Regional board meets Monday

A public hearing on the budget of the Union County Regional High School District will be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

The Regional Board of Education will hold a discussion meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the board offices, Keyes, Martin Building, 841 Mountain ave., Springfield.

The agenda is as follows: Discussion of report by the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County; Discussion of business office practices; report on the district test results in the Stanford Test of Academic Skills and a discussion of the monthly financial status report.

Bunin is named to head drive of heart association

For the fourth consecutive year, Charles Bunin of Puddingtonstone road will serve as Mountainside chairman of the fund drive of the Union County Chapter of the American Heart Association, it was announced by Rose Marie Sinnott of Summit, chairman of the countywide drive.

Bunin, a registered pharmacist, is the proprietor of Roland Drugs in Springfield. A graduate of the Rutgers School of Pharmacy, he is a member of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Society, and the National Association of Retail Pharmacists.

He also is a member of the board of directors and past secretary of James Wholesale Drug Company in Rahway, and a member of the board of directors and past president of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Helen, have eight children.

In accepting the Mountainside chairmanship again, Bunin said, "The number of deaths caused by heart and blood vessel diseases, particularly heart attack and stroke, is overwhelming. They claim over a million lives a year. Heart attack alone will kill more than 700,000 persons this year. The Union County Heart Association is working to reduce these deaths. Research is unravelling one of the mysteries which eventually will lead to new methods of treatment and prevention, and hopefully, cures."

"Educational and community programs are being held here and across the country to make residents aware of heart disease and provide up-to-date heart-saving information. Heart disease can be conquered if we can raise enough money."

Bunin urged Mountainside residents to be generous when they receive the appeal for funds.

Bach's "Air" and the "Little English Girl." The popular tune "Shaft" will be conducted by Michael Mazzatorta, music director at the Florence Gaudineer School in Springfield.

The band will be conducted by Jeffrey A. Anderson, director of bands at Jonathan Dayton.

Romak, Marx to lead Rescue Squad in '76; unit's year-end report issued

The Mountainside Rescue Squad recently issued its 1975 report, including an announcement of 1976 officers. There are: captain, Ronald Romak, first lieutenant, Robert Viglianti; second lieutenant, Gerard Martekka; training lieutenant, Ruth Keuler; president, Leonard Marx; vice-president, Richard Young; treasurer, Bill VanBlarcom; secretaries, Jean Rawlins and Maureen Zawislak.

During 1975, the squad answered 450 calls. The 25-member unit put in over 1,600 man hours and traveled over 6,000 miles. An additional 600-plus hours were spent attending drills and hundreds more were spent in classroom instruction.

In December, the latest improvement in emergency medical service benefitting members of the community was begun. Sleeping quarters were added to the present squad headquarters, located at New Providence road and Rt. 22, by converting unusable attic space into two functional rooms.

Traditionally, the volunteers have emphasized the importance of prompt and efficient management of the heart attack patient. Over the past year, members have received advanced instruction in cardiac care techniques beyond the standard cardiopulmonary resuscitation requirements. This advanced course was an innovation, designed and financed by the squad through contributions, and instructed by doctors and other professional staff members of Overlook Hospital, Summit.

Consistent with this attitude, defibrillators and drug kits were made standard equipment six years ago aboard Mountainside's ambulances. These purchases and others were made possible through the concerned support of the Borough Council and representative of the latest, most sophisticated equipment available," Romak noted.

Calls for help handled by the Rescue Squad include routine transports, auto accidents, heart attacks, emergency transports, and standbys at fires.

"Even though we have been cited for our record of cardiac saves, and while training and equipment is essential, time is of the essence.

Toward this end, sleep-in facilities were added," Romak said.

"Under the old system, it was necessary for a member to respond from his or her home, to squad headquarters 24 hours per day, seven days per week while contending with distance, weather, traffic conditions, and finally the lengthy traffic signal at New Providence road and Rt. 22. These same time-consuming factors confronted ambulance and crew enroute to the scene. Therefore, it was not unreasonable for ambulance arrival to take more time than was desirable."

"Under the new system, the crew will respond directly from the building to the scene. It is the desire of the membership to expand this sleep-in coverage from evenings to 24-hour residency, if sufficient personnel can be recruited. In addition, direct control of the New Providence road traffic signal has been obtained via electrical link-up to our building. Through these measures, we will be able to render more prompt and efficient service to our borough residents, from routine transports to victims of all types of accident or illness. Dates for an open house will be announced soon."

