Quilting, medicine among gift books in library display

Memorial and gift books will be on display at the Free Public Library of Mountainside today through next Thursday, March 25.

Two quilting books have been placed in the library by the American home department of the Mountainside Woman's Club. "The Complete Guide to Quilting," by Audrey Heard and Beverly Pryor, deals with the principles and techniques of quilt-making, with general step-by-step instructions and patterns for creating them, "The McCall's Book of Quilts" presents patterns with detailed instructions and diagrams.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hancock have given three books. "The Rose and the Thorn," by Nancy Lenz Harvey, portrays the lives of Mary and Margaret Tudor. "The Lives of the Kings and Queens of England," edited by Antonia Fraser, records almost 1,000 years of England's history through the lives and deeds of her sovereigns; both books are given in memory of Helen Meikle Fraser. "Designing with Natural Materials," by Bebe Miles, given in memory of a friend, shows how to create simple and inexpensive decorations with natural materials such as leaves, seeds, cones and shells.

Four books have been placed by a friend of the library. "Talk Back to Your Doctor," by Dr. Arthur Levin, tells how to demand and recognize high quality health care. "Everyman's Guide to Drugs and Medicines." by Larry Massett and Dr. Earl W. Sutherland, is a guide to the proper use of drugs, listing them in two indices, one by brand name and one by generic or chemical name. "Consultation with a Plastic Surgeon," by Dr. Ralph Leslie Dicker and Dr. Victor Royce Syracuse, answers questions asked by those considering plastic surgery. "Doctor!" by Dr. G. Timothy Johnson, tells what people should know about health care before they call a physician.

Biunno, 43, has been a borough resident since 1959 and is president of the Colonial Savings & Loan Association, Roselle Park. He succeeds Patricia Knodel, who failed in her bid last week to win reelection to the three-year term.

Regional board announces reduced priced meals policy

The Union County Regional High School District has announced a policy for reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program.

The recently enacted Public Law 94-105 extends eligibility for the free meals or milk and reduced price meals to children of temporarily unemployed workers who have lost income as a result of that unemployment. The new law also raises the income level of families whose children may now qualify for the program.

In addition, families not meeting the income criteria but with other expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses may be eligible and are urged to apply.

Confidential application forms, which can be submitted at any time during the school year, are available in the principal's office in each school. In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits, and any family that has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, school social workers will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the official's ruling, he may discuss the decision on an informal basis with the determining official. Requests for formal appeals can be made to Dr. Francis Kenny, director of pupil personnel services, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain avenue. Springfield.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals and milk.

Each school and the superintendent's office have copies of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party. The Union County Regional High School District is made up of the communities of Berkeley Heights. Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and

By KAREN ZAUTYK

The Mountainside Borough Council held a public hearing Tuesday night on its proposed enunicipal budget for 1976, but delayed voting on the tally until a meeting next Tuesday. March 23, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall because of three amendments to the budget

One of the resolutions introduced this week increases the total general appropriations by $5,000 from $1,728,336 to $1,732,336 to cover an addition to the line item for legal service expenses. remain at $827,795.

The other amendments authorize requesting the state Division of Local Government to include $10,587 of non-cash surplus as an item of revenue in the 1976 municipal swim poool budget, and to request approval to include $10,000 from anticipated pool membership fees for this season in anticipated pool revenue Budgetary regulations state anticipated income cannot be greater than what was achieved the previous year, but fees at the local faicility will be higher in 1976.

AT TUESDAY'S HEARING, held before an audience of 12 persons in the Brechwood School, Councilman Nicholas Bradshaw noted the budget reflects an enticipated increase of 48 tax points, or 48 cents, from $2.85 to $3.30 per $100 of assessed property valuation. The tax figure is broken down into the following termed "questimates" by Bradshaw local school taxes, $1.15. Regional school district. $1.11; county, 62 cents; semior citizens exemption, 3 cents, local numerical taxes, 42 cents. The last, he noted, is an increase of only seven cents.

