit and whether or not to impose it is an item for voter referendum and local decision by you, the owners of the school

"The odd paradox is that the justification for the state-imposed 'Budget Caps' is as valid and as universally acceptable as motherhood and apple pie. The justification is, simply, to provide equal educational opportunity for all children. Who could be against that? We're all for it. But I'm not for it-and you should not be for it if it diminishes excellence.

'I'm for equalizing educational opportunities by making all schools-poor, fair and goodexcellent. It makes no sense whatsoever to try to make poor schools fair and to reduce our outstanding schools to fair. Aim for and maintain excellence. But you must make your voice heard. You must protest that your rights, property and prerogatives are being taken from you and your children.

"Now, while the first threat came from a predictable direction, the second threat to your ownership comes from the most improbable direction—the teachers.

"Teachers, articularly our teachers, are individually dedicated and professional. Almost all have become teachers because of a calling and a noble desire to teach children. However, over the years, and at an alarmingly accelerating rate, a statewide (if not national) trade union militancy has developed among teachers, principals and other school personnel that is unrivaled in its growth by anything since the displays of raw power by the UAW and Teamsters in the late 40s and early 50s.

"It's easy for us to understand that the dedicated, professional educator may feel 'put down', mistreated or threatened by a Board of Education. The professional felt the need to associate to protect each individual from any indiscriminate exercise of power by a Board of Education. The picture of a lone, dedicated teacher confronted by a vengeful board evokes a sympathetic response in all of us.

'However, the balance of power has shifted to the point where it's your lone, local Board of Education that is confronted by the awesome power and resource of the statewide New Jersey Education Association. While the NJEA is a union of individually dedicated professionals, somehow, the whole entity is less than the sum of its parts.

"The union is neither dedicated to the education of children nor professional in its idea that what is good for the teacher is good for the education of children. Well, perhaps.

Letters to Editor

In reading the Mountainside Echo issue of Jan. 5, I was mildly shocked at what I read. As a Mountainside taxpayer I find it hard to comprehend the action of some of the members of the present school board. In the previous year when the question of an increase in the salary of our school superintendent came up, it was finally decided to give Dr. Hannigan an increase "because we had to give him something."

I questioned it then and I question it now: why do we have to give Dr. Hannigan "something?"

In my estimation and other taxpayers in Mountainside with whom I have spoken, it is the opinion that we have been overly generous in our contact with Dr. Hannigan.

Once again, I point out that the Mountainside chool system consists of only one grade school in two buildings. What other community, may I ask, has a superintendent governing only one school and pays that superintendent $32,300 per

Let us look at this situation realistically. With approximately 900 students in the grammar hool, with the superintendent getting paid $32,300, the taxpayers are paying Dr. Hannigan approximately $36 for each pupil attending grammar school. In New York City the superintendent with all his trials and tribulations gets much less than $1 per pupil. If we want to compare within the confines of

New Jersey, it might be appropriate for the school board to investigate the salaries of other superintendents and equate them against the student enrollment and the number of schools they supervise.

As a means of economy, the Mountainside school board should consolidate the superintendent's position with at least one or both of the principals' duties. It is time for some real belt tightening and

It is time for some real belt tightening and there is no belter place than at the top. The school board should not grant any increase and should freeze the present salary of $32,300 paid to Dr. Hannigan. It is more than adequate for the size of the school system and for the time and effort put into the job.

**PRICE VON NESSI**

Deer Path

This idea is put into practice by gradually enroaching on your rights to determine how your facilities are used and how your money is

"For example, you have lost the right-so vital in times of contraction, such as now-to select teachers to remain in your school system on the basis of merit criteria. You are constrained by the tenure laws which consider only seniority as a criterion. You have lost the right to reward individual merit by individual salary adjustments for especially good performance. You have lost the right to freely negotiate salary on the basis of teacher supply and demand because of salary guides that call for annual increases (regardless of economic conditions) and legislation prohibiting salary

"But the saddest aspect of the trade union thrust in education is that we are gradually losing our teachers as professionals. Professional judgment is clouded by such considerations as union loyalty and peer disapproval. The individual teacher must feel a profound loss of professional stature. He or she prepared and worked for many years to achieve professional status, to make individual judgments, and to teach children. However, because of potential abuse of power by school boards, because of the fear of unemployment, because of the surplus of teachers, because of the tightening of money supply for education, and because of the general public disenchantment with education, the teacher is forced to associate, unionize, and become part of a militant labor movement that once seemed abhorrent in his or her early inspirational years of training. Who among the teachers would ever have believed that circumstance and time would lead him to the same behavior exhibited by the Auto Worker, Mine Worker, or Teamster of 30 or 40 years ago?