"We currently are experiencing an extreme shortage of Monday through Friday daytime personnel which, if continued, may force a curtailment of service during this period. Anyone interested in more information about the Rescue Squad or in membership may call the president, Leonard Marx, at 376-1704; Capt. Ronald Romak at 376-8459, Lt. Robert Viglianti at 233-5463, or secretary Maureen Zawislak at 233-0065."

Registrations will also be accepted at Borough Hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. during the registration week for those unable to attend either Saturday session.

This year a special preseasional clinic for fifth graders will be held, in which the fundamentals of throwing, catching, fielding and batting will be reviewed. More information will be available on the clinic at the registration meetings.

For additional information on this program, readers may call the Recreation Office at 232-0015.

Key Club holding glass-in Saturday

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly Glass-In this Saturday at the Echo Plaza Shopping Center from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A spokesman said, "Last month, the Glass-In was not a success. It seems, however, that the service for the elderly worked well. Any senior citizen who would like his paper collected by the Key Club should telephone Eric Geist at 379-9504. Please telephone before Saturday to expedite the service."

The Key Club has recently elected a new lieutenant governor, Andy Dobin.

The Dayton faculty play, "Pure as the Driven Snow," on Feb. 6 and 7, raised $900 for scholarships to a Key Clubber and to another Dayton senior.

Mrs. Ferry, suffering a broken right leg and facial cuts, was taken to the Summit hospital by the Mountainside Rescue Squad.

LL board to hold wine-tasting party

There will be a donation of $3 per person.

The Little League also announced this year's registration plans. Two dates have been set aside. All children must register at these times if they wish to play ball this year. Late registration requires the approval of the board of directors.

Council introduces $1.7 million budget

The Mountainside Borough Council, at a special public meeting in Borough Hall on Feb. 10, introduced a 1976 municipal budget in the amount of $1,728,338, representing an increase of $159,924 over the 1975 tally of $1,568,412. The amount to be raised by taxes is $837,785.

Details on the budget will be published in next week's Echo. A budget hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. March 16, in the Beechwood School.

Board approves reorganization of borough schools

By KAREN ZAUTYK

The Mountainside Board of Education, as had been expected, Tuesday night approved a reorganization plan for the borough's schools beginning in September, but, in a surprise move, agreed to maintain its current student transportation policy, at least until all financial aspects have been explored.

Ross cites need for 'cost-efficient' quality education

Mark Ross, a candidate for the Mountainside seat on the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education, this week commented, "The object of the Board of Education is to provide a quality education at the lowest possible cost."

In his statement, Ross cited administrative ability and financial pragmatism, in conjunction with a total understanding of the political system under which the Regional Board functions, as the best qualifications for someone to serve on the Board of Education and achieve the aforementioned goal.

"The board must act as the guarantor of a smooth administrative procedure to insure a cost-efficient, quality education for every student in our schools," he said.

"I believe that my job as business manager of the Rutgers Observer, plus my former positions as treasurer and vice-president of a fraternal organization of international scope, have given me the experience necessary to serve the public and insure that the taxpayers' money is used wisely."

Ross, a student of political science and government at Rutgers University, last year authored a study of the Union County Regional High School District and the operation and political structure of its Board of Education. He believes his experience as a former student also is beneficial because it gives him "total familiarity with the system from the inside," something he says no other board member can possibly have.

His statement also contends there is a definite necessity for an increase in communication between the district as a whole and the public. "It is time the board started to listen more and talk less," he said. "However, first we must give the people of this community a true, unshaded picture of the situation which presently encompasses our schools, not one diluted by an unnecessary public relations man."

Because he claims there is need for greater community involvement in the schools and their problems, Ross has challenged his two opponents to a public debate and discussion of the "true issues." He also has pledged to use the existing media to inform the community of action taken by the board.

Ross stated, "Let's stop kidding ourselves. The schools really do have problems with both curriculum, as illustrated by a drop in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores, and money. The only way we can solve these is with competent budgetary management and the help of an informed and interested public."

Hanigan also reported he had obtained a price quotes of $512 maximum to move 255 sets of desks from one school to the other.

Reorganizations of libraries, including moving of books and revision of card catalogs, is expected to begin in June and be completed at the start of the next term.

Also at the session, McDonough announced the county superintendent of schools had approved the board's request for a $46,000 budget item above the state-mandated current expense maximum to pay the new state-ordered contribution towards the teachers' pension annuity fund.