"Continued inroads of inflation and loss of state aid (more than $34,000) have subjected us to severe fiscal pressure," Bradshaw commented He also cited increased expenses because of legal action against the municipality, the cost of fighting the possible routing of Rt. 78 through the borough, and mandated social security and pension payments, which are up 181 percent Salaries and wages have been increased by nine percent; operational expenses by tour percent.

THE BUDGET ALSO includes $80,000 for capital improvements, including the cost of an anticipated shift of borough hall facilities to the Echobrook School Mayor Thomas Ricciardi noted the governing body still does not have a signed agreement with the local school board for the lease of Echobrook, pending the settlement of what he called minor legal questions. "However; we hope we will be able to move in as quickly and as economically as possible," he said.

Public works projects, expected to begin within the next 18 months, were listed by Councilman Bruce Geiger as channel improvements to the stream near Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence road in anticipation of county funding for widening of the bridge culvert); a $300,000 storm sewer project from Deer Path, down Force drive to Rt. 22; and a flood prevention work in the Charles street area, to be funded by Mountainside. With one and a half minutes remaining on the clock, Joseph picked up his fifth personal foul and the Princeton team could not respond to the loss of the star backcourt player. The Cornell press soon caused numerous turnovers and a steal and bucket by Knowles narrowed the margin to one point. Wayne Lewis then hit a side jumper to give Cornell its first lead of the second half. The Springfield eighth graders returned to the Gaudineer gym last Saturday evening and defeated the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School of Edison, 88-36, to lift the season record

Man is arrested 'fur' trying to sell rabbit coat as seal

A New Rochelle, N.Y., man, reportedly free on a total of $22,000 bail for obtaining money under false pretenses in a number of New Jersey communities, was arrested March 10 by Mountainside police for misrepresentation of merchandise

Police said Richard J. Mullarkey, 45, offered in January to sell a borough dentist his choice of a beaver skin or seal skin coat for $250. The dentist gave Mullarkey a check for that amount and was allowed to keep the garments overnight to make his selection.

However, he took them to a Short Hills furrier for an appraisal where he was told both were of rabbit fur. Maximum prices of $100 and $50, respectively, were placed on the coats, said to be approximately 20 years old. Mullarkey reportedly had claimed he bought them recently at a bankruptcy sale at the Willowbrook Mall.

Mullarkey was supposed to come to the dentist's office the following day to take back one coat, but he did not return. Borough police conducted an investigation, and several weeks later found he had been arrested in Millburn for a similar "deal.

He originally was charged in Mountainside with fraud, but police said the Union County Prosecutor's Office has downgraded the charged to being a disorderly person through misrepresentation of merchandise. He was released on $500 bail, pending an appearance in Municipal Court next Wednesday

According to police, Mullarkey has been arrested for similar offenses in a number of other towns, including Park Ridge, Rutherford. East Brunswick, New Brunswick, Teaneck and

Arson suspected in Thursday fire at Design Center

Mountainside police, with the cooperation of the arson unit of the New Jersey State Police, have begun investigation of last Thursday's fire which damaged the Design Center of New Jersey (Decorator Shov case) at 1081 Bristol rd., Mountainside

Police said the blaze broke out in two areas on opposite sides of the building and is "of suspicious origin

The fire was discovered at 1:35 a.m. by Officers James Debbie and John Olock, who were on patrol in the area when they spotted a stream of water flowing from under a side door of the building. Police said the sprinkler system had been activated automatically when smoke was detected

Members of the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department reported to the scene, but the sprinklers had kept the blaze under control. However, there reportedly was heavy smoke and water damage to the one-story structure. Police said the fire started in and was confined to two locations-an office and a carpet display room on the other side of the building According to police, there was no sign of forced entry. The building had been closed since 7:15 the previous evening.

Fees for state park users increased to offset operating costs, budget cuts

The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) this week announced revised fees, reflecting the reduced state budget recommendations, for users of state parks.

