Yanks, Twins win in Senior League; Orioles stop Mets, 19-13 in Major

By RICH REITER
Mountainside Little League completed its first full week of play. Many of the games were long, close and exciting; many of the players are learning to work together as a team for strategy, assists and double plays.

Two Senior League games were played during the week. The Yankees evened their record with a 4-2 triumph over the Indians. The winning pitcher was Jamie Kontra, who went the distance and struck out the last two batters. Doing a strong job backing him up in the field were Tim Harrigan and Billy Rose, each of whom also batted in a run. Tim started a double play that thwarted an Indian rally. Another Yankee, Tom Fischer, did a fine job behind the plate, and was a strong hitter, as were Kirk Kubach, Chuck Shomo and Mark Dooley.

Indian Chucker Dooley did a good job at shortstop and as pitcher. Strong hitters were Tom Fitzgibbons, Ron Zirclek and Ricky Souder.

In the other Senior League game, the Twins edged the Tigers, 5-4, in the bottom of the last inning. Going into that inning, the score was tied at four-all.

The Tigers were up first and loaded the bases with no outs. The Twins' infield played close, as pitcher Paul Reiter forced Tim Holleran to hit sharply to shortstop Jeff Brown. He threw the ball home to Dave Lauhoff for the force-out. Cary Lesslauer hit a grounder back to the box, where Reiter picked it up and threw it home for the force-out. A fast throw by Lauhoff to first base caught the runner out and completed the double play to end the threat.

In the Twins' half of the inning, with men on second and third bases, Reiter hit strongly to the shortstop, who fumbled the ball. Base-runner Don Rodriguez beat the throw home to win the game. Glen Mortimer fielded strongly for the Twins, and Bob Anderson was quick with the bat. Reiter pitched the whole game.

In the only recorded Major League action this week, the Orioles defeated the Mets, 19-13, on 12 hits. Paul Klaskin pitched three innings and hit strongly.

In American League action, the Reds beat the Royals, 4-3, in a come-from-behind victory. Jeff Ahlholm was the pitching and hitting star of the game with a two-run homer and two

Bluejays, Roadrunners win as girls' softball play opens

Last Monday was the first day of softball for the girls of Mountainside.

In the first game, the Bluejays defeated the Canaries, 13-10. Diane Kennedy of the Canaries hit a home run, and Ellie Harbt did the same for the Bluejays. But the hit that decided the game was made by Trish Taylor—a grand slam in the fifth inning.

Liz Blouin was a strong pitcher for the Robins as they finally beat the Cardinals, 28-4. Her pitching was backed up by a home run by Marcy Suckno and a grand slam by Jennifer Youngmans.

In the last game played, the Roadrunners beat the Eagles, 23-3. Theresa Young was the winning pitcher and she also hit a double and triple. Ellen Sorkin played well at first base.

Cathy Clarke pitched her first game for the Peacocks and defeated the Falcons, 29-4. Lisa McCarthy and Janny Bradshaw connected on home runs to back up the pitching.

Pitcher Lynn Zeoli hit a home run with two men on in the sixth and Carol Hay caught the final fly of the game as the Parrots defeated the Hawks, 26-18.

Janis Borchert played brilliantly at centerfield while Sue Holleran made a triple play.

Feasibility study approved for tennis courts at Dayton

Renewed efforts to win site approval for tennis courts at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and a sharp rebuff to the athletic department at Arthur L. Johnson Regional in Clark were the major items of business at a Regional High School District Board of Education meeting held before 40 people Tuesday night at Johnson Regional.

The athletic department vote came at the end of the 3 1/2-hour meeting, when the Johnson softball coach was ordered to reinstate a girl dropped earlier this spring. The player had been dropped for missing two games and a practice session to take part in a national AAU basketball tournament.

John Conlin of Garwood won approval to spend $2,200 for a feasibility study of tennis courts to be located in the center of the main lawn at Dayton, in front of the school tower. Conlin declared, "This board is not trying to hold up construction of the courts. We have been trying to build the courts since 1971."

He said the board had wanted to build the four courts along Mountain avenue in front of the high school and that the site had been approved by the N.J. Water Policy Commission, but the site was rejected by municipal authorities for esthetic reasons.

Conlin said the township was expected to approve the new site, to the east of the area first proposed, and had reported verbal approval by the Water Policy Commission. Permission is needed from the state agency because the courts would adjoin flood relief work under way along Van Winkle's Creek in front of the school. The board has appropriated $55,000 for the tennis courts.

Several members opposed the new site study. Roland Hecker of Berkeley Heights said, "These same people on the Township Committee voted to cut our budget. Now they want us to move to a site where we will have to add $12,000 to the cost of the tennis courts." The tennis problem will be the topic of a special conference session tonight at 8 at 341 Mountain ave., Springfield.

The controversy over Johnson Regional athletic procedures arose during public discussion on adoption of an overall athletic policy. After lengthy discussion by the board and the public and some dispute over procedural matters, the board approved an amendment by Stephen Marcinek of Clark that would henceforth permit varsity athletes to compete for AAU or other outside teams—even if playoff games might conflict with some school team contests.