McDonough maps support of PATH spur to Plainfield

State Sen. Peter J. McDonough (R-Union) said this week he is drafting legislation in the form of a concurrent resolution expressing the legislature's support for the PATH extension to Plainfield. He said he would ask for emergency consideration of a bill "in view of reports from Washington that a decision is imminent." "None of us know what it will take to tip the decision in favor of approval of federal funds for this project," the GOP lawmaker said. "We do know that rumors are rampant, that Sen. Clifford P. Case has reiterated his opposition and that Urban Mass Transit Authority Chairman Robert Patricelli said 'no' to the project last month. We also know that Department of Transportation Secretary William Coleman is leaning in favor and a new, bipartisan expression of continued support by our legislature might be the nudge needed to win approval."

McDonough was an early supporter of the PATH plan and sponsored the legislation authorizing the state's commitment when the project was born four years ago.

"We have a new legislature, a new opportunity and have demonstrated a real need for the PATH program to revitalize the central corridor of our state," McDonough said. "My resolution is intended to support the Byrne administration's efforts to finally win approval after four years of effort by political, civic and business leaders."

DiFrancesco lists Welfare fraud halt

Assemblyman Donald T. DiFrancesco (R-22) has recently cosponsored legislation that would create a Welfare Fraud Office. "This office would be comprised of men and women with a background in police and investigation work," the Assemblyman said.

"For many years people have been calling for a crackdown on fraud and abuses in the welfare system but little has been done." The present personnel have neither the expertise nor the time to monitor this program and in many instances there are cases of internal fraud which go undetected, DiFrancesco noted.

Exercise course for heart patients

Med Center, YM-YWHA sponsor program

Doctors may not make many house calls any more, but cardiologists from Newark Beth Israel Medical Center visit the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey three times a week. The Medical Center and YM-YWHA have developed a Cardiac Rehabilitation and Conditioning Program based on extensive physician involvement. The program is under the direction of Dr. Thomas C. Rommer of Mountainside, attending in medicine at the Medical Center and is designed to tone up cardiac patients, rehabilitate their hearts and encourage them to maintain good physical conditions.

"Cardiac rehabilitation requires close cooperation and understanding between the doctor and the patient, so it is necessary that the doctor be involved in all aspects of the program," Dr. Rommer said, noting the physicians are involved in testing all participants and in educating them about cardiac problems and rehabilitation.

The physical education instructors for the program have been trained by the physicians, to understand the various factors concerning cardiac patients and their rehabilitation and to train the program participants. A doctor is present during each session to provide any necessary medical assistance.

Now in a pilot stage, the program currently is only for people who have coronary artery disease. Also included is a series of seminars for the participants and their spouses. The seminars, conducted by Medical Center cardiologists, deal with human physiology and the effects on the heart of various factors, such as exercise, smoking, diet, obesity and drugs. "Patients must understand how and why their hearts function and how controlled physical exercise can benefit their hearts. Those who don't may be afraid to be active, may overdo activities or may put unnecessary strains on their hearts by smoking or gaining weight. Furthermore, a heart attack is a traumatic emotional shock and patients who understand the rehabilitation process are better able to adjust to their situations and resume a nearly life," Dr. Rommer explained.

People are admitted to the program only upon the referral of their private physicians. Each person is reviewed and stress tested in the Medical Center's Cardiac Non-Invasive Laboratory, which is under the direction of Dr. Donald Rothfeld, co-director of the program. The testing allows the doctor to examine the heart under stress conditions and set a safe limit for exercise.

Participants' hearts are brought to maximum efficiency in a 16-week training program of controlled, structured exercise, coordinated by Michael Diamond, director of physical education services at the Y. The men and women in the program, conducted for one hour, three times a week, continue to exercise at the Y or at home on their own after the initial training in order to maintain their physical conditions and maximum heart efficiency.

The rehabilitation project, Dr. Rommer noted, is an out-growth of the Cardiac Non-Invasive Laboratory, which utilizes non-traumatic non-invasive techniques to examine the heart. These techniques do not require the penetration of the skin by any instruments, so they are safer, more comfortable and less expensive than conventional invasive procedures.

Dr. Rommer is clinical associate professor of medicine at the New Jersey Medical School, College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, and is a fellow of the American College of Physicians and the American College of Chest Physicians.

Candidate issues attack on Castro

Cuba's Fidel Castro is the source of much of the world's trouble spots, according to Howard Freund of Roselle Park, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 12th District.

"Since Castro came to power in 1959," claimed Freund, "he has exerted his revolutionary curse in the Dominican Republic, Bolivia, Haiti and Chile in trying to establish or keep a Communist regime in power."