Operational costs for the state park system are expected to rise from approximately $5.8 million to $6.2 million, a spokesman explained, The new charges will increase income from approximately $1.5 million to $2.9 million, to offset higher operating costs and the budget

Environmental commissioner David J. Bardin said, "The higher user fees reflect an effort to maintain a quality service to the public in the face of the budget cut. The alternative was to substantially curtail operation of the parks this summer.

The fee changes represent an average 93 percent increase overall in park user charges. Acting director of parks and forestry, Alfred T. Guido, said, "State park users were paying 26 cents of every dollar for operating and maintenance costs. The new fee schedule raises this to 46 cents of every dollar.'

The basic fee schedule changes are as 1. Entrance fee (per person charge) has been removed for passengers in motor vehicles to encourage park patrons to car pool with

2. Parking fees have been raised from $1 per vehicle to $2, $3, $4 or $5 for all-day parking, depending on the park and facilities and amenities provided. This also is expected to encourage car pooling.

(For example, a family of five visiting Island Beach for a day between Memorial Day and Labor Day will now pay a flat fee of $5parking only, no per person charge, no bath house charge. Previously, the charges would have been $3.50-$1 for parking, 25 cents per passenger admission and 25 cents per person for use of bath house. On the off-season, the family will now pay a reduced flat fee of $2, a slight reduction from the previous rate. On the

"In addition, DEP is developing ways to provide a more efficiently operated state park system at a reduced cost per park patron while still offering quality recreation opportunities, the spokesman said. Other eligible workers have not claimed the credit because their 1975 incomes were so low that they would not ordinarily be required to file returns. These workers must file 1975 returns to apply for the special payments.

Individuals who paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for themselves and at least one dependent child for the entire year may be eligible if they earned $8,000 or less.

Qualified people who earned $4,000 or less will receive a credit of 10 percent of their income up to a maximum of $400. Those with incomes of between $4,000 and $8,000 will receive a reduced credit. Married persons who claim the credit must file a joint return.

This special credit is not a refund of taxes paid. People who are eligible will receive IRS checks even if no taxes were withheld from their earnings.

People who believe they may be eligible for this earned income credit should read the instructions in the tax booklet mailed to them or else phone or visit IRS. Publication 596, "Tax Benefit for Low Income Individuals" explains this credit in more detail.

New phone program eases voter registration process

New Jersey has instituted an innovative 'Dial-To-Vote'' program to make it more convenient for people to register to vote. Secretary of State J. Edward Crabiel explained anyone calling the toll-free number, 800-792-8844, will be sent a mail registration

Any U.S. citizen who will be 18 years of age by the next election and a resident of the county and state for 30 days by the next election is eligible to vote. The Secretary of State said his office was able to utilize the telephone concept as a direct result of Gov. Brendan Byrne's and the Legislature's enactment of mail

When a person calls the toll-free number, his name and address is taken by a clerk in the Secretary of State's office. The clerk then orwards the name to the county Boards of Election. From there, the postcard registration form is mailed to the person seeking to be registered.

During regular business hours, a clerk operates the phone. When the office is closed, a recording device takes over the function.

before the close of registration. The Secretary of State also pointed out citizens can write or call their county Board of Elections to obtain a voter registration form by

The Board of Trustees at Felician College, Lodi, has confirmed its decision to maintain the present college tuition at $50 per dergraduate credit.

"Although Felician charges the lowest tuition rate of all private four-year colleges in New Jersey, this does not indicate that the quality of education is less superior, John Breslin Jr., chairman of the board, said.

Workshops giving students understanding of art, music

Throughout the school year, cultural arts students of the Union County Regional High School District have been gaining insight into the world of professional artists through a series of workshops that provide students with a picture of what music and art can mean to them on a career basis.