This vote led to a ruling that the amendment constituted a major change in the policy, and

Mrs. Magnolia named director of MMA show

The Mountainside Music Association has named a new director for this year's variety show, "Sing Out The News." Adele Magnolia is taking over from Jeanne Wilhelms, who directed the town's musical production for the last 15 years. Aden Lewis joins Mrs. Magnolia in the musical direction and some of his original music highlights the show.

Adele, a former president of the MMA, has been in the last two shows. Her outstanding contribution was in "Meet Me at Maxie's" when she starred with her rendition of "Hard Hearted Hannah."

Adele has always tried to include music in her educational pursuits. She was active in musical productions in her college days at Montclair State. And as a teacher she was musical director of her high school students.

Adele is a working mother with two children, a 10-year old son and a 5-year old daughter. She has been both a teacher and a school principal and is now general supervisor of curriculum and instruction for K-12 for the Rahway public school system.

The Mountainside Music Association will present this year's show, "Sing Out The News," on Friday, May 21, and Saturday, May 22, at the Deerfield School gym in Mountainside. Tickets can be purchased at the door or by calling Marilyn Hart, 233-4036.

Sign-up beginning for rec programs

Registration will begin on Saturday for a number of Mountainside summer recreation programs. Members of the Recreation Commission will be present at the PTA fair to help with summer registrations and the issuance of tennis badges.

Information on summer tennis lessons, tennis team, golf, soccer and high school girls' softball will be available. Helen Hewitt will be present to answer questions on the tennis ladders. Tennis badges will also be sold between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Tennis players have been asked to be patient during the next few weeks as repairs are being made on the old courts at Echobrook. Recreation Director Sue Winans noted that the weather will play a large role in the progress of the resurfacing.

All tennis players were reminded that they must wear 1976 tennis badges. They may be purchased at Borough Hall weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the PTA fair this Saturday between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. and on Wednesday evening between 8 and 9 at the Borough Hall. For additional information, readers may call 232-0015.

Little League's fund drive open

Mountainside Little League officially opened its fund-raising drive Saturday. The sale of tickets will continue until the annual awards dinner Sept. 16.

The drive is being held to raise funds to be used for equipment and field maintenance; the league is the largest self-supported recreational program in the community. Little League receives no tax funds for the program and this year received no financial assistance from the Board of Education because of state "caps" on the budget.

The league is asking for support of its fund-raising programs so it can continue the baseball program which recently opened its 23rd season.

John Kontra, finance chairman for the league, has announced that Bill Riffe, chairman for the drive, will be assisted by league and team coordinators. Tickets will be available through all players, coaches, league and team officials for the next four months.

P.O., Friendly's report break-ins but nothing taken

Break-ins were reported Friday at the Mountainside Post Office on Sherwood parkway and the Friendly Ice Cream shop, 882 Mountain ave., Mountainside—but in both cases apparently nothing was stolen.

The postal facility break-in was discovered at 7 a.m. by Postmaster James Capone, who found the front door pried open. An inner door and all the drawers in the front service counter also had been forced open, police said, but nothing appeared to be missing. Capone was to take an inventory to see if anything had been stolen. Police said the office had been closed at 5 p.m. the preceding evening.

The burglary at Friendly's, whose rear parking lot abuts the Post Office property, occurred between 3 and 5:50 a.m. when an employee reporting for work found several doors forced open.

Police said the intruders, who apparently entered through a rear door, pried open a file cabinet in the manager's office, unsuccessfully attempted to break open a small safe in the kitchen area and a cigarette machine.

CITY FEDERAL SAVINGS

Would you like a checking account that earns interest?

We'd like to offer one

... but the Commercial Bankers of New Jersey—and those throughout the nation—have declared all-out war against the law which would allow it.

The "Financial Reform Act" now pending in the House of Representatives and the "Financial Institutions Act" passed last year in the Senate would allow NOW Accounts (checking accounts that pay interest) for Savings and Loans, Savings Banks, Credit Unions and Commercial Banks! But the Commercial Bankers don't want to pay interest on checking accounts—and they don't want us to do it either!

If you agree with us that checking accounts—with interest—should be offered by all Financial Institutions—we urge you to write to your Congressman, Senator Clifford P. Case, Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (they both voted in favor) and President Gerald R. Ford.

Let the people be heard!

This Bill would be of great benefit to all consumers, but unless they're heard from, self-serving special interest groups will prevail.

2 break-ins are probed

Mountainside police are investigating two break-and-entries reported this week—one at a local business and one at a private home.

Three business machines and an undetermined amount of money from a cigarette vending machine were stolen between 5 p.m. Monday and 6 a.m. Tuesday from Stampings Inc. at 276 Sheffield st. Investigating officer Wayne Martin said the burglars broke a pane of glass in a side door, reached through the opening and unlocked a dead bolt. Pry marks also were found on a coffee machine in the workshop area, but it did not appear to have been opened.