Freund said Cuba is leading the fight for the MPLA in Angola and "the trap for the American people is that all the parties involved in the fighting have Red leanings, regardless of the names on the scorecard."

"If Secretary of State Henry Kissinger really is interested in fighting Communism, why doesn't he help the Cuban exiles who want to overthrow Castro?" asked Freund. "If we are going to fight Communism, it makes a lot more sense to fight it 90 miles from our shores than in Africa, Asia or the Middle East," the candidate concluded.

HANNAH WHITE ARNETT
ELIZABETHTOWN'S
PATRIOT IN A PETTICOAT

During the second half of 1776, the British Army left the city of Boston and started its move southward toward New York and Philadelphia. Defeat after defeat was inflicted upon American troops, and each month brought news of new British gains throughout the colonies.

In August and September the British Army won victories at Brooklyn and White Plains. In September another defeat was suffered by the Continental Army in Harlem at Fort Washington. The bitterest defeat came in November when Washington's troops were routed at Fort Lee and his army was forced to retreat in disorder across New Jersey toward Pennsylvania.

In the closing days of November, with enemy troops occupying Elizabethtown, Newark, Jersey City and Perth Amboy, colonial morale was at an all time low, and many people were ready to concede total victory for King George and his redcoats.

It was at this time the British commanders, General William Howe and his brother, Admiral Richard Howe, issued a proclamation offering to protect the life and property of any civilian who would declare himself to be a loyal subject of the king. In addition a person making such a declaration would also have to agree not to again take up arms against the British or encourage another person to do so.

With no American Army in New Jersey capable of challenging British positions and total defeat inevitable in the minds of many people, the British offer of amnesty was accepted by some Elizabethtown inhabitants. Other groups, although not completely ready to concede to the British demand, were giving it careful consideration.

One such group met in the home of Isaac Arnett, an Elizabethtown resident whose home was located on East Jersey Street near the present location of the Elizabeth Carteret Hotel. Arnett called the meeting which was attended by several Elizabethtown businessmen and property owners who had much to lose if they did not accept the British offer.

With the American Army ill-trained, poorly equipped and in total flight, the dream of an America free of British ties seemed hopeless in the minds of Arnett and his friends. After much discussion and consideration, they decided to accept the British offer.

It was at this point Hannah White Arnett, Isaac Arnett's wife and mother-in-law of Shepard Kollack, founder of the New Jersey Journal, who was listening from another room, joined the meeting and implored the men to reconsider their decision:

Her strong and effective appeal for patriotism made such an impression upon the men, they agreed not to accept the amnesty and left Arnett's house more determined than ever to support in every way they could, America's quest for independence.

At the conclusion of the war, the people of Elizabethtown gave Mrs. Arnett complete credit for instilling renewed hope and enthusiasm for the cause in the hearts of Elizabethtown men.

Mrs. Arnett's exact words were never recorded by a witness, but in "Dr. Tuttle's Revolutionary Forefathers of Morris County" it is written her words were as follows: "What greater cause could there be than that of country? I married a good man and true, a faithful friend and loyal Christian gentleman, but it needs no divorce to sever me from a traitor and a coward. If you take the infamous British protection which a treacherous enemy of your country offers you — you lose your wife and I — I lose my husband and my home."

Hannah and Isaac Arnett are buried in the First Presbyterian Church cemetery on Broad Street. Set in the stone wall is a white tablet bearing the inscription: "Near here rests Hannah White Arnett, died 1823, aged 90 years. Her patriotic words, uttered in the dark days of 1776, summed up the cause of American Independence. Erected by Boudinot Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1909."

Relief map for business and industry

As New Jersey's major energy supplier we're anxious to see that our State's abundant labor skills are matched with work opportunities.

Despite troubled times that our State shares with the rest of the nation, New Jersey remains one of the richest and most dynamic in the country, and one in which business can succeed. New Jersey's labor force has one of the nation's highest productivity and industrial diversification records. This means a lot of tried and true work experience is available in our State in a lot of areas.

We know that a reliable, competitively-priced energy supply is necessary to help attract and keep industry and business in New Jersey. So PSE&G is taking prudent steps to help assure a continued supply in the future. Our "Energy Outlook Kit" will tell you what we are doing, explain alternate energy sources, and discuss all aspects of nuclear energy. You may have a copy by returning the coupon below.

Because of its importance, we hope that all New Jerseyans recognize that electricity and gas energy is vital and should be used wisely.

four points in the final period. A driving bucket by Rick Marech in the final minute of play put the game away for Springfield.