A recent workshop, organized by the district coordinator of cultural arts, Edward Brown, and conducted by professional jazz clarinetist Kenny Dayern, exposed the students to a professional who makes a living at his instrument. It also provided the young musicians with some tips on playing technique from a specialist

Though the specific content of the workshop varied from school to school. Dayern covered techniques of playing the clarinet, tone quality timing (all instruments speaking together) and the problems inherent in young musical groups. The students also learned about the jazz technique of improvisation, and the professional clarinetist gave them examples of playing around the melody as opposed to performing the printed melody

The students were exposed to real jazz, an art form unique to the United States, which is quite different from the contemporary popular

Future districtwide workshops will involve both art and vocal music departments. A clay workshop will be conducted and will provide students with hands-on experience under the direction of a specialist in the field. In addition to the workshop, the specialist will conduct demonstrations in the cafeterias of the four schools for all students to see.

The choral department workshop will be conducted in the middle of May under the direction of district vocal music instructors and invited artists. This program is designed to meet the variety of today's needs in vocal music and will include exposure to vocal jazz and the Sweed Adelines singers.

THE HETFIELD BROTHERS (Part II)

Following the malicious burning of the Presbyterian Church by his son, Cornellus Hetfield, Sr., who owned a large barn on the road running along the west bank of the Elizabeth River, offered it as a temporary meeting house to the congregation. The offer was accepted, and served as a church for a period of almost 5 years. On his occasional return visits to the city, the Rev. James Caldwell, Elizabethtown's Fighting Parson, preached

In the month of November, 1780, Colonel Matthias Ogden of the First New Jersey Regiment and Captain Jonathan Dayton of the Third New Jersey Regiment, sleeping at Herd's Tavern at Connecticut Farms, were surprised by a British raiding party, led by the Hetfields, and taken prisoners.

Embarrassed by their predicament and for relaxing their guard, both men quietly dressed and were taken to Staten Island. From there they were sent to New York where they were allowed the freedom of the city.

Ogden became a favorite among the British officers and was a frequent guest at their mess. On one occasion, a newly-arrived officer from England, offered a toast to the "damnation of all rebels". Hearing this Ogden threw his wine in the officer's face while he shouted an appropriate oath. A short silence followed. Then each officer including the offender, offered Ogden an apology. Following this incident Matthias Ogden suffered no more insults while a prisoner of the British, Later, during a prisoner of war exchange, Ogden and a British officer were freed and returned to their respective units whereupon Ogden resumed action against the enemy.

During the Revolution there were many uncalled for atrocities and crimes committed by people who justified their acts as military necessities. The Hetfields were no exception.

After his arrest Ball was escorted to the headquarters of General Patterson, the British Commander on Staten Island, who, when presented with the evidence against Ball, refused to hold him. The renagades then took him to General Skinner who was not satisfied with the truth of their charge and also ordered his release. This maddened the Hetfields who then took Ball across the Sound to Bergen Point (Bayonne) and hung him without further ceremony.

John Smith Hettield was captured in Westfield while stealing cattle, and sent under heavy guard to the jail at Burlington. He subsequently effected his escape, and George Hair, the jailer, was fined $3,000 for aiding in the breakout. At the end of the war he again was taken prisoner and tried at Bergen Point for being a participant in the murder of Stephen Ball. He was discharged and admitted to ball because of the absence of material witnesses. Shortly thereafter he fled the

When peace had been declared Cornellus Hetfield salled for England where he remained until 1808 when he returned to Elizabethtown to assume control of the Hetfield farm bequeathed him by his father. As soon as the authorities became aware of his return, he was promptly arrested and placed in jail in Newark, where he was confined until, his trial for being the principal murderer of Stephen Ball.

Hetfield was able to secure the services of three of the ablest lawyers in the state-Colonel Aaron Ogden, Isaac Williamson and William Chetwood, After a lengthy trial Judge Pennington discharged Hetfield declaring "by the spirit of the treaty of 1783" he was not answerable for his act.

Considering himself lucky to be free, Hetfield lost no time in returning to England where he lived out the remainder of his life.

. . . that the Pearl Street home of Patriot Cornelius Hetfield, Sr., whose three sons were loyal supporters of King George, was probably the oldest house in Elizabethtown, having been built between 1660 and 1670. The property was conveyed by Abraham Lubberson to Matthias Heathfield (Hetfield) December 5, 1673. The early councils between the settlers and the Indians are said to have been held here.