Police said apparently nothing was stolen from a New Providence road home, burglarized between 11 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday, although two bedrooms and the dining room had been ransacked.

Investigating officer Jose Pires said entry was gained by smashing a window leading to the kitchen from a breezeway.

Others in the cast are Mark Farinella as the Rev. Dr. Harper, Morey Epstein as Officer Brophy, Doug Schon as Officer Klein, Gwyn English as Elaine, Gene Tulchin as Mortimer, Robert Gilbert as Mr. Gibbs, David Hoffman as Dr. Einstein, David Klingsburg as Officer O'Hara, Alan Platoff as T.J. that a final vote on the entire policy must wait until the June 1 meeting at David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth.

Sonya Dorsky of Springfield then won support for a motion directing the Johnson softball coach to reinstate the softball player at once—without, however, "bumping" anyone else from the team.

During public discussion of the matter, James Adams, a member of the Springfield Board of Education and former township recreation director, objected to another change, one which would permit athletes to leave for family vacations during a varsity season. Adams said such a policy would hurt team morale.

In other business, the board adopted three other policies, the first designed to end discrimination based on sex, the second spelling out procedures for hearing of parent or student grievances and the third establishing safety standards for students working with electrical wiring.

Dr. Marilyn Hart of Mountainside won changes in the wording of both the grievance and the athletic policy. The use of phrases such as "his or her" or similar constructions will be substituted in all places where the policies had referred to students, parents or faculty members only as males.

The board also approved two changes in language classes at Dayton for the fall. Six students of fifth-year German will be combined in one class with 12 fourth-year students, and seven Hebrew 3 students will be combined with 12 Hebrew 2 scholars. This will permit advanced instruction where there is not enough demand to merit a separate class.

WILLIAM LIVINGSTON
FIRST GOVERNOR of NEW JERSEY

"I should be very sorry to have Clinton recalled through any national resentment against him, because so fertile as that country (England) is in the production of blockheads I think they cannot easily send us a greater blunderbuss, unless it should please his Majesty himself to do us the honor of a visit."

So wrote William Livingston, an Elizabethtown resident and first governor of New Jersey, upon hearing that the British government was considering the removal of General Sir Henry Clinton from command of the British troops in this area.

Livingston's many anti-British essays and statements directed against King George and the British government soon led to the posting of a reward of 2000 guineas and a life pension to any person who would "deliver that damned old rascal, Governor Livingston, dead or alive, to Staten Island."

Upon hearing of the reward, Livingston wrote Clinton to assure the General that he was certain that the General had nothing to do with the price that had been placed on his head, but, at the same time, warned Sir Henry that two could play the game of assassination to which Clinton replied "I should not tarnish myself with so foul a crime to obtain so trifling an end." "Sensible of the power you boast of being able to dispose of my life, by intimates of yours, ready to murder at your command, I can only congratulate you on your amiable connections, and acknowledge myself your most humble servant." Although famous for his wit and sarcasm, Livingston met his master in the General.

William Livingston was born on November 30, 1723, of wealthy parents in Albany, New York, where his father served as mayor. He attended Yale and in 1741 graduated at the head of his class. He then studied law under James Alexander, a noted colonial lawyer who gained fame by defending the patriot printer, John Peter Zenger, when Zenger was charged with seditious libel for criticizing the government. At the conclusion of his studies, Livingston was admitted to the bar and set up a law practice in New York City in 1748.

Early in his life Livingston indicated liberal political views, was a champion of a free press and was opposed to an established religion in the colonies. He often engaged in many heated controversies with the Episcopalians with reference to this subject. In 1752 he founded and edited the weekly Independent Reflection which brought him prominence outside the colony, and was considered one of the leaders of New York's opposition to British colonial policies.

The future governor of New Jersey was 50 years old and one of America's leading lawyers when he retired to Elizabethtown in 1773, and settled his family in Liberty Hall on the Morris turnpike road.

Being an inveterate politician, he came out of retirement to represent New Jersey at the First and Second Continental Congress, and to also command the New Jersey Militia until his election as governor in 1776 at which time he turned over the command to Matthias Williamson, another Elizabethtown resident. At the time of the election, the legislature found it difficult to decide between Livingston and Richard Stockton. When it became known that Stockton refused to allow the army to use his team of horses, the die was cast and Livingston was chosen.

Once elected governor, Livingston was constantly on the move and saw little of Liberty Hall since it was situated too close to the enemy to allow his staying there for any length of time.

His administration was noted for its vigor in prosecuting the war and for its moderation during the confederation period. Washington ranked Livingston as a patriot only to Governor Trumbull of Connecticut as a patriot among the governors for his unflinching war effort. He headed New Jersey's delegation to the 1787 Constitutional Convention, supporting the "small state" plan of union but accepting compromise to save the convention. His support of the new Constitution was largely responsible for New Jersey's speedy ratification.

With peace and independence a reality, William Livingston remained the most respected man in New Jersey and was reelected governor each year until his death in 1790. During this period he never had more than 8 votes cast against him in the election for the governorship, and as late as 1781 received the unanimous vote of the assembly.