"Sadly, the ultimate loser is you, the owner of the school system, and your children. The professional dedication is there now, but it is limited and fast disappearing. In the confrontation between a local school board and the NJEA the local board will always come out second best. Only you and the school children will fare worse than the board in the politics of confrontation. You must be vigilant and watch this interplay carefully. No matter who wins-you and the school children lose because the confrontation took place.

"So much for the dangers to the school system from others. I would like to dwell on a threat to the system that is engendered within ourselves, which is more difficult to deal with than any danger from others. We are in the midst of severe school contraction, which may even become an education reformation. I implore you to remain ever watchful during this contraction.

"The contraction must obviously occur because we must cut costs within the system. Now, when you expand the system by initiating new programs and allocating funds, you are very careful to seek value for money spent. I maintain that you must be more careful in phasing out a program to be certain that you are not losing something more valuable than the money being saved. We all know that you can lose as much in selling as in buying.

"I believe that there can now be contraction, just as we have exhibited creative expansion in past years. We all know that when we are fat, we could consider losing weight by starvation, surgery for lat removal or other unimaginative and dangerous alternatives that are easy means to the end. A more sensible means to lose weight is a controlled program of diet and exercise which will result in proportional weight loss, good muscle tone and general good health of the organism.

"Please don't consider surgery, amputations or starvation for your school system. I ask that you consider a healthy program of proportional reduction in all programs rather than singular

"Of particular concern to me is the popular trend to re-emphasize the '3 R's' to the exclusion of many other worthwhile study programs. Now, no one believes more than I do mathematics. In fact, I have always throught of reading as the trunk of the Tree of Knowledge. I have likened the other subject areas to branches and leaves of the tree, which are important-but no branch is as important as the trunk-reading.

"Consider for a moment how that tree grows into a healthy venerable perennial. The trunk does not grow all at once, with the branches and leaves suddenly sprouting out later. No. There is a proportional protracted growth of trunk, branches and leaves all occuring in unison. Also, while the trunk is the structure supporting the branches and leaves, the branches and leaves serve to nourish the trunk.

"I believe that the Tree of Knowledge within each of us grows in the same way. We learn to read so that eventually we can read to learn. The earlier that we are able to cultivate the various leaves and branches within a child, the earlier that child will want to read. The more the exposure to all the leaves and branches of mental stimulation, the greater the desire for the child to develop his own sturdy trunk of reading ability.
"My last area of concern is the choice of the people to serve on your Board of Education and in your school system. You need to seek out and ourage people who have time, dedication and interest in learning about educational matters. But the key characteristic that you must seek is the ability to cope with change. "We operate in an era of rapid change in conditions, ideas, needs, priorities and rules. The speculations in the book 'Future Shock' are becoming the realities of today. "Please seek people who can bend in the storm of criticism, who can rise above their own ego needs, and who can listen to others—to other board members, to faculty, to administrators, to children and last but foremost, to you, who are the owners of this school "And now, goodbye. I've had a short but spirited tenure as a member and president of the board. I dearly hope that I may have left some small mark despitemy short period of influence. I thank this board for making it possible for me to show that diversity of opinion can lead to unity in action and that compromise is not necessarily weakness."

Dr. Krause, a member of the board for four years, would have ended his current term after the March 9 election.

Curmerly employed by the Ginsberg
Machine Co. of New York, he has been named technical director of the Acushpet Co. in New Bedford, Mass.

Dayton meets Summit and Caldwell in search for first conference victory

The Jonathan Dayton varsity basketball team was handed its fourth conference loss by the New Providence Pioneers by a score of 74-56 last Friday. The Bulldogs will travel to Summit tomorrow and will play host to Caldwell Tuesday as they attempt to gain their first

Although Dayton's performance against New Providence seemed lifeless, there were sporadic quests for the lead. The Bulldogs seemed to lack the overall agressiveness as well as the defensive rebounding needed to overcome a fine New Providence team.