Toland led all scorers with 21 points. Mitch hit seven times from the floor and had an equal number of foul shots. Toland also led the team off the boards with 15 rebounds and was also the top defensive player with five steals and four blocked shots.

Adam Joseph finished the game with 14 points, while Craig Clickenger had 10 points and 10 rebounds. Rick Marech (five points) helped off the boards with seven rebounds. Tony Circelli led the team with five assists and added four points to Springfield.

The only reserves to see action in this game were Onzillo Pullum and John Ard. Pullum scored two points with third-period field goal and played outstanding defense down the stretch. Ard entered the game early and rebounded well in the opening period. Toward the end of the first half, Ard sustained an injury which kept him out of the game the rest of the way.

The Minutemen had their best scoring production of the season as they crushed Irvington for their 20th victory of the season, 12 in a row. Mitchell Toland completely dominated the game with 28 points, the highest this season by a Springfield player, and pulled down record 33 rebounds. Toland was also very aggressive on defense throughout a very physical contest.

Tony Circelli was also outstanding in this game as he directed the Springfield attack and scored 21 points. Circelli also had nine assists to lead the team in playmaking. Circelli's assist total for the season has now reached 160. Craig Clickenger had his biggest game of the season for Springfield as he scored 17 points. Clickenger hit six times from the field and was Springfield's most productive foul shooter with five.

Rick Marech and Adam Joseph were both in the starting lineup for Springfield and both contributed solid efforts. Marech hit eight points and pulled down nine rebounds. Joseph scored five points for Springfield. Clickenger also helped off the boards with 18 rebounds.

Kevin Karp also scored in this game for Springfield. Don Meixner, playing his first game for the senior squad, had a field goal and played good defense. Other boys to see action for Royal were: Jon Siegel, Tony Garguilo, Roy Zitomer and Jeff Knowles.

Hawks trounce Demons, 4-1, for undefeated hockey action

The Black Hawks (6-0-2) sported the only undefeated record in the Dayton Daily Intramural Program Physical Education Recreation (DIPPER) floor hockey league play as they racked up a 4-1 victory over the White Demons (7-1-1) in last Wednesday's early morning action in the boy's gym.

The Hawks took advantage of the absence of Demon's ace goalie, Jack Kelly, who was sidelined by the flu as they poured in goals off the sticks of Tom Martino, Joe Mirta, Bruce Burnett and Bob Delaney, who also had two assists. Jack Flood, with an assist, goalie Frank Bladis, Gregg Prussing and Vin Mirabella played excellent defense for the Hawks.

Brian Belliveau blasted in the lone Demons goal. Kevin Lamb, Jeff Bromberg, Rick Weber, Bob Conte, Mike Sternbach, Dave Falcone and Joe Raguucci played well for the Demons. Raguucci and Belliveau alternated in the Demons' goal for Kelly.

The Demons conclude their regular season action against the Gold Cougars next week while the Hawks face the Blue Blazers in their finale.

The STP Rockets (3-3-3) also had to battle the flu as they played one-man short and came up with a 2-2 tie to Bob Lofredo's last-second goal against the Gold Cougars (1-5-2). Goalie Mike Bergeski, Jim Boite, Joe Pulice, Tom Moen

THE NORTH RIM, ET AL.

From northern Arizona enroute to the Grand Canyon there is an enchanted forest.

Just beyond the sensational Vermillion Cliffs and Lees Ferry and the high, mesa, desert country there is an abrupt change in landscape.

Almost suddenly, the dry look stops and it is green. You have come to the Kaibab Forest. For once in this Arizona land there is something that looks almost eastern. In the Kaibab there are evergreens, pines, birches, maples, other deciduous trees, dales, streams, ponds, riverlets, glens, meadows and gorgeous wild flowers all over the place. No spectacular cliffs here. No stark and giant rock formations. This is soft and green, rolling and lovely.

It goes on, like that, for 40 or 50 miles to the very rim of the Grand Canyon. If you had never been in the forest before, you would never guess that it would end abruptly and the land would plummet down one mile into a 13-mile wide rock-filled gorge. You would never guess that suddenly this green jewel would stop, and before you took another step, there would be a vast fissure in the earth, so wide across you could not make out what was on the other side, and so deep down you could not see what was at the bottom.

What you can see, standing on the rim there, is a chasm full of wildly beautiful rock formations—all below you—stretching as far as you can see to the left and right. Straight ahead you can make out the opposite rim, but you cannot see what is on it.

That is the Grand Canyon.

There is no describing it.