Did You Know

... that Governor William Livingston, like so many of the prominent men of his time, enjoyed working in his garden and orchards. As a man of the soil, he experimented with seeds from all over the world, and had his son, Brockholst, while serving as John Jay's secretary in Spain, send him seeds of shrubs and melons which were likely to grow in this climate. Although he was a skillful writer and a great governor, it pleased Livingston most to be called a New Jersey farmer.

PENSION PLANNING:
 Your pension is taxable income, as soon as you have gotten back what you put into it. In other words, if you contributed $2,000 to the cost of your pension and your employer contributed the rest, you'll start paying tax on your pension as soon as you have received more than $2,000. With most pension plans, you'll recover your contribution to the plan within three years and then your payments will be taxed. By then, you should be in a much lower tax bracket than before you retired.
 There's something new this year if you decide to take your pension in a lump-sum. Before, a lump-sum pension payment was taxed as a capital gain. Starting this year, you can take advantage of a special 10-year averaging plan. It allows you to pay the taxes on your lump-sum over a period of ten years. During this time, you have the entire lump-sum to invest as you see fit.

MERIT!

'Enriched Flavor' process prompts unprecedented response to taste of new low tar MERIT.

Smokers are talking about a new kind of cigarette.

It's MERIT. The remarkable new low tar cigarette made with the 'Enriched Flavor' process.

MERIT has only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Yet, taste tests proved that MERIT delivers as much—or more—flavor than cigarettes having up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested in what people like yourself are writing to us about MERIT.

Drive under way to locate jobs for unemployed vets

"Jobs for Vets '76" — a month-long statewide campaign — was launched May 1 by the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB), the American Legion, Veterans Education Corps., Veterans Administration and the New Jersey Department of Labor & Industry in a drive to reduce the ranks of New Jersey's unemployed veterans, particularly those who served in the Vietnam war.

"Throughout the state, more than 100,000 young men who risked their lives on the battlefields of Vietnam are still without meaningful employment," according to Thomas J. Stanton, Region II chairman of NAB, the federally-funded program through which businessmen encourage others in the private sector to hire, train and retain the nation's economically disadvantaged, youth, and ex-offenders as well as veterans.

The massive job solicitation project, conceived by Richard Mannes, Jobs for Veterans director of the Newark Metro NAB office, which is serving as campaign coordinator, will involve hundreds of volunteers from more than 400 American Legion Posts throughout the state as well as members of the Veterans Education Corps.

Mannes noted that while all of the organizations participating in the "Jobs for Vets '76" campaign will be canvassing companies for veterans jobs, "some may be missed; if they are and they have a job to offer a veteran, they are urged to call our campaign headquarters at 642-2714."

The New Jersey State Opera will climax its 10th anniversary season Saturday, May 15, with "The Opera Ball of '76—A Decade of Progress," starting at 6:30 p.m. in the new United & Piedmont Airlines Terminal A at Newark International Airport.

The gala black-tie event will be co-hosted by the New Jersey State Opera and Governor and Mrs. Brendan T. Byrne. There will be special performances by Metropolitan Opera baritone Robert Merrill, the guest of honor, and the New Jersey Ballet Company, directed by Carolyn Clark.

Jobless pay offices back to bi-weekly visiting schedules

Twenty-one of the state's 42 unemployment insurance claims offices have returned to a bi-weekly reporting system Joseph A. Hoffman, commissioner of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, said this week.

Hoffman said, "This action is being taken in response to New Jersey's slowly improving economy and a corresponding reduction in the unemployment insurance claims load." For those offices selected, unemployed individuals will report once every two weeks to sign for their unemployment checks.

Heretofore, the reporting schedule in all offices has required an individual to report only once a month. A check has been mailed to the individual's residence for the intervening two week period.

"The return to the two-week reporting system will improve the efficiency of the unemployment insurance operation and will provide more effective services to claimants," Hoffman said. As the economy continues to improve, it is anticipated that additional claims offices will be converting to the bi-weekly system, he added.

Offices converting to bi-weekly are: Asbury Park, Bayonne, Bloomfield, Bridgeton, Burlington, Elizabeth, Englewood, Freehold, Hoboken, Irvington, Jersey City, Little Falls, Morristown, Newton, Plainfield, Paterson, Salem, Somerville, Toms River, Trenton, and Union City.

Automation in use on jobless claims

A new three-phase automated system for processing unemployment insurance claims was announced this week by Joseph A. Hoffman, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

Hoffman said, "This project, the Local Office On-line Payment System (LOOPS), is designed to provide rapid and efficient payment of unemployment insurance benefits to the eligible unemployed. The goals of this project are shorter waiting lines in the local offices, greater cost efficiency for the taxpayer, and better service to the public."

Since January the Division of Administration of the Department has been coordinating the efforts of local offices to bring the LOOPS project to a successful completion. George D. McGuinness, assistant commissioner for administration, said

McGuinness said, "LOOPS has been installed in more than two-thirds of all local offices to enter initial unemployment insurance claims electronically over a statewide network connected to the central computer in Trenton. More than 1,300 claims a day are now being processed in this way. By June all local offices will be using this system."