New Providence took an early 10-2 lead and was able to maintain this lead for the remainder of the game. By the end of the first quarter, Dayton had been outscored, 21-12.

Francis pins wrestling foes in two matches

By AMY GELTZEILER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team suffered two defeats last week, losing to Clark, 34-18, and to Caldwell, 36-17. Tommorrow the team will compete against Four Dayton wrestlers won in the Clark match in their assigned weight classes. Pat Pichuto, wrestlers won in the Clark match in in their assigned weight classes. Pat Pichuto, wrestling at 101 pounds, was able to pin his opponent. Rick Lofredo, wrestling in the 108pound class, decisioned his opponent, 7-4. Bill Francis, at 115, was able to pin his opponent in the second period. Dan Sollozi, wrestling at 148, decisioned his opponent, 8-2.

Five Dayton wrestlers scored in their matches against Caldwell. Rick Lofredo, at 108, decisioned his opponent, 8-2. Bill Francis, at 115 pounds, pinned his opponent in the third period. Alan Layton, wrestling at 122 pounds, decisioned his opponent, 13-8. Pat Smith, a 129pounder, decisioned his opponent, 4-0, and 170pounder Mark McCourt drew with his opponent, 0-0.

Francis is now 10-0 so far this season. He has eight pins. Millburn will be his toughest competition this season because his opponent is also undefeated.

Coach Rick Iacono said, "The entire team is wrestling better, and the boys show gradual improvement every day. Unfortunately, the team is lacking in the upper weight classes. These boys will have to work extra hard if they want to score in their matches."

Dayton bowlers have 8-4 record; lead in Suburban

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity bowling team rolled into first place in the Suburban Conference after the fourth round of play with an 8-4 record. Caldwell and West Orange are tied for second at 5-4, Millburn and Summit follow at 4-5, New Providence and Verona at 5-7, and Oratory in eighth at 0-9.

Dayton handed Caldwell three defeats last Monday by scores of 887 to 871, 905 to 867 and 888 to 870 with Martin Gruenberg (substituting for the absent Rich Miller) bowling a 213-540 series followed by Bob Groder's 205-582, Bill Leber's 220-581, Donn Fishbein's 189-535, and Rick Cohn's 162-452 for a league three game high of 2,700 pins. Dom Aiello and John Killeen posted 202 and 203 games for the Chiefs.

Thursday's session saw the Bulldogs fold in the first two games against Summit, but come back to salvage the final game for a 1-2 match the first game, but Dayton lost the second game by five pins, 815-810. The final game went to the Bulldogs, 810-726. Bill Leber was absent because of illness and Martin Gruenberg and Michael Snyder substituted for Leber. Rich Miller posted a 176-501 series in the Summit contest while Bob Groder chipped in with a 191-499, Donn Fishbein a 195-497, Rick Cohn a 168-466, Gruenberg a 160-284 and Snyder a 113.

This week's opponents for the Bulldogs are New Providence and Oratory. Oratory is bowling as a fill-in team and Suburban Conference standings will not list victories and losses for the championship against Oratory.

After two evenly played quarters, Dayton was completely outdone in the final period, when New Providence displayed an outstanding accurate shooting array. Despite Dayton's defensive efforts, New Providence dominated the entire play. Rick Burletta and Jim Murphy scored 31 and 20 points respectively, for the winners.

Dayton's play seemed quite dismal despite Ted Johnson's 16 points and fine defensive play. Even Johnson did not show his usual scoring dominance. Johnson, who has been the offensive leader thus far, was stifled by a wellexecuted zone defense.

Steve Pepe had a fine offensive game scoring five field goals and two foul shots for 12 points. Pepe's effectiveness however was limited as fouls became a great problem. Pepe's confidence is improving with each game and he is taking and making more shots each game.