As abruptly as the forest stops on the one side of the canyon, it begins again on the other, and continues on southward into central Arizona. So if you come the other way, say from southern Arizona, the same thing happens. You come through the forest and you simply do not, and cannot, see the canyon until you are upon it.

Then wham. You are rooted to the spot in awe.

The canyon's moods are ever-changing. It appears one way in the morning and another at noon. Still another at sunset and another in moonlight. Every little shadow brings a new dimension. In snow it is magical. In warmer weather, if you are lucky, a thunder storm will come up.

"Lucky?" you ask incredulously.

Yes, because you can look DOWN on it.

"Look down on a storm?" you ask unbelievably.

Yes. The storm will be below you IN THE canyon and you can look down to lightning and storm clouds. Would you believe that?

—o—o—

AT THE SOUTH RIM there are several places to stay, and some are open all year, including such old favorites as the Bright Angel Lodge and the Tovar Hotel. At the bottom there is Phantom Ranch which, surprisingly, is open all year too. There is also a small airport at the South Rim, a bus shuttle from the Santa Fe Railway some 80 miles south, and several good roads leading to and from the area.

At the North Rim, however, there is only one lodge and it is not open all year because of heavy snow in winter. Only one road leads to it and there is no airport or railroad service.

The North Rim Lodge has a main building which houses the restaurant, auditorium, social rooms and a lobby with a window that is tall and broad enough to do real justice to the view. It has a terrace that does that too. Both the window and the terrace are right over the very brink. Yes siree, that building sits right on the rim. The guest rooms are individual log cabins spread about in the forest with a few right on the rim too, and we were lucky enough to get one of those.

So there we were in a wonderful log cabin, built around 1935, with with everything we needed, all the comforts, cleanliness, a porch, a fireplace and a view that no one could build anywhere.

We sat on that porch and watched the sunset in the canyon with a little chipmunk helping us with the peanuts.

It was grand.

Survey by NJIT evaluates master's degree achievement

New Jersey Institute of Technology's graduate students have found that earning their master's degree often has financial as well as professional rewards, according to a NJIT placement office survey.

About 20 percent of those responding to the most recent placement office survey indicated an increase in salary as part of their employer's recognition of the new MS degree. Smaller numbers indicated promotions, title changes or other acknowledgement of the scholarly effort.

The survey of master's degree graduates is one of a number of professionally-oriented direct mail surveys regularly conducted by the NJIT placement office as a means of measuring the success of Institute alumni against national statistics. BS graduates are surveyed at the time of graduation and at five- and 10-year intervals.

Traditionally, Institute graduates have a higher starting salary than many other young professionals and rise quickly to middle income levels, a spokesman noted.

In the recent MS graduate survey, John Schmid, director of the placement office, found 97.8 percent of those responding were employed with an average annual income of $16,800. The jobs of the respondents are frequently in research, plant and maintenance engineering, productions, sales and marketing, technical services, systems and programming, construction and teaching—with the greatest number (25 percent) employed in design and development work.

"We use our surveys to measure the general effectiveness of our efforts against the national picture," Schmid said. "The continuity of information helps us to adapt our offerings and interpretations to the current needs of industry."

The survey noted 95 percent of the respondents were satisfied with their graduate program work, and 90 percent found it related to their present work.

Garden Club lists Bicentennial motif for Flower Show

The past and present will be explored in a bicentennial exhibit and competition by the Garden Club of New Jersey at the 1976 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show.

The show, largest of its kind in the metropolitan area, will reflect the theme "Gardens—New Jersey's Bicentennial Heritage" in colorful gardens, informative and educational exhibits, displays and lectures. It will run through two weekends, Feb. 28 through March 7, at the Morristown National Guard Armory.

The Garden Club will salute the state's first sign of spring with one statewide standard competition (Flower Show) and several educational exhibits, all illustrating its bicentennial theme, "Then and Now."

According to Mrs. Frances Mustard of Pottersville, show chairman, the exhibit will be divided into two sections.

Highlighting the "Then" section will be four room vignettes: Colonial, Federal, Victorian and Modern, each symbolizing 50 years of the bicentennial. An educational display on early mechanics by Mr. W. Clemenning of Basking Ridge and an educational exhibit on colonial foods for March by Mrs. Kingdom Cleave of Wharton also will be featured in this section.

The public will also see arrangements suitable for country and city dining in 1776 and arrangements interpreting old time crafts, as well as old-fashioned samplers created by the junior division.