Plaza ranches popular with Clearbrook buyers

PATIO VIEW—Sliding glass doors lead from the living room area to a patio in the condominium Plaza homes at Clearbrook, a planned community in Monroe Township for persons aged 48 and over. The ranch-style houses, priced from $34,500 to $45,900, are located on a 560-acre site off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike.

Ranch-style Plaza homes at Clearbrook, the planned community in Monroe Township for people 48 and over, have captured the imaginations and the investments of more than 1,000 persons.

Throughout the 560-acre site, Clearbrook has built plaza areas in which the single-level homes are situated alone or in clusters along winding streets or in cul-de-sacs. The newest models are constructed with stone or brick and aluminum siding. Focal point is the landscaped entry court for the homes, which also are surrounded by open park-like areas.

The basic Plaza floor plans range from the Everglade, a one-bedroom, one-bath model priced at $34,500, to the Braeburne, a two-bedroom unit with study, two baths, private atrium, and a $45,900 price tag. Also offered is the Timberline, a two-bedroom, two-bath home priced at $43,500. All Plaza homes include oversized garages.

Interior design and room layout of the Plaza homes is typified by the Master Lodge, which features six large closets and two identical master bedroom suites divided by the living room and dining area.

Each suite in the Master Lodge has its own private entrance to the patio area, plus full bath and a dressing room with wardrobe closets, so there are no closet doors in the sleeping area.

The kitchen has a service entry from an oversized garage, and ample cabinet, counter and storage space. In addition, there's a laundry area and an attached 2 1/2-car garage.

Besides the open and flexible floor plan, viewers have been impressed with the standard features of the homes, which include central air-conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, oven and range with exhaust hood, stainless sink with single level faucet control and garbage disposal, oversized garage, ceramic-tiled baths, full vanities, individual room thermostats, shower-fold tub and shower doors and Formica counter tops.

Clearbrook also has an "energy saving package" which includes eight inches of Fiberglas insulation in the ceilings, Fiberglas insulation in the walls, brick or stone facing with aluminum siding, urethane thermal barrier at foundation, built-in humidifier, a thermostat timing control, aluminum storm and screen windows and insulated patio door.

Buyers also get the benefit of a completely private community, plus Clearbrook's package of recreational and security amenities. An estimated $78-a-month maintenance fee includes security patrol, a nurse on duty 24 hours a day at the medical office, 24-hour guarded gatehouse, exterior painting and maintenance, landscaping, snow removal, fire insurance and extended coverage on building, water and sewer charges, trash collection, 10-channel cable television antenna, shoppers' minibus, swimming pool, tennis, shuffleboard and use of the clubhouse.

The 25,250-square-foot clubhouse features facilities for billiards and pool, meetings, banquets, receptions and other social events. There are hobby rooms for woodworking, ceramics, sewing, art and sculpture. It also has saunas, showers and dressing rooms, as well as a large outdoor pool.

A nine-hole, par-35 golf course is located in the heart of the community and is exclusively for the use of Clearbrook residents at a nominal greens fee.

Clearbrook also is convenient for commuters, located 42 miles from the Lincoln Tunnel, 20 miles from Trenton, 12 miles from Princeton and 16 miles from New Brunswick.

And yet, with its natural setting of trees, lakes and streams, it offers residents a country atmosphere.

The Clearbrook models, located at Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike, are open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Telephone is (609) 655-2900.

Sales rep named by Ocean Acres

All Seasons Marketing & Advertising Co. of Hackensack has been appointed the sales, advertising and marketing representative for the Ocean Acres community in Manahawkin. A spokesman for All Seasons noted that buyers who are not ready to build can use their homesite as a down payment when they are. "Retired people, young couples and vacationers can all afford to own their own private homes by the sea at Ocean Acres now because of a new marketing approach offering an inexpensive home and land package with convenient mortgages," he said. "Why rent when you can own your own home by the sea for only $145 per month (principals and interest) and $1,900 down?" he asked. "Full price for home and land is $19,800 complete; $14,900 is the price for the home alone, built on your Ocean Acres lot." Recreation facilities at Ocean Acres include an 18-hole golf course, swimming pool and clubhouse. On weekends, Ocean Acres holds an open house from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The community can be reached by taking the Garden State Parkway south to Exit 63, then traveling east on Rt. 72 for 1/2 mile. Make the first U-turn and go west on Rt. 72 for one mile to Ocean Acres on the right. For additional information, readers may call All Seasons Marketing at 342-2826 or write to them at 55 Hudson st., Hackensack, 07601.

Crestwood home decor has Bicentennial theme

The Lexington, a new model home now open for inspection at Crestwood Village—a retirement community on Rt. 530 in Whiting—has special significance for the Bicentennial. The home's decor—with the theme "Interior Legacy of America"—combines past and present furnishing styles from various geographic regions of the country. Because of its timely significance, the design was the subject of an article in the March issue of American Home magazine.