Robert Fleischman, who started for the first time this season, was offensively effective, but while his defense is improving much work is still needed. Fleischman has the offensive power required by the team. Kevin Doty and Tom Wisniewski both were front court men and were held to two and four points, respectively. Each one gave Dayton some help on the offensive boards. Jack Graessle scored eight points and was a key defensive man. Graessle's spirit and enthusiasm were defeated only by the scoreboard clock. His efforts to bring back Dayton continued till the final seconds of play.

victimized by the powerful New Providence

Wallace backer rips primary law

District coordinators for the George Wallace campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination have charged that "state Democratic leaders have purposely confused New Jersey voters" with a new law that creates "restrictive primaries."

Frank criticized Democratic leaders, who he charged, were instrumental in pushing the legislation. Frank said the state should now "alert the voters about a law which might prevent them from having a free choice in the oncoming election.'

THE FIRST CANNON SHOT

Obscured in the pages of history is the little known fact that the first shot directed at the British by Continental troops after the adoption of the Declaration of Independence by Congress at Philadelphia on the evening of July 4, 1776, was fired in Eliz-

Events leading up to this action started in the latter part of June, 1776, when Captain Daniel Neill and his battery of artillery, who were stationed in Newark, were ordered to Elizabethtown to set up a camp at the earthworks at what is now the foot of Elizabeth Avenue. The purpose of this move was to strengthen American positions along the waterfront.

Neill had his men establish four gun sites in this area. His plan was twofold—to command the sound, ndrrow at this point, as well as to guard the entrance to the Elizabeth River, then known as "Mill Creek." To relieve his men of boredom when not engaged in drilling, Neill would have them pile up dirt, thus adding to the strength of the fortification in case of

On the morning of July 4, 1776, American pickets stationed on the ground now occupied by the Singer Company, caught sight of a British gunboat lying off the southern end of Shooter's Island, a small piece of land off the coast of Staten Island.

Word of the enemy position was sent to General William Livingston, a resident of Elizabethtown and Commander-in-Chief of the New Jersey Militia, who joined Neill and his men for a conference early in the evening of the 4th. By this time Captain Neill had already taken steps to repel an attack in case the vessel made any attempt to engage the American

The sudden appearance of the British gunboat came as a great surprise to the Colonial troops as no British ship had been in these waters since Washington occupied New York City and Long Island. It turned out that the vessel was part of Admiral Lord Howe's fleet, just arrived from England, and that day an-chored off Staten Island.

Along toward the middle of the night the ship started through the Arthur Kill. In the moonlight the craft was plainly distinguishable to the American forces who kept watch from the shore.

Knowing their smoothbore muskets would be ineffective against the ship, the Colonial troops maintained a silence as the boat slowly but surely came within range of the artillery. The commander of the vessel, unaware of the artillery, sailed unconcernedly over the still waters. Like most British officers of that period, he had a profound contempt for American Militiamen whom he did not consider worthy opponents for a nation as powerful as Great Britain.

Captain Neill, who had been on the alert for some time, on learning of the boat's approach, awaited a closer proximity in order that his shots might be fully effective. It was only when the vessel reached a point directly in front of the artillery that he gave the order to fire. Bright red flames belched forth preceded by iron missiles which swept the deck of the boat, carrying death and destruction to the hitherto confident and unsuspecting crew.

The officers and men of the British warship were thrown into complete confusion and terror. Discipline was non-existent and, as the firing continued, it became every man for himself. The distracted sailors, finding themselves in a death trap and seeing no avenue of escape open to them except surrender, deserted by jumping overboard and swimming ashore. Most of the men swam toward Captain Neill's position since the Jersey shoreline was closer than Staten Island.

Meanwhile the totally disabled craft drifted with the outgoing tide and sank at a point beyond the mouth of the Elizabeth River. At no time was there ever an attempt made by the British crew to fire any of the 14 guns with which the ship was armed.

When Captain Neill saw the desperate helpessness of the British sailors trying to save themselves, he ordered a cease-fire and sent his men

As Captain Neill's attack on the British gunboat occurred at midnight July 4, 1776, there is no doubt that his guns were the first fired after the Declaration of Independence was adopted. The Congress, being in session in Philadelphia, had formerly performed this act between 9 and 10 o'clock that same evening.