Passing through a black light room, the public will then move into the "Now" section, where they will see how flowers are used today as an art form. Abstracts, mobiles, kites, assemblages available in wood, metal, or glass, featuring the personal taste. Featured are 3 superb meals a day from a diversified menu, maid service, planned activities, theatre, gift, barber and beauty shops, card & game rooms, libraries, delightful greenhouse, even a fully staffed infirmary . . . all for one modest monthly fee (you never buy a thing)! Excellent shopping right nearby.

The reunion committee is attempting to locate members of the graduating class. Many of the all-female class of more than 400 are known to have moved out of the immediate area and out of state. Others who might be living locally are difficult to trace because their married names are not known. Any members of the class or people knowing the whereabouts of Battin '57 graduates can assist in the search by sending their names, addresses and phone numbers to Louise Tomasso DiStefano, 1535 Bradford ter., Union.

THE PLYMOUTH, a split-level design, is one of two models available at Harvest Hill Homes, a new custom home community in Toms River. R.I.L. Industries, developer of the project, notes buyers are offered the opportunity of making minor floor plan alterations, in most instances at no additional cost.

Harvest Hill developer urges buyer comparison

Harvest Hill Homes, a new custom home community on Cedar Grove road in Toms River, emphasizes "classic beauty in conjunction with superior workmanship at the most reasonable price," according to Robert Luff, president of R.I.L. Industries, the developer.

Luff said he encourages prospective homebuyers to compare standard features and construction integrity in relation to base price with other home sites.

"Home building has become an extremely competitive business in recent times and as a result, Harvest Hill Homes are constructed to provide the buyer with the best built home for the money," he commented.

Each home, he said, includes all-wood double-hung windows, carpeting, fiberglass roofing, half-inch sheetrock, three-inch insulation in walls and floor, six-inch insulation in ceilings, kitchen appliances, and paved driveway with garage, among other features.

Luff continued, "It's not enough to look only at appearances. Every aspect of home composition must be explored by the homebuyer."

"By using higher grade materials from the start, the homebuyer will save money

Modern, historic designs molded at Panther Valley

Chatham two-story townhouse with two bedrooms, den and one-car garage, is featured at Panther Valley in Allamuchy, just south of Rt. 30 on Rt. 517.

The architectural design of the Chatham combines historical traditions with contemporary perceptions: from the brickfront highlighted with custom millwork and a covered front portico to the vaulted cathedral ceiling in the living room accentuated by a two-story optional masonry fireplace.

Off the gracious foyer with guest closet is a large paneled den which can be furnished to satisfy personal taste. To the rear of the home is a very large living room with insulated glass sliding doors which open to a sun deck, offering an uninterrupted view of lush mountainside. Completing the entertainment center of your new home is a spacious dining room.

A large kitchen is accessible from both the dining room and separate breakfast area. This unusual plan works superbly for formal and informal entertainments.

The kitchen comes complete with many deluxe features including a self-cleaning double oven and range with vented exhaust fan, dishwasher, disposer, stainless steel sink, laminated plastic counter-tops with chopping block, and richly sculptured oak cabinets. Included are convenience features as a full-sized pantry and double-decker island cabinets. Completing the first floor level is a centrally located powder room, separate laundry room, and a one-car garage.