The decor, adaptable to a variety of floor plans, was conceived by interior designers of the Armstrong Cork Co. to commemorate the nation's 200th birthday. Crestwood Village is one of 25 communities throughout the country chosen to feature it during 1976. To avoid cliché-ridden early American decorating, the rooms bypass coffee-grinder or spinning wheel lamps, imitation rag rugs, etc. Both primitive and period furnishings were combined for rusticity. Barn siding, pierced tin and wormy chestnut, for example, conspire with modern features like no-wax floors, wall-to-wall carpeting and Plexiglas shelving. Lowboys from the Carlton Hall collection of Thomasville are among the "classic" furnishings. Brass and glass bunched tables, a bamboo etagere and modern brass lamps in the living room offer points of contrast in an interior that also includes elements of Shaker influence. A focal point is an original quilt wall hanging that dominates an entire wall in the living area. It was created especially for the "Interior Legacy" program. The "Lexington Legacy" model can be seen seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Crestwood Village.

'LEGACY OF AMERICA'—Modern love seat, parsons table, brass lamp and bamboo etagere are combined with traditional end tables and quilted wall hanging in interior decor of the Lexington, a model home open for inspection at Crestwood Village in Whiting. The design, created for the Bicentennial, reflects past and present home furnishing styles from various regions of the nation.

Solar heat planned for pool, club

Marty Newman has announced that Massimo-Moon Architects have been awarded a contract to develop solar energy heat for the pool and clubhouse now under construction at LUV, the award-winning condominium townhouses and flats being built at Stanhope. The facilities are expected to be used by the year's end. With solar energy, the indoor pool will cost less to heat than conventional methods used in the past. This will save the homeowners and members of the condominium association many dollars, Newman said. He added that although many people believe the solar energy is strictly for the future, he is convinced it can be used now to start conserving fuel. "LUV will always be the first with all fuel saving methods available. Studies are now being made to offer solar energy in homes," Newman said. To reach LUV, take Route 80 to Route 206 West to Route 183

Sales agent appointed Californian ranch design offered at Dover Heights

Florida General Equities, a division of Rowland International Corporation, recently announced the appointment of Bob Butcher as exclusive New Jersey Representative for their Crystal Manor properties in citrus County, Florida.

Bob Butcher is offering model homes from $22,800 as well as home sites. If interested, contact him at his offices at 321 Commercial ave., Palisades Park, or you can phone him at (201) 944-4400.

Dover Heights, a custom home community off Indian Hill road in Toms River, recently introduced the Californian, a ranch home designed in the West Coast tradition.

The Californian features four bedrooms, carpeting throughout, insulated glass, heavy insulation, two-car attached garage and landscaped, wooded lot.

Josh Popkin, president of Landmark Construction &

Development Corp., developer of Dover Heights said, "Our objective is to build homes which incorporate up-to-date design elements with quality construction practices."

He added that all models at Dover Heights include within the base purchase price continuous clean oven and range with hood; baths finished with ceramic tiles and built-in vanities with cultured marble tops; wood kitchen cabinets with backsplashes around counters, and lots of larger than one-third acre.

In addition to the Californian ranch, bi-level, two story, and chalet models are offered, all of which may be customized by the buyer.

"Buyers may alter the floor plan of the home selected for construction to accommodate individual needs and wants. This provides a personalized touch to each home," Popkin noted.

To add further variety, optional amenities are available through the builder. Offered are central air conditioning, humidifier, central vacuum system, intercom with AM-FM radio and a special appliance package.

The Dover Heights community affords easy access to major roadways—including the Garden State Parkway—schools, Jersey shore recreation spots and the soon-to-be-completed Ocean County Mall.

Qualified buyers can arrange financing through Landmark Construction, which offers 30 year mortgages at eight and a half percent. Home prices start at $40,900.

Model homes are open for inspection throughout the week, except Tuesdays, or by appointment.

Crestwood physician

The medical center at Crestwood Village retirement community was restored to its full strength of four physicians with the addition of Dr. Frederick Hummel to the medical staff.

A native of Staten Island, Dr. Hummel later moved to Belmar and received his early education in Spring Lake and Asbury Park. A 1936 graduate of Princeton University, he took his degree in medicine from Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, and served his internship there from 1940-41.

Dr. Hummel returned to Belmar to practice medicine until 1949, at which time he entered his residency in surgery. He was a member of the surgical staff at Jersey Shore Medical Center and Point Pleasant Hospital for 20 years, including a year as chief of staff at the latter.

He moved in 1954 to Brick Town, where he now resides with his wife, two daughters and a son. Semi-retired since 1973, he has been serving as the school physician at Brick Town High School.

Crestwood Village is located on Rt. 530 in Whiting.

Dance will inaugurate fund drive at hospital

A dinner dance will be held May 16 by the Auxiliary of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center to kick off the group's $450,000 fund-raising campaign. The affair will be held at Temple B'nai Jeshurun, Short Hills, according to Mrs. Lillian Sacharow, president of the auxiliary.