After he departed Elizabethtown, Captain Daniel Neill participated in several battles of the Revolution. It was while engaged in the fighting at the Battle of Princeton that Neill was instantly killed by a British sharpshooter.

Pre-school class for deaf children gets state funding

The Springfield Board of Education has obtained funding from the State Department of Education, Bureau of Program Development and Evaluation, to establish a pilot pre-school project for handicapped children in six counties.

The project, entitled "Dy-Dee-Deaf Education," is being conducted at the Raymond Chisholm School in Springfield with coordination by the Springfield school board and the Millburn School for the Hearing Handicapped.

Hearing impaired youngsters aged 3 and 4 from Union, Essex, Morris, Middlesex, Somerset and Hudson Counties are eligible to attend. There are hearing impaired and normal hearing children in each group. The normal hearing children are residents of Springfield.

The three-year-olds attend sessions five days a week from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m.; the four-yearolds attend five days a week from noon to 2:30 p.m. Since the program is funded totally by a grant, no tuition is charged, but transportation for the students must be arranged locally.

The staff includes a master teacher, a teaching intern, and a speech and language therapist. Parent counseling services and a parent training program coordinated by a state training specialist are an integral part of the program

Student history program flourishing Bicentennial brings increased project interest

The junior program of the New Jersey Historical Society is flourishing as the Bicentennial year begins, according to its founder and director, Joan C. Hull,

The program, known as the Jerseymen, was established in 1963 during New Jersey's tercentenary celebration to give students in junior high and secondary schools throughout the state an extracurricular approach to history that would bring it alive and make it fun. Initial funding came from the State Tercentenary Commission, and the program receives continuing support from the State Department of

Since its establishment, the Jerseymen program has grown steadily, with activities ranging from investigative landmark searches to multi-media "Sight & Sound" festivals and an annual convention, at which New Jersey's 1776 Provincial Congress is reenacted.

But the astounding increase in interest in 1975 caught even Miss Hull by surprise. At the end of December more than 2,200 students in 70 schools across the state had become Jerseymen members, representing more than a 100 percent increase over one year ago.

Part of the reason for the growth is the Bicentennial itself, noted Miss Hull, "We in-

To date, 29 schools have achieved Bicentennial status and 15 more are part-way through. More schools are expected to participate in 1976.

And no other club can match the Academy of the Holy Angels in Demarest for enthusiasm They have recruited 210 Jerseymen members, making it the largest single club in the state.

One of the best features of the Jerseymen, according to Miss Hull, is that it's here to stay Many teachers see the Jerseymen as a program that will flourish long after the Bicentennial celebration is over. We've been around for more than a decade and we offer an ongoing activity to school groups wishing to do more than just jump on the bandwagon," she

History project begins in Trenton

Plans have begun for a cooperative educational project designed to help young people understand the significance of the critical historical events that took place in central New Jersey from Dec. 25, 1776, to Jan. 3, 1777. It will make its public bow next Dec. 26. with the opening of a teaching exhibition at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton.

In the intervening months, students, historians, craftspeople and business sponsors will be busy in schools, workshops and studios throughout the greater Trenton area. They will be developing and fabricating displays to trace in a meaningful way the travels of the Continental Army from the crossing of the Delaware through the Battles of Trenton to the Battle of Princeton

"The displays, which will include walk-in construction, sound effects and objects that can be handled, will be combined at the museum into a 'learning environment' that will give visiting school groups a feeling of participating as well as observing." a museum spokesman

Initial sponsors of the project include the museum: RCA Laboratories of Princeton; the Learning Tree, Inc., of Trenton, and the Junior League of the Delaware Valley. Cooperating school districts are Ewing Township, Princeton Regional, Trenton, Lawrence Township and

"This, in turn," Ware said, "will generate efficiency and economy and result in better service to claimants and employers.

When an unemployed worker files a claim for benefits, he must list all employers for whom he worked in the preceding 53 weeks. Under the current system, local office personnel manually prepare the requests for wage and separation information.

Under the new method, the information provided by the claimant is fed into the computer, which is housed in the department's central office at Trenton, through a terminal in the local office. The computer automatically prepares the requests for wage and separation information along with the mailing envelope. They are sent from Trenton to employers but should be returned to the local office designated on the form.