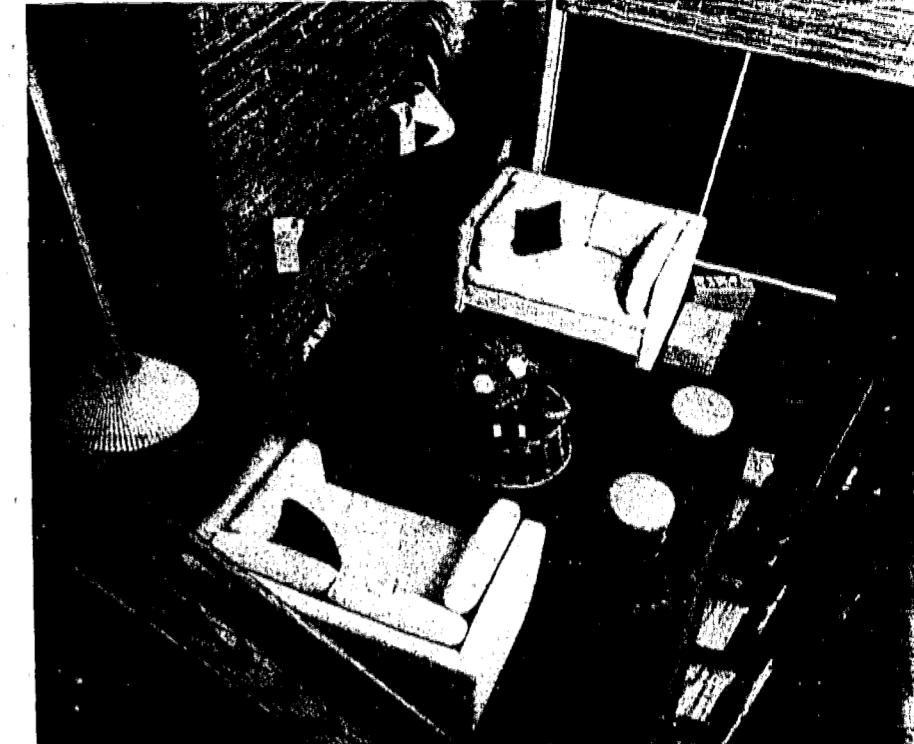

The second floor offers a large center hall overlooking the living room. The oversized master bedroom suite features two closets, including a walk-in, and a complete bath with double bowl vanity and ceramic tile shower stall. Also on the second floor is a spacious family bathroom adjacent to a large second bedroom with abundant closet and linen space.

The entire lower level is a ready-made expansion area, which allows for expansion now or later to include a huge recreation room with optional fireplace hearth, third bedroom or sewing room, powder room and also abundant closet and storage space.

Included in the price of the Chatham is rich wall-to-wall shag carpeting in all living areas and an unfinished basement with patio walk-out where ground conditions permit. The entire home is pre-wired with telephone and master antenna television outlets. To further preserve the beauty and natural wonders comprising Panther Valley, all the utilities are installed underground.

A complete customizing program is available to personally individualize home. The most wanted features include: air conditioning, cedar siding, stone in place of the brickfront offered as standard. And for the interior, a Home Furnishings Consultant will help coordinate the color scheme of each home.

Four single-family models are available from $79,500. Four townhome models are available from $59,500.

THE GRAMMY AWARD—A giant that's 6½ inches tall. "And the winner is ..." Year after year, as the coveted Grammy Awards are presented, those are the words that send a thrill of anticipation to millions of TV viewers across the country. And they will again this Saturday, when the 18th annual Grammy Awards ceremonies will be broadcast live from the Hollywood Palladium on CBS-TV. In the theatre, artists will hold their breath as time stops until the winner has been named. To them, a giant that stands only 6½ inches tall, a golden statue of a gramophone, becomes the greatest symbol of recognition and achievement in the recording world.

In the early days of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, the boards of governors were faced with finding an awards design. Since the awards were to represent outstanding achievement in the recording field, it was suggested that the gramophone would be the perfect symbol to adopt.

A composite model was designed, drawn from early Columbia, Victor and Edison gramophones. Marvin Schwartz, art director of Capitol Records and a member of the Recording Academy's Los Angeles chapter, assumed the responsibility of designing the award. A final design was agreed upon and it was turned over to designer Wah Chang for completion. Now, what to call it?

Bob Thomas of the Associated Press heard of the Recording Academy's new award and its search for a name. Thomas sent out a story over the A.P. wire soliciting readers to send in suggestions. A prize of 25 albums was offered for the best name.

In four days, hundreds of responses were received from all over the country. Nearly 50 percent of these all suggested the name "Grammy" as the most logical. The Recording Academy agreed and those whose cards had the earliest postmark suggesting "Grammy" received the 25 albums. On April 27, 1959, the Recording Academy officially adopted the name "Grammy" for its award.

Fractometer Yields Secrets Of Tobacco Flavor.

Researchers use smoke analysis to isolate key flavor ingredients of tobacco—low tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'™ achieved.

Not all ingredients of tobacco in cigarette smoke deliver the same amount of taste.

Or tar.

That's what researchers at Philip Morris discovered using an analytical fractometer to "crack" cigarette smoke down into its various parts.

Relying on this very sensitive, very special instrument, over 2000 separate ingredients were isolated and analyzed.

What this analysis revealed was startling:

There are ingredients in cigarette smoke—key flavor-rich ingredients—that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

Ingredients that, when packed into a tobacco blend, result in a cigarette that delivers extraordinary flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.' It comes in the tobacco of a remarkable new cigarette: MERIT.

'Enriched Flavor' is extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't fade out, can't do anything but come through for you.

In fact, MERIT delivers the flavor of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. of tar. Lower than 98% of all cigarettes being sold today.

If you're looking to become a low tar smoker, or don't particularly enjoy the taste of the low tar brand you smoke now—you'll be interested.

Taste Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today—only 9 mg. tar.