The auxiliary will be celebrating its 75th anniversary at the dinner dance. The organization was formed by 60 members of a sewing circle in downtown Newark who staged a dress ball to raise a whopping $900 for a newly-chartered hospital at High and West Kinney streets. The auxiliary now has a membership of more than 1,000 men and women.

The funds, pledged by the Greater Newark Hospital Development Fund, have been earmarked for a new 24-bed critical cardiac care unit at the medical center.

Dr. Edwin L. Rothfeld, director of the critical cardiac unit and chief of the center's heart station, said the tremendous growth in coronary artery surgery and the large number of patients necessitates the doubling of the unit's capabilities.

Rose group meeting set

A panel discussion by three accredited American Rose Society judges will be featured at Tuesday's meeting of the North Jersey Rose Society at 8 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 24 N. Fullerton ave., Montclair.

One of the participants will be Kasimer Niemaszyk of Union, who will discuss procedures in getting "show roses" to the exhibition table. The public has been invited to attend the session to learn the ground rules of exhibiting roses and to try their hand at judging.

Admission to the program is free. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Mrs. Mary Fedowitz will discuss "ikebana," a method of flower arrangement for chrysanthemums, at the regular meeting of the State Chrysanthemum Society Friday, May 14, at 8 p.m. at the National State Bank Building, 193 Morris ave., Springfield.

Also at the meeting, the cushion and spray cuttings ordered last January may be picked up.

For more information, readers may contact Godfrey Bruckhaus, 385 Old Grove rd., Mountainside, 233-6416.

Robert J. Jablonski, commissioner of the New Jersey Highway Authority which operates the Garden State Parkway and the arts center, said a Buffet Continental with a wide range of foods from around the world will begin at 6:30 p.m. The concert, which will start two hours later, will be conducted by Leonard Bernstein.

A colorful tent will be erected on the center's grounds. The buffet will be catered by the Chanticleer of Millburn, which submitted the winning bid. Tickets for the buffet and music program are $75 and $65 each.

As for the menu, the caterers will start with an assortment of hors d'oeuvres — such as Omelette Lorraine, Stuffed Mushrooms Graham, Baked Clams Croquette, Oysters Rockefeller.

Parking at parks now costs double

Weekend parking fees at 11 state parks went from $1 to $2 May 1. Weekday parking at these parks remains free until Memorial Day weekend when the new summer season rates will take full effect.

Alfred T. Guido, acting director of the Division of Parks and Forestry, said that the state park user fees are being raised to help defray higher park operating costs and budget cuts of nearly $1 million, so as to avoid significant park closings such as New York State recently announced. The areas affected by the new $2 weekend parking fees are: Barnegat Lighthouse, Bass River, Belleplain, Chesapeake, High Point, Hopatcong, Parvin, Kingwood-Skylands (combined), Shepherd Lake, Spruce Run, Swartswood.

PSE&G will sign uranium contract

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. has taken steps to assure uranium supply for its nuclear generating stations through the 1980s. Robert I. Smith, president, told stockholders at the utility's annual meeting in the Robert Treat Hotel.

The agreements will meet all of the fuel requirements of the company's Salem and Hope Creek generating stations through 1995. Under the agreements PSE&G will make advance payments which will be used for mine development.

Kerr-McGee plans to produce the 20-million pounds of uranium at the South Powder River Basin in Wyoming where it has 125,000 acres under lease. PSE&G also has the right of first refusal on additional uranium supplies from future development in the basin properties.

Production facilities at the Wyoming site are to be constructed on a schedule which calls for delivery of uranium at about the rate of 1.4 million pounds a year starting in 1980 and through 1995. The purchase price will be that generally prevailing in the United States at the time of delivery.

Maugham tales adapted for film "Quartet," the first of a series of three films adapted from short stories by W. Somerset Maugham, will be presented on Channels 50 and 36 on Saturday, May 22, at 9 p.m.

Public Notice: Sealed bids will be received by the Purchasing Agent in the Meeting Room of the Municipal Building, 176 Morris Avenue, on Monday, May 17, 1976 at 10:00 A.M. and will be opened at the following:

N.J. motorists urged to take higher insurance deductibles

In light of rising costs for automobile insurance, the New Jersey Association of Independent Insurance Agents (NJIAA) has urged Garden State motorists to select a higher deductible on their comprehensive and collision coverages as a money-saving device.

Charles S. Stults Jr. of Hightstown, president of the 5,000-member NJIAA, pointed out the new deductibles are now effective for both renewals and new policies.

Stults said "Our association fully supports New Jersey Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran's position that all policyholders must know exactly what they are getting for their money and can decide whether they want to pay more for the lower deductible."

He pointed out that last month Sheeran announced the deductible for collision is $200 instead of $100 with no change in the premium rate for the motorist. The deductible for what used to be full comprehensive is $50 and the deductible for what was $50 deductible comprehensive is now $100 with premium rates unchanged.

"We are recommending the consumer take the $200 deductible or even a higher amount even though it means an out-of-pocket loss in commission to the independent agent. We believe the consumer must be protected during a period of inflation and rising costs and we also hope this will help to preserve stability in New Jersey's rather chaotic insurance marketplace."