The new method, which is Phase I of the payment redesign project, will be gradually extended to local offices until all 40 are on the new system. August 1976 is the target date for completion of this phase.

Meanwhile, employers may be receiving wage information requests under both systems. depending on the local office in which former workers file claims. The only difference in the form itself is a rearrangement of the questions asked. The mailing envelope is also different.

Employers have seven days to supply wage and separation information from the date the request was mailed. If it is not forthcoming, the information is obtained from the claimant by affidavit, and the employer is subject to a THIMBLE BROOK-An artist's rendering displays the attractive exterior lines of the newest section at Shadow Lake Village, the adult community being developed by Hovnanian Enterprises Inc. near Red Bank. The spacious one and two-bedroom condominium homes will emphasize the latest concepts in energy conservation. Prices begin at $31,990.

Thimble Brook area open at Shadow Lake Village

Kevork recently held the preview opening for Thimble Brook, the latest section of Shadow Lake Village, his adult community off Nut Swamp road near Red Bank. The new neighborhood will reflect the excellence of design which has characterized every phase of the community's growth, and will also place special emphasis on energy conservation, he noted.

"Home concepts are conundergoing modification," said Hov-nanian, whose firm is now building leisure-oriented condominium communities in four states. "Like every other industry, there has always been pressure to develop more efficient methods of construction or improved materials. That's why we've been so quick to adjust to the need for greater conservation of fuel and power; we were already headed in that direction before changing economic conditions made it a vital necessity." Thimble Brook will offer residents the Shadow Lake Village lifestyle, plus moneysaving building innovations. he emphasized.

"We're building these units to sell in the $31,990 to $40,990 price range," added Hov-nanian. "They'll give their owners the quality residential environment that has become a hallmark of our company. Further, they are designed specifically to provide the greatest possible value for the there's nothing dollar: comparable in the area.

Outside, homes in the new section will blend with the earlier architectural styles of Shadow Lake Village, where there is variation without the disturbance of the mood of woodlands and greenery. Interiors will include one or two bedrooms. Aluminum windows with screens and insulated glass will eliminate the need for storm windows. since they shelter residents from heat loss in winter and temperatures rising

Other energy and money saving features include insulated steel exterior doors, pressure-injected polyurethane, and bonded for thermal integrity and security. Patio doors also are made of insulated glass, so that storm doors aren't necessary. Common walls-those separating individual apartment-homes—will be constructed of masonry. This will result in privacy and increased fire protection. Each home also will benefit from full wall and ceiling insulation to retain heat in the winter and preserve summer comfort

Since the interior climate is so_important, Hovnanian's designers have included individual thermostats in each room. This gives the owner full control and allows lower temperatures in different areas of the home depending on their use. A similar concept led to the selection of in-Thimble Brook will enjoy all ditioners. The degree of

Other features include wallto-wall carpeting, generous closet space—including walkin closets in bedrooms-nowax vinyl floors in the kitchens, and appliances. Copper plumbing and copper wiring are standard throughout the homes, which have individual circuit breaker electric panels with 100 amp service.

The community retains the charm of a country estate. which is what it once was. Trees, landscaped grounds and the mile-long lake form the backdrop.

Residents of Shadow Lake Village have the traditional tax benefits for real estate taxes and mortgage interest payments, but they escape the headaches that usually accompany ownership. All exterior maintenance jobs are handled by professionals for a monthly fee. This results in more free time for enjoyment of the social life of the community.

The adult requirement means that one family member must be at least 52 years old. One son or daughter over 18 may live in.

To reach Shadow Lake Village from the New Jersey-New York metropolitan area, take the New Jersey Turnpike south to Exit 11, then the Garden State Parkway to Exit 117. Drive south on Rt. 35 for nine miles, following signs Turn right onto Navesink River road. Turn right at the end onto Nut Swamp road.

THE NANTUCKET-This Cape Code design, set on a one-acre site at Fox Hollow in Manchester Township, includes living room, eat-in kitchen, family room, two bedrooms, bath, laundry facilities and garage—at a price of $29,900. Also available is an expandable second floor. The home overlooks a lake and is adjacent to public parkland. Information on the community may be obtained by calling the Suburban Realty Co., 363-6000.