UC again offering choice of 6-week summer sessions

Two six-week summer sessions will again be offered this year at Union College, it was anounced this week by Prof. John Wheeler, director of summer session. The first session will open Tuesday, June 1, and will continue through Thursday, July 8. Summer Session II will be conducted from Monday, July 12, through Thursday, Aug. 19.

In addition, a special program of noncredit and continuing education courses will be offered in a special session beginning Monday, June 14, and concluding Thursday, July 22.

Summer session courses will be offered day and evening with classes meeting Mondays through Thursdays. Day classes meet from 8:30 to 10:05 a.m. and from 10:15 to 11:50 a.m.; evening classes from 6:30 to 8:05 p.m. and 8:15 o 9:50 p.m.

County picnic areas reopen; reserved sites are reduced

Many of the picnic areas in the Union County park system are now open to the public on a first-come, first-served basis, the Union County

Park Commission announced this week. However, groups of 50 or more persons will find it necessary to make reservations for reserved areas—generally on Saturdays. Sundays and holidays—a spokesman noted, since the park Commission has reduced from 70 to 18 the number of picnic areas on which reservations will be made for weekends and

"A major factor in the policy change was the difficluty of attempting to administer the advance reservation rule for small groups," the spokesman said."Increased public demand has made it impossible to patrol all picnic areas in an efficient manner in view of the large number of sites and the need for special personnel in other duty areas. Large pre-planned picnics, such as those conducted by organizations, or family reunions, will be accommodated. Many small Union County picnic groups will have an advantage in securing non-reservable picnic

The Commission at the same time has set a schedule of fees for reservations for the larger groups for the use of the 18 reserved areas in question. The rate will be as follows: 50 to 100 .persons, $5; 100 to 200 persons, $10; 200 to 300 persons, $15; 300 to 500 persons, $25; 500 to 1,500 persons, $35. For groups of more that 1,500 persons, special arrangements will be necessary. The fees will be non-refundable, but in the event of inclement weather, another reservation will be arranged, during the current year only.

The 18 reservable areas, all of which have picnic tables and fireplaces are as follows: In Warinanco Park, Dippes Woods, Spinnings Woods and Durant's Woods; in Rahway River Park and Parkway, the Quadrangle, Maples. Hickory and Osceola areas; in the Watchung Reservation, Seely's Skytop, Prospect and the Point areas; in Nomahegan Park, Areas 6 through 10; in Echo Lake Park, the Hilltop. Rolling Meadows, Locust Grove and Lakeview Oaks areas; in the Woodruff Section. Elizabeth River Park, Areas 1 through 3; and in Unami Park, Areas 1 through 6.

Reserved areas will be held until 11 a.m., after which time they will be open to the general public.

The Park Commission reserves the right to make changes for large organizations seeking to use reservable areas on weedays, in addition to Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, and may if necessary, set aside additional reservable areas when requests are received

Dental building opened at N.J. medical college

A new, $19.5-million building, a major center basis. for dental education, research and treatment in New Jersey, has been opened by the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (CMDN-

J) for its New Jersey Dental School. A four-level structure located at Bergen street and Twelfth avenue, Newark, the dental school is the fourth building to be opened by the college on its 46-acre, $189-million campus in Newark. Also occupied in recent months were CMDNJ-Health Sciences Library, the CMDNJ-Newark Community Mental Health Center, and the campus complex' power plant. A nine-level basic sciences building, which will house the CMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School and the CMDNJ-Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences, is scheduled for com-pletion later this year. The campus will also include a college teaching hospital, slated for completion in 1979. CMDNJ-New Jersey Dental School has been housed in the Jersey City Medical Center. Jersey City, since it was founded in 1954 as part of the former Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry. The state acquired it and several sister institutions in 1965.

Dr. Ian C. Bennett, dean of CMDNJ-New Jersey Dental School, said clinics may continue to be operated at the old Jersey City site, although, if they do, it will be on a reduced awareness and behavior awareness.