Stults said Commissioner Sheeran called for the higher deductibles as a means of keeping auto insurance rates down and urged the public and the insurance industry to support Sheeran for his action.

Revolution benefitted art of surgery
 Colonial medicine featured in Rutgers exhibit

The familiar saying that "the operation was a success but the patient died" is often regarded as a sort of modern day wisecrack, a bitter jibe at surgeon and physician when a failed operation seemingly was the cause of death.

But Ronald L. Becker at Rutgers' Archibald Alexander Library here points out at the library's intriguing Bicentennial exhibit, "New Jersey Medicine in the Revolutionary Era, 1763-1787," that what today is regarded as a feeble witticism was a brutal fact 200 years ago.

Becker, assistant curator of special collections at the library and the man responsible for setting up the traveling exhibit at Rutgers, said primitive as the practice of medicine was in those days and elementary as their training was, the surgeons were often remarkably skillful.

A catalogue entitled "New Jersey Medicine in the Revolutionary Era," available at the exhibit in the Library's New Jersey Room and published by The New Jersey Historical Society bears this out.

An article by Dr. Fred B. Rogers, a physician, states that approximately 4,435 American soldiers died in battle during the Revolution.

"Significantly," Rogers writes, "it is estimated that 10 times the number of military deaths were attributable to illness—smallpox, typhus fever, dysentery and pneumonia being the chief killers. Average life expectancy then was about 35 years; medicine, and public health as we know them, hardly existed."

Only two medical schools, those now at Columbia University and the University of Pennsylvania, existed in all the 13 colonies at the outbreak of the Revolution. Most physicians

Another authority estimates that during the Revolution soldiers eluded death on the battlefield 98 per cent of the time, while only three out of four survived their stay in the hospitals. And yet, despite the horrors of the war the Revolution was a positive benefit to the practice of medicine. Surgery was one of the arts promoted by the war.

"It was experience gained on the battlefields and during military campaigns that helped give direction to the profession of a new nation," Dr. Rogers writes.

The first hospitals in New Jersey, there were at least 37, were established during the Revolution, but it was to be 80 years after the Revolution before another public hospital was established in the Garden State.

On the whole, the exhibit and accompanying literature indicates that New Jersey did fairly well among the thirteen colonies, judging by the standards for practicing medicine in those days.

The first provincial society of medical men in this country, the Medical Society of New Jersey, was organized in New Brunswick on July 23, 1766.

Still, to the modern eye, medicine and its practice, particularly surgery, appears in the exhibition at the Rutgers library on College Avenue to be something to be assiduously avoided, particularly since there was no such thing as an anesthetic, unless strong drink can be called an anesthetic.

The exhibit contains 112 items and is divided into four sections, civilian medicine, military medicine, military hospitals and medical instruments.

The civilian medicine section contains such items as medical texts and pharmacopoeia (books describing drugs, chemicals and medicinal preparations), letters, lecture notes, journals, account books and portraits.

The military medicine section contains portraits, letters, military and other records, journals and memorials.

The illustrated section on military hospitals also contains its share of journals and records, newspapers, record books and portraits, including one of the famous Benjamin Rush.

What is probably most interesting to the modern eye is the section on medical instruments. Surprisingly enough, exhibit number 88 is an "Acupuncture and Aneurismal Needle Kit."

The catalogue states that acupuncture is an ancient medical procedure which was occasionally used in the American colonies.

The exhibit at the Rutgers Library will be open to the public in the New Jersey Room of the Alexander Library from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays until May 27.

American music in May 14 concert by Kean singers

Club shows '30s films

Two "rediscovered" cinema classics will be shown at the Essex Film Club's regular screening sessions Saturday and Sunday. Jack Benny is seen in a 1930 sound film.

"The Medicine Man," playing the pitchman with a travelling medicine show Betty Bronson, George E. Stone and Tom Dugan head the supporting cast.

Material for "The Emperor Jones," with Paul Robeson, was recently located and assembled and the club is now able to show a complete print of this 1933 classic, which was adapted from the play by Eugene O'Neill. The story of Brutus Jones who rose from Pullman porter to become the chief of a desert island, gives Robeson a chance to sing several songs.

For many, G.I. benefits end in May

Many New Jersey veterans presently attending school under the GI Bill will be affected by the statutory delimiting date imposed by law.

James R. Purdy, director of the Newark Regional Office, noted that veterans who had active military service between Jan. 31, 1955, and May 31, 1966, were eligible for educational benefits under the current GI Bill which became law on June 1, 1966.

Their period of eligibility extended for 10 years from the date of the law. This means that educational allowance may not be paid for these veterans training beyond May 31, 1976.

A notice will be included with checks issued during May to those veterans still attending school who are affected.

The insert will explain that this will represent the final payment of educational allowance and the reason why. It will also note other possible sources of financial assistance, such as the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Labor, state and public agencies.

Detailed information may be obtained through the Office of Financial Aid at the school the veteran is attending.
